Fraternity suspensions upheld

Beta banned until Sept. 1991;
Delta Upsilon until fall of 1990

by Lisa Cline
Staff Writer

The decision to withdraw official recognition of two University of Maine fraternities was upheld by the Conduct Committee after two separate appeals hearings last week.

The committee did decide, however, that the Beta Theta Pi and Delta Upsilon fraternities could regain university recognition earlier than originally scheduled.

The appeals were filed following the university's decision in December to withdraw recognition from Beta for three years and DU for two years for alleged hazing incidents.

Another reason cited by the university for withdrawing recognition of Beta was a Dec. 2 raid on the fraternity house by university police produced drug paraphernalia, steroids, gambling records and stolen road signs.

During a nine-hour hearing on Thursday the committee decided to reduce Beta's suspension by three months, making it eligible for reinstatement in September of 1991.

Also, according to the committee's decision on Friday, DU will be eligible for reinstatement in the fall of 1990 with the stipulation that, once reinstated, the fraternity must hire a live-in adviser and work with and under the supervision of its local, regional and national alumni.

Conduct Committee members would not comment on last week's decisions saying it would be "inappropriate" to discuss the rulings since both cases are still eligible for appeal.

Beta and DU have until Thursday and Friday, respectively, to appeal the committee's decisions to President Dale Lick or his designee.

Members of Beta had no comment. However, Roy Martin Jr., president of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity Alumni Association, said he was "very disappointed" with the committee's ruling and said the fraternity will appeal the case.

Martin said he believes the sanctions imposed against the fraternity are "counterproductive" and are not in the best interest of the university community.

"Shutting down the fraternity does nothing for the fraternity, the students or the university as a whole," he said.

The only charge against Beta that has been proven and admitted to by the fraternity, Martin said, is the holding of a late-night scavenger hunt which required pledges to retrieve various items such as road signs, golf course flags and a large American flag.

He said that allegations regarding incidents of hazing have been repeatedly denied by members of the fraternity.

It has been alleged that pledges were forced to stare directly at lightbulbs and sit in tubs of cold water and debris.

On Friday, three members of the fraternity pleaded innocent to drug-related charges in 3rd District Court in Bangor.

William Stewart, 22, of Medfield, Mass., is charged with possession of cocaine while Mark Millington, 21, of South Portland, and Matthew Giampietro, of Waterbury, Conn., are charged with possession of drug paraphernalia.

Beta members plead innocent to charges

Three Beta Theta Pi fraternity members pleaded innocent in 3rd District Court on Friday to drug charges, while a second gambling charge was added to a fourth member of the fraternity.

William Stewart, 22, of Medfield, Mass., pleaded innocent to possession of cocaine, a Schedule W drug. Mark Millington, 21, of South Portland, and Matthew Giampietro (age not available), of Waterbury, Conn., pleaded innocent to the civil charge of possession of drug paraphernalia, said Investigator William Laughlin of the University of Maine Department of Public Safety.

He said said the District Attorney's office on Friday confirmed there was enough information to support a possession of gambling records charge against Roger Brown, 21, of Nashua, N.H., who also faces an unlawful gambling charge.

Brown is scheduled to be arraigned on the two class D crimes on Jan. 27, while the trial date for the other three members has been set for Feb. 16.

Members of the UMaine fraternity would not comment on the charges or investigation.

The charges against the four stem from a Dec. 2 raid by UMaine police in which cocaine, steroids, drug paraphernalia and gambling records were found.

Laughlin said the fraternity is still under investigation.

If convicted, Stewart and Brown could face jail sentences of less than a year and fines up to $500.

49ers win Super Bowl

MIAMI (AP) — Joe Montana hit John Taylor with a 10-yard touchdown pass with 34 seconds left as San Francisco staked its claim as the Team of the '80s Sunday with a 20-16 victory over Cincinnati in the most dramatic Super Bowl ever.

The winning score came at the end of a 92-yard drive, engineered by Montana, whose touchdown pass gave him a Super Bowl record with 357 yards passing. Twelve of his completions were to Rice, who finished with 12 catches for 222 yards, both also records.

It was the fifth straight win for an NFC team, but by far the most dramatic — the previous four had been by an average score of 41-14.

It also gave Coach Bill Walsh his third Super Bowl win in 10 seasons as the 49ers coach. It would be a fitting climax to a career that may end this week when the 57-year-old Walsh could announce that he will step down as San Francisco's coach.

The winning drive began after Jim Breech had kicked his third field goal of the game, a 40-yarder with 3:20 left, to give the Bengals a 16-13 lead. A holding call on the kickoff forced the 49ers to start from their own 8 with a little more than three minutes left.

But Montana, who was 23 of 36, made himself the quarterback of the decade on the winning drive. He passed for 8 yards to Rice, 9 yards to tight end John Frank and 17 more to Rice. Then he hit Roger Craig for 13 yards and hit Rice 27 yards over to the middle on a second-and-20 play.

After an 8-yard pass to Craig, he hit Rice for 10 yards to set up the winning score to Taylor.

The game that was supposed to be a shootout went 44 minutes and 26 seconds without a touchdown, the longest dry spell in the 23 Super Bowls.

Then came two within 91 seconds.

After Mike Cofer's 32-yard field goal tied the game 6-6 for San Francisco with 50 seconds left in the third quarter, Stanford Jennings took the kickoff 93 yards for a score, racing untouched through the San Francisco defense until Terry Greer ran him down and tripped him as he fell over the goal line.

Amin to return to Saudi Arabia

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Former Ugandan dictator Idi Amin, who angered Saudi authorities by slipping out of the country will be allowed to return and resume his life in exile, an authoritative Saudi source said Sunday.

The source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said King Fahd was acting in response to requests by unidentified African leaders.

He refused to say whether Amin had returned or whether a date had been fixed for that.

The African leaders reportedly included King Hassan II of Morocco, who has close ties with the Saudi monarch, and President Mobutu Sese Seku of Zaire.

Amin, 61 was ousted from his east African nation in 1979 and was granted political asylum in Saudi Arabia in 1980.

He slipped out of the desert kingdom on a forged passport and surfaced in Kinshasa, the Zairean capital, with one of his sons on Jan. 13.

Uganda immediately demanded Amin's extradition to stand trial for the death of tens of thousands of his political opponents during the eight years of his tyrannical rule. Newspaper reports alleged Amin also practiced cannibalism, but these reports have not been independently verified.

Lost hikers rescued at Saddleback

RANGELEY, Maine (AP) — Three hikers were resting Sunday, one of them with severe frostbite, after their rescue from Saddleback Mountain, where they had become separated in windy minus-40 degree weather, authorities said.

The men lost sight of each other Saturday when gusty winds reduced visibility on the mountain, said Paul Fournier, spokesman for the Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Department.

Jerome Richard of Rumford managed to reach the bottom of the mountain, but he was suffering of severe frostbite of the feet and hands. Several hours later he was able to tell game wardens the he had been with two companions, but he did not know what had become of them, Fournier said.

The Saddleback ski area set up a command post and provided snowmobiles and other equipment for wardens who, along with the Air National Guard medical evacuation unit, set out at about 11 p.m. Saturday to look for the other hikers.

William Wickware, 37, of Bangor was spotted by helicopter early Sunday morning and was in good health, Fournier said.

The third hiker, Merle Lowe of Hampden, was found huddled in his vehicle at the Saddleback ski area, where he had gone to wait for his companions.

Richard was in stable condition with frostbite at Franklin Memorial Hospital in Farmington.

The men were hiking the Appalachian Trail toward Sugarloaf Mountain and had reached the summit of Saddleback when they encountered the wind and freezing weather Saturday, Fournier said.

Teacher waits for time in space

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire's runner up to Christa McAuliffe in the teacher-in-space program was dejected when he heard earlier this month that NASA had decided to bar non-astronauts from the shuttle.

But now Robert Veilleux, a science teacher at Manchester's Central High School, is encouraged again about the prospects of a teacher rocketing into space.

Veilleux said Saturday he has received a letter from the space agency that contradicts news reports that NASA was shutting down the teacher-in-space program, a move he said would have been a "travesty" to the memory of McAuliffe. The Concord High School teacher and six others dies in the Challenger explosion three years ago this month.

"My impression at this point is at a future date, we will see a successful completion of the teacher-in-space mission," Veilleux said.

The letter, from the agency's teacher-in-space coordinator, contained a copy of a policy statement in which the agency said that for now, it no longer carry non-astronauts or non-essential personnel on the shuttle.

NASA said it wants to concentrate on improving its reliability and safety and reduce the backlog of missions caused by the halt in flights after the Challenger disaster.

Autopsies reveal two homicides

DERRY, N.H. (AP) — A father and son whose bodies were found at their home in a pre-dawn fire were murdered, authorities said Sunday.

Kathleen McGuire, an assistant attorney general, said the "posture of the investigation" prevented her from disclosing the exact cause and nature of the deaths until later.

But she said after autopsies were performed Sunday that "they were homicides, plural."

The victims were found following a fire that broke out shortly before 5 a.m. Saturday. They were identified as James Wells, 49, and Kevin Wells, 15.

Injured and taken to Parkland Medical Center was Christopher Wells, 18, who reported the fire to a neighbor, McGuire said.

A Parland official said the injured man was transferred to another hospital, but neither she nor McGuire would say which one. McGuire said the man was not injured severely.

She said investigators continuing to look through the wreckage of the yellow ranch-style home on Hampstead Road.

Bundy makes last minute confessions

Execution to take place Tuesday

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — A tearful Ted Bundy, moving ever closer to the electric chair Sunday, tried to head off execution by at last confessing to some of the dozens of murders he is suspected of committing, authorities said.

Bundy, 42, will die at 7 a.m. Tuesday unless the U.S. Supreme Court stays the execution. The court denied Bundy an appeal just a week ago, as have all other courts he has turned to since Thursday.

Anthony Kennedy, who favors the death penalty, is the Supreme Court justice assigned to consider last-minute Florida death appeals. One justice may stay an execution pending review by the full court.

In talks with authorities over the weekend, Bundy, who grew up in Tacoma, Wash., confessed to killing at least eight young women in that state in 1974, said investigator Robert Keppel of the Washington attorney general's office.

Bundy also confessed to the 1975 slaying of Julie Cunningham, 25, a Vail, Colo., ski shop employee whose body was never found, said Vail Police Chief Ken Hughey.

Hughey said Bundy is convinced that the only way he will get to heaven is to confess.

"He's attempting to purge himself," said Colorado Attorney General Duane Woodard. "It is part of his repenting."

"The man is trying to save his life," Keppel told KIRO-TV of Seattle in a telephone interview Saturday night from Florida. He added that Bundy was shaken and tearful as he responded to questions from investigators.

Bundy had not previously admitted to any slayings.

"Bundy is welcome to talk all he wants, but he better say it by Tuesday morning," said Jonh Peck, press secretary to Florida Gov. Bob Martinez.

Bundy, scheduled to die for the 1978 kidnap-murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Leach of Lake City, Fla., at one time was linked to as many as 36 killings and disappearance of young women in Washington, Colorado, Utah, and other western states.

He was being questioned about the deaths of at least 24 women.

The law school dropout was visited by officials from Washington state and Colorado, said Paul Decker, assistant superintendent of Florida State Prison near this north-central Florida town, where Bundy is held.

On Sunday, Bundy canceled a meeting with Dennis Couch, a Utah sheriff's detective. Couch said Bundy's attorneys refused to say why.

Bundy's lawyers lost two more bids for a stay of execution Saturday. U.S. District Court Judge G. Kendall Sharp refused to issue a stay, and then a three-judge panel of the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta denied Bundy's appeal.

Last week Bundy offered to trade information about other slayings for a delay in his execution, but Martinez, who signed Bundy's fourth death warrant Tuesday, said he would not "negotiate with a killer."

Diana Weiner, a Sarasota attorney who has represented Bundy in some civil matters, asked Washington state Attorney General Ken Eikenberry to request that Florida's governor delay the execution.

"I am not going to do it," Eikenberry said.

Leach disappeared from Lake City Junior High on Feb. 9, 1978. Her body was found April 7, 1978, in a hog shed along the Swanee River.

"I think it's been dragged on for far, far too many years," said Bob Simmons, assistant principal at the school.

Bundy also has been sentenced to die for the murders of Lisa Levy, 20, and Margaret Bowman, 21. They were clubbed to death at a sorority house at Florida State University in Tallahassee.

Hughey said Bundy acknowledged killing Cunningham, who disappeared in Vail in 1975.

In talks with Keppel, Bundy confessed to the eight "Ted" murders in Washington state. Witnesses had reported seeing a charming young stranger who called himself Ted where several victims disappeared.

Maine Bound to sponsor workshops

by Jaime Osgood
Staff Writer

Maine Bound, a University of Maine organization dedicated to outdoor activities and education, will be sponsoring activities, related workshops and information programs Tuesday in and around the Memorial Union.

Maine Bound is responsible for organizing outings for students interested in camping, hiking, skiing and other outdoor recreation.

The theme for Tuesday's activities is winter recreation.

Along with several events and demonstrations by Maine Bound members, a number of businesses and organizations, including the National Ski Patrol, and representatives from Squaw Mountain ski resort in Greenville, will present programs and safety information for students.

The idea behind the activities and information day is to get people acquainted with Maine Bound and to let people know outdoor winter recreation can be fun, said Maine Bound member John Anderson.

"There are a lot of different winter activities people don't know much about, like ice climbing for instance," he said. "That could be fun."

Anderson said members of Maine Bound are planning to construct an ice wall somewhere on the mall and then demonstrate the techniques of ice climbing.

There may even be an opportunity for interested people to try it themselves, he said.

"People don't have to go into hibernation during the winter," he said. "They can come out and play."

There will also be free snowshoe and cross-country ski rentals at the Union for people who want to try some winter exercise, Anderson said.

Several informational workshops, including one on waxing skis, and recreational videos showing snowboarding and telemarking techniques will be conducted in the Union as well, he said.

Other activities planned for the day include various lectures from Maine Bound members on different aspects of winter recreation, Anderson.

Dan Wood, another member, will be giving a lecture on how to dress and stay warm during the winter.

Wood said he will be concentrating on issues concerning students who become exposed to the elements while walking to and from classes.

"I see lots of people who aren't dressed properly," he said. "They get cold and hate the winter because of that. (But) it doesn't have to be that way."

Dana Schroppe, a student from the University of Maine at Presque Isle organized Tuesday's activities as part of her internship.

"I am hoping there won't be a lot of apathy," Schroppe said. "This is a great opportunity for students to get out and learn about something new."

Schroppe said she was also hoping the weather would be clear, and wouldn't put a damper on the outdoor events.

"Either way, there will be plenty to do," she said.

UMaine hockey defeats Chargers twice

DelGuidice misses one game,
Snow wins in college debut

by Joe Grant
Staff Writer

Injuries have plagued the University of Maine hockey team this year but somehow they have managed to overcome adversity.

On Saturday night, the Black Bears were without the services of their top two goaltenders and freshman Garth Snow made his collegiate debut, notching a 6-2 win over the University of Alabama-Huntsville.

Matt DelGuidice earned the 3-1 victory against the Chargers on Friday night but did not dress on Saturday because of a pulled groin muscle. Scott King was out because of a laceration above his knee suffered against the University of Denver.

The Chargers got strong goaltending from senior Chris Parsons, who made UMaine work hard for their goals.

On Friday, the Black Bears jumped out to a 2-0 advantage in the first period.

At the 12:58 mark, UMaine got on the board on a Scott Pellerin goal with David Capuano and Keith Carney assisting. The eventual game-winner came only 1:07 later when John Massara connected. Bob Corkum and Luke Vitale were credited with the assists.

UMaine's lead was cut in half early in the second period on a goal by UAH's Doug Rugge.

The score remained 2-1 into the third period until Martin Robitaille's goal iced the win with the assist going to Claudio Scremin.

Parsons was shelled all evening and kept the Chargers in the game making 37 saves.

DelGuidice went the distance for the Black Bears and stopped 24 Charger shots.

On Saturday, UMaine exploded for four third-period goals to do away with the Chargers 6-2.

The score was 2-1 after the first period and remained that way until 2:31 of the third when Jim Burke snapped a shot past Parsons for his first goal of the year and the game winner.

Sean Kelly brought UAH back to within one until Capuano notched his 24th and 25th goals of the year.

Mike Barkley closed the scoring at 17:38.

Christian Lalonde put the Black Bears on the scoreboard at 5:26 of the first during a scramble in front.

Parsons was again strong for the Chargers making 34 saves. Snow made 23 stops in the UMaine net before another freshman, Brendan McCauley made a late appearance in net but did not face any shots.

Of songs and high school

Remember last year when Professor George Markowsky wanted to change the words of the Maine Stein Song? Remember all of the uproar that was raised when the COS instructor made the suggestion?

Remember when people realized what a great school song it is and it shouldn't be messed with?

Now that you remember, imagine what a travesty it would be if the song were tampered with.

Unfortunately, you don't have to imagine. Somebody already did. Only they didn't change the words, they changed the music.

If you attended any UMaine hockey games over break, you have an idea what this is all about. It seems that there is this "other" version of the Maine Stein Song, and whenever a high school band is invited to play at a Black Bear athletic event, you hear it. And it's quite an earsore to deal with.

Let me describe it. First of all, it's in the wrong key. Ordinarily, that can be overlooked, but there's more.

The part that is supposed to go, "To the trees to the sky..." through "...to the girls that will love us someday" is totally botched. Instead, there's a mixture of notes that sounds like it belongs in a circus rather than in a college fight song.

I asked why there is a need for another version, and the response I received was, "It's easier to play."

Okay, I've seen the sheet music of the Stein Song, and it's not an easy song to play. But, that doesn't justify changing the song. Since the Stein Song is one of the most recognized school songs in the nation, you would think it would be better than making up your own version, especially for the sake of the fans that take pride in their school, and in their school song.

Is there another version to the Norte Dame fight song? Or "On Wisconsin?" Or "Hail Michigan?" Did some schmuck look at the sheet music and say, "Gee, this song is too hard! Let's change it so we don't have to try as much to play it." That's like crossing out questions on an exam and writing in your own.

The only advantage these high school punks bring is a change of pace with the music they play during intermission. Our beloved Black Bear Band does a good job, but, like several radio stations in this market, they play the same music over and over.

Unfortunately, someone forgot to tell John Baptist High School you're supposed to wait for play to stop before you blow your horn. The overzealous leader of the JBHS band (a band the size of the Boston Pops, appropriately playing with a pair of electric guitars, and putting out about as many decibels as Black Flag) kept her kids playing while Maine and Colorado College were playing a hockey game. Someone forgot to tell the leader that the fans bought their tickets to a hockey game, and not a winter concert.

The band was even threatened with a Maine penalty if they didn't stop playing. This threat prompted a time-out without music.

But can you imagine the P.A. announcer?

Confidence.
That's the word to describe the changes in the University of Maine women's basketball team.

Confidence.
Head Coach Trish Roberts can feel it. "The more we play, the more confident and better we get."

It showed Saturday as UMaine handed Boston University 56-43 in the Bangor Auditorium to raise their record to 9-7, 3-1 in the Seaboard Conference.

And the sources of this victory are many and varied.

Four starters (Cathy Iaconeta, Tracey Frenette, Kathy Karlsson and Rachel Bouchard) teamed up for 47 points and 32 rebounds as the Black Bears led start to finish and lowered the Terriers to 4-12, 1-3 in the conference.

Of course, it did help that BU shot a miniscule 19 percent in the first half. Or that the Terriers were also outrebounded 44 to 32. But these are statistics that accurately described the dominance of the home team.

"I told the girls that it would take a total team effort for us to win," Roberts said. "If we just rely on Rachel (Bouchard), then we will probably lose."

Many questions were answered in this game. With a minute gone in the second half, Bouchard (15 points, 11 rebounds) went down with a sprained right ankle. Leading 27-16, Frenette (12 points, four rebounds) stepped forward and sparked a 14-9 run which stretched the lead to 16, 41-25.

Roberts was happy with the inside game when Bouchard was out.

"Tracey played strong when Rachel went out, and Diane Nagle also played well. I knew she (Nagle) was capable and now that she has more confidence, she showed it."

BU tried various methods of getting back into the game, most which failed due to the ball handling of Iaconeta (12 points, nine assists).

Full-court pressure against UMaine met the same result everytime: Iaconeta would dribble by two or sometime three players and then run the offense.

"We knew that Ike could beat the pressure defense," Roberts said, "so we just cleared out for her."

Karlsson played one of her best games to date, showing aggressiveness and tough defense while hitting for eight points and hauling in a game-high 15 rebounds.

"Kathy, like alot of the other players, did not know what to expect from (see WOMEN page 10)

BU too much for UMaine men's hoop

by Dan Bustard
Staff Writer

If there is any indication that the top teams in the North Atlantic Conference are a step above the rest, Saturday's Boston University-University of Maine game is a clear-cut example.

BU, a traditional NAC basketball power, held UMaine to 33 percent shooting and used a balance attack to defeat the Black Bears 64-48 in front of 2,531 in the Bangor Auditorium.

No Terrier scored more than 11 points, but with seven players hitting for six or more, they were able to ride an outstanding defensive effort to their second win of the season over UMaine.

"We played horrible. We didn't hit the shots," Head Coach Rudy Keeling said, conceding that BU did have the better talent.

"Their guards (Tony DaCosta and Jeff Timberlake) are tough, and they have seven guys who are about the same. They would come off the bench with fresh bodies and there would be no let-down. We need some of those players."

"In a big game, I feel that I can play six or seven players," Terrier mentor Mike Jarvis said. "Our frontcourt is at the position where they are all ready to play."

"And Fred Daly, (3-6 from long range) the only reason we recruited him is to shoot the bomb. He will be a real factor with the three-point line. He has no fear. You'll hear from him later."

The Black Bears (5-10, 3-3 in the NAC) did have a chance. With 11 minutes left in the game, BU led by six, 42-36, after a Coco Barry hoop.

But the next few trips down the floor, UMaine had no offense while the Terriers rode strong foul shooting to build the lead back up.

The visitors made only two field goals over the last 14 minutes but hit 19 of 21 free throws over that span.

"Our defense did play well," Keeling said, "but they would run the clock down and have Timberlake or DaCosta penetrate and pass off. Obviously, we must foul less."

The back-breaker was David King's three-pointer as he eas fouled by Matt Rossignol. The lead went from 10, 46-36, to 14, 50-36, with the free throw. UMaine did cut the it back to eight but the free throws made it impossible to get any closer.

The first half started out well for the hosts, as seven of the first eight points were scored by UMaine: four from Rossignol (a game-high 14 points) and a three-point play from Curtis Robertson (11 points, 11 rebounds).

But Jarvis had his squad vary defenses, including several presses, which disrupted the rhythm of UMaine's offense.

When the Terriers took the lead at 14-12, they never relinquished it.

"We made some runs, bu DaCosta and Timberlake would either score or set someone up. That's senior leadership," Keeling said.

Another problem facing UMaine was super-sub Barry's foul difficulties, which limited him to 17 minutes, eight points and two rebounds.

"With Coco in foul trouble, he couldn't play tough defense," Keeling said. "They played him pretty well, but I don't think that they could stop Coco and Curtis. We just didn't get them the ball enough."

After leading by seven at the half, 27-20, BU ripped off the first six points of the second half and led twice by 13 before Barry and Robertson started a rally.

•Appeals

A fourth Beta member, Roger Brown, 21, of Nashua, N.H., is scheduled to appear in 3rd District Court on Jan. 27 on a charge of unlawful gambling.

The charges stemmed from evidence confiscated during the raid on the Beta house in December.

Members of DU were unavailable for comment.

However, in its letter of appeal to William Kennedy, assistant director of judicial affairs, the fraternity admitted that the alleged hazing incident had occurred but stated that "the two-year loss of recognition... is unreasonable, arbitrary and punitive rather than a constructive and fair remedy for the particular violation committed."

The letter details the Dec. 4 incident in which three fraternity members led pledges to the softball field behind Lengyel Gym and conducted a 30-minute calisthenics program.

The group then crawled back to the fraternity house on their hands and knees.

The letter contends that the three fraternity members involved in the incident acted on their own and against the orders of chapter president Tim Hooper.

According to university hazing policy, "No person or organization shall create, or permit to exist, any situation that recklessly or intentionally endangers the mental or physical health of a student enrolled at any campus of the University of Maine System."

The policy also states that any organization violating this policy will lose all right to conduct activities on any campus of the UMaine System.

Millington and Giampietro face civil charges, Laughlin said, and therefore cannot receive jail sentences. But they could be fined $100 to $300 if it is their first offense and $200 to $500 if it is their second.

Laughlin said the gambling had been going on "upwards of a year," and may have involved $100 to $300 a day.

"There was certainly a lot of activity," he said.

Laughlin said the police investigation so far indicates Brown acted as "the in-between man" in a larger operation.

He also said there was insufficient evidence to bring up a third charge, one of aggravated unlawful gambling, against Brown.

On Thursday, the UMaine Conduct Committee upheld a December decision to withdraw recognition of the fraternity but reduced the suspension period by three months, to September 1991.

Women swimmers top Northeastern

by Andy Bean
Staff Writer

The women's swim meet between the University of Maine and Northeastern University at the Stanley M. Wallace Pool on Saturday was supposed to be close. It wasn't.

The Black Bears won 10 out of 16 events and went on to win the meet 163135.

"That was a real nice win for us, we had to do some real good times to beat them," UMaine Head Coach Jeff Wren said.

UMaine won the 200 yard medley relay to start the day, despite the loss of injured breaststroker Jennifer Boucher (leg).

Jennifer Denison, Robin Ottman in place of Boucher, Jill Abrams and Stacey Seabreeze won the relay with a time of 1:58.18.

NU was supposed to be strong in the long distance events but UMaine's Noreen Solakoff easily beat NU's Kathy Deignan in the 1000 yard and 500 yard freestyle events.

Deignan, one of the top swimmers in New England wasn't the threat the Black Bears anticipated, as she swam with the flu.

Wren said, "I wasn't surprised she beat Kathy, but I was surprised how easily she beat her."

Solakoff was almost 10 seconds ahead of Deignan in the 1000 yard freestyle, winning with a time of 10:44.95. "I thought we were just a little sluggish," NU Head Coach Janet Swanson said. "We're doing double sessions (practicing twice a day) right now and I think that slowed our times down some."

Swanson said the team is putting in the extra practice time for the New England Championships. "We're looking toward the end of the season, that's our real goal," she said.

NU, 6-2 and UMaine, 6-1 were second and third respectively in the New England Championships last year. Dana Kozimor and Michelle White of NU showed why they are two of the best divers in New England. Kozimor won the one meter event with 273.30 points and White followed with 272.55.

UMaine's Audrey Harlow (244.5) placed third in the event ending her unbeaten streak of six.

Wren said, "Audrey did well for us, those two kids (Kozimor and White) are just great divers."

Kozimor (292.5) and White (284.25) also placed first and second in the three meter diving.

In other action UMaine's Stacey Seabreeze (25.58), Kim Dunn (25.90), and Natalie Zdenek (26.17) swept the 50 yard freestyle.

•Hoops

With the two big men splitting eight points, added to a Rossignol three-pointer, the Black Bears managed to cut into the lead all the way to six, but weren't able to get over that hump.

Freshman point guard Marty Higgins, playing with a case of the flu, had trouble handling the defensive pressure of DaCosta and Timberlake, scoring no points and four assists.

Todd Hanson substituted for Higgins in the second half and gained the approval of his coach.

"Todd played well," Keeling said. "He's a real solid kid who doesn't turn the ball over but is not a good shooter. He made some mistakes guarding DaCosta, but I thought he did a good job."

much band playing...at 18:46... penalty to be served by Brian Bellefeuille." Meanwhile, over at the Bangor Auditorium, the basketball teams played with an organ in the background. This was also a nice change of pace, and the organist knew the right way to play the Stein Song. Given this, along with the fact that an organ is always adds a nice touch to a hockey game, the university should have hired the organist and canned the band.

But if the Black Bear band can't make it and we must have a high school band, there should be some stricter guidelines.

First, don't start playing during the action-like John-Baptist did. I pity the Crusader basketball teams that have to live with their ever-present noise.

And second, and most importantly, play the Stein Song right, and I mean the real version. If you can't play it the way it was written and the way it is sung, then don't come.

Jim Baines, a senior broadcast journalism major and WMEB-FM sportscaster, likes to brag to friends at other schools that his school's official song is a drinking song.

UMaine track men fourth at NAC championship meet

by Dan Bustard
Staff Writer

Several University of Maine athletes had strong showings at the North Atlantic Conference Indoor Track Championships Saturday, as the team finished third in the meet held at Boston University.

Northeastern University easily won the meet with 173 points while Boston University was second with 116. UMaine had 102, the University of New Hampshire 95 and the University of Vermont 60.

KC Latham had the lone victory for UMaine, capturing the 200 meters in 22.53 seconds. Latham was also fifth in the 55 meter dash in 6.71 seconds.

Carl Smith just missed winning the 55 meter dash, as his time of 6.48 seconds was .01 behind Barney Barromoe of UNH.

John Marchmar and Thayer Redman placed second and third in the 55 meter high hurdles in times of 7.93 and 8.16 seconds, respectively.

Mike Norman ran the 500 meters in 1:04.8, good for second place. The UMaine relay teams also finished second in the 4X400 meter (3:25.31) and the 4X800 meter (8:14.58) runs.

Pat O'Malley ran strong in the 5000 meters, placing third in 14:38.76. Joe Trefethen tossed the shot put 48' 4 1/2", also getting third place.

Dave Johnson was the only Black Bear to place in three individual events: the high jump (third-6'4"), the triple jump (fourth-43' 9 1/4") and the long jump (fourth-21' 6 1/2").

Steve Trefethen was fifth in the high jump at 6'2".

UMaine had some good efforts in the middle distance events, as Andy Favreau grabbed third in the 800 meters (1:57.96), Marc Snow was fourth in the 1000 meters (2:38.8) and Pat Bermier fifth in the 1000 (2:49.4).

me," Roberts said. "She has been asked to play several different positions. But she has an excellent outside shot so I use her at the shooting forward."

Bouchard returned with 9:57 left to test her ankle, with good results. Roberts saw the 6-0 sophomore limping and had her sit down after scoring seven points.

"This is a big confidence booster for us," Roberts added. "This shows where we are in the conference, with our close game with Northeastern and this win over BU, who was picked to win the conference. It is a big boost."

The Terriers were led by Andrea Ashuck, who scored 12 points and had 10 rebounds and six blocked shots, while Laura Boettcher and Tia Theriault added seven points.

Roberts also thought the defense played strong for UMaine.

"We had a good game plan. We felt they weren't strong at point guard so we pressured their guards. We also fronted their big people and it worked."

Black Bear mermen defeat Huskies

by Andy Bean
Staff Writer

The University of Maine men's swim team dominated the freestyle and diving events and defeated Northeastern University 139-104 at the Stanley M. Wallace Pool on Saturday.

The Black Bears' Bob Leonard, Scott Wescott and Kevin Broad swept the 50 yard and 100 yard freestyle events.

Leonard (22.46) won the 50 yard event and Broad (48.8) placed first in the 100 yard event. NU Head Coach Janet Swanson was disappointed with her sprinters. "Our sprinters just didn't race very well today," Swanson said. "My swimmers are used to standing up if the starter sees someone is off balance, but that didn't happen today." "But I've got to hand it to Maine, their sprinters did a real good job. I think it was the turning point in the meet."

UMaine Head Coach Alan Switzer said the freestyle was the key to the meet.

"If they had been able to stop us on the freestyle we would have been in trouble," Switzer said.

The Black Bears were also strong in the long distance events, earning first and second place finishes in both the 1000 yard and 500 yard freestyle events.

Todd Dyer (10:09.88) won the 1000 yard freestyle and Brad Burnham (10:20.95) placed second in the event.

Russ Verby (4:49.64) won the 500 yard event with his best time of the season and Dyer (4:51.85) placed second.

The UMaine divers were also important factors in the outcome of the meet. Brad Russell and Rick Keene finished first and second respectively in both the one meter and two meter competitions.

Russell had his best scores of the season in both the one meter (328.20) and three meter (319.58) events.

Keene's second place finishes in the one meter (267.90) and three meter (316.32) competitions were also his personal best.

NU had problems in the freestyle events, but the Huskies' Paul Wilson was unstoppable in the stroke events.

Wilson won the 200 individual medley (2:01.77), the 200 yard backstroke (2:06.77) and the 200 yard breaststroke (2:23.91).

Swanson is happy with her team's performance overall. She said they are doing double sessions (two practices a day) and her goal is the championships.

"I think we're right where we want to be for the end of the season."

With the win UMaine improves its record to 5-3, while the Huskies drop to 3-4.

R.A.s speak out about their R.A. Job

"I have found that during my job interviews my R.A. job has been the main topic of interest to potential employers. I have a lot of other experience in my academic field, but they still focus on my R.A. job the most!"

Lori Taylor
R.A. York Village

"The R.A. job is a valuable life experience that teaches you time management, responsibility, and how to effectively relate to others. As well as these practical skills, we have had the opportunity to make lots of new friends and to personally grow as individuals and as a team."

Penobscot R.A.s

"I became a resident assistant, because it was a good opportunity for me to develop myself. I had been very active socially in my country. The R.A. job gave me again the chance to be social here in America. I really enjoy my job assisting students (especially international students). I am getting a lot of experience being a resident assistant. When I came here as a foreign student, I did not know anything about America's ways, but now I have learned much. When I go back to my country, I will have some administrative job experience which will be useful for the future. Also, the R.A. class has helped me to develop my leadership skills, confidence, time management and my self identity skills."

Mian Nadeem Riaz
R.A. Estabrooke

"When I think about my past year as an R.A. I do not focus on the negative attributes of my job. I don't concentrate on that loud party that occurred every weekend, or that obnoxious resident who made me want to scream or even the frustrating problem that wouldn't go away. I remember the respect I received from my residents, the thanks and appreciation after putting on a program and the smile from the person down the hall who felt I helped them just a little."
