Yearly Penny Carnival Will Be Tomorrow

Colorful Affair To Offer 'Melody Time'

Songs, tunes, and melodies will set the Maine campus to music with the annual Penny Carnival tomorrow. The theme this year will be "Melody Time."

Ray Downs will furnish music for the dance, which will be held from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

The admission will be 50¢, and the currency for the evening will be one cent.

For a penny, a harem in action can be viewed, through the courtesy of the Modern Dance club. At intermission, the Tumbling club will present "Tumbling Tumbleweed," while the Square Dance club will bring "Jingle Bells" into action.

When ready for the "pause that refreshes," you will be supplied with pastry, punch, ice cream, and lollypops on the "Good Ship Lollypop."

Unusual Entertainment

The booths around the side of the dance floor will feature unusual entertainment. There will be "hip-reducers, bean bag tosses, nails to hammer, and lucky grabs."

At a penny a guess, you can take a try at the "Mystery Melody." There will be a prize for any who guess the right tune, played by Ray Downs.

Committees working on the Penny Carnival are as follows:

Program: Chairman, Phyllis Boutilier; Ruth Holland, Eva Stinson, and Jean Gyger.

Posters: Chairman, Roberta Packard; Sally Arsenault.

Publicity: Chairman, Connie Berry; Edith Curtis, Ida Moreshead.

Tickets: Chairman, Rena Ratti; Joyce Prey, Maxine Dresser, Barbara Wright, Barbara Jackson, Tillie Laverty, Gloria Brangwynne, and Frances Litwinowich.

Senate Conference

Five members of the Men's senate will take part in a conference on "student government problems with a view to progress" to be held at the University of New Hampshire Friday and Saturday, March 24-25.

Those representing the University are Dwight Demeritt, Richard Dow, Sidney Folsom, David McClure, and Robert Moran.

You Sultanly Can't Lose In This Harem—That's For Shah

This bevy of beauties can be seen for the meager price of one cent at the Penny Carnival tomorrow. Left to right, they are: Ruth Holland, Eva Stinson, and Ethel Stone. These and many other attractions will be present at the Carnival, and we think you should, too. How can you go wrong?

Many Students Aid In Search For Wallace Boy

Over 230 University of Maine students have taken part in the as yet fruitless search for the body of Stanley Wallace, 3-year-old grandson of Stan Wallace, professor of physical education at the University.

Constant search has been made in the ice-filled Stillwater river since the youngster was seen to fall through the ice a week ago last Friday. Workers on the new Orono bridge who saw him disappear were unable to be of any help because of their distance from the accident.

The University has been active in the searching operations. Mrs. Gerald Atwood, Orono chairman of the Red Cross, praised the cooperation of President Hauck, manager of dormitories William Wells, and the University Store company for the aid they gave in the feeding of those taking part in the search.

Also coming in for praise by Mrs. Atwood was Raymond McKay of SAE, an ex-Navy diver, who spent three days in probing the icy waters.

Roy Joyce, chairman of the student branch of the Red Cross, served as liaison between the University and the Orono branch of the Red Cross.

We wish to thank the boys in the University for their most generous assistance during the as yet unsuccessful attempt to find our little boy.

No words can express our gratitude for the many hours of gruelling labor the boys have so willingly given.

The sympathy and assistance from the University have helped to make our burden a little lighter. Thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wallace

Senate Revamp Will End Many Big Problems

The proposed reorganization of student government now being formulated by a committee of the General senate is designed to alleviate many of the problems of the present set up, a committee spokesman said today.

One of the improvements, he said, will be the assignment of definite areas of responsibility to specific groups.

Will Coordinate Activities

The proposed Student Executive Council will be responsible for coordinating student activities and keeping the standing committees on the job. The Executive Council will be composed of the four class presidents and the mayor.

Other new features include a proposed Student Judiciary committee which will be available for arbitrating disputes and interpreting the new constitution. It is hoped that this committee will enable students to settle their own controversies rather than having the administration settle them.

Last Rites For Miss Chambers Held Sunday In Little Theatre

In the candlelight atmosphere of the Little Theatre Sunday afternoon students and faculty members gathered to pay respect to the memory of Miss Kathleen Rosaline Chambers.

The service was opened by Rev. Charles O'Connor, who read several Biblical selections and offered prayers. Dr. Hilda Fife delivered a tribute to Miss Chambers, concluding with:

"It is as one with a great zest for life that we remember Kay. In her delight in bright colors, in her pleasure in social occasions, in her very real and kindly interest in other people, in her anticipation of her summers of graduate work at Cornell, in work that she enjoyed—in all these Kay found life good. And hers was a good life."

Following the tribute, Dr. H. Lloyd Flewelling read poetic selections from Hazdorn, Reese, and Whitman.

Throughout the service, organ music was played by Paul Payson. The church choir sang "Lamb of God" and "Thou Shalt Keep Him In Perfect Peace."

Maine Students Attend Forensic League Meeting

Four Maine students travelled to Colby last Saturday to participate in the forum discussions of the Maine Forensic League. Each took part in a different discussion along with students of the other members of the league—Bowdoin, Bates, and Colby.

Remigio Aggalo spoke for Maine on the topic: Should the United States recognize the Chinese Communist Government? George Bragdon, chairman a discussion on the subject: Should the United States institute a program of compulsory health insurance?

In one of the liveliest of the discussions Bob Russell argued in favor of the resolution: Should Communist Party members be permitted to teach in American colleges. Pat Murphy was the Maine representative on the panel discussing the question: Should college education emphasize liberal arts more than the so-called practical education?

The next meeting of the Forensic League will be at Bowdoin, March 18, when the state debate championship will be decided.

The University of Maine Varsity singers will assist this group in presenting the concert.

The program will include works from the 17th century to the present day with representative works drawn from each century.

Professor Lewis Niven, head of the music department, will be the conductor.

The players in the ensemble are John Godsoe and Melvin Lane, trumpets; Harold Harmon, horn; Robert Ordway, trombone; David Simonton, baritone; and Bruno Calandro, tuba. They will be assisted by Raymond LaFlamme, trumpet.

The Varsity Singers are Richard Ayotte, Theodore Caras, Charles Fasset, Raymond Kenneally, Donald Lord, Richard Pitman, and Paul Roberge, tenors.

MOC Will Travel To Site Of Golden Skis Championship

The Maine Outing club is planning a Sunday trip to Bald mountain, where the Golden Skis championship is to be held. Transportation and lunches will be provided. Cars will leave the Bookstore at nine a.m. and return in time for supper. Those interested should deposit $1.00 in M.O.C. box in the bookstore before five p.m. Friday.

Bald mountain has four intermediate and expert trails. Snow conditions are reported excellent there. There are also open slopes for beginners and a fire tower and shelter on the summit.

The fourth Golden Skis championship, only USEASA sanctioned ski meet in Maine open to both men and women, will consist of downhill and slalom events. Both divisions have been won each year by University of Maine students. Entries for this year's event are still being accepted.

4-Day Embassy Week To Open With Assembly; Seminars To Mark Third Event Since War's End

Rabbi Morris Bekritsky of the Share Tefillah Etz Chayim, and Anshe Sfard congregations, Portland, will head a seminar on "Conflict of Civil Rights and Religion."

Father Flynn Leads

Monday night at 7:30 Father Flynn will lead a discussion on "Does Religion Have a Role in Education" in the Louis Oakes room.

Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 in the MCA Cabinet room, Dr. John A. Hutchison, professor of religion at Williams College, will head an advanced seminar on "Religion and Democracy."

Two seminars are scheduled for 3:45 p.m. Father Flynn will conduct a seminar on "Why Religion—Devotion to God?" in the Louis Oakes room and the Rev. Mr. Guptill will preside at a discussion of "Religion and Marriage" at Carnegie hall.

Rabbi Melvin Weinman will lead a discussion on "Religion and the Atomic Bomb" at 7:30 in the Oakes room.

Wednesday noon in Merrill hall Dr. Hutchison will lead a faculty seminar. At 2:45 that afternoon Rabbi Weinman and Rev. Mr. Guptill will head an Oakes room discussion on "Religion and Politics."

Two seminars are scheduled for 3:45. Rabbi Berent will lead one on

"Why Religion—an Ethical Code" in the Oakes room, and Father Flynn will direct "Religion and the Individual" at Carnegie. Dr. Hutchison will head a seminar on "Religion and the World Today" in the Oakes room at 7:30 p.m.

REV. FATHER FRANCIS X. RYAN

Skeptics Hour Set

Thursday afternoon at 2:45 in the Oakes room, Rev. Albert C. Niles, minister of the Elm Street Universalist Church, Auburn, will head the final seminar on "Religion and Science."

One of the most popular features of past Embassy Weeks is back this year. The Skeptics Hour is set for the Oakes room at 2:45-3:45 p.m. on Monday, with Rev. Mr. Guptill and Dr. Wilson answering questions.

A Catholic mission will be held during Embassy week with services at 4:00 each afternoon and 7:00 each night, with Mass at 6:45 and 7:45 each morning.

Classroom appointments have been scheduled for each day from 7:45 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. House discussions have been planned for each evening from 6:00 to 8:00 in each of the various dormitories and fraternities.

Off campus women will meet at 6 p.m. on Wednesday in the MCA lounge. Rabbi Milton Elefant will be moderator.

No Excused Cuts

This year no excused cuts will be granted for attendance at Embassy seminars. This is because of widespread disruption of laboratory schedules during the past two Embassy programs.

Books and other religious publications will be on view and in the Louis Oakes room each afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. and each evening from 8 to 9 p.m.

Students active in preparation for Embassy week include the following: Richard Spencer, Vera Edfors, Betty Friedler, Leonard Grimes, Theodore Gross, Eleanor Mahaney, Zinas Mavodones, and John Miller.

Elaine MacNichol, Frank Butler, Frances Pratt, Elinor Hansen, Jeanne Frye, and Dorothea Butler.

Fashion Show By Tri Delts To Be Saturday

Delta Delta Delta sorority will hold its annual fashion show in the Louis Oakes room, Saturday, March 18, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The show, which was established three years ago to provide a scholarship for a deserving woman student, will be headed this year by Thelma Lord.

The girls who will model the latest spring fashions contributed by Bangor and Old Town stores will be: Janet Bannister, Marilyn Dennett, Ruth Curtis, Dorothy Hubbard, Dorothy Briggs, Beverly Currier, Eleanor Coney, Eden Fort, Carolyn Moores, Elaine Lockhart, Ruth Watson, and Marilyn Hoyt.

Refreshments will be served under the direction of Mary Helen Oak and Gwendolyn Stewart. Vonille Leonard will be in charge of the music, and Joyce Wilson of the decorations.

Tickets for the show are under the supervision of Barbara Wright, and may be obtained next week from any member of the sorority.

Home Management, KS Subscribe 100%

For the second year in a row, Kappa Sigma and the Home Management house have been the first to announce 100% subscription in the Good Will Chest drive.

The initial goal of the drive was set at $3,000, with each solicitor asking individual contributions of two dollars. However, all contributions, large or small, have been gratefully accepted, Dineen said.

Library Sports New Room

With the opening of the new second floor reference room, the library is nearing completion as specified in the original plans. Finished with natural birch tables and bookshelves, the new room has a seating capacity of 120.

Bibliographies, encyclopedias, and bound magazines of the past ten years are shelved along the walls. For greater facility in reference work, the subjects are titled over the shelves. Philosophy, psychology, art, and music are only a few of the fields covered by books now located in the new room.

The old reference room is being used for science and technology.

Although there is still much work to be done on the recreational reading room, library officials hope that it may soon be completed. Lounging chairs and other furniture have been ordered, and will arrive by the time work is finished.

Revamp of Student Government Would Alleviate Problems

The Committee would consist of seven persons, appointed by the Executive council.

Fewer Members

The legislative arm of the proposed reorganization will still be called the General Student senate, but membership will be reduced in an effort to get a more workable body. (The senate consists of 27 members at the present time.)

The new constitution proposes that the senate consist of nine members; three to be elected from the student body at large, and one each from the following groups: male dormitories, fraternities, female dormitories, off-campus men, and off-campus women.

The proposed changes will be submitted to the General senate as soon as possible, the committee spokesman said.

The Time Is Now

With the recent ascendancy of Maine's coaching staff, athletic teams, and spirit in general, the time has come for an important decision.

The policy concerning subsidization of athletes at Maine has in the past come up for much discussion, with both the pros and cons of the subject being staunchly supported. Maine's resultant decision not to subsidize is to our mind a valid one; but the fact remains that with practically all other teams on Maine's schedule offering inducement of some sort to young athletes, the time is potentially not far distant when these schools may continually overpower Maine with their machine-organized athletic plants.

Without the aid of monetary or scholarship aid, Maine must look elsewhere to find inducements that can be exploited in order to bring young men of athletic capability to the Orono campus.

When a kid looks around to decide where to go to college he usually favors the institution from whence comes the best deal, but there have been cases where youngsters chose a school because of reasons other than material (among them, of course the desire for a certain type of education).

Maine already possesses a great deal of the stuff from which non-material inducement arises. Our track, cross country, tennis, golf, and ski teams have turned in outstanding performances for several years, and hold not a few state and other titles. More recently Maine has amassed coaching staffs in football, basketball, and baseball that will compare more than favorably with anything in New England and many beyond.

These things are all inducements for young athletes to come to the home of the pale blue, but they are not, in themselves, enough.

Kids like to win, sure, but they also like to wear the colors of an institution that is athletically minded in the higher echelons as well as on the coach-player-student level.

The recent decision on the part of the trustees not to sanction post-season tourneys is in this writer's opinion a definitely negative action in the light of recent events. The coaching staffs have spent long, ulcer-inducing sessions to build the teams we have this year. The players have sweat off countless pounds, broken legs, and otherwise endangered themselves physically, making the famous "old college try" look like something out of a kindergarten class. The student body has screamed themselves hoarse in unanimous support.

They deserve a chance to push the thing that they have built to the greatest heights possible. They deserve the chance to inspire the youth of Maine to come to Orono to continue the wars in future years.

The time is here when it must be decided whether the University of Maine is to strive with all it has possession of to build itself into a permanent sports power or whether it is, by a negative policy, to let other schools reap the cream of the young athletic crop.

A Vote For Freedom

In these days of hectic, mangled world politics, the word freedom has become of paramount importance. This week free-minded people all over the world are celebrating the hundredth anniversary of the birth of a man who was one of the world's great exponents of freedom—Thomas G. Masaryk.

Founder and three-time president of the late Czechoslovakian Republic, he was one of the modern era's most profound men, and up until his death in 1937 was one of the foremost proponents in Western Europe of a free political life.

The Orono campus is a long way from Czechoslovakia. Students who wonder why we mention Masaryk may ponder the fact many of them went to places even more distant on war missions in behalf of the ideals he stood for.

Significantly, no editorial such as this can appear in Masaryk's homeland. There, the iron curtain has rung down, leaving Americans and other free peoples as the only custodians of the liberties of a liberty-loving country.

That puts a heavy responsibility upon us. In our atomic-hydrogen era, it is important that we remember—that we not lose hope.

"If you have to drive this thing to school, do you have to park it in front of our house?"

Kathleen R. Chambers

Editor's note: Dick St. James, who usually appears in these columns, has this week relinquished his space in order that the following poem might appear. We print this poem, which came to the office through the mail, not only because it is a fine and sensitive tribute to a person who was loved by all who knew her, but especially because it expresses so much more beautifully than we could ever have done, the tribute the Campus would like to pay her memory:

Ironie Epitaph

Who knows what thought came before?
Some say all of life flashes through the mind—
Or was it blank, or full of fear—something of the kind
That paralyzes even while life is yet,
Just before the Nullifier is too soon met?
The sudden impact of the crash,
(a scream?)
The shattering and splintering of the glass . . .
Next morning the campus heard, incredulous:
"Miss Chambers' death—instantaneous."

"Only 41 . . . too young to die"; what's more
Those are who refused to let her go,
Hiding the truth they sure must know.
For days later, on a square white card
("We must take it down—but, it's so hard!")

The Dull Edge

By STEVE RILEY

Although graduation is still more than three months away, it's none too early to be thinking about the band for the Commencement ball.

Whether or not the committee in charge of making the arrangements has been formed we don't know, but it's certain that if we are going to have a name band that amounts to anything, something will have to be done about it soon.

This will be the largest class ever to graduate from the University, and that's reason enough to have the biggest and best Commencement dance to be staged here, with music by an orchestra worthy of playing for it.

It's certain that the seniors would rather shell out a little more and get a good orchestra rather than hire one of those "semi-name" outfits that cost a goodly sum. The "semi-names" aren't much out of the Maine Bears class and sometimes we think the Bears could do as well, if not better.

Just to show it can be done, little Norwich University, a military school in Vermont, recently had Tex Beneke to play for a formal dance. And not only did they have Beneke, but there was another band on hand to spell Beneke's now and then.

There just doesn't seem to be any point in wasting money on some half-name, half-baked outfit—and it will be the last college fling for some 1200 of us.

A Point of View

Editor's Note: The following letter was received after the date of publication for last week's Campus. Pledge week, mentioned below, is all over. However, we feel that the letter is representative of a segment of thought on campus. For this reason, we publish it a week late.

To the Editor: Seeing that it is pledge week for our fraternities on campus, do you suppose you could reprint the enclosed item without violating Life magazine's copyright?

I feel that its contents, being what they are, may stimulate some reflection in the minds of the group to which it relates.

—ANTONIOS PAPADOPOULOS

Thank God for racial, religious, social, and economic discrimination in America! Without them the college fraternity would cease functioning, and our colleges could no longer manufacture those superb products of nonindividualism, juvenility and social complacency we term "frat men." . . .

THOMAS BEIDELMAN

We're Sorry, Barbara

To the Editor: We have on this campus over two hundred and fifty students actively participating in our numerous musical organizations. There are few functions in which music does not play an important part in carrying out a successful program. Without the careful guidance of our musical directors, and without the interest of the students, we would be lacking music at all of our games and assemblies, there would be no "Pop" concerts or Music nights, no weekly Sunday recitals, no out-of-town glee club, band, or orchestra concerts, and no opportunities for students to listen to recordings of classical music. These are not all that Carnegie hall offers to each student on campus!

It has come to our attention that some of our public has been disappointed to find they have missed a concert only because they did not know it existed. Isn't it about time to recognize music as one of our outstanding campus activities, and to give the students an opportunity to read about them? Members of Mu Alpha Epsilon feel that at least a two inch column should be given to music notes each week, with the assumption that it will be put to good use for all University students.

BARBARA BURROWES
Secretary, Mu Alpha Epsilon

Editor's note: While the Campus recognizes music as "one of our outstanding . . . activities," it is our policy, because of the large number of important activities on campus not to delegate columns to specific activities week after week. We attempt to cover all newsworthy events in our news columns, and note the time of all activities, such as concerts, in our regular feature, the University Calendar. If we have missed the boat on musical activities we are sorry, and will double our efforts in that direction.

Big Society Week End Hits Maine Campus; Parties Galore

Balls, Brawls, Many Shindigs Mark Activities

Despite the surplus of basketball games and freezing weather, the students have merrily pivoted their way through another two weeks of parties and dances.

Saturday, Feb. 25, Kappa Sig's annual Night of Magic was held. Magician extraordinary, Mr. Lew Young of Bangor, held an audience of about twenty-five couples in suspense as he performed many mystical tricks, concluding by pulling the proverbial rabbit from his hat.

Throughout the evening dancing was enjoyed and refreshments served. Chaperons for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Supple.

MARILYN

The gay nineties were never gayer than at Lambda Chi Friday, Feb. 24. The girls were chivalrously ushered to the house in that period's proper mode of travel—the horse and buggy.

Sixty couples danced to music by Ken Erickson and his orchestra and were entertained by a 19th century barbershop quartet—Bud Cuthbertson, Al Bell, Al Mosher, and Herb Griffin.

Prize for the best costumes went to Mr. and Mrs. George Stover, and the booby award was extended to Al Bell and Lillis Joy. Mr. and Mrs. George Wadlin chaperoned the party, which was under the auspices of Tony Peterson.

The hat was thrown into the ring at Phi Mu Saturday, Feb. 25, as the couples gathered crowned with everything from a cup and saucer to raw vegetables. Prizes for the most original went to John Barnard and Harriet Elwell. Punch and cookies were served.

T.K.E. held a dance in Carnegie hall Saturday, Feb. 25, which over 40 couples attended. The hall was attractively decorated, and the group had a wonderful time singing, dancing, and being entertained.

The boys at Sigma Chi presented an hour-and-a-half entertainment entitled, "The Sig Follies," Saturday, Feb. 25. Dick Danforth MC'd the show and also performed a couple of wash-tub bass.

The evening was planned by Ken Hill and decorations were three dimensional replicas of Follies girls created by Bill Fogler. Chaperons for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Neal Allen.

Friday, Feb. 24, Phi Kap held a rushing party and vic dance which over 40 couples attended. Entertainment was supplied by the non-residents of the house. Refreshments were served at intermission. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Graham.

Sig Ep held an informal vic dance in South Estabrooke Saturday, Feb. 25, attended by about fifty couples. The hall was gaily decorated with balloons of various shapes and sizes. At intermission, the group listened to the new vocal styling of Randy Tripp, assisted by Frank Tillou, Howie Slaney, and several accordion selections by Hap Purington.

Phi Mu sorority joined members of its Bangor-Orono Alumnae group at a Founder's Day banquet held at the Tarratine club Saturday. The banquet room was decorated in a rainbow theme which was carried throughout the program.

Program speakers were: Sally Arsenault, Joyce Chipman, Betty Russell, Yvonne Richmond, and Ann Preble, who acted as mistress of ceremonies.

Last week end the Maine Alpha chapter of SAE was host to the Province Alpha convention of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Friday evening a banquet was held at the Penobscot Valley Country club, followed by several guest speakers.

Saturday evening a buffet supper was held at the SAE house, and then about 75 couples left for the Country club where an informal dance was being staged. The rooms were decorated in fraternity colors of purple and gold. Ray Down's orchestra provided music.

Phi Mu Delta held an informal vic dance last Saturday night. Refreshments were served, and Mr. and Mrs. Milo Lude chaperoned.

Tri Delt pledges were the guests of honor at Tri Delt's annual Pledge formal held at the Delta Tau house Friday evening. The 17 pledges were introduced at intermission and presented corsages of flowers. Sammy Saliba's orchestra played, dedicating dance numbers to the pledges. Punch and cookies were served.

Chaperons were Dean and Mrs. Joseph M. Murray, Mrs. Lewis Niven, and Mrs. Marguerite Cowan. Janet Bannister was dance chairman.

Alpha Omicron Pi held a Pledge formal at the Sigma Chi house Saturday evening. The pledges were serenaded with sorority songs and presented with nosegays.

Alpha Omicron Pi also held its 42nd annual initiation banquet Sunday evening at the Penobscot Valley Country club with members of the Bangor

Alumnae chapter as guests. Joanne Libby served as toastmistress for the affair.

Delta Zeta entertained Mrs. A. F. Sullivan of Westhaven, Conn., over the past week end. Mrs. Sullivan is the director of Province L of Delta Zeta Sorority. During her visit, which she makes annually, she held conferences with each sorority member.

Our freezing Maine weather was momentarily forgotten as about 50 couples danced under swaying palm trees at Phi Gam Friday evening, lunching on cocoanuts and pineapples.

The group was attired in various tourist and native costumes, and Ray Down's orchestra supplied the background and dance music. Dr. and Mrs. Henry Hawley chaperoned.

Pinned this week are:

Jo Kaler, South Portland, to Jim Conley, SAE; Jean Campbell, Houlton, to Fred Carroll, Lambda Chi; Hope Tower, Belfast, to John Combes, Beta; Laura Moulton, Colvin, to Bob White, Alpha Gam.

Engaged are: Alice Silva, Belfast, to Al Weymouth.

Freshmen Need Handbook Help

The Freshman club invites all interested freshmen to join in the publication of next year's Freshman Handbook.

While assignments are available for all, artists and writers are particularly needed.

George Grant, chairman of the Freshman Handbook committee, said this week that the handbook will be a "vitalized edition of useful data, helpful hints and frivolous trivia designed to shed a little light on the pitfalls encountered by first year Maine students."

Miss Ruth Wadleigh, MCA assistant secretary, will receive inquiries from journalistic aspirants

Top-Notch Gym Outfit To Stage Campus Show

The Springfield college exhibition team will give a gymnastic entertainment of rhythmic exercises, dances, and comedy at the University of Maine, Tuesday, March 21. Their visit to the campus is sponsored by the University Assembly committee and the Department of physical education.

About ten years ago a similar team from Springfield gave a performance at the University which was well received by the students and faculty. The exhibition will be given in the evening. Details concerning the program and plans for admission for students and faculty will be announced shortly.

Professor Stanley Wallace, professor Harold Woodbury of the physical education department, and Albert Brady and Charles E. Crossland are making arrangements for the event.

Masque To Star Rookies In Play

Heretofore unseen talent will take the stage in the Masque's next play, "Green Grow the Lilacs," for which rehearsal is now in full swing.

The leading roles in the production have been given to freshmen or non-Masque students.

Stephen Claffin will get his first acting opportunity in the role of Curly, the gun-totin' singing cowboy, while Dorothy McCann will play Ado Annie, the wallflower.

William Heyne will portray Jeeter, a dark-haired character who chases after the pretty young Laurie, played by Lynne Hatch, a promising freshman.

Another newcomer, Beverly Bouchard, will act as Aunt Eller, who lends humor to the script.

E. J. McDermott and Charles Lorange will make their debuts in the supporting cast.

Tickets are now on sale at 330 Stevens.

Track Team Goes After 20th Straight Win Saturday

Bear Facts

BY JOHN MURPHY

The fourth outstanding Maine athletic team of the year rounds out its season this Saturday.

Coach Chester Jenkins' indoor track squad is picking up where the Yankee Conference football co-champs, the State Series basketball champs and the state cross country champs left off.

The track team will be shooting for the 20th straight indoor triumph.

Despite such a record, Coach Jenkins is far from content with his current squad. Strong in the weights and the distance events, the team is lacking in dash and hurdle men.

According to the veteran coach, a good track team needs a fast man who can double in the two short dashes and perhaps pick up a win in the low hurdles.

The last such man that Maine had was Martin Hagopian. His career was cut short by tuberculosis. Hagopian set a new field house record of 5.5 seconds in the 50-yard dash while actually ill from the disease.

Although there are no dash men in sight to compare with those on the Bowdoin and Colby teams, the shot put department may well furnish a record breaker in Floyd Milbank.

In three meets this winter, the 210-pound junior has set three meet records. His 45-foot toss last Saturday against Northeastern was only two inches shy of the field house mark.

Next winter, with added strength and experience Jenkins expects Milbank to crack the indoor mark and the outdoor record may fall in the spring.

Ski jumper Bill Cummings has made the big jump from Class B to Class A competition. Cummings who won the Dartmouth carnival jumping last year and was third in the Franconia meet jumping this year, will be in the top group next winter.

The A group is hand-picked from the top collegiate and independent jumpers in the business. The last Maine jumper so honored was Rod Elliott in 1936 and 1937.

Still in the winter sports field, Graydon Erickson of the B ski team was awarded the Colby carnival Skimeister trophy as the outstanding skier of the meet.

The trophy is awarded to the top scorer in six events—the downhill, slalom, jumping, cross country, downhill-slalom combined and the jumping-cross country combined. The University's B team won the meet over the A teams of Bowdoin, Bates and Colby.

A fourth Hillsdale college coach has joined the Yankee Conference as backfield assistant to Art Valpey at Connecticut.

Paul White, who took over Maine backfield coach Hal Westerman's job at Hillsdale, has assumed the backfield duties at Storrs. He was captain and wingback at Michigan in 1946 under Valpey.

The basketball committee of the Maine Principals' Association wishes to thank members of the M club for their work during the MPA-sponsored high school basketball tournament (perish that nasty word).

M club members were assigned to each team and tended to them throughout their tournament play.

Record breaker Floyd Milbank shows the form that has broken three meet shot put records thus far this winter. The 210-pound junior smashed marks against New Hampshire, Northeastern, and Springfield. His 45-foot toss last Saturday against Northeastern was two inches shy of the fieldhouse record. —Newhall Photo

Faces Boston University Squad At Fieldhouse In Season Finale

BY STEVE RILEY

Led by Tom Heise, outstanding in the 50-yard dash, and Dick Palmieri, an ace high jumper, the Terriers of Boston University will be a definite threat to the 19-meet win streak of the Pale Blue track team in the season's finale Saturday at the fieldhouse.

Heise is certain to give the Maine dash men a run for their money as he has broken the tape consistently in 5.6 seconds. Palmieri has jumped six feet, two inches, far higher than any of Coach Jenkins' men have jumped this season.

Terriers Have Balance

Back of Heise and Palmieri, BU's coach Doug Raymond has a well-rounded squad with strength in almost every event. Other top men are Art Braithwaite in the high hurdles and Cort Ellis, a broad jumper.

Coach Jenkins will have his squad at full strength for the meet. Johnny Wallace, who successfully shifted from the two mile to the one mile event for the Northeastern meet, will probably run that event. Outside of that change the Bear lineup will probably be the same as in their other three winning starts to date.

In the meet with Northeastern last Saturday, the Bears lost points in the dashes and hurdles but came back strongly in the long runs and the weights to win handily. The final count was 77 to 49.

Bears Sweep Weight

Once more it was the weight throw that added nine big points to the Maine total. This time it was Jim Jalbert who made the winning toss with Steve Orach and Dick Gordon making it a clean sweep. Everybody has been in the act in the last three meets. Each of the three boys has won the event once and in each case Maine has taken all three places.

Another Pale Blue sweep in the meet was the discus event with Vaughn Totman, Dick Gordon, and Bill McLeod finishing in that order.

Backs, Centers Open Grid Drills

Preliminary spring football practice got underway in Memorial gym this week.

Backfield coach Harold Westerman met with over 40 backfield candidates and six centers, most of them inexperienced, and has been holding daily workouts since Monday.

This week's work is preparation for regular spring practice which will start Monday, March 13. Candidates for all positions will begin daily sessions then.

According to Westerman and head coach Dave Nelson, the first part of this week's practice was devoted to speed, timing and balance drills along with other exercises involving basic abilities. Time was spent on running sprints, both forward and backward, weaving and pivoting.

All football candidates must draw their equipment before 4:30 p.m. on Monday, March 13. The first team practice will be held at 4:45 p.m., Monday, March 13, in the field house.

The latter part of the week will be devoted to skills and techniques.

Westerman said that since all of the candidates out now are comparatively new and haven't been seen much in action, he is spending a lot of time with each one in order to get an idea of their abilities.

Nelson reported that full-scale practice, starting Monday, will be held in the fieldhouse until spring vacation. Then, he said, the squad will move outside to the field.

The spring workouts will be climaxed by a regular game, May 6, between the newcomers, including the frosh, and veterans from last season.

The veterans will not be expected to take full part in spring practice, working only enough to be ready for the game.

Owl-Eagle Contest, Faculty Game Set

The annual Owl-Eagle basketball game will be held Thursday, March 16, at 7 p.m. in Memorial gym.

As an added feature, members of the coaching staff and the physical education department will play a team of faculty members.

The phys ed team will include football coach Dave Nelson, assistant football and basketball coach Hal Westerman, baseball coach Mike Lude, assistant football coach John Cuddeback, and physical education instructors Sam Sezak and Hal Woodbury.

Frosh Oppose MCI

With a split in their first two meets, the Frosh track team will go against MCI Saturday afternoon at Memorial gymnasium in its last indoor track meet of the season.

Bears To Enter Golden Ski Meet As Season Ends Lude Will Make Final Baseball Cut This Week

About fifty snow birds will compete for top honors in the Fourth Annual Golden Ski meet to be held at Bald Mountain in Dedham, Sunday, March 12.

Sponsored by the Penobscot Valley Ski Club and the Bangor Daily Commercial, the meet will be open to ski enthusiasts throughout the state, and scoring will be made in the downhill, slalom, and combined events.

In addition to special awards which will be given to the top three finishers in each event, a golden cup also is to be presented to the highest point winner. This cup is given for one year, and three wins are required for sole possession.

Two former University of Maine ski men already have a claim on the prize. Ben Bernard has posted two wins for the trophy while John Chapman has one.

Coach Ted Curtis of the Pale Blue ski squad said Tuesday that he expected 12 to 15 entrants from the University. Most of these men will be members of the A and B varsity teams.

Downhill competition on Sunday will start at 10:30 a.m. while the slalom event will get underway about 12:30, according to Curtis.

Baseball Coach Mike Lude will make his final squad cut this week end as preparations continue in the field house for the late March-early April seven-game southern trip.

Lude has not as yet decided the number of men that will be retained but plans to announce the list next Monday.

The team will leave Thursday, March 30, for the first game with Washington college. Other games will be with Howard, Hampden-Sydney, Norfolk Naval Base, Norfolk Naval Air Station, and Western Maryland in that order. The Bears will play a twin bill with the Air Station team.

The emphasis has been put on batting thus far during the drills. Each afternoon, players work in the new batting cage.

Wallace New President Of Varsity M Club

Johnny Wallace, varsity miler and two-miler, has been elected president of the University M club.

Other new officers are: Seymour Card, vice president; Dick Gordon, secretary; Harry Easton, treasurer.

Women's Sports

BY MARTHA PRATT

Congratulations this week go to Liz Marden—new treasurer of WAA! Due to the resignation of Lora Moulton, a new popular vote was taken by Junior WAA and you have elected Liz. Good work, Liz.

For several weeks now you folks have been hearing, or rather reading about AFCW. If you remember, our WAA held a convention here at Maine to acquaint other colleges in the state with such an organization. The New England Athletic Federation of College Women is having a convention at Smith College this week end, March 10, 11, and 12. Our representatives to this convention are Mary B. Tufts and Beth Clark. They will be accompanied by Miss Catherine Shaw, faculty advisor of the group.

Swish—swish—whosh! "Birdies" are flying in the women's gym again. Yes, badminton is off to a quick start this year. Nets are hung; racquets selected and the games begin. Practices are being held this week for any girls who may need a little refresher course. Next week a "ladder tournament" will be held in each dorm and "off campus" for all to compete in starting Tuesday, March 14. This will be followed by an elimination tournament with the two highest girls from each dorm participating for the singles championship title. If there are any questions, see Rita Conti, badminton manager.

Pianist Newman To Appear Here Next Thursday

William S. Newman, widely known pianist, will be at the University March 16 and 17, and will give a concert in the Little Theatre Thursday, March 16, at 8:30 p.m.

Professor Newman has taught at Western Reserve, Bennington College, Columbia University, and is now a member of the graduate school faculty at the University of North Carolina.

In addition to the recital, Prof. Newman will lecture before one or more classes in music and confer with students in piano. Students, faculty and the public are invited to the concert. There will be no admission charge.
