University Open House Draws 1000

Displays, Shows
Amaze Visitors

By JOHN CONNORS

Visitors to the University's Open House last Saturday found plenty of exhibits and attractions to keep them interested. All departments opened their doors to over 1,000 high-schoolers and their parents and friends.

The College of Arts and Sciences provided two lectures by Paul Knaut, whose exhibition of color photography is in the Louis Oakes room in the library. Knaut showed part of his library of color motion pictures to the visitors.

A poster display explaining the University's public management program, which has received nation-wide publicity, and a voting machine were the features of the history and government show in Stevens hall.

Radio Guild Produces

The Maine Radio guild presented the production and recording of a radio program. The guests were much entertained by seeing the "inside" of a studio in action.

Open House in the journalism department provided a display, "Rockland and Knox County—Fifty Years," which explained through the medium of the Rockland Courier-Gazette the top news and attractions in that area since 1900. Also present was a full copy desk and battery of rewrite men to give the visitors a picture of a newspaper office in action.

The College of Technology pulled a couple of fast ones on some of the visitors. A "muscle-power demonstrator" foiled the efforts of many of the he-men, although those much weaker turned the crank and lit the bulb with little effort. The gimmick? A system of reostats was switched on for the rugged ones, raising the devil with their self-esteem.

The "Lion" was the noisiest attraction on campus. Loudspeakers amplified the roar of the lion.

Butler Condition Is Still 'Critical'

Daniel J. Butler, Jr., 20, a junior and resident of New Dorm 3, is still in critical condition at the Blue Hill hospital as result of an auto crash Sunday, April 16. No change has been reported in his condition since his admission to the hospital.

State police said Butler's car skidded out of control on a curve three miles north of Blue Hill.

All seniors who will graduate at the end of the summer session are allowed to take part in Class Day exercises and must order their caps and gowns not later than Saturday, May 6.

One of these men (with the exception of Prexy, who already is) will be a campus big gun come Maine Day when students elect a mayor for the following year. They are, left to right, Bruno Caliendo, Duke Walters, Don Spear, and President Hauck. Al Pease is seated. The new mayor will replace Robert (Tiny) Fletcher, the incumbent. Active campaigning will start Friday, May 12.

Two Frosh, Two Sophomores Gird For Mayoralty Battle Without Benefit Of Female Co-Runners

By WOODY BIGELOW

Two freshmen and two sophomores have tossed their hats into the mayoralty ring and will soon vie with one another for the No. 1 office on campus.

The four candidates are freshmen Bruno Caliendo and "Duke" Walters and sophomores Al Pease and Don Spear. One of these aspiring (not perspiring yet) young men will be inaugurated on Maine Day, May 17. At that time Mayor Robert "Tiny" Fletcher, dark-horse victor in last year's upset election, will turn over his office to the lucky candidate.

At a meeting of the mayoralty committee and the candidates it was decided that this year's Mayor will not take office accompanied by a female associate. A plan had been submitted whereby each candidate could sponsor a girl on his ticket. Girls, however, may still help the candidates in the campaign.

Walters will run under the name of the Vagabond Duke. His campaign slogan will be "The Mayor for All the People." He told the Campus that he wants "everybody to get together and have a good time."

Sid Folsom and Bob Rooney are Walters' campaign managers.

Candidate Spear disclosed that the general theme of his platform will be "The Gay Nineties and the Torrid Twenties." Other than that, Spear headquarters are silent. His campaign manager is Arthur Bowker.

At press time neither Caliendo nor Pease had made any definite statements concerning their respective campaigns. Pease's campaign is being handled by Dave Ehrenfried.

Pre-campaign publicity in the form of posters and hand bills will get underway Monday, May 8. Actual campaigning will get into high gear May 12. From then on, anything and everything can be expected.

Schedule Listed

Candidates may perform stunts, make speeches, or hold debates at the following times:

Friday, May 12: 7-7:45 a.m.; during the ten-minute intervals between classes; and from 5:35 p.m. to 12 midnight.

Saturday, May 13: 7-7:45 a.m.; the ten-minute intervals between classes; and from 12:35 p.m. to 12 midnight.

Sunday, May 14: no activity of any kind.

Monday, May 15: 7-7:45 a.m.; the ten-minute intervals between classes; and from 5:35 p.m. until the end of the day.

Campus Radio Station Will Go On Air Maine Day, Says Fowles

Maine's campus radio station will go on the air with six broadcasts a week, according to student station manager Keith Fowles. Scheduled for week days and Sundays, the shows will run from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Tentative plans call for the initial broadcast to be on Maine Day, May 17. The list of programs includes campus news, campus and national sports, and musical shows featuring hit songs, dance tunes, and classical selections.

Classical On Sundays

Sunday broadcasts will feature symphony and classical music, presented by members of the U of M orchestra and band. All announcing and production work on the station and its broadcasts will be done by students.

Bruce Schwab, student technical director, has announced a change in the station's operation plans. Instead of broadcasting from a low-power central transmitter, as was announced by the Campus last week, the station will transmit its programs through the system commonly called "carrier current."

Confined To Campus

This system calls for the carrying of the broadcasts over campus-wide transmission lines. This will eliminate the possibility of the station's being heard off-campus.

1100 Seniors To Graduate In Two Shifts

BU Prexy Marsh
Principal Speaker

By SID FOLSOM

Maine's graduating class will receive its diplomas in two shifts again this year, according to President Arthur A. Hauck.

More than 1100 seniors will be graduated at either the morning or afternoon ceremonies at the University's 89th commencement exercises Sunday, June 18, in the Memorial gym.

Present plans provide for the graduation of members of the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Education at 10 a.m. College of Agriculture and College of Technology students are scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Marsh Will Speak

President Daniel L. Marsh, of Boston University, will be principal speaker at the commencement exercises.

Dr. Hauck has also announced that the Baccalaureate services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, June 11, in the Memorial gym.

The Rev. Clifford Osborne, D.D., will conduct the services. Dr. Osborne is minister of the Pleasant Street Methodist Church in Waterville.

Dr. Marsh has received A.B. and A.M. degrees from Northwestern University, S.T.B. degree from Boston University, D.D. degree from Grove City college, and holds honorary degrees from a number of other colleges and universities. He has been president of Boston university since 1925.

Prominent Official

A former minister and general superintendent of Pittsburgh Methodist churches, Dr. Marsh serves on the governing boards of several public and private institutions and firms. He has received Northwestern University's alumni award for "distinguished service to education."

Dr. Marsh is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, Phi Gamma Mu, Beta Gamma Sigma, and Phi Gamma Delta. He has written a number of textbooks, pamphlets, and other publications.

Prof. Leavitt Of CE Department Ill

Prof. H. Walter Leavitt, of the Civil Engineering department, who was taken ill April 22, is convalescing at his home following his return from the Eastern Maine General hospital.

Prof. Leavitt, who has taught at the University for 32 years, plans to resume his classes next Monday.

Glee Club's Big Production Gets Large Ovation

Applause reached an ovational pitch last Friday evening in the Memorial gym at the final curtain of "Down in the Valley," presented by the University Glee club under the direction of James Selwood.

The folk opera was a milestone in the history of the music department. Although excerpts from various operas have been given from time to time on the University campus, this is the first time that a full scale presentation has been offered to the student body.

Lead roles were sung by Freda Gray, Paul Payson, and Thomas Bouche. Those having supporting roles were Robert Gascoigne, William Robertson, Jean-Paul Roberge, Helen Friend, and Allegra Anderson.

The two-piano score was played by Philip Pendleton and Barbara Downs.

Freshman Banquet To Be Held May 6; Dance To Follow

The annual Freshman banquet and dance will be held May 6 in Memorial gym. Bruno Caliendo and some of his Maine Men will play during the dinner, which will start around 6:30 p.m.

Following the banquet, which is restricted to freshmen, there will be dancing until 11:30. Guests of freshmen will attend the dance and the Maine Men will provide the music.

Dr. Rome Rankin will be the speaker at the banquet and Donald LaChance will be toastmaster. Dress is informal and about 500 are expected to attend.

The evening's entertainment has been arranged by Donald LaChance, class president, Robert Ellingwood, vice president, Beverly Pettengill, secretary, Constance Lawley, treasurer, and the executive committee, Jean Libby, Charlotte Troubh, Ned Maher, and Jack Kelly.

Union Building Fund In Need Of $75,000 To Complete Quota

By BILL ROBERTSON

The Union Building Fund committee opened a drive last week among students to raise the $75,000 needed to reach the $900,000 goal.

Raymond H. Fogler, chairman of the committee, stated that over 11,000 University alumni, students, faculty, friends, and business concerns have subscribed to the fund. The campaign will conclude on June 17, which is Alumni Day, during Commencement exercises.

Jo Josslyn and Will Nisbet, co-chairmen of the newly organized Student Campaign committee for 1950, announced that the student goal in the latest drive is $75,000. They stated that the committee will center their attention on those of the student body who have not yet subscribed.

The alumni objective in this "Building Drive" is $50,000. Each alumni area throughout the United States has been requested to raise a specific amount to help attain the $900,000 during the next sixty days.

To date the alumni in Rhode Island, under Chairman Alfred B. Lingley, of Warren, are setting the pace for the other 60 areas. Although they have already subscribed $15,395, or 113% of quota, they agreed to raise another $500 in the building drive. In the latest drive they have reported $780, thus raising the total subscribed in the area to 119% of quota.

Announce Candidates

Three members of the Men's Student Senate have been named as candidates for the Senate presidency. The selection of the president will take place at the next meeting of the senate, May 9.

Candidates are Richard Dow, Howard Foley, and John Gagne.

Dr. Gordon Fair To Be Assembly Speaker May 8

The 23rd annual Scholarship Recognition assembly will be held in the Memorial gym, Monday, May 8, at 9:45 a.m. Dr. Gordon M. Fair, chairman of the Division of Engineering Sciences, Harvard University, will be the principal speaker. He will speak on "Scholarship and Scientific Manpower."

The assembly is sponsored by Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary fraternity, with the cooperation of the six other honorary societies on campus. The highest ranking student of each of these fraternities has been appointed to the committee of the day, to assist in making arrangements.

The societies and their student representatives are as follows; Phi Kappa Phi, Elizabeth N. Shaw; Phi Beta Kappa, Yngurd M. Fehlau; Tau Beta Pi, Theodore S. Whitehouse; Kappa Delta Pi, William J. Carmalt; Alpha Zeta, Richard S. Adams; Omicron Nu, Priscilla L. Lord; Xi Sigma Pi, Charles K. Sleight.

Approximately 140 scholarships and prizes will be awarded at the assembly, according to Prof. Cecil Reynolds, vice president of Phi Kappa Phi and chairman of the program committee.

All seniors who have maintained a point average of 3.0 or better through their first seven semesters will be seated at the front of the hall in caps and gowns. A total of 169 seniors have qualified for this group.

Jackson Lab Researcher Will Speak To Sigma Xi

Sigma Xi, scientific research society, will hold an open meeting at 8 p.m., May 18, in the Louis Oakes room of the library with Dr. John Fuller, research associate in Physiology at the Jackson Memorial laboratory at Bar Harbor, as speaker.

Dr. Fuller will speak on the work of geneticists, and their relationship with the work done by physiological psychologists at the Jackson Laboratories.

Dr. Fuller, a graduate of Pates college, received his Ph.D. from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. After teaching there for four years, he taught at Sarah Lawrence college and Clark university.

A member of the faculty at the University of Maine for ten years, he joined the Jackson laboratory in 1947.

Interchange of thinking

All manufacturing departments may draw on the services of the chemical, engineering and toxicological laboratories of the company in Wilmington. In addition, the Chemical Department's library at the Wilmington Experimental Station circulates reference material, conducts literature and patent searches and issues a weekly abstract of pertinent articles found in the important chemical journals of the world. This supplements normal work of this kind done by the various manufacturing departments.

No matter where a Du Pont research man may work, he has every opportunity to use his best talents, to advance as his abilities develop, and to profit by interchange of thinking with scientists whose minds complement his own.

RESEARCH DECENTRALIZED

Du Pont scientists pursue their studies from Buffalo, N. Y., to Orange, Texas

THE DU PONT COMPANY is a large company. Its many manufacturing plants are now located from Maine to California. Likewise, the Company's research activities are spread over a wide area. From the Founder's informal scientific experiments on the Brandywine have sprung 42 research and development laboratories in ten states.

Each manufacturing department* has its own research director and maintains facilities for studies in its specialized fields. Thus, research having to do with dyes, neoprene and fine chemicals is centered at Deepwater, N. J.; research on cellophane and other transparent wrapping films at Buffalo, N. Y.; research on viscose rayon at Richmond, Va.; and research on coated and impregnated fabrics at Newburgh, N. Y. These are only a few of the places where Du Pont scientists are now at work. Each manufacturing department does fundamental research as well as applied research on new processes and products.

Many types of training

At any one time, many hundreds of different projects are under way in these laboratories. Though a relatively large number of Du Pont technical people are chemists and chemical engineers, other fields of training are strongly represented.

Among the scientists working with Du Pont are mechanical, electrical, civil, industrial, mining, petroleum, textile, architectural and safety engineers, physicists, metallurgists, biologists and mathematicians. About 30% of these men and women who

Masque's Final Production, 'Two Blind Mice,' Will Start Wednesday; First Farce In Years

Next Wednesday marks the opening night of "Two Blind Mice," the final Masque production of the season. The play, which has been in rehearsal for the past four weeks, is the first farcical comedy that the Masque has done for years. "Two Blind Mice," written by Russian-born Samuel Spewack, is a take-off on bureaucracy in our government.

"This play is especially timely," said Director Herschel L. Bricker, "because of the current disputes about government economy in this country. Although the play was written several years ago, the audience will be familiar with the situations satired, and will be able to enjoy the humor evident in the script. A play of this type should be of special interest to our students."

Riva Greenblatt and Carol Carr, character leads, play the part of the two old ladies who are running the unauthorized United States Medicinal Herb Department. The plot thickens, and is finally untangled by the two romantic leads, Leonard Silver, and Allegra Anderson.

Tickets for the production, which will run May 10-13, are now on sale and may be obtained at 330 Stevens.

A Glance At The Fine Print

Constitutions are getting to be rather a tiresome subject here on campus. Hardly a week goes by without someone proposing, drafting, or wrangling over a constitution of one kind or another. It's such an everyday thing that most of us are inclined to shrug a sophisticated shoulder whenever the word is mentioned, say "Well, if they ever really did anything . . ." and then change the subject.

So perhaps it would be too much to expect that anyone is going to get excited about this week's referendum on a constitution for the proposed Student Religious association. It's our opinion, though, that somebody should.

The Interfaith council has in effect proposed that the three big faith groups on campus should coordinate their joint activities through a permanent central organization—the S. R. A. Few of us question the need for such an organization. So far there's been very little hue and cry about how we're going to get it.

The plans are just about complete. Apparently they've been worked out with a good deal of care. Except, that is, for one thing—the constitution as drafted leaves quite a bit to be desired.

While its ratification requires two-thirds approval by all the dormitories and frat houses, amendment would be far easier. It could be accomplished from within by twelve of the sixteen S.R.A. cabinet members.

Bluntly, this means that two of the faith groups, through their official or unofficial representatives on the cabinet, could ride rough-shod over the wishes of the third. To be sure, the fine record of the Interfaith council makes that seem highly improbable. And even if it did happen, nobody would be hurt but the S.R.A.

In a sense, that is just the point. Because it will depend on the voluntary cooperation of the Newman club, Hillel, and the M.C.A., the Student Religious association may be either worthless or of great value to a majority of students. It will be worthless if any of these groups lacks confidence in it. If amendment could be blocked by the two official cabinet representatives of any one of the three, one threat to that confidence would be eliminated.

Are You Lookin'?

It's always nice to take a bold stand on things, and one subject this paper has never hesitated to be firm about is grass. We believe that people should stay off it, especially when it's trying to grow.

It occurred to us the other day that the white signs posted all over campus aren't really too effective. We respect—though we have no desire to meet—the poet and wit who composed these edifying, though fragmentary, little texts. Nobody blames him for taking a leaf from Burma-Shave's book. Even the Army Recruiting service isn't above doing that.

But one thing he didn't take account of is the fact that our campus, even if the roads were better, has little in common with a state highway. People walk in all sorts of directions here. They take different routes. And most of the time they don't go far enough to read the last line of the quatrain.

As you walk from the library to Stevens, for example, a sign informs you: "Spring Is Sprung." This is cute, enough, though ungrammatical. But it wears on you after a few weeks—and besides, it hasn't had the intended effect. If you weren't going to class, and had an inhuman amount of curiosity, you might keep on going to see what the next one would say. By the time you'd reached the gym, you'd probably have got the idea. But who cares enough to do that?

It's true that rebellious youth can't be expected to obey a stern adult admonition like "Keep Off The Grass." But surely some enterprising child psychiatrist can dream up something better than "Are You Lookin'?" The only possible answer to that is "Yes—and wonderin'."

According To St. James

By DICK ST. JAMES

Did you read that story in the paper the other day about the thirteen hitchhikers who were picked up by the police? Makes it kind of tough, doesn't it? The freedom of the highway, the open road has been denied the guy who has been accustomed to saving money by exercising his thumb.

It seems that this sudden crack-down is justified. Out of the thirteen arrested, seven were found to have police records. That's a pretty high percentage. But even if the statistics were only one out of a hundred, they'd still be very significant. Most any driver would accept these odds as a good bet, but he'd still be a sucker. A sucker that no one would condemn.

But don't get the idea that I'm completely in favor of this latest curtailment of highway privileges. I'm not. As a matter of fact I'm a died-in-the-wool bumper myself. Ask anyone who travels the corrugated cowpath from here to Millinocket.

We have to face facts, though. There are three main reasons for the banishment of bumming. First, the hitch-hiker may be crooked. Second, the driver might be crooked. Third, there's the danger of accidents. The car might be in a collision with you in it, or worse, you might wind up decorating somebody's front bumper if you stand too far out in the road.

The thing that interests us most, however, is the fact that some hitchhikers are up to no good. Every one of us who steps out on the road and stretches his thumb in the familiar fashion, from the most studious-looking senior to the most baby-faced freshman, is a potential murderer, highwayman, or rapist in the eyes of the driver. And there's nothing that can be done about it.

Sludgey says he is going to try and figure out a black market for hitchhikers. In the meantime this is our last column. So long.

Fire And Brimstone

By AL MERSKY

The Senior Skulls on campus will always be subject to criticism—the calibre of their members questioned and their method of appointment ridiculed. These complaints may be just or unjust. But let's take a look at some facts to find out the hows, whys, and wherefores of this white-capped society.

Membership in the Skulls is supposedly the highest non-scholastic honor that a University of Maine male student can attain. New members are annually chosen from the Junior class on the basis of "character, scholarship, and participation in school activities." It has always been the case, however, that popular campus opinion has differed strongly with the choices made by the Senior Skulls who, irregardless of their stated procedure, admittedly have the all-important final vote on incoming members.

At the recent Junior class assembly, seven supposed student leaders of the class of '51 were tapped by the Skulls for the year 1950-51. Now let's take a look at some statistics. There were 14 Skulls this year as compared with the seven chosen for next. The 14 represented a class enrollment of 1086 male students, one for every 78. The seven new members represent what will be a Senior class of 851 male students, one for every 122. Cause for complaint?

It is true that the Skull constitution says nothing about proportional representation but that they are to be chosen solely for personal merit. And only seven from our present Junior class? Sorry, but we cannot concur with Skull President Dave Cates' statement that this could not be helped because of the "limited amount of student leaders in the class of '51." and its undergraduates.

There is one way to prevent all undue criticism aimed at the Skulls. In keeping with their official functions, why not give them prominent positions of responsibility in which they may display their personal merit.

Mail Bag

Leaders Galore

The statement in last week's Campus by Skull President Dave Cates that the Class of '51 has a limited number of leaders seems to be a complete misrepresentation of the facts. Being a senior, I have had the opportunity to observe the present junior class for the past three years. As a result, I can say that I have been thoroughly impressed with the leadership ability possessed by many more than seven men.

At the risk of embarrassing some of these leaders, I believe their names should be mentioned to prove my point. There is one junior who, as president of the Maine Radio Guild, has made that organization one of the most outstanding on this campus. I refer, of course, to Al Weymouth. There's another, Russ Meade, who, as class president, did more for his class than any president of any class last year.

Then there's Jerry Matus, the president of Tau Ep, who has done a tremendous job in getting his fraternity established in its own house. Also Walt St. Onge whose work in organizing and editing the Prism is unquestionable evidence of top-notch leadership ability.

Let's not forget Phil Ward who has been one of the main cogs in improving and running campus elections for the past two years, or Hal Marden, the president of ATO.

These are only the few whose work I have noticed. There are also many more who possess leadership ability in this class. Maybe Mr. Cates didn't look too far for leaders. I don't think he could have, for he certainly would have recognized a few more than the seven that he picked for Senior Skulls.

Union Doesn't Suit

To the Editor: It was interesting to note that the retiring editor waited until his last edition of the Campus to comment on the proposed location of the Student Union. The change was announced in the February 9 edition and if there has been comment on it before I've missed it.

When the bulk of student subscriptions was made the location was to be in the Fernald Hall area. Much money was spent on elaborate propaganda by the committee. Now, through a decision on the part of the University Board of Trustees, the building is to be erected south of Stevens Hall and east of the Library.

The recent editorial told only half the story—the half about the proximity of the barns and pasture with their accompanying aroma. There is still another angle to it. What about the Library?

It will be fun trying to dig something out of a book with the sound of bowling balls and dance orchestras plus the general confusion and noise that is sure to take place in and around a Student Union building ringing in one's ears.

I believe there was plenty of reasoning behind the decision to leave the Fernald Hall area as it is, but the new location is much worse from a practical standpoint.

It seems to me that the students should have something to say about the location of the building even at this late date. What's the matter with the area between the tennis courts and the New Engineering building? At least let's get it away from the barns and the Library!

Hayter Exhibit On Show May 8 In Carnegie Hall

No other field of art is so provocative of storms of invective or of an excess of praise as the work of the abstractionists.

Maine students will have an opportunity to view the work of an abstractionist when twenty prints by Stanley W. Hayter go on exhibit in the Carnegie print room from May 8 to the end of the month.

Hayter, at the front of explorers in the field of graphic arts, "is less concerned with the forms of life than with the life of forms" according to Albert Reese in his "American Prize Prints of the 20th Century."

Reese continues, "It is an art in which the forms, while divorced from their conventional meaning, nevertheless enjoy an independent life of their own, just as pure music may be significant without being either descriptive or programmatic."

The cost of arranging such a show would normally be prohibitive, it was learned from Prof. Vincent A. Hartgen, head of the Art department. However, Albert Reese, New York print connoisseur and collector, furnished the prints without fee.

Hayter, British-born printmaker and writer, is famed as the founder of the celebrated "Studio 17." Leading galleries throughout the world exhibit his engravings and etchings.

Bear Facts

BY BILL LOUBIER

Last Saturday afternoon Maine football fans were given a double treat as they saw both the Yankee conference winners and the newcomers tangle in a rugged contest on Memorial field.

The white team with veterans Gordon Pendleton and "Butch" Noyes overran the younger blue squad by a score of 25-0.

The contest which took part along with Open House day was a treat for both Maine fans and high school students.

Coach Dave Nelson was very pleased with the showing of the squad. Said Nelson: "We are much better this year than we were a year ago at the same time."

This year about 60 of the men remained throughout the rugged spring practice. This compares very favorably with last year's showing of 17 men at the end of the spring season.

The Maine mentor added that "our squad will be in a very favorable position come the start of the regular season next fall."

The tennis courts are still undergoing scraping, and a great deal of rolling. The weather has been hampering any fast progress and most of the intramural tennis playoffs have been postponed. The only court that can be used at the present is the hard surfaced one and only a limited number of contests can be played there.

The newly renovated baseball field which has been slowly taking shape will be in use for the rest of the year. The hard packed clay outfield is holding back the grass and it will be some time before we have a beautiful lawn-like outfield.

Coach Mike Lude is now looking for a good running outfielder with track experience. The distance from home plate to dead center field is between 800 and 1,000 feet. Unless a fence is set up, all would-be Williams or DiMaggio sluggers are going to have a good time banging out rolling round trippers.

A newly formed Sailor's club sent four men to Brunswick last week end to compete with Bowdoin and Bates for an unofficial state sailing crown. They came through with flying colors. The Maine quartet garnered 21 points, while Bowdoin was close behind with 19. Bates followed with 14.

The club was formed last January and now boasts a total of 30 members who are interested in the art of sailing and yachting.

The four winners who travelled to Bowdoin and competed on the Meadows river were Bud Cuthbertson, Warren Perkins, Bruno Calandro and President Sumner Cahoon.

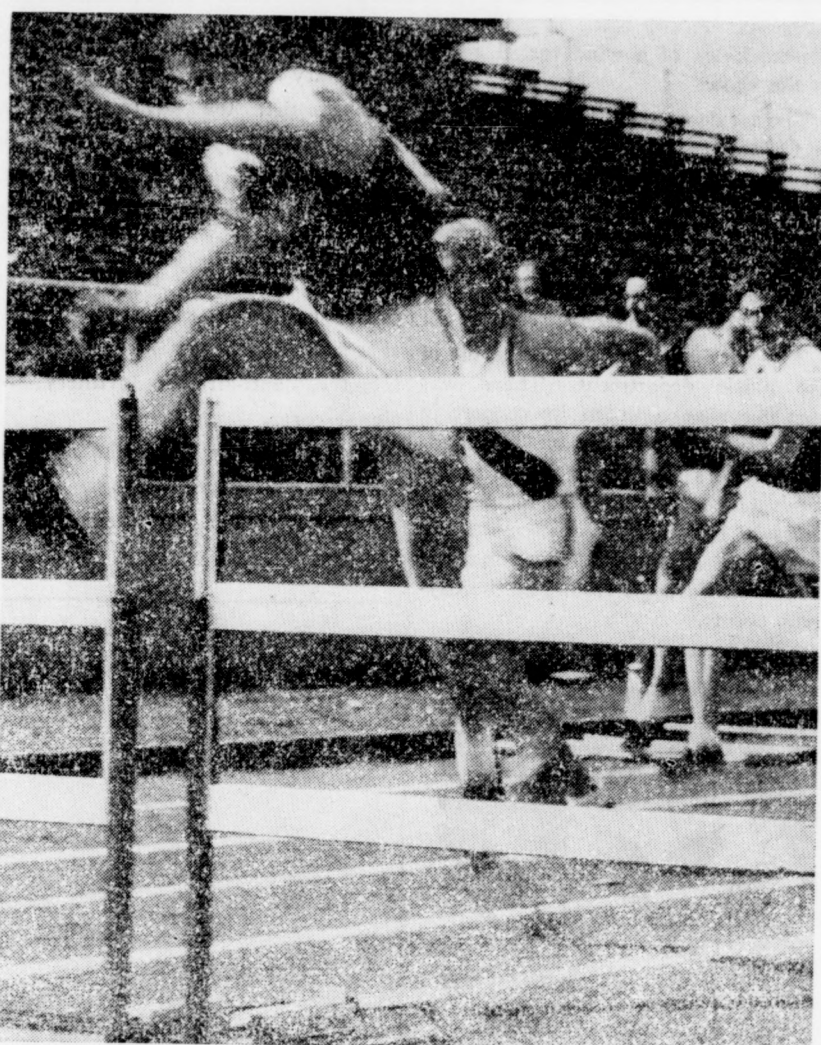

As yet the club has not been officially recognized by the University, but who knows, in a few years we may be competing with such top ranking schools as Yale, Harvard, and Princeton. Go to it, boys.

Students from seven New England schools have accepted an invitation to test their skills as woodmen in the coming Dartmouth Outing Club's Fourth Annual Woodman's Week End on the week end of the 13.

Last year Maine won the four-man team canoeing contest as well as the bucksawing and fire-building events, to give them third place.

Teams from all over New England, New York and even one from Canada will be represented at New Hampshire.

Baseball Team In Two Stiff Tests This Week

On his way to a double victory in the hurdles is Blaine Beal of Maine, shown here clearing the last barrier in the 220 yard high hurdle event. Trailing Beal are Weeks of New Hampshire, LeClair and Webster of Maine. New Hampshire handed Maine its first loss of the year, 70-65, last Saturday on Alumni field.

Bears Meet Rhody Here Tomorrow; At Colby Next

BY BOB LORD

Coach Milo "Mike" Lude's baseball nine will square off with the Rhode Island Rams here tomorrow in the first regular home tilt of the season. The game is slated for 3:30 p.m.

Slender Vic Woodbrey, veteran Bear fast-baller, will draw the starting mound assignment for the Pale Blue nine which is seeking its sixth win of the season. The Bears have dropped a half dozen games, and they hope to even up their season record with a win over the Rams.

The Maine squad has been idle for nearly two weeks because of a lapse in the schedule, but Lude has been holding daily drills to keep the team sharp for the Rhody contest.

The starting Bear line-up will probably remain nearly the same although Lude said Tuesday that Jim DeLois will no doubt be holding down the second base position.

Last Game Rained Out

Maine has faced Rhode Island once this spring, but the tilt was stopped because of rain. The contest will not be re-scheduled, and the game tomorrow will be the only meeting of these two clubs this season.

The Bears will trek to Waterville Saturday for a set-to with the Colby Mules in the initial state series contest for both clubs.

In an exhibition game here last month, the Mules topped the Ludemen 5-4. Veteran Marty Dow will be on the mound for the Pale Blue nine, and Lude hopes to start off with a victory in the state diamond loop.

Wildcats Wednesday

A potent University of New Hampshire nine will invade the Bears' playground Wednesday afternoon for a 3:30 tilt. The game will mark the first meeting of the two teams this season.

Lude said that the diamond has been greatly improved for tomorrow's tilt. The infield has been raked and rolled, and fine sand has been spread for top covering. The outfield grass will also be in better shape for the game.

Work has been completed on an electric scoreboard to be used for the first time tomorrow, and it was revealed that a loud speaker system will be set up so that fans may more easily follow the game.

Lude also announced that President Arthur A. Hauck may officially open the regular home season by tossing out the first ball.

Phi Kap And Tau Ep Capture Volleyball And Handball Titles

Two campus intramural championships were decided last week when Tau Ep captured the handball crown, and Phi Kap won the volleyball championship.

TEP's duo of Sumner Gordon and Denny Fink blasted its way to seven straight victories without a defeat.

In the championship match against Phi Mu Delta, Gordon and Fink downed Penn Eustis and Joe Pruett, in the first game, 21-10, and the second one, 22-20.

In the volleyball league the winners in the three divisions were: Beta Theta Pi in the Southern, Phi Eta Kappa in the Central, and Phi Kappa Sigma in the Northern.

In the final playoffs, Phi Kap's smoothly operating team easily downed both Beta and Phi Eta in straight games to cop the crown.

Six-Man Golf Squad Will Play In YC Tourney

Coach Charlie Emery will send a six man squad to Storrs, Connecticut, Saturday to take part in a Yankee conference match. The five best scores will count.

The team will have use of the Connecticut course Sunday afternoon after 2 o'clock. Tournament play will be on Monday.

Last year Maine placed third, trailing both Connecticut and New Hampshire at the Penobscot Valley country club.

Tomorrow's scheduled golf and tennis matches between Rhode Island and Maine have been cancelled, according to Faculty Manager of Athletics Ted Curtis.

Coach Emery has not as yet named the men who will make the trip, but it is supposed that those who fared well in the week end intrasquad playoffs will be among the ones chosen.

LCA Again Cops Bowling Honors

Lambda Chi ten-pinned its way to the interfraternity bowling championship by edging out Sig Ep for its second successive crown.

Theta Chi and Phi Eta finished but a whisker behind the defending champions, losing out by a few points.

Out of a possible series total of 96 points, Captain Dunk Carson's team garnered 75 to take the top spot.

Members of the winning squad were Al Bell, Ed Borges, Norm Parrott, Windy Perkins, George Staben, Doc Whalen, Bob Zabe, and Carson.

Women's Sports

BY ROBERTA PACKARD

The indoor program of tennis and fencing is still in progress. Tennis instructions are held Monday and Wednesday afternoons, while fencing is on Tuesday and Thursday. All classes are held at 3:30.

Shirley Jackson, softball manager, and her assistants, Jean Bagley and Jean Gyger, have announced that the softball season will start immediately.

An outdoor intercollegiate Playday is being planned with Bates and Colby Saturday, May 13. Chairman Rena Ratte has announced that tennis, softball, and archery will be on the slate of activities that day.

Be sure to keep May 24 open for the big WAA annual banquet. Numerals, letters, and awards will be awarded.

Pale Blue Face Underdog Role In State Track Meet Saturday

Coach Chester Jenkins' once-beaten track team will be in an underdog role Saturday in the 51st annual state track meet at Bowdoin.

Maine, who finished second behind Bowdoin last year, will have to defeat virtually the same Polar Bear team plus outstanding men from last year's frosh squad.

Bates and Colby are not expected to be in the running for the crown which Jenkins' teams have won 11 times since his advent here in 1928.

Jenkins tabbed Bowdoin as the team to beat, noting that the Magee-coached squad was strong in the events in which Maine is strong—the weights.

Last year Bowdoin rolled up 68½ points to 44 for Maine. Bates was third with 22 and Colby was a lonesome fourth with ½.

Johnny Wallace and Malcolm Osborne, two of Maine's top middle distance men, have recovered from illnesses and may be in shape for the meet. Wallace took the two-mile last year for Maine's only first.

Harland Harndon, top indoor two-miler, has had trouble getting into shape outdoors, but should he regain his form, he will be a strong contender in that race.

Bowdoin's pace in the weights is shown in the records of two men—Nicholson and Sabasteanski.

Nicholson won the shot put last year with a toss of 45½ feet. He now does better than 46 feet, about a foot more than Maine's top man, Floyd Milbank. In the discus, Nicholson has thrown farther than Totman, tops for the Pale Blue.

Sabasteanski and Dick Gordon of Maine are about even in the hammer, but the Bowdoin thrower has a two-year edge in experience.

Frosh Golfers Wanted

Coach Charley Emery has asked all freshman golfers who have not yet reported for practice, to do so immediately. Practice is held at the Penobscot Valley Country Club.

Tuesday, May 16: voting for the Mayor—no campaigning.

The final speeches of the candidates will be held at the big rally in Memorial gym, May 15.

Other Features

In addition to the inauguration of the new Mayor, Maine Day will feature a full program, including the usual work projects, a float parade, a baseball game against Bates, and the annual student-faculty skits.

This Maine Day will be the sixteenth since its foundation by President Hauck in 1935.

fied the sound of its whistle so it could be heard all over campus. Sideburns and shotguns added to the realism of the student engineers.

A topper to the visitors was a faucet, suspended from the ceiling, which streamed water all day, although there were no pipes attached. No feasible explanations were offered to witnesses.

"Clear Water from Muddy Water," a demonstration of a water treatment plant, attracted much interest and attention. Also in the New Engineering building was a display of fossils, many of them from Maine.

Telephone Explained

Aubert hall presented a research laboratory in action and a demonstration of the application of chemistry to daily life. In the mechanical engineering shops students were at work on the lathes, forges, and power saws.

To the technical minded, an amateur radio set-up and a demonstration of the telephone dial system in action received many comments and questions. A cub plane in action and the workings of a wind tunnel added to the show.

The art department had two exhibits in Carnegie, one by Robert Bliss and the other by Reginald Marsh. In addition, students presented art methods and techniques in the studio throughout the day. Prof. Hartgen provided two showings of watercolor and pastel painting during the day.

The varsity singers were the hit of the music department. There was standing room only at its concert in Carnegie foyer at 3:30 p.m. The Madrigal singers went on at 7 p.m. in the Louis Oakes room, and combined rehearsals by the brass ensemble, the string ensemble, and the Madrigal singers in Carnegie wound up the day-long events.

Two-Year Course In Advanced ROTC Open To Veterans

Col. Francis R. Fuller, professor of military science and tactics, has announced that the advanced course ROTC is still open to veterans with more than one year's service in Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marines, or Air Force.

Advanced ROTC is a two-year course leading to a reserve commission as second lieutenant in either the infantry, anti-aircraft artillery or signal corps.

Applicants must be sophomores or less, under 27 years of age, and available to attend a six-week summer camp.

Guild To Give Unique Show

The University of Maine—past, present, and future—will be the theme of Sunday evening's Maine Radio guild program. A unique script in dream sequence style has been penned by Bob Arnold for this occasion.

The production will require the services of three directors, Hank Tukey, Leo Michaud, and Joe Zabriskie, plus Bill Messner as production aide. Marilyn Hoyt and Pepper Burbank will handle the background effects while Jerry Mudge will manipulate the controls.

The star-studded cast includes Elaine Lockhart, Al Weymouth, Mary Linn, Frank MacCormack, Barbara Stewart, Dave Haskell, Jo Spiker, Keith Fowles, Steve Claffin, and Dick Edes.
