Prof. Harry A. Overstreet, distinguished educator, author, and lecturer, will be the featured speaker at this year's second assembly.

Professor Overstreet, author of many books including the recent best seller, The Mature Mind, will speak Oct. 12, at 9:25 in Memorial Gym. The University Glee Club will provide music for the assembly to which the public is invited.

A graduate of the Universities of California and Oxford, Professor Overstreet is recognized not only as a philosopher and psychologist, but also as a leader in adult education in America.

Degree From Oxford

Born in San Francisco in 1875, he attended the college of his native state, being graduated from the University of California in 1898. In 1901 he received the B.Sc. from Balliol College in Oxford and returned as first an instructor, later an associate professor, of philosophy at the University of California. In 1911 he was appointed professor and head of the department of philosophy and psychology at the College of the City of New York where he remained, to become professor emeritus in 1939.

For many years his chief interest has been in adult education in which he pioneered. He is a past president of the American Adult Education Association and has served as director of adult education summer sessions at Harvard and the University of California. He has been lecturer at Claremont and Mills colleges in California, at the University of Michigan, at the New School for Social Research, on the staff of Town Hall (New York City), and for the Department of Public Instruction in the Territory of Hawaii.

Well-Known Books

Although widely known as a teacher and in much demand as a lecturer, he is also noted as the author of several books, among the better known of which are Influencing Human Behavior, Leaders in Adult Education (in collaboration with his wife, Bonaro W. Overstreet), About Ourselves, and his latest book, The Mature Mind, of which there have been several editions.

Professor Overstreet and his wife now live in New York City. He is a member of numerous organizations, including Phi Beta Kappa.

The All-Powerful One To Lead Moslems In Rally Tomorrow

Mayor Stritch and assistants Bill Hall and Phyllis Noyes register a variety of expressions as the Mayor looks deep into his crystal ball and comes up with the score of the Maine-Vermont game.

By DOUG KNEELAND

Memorial Gym will echo with the familiar sounds of Maine's undying spirit when the student body thunders it out "the long way," and rocks the building with the traditional "Fill the steins," this Friday evening in the year's first pre-game football rally.

The Maine eleven faces Vermont in its first home game of the year Saturday.

Activities will start with a parade led by the band, which will leave Balentine Hall at 6:45 and march to the Gym.

The rally is under the direct supervision of the Senior Skulls, but the man who will put the capital "S" in the Spirit of the evening is Campus Mayor Don "All-Out-for-Allah" Stritch. The popular Maine thin man will be there, sheets and all, and will be accompanied by a large number of his followers from the Land of the Over-Extensive Beach.

Featured on the Stritch "Water Buffalo Caravan" will be Dick Ayotte from Abou-el-Abas Moursi, who will sing the ever-popular "Desert Song."

It has been reported from reliable sources that Stritch plans to fulfill his

Draft Exam Is Scheduled For Dec. 13

Candidates Must Apply By Nov. 5

By DAVE GETCHELL

All men who have not yet taken the Selective Service College Qualification Test will now have a chance to do so, according to word received by the Faculty Committee on Military Affairs.

The first of the new exams will be given Thursday, Dec. 13. The exam will be repeated on Thursday, April 24.

These tests are similar to the ones that were given last spring to college men desiring deferment from military service until they had completed their education.

The exams are being held again in order to give those men a chance to take them who did not do so last spring and also to permit new freshmen to qualify under the deferment system.

Who May Take The Test

Any man who is a Selective Service registrant and has not previously taken the test is eligible to take the exam under the present rules.

Prof. John F. Lee, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Military Affairs, advises second semester freshmen to take the December test so that there will be no question as to their status at the end of this semester. It is optional to the other freshmen whether they take the December or April exam, since they are deferred for the year anyway, Lee stated.

An important point to note, warns the Faculty Committee, is that the deadline for filing applications for the test of Dec. 13 is midnight Monday, Nov. 5. Applications for the April 24 exam must be postmarked no later than midnight Monday, March 10.

How The System Works

All men who have not yet taken the Selective Service Test should do so regardless of their class standing, Prof. Lee said, since a score of 70 or better makes a man eligible for consideration for deferment.

Each year the draft boards review the results of the test. If the student's standing in his class is satisfactory, he has a good chance to continue for

The House will be open from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Coffee will be served by a student-faculty committee.

Members of the faculty committee and sponsors of the house are Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Virtue, Prof. and Mrs. Lewis H. Niven, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Hebert S. Ingraham, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sleeper, Jr., Miss Barbara Keast, and the Rev. John L. Scott.

The new house includes living quarters, a meeting room, an office, and a chapel.

Next Sunday's Episcopal services will be held in the Louis Oakes Room of the Library at 9:15 a.m.

On Sunday, Oct. 14, the Episcopal group will have its first weekly Communion breakfast meeting in its own chapel.

"You will not be permitted to take the test unless you have with you [your] ticket of admission bearing the correct date and place."

The Bulletin of Information and admission application cards can be obtained from any member of the Faculty Committee on Military Service. Members of the Committee will also answer any questions students may have regarding the Qualification Test.

When filing for an application, students should state the desire to take the test at the University of Maine since the exams will be given here on the designated dates, said Prof. Lee.

The members of the Faculty Committee on Military Service and their telephone numbers are:

Cattle Judges Place Fourth At Springfield

The University of Maine student dairy cattle judging team, composed of Maurice Keene, Albert Smith, Arthur McAlister, and Philip Estes, won fourth place in the recent Eastern Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle Judging Contest at Springfield, Mass.

The Maine team received the Wirthmore Trophy for placing first among the New England colleges. The team has received this trophy two out of the last three years. The Maine team also received a large silver cup for winning first place in judging Jerseys.

Math Provides Another Aide For Arts College Dean

Having a mathematician as Assistant to the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences seems likely to become a tradition at Maine.

James A. Harmon, who has succeeded John E. Stewart in that position, is a 1940 U. of M. graduate who has been an instructor in the mathematics department since 1946.

During World War II Navy service, Harmon served aboard an aircraft carrier in the Pacific, was an instructor in mathematics at Maine Maritime Academy, and acted as personnel officer in charge of enlisted personnel at the receiving station in Boston.

As Assistant to the Dean of Arts and Sciences, Mr. Harmon will act as chairman of the Freshman and Sophomore Advisory Committees for the college. He will also continue to instruct a limited number of classes in mathematics.

Navy's Exam For NROTC Set For Dec. 8

The Navy has announced that a nation-wide competitive examination for its College Training Program is scheduled for Dec. 8. College students between the ages of 17 and 21 are eligible.

Those who pass the aptitude test will be interviewed and given physical examinations; then, if they are found in all respects qualified, their names will be submitted to state and territorial selection committees composed of prominent citizens and naval officers. The Navy expects to enter 2000 students in its 52 college and university NROTC units.

If accepted by the colleges, approved applicants will be appointed as midshipmen, U.S.N.R., and will have their tuition, books, and normal fees paid by the government. In addition, they will receive $50.00 a month for the four year period.

Upon graduation they may be commissioned as officers in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and required to serve on active duty for two years.

Information and application blank may be obtained from Prof. John R. Crawford, 8 Stevens, South.

Applications must be received in Princeton, N. J., by Nov. 17.

Near-Fire Stops Press, Delays Campus Edition

The alertness of a night watchman and the quick cooperation of an unidentified student prevented what might have been a serious fire in the University Press last Wednesday night.

The near-fire delayed distribution of the first issue of the Maine Campus by more than 24 hours.

As he began his first round of the evening shortly after 6 p.m. Wednesday, night watchman Lawrence Hashey found the press room nearly filled with smoke.

Student Spreads Alarm

An electrical short-circuit was burning out a motor that drives the press on which the Campus is printed.

Spotting a passing student, Hashey instructed him to spread the alarm to the Administration Building. The student raced to the campus police office and informed night policeman Francis Brooks.

After a hurried examination of the press room, Brooks decided it was a matter for the electrician rather than the fire department and dispatched himself to Orono by automobile to get Mel Franks, campus electrician.

Meanwhile, the student returned to the scene. He and Hashey discovered the fuse box and, by the time Brooks and Franks arrived, had prevented further damage by removing the fuses.

Room Full Of Smoke

Brooks said later that when he first arrived on the scene the press room was "full of smoke" and that, if it had not been discovered when it was, the building "might have burned down."

Thursday morning, Roy W. Libby, superintendent of the University Press, made arrangements to have the 3,500 copies of the Campus printed in Bangor. The newspaper forms were taken to the Furbush-Roberts Printing Co. Thursday afternoon.

The printing was done Thursday night and Friday morning, and the completed issue was returned to the campus for distribution Friday afternoon.

Libby said that the press would be out of operation for approximately a week until the motor could be re-wound.

Hauck Named Chairman For New England Panel

President Arthur A. Hauck has been appointed chairman of the Panel on Human Resources of the Committee of New England.

Some of the questions being considered by the Panel on Human Resources are "How well is New England taking advantage of its human resources? How does worker productivity in New England compare with that in other regions, and how can productivity in the region be increased still more? How do Federal policies relating to labor and education affect the region's use of its human resources?"

Publisher Will Conduct Clinic At Maine Newspaper Day Here

A clinic for small newspapers will be conducted by a New Jersey publisher as a feature of Maine Newspaper Day at the University of Maine on Oct. 19-20.

Bennett H. Fishler, editor and publisher of the Ridgewood (N. J.) Herald-News and Sunday News and the Teaneck (N. J.) Sun-Bulletin and Sunday Sun, will discuss mutual problems of the weekly field with the newspaper day visitors.

Mr. Fishler, past president of the New Jersey Press Association, is chairman of the American Weekly Newspaper Council. He has been a featured speaker before the press associations of Illinois, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut. His newspapers have won many awards for excellence.

Maine Newspaper Day brings members of the Maine Press Association and the Maine Daily Newspaper Publishers' Association to the campus for a program of talks, exhibits, and other professional activities.

Members of the University of Maine Press Club, of which William L. Matson is president, will join with members of the Maine Campus staff in serving as guides for the visitors.

President Arthur A. Hauck will welcome the editors and publishers to the University at a luncheon in Estabrooke Hall.

While in Orono, Mr. Fishler will be visiting at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Dean and Mrs. Ashley S. Campbell.

campaign boasts of last spring by bringing the Promised Land to Maine tomorrow night.

By the time this is in print, everyone on campus will have received a letter from the All-Powerful One containing a message in His native tongue.

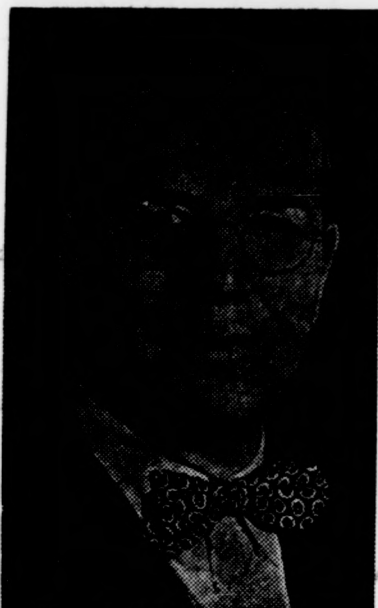

Head Coach Hal Westerman of the Black Bear football team, which opened its season with a 12-0 victory over an underrated Rhode Island team last Saturday, is expected to be a guest speaker.

Dr. Hauck will also make an appearance if he is able to free himself from previous commitments.

The girls from Balentine Hall will present a skit, as will a group of freshman women from West Hall.

Dave Collins, president of the Senior Skulls, has requested that an appeal be made to the student body for a 100% turnout at the rally. Collins said, "Maine's spirit has stayed with us for over three-quarters of a century. Let's stay with it for three-quarters of an hour Friday night."

Matthew McNeary Receives Post As Department Head

Prof. Matthew McNeary has been named head of the engineering drafting department at the University, President Hauck announced this week.

A member of the faculty since 1937, Prof. McNeary has been serving as acting head of the department since the death of Prof. Benjamin C. Kent last spring.

A graduate of Pennsylvania State College, Prof. McNeary holds a M.S. degree from the U. of M. He has served as director of Freshman Week for the past few years.

President Hauck also announced the promotion of Dr. Robert D. Dunlap from instructor to assistant professor of chemistry.

Dr. Dunlap came to the U. of M. in the fall of 1949 after receiving his Ph.D. degree from Pennsylvania State College.

Henry A. Casavant, assistant professor of romance languages, continued his studies at the University of Mexico, Mexico City, during the summer recess. He is studying for the master of arts degree in Spanish.

Girls Now Rule Unchallenged In Cheerleading

The men of the Maine Campus no longer have a monopoly over the teams that appear at the football and basketball games, for this year the women have a team of their own. There are eleven cheerleaders, but not one of them is a man!

All eleven women will appear at every home game and rally this fall. The cheerleaders and their adviser, Miss Eileen Cassidy, decided that this fall there would be no rotation or substitution system.

The group has been holding practice sessions for two weeks. New motions have been worked out for the "Bears" and "Double Team" cheers.

New uniforms in the pale blue and white colors of the University have arrived. They consist of white skirts with blue jackets and are made of pinwale corduroy. The skirts are full and flared, while the jackets are short and tight at the waist. The jackets have high Chinese collars and full sleeves ending in a tight cuff at the wrist.

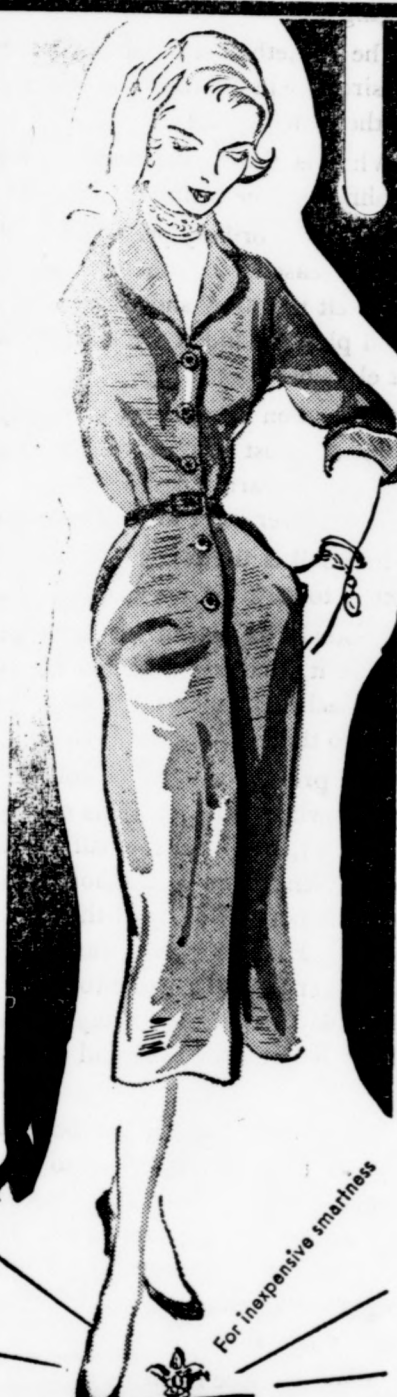

New cheerleaders are Sharon Clark, Audrey Koritzky, Judith Leighton, Nancy Knowles, Bertha Norris, and Norma Smaha. Marguerite Floyd is head cheerleader. Other holdovers, besides Miss Floyd, are Phyllis Noyes, Jeanette Hovey, Janet Hanna, and Jean Alex.

Radio Guild Plans Weekly Programs

The Radio Guild Council plans to resume weekly broadcasts over station WLBZ. Time and date will be announced shortly.

The programs will be rehearsed and then transcribed from Stevens Hall directly to the Bangor station.

The University of Maine Radio Guild, under the guidance of Mrs. Marge Williamson, affords opportunity for students to participate in various types of programs. A bulletin board outside 275 Stevens Hall is used for Guild announcements.

Concerning The Skulls

Editor's Note—The following letter, explaining the functions of the Senior Skulls, was written at the editor's request.

To the Editor: The growth of the University of Maine has been dependent, to a large extent, upon the great University traditions with which it has advanced.

These traditions have manifested themselves in spirit, song, and legend from one class to another down through the years. These traditions are characteristic of The Maine Spirit and why we are proud to be called University of Maine men and women. Their continuance in the future is vitally important.

Two of the organizations directly responsible for the continuance of Maine traditions are the Senior Skulls and the Sophomore Owls. In recent years the purpose and objective of each organization has been somewhat obscured so that they are now associated with exploitation, rather than congeniality and co-operation. These two organizations were founded to foster the growth of The Maine Spirit, provide recognition for deserving students, and promote a program of helpful orientation for the freshmen.

The beanie, the name tags, the "Maine Hello"—all of these are designed to integrate the freshman into campus society and aid them in developing a respect for University traditions. For the freshman this is a period of initiation—not hazing. For the Skulls and Owls it is an opportunity to build a great Class of '55—one of which the University will be proud.

Editor's note: The following letter was received by Greg Macfarlan, president of the General Senate. Macfarlan has answered the request.

Social Dancing Class Lacks One Component

The first meeting of the social dancing class at Balentine smoker would have been a misogynist's paradise.

Twenty-five students anxiously awaited the opening bars of the music and the one-two, one-two routine at 4:30 that Monday afternoon. There was only one drawback. They were all men.

When one girl finally arrived on the scene, it was found that she, in a moment of unfounded pessimism, had brought her own partner.

Benjamin Tucker, Jr., assistant business manager of the Campus, was employed during the summer by the Presque Isle Star-Herald as a sports writer and columnist.

people who are required to read the book with the ten-page chapter made up of a single sentence? From long years of experience we can offer only one piece of advice: leave Papa Webster's Unabridged in your room, even he never heard of some of the words in our most simple "texts."

Men's style of the week: autumn-brown, double-breasted jacket, white turtle-neck sweater, faded levis with high cuffs, radiant socks of Jack Frost orange, used white bucks, all topped with Sherlock Holmes' pipe and freshman beanie.

Well, Freshmen, do you find your new textbooks interesting? Is some of the wording a bit hazy? Are you by any chance one of those fortunate

Words we never hear: Prof to class, "No quiz today, you folks look tired;" Senior to freshman, "Go ahead, I'm no better than you are"; Administration to students, "No more twenty-four hour rule"; The Russians, "Yes"

And as a parting thought...we wonder what the University of Maine will look like ten thousand years from now.

but then it was easier just to answer the questions. What would he take if he went to Maine and why? What would he do when he got out? Questions and more questions.

"Wait a second," the stranger said as Milt started to get out of the car in front of his home. "When I was your age I didn't have enough money to go to school either and a stranger gave me $1000. He told me that a stranger had done the same for him. So, you see, I'm not giving you this money. It was all started years ago by a kind man who had faith in people. You don't have to pay this money back. Just do the same thing for some struggling college boy sometime when you can afford it. Sorry I had to ask you so many questions. I just wanted to be reasonably sure that you didn't just want to go to college to play around. I guess I figured you were on the level when I saw the tears in your eyes. Good luck."

It wasn't a long story, this one that Milt was telling the stranger. It was short and sad and maybe a little bit corny but true. Milt looked out the car window so that the stranger wouldn't see the tears for any one knows that a young man of nineteen should be ashamed of tears.

The stranger seemed impressed and interested, too interested, Milt thought,

The stranger gave Milt an envelope containing $1,000 and drove off... don't try to tell a certain freshman that "there ain't no Santa Claus."

Pulp And Paper Men To Hold Meeting Here

About 125 men prominent in the pulp and paper industry will gather at the University of Maine on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 5-6, for the annual fall meeting of the Maine-New Hampshire section of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry.

Among campus visitors for the two-day session will be company subscribers to the University of Maine Pulp and Paper Foundation. An invitation has been issued to these representatives by the university and the executive committee of the Foundation.

A letter of invitation from President Arthur A. Hauck indicates the purposes of the visit are "to establish mutual acquaintance between company representatives and the university staff, and to provide company representatives an opportunity to inspect the university's research and teaching facilities."

The Foundation provides scholarships for advanced students in pulp and paper management.

It didn't take very long for the campus to get back into the swing of things. I thought business would be slow for me again this week, but nothing doing!

Last Sat. evening Sigma Nu opened its portals for a "Welcome Back" party with approximately 40 couples attending. Dancing and group singing plus entertainment by Dick Ayotte and Keith Ruff added to a pleasant evening of being back with the gang. Mr. and Mrs. George Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wylie were chaperons.

On the same evening frosty weather sent 20 couples indoors at Phi Kap for a weiner roast and dancing. Mrs. Irene Galizia chaperoned with Al Cole in charge of arrangements for the evening.

AOPI was busy all day Saturday when they were visited by Miss Jessie Wallace Hughan, one of the three living founders of the sorority. A tea was given in her honor in the afternoon in the Balentine Sunparlor to which other sorority and Panhellenic representatives were invited. In the evening a supper was held in the President's Room and Miss Hughan entertained the AOPI's with the story of how the sorority was first founded. Ruth Moulton was in charge of both affairs.

Approximately 35 English majors and members of the English Department gathered together at the U. of M. picnic grounds in Stillwater last Friday for the department's annual picnic and supper. Homemade cakes made by faculty wives added to the supper which was followed by songs and stories around a campfire. Dr. G. William Small was in charge of the outing assisted by Miss Ruth White and Carroll Terrell.

The Maine Masque held its annual freshman reception last night at the Little Theatre. A guided tour of all phases of the theatre, including costumes, make-up, lighting, and more, was followed by entertainment. Performers included Dick Ayotte, Dottie McCann and Bill White, Al Chapman, and Flutter Floyd and Jack Shirley. Jan Pratt and Prof. Herschel L. Bricker spoke words of welcome to the group. Bob Chase and Marilyn Vaughan were in charge of the program.

Young Frosh Submit To Rules Although Chafing Under Beanies

By REGINALD BOWDEN

With three weeks of college life behind them, Maine's freshmen—one of the youngest classes in the University's history (with an average age of seventeen years and three months)—appear to be making their adjustments with a minimum of confusion. Frosh-upperclass relationships have been very agreeable so far, with the Sophomore Owls and Eagles doing an excellent job of promoting understanding.

In fact, the newcomers have been so efficient in doing what is expected of them that some upperclassmen, notably sophomores, complain that the incoming class is "too quiet" or "lacking in spirit."

Although there have been no demonstrations, some freshmen aren't too happy about having to wear beanies.

One freshman phrased it this way: "We all respect the Owls and Eagles, and most of the freshman rules are quite reasonable. We have even accepted the wearing of beanies and name-cards as college traditions. However, after a period of from four to six weeks, this tradition develops into an inconvenient absurdity."

"We can't understand just what is being accomplished by our being labeled for two months or more."

Despite this and other problems, the class of '55 will soon be assimilated, in all probability, just as 83 other classes have been.

Masque Preparing To Present 'Harvey'

The Maine Masque will present the popular Broadway comedy, "Harvey," during Homecoming week end. According to Masque president Jan Pratt, the play will run from the evening of Nov. 7 through Nov. 10.

The second production will be Jean Kerr's "Jenny Kissed Me," another long-run Broadway hit.

Masque tryouts for roles in "Harvey" will be held in the Little Theatre on Oct. 7 and 8. All students, with the exception of first semester freshman women, are encouraged to attend. Last year, due to some confusion, freshman men were by-passed in the scramble for roles.

Masque tickets may be purchased at 330 Stevens. Prices are $1.20 for a single presentation and $3.60 for all four plays, including tax.

Bear Facts

By DANA WARREN

After rearing back on its haunches to smack the reputedly rugged Rhody Rams in their own pasture, the Maine Bear looks good for its initial home game against the University of Vermont this week end. Despite the fact that Vermont was rolled under by St. Michaels in last Saturday's contest, the catamount team promises to be a rough combine in anyone's book.

Listed as having the best pass defense among the country's small colleges last year, the boys from Vermont still have considerable in that department. The team is big and shows speed in the backfield section.

Coach Hal Westerman, the man who had little to say before the Rhody tilt, but instead produced a squad with the will to win and the guts to soften the Rams at their own game, deserves a round of applause. Right here, it is interesting to recall a statement written by a Rhody partisan prior to the game, "We've got one hard game under our belts and I doubt if Maine can physically go the route in its first start." I wonder what the man says this week.

Last week's game introduced a pair of newcomers to the Pale Blue squad who really looked good and will probably see plenty of action this season. Sophomores Ed Bogdanovich and Billy McCann added the necessary speed in the backfield and came through with a tally apiece.

Workhorse Gordon Pendleton, who played hard all the way, suffered a broken hand, and it is doubtful that he will be able to play Saturday.

Bob Pidacks, captain of last year's varsity ski team who landed No. 1 spot on the U. S. Olympic Cross Country Team by his spectacular 18-mile run at Rumford last season, is now in the Army, according to word received by Ted Curtis, Varsity ski coach.

The Olympic Committee, however, has made arrangements for Pidacks to obtain a leave of absence to train at Sun Valley early this winter in preparation for the Olympics at Oslo, Norway, later this winter.

Larry Mahaney, last year's varsity basketball captain, and Ralph (Chub) Clark, captain of last year's varsity baseball squad, are both in the 104th Air National Guard Squadron, activated last month. They are now stationed at Camp Edwards, Mass.

Switching the scene quickly to take a look at Coach Jenkins' cross-country squad, which will open its season here on Saturday against Bates, the prospects are good.

With the return of four lettermen and the addition of several newcomers, two of whom have worked their way up within the first five spots, the seven-man team will present a tough competition for the visitors from Bates, whom the Pale Blue ran over last year, 15 to 47.

Vic Woodbrey, former baseball and basketball star under U. of M. mentors Doc Rankin, the late Bill Kenyon, and Mike Lude, has returned to school this fall to complete his senior year. When he left school the doctors thought that there was a possibility of tuberculosis, but thorough tests show no indication of that.

At his doctor's request, his athletic activities will be limited for some time. Vic hopes, however, to be able to play baseball this spring, and the Maine fans hope the same thing.

We're glad to see you, Vic.

Black Bears Test Vermont Here Saturday

Harriers Face Bates Saturday In Opener Here

Coach Chester Jenkins' Varsity Cross Country team, led by Captain Dick Dow, will put its state title on the line when it opens up the season with Bates here Saturday.

Dow, a course record holder last year, will run in the No. 1 spot ahead of Sophomore Carl MacLean. MacLean ran in second position for the Frosh Harriers last season and looks like a sure candidate for a No. 2 berth this year.

Colwyn Haskell, another sophomore, will probably be on the team that faces Bates.

Lettermen Bill Hirst, Malcolm Osborn, and Ed Perry, remaining members of last year's state champions, look like the next three on the cross country team. Fighting for last position on the team are Jerry Hallee, Dave Beppler, and Paul Rossi. When John Bowler gets into shape he will be a competitor for one of the starting berths. He runs the 440 and 600.

The Maine-Bates race will be timed so that the runners will finish in front of the Alumni Field grandstand during the first quarter of the Maine-Vermont Yankee Conference football game.

Women's Sports

By LORRIE SKOLFIELD

On Monday night, Oct. 1, the women's hockey field was overrun by approximately 350 girls. Get-acquainted games under the leadership of Dottie Booth whetted appetites for the food that followed. Hot dogs, cookies, apples, milk, and coffee were served.

Dottie McCann led the group singing, and entertainment was provided by the W.A.A. clubs sponsored by the W.A.A. Council. Connie Berry introduced the council and guests.

The Square Dance Club, under the leadership of Pat Hashey, performed two square dances. The caller was Dick Cole. The Tumbling Club, led by President Isabelle Stearns, demonstrated some elementary and advanced stunts. Jo Blanchard led the Modern Dance Club in an original version of "She'll Be Comin' 'Round the Mountain." Isadore Stearns was in charge of lighting, and music was supplied by the Modern Dance apprentices.

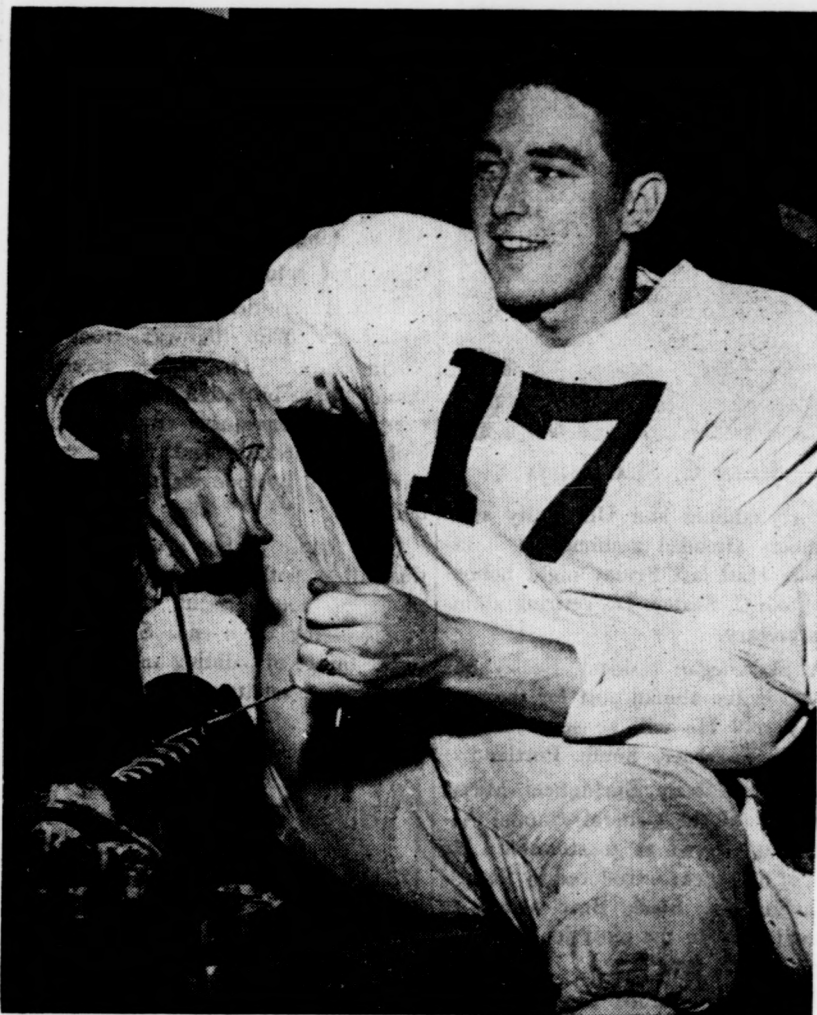

Norma Jose had charge of guests, invitations, and hostesses. Guests included Dean Wilson, Mrs. Oakley, Mrs. Tate, Mrs. Hull, Mrs. Brook, Miss Volmer, Mrs. Klain, and the women's physical education faculty. A vote of thanks was extended to Marty Pratt, general chairman of the picnic, for making the event the success it turned out to be.

First Call For Basketball

Coach Rome Rankin has asked that all men interested in playing varsity basketball report to Memorial Gym at 3:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 8.

Ted Curtis, faculty manager of athletics, has announced that the annual high school and prep school cross country races will be held here on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 1.

Frosh Gridmen Will Encounter Maine Maritime Club Friday

Tomorrow the Frosh gridders will see action for the first time against a powerful aggregation from Castine, Maine Maritime Academy.

Last year Maine Maritime whipped the Pale Blue Jay Vees, 20-13. Some freshmen played in that encounter, because the Jay Vees were needed for varsity service.

Coach Sam Sezak refuses to comment on the outcome of the battle, but will admit that it should be interesting.

Coach Sezak has been working hard to round the Frosh football candidates into top condition. He has been stressing fundamentals of the game to this new group of gridiron hopefuls.

At this time the starting line-up is a deep secret. However, here are some possibilities: L.E.—Woodsum, Stetson; L.T.—Randall, Hale; L.G.—Golden, Early; C—Gurensy, Coriveau, Cadieux; R.G.—Ludwig, Knowles; R.T.—Williams, Prince; Q.—Parady, Flueck; L.H.—Smart, Nice; R.H.—Dudley, Breen; F. B.—Robinson, McBrine.

Miles from Old Town will kick the extra points, and Smart will do the punting.

The rest of the schedule calls for two games at Orono: one with HCL, Oct. 19; and the other with MCI, Oct. 26. There is also a Jay Vee game on the docket.

Pendleton May Not See Action In This Battle

By BEN TUCKER

Still tasting the honey of victory over Rhode Island, Coach Westerman and his Black Bears will be out to gain their second straight win Saturday, with the Catamounts of the University of Vermont providing the opposition. Kick-off time is 1:30.

Although "Fuzzy" Evans' Green Mountain squad was soundly drubbed last week end by a fine St. Michaels club, the Catamounts will be a real test for the Pale Blue gridders. Vermont has a strong young team with 21 first-year men included. If the freshmen are good, the "Cats" will be hard to beat. Fumbles in last week's game proved very costly to the Vermont cause.

For the Black Bears, it will be the season's second Yankee Conference tilt. Last year the Bears traveled to Burlington and came home with a 15-7 victory. Vermont scored in the last quarter to avoid a shutout.

Bears Hold Series Edge

In the seven-game series between Maine and Vermont, which began in 1910, Maine has won four victories against two wins for the Catamounts. One game ended in a tie. All of the games have been low-scoring affairs.

Hal Westerman's Maine gridders found it rough going at Kingston, R. I., last Saturday even though they did win 12-0. It is the opinion of some who witnessed the tilt that the Black Bears should have pushed across two more touchdowns. Maine's Gordon Pendleton, a hard-driving back, sustained a broken hand in the contest and may not see action this week end. Lineman Harry Richardson, who received a badly bruised leg, will be ready to go against the Vermont eleven.

Maine Depending On Backs

Maine's hopes against the Catamounts lie in the tricky running of Billy McCann, who scored one of the touchdowns at Rhode Island, and big Ed Bogdanovich, who ran very well against Eddie Doherty's squad last Saturday.

The Bears may be able to open up their passing attack in this second game, with Steve Novick and Gene Sturgeon trying to hit their targets.

Only five passes were thrown by Maine in the Rhody contest, two being completed. Perhaps some other back will shine in the Vermont game—Vince Calenda, Joe Alex, or Jack Butterfield.

Intramural Tilts Get Under Way

Intramural football got underway last week with the following results:

Fraternities

Northern League—SAE, 24, SN, 6; KS, 32, TKE, 6; DTD, forfeited to TC; PEK, and TEP, postponed.

Southern League—PGD, 24, SC, 6; ATO, 20, LCA, 0; PKS, 30, AGR, 0; PMD, 18, SPE, 0.

Dormitories

Corbett 1, 12, Corbett 2, 0; Corbett 4, forfeited to Corbett 3; Dunn 4, forfeited to Dunn 3; East Oak (overtime by distance)—over Hannibal Hamlin; Center Oak, 12, West Oak, 0; N. Dorm 9&10, 12, North Dorm 8, 6; Dunn 1, 14, Dunn 2, 0.

Tennis Tourney To Name Champ

Trophies will be awarded to the winner and the runner-up in the University's annual fall tennis tournament, according to Coach G. William Small.

The tournament will determine the University of Maine singles championship. Last year's winner was Ben Blanchard, captain of the 1951 varsity squad. Paul Peterson was the runner-up. Both graduated in June.

"The varsity prospect for next spring looks very good despite the fact that only two of the 1951 varsity will be available," he added.

"I know that the other schools have lost a number of their men through graduation so that with many of last year's frosh squad now available the varsity can be well rounded."

Motion pictures of the Maine-Rhode Island game will be shown to the student body at 7:30 tonight in Memorial Gymnasium.

McMahon Wins Golf Tourney

Bob McMahon, a junior from Milton, Mass., won the University of Maine Golf Championship Saturday at the Penobscot Valley Country Club putting together two 40's for a respectable 80. Connie Bosworth was second with 82 and George McKenney's 87 was good for third.

McMahon completed a clean sweep of top honors for the day by also winning the handicap tournament with a low net of 80-14-66. Richard Wood was second in the handicap with 89-19-70. There was a tie for third between Ken Thomas, 88-15-73, and Don Mavor, 89-16-73.

Albert Noyes won the Freshman trophy with 43-44-87.

Alfred G. Pellegrino is on leave of absence from the modern languages department until February. He is studying for the Ph.D. degree at the University of Montreal.

Art Exhibits Announced By Prof. Hartgen

Prof. Vincent Hartgen, head of the Art Department, has announced the schedule of art exhibits for the year. The works of ten outstanding artists have been selected to afford a wide range of achievement.

The exhibits will be in Carnegie Hall and in the Louis Oakes room of the Library. The gallery is open from 9 to 5 on week days and from 3 to 5 on Sundays.

All shows will consist of original works. Among the media will be oils, watercolors, engravings, photographs, and wallpapers.

This has been a highly productive season for Professor Hartgen. Current exhibitions of Mr. Hartgen's work are being held in Memphis, Tenn., and in Rowantrees, Bluehill, Maine. These shows include 25 paintings that were completed this summer.

The schedule of exhibits through December follows:

September—Wolfgang Roth: "Circus and Theatre," collages, drawings, and gouaches.

John Sealey Feted At Dinner Attended By Staff, Faculty

JOHN C. SEALEY, JR.

Forty alumni and University staff members attended a dinner at Estabrooke Hall last Friday night honoring John C. Sealey, Jr., retiring alumni secretary.

A Skowhegan resident, Sealey has served in the alumni post for the past five years. He will be succeeded by Donald Taverner, South Portland.

Myron Peabody, Springfield, Mass., president of the General Alumni Association, served as toastmaster. He told of new ideas introduced by Sealey, including the Black Bear award to alumni who do the most for the University each year.

A moving picture camera and a table radio were presented to Sealey by Peabody and President Hauck on behalf of administration and faculty associates and members of the Alumni Council.

Vacant Dorms Are Occupied By Fraternities

Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Phi Epsilon have acquired temporary homes. The drop in University enrollment enabled both fraternities to obtain quarters in the North Dorms.

T.K.E. is in buildings 1 and 3, and Sig Ep occupies 2 and 4.

University carpenters began alterations during the summer, and members of both fraternities have been putting the finishing touches to the interior since their return to school.

Both fraternities have land grants across the main highway from the North Dorms. The sudden acceleration of the mobilization program, however, with consequent curtailment of building materials and rising costs, have forced postponement of plans to build.

Open house parties are planned for this fall by both groups. T.K.E. plans an open house about the time of Homecoming week end. Sig Ep, still in the throes of painting and polishing, had not yet set its party date at mid-week.
