Record Crowd Expected For Homecoming

Dedication To Precede Series Clash

Undefeated Maine Will Face Bowdoin

By Dave Getchell

The wide campus of the University of Maine will resound Saturday with the noise of football-happy students and thousands of returning Maine Grads.

Two long-awaited highlights will mark the 51st Homecoming.

One hour before high noon the cornerstone of the Student Memorial Union Building will be laid after years of waiting by Maine students and alumni.

At 1:30 p.m. two powerful football giants will lock horns on Alumni Field in the 53rd classic between Maine and Bowdoin.

Expected To Jam Stands

One of the largest turnouts in State Series history is expected to jam the stands to watch the unbeaten and once-tied Maine Bears toss fur with the once-beaten Bowdoin Polar Bears. With both teams undefeated in State Series play, the duel will decide the state championship.

Both teams churned their way to victory in last week end's deluge—Bowdoin by virtue of an all-out passing game and Maine with crunching ground power. Nothing short of a Great Flood should keep the old rivals from giving the spectators a game to remember.

President Hauck Sets Keynote

President Arthur A. Hauck set the keynote for the week end when he said:

"Homecoming is always a big event in our University history. This year it will be a particularly happy occasion.

"We shall welcome an unusually large number of alumni back to the campus. They share our pride in our football team, a team of proved skill and stamina against strong and respected opponents.

"The State Series football games have become a fine tradition, characterized by keen interest, hard play and the highest ideals of good sportsmanship on the playing field and in the stands."

In the stands will be thousands of

Fans Urged To Walk To Homecoming Game

Ted Curtis, faculty manager of athletics, has requested students to park their cars at the fraternities or away from the football parking area, Saturday, Homecoming Day.

Parking facilities will be strained with the huge influx of spectators' cars, said Curtis, and help from the students "will be greatly appreciated."

Campus Predicts Victory

A poll at press time revealed that the Maine Campus sports staff was unanimous in predicting a Maine victory over Bowdoin in Saturday's clash.

Silver Trowel Will Figure In Building Rites

A silver trowel to commemorate the laying of the Memorial Union Building cornerstone will be presented to President Arthur A. Hauck by John A. Kibler.

Kibler is president of Consolidated Constructors, Inc., general contractors for the construction of the Union.

Hundreds of the students, alumni, and faculty who have contributed to the building fund are expected to watch the cornerstone laying.

Greg Macfarlan, president of the General Senate, representing the students, and President Hauck, representing the University, will cement the

Men To Vote On Fate Of Their Senate

Long Inactivity Is Under Scrutiny

The General Student Senate voted Tuesday night to give men students the final word on whether the inactive Men's Senate will get the ax.

A committee consisting of Howard Foley, Don Spear, and Mark Leiber was appointed by General Senate president Greg Macfarlan to arrange for a campus-wide male poll.

No date has been set for the referendum.

A gradual decline in interest among the Men's Senate members during the last two years became a pressing issue last year. Several scheduled meetings had to be declared 'no meeting' by the Senate president, Howard Foley, because the required quorum for conducting business was not present.

Remedial Effort Is Made

At a meeting on Oct. 17, 1950, the Senate accepted a proposed article in an attempt to correct this situation. The article declared "that any Senator missing four Senate meetings should be brought up for dismissal." Two months later several Senators were dismissed.

At the first April meeting of 1951, which had been designated for the election of new Senate officers, the necessary quorum was lacking again.

Originally designed to be the "coordinating body between all men's organizations and between the University Administration and the men students," the Senate was the authorized top men's organization of the campus.

Howard Foley, who is still president of the Senate, since no elections have been held, has expressed the opinion that a smaller, more effective unit should be appointed to replace the Senate.

Council Votes Civic Projects For Hell Week

At a special meeting last night, the Interfraternity Council adopted a plan whereby fraternity pledges would devote one day of Hell Week to civic improvements in Bangor, Old Town, and Orono.

The program was designed for a two-fold purpose: (1) to aid the communities in brightening up their appearance, and (2) at the same time to combat some of the ill feeling that has been expressed lately towards fraternities on campus.

Hathaway Leads Committee

Warren (Art) Hathaway of Sigma Phi Epsilon had previously been named chairman of the program, which contemplated assignment of members and pledges alike to various places to aid in the clean-up campaign.

As projected early this week, the program included much work to be done on the Old Town city hall, as well as the painting of the city's parking meters.

A committee led by Hathaway has visited Orono and Bangor to query officials on possible projects in those communities.

Council Is Supreme Court

The Interfraternity Council is the supreme court of the University's fraternities. Each one of the 17 fraternities on campus sends a representative to the group.

Presiding over the group is Harry Easton of Beta Theta Pi. John Stewart, dean of men, serves as adviser to the council.

The idea of a constructive Hell Week was inaugurated on campus last spring by Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Eight pledges of the fraternity cleaned and painted the shabby interior of the Orono Town Hall.

First Nighters See Masque's 'Harvey'

Freshman Martin Gerrish in the lead role of Elwood P. Dowd, plus two seasoned performers, Joanne San Antonio and Dick Newdick, provided the spark which made the Maine Masque's first presentation of the year, "Harvey," especially enjoyable.

The opening night presentation was enthusiastically applauded by the almost filled Little Theatre audience. Gerrish, who made his first Masque appearance, got over the first night jitters in the opening scene, and went on to give a fine portrayal of Dowd, the philosophical drinker, who introduces the renowned pooka, Harvey, to the audience, as his long-standing friend.

Veteran troupers Joanne San Antonio and Dick Newdick were outstanding in supporting roles. As Mrs. Simmons, Dowd's sister, Miss San Antonio turned in an excellent all-around performance. Newdick, who played the part of Dr. Chumley, the psychiatrist who attempted to cure Dowd, was superb in the comedy role.

Adele Addison To Sing In Second Concert Nov. 15

By Dick Stephens

Adele Addison, regarded as one of the most promising sopranos in the country today, will be the artist at the second concert of the University of Maine series in Memorial Gymnasium Thursday, Nov. 15, at 8:15 p.m.

Miss Addison has had an almost meteoric career. She attended Westminster Choir College in New Jersey, and was graduated with the degree of bachelor of music. After two years of intensive study at Berkshire Music Center, Miss Addison made a successful Boston debut in April, 1949.

Subsequent appearances with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and the New England Opera Company have won acclaim from audiences and concert masters alike. Miss Addison enjoys the enviable record of three solo performances in a single season with the Boston Symphony Orchestra under the direction of three famous conductors: Sergei Koussevitzky, Leonard

ADELE ADDISON

Bernstein, and Charles Munch.

Concerts throughout New England followed, and for the 1949-1950 season she joined the New England Opera Company under Boris Goldovsky. Miss Addison was soon chosen by him to sing the lead role of Fiorella in Roussini's "Turk in Italy." Last February she scored again as Gilda in "Rigoletto."

After her Boston concerts, critics spared no adjectives in acclaiming her performances. Rudolph Elie, of the Boston Herald, said, "...A near-capacity audience gave her an ovation that few singers ever achieve here, after an afternoon of flawless singing." Tickets for her University of Maine concert are now on sale in Bangor and Old Town, as well as at the University. Season tickets are also still available.

WSGA Assemblies Made Compulsory For All Women

A controversy over whether off-campus women are members of the Women's Student Government Association, and therefore subject to WSGA compulsory assemblies, was settled this week by the treasurer's office. They are.

Although the off-campus women are represented on the council by Sue Chase, president of the Off-Campus Women's Organization, there has been some doubt whether they are technically members of the WSGA since it was believed that they were not assessed the one dollar membership dues on the spring term bill.

According to the treasurer's office, however, all duly registered undergraduate women are assessed the dollar with the exception of the Eastern Maine General student nurses and some special students.

Last year off-campus women were not required to attend compulsory assemblies although the Constitution of the WSGA states that a fine of 50 cents shall be imposed if they do not attend.

The governing responsibility for WSGA lies mostly in the women's dorms, although the association is responsible for the welfare of all women students.

Tickets for the Masque's presentation of Harvey will be on sale Friday and Saturday at the box office.

23 Are Entered In Intramural Debate Tourney

Twenty-three students have entered the annual intramural debate tournament sponsored by the Maine Debating Council.

The first round of debates in the tourney is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 14.

Visitors From Vienna. Peter Lochmann, one of the group's chief yodelers, and Dr. Susanne Polsterer, production manager and mistress of ceremonies, portray principal parts in the production held in Memorial Gym Nov. 6.

Research Fund Will Pay Tribute To Dr. Griffie

A Memorial Fund for the promotion of Agricultural Research will be set up in honor of Dr. Fred Griffie, director of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station, who died last week.

Members of a committee in charge of the fund are Dean Arthur L. Deering, Associate Dean Winthrop C. Libby, Dr. George Dow, Albert K. Gardner, Dr. Frank Lathrop, Dr. Charles H. Merchant, and Elmer R. Tobey. The committee had its first meeting last Monday.

Contributions from staff members of the Experiment Station and other University associates are being received by Dr. George F. Dow.

Whether the research fund will take the form of a scholarship, loan, or prize has not been determined.

During his 20 years as director of the Experiment Station, Dr. Griffie greatly expanded the research program.

Funeral services for Dr. Griffie were held Saturday afternoon, Nov. 3, at the Church of Universal Fellowship.

Honorary bearers were Dr. Arthur A. Hauck, Dean Deering, Dean Libby, Dr. Dow, Dr. Donald Folsom, Dr. Frank H. Lathrop, Dr. Merchant and Mr. Tobey.

Active bearers were Prof. Russell M. Bailey, Dwight B. Demeritt, Prof. Maynard F. Jordan, Francis S. McGuire, Dr. Charles O. Dirks, and Dr. J. Howard Waring.

Burial was in Riverside cemetery, Orono, with committal services by Dr. Milton M. McGorrell.

President Hauck paid tribute to Dr. Griffie last week in these words:

"The death of Dr. Fred Griffie is a great loss to the University of Maine and to the State of Maine. His work as a scientist and as director of the Agricultural Experiment Station contributed immeasurably to the advancement of agriculture in Maine.

"His devoted and effective professional services will be gratefully remembered by the rural people of the state.

"His University associates mourn the loss of a sincere and able co-worker and a friend who will be remembered for his fine sense of humor, courtesy and loyalty."

More than $900,000 subscribed by 12,298 alumni, students, faculty, and friends has made the construction of the building possible. It will serve as a memorial to the U. of M. men who gave their lives in the service of their country.

Myron C. Peabody, president of the General Alumni Association, will preside at the ceremony.

Representatives of interested groups who will be introduced include: Edward A. Whitney, chairman of the Trustee Committee on the Union Building; Prof. Himy B. Kirshen, chairman of the Non-Alumni Faculty Campaign Committee; Nathaniel C. Kendrick, dean of Bowdoin College, representing the Maine colleges; John T. Doran representing Cram and Ferguson, Union Building architects.

All sororities on campus held Open House for freshmen and transfer students last Sunday afternoon. The newcomers were entertained in Balentine and Estabrooke halls.

Colorful Panorama Of Austrian Culture Seen By Students

Some forty of Austria's rafter-ticking yodels, songs, and gay folk dances made up the musical show "Visitors from Vienna," which was presented last Tuesday by the third Goodwill Tour of Austrian Students and Teachers.

The entertainment was divided into four scenes which depicted the seasons of the year. A great variety of authentic Austrian folk dances and songs were strung together by a simple plot.

The bright costumes were loaned for the tour by the provincial museums of Austria.

The cast was entertained at a reception Tuesday afternoon in North Estabrooke. Members of the International Club and the SRA cabinet attended.

The assembly was presented under the auspices of the SRA, the International Club, and the Assembly Committee.

Maine alumni, State Series football fans, and more thousands of students from Maine, Bowdoin, and other state colleges.

Donald V. Taverner, alumni secretary, said that the graduates' response has been nothing short of "terrific" and that the limited accommodations for alumni in North Dorms were exhausted several days ago.

Tickets Nearly Gone

Theodore (Ted) S. Curtis, faculty manager of athletics, said that ticket sales to the game were bumping the 12,000-plus capacity point of Alumni Field.

Many campus organizations have planned events for Friday and Saturday.

A parade of fans and students will give the week end a send-off at 6:30 p.m. Friday. At 7 p.m. the rooters will swarm into Memorial Gym for a mammoth rally with Dave Collins, president of the Senior Skulls, appearing as master of ceremonies.

President Hauck, football coach Hal Westerman, Raymond H. Fogler, chairman of the Union Building Committee, and a member to be chosen from the Class of 1926 will speak to the crowd. Skits by the campus mayor and two of the women's dorms will follow. After the rally, a huge victory bonfire will be touched off.

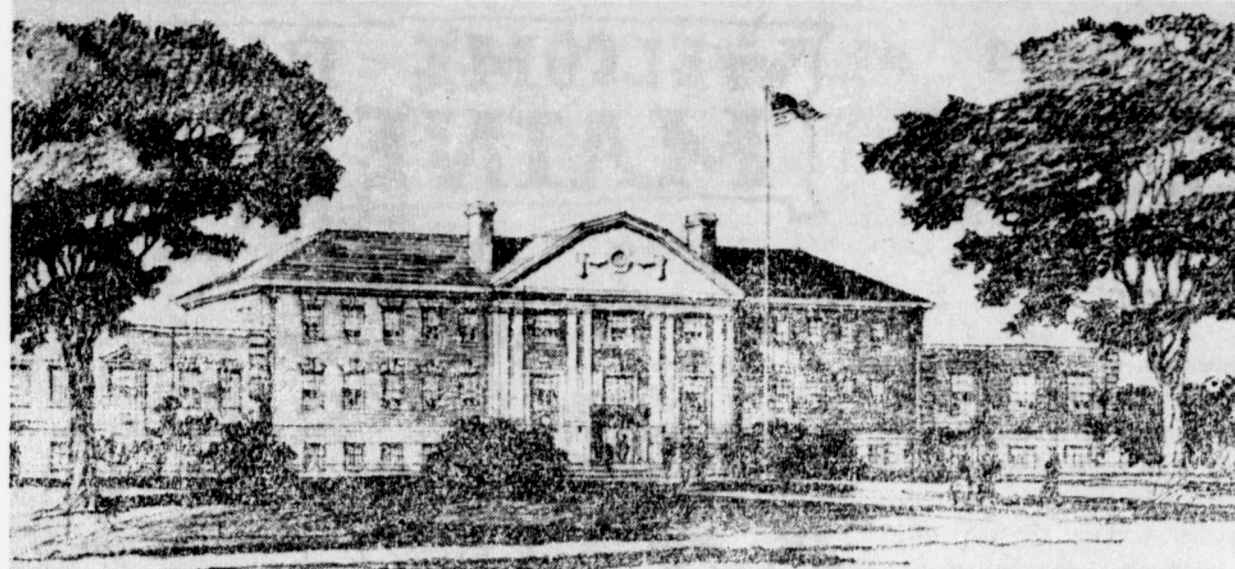

"M" Club Meeting

At 8 the "M" club will meet in Memorial Gym, where grads and students will have a chance to become acquainted. Former Maine coach Fred Brice will address the meeting. Secretary Ted Curtis has invited all members of the club, past and present, to attend.

At the same hour, a Stag Dance in Memorial Gym will touch off the social side of the week end. Sponsored by the Senior Skulls, the dance promises to be a gala affair for the pre-game crowd.

The Maine Masque will present "Harvey" in the Little Theatre at 8:15 p.m. Because the Masque play was so well received during Homecoming last year, the theatre group planned the first play of the 1951 season to coincide with Homecoming again. The play will again be presented Saturday evening at the same time.

The Bass Room in the Library will be the scene of an Alumni Open House from 8:00-12 p.m. with "cider and donuts" being served.

Annual Hatgames

Saturday morning a busy day of sports will begin with no less than four events on tap.

At 8:15 a.m. the freshman girls will take on the sophomore Eagles in the traditional field hockey "Hatgame." If the frosh win, they can remove their freshman hats; if the Eagles are victorious the frosh wait until their "betters" say they can doff their hats.

The freshman and sophomore men will square off in a rougher (and muddier) "hatgame" at 10 a.m. when they meet in the mushy skating rink for a rope pull. Refereeing the frothy fray will be Carl Wight and Lenny Silver. The victors will be announced between halves of the afternoon football game.

Alumnae Vs. Undergrads

At 9:15 a.m. the Alumnae will meet the Undergrads on the women's athletic field in their annual field hockey game.

In the practice area behind the Field House Phi Kappa Sigma will meet North Dorms 9 and 10 to decide the intramural football championship.

Several attractions other than sports events are listed for Saturday morning. Judging of the fifth annual Homecoming Decorating Contest of dormitories and fraternities will be done by a committee selected from alumni, faculty, and students.

"College Coffees" sponsored by the colleges of the University will provide an opportunity for returning graduates to visit informally with faculty friends. Several members of the retired faculty are expected to join in the social hour.

Presiding at the cornerstone laying at 11:00 a.m. will be Myron C. Peabody, Springfield, Mass., president of the University's General Alumni Association. Representing the board of trustees will be George S. Williams, president of the board, while President Hauck will speak for the University.

Other speakers at the ceremony will be Mr. Fogler, as chairman of the Union Building Committee; Greg Macfarlan, president of the General

The annual Homecoming Luncheon in Memorial Gym will honor the 1926 football team and its coach, Fred Brice, who is returning to the University for the first time in ten years.

Brice coached Maine football teams for two decades. During much of this time he also guided the fortunes of the baseball and basketball clubs. He coached the Maine football forces to State Championships through 1924-28 and then to four more in 1931-34.

Following the Maine-Bowdoin game, a busy round of social events is planned. Dormitories will hold "Open House" and there will be fraternity reunions.

In the evening fraternity parties will vie with the Homecoming Stag Dance (music by Nat Diamond's orchestra) in Memorial Gym for the huge after-the-game crowd of alumni and students.

It Happens Every Year

Each year thousands upon thousands of college alumni, ranging from pre-century to mid-century graduates, make the pilgrimage to the scene of their matriculation. We suspect that the pilgrimage becomes more difficult with each passing year, that as one fits himself into the scheme of things it becomes easier and easier to find reasons for not making the trip this year. Therefore, as we extend our welcome to the University of Maine alumni returning for the 51st Homecoming, we make that welcome especially warm for those who graduated 20, 30, 40, or 50 years ago.

Homecoming is traditionally a time of handshakes, football games, and good fellowship. It is also a time of nostalgia for many. The brisk Maine air, the cheers and music of the football season, a look around the old fraternity, and the expectant crowd converging on Alumni Field will bring back memories of other Saturdays.

It is also a time for refreshing one's knowledge of the University.

This is a difficult year for Maine. The cornerstone of the long-awaited Union Building will be laid as part of the Homecoming Week End, but things are not what they might be. The subscription drive fell short of its goal necessitating a modification of the originally planned building. There is some doubt if construction materials will be forthcoming at the appropriate time.

In the face of rising costs of education, the enrollment has dropped to the point where all seniors and graduate students can be graduated in one group. For the first time in four years, the University will not have a two-session commencement in June.

Decreased enrollment, in general, and the decline in the number of G.I. students, in particular, spell reduced income. It will be remembered, too, that the legislature fell short of providing the funds requested by the University last spring.

Many students find 1951-52 an uneasy year. Most male students are faced with the prospect of military service. Many have gone already and others will be inducted in June.

Despite the difficulties, however, the school year seems to be rolling along much as it has in other years.

Difficulties we have, but hopes we have, too. At the moment our hopes are three: (1) That the alumni have an enjoyable week end; (2) That the Union Building construction continues uninterrupted; and (3) That Maine beats Bowdoin.

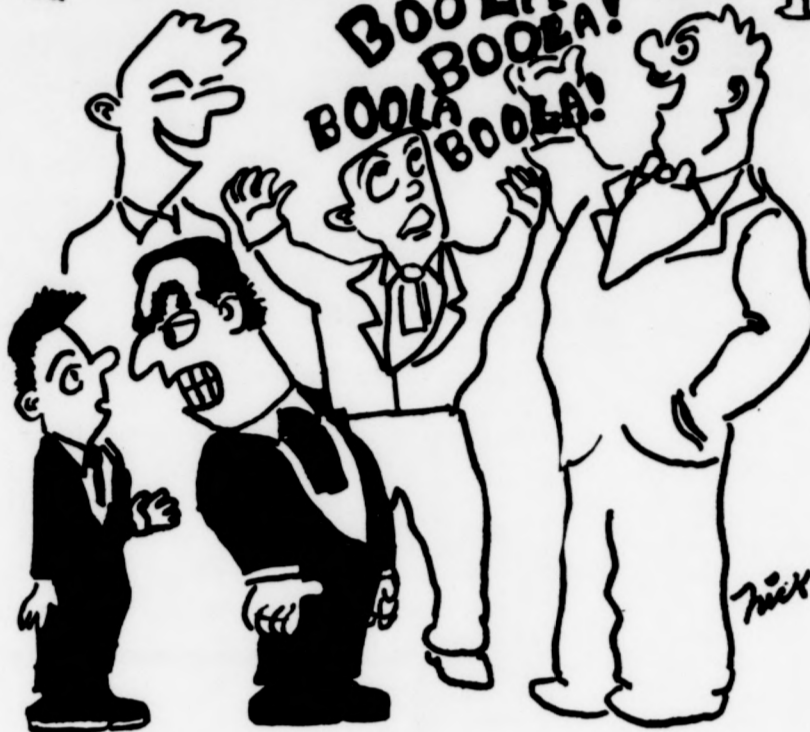

A short time ago a student wrote a letter to the editor of this paper complaining vociferously because one of our editorial writers used the Mail Bag as a vehicle for his comments. This student letter-writer strongly emphasized the point that the average student has but one column in the Campus in which he may air his thoughts. But in the past two weeks, only one letter has been submitted to this office—and that did not come from students on this campus. As the man said...it's your column. Use it!

Recent government attempts to freeze information seem to present a paradox to those who remember the "hot" news usually forthcoming from Washington.

WELCOME BACK MAINE ALUMNI

"So it isn't the Stein Song—so what?"

The Empty Barrel

By DOUG KNEELAND

More on student government...or lack of it. Last week we spoke of the moribund Men's Senate. By the time this goes to press, the fate of that body will have been decided. Odds at present are that it will henceforth be spoken of in the past tense.

Last week we also made reference to a body which was attempting to suppress news which was vital to the students whom it represents. During the week just past, this group held another meeting. At the meeting it was decided to request that freshman girls be allowed 10:40 permission on Sunday nights. A Campus staff member was present at the meeting. But, this reporter was requested not to print the information, since it might "disappoint the girls if the request weren't granted."

The members of this organization, nominally at least, represent one-fourth of the students on this campus. And yet, they wish to restrict information concerning their actions to the group which actively participates in the meetings.

And just as a passing thought, how many of you have ever voted in a General Senate election? We, for one, have never been able to find such an election. That is not an accusation that such elections aren't held. It is only a condemnation of the fact that they aren't widely publicized.

We have often wondered as to the duties of the four class officers which each class dutifully (well, almost) elects annually. But then again, no one really cares. Who can name all four officers in his own class? It is a generally conceded fact that class officers win popularity contests, not executive positions.

Now that we're on the subject, what of the Mayor's position? What are his duties? We always accepted the fact that he was in charge of the rallies...that he was the spirit-generator. Not so, as of this year. He has been relegated to the rank of performer, rather than producer of the rallies.

For the Bowdoin-Maine Homecoming rally, the Senior Skulls who are actually in charge of the rallies, offered him the position of master of ceremonies...without the opportunity to bring any of his own retinue into the show. But again, the Skulls are not to blame, for rally policy has been changed to exclude the vaudeville aspect. It all boils down to the same thing. Nobody knows what, or how much authority rests with what person or group.

The Breeze And I

By PERLESTONE PERT, JR.

Homecoming Day...1951...will it snow?...will it rain?...will the sun shine? Last week end it snowed...and it rained...and the sun shone. The only thing left is the State of Maine's famous cold spell. Perish the thought!

Regardless of weather, alumni from all over the state...and nation...will descend upon the campus to view again familiar sights...and faces. And, of course, they will come to see an undefeated University of Maine football team play its final game of the season.

Then...of course...the Maine student body will be there...raccoon coats...bed-sheeted Mayor Stritch...all 65 pounds of him...Confederate flags...the cheerleaders: female lungpower in blue and white...the freshman blue crew-cap brigade...gals ever loyal to the cause...upperclassmen in an assortment of headgear...coonskin caps...bright red pork-pies...plaid country clubs...occasional derbies...the majorettes...heads back and feet high...smiling away the cold...multi-colored blankets covering legs and feet...and sometimes heads...Coke bottles...the band: soldiers in royal blue...cold instruments...drumsticks with blue and white tassels...the Victory Song...the Stein Song...voices lifted in unison releasing mass enthusiasm...behind their team...all the way.

Players gather around respective coaches...last minute instructions...go get 'em fellas!
 It's the Battle of the Bears!

Deferment Via ROTC

The ROTC deferment program for freshmen will begin just before Thanksgiving recess, according to Lt. Col. William M. Summers, head of the ROTC detachment here.

The program is designed so that selected freshman students may be deferred from active military service until they have obtained their college degrees. Upon their graduation, the deferred students will become commissioned officers in either the United States Army Reserve or the Regular Army.

All regularly enrolled men are eligible to apply. Applications will be accepted by the Military Department from Nov. 26 through Dec. 1. On Dec. 3 the applications will go to a board appointed jointly by President Arthur A. Hauck and Col. Summers. The recommendations of the board will be submitted to Col. Summers as soon as possible, with none being returned after Feb. 10.

Must Expect To Serve

Students selected by the board will be recommended to Col. Summers, who, subject to quota restrictions, will execute the required deferment agreements with the individuals.

With world conditions as they are, men completing the program must expect to serve in the Armed Forces immediately upon graduation, Col. Summers emphasized. The ROTC program should not be confused with other deferment plans, he warned.

To continue his deferment in the ROTC after selection, the student must sign the basic deferment agreement which requires him to serve in the Army Reserve or Army when called. He must also demonstrate the qualities and attributes required of a commissioned officer and maintain a level of scholarship that will insure graduation at a normal time.

Finally, he must be selected for admission to the Advanced Course (third and fourth year) when he becomes eligible.

Binding Moral Obligation

Col. Summers has advised freshmen to discuss all aspects of the plan with their parents during the Thanksgiving vacation and then submit their applications.

"The program is not to be entered into lightly as its completion is a binding moral obligation on each participant," he said.

Two hundred and nine men of the present sophomore class are being deferred under the ROTC plan. Freshman men taking the basic course exceed 300, which assures a full quota of applicants.

The board to decide on applicants for deferment includes: Dean Joseph M. Murray, Dean Ashley S. Campbell, Associate Dean Winthrop C. Libby, Lt. Col. Edwin M. Beebe, Lt. Col. Herbert S. Ingraham, Lt. Col. Samuel Unger, Capt. James H. Scudder, Capt. Salvatore A. Casale, and 1st Lt. John D. Furkey.

Wild Shooting Halted, Safety Chairman Says

Prof. Harry D. Watson, chairman of the University Safety Committee, reported a let-up this week in shooting in the danger areas mentioned in the Campus of Nov. 1.

Signs prohibiting the use of firearms have been posted throughout the woods behind the radio shack and in the area of the cross-country track.

Coach Ted Curtis said that student hunters had been very cooperative in heeding the warnings issued last week.

Use of firearms within a half mile of any university building is prohibited.

Dunlap Presents Paper To Physical Society

Dr. Robert D. Dunlap, assistant professor of chemistry, presented a paper before the New England Section of the American Physical Society last Saturday, according to Prof. Irwin B. Douglass, head of the Chemistry department.

The subject of Dr. Dunlap's paper was "The Energy and Volume Changes Attending the Mixing of Non-Polar Liquids." Co-author was Harold F. Crandall, a graduate assistant in the Chemistry department.

This work was sponsored by the Coe Research Fund.

"Educational Cost in an Inflationary Period" will be the subject of a talk by Prescott H. Vose, University comptroller, at the 66th annual meeting of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in Boston on Dec. 6-8.

"Oh, my aching feet!" That was the cry heard from sorority women and freshman girls alike last Sunday as the six sororities, AOPi, Tri Delt, Chi O, Delta Zeta, Pi Phi, and Phi Mu, held open house as the kick-off to fall rushing. For three solid hours sorority girls and the frosh, dressed in their best bib and tuck, performed over a hundred introductions in an attempt to become better acquainted with each other. To the sororities, this open house was a chance to meet many of the frosh they didn't know and to let them know of the different things sorority does and stands for. For the frosh it was an opportunity to become faintly acquainted with the workings and functions of sororities on the U. of M. campus. And all the time there were names, names, and more names.

Fire Prevention Program Being Developed Here

Safety of life and the protection of property were emphasized at a meeting of 150 student fire wardens last week in the Louis Oakes Room. The students, representing all University residence halls, fraternities, and South Apartments, were asked to do their utmost to prevent fires, most of which are caused by carelessness.

Beginning this week there will be meetings in each residence unit or group, at which a member of the University Fire Department will discuss fire prevention and demonstrate the use of fire extinguishers.

Speakers last week were Leigh Plaisted, chief of the University fire department; Francis McGuire, director of University plant and facilities; Joan Huston of the Student Safety Committee appointed by the General Senate; and Prof. Harry D. Watson, chairman of the University Committee on Safety and chairman of the University Civilian Defense organization.

Charles E. Crossland, director of student and public relations, presided.

Auditions for expected vacancies in the drum majorette section of the Varsity Band were held Oct. 31 in the field house. The test, under the supervision of Connie Berry, majorette section leader, included marching and twirling, both with and without band accompaniment.

Accepted were Ann Twombly, South Estabrooke Hall, and Ellen Pfeifer and Betty Dysart, both of West Hall.

The three girls will practice with the band for the remainder of the football season, and will make their first public appearance with the band on Maine Day, 1952.

WSGA Council Urges Change In Frosh Sunday Permissions

The WSGA Council voted unanimously last week to recommend to the Faculty Advisory Committee on Women Students that Sunday evening permissions for freshman women be extended from 10 p.m. to 10:40.

Beverly Pettingill, who proposed the action, said:

(1) The freshman women have the same hours as upperclass women on Friday and Saturday nights, and to avoid confusion, should have the same hours on Sunday night.

(2) It would make it easier for girls spending the week end at home to get rides back to the University.

(3) It would eliminate the necessity of getting late permissions from the WSGA president for those freshmen who are returning from home.

Before the recommended change can be put into effect, it must receive the approval of the Faculty Advisory Committee on Women Students and of the faculty itself.

The Council adopted a budget of $761.09 for the year. Dorothy Booth, treasurer of the association, reported that because of a decrease in the number of women students the WSGA would have less money for its operational expenses this year. Because of this, the WSGA scholarship for a foreign student has been cut from full tuition to $200.

Ruth Bartlett, WSGA secretary, reported on the recent meeting of house councils. Margaret Murray, social chairman, reported on the student-faculty tea to be held Nov. 18.

One of the largest crowds in Homecoming history is expected over the long Armistice Day Week End.

Every Student To Be Eligible To Vote For Queen

For the first time since the advent of the Calico Ball five years ago, the Calico Queen will be selected by a campus wide vote. Eight co-eds will vie for the title during the Farmers' Fair festivities.

Voting for the rustic royalty will take place all day Nov. 17 at a booth to be set up at the Farmers' Fair. The Fair, as in previous years, will be located in the Field House. The coronation of the queen will be held during the intermission of the Calico Ball that evening as a climax to the festivities of the day.

Contestants for the Calico Queen title have been selected by women students in the various girls' dormitories. They are as follows: Althea Applebee, East West; Joan Blanchard, Balentine; Helen Strong, South Estabrooke; Muriel Bennett, West West; Tanya Lekas, North Estabrooke; Dorothy Leonard, Off-campus; Helena Mehlhorn, Colvin; and Delores Viel, Elms.

The Farmers' Fair and Calico Ball have been held for the past five years under the sponsorship of the Agricultural Club. Art McAlister is chairman of the dual events this year.

Members of the Agricultural Club have announced that the appropriate apparel for the Calico Ball will be dungarees, plaid shirts, and calico dresses. Music will be provided by Lloyd Rafnell and His Orchestra for both regular and square dancing. Dick Cole will call the square dances.

Turner Announces Hamlet Play Contest

Prof. Albert M. Turner, head of the English department, has announced the annual Hamlet Playwriting Contest. A prize of about $45 is offered for the best one-act play written by a University undergraduate.

The drama should be intended for the stage, rather than merely for reading, and should have been written not more than a year before next Feb. 15, the closing date of the contest.

The prize was instituted by Robert C. Hamlet, class of 1925. The judges, as requested in Mr. Hamlet's will, are the Dean of Arts and Sciences, the head of the English Department, and the president of the Masque.

Rules may be obtained from the secretary of the English department, 200 Stevens Hall.

"Defense Decade" Topic At Women's Assembly

"Women in the Defense Decade" was the topic for a panel discussion held at an assembly for women students in the Women's Gym last Friday. Participants in the discussion were Dr. Alice Stewart, Margaret Murray, Jeanne Frye, Marguerite Floyd, and Lillian Sargent.

Some of the material for the discussion topic was secured from the National Education Association in New York. Two of the panel members, Dr. Stewart and Miss Murray, were recent NEA convention delegates.

The assembly, sponsored by the WSGA, was compulsory for all women students.

The Winter Carnival date has been set back to February 22. This is the date on which it was held up until the past year or two.

Maine In Top Shape For Series Finale With Bowdoin

Bear Facts

BY BEN TUCKER

A determined Black Bear and a crafty Polar Bear will be locked in a mighty struggle this week end on Alumni Field, and after it's all over someone will be able to say, "I told ya so." (Perhaps.) Because of Homecoming, Maine's undefeated season to date, and the desire of thousands to see this battle against Bowdoin, a record crowd is expected.

Maine showed poise and ability to move the ball under adverse conditions last Saturday at Waterville. Colby, bothered by the strong wind in the first half, could not halt the Black Bear touchdown parade, which saw Pendleton score twice and Hewins and Bogdanovich once each. The scoring ended there, however, for neither team tallied in the last half. Colby did come to life in the last quarter and was down deep in Maine territory as the game ended.

Every sports fan has heard and read much about the Bowdoin Polar Bears this season. It's not too hard to recall that deadly Jim Decker, who whipped that leathery persimmon 50 yards into the arms of the racing Jules Siroy last year, is still around. Not only that, his replacement, Jack Cosgrove, is reported to be every bit as good.

Bowdoin has some fine ends and plenty of speed in the backfield even though it is supposed to be the lightest Polar Bear squad since pre-war days. Bowdoin has some fellows who can kick the points after touchdowns, too... Levesque, Cockburn.

Most folks could tell you something about the Bowdoin team, but not many could give you much info on the Polar Bears' fine coach, Adam Walsh. Walsh was a pupil of the great Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. In fact, Adam was captain and center of the 1924 South Bend squad, which was undefeated. That same Notre Dame team had a backfield containing the famous Four Horsemen.

The Bowdoin mentor has had a great deal of experience in the coaching field since his college days. The bespectacled Walsh has coached at Santa Clara, Harvard, Notre Dame, and Yale. He was assistant coach of the 1932 Olympic football team.

Walsh tried his luck in the professional league during 1945-46. His Los Angeles Rams were a surprise eleven in 1945, when they won the championship in the Western Division of the National Pro league. Bob Waterfield was one of his star performers.

Several of Maine's varsity footballers will play their last game here next Saturday and, needless to say, will go all out to win. They are Gordon Pendleton, Charlie Burgess, Gene Sturgeon, Vern Napolitano, Win Brown, Pete Pocius, Bob Hefler, Scotty Thorburn, Phil Butterfield, Harry Richardson, Bob Whytock, Harry Easton, Bill Lindquist, and Walt Hewins.

The reserved, conscientious Hal Westerman certainly has received some fine tributes throughout the season. One of them came last week end after the Colby game when Mike Loeb, Mules' director of health and athletics, said, "That is the best Maine team that has played here since I came to Colby."

Going Someplace? In mud-smeared action typical of last week's game against Colby at Waterville, the Mules' Charlie Windhorst (30) is shown attempting to evade the Bear line. Split seconds later he was in the mud, downed by a crew of Maine tacklers. Maine won the contest, 24-0, scoring all four TD's in the first half. Bangor Commercial Staff Photo

First Undefeated Year In History Is Bears' Goal

BY DANA WARREN

The Black Bears will be seeking their first undefeated season in the school's history when they clash with the Bowdoin Polar Bear at Alumni Field on Saturday.

A record crowd of over 12,000 is expected to attend the game which places on the line an outright win of this season's State Series title. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Maine Fields 14 Seniors

The Westerman machine, which has been undefeated and once tied in six contests, will feature the talents of fourteen seniors who will be playing their last college game this Saturday. These men are: ends, Bob Whytock, Vern Napolitano, Walt Hewins, and Harry Easton; tackles, Harry Richardson and Bill Lindquist; guards, Captain Pete Pocius, Bob Hefler, Jim Butterfield, and Gordon Thorburn; center, Win Brown; backs, Charlie Burgess, Gene Sturgeon, and Gordon Pendleton.

Polar Bears Versatile

The Polar Bear forces of Coach Adam Walsh, who have averaged over 30 points per game this season, will be coming to Orono with a record including no ties and only one loss to a strong Williams squad, 13-12. Bowdoin boasts plenty of talent in the backfield and features the pin-point tossing of Jim Decker, speed running of Gordon Milliken, and the power of veteran fullback Art Bishop.

End Charlie Bennett is one of the Polar Bears' most capable receivers. The big fellow is a converted back with plenty of speed and ball-carrying ability—a key link in the Bowdoin passing attack.

Rivalry Started in 1883

This Saturday's contest will be the fifty-third game in a rivalry that began in 1883. Maine has won 27, Bowdoin 18, and 7 games have ended in ties. Last year the two teams played to a 6-6 tie at Brunswick in the Series championship tilt. Both teams have been working hard this week with a minimum of contact work.

The Maine squad will be at full strength this Saturday. The services of ace ground-gainer Jack Butterfield, speedster Billy McCann, and halfback Joe Alex, previously on the injured list, will be available for the clash.

Maine has not been scored on this year by a team featuring the T formation. The two clubs that did score, Bates and the University of Connecticut, both ran from a single-wing. Bowdoin utilizes the T.

Women's Sports

BY LORRIE SKOLFIELD

Plans for Homecoming are nearly complete. The M-Club has been helping with invitations to alumnae and with decorations for the women's field house. The Eagles will serve refreshments between the two games Saturday morning.

The traditional Hat Game is scheduled for 8:30 Saturday morning.

The Woman's Rifle Club held an organization meeting last Thursday night in which the procedure for matches was explained to new members. A postal match with the University of Kansas will take place in December.

Champs Of '26 To Attend Game

Six Black Bears of 1926, State Series victors of their day, will be on campus for the Maine-Bowdoin Homecoming tilt.

The returning team members, their manager, and their coach, Fred Brice, will be honored at the Homecoming luncheon.

Led by Captain Paul Lamoreau, Presque Isle, the Bears of 1926 won one of the eight undisputed State Series titles of Fred Brice's era and tied with New Hampshire for the New England Conference title.

Brice, who now lives in Pittsfield, N. H., will return to the University for the first time since he closed out a 19-year coaching career in 1940.

Besides Lamoreau, the returning group will include: Manager Daniel Webster, Old Town; James Buzzell, Chelmsford, Mass.; Thomas Dickson, Ridlonville; Harry Peakes, Boston; C. P. Osgood, Hartford, Conn.; and Moses Nanigian, Auburn, who was elected captain of the 1927 team.

Pale Blue Skiers Will Have Depth

The U. of M. ski team, which has won the state series every year but one since 1930, will soon be out to retain the championship crown that it captured at Rumford last year.

Since the winter sports schedule hasn't as yet been released, Maine's first opponent is still unknown. But with the falling of some early snow, and the improvement of the ski jump, which now compares with the best in the state, the Bears will be ready to take on the best of their competitors.

Grady Erickson and John Bragoli are two jumpers upon whom Coach Ted Curtis will depend heavily.

Along with them is Gil LeClair, who didn't compete last year but scored in the I.S.U. meet two years ago in New Hampshire.

Dick Hatch, Bob Irish, Hans Thoma, and Bill Byrd are among the veteran downhill and slalom men. Byrd, who was on team B last year, beat the Bowdoin, Bates, and Colby A teams.

Harriers Ready For N.E. Meet

The State cross country meet of Nov. 5 failed to materialize. Bowdoin and Colby didn't field cross country teams this year. Bates, already crushed by the Bears, withdrew. The result was that Maine won the state championship by default.

To keep his speedsters from becoming stale before the New England's of Nov. 12, Coach Chester Jenkins made arrangements to meet Tufts and Northeastern in Boston's Franklin Park.

For the fifth time, Dick Dow and Carleton McLean tied for first place. Other Maine men to shine were Bill Hirst, who finished fourth, Mal Osborne, sixth, Ed Perry, tenth, "Coke" Haskell, fifteenth, and Dave Beppler, seventeenth.

Team scores were: Maine 23, Northeastern 45, and Tufts 55.

Coach Jenkins was elated over his team's performance. Since Franklin Park is to be the scene of the New England's, Saturday's race provided the Pale Blue runners with valuable experience.

Freshman Harriers Even Year's Record

The Freshman cross country team evened up its year's record to three wins and three losses by beating Ashland High School Monday afternoon, 22-34.

Bob Yarrow of the Frosh was first to finish the 2 1/2 mile grind. He was followed across the finish line by Bill Tiedemann and Fred Libby, both of Maine. Cowett was the first Ashland runner to finish.

Friday afternoon the Frosh face Maine Central Institute here, before traveling to Boston for the New England's next week.

Candidates for the graduate students intramural basketball team will practice in Memorial Gym Monday at 7 p.m.

Within The Walls

BY PERLESTON PERT, JR.

Turning from intramural football, whose season will end on Homecoming Day when Phi Kappa Sigma and North Dorms 9 and 10 square off for the campus championship, we find preparations for intramural basketball in full swing.

Latest word from Sam Sezak is that the basketball season will get underway sometime after Thanksgiving. Close to 50 teams have already entered, and Sam says that the schedule will be made up after all applications are in. The deadline for team applications was last Friday, Nov. 2.

Though plans are not definite yet, faculty director Sezak indicated that the basketball teams would probably be split up among three leagues. More likely than not, the leagues will be the same as last year: fraternity division, brick dorm division, and North Dorms division.

Intramural basketball offers a golden opportunity for fraternity teams to gather points in competition for the intramural sports trophy. Phi Kap, by winning the intramural football championship, garnered itself a 65 point total to take the lead in the point race. Phi Eta Kappa is second with 50 points.

Each fraternity basketball team receives 50 points for entering a roster, 5 points for each league win, and 25 points for winning the fraternity league championship. Fifteen points are given the runnerup to the champion, and 10 points are given for games won in the semi-finals. Twenty-five points are deducted for each forfeit.

Military Group Gets Payroll Of $17,122.20

A student payroll of $17,122.20 was delivered at the Armory by the mailman last week.

The payroll consisted of checks from 1st Army Headquarters in Boston for students enrolled in advanced ROTC. Of the total, $4,992.10 will be paid to the first-year advanced students and $12,130.20 to the second-year advanced students.

Pay checks received by the first-year group were for $38.70. Each second-year student received $99.90. The students earn at the rate of 90 cents a day.

This time the second-year advanced students are being paid from June 1 through the last day of October with the exception of six weeks spent in summer camp. The first-year students are being paid from the opening of school.

Next month both classes will get pay checks of the same size.

Pay checks for both groups will be available on the first day of each month for the remainder of the school year. They may be obtained from the paymaster in the Military Department in the Armory.

Band Wades In Mud But Survives Flood

Despite the cold, 45-mile-an-hour winds, the icy rain, and a muddy football field, the University of Maine Band came through at last Saturday's classic between Colby and Maine.

Colby's musicians, having had enough after the first quarter, weren't around at the half to greet their homecoming crowd of some 2,000 fans. So the Maine band, after completely revising its routine, went out and did the job.

Bob Haynes, student leader of the band, remarked that the morale of the band was high throughout the game. Don Lord, drum major, took time out from muttering about cleaners' bills to agree with Haynes and say, "After all, no one drowned!"

Gilmore To Represent S&B At Convention

Plans for the Military Ball and for sending a delegate to the national convention were made by the Scabbard and Blade at a meeting last Thursday.

Dec. 7 was selected as the date for the annual ball. Richard Gilmore was chosen as a delegate to the convention of the National Society, Scabbard and Blade, in Denver, Colo., on Nov. 8, 9, and 10.

Readings for the Masque play, "Jenny Kissed Me" will be held daily from Nov. 12 through Nov. 14 at 7:15 p.m. in the Little Theatre. The play will be presented Dec. 12-14.

Prof. Vincent A. Hartgen, head of the art department, has arranged a showing of artist Charles Culver's works in the Louis Oakes Room for November. Eighteen watercolors have been selected for the exhibit.

Culver, born in Illinois in 1908, studied at the Wicker School of Fine Arts in Detroit. He is considered "one of America's unique watercolorists." His productions have won a dozen or more major art awards.

More than a thousand of Culver's paintings are included in private collections.

Three-Act Play To Be Given By M.C.A. Dec. 16

The Maine Christian Association will present a three-act Christmas Play on Dec. 16 in the Little Theatre.

The play, "Tinker," is the story of a poor family and its struggle to obtain a cheerful time at Christmas. The play will be directed by a theatre major chosen by Herschel Bricker. Tryouts are scheduled for the evening of Nov. 11, at the Little Theatre.

Because of the usual scarcity of dollar bills among students, Ida Moreshead has announced that membership in M.C.A. will remain open the entire year.

Despite lagging membership returns, the Sunday evening services continue to maintain a capacity attendance.

Participants in a panel discussion next week will be Ruth Bartlett, Harriet Johnson, Frank Butler, Don Lombard, and Nick Carter.

A gun turret for the B-36 bomber undergoes test as it comes off the assembly line at a General Electric plant.

An advanced model of General Electric's J-47 turbojet engine packs far more power within the same size.

G-E engineers developed this portable steering unit which enables Navy ships to be steered from any of several widely separated strategic positions.

Ideas from college graduates at General Electric are helping U. S. mobilization

Add to the above the nuclear-powered aircraft engine that General Electric is developing for the Air Force . . . turbosuperchargers . . . guided missiles . . . radar . . . the plutonium-producing reactors which the Company operates at Hanford, Washington for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Into vital national projects like these are going the efforts of hundreds of scientists, engineers, chemists, physicists and other college graduates who are making their careers at General Electric.

There's a major reason why General Electric is asked to contribute to so many of these projects. The Company has prided itself on building an outstanding engineering, technical and business organization, one that can take the toughest problems and master them, one that can be a steady source of new ideas.

Young people from American colleges and universities, their skills and talents further developed through G-E training courses and rotational job programs, are forming the core of that organization and are the source of the ideas that are standing the nation in good stead.

You can put your confidence in—
