Miss Addison, a new and promising young Negro soprano, has received acclaim from music critics and audiences ever since her debut in Boston two years ago.

She has appeared with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and the New England Opera Company. Now she is enjoying great success on her first nationwide concert tour.

Thousands See Maine Victory Over Bowdoin

By Dave Getchell

The Maine campus looked like a stepped-on anthill last week end as the huge Homecoming crowd swarmed across the University grounds to see the Maine Bear tussle with Bowdoin.

The followers of the Maine fortunes found victory sweet, and the result was a two-day celebration that has rarely, if ever, been equalled on this campus.

Yelling students and not-too-quiet early arriving alumni lifted the lid for the week end Friday night, when they belled their way through a rally in Memorial Gym and then touched off a bonfire whose glow could be seen half way to Brunswick.

Fans Arrive In Force

Saturday morning saw the troops of fans arriving in force and before the sun had a chance to warm the cloudless fall day, history was in the making for the University of Maine.

Hundreds watched President Arthur A. Hauck and Greg Macfarlan, president of the General Student Senate, apply the mortar for the cornerstone of the new Memorial Union Building. Into a hollow in the stone went a record of present times for some unknown future date when the stone might be removed.

A copy of the Maine Campus, an Alumnus, a University catalog, a Homecoming Day program, and a history of the Union Building Fund campaign went into a steel container that was placed in the hollow of the cornerstone.

SRA Bus Service Set For Holiday

Bus service for students going home for the Thanksgiving recess will again be provided by the Student Religious Association. At least one bus will leave the Book Store at 12:15 p.m., Wed., for Portland and Boston. More buses will be made available if the demand for tickets warrants them.

Classes end for the four-day holiday at 11:35 a.m., Wed., Nov. 21, and will resume at 7:45 a.m., Monday, Nov. 26. The 24-hour cut rule will be in effect on both days.

Campus bulletin boards were nearly covered with requests for and offers of rides to various points at least two weeks before the scheduled vacation.

Tickets to any destination are available daily in the SRA building.

Third Job Clinic For Seniors Starts Nov. 27

For the third consecutive year the Student Aid and Placement Bureau will hold a job clinic for seniors. A series of four clinic classes will start Tuesday, Nov. 27, at 3:45 p.m. in 218 Library. These classes will continue for four consecutive Tuesdays.

The purpose of the clinic is to present to the students job methods and procedures including personnel data sheets, application letters, preparation for interviews, and actual personal interviews.

Philip J. Brockway, Placement Director under whom the clinic will be held, hopes to bring employers to (Continued on Page Three)

President And Deans Attending Important Land Grant Sessions

President Arthur A. Hauck, three of the University's deans, and two other administrators are carrying out one of their most important annual missions this week. They are attending the 65th meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, which is being held in Houston, Texas.

With President Hauck are Dean Joseph M. Murray, College of Arts and Sciences; Dean Arthur L. Deering, College of Agriculture; Dean Ashley S. Campbell, College of Technology; Dr. George F. Dow, assistant director of the Agricultural Experiment Station; and George E. Lord, associate director of the Maine Extension Service.

The sessions which the University administrators are attending are those at which vital questions of educational policy are discussed by the institutions which, like the University of Maine, were established under the Morrill Act, signed by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862.

Federal legislation affecting the land grant institutions is often influenced in large degree by the decisions of the educators at the association meetings.

Difficult questions with which the association has had to deal in recent years have included the problems of providing higher education for the war veterans.

Calico Ball To Be Held On Nov. 17

Aggie Fair Lists Stellar Attractions

By Doug Kneeland

Plaid shirts, dungarees, and the gayest of calicos should be very much in evidence on campus Saturday as the Fifth Annual Farmers' Fair and Calico Ball steps into the spotlight.

The Fair will open at 10 a.m. Saturday with a livestock show, and will close with a pie eating contest at 3:30 p.m. Milk, poultry, and livestock judging, forestry events, a tractor derby, milking contests, and races will round out the program.

A twelve-foot greased pole will be erected in the field house, with a prize placed at the top. Any and all students are welcome to attempt to scramble for the prize.

Annual Social Highlight

In the evening, the Calico Ball, one of the annual highlights of campus social life, will feature the music of Lloyd Rafnell and his orchestra. The Ball will last from 8 till 11:45 p.m.

Coronation of the Calico Queen will take place at intermission of the Calico Ball. Eight candidates—Althia Applebee, Joan Blanchard, Helen Strong, Muriel Bennett, Tanya Lekas, Dorothy Leonard, Helena Melborne, and Delores Viel—are competing for the title.

This year, for the first time since the inauguration of the event five years ago, the entire student body will have a voice in choosing the Calico Queen. A voting booth will be open all day Saturday at the Farmers' Fair.

Prizes Offered

A watch will be presented to the queen by the Sears, Roebuck and Co. Prizes will also be awarded to the other contestants.

More than fifty prizes have been donated by merchants in Bangor, Orono, and Old Town to be awarded to winners of the various events at the Fair. The door prize at the Calico Ball will be a radio.

Playful Whitetail Frustrates Hunters

A playful deer decided to tease all the student hunters on fraternity row last Thursday noon when he ran over the lawn in front of Kappa Sigma, dashed between that building and Delta Tau Delta, and disappeared in the woods behind the Botanical Garden after vaulting a four-foot fence.

Several members of Delta Tau and Kappa Sig rushed after the intruder, and the steward from Phi Eta Kappa appeared with his apron on. The steward's hopes for venison were frustrated, however. Despite the expert hunters close on his trail, the deer escaped and the excited pathfinders returned shortly—alone.

This was supposedly the same deer that had been reported earlier in the vicinity of South Apartments.

The Campus will not publish Nov. 22 and Nov. 29.

Dionne Resigns, Lavery Named Good Will Head

Pat Dionne resigned from membership and the chairmanship of the Good Will Chest's Board of Governors last week. Stan Lavery, who was the Inter-Fraternity Council's member of the Board, has been elected by the General Student Senate as the board's new chairman.

Ray Feasey will replace Dionne as a member of the Board.

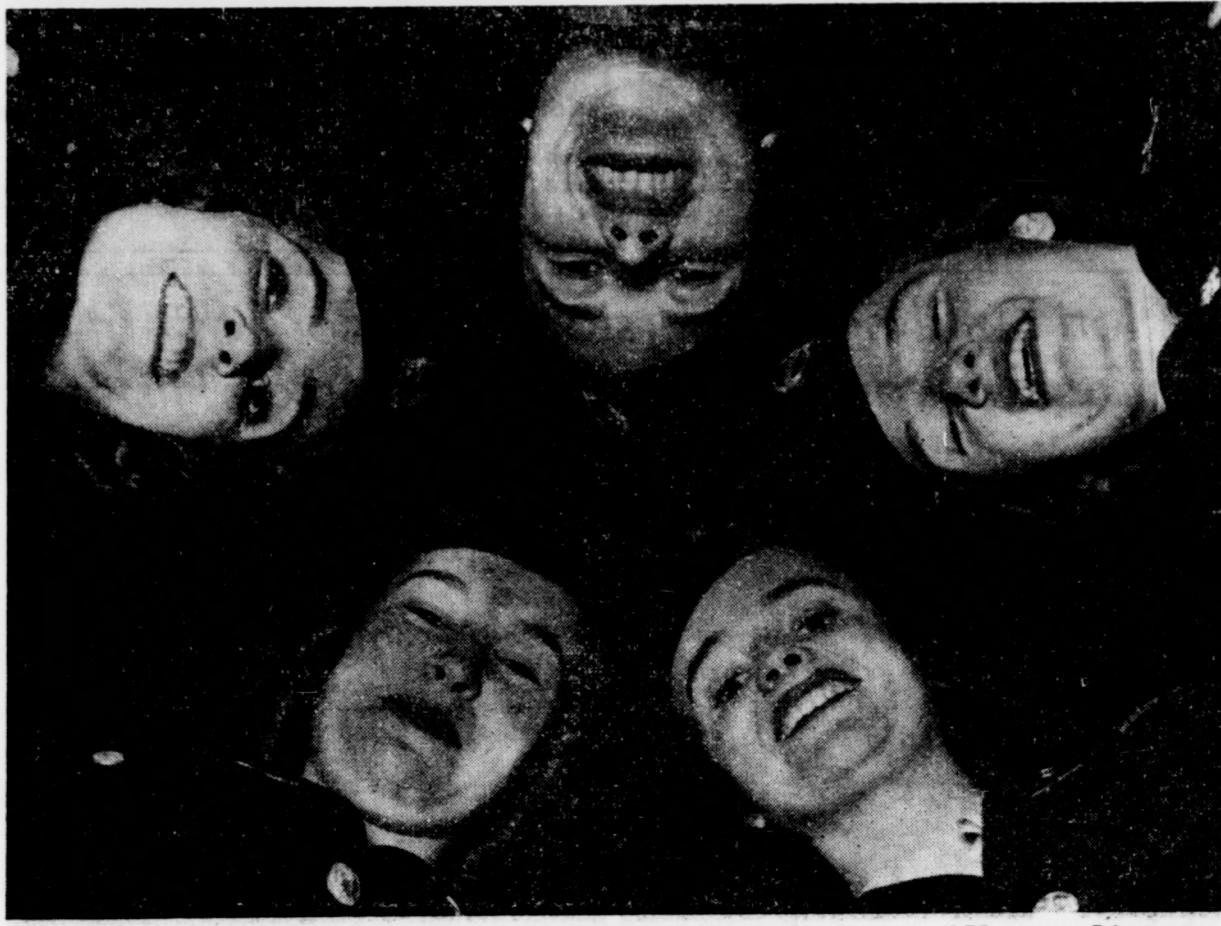

Dionne said that he had insufficient time to perform the duties of the office.

"I have recently found it necessary to take a job in Bangor," Dionne explained. "I feel that this job, which takes a considerable amount of time, and my work as president of the SRA provide all the extracurricular activity I can handle. I'm very sorry that I can't continue with the Good Will Chest, but it is impossible."

Dionne submitted his resignation as a member of the Board of Governors to Charles E. Crossland, advisor for the group.

The Board of Governors is composed of one representative from nine campus organizations. Members are elected by the General Student Senate each year.

Lavery was business manager of the Freshman Handbook and a member of the General Senate last year. He served on the committee for the Campus Leadership Conference this semester.

Scabbard And Blade Selects Five Candidates For Colonelcy

The Scabbard and Blade has nominated five girls to compete for the title of Honorary Lieutenant Colonel of the ROTC from among twenty applicants.

Lois Welton, Mickey Connett, Audrey Koritsky, Betsey Grandin, and Fran Willett are candidates for the honorary commission.

The winner will be selected by a campus-wide vote and will be commissioned at the Military Ball, Friday, Dec. 7.

Uniforms will be the order of the evening at the formal ball, but tuxedos may also be worn.

Plans are underway to give the Military Ball advance airway publicity over the three local stations. One station, as yet unnamed, plans personal interviews with each of the five candidates.

Tickets for the dance will be on sale shortly, and may be purchased from any Scabbard and Blade member or pledge.

eral men who saw their years of hard work climaxed with the laying of the cornerstone. These men who had a great deal to do with the actual beginning of construction were: Edward A. Whitney, chairman of the Trustee Committee on the Union Building; Prof. Himy B. Kirshen, chairman of the non-faculty campaign; and Raymond H. Fogler, chairman of the Union Building Fund. Other representatives were: John A. Kibler, president of the Consolidated Constructors, Inc., builders; John T. Doran, architect; and Dean Nathaniel C. Kendrick, dean of Bowdoin College and representative of the Maine colleges.

Nearly 11,000 At Game

Nearly eleven thousand, the third largest crowd ever to witness a State Series game at Alumni Field and the largest in post-war times, watched the undefeated Maine team drub Bowdoin for the most successful season any football team has had at the University.

Former Maine coach Fred Brice visited the campus for the first time in ten years. According to Ted Curtis, who accompanied the famed coach around the campus, Brice said, "Boy, I knew I was going to have a grand time, but I didn't expect it to be this good."

At the Alumni luncheon in Memorial Gym Saturday noon, Fred Brice was awarded an honorary membership in the Black Bear Club of Rhode Island. The guests at the luncheon were members of the football team of 1926 which Brice led to a state championship that year.

Other events of note:

ATO won the decorating contest in the fraternity division with their poled polar bear on a goal post.

Colvin took the prize for the women's best-dressed dorm with a black bear bowling over ten cub polar bears. The silver plates for prizes in the decorating contest are being engraved for the winners.

Phi Kappa Sigma won the intramural football championship by downing North Dorns 9-10, 18-0. The dances in Memorial Gym Friday and Saturday nights saw a fine turnout.

Reports trickling in from survivors seem to reinforce a statement made by one of the hardier old-timers—"What a party!"

WLBZ Will Air Radio Guild Shows

The 1951-52 series of broadcasts produced by the Radio Guild will be heard over station WLBZ Friday nights at 10:30 p.m.

The shows, written and directed entirely by students, are under the auspices of the Department of Speech and under the direction of Mrs. Phyllis Williamson.

Weekly try-outs are held in 275 Stevens Hall Mondays at 3:45 p.m.

The first show of the season, to be broadcast Friday, Nov. 16, is directed by Faith Taylor and is called "Campus Wheels." (Turn to 620 on your dial.)

WGUY Scholarships Go To Aggie Students

Richard Cole, Earle P. Morse, Mary Jean McIntire, and Margaret Hanson—all students in the College of Agriculture—will receive the WGUY Radio Station scholarships, according to Associate Dean Winthrop C. Libby.

Alumni Awards Given To Three For Top Services

Three were honored with the 1951 Black Bear Award at the Faculty-Alumni luncheon Nov. 10.

J. Larcom Ober of Philadelphia, Pa., Clifford Patch of Bangor, and Miss Addie Matilda Weed of Orono received the Alumni Association's award for "outstanding service in promoting university spirit."

Mr. Ober, who received the award in absentia, has been an active member of the university's Pulp and Paper Foundation. He was a member of the class of 1913 at Maine.

Mr. Patch, a Maine graduate of 1911, was recognized for his outstanding activity on the university's Athletic Board of which he has been a member since 1927. Mr. Patch has served as an official many times at university track meets.

Miss Weed has an aggregate of 43 years of service to the University of Maine. She began in 1908 as stenographer in the military and biology departments. Later she served as stenographer to the deans and the registrar. In 1918 she became assistant registrar at the university, and in 1929 she was made recorder, a position she still holds.

The award is in the form of a black bear mounted on a Maine-granite base with a sterling silver inscription plate. The bear is cast in bronze from a model exclusively sculptured for the Alumni Association by Aristo B. Cianforani.

Previous awards were made in 1950 to President Arthur A. Hauck and to Alfred B. Lingley, a past president of the General Alumni Association.

Rites Held In New Brunswick For Liakakos, Victim Of Crash

Funeral services were held in St. John, New Brunswick, Tuesday for George A. Liakakos, 21, a Maine junior who was killed in an automobile accident at Milford about 1 a.m. Saturday.

Stephen Casakos, a university senior, was the driver of the car. He is still on the danger list at the Eastern Maine General Hospital, suffering from a head injury and numerous facial and scalp lacerations.

The two other occupants of the car, Joanna Wenek and Anne Picwick, both of Boston, were hospitalized as a result of the collision. Miss Wenek was on the danger list, according to hospital authorities.

The fatality occurred when the auto failed to negotiate the sweeping curve on Route 2 in Milford, near the Wigwam Cabins.

The car left the highway, skidded between a hydrant and a tree, and sideswiped an elm tree about 175 feet from the curve.

Liakakos was a native of Sparta, Greece. He attended the University of New Brunswick before he came to Maine two years ago.

At Maine he was a writer and a cartoonist for the Campus. Last year he was feature editor for the campus humor magazine, the Pine Needle. He was an active member of the International Politics club at the University.

The body was taken to New Brunswick Saturday afternoon, by an uncle, Angelo Stevenson of Bangor. A brief prayer service was held at the Bailageron Funeral Home, Old Town.

Surviving are George's mother, Mrs. Vasso Liakakos, and a sister, Artemisia, both of St. John.

the clinic to present their point of view and the difficulties students will encounter in applying for jobs.

In the clinic classes the students will participate actively in writing personnel data sheets and other parts of job applications. Discussions and criticisms will be made by the students as well as Mr. Brockway.

Mr. Brockway has held meetings with students from the College of Technology and part of the College of Arts and Sciences explaining what opportunities the Placement Bureau has for students who will be searching for jobs in June. Practically every department in the university will be reached by him and his staff.

Campus To Sponsor Student Ride Pool For Xmas Vacation

The Maine Campus will sponsor a ride pool again this year for students who want rides or riders home for the Christmas holidays. Lists will be posted on the bulletin boards of the Bookstore and the Administration building soon after Thanksgiving vacation.

Data required are the name of the student who wants or is offering a ride, his destination, and his campus address.

Names from the lists will be printed in later issues of the Campus. This is the fourth year that the pool has been in operation.

Kappa Phi Kappa, professional education society, has initiated Wesley Farnum, Sherman Rowells, John Hall, Andy Rogers, William Oliver, Norman Moulton, Stan Ferguson, and Galen Leathers.

THE MEETING'S UPSTAIRS

What happens to a high-flying enemy bomber when it meets the newest anti-aircraft guided missile shouldn't happen to a low-flying duck.

Radar "eyes" and electronic "brains" make sure the meeting takes place. They guide the pilotless missile to within lethal range of the plane, then explode it.

This teaming of intricate tracking and computing devices was made possible by teaming of another sort. The electronic control system was developed for Army Ordnance by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Western Electric Company, close-working research and manufacturing units of the Bell System.

It's just one of the many important military projects being entrusted to the Bell System.

How To Win Friends

Now that Homecoming is past, we can take a good look at it over the shoulder, so to speak. As far as we know every event on the long program went off without a hitch. That can only mean one thing: a tremendous amount of planning and work by a considerable number of people.

For months prior to Nov. 9 and 10 letters were written, phone calls were made, details were arranged, people were talked to, and estimates and purchases were made.

Then as the great day approached there was a myriad of last minute details which required attention. Additional bleachers had to be transported from Brunswick, housing had to be supplied for Homecoming grads, luncheon arrangements made, tickets ordered and distributed, meetings arranged, speeches prepared and delivered, and probably a few hundred other things.

It is with an appreciative understanding of the never-ending behind-the-scenes activity that we say to President Hauck, Ted Curtis, Don Taverner, and the others whose efforts made Maine's 51st Homecoming such a success, "Well done!"

And Influence People

Elsewhere in The Campus this week there is a story about the third annual Job Clinic. Under the direction of Philip J. Brockway, student aid and placement director, the clinic is designed to give seniors, soon to be faced with the problem of finding a job, some tips on how to make the best impression on a prospective employer.

Perhaps that is stating Brockway's purpose too lightly, but that is as it appears to us. And the need, as we see it, is great.

Despite the fact that Brockway's "pupils" will be fourth-year college students, how many of them can write a good letter of application, stating their qualifications in the most persuasive style and in the right order? How many could not use some tips on how to stress their good points in personal interviews? And how many actually know their good qualities, the ones that employers will look for?

Just to be familiar with the types of application forms used by most companies and the typical routine of a personal interview is well worth the few hours students will spend learning about them.

We know of only one or two fields in which jobs are so plentiful that there is little or no competition for them. It is safe to say that most jobs are still won on a competitive basis.

Employers still select the applicant that makes the best all-around impression. A college degree is no guarantee of a good job. We hear of men who graduated from Maine last June who are still seeking their first employment. Perhaps they are too fussy, or perhaps they are isolated cases. But we still believe that a person can't prepare himself too much, that so often the little things—like a well-written letter or a correct answer to an interview question—mean the difference between a good job and a mediocre job, employment and unemployment.

It's only a thought, but with everyone and his second cousin tossing bouquets at the football team and coaches for bringing Maine its first undefeated football season, they have conspicuously neglected the little state ward who was chained to a post on the 20 yard line. We hereby pitch a few posies to the bear—Bananas VIII for a day—who mascoted Maine in last Saturday's debacle.

Disa And Data

By STAN FERGUSON

Roman holidays must have been rather dull affairs. The Maine Homecoming week end carried all the glamour, pageantry, and excitement of the Circus Maximus—only more so. Who in blazes could possibly hold to the idea that a chariot race could out-do that Maine-Bowdoin game for chest-busting excitement?

The strait-jacket has been removed from that audacious person who picked the score at 40 to 14. Who is he? Darned if we know. But somewhere in this land he roams free, smiling the smile of smug satisfaction, on speaking terms with the guardian of Hal Westerman's kismet; from fool to sage in one week end.

The product of a man's ability is not always a reliable reference to his character. In the case of our football coach, however, his work with the team, the organization, the discipline, the fine spirit, and the result give a wonderfully accurate portrayal of the man. No more sincere, hardworking, honest or likeable person walks the campus.

And where under the sun are there bouquets enough to pay proper homage to his efforts in this, his first year as head coach?

Congratulations, coach, and stick around the U. of M. for a long, long, long time.

Maine Names: Phil Coulombe, George Grey, Martin Hagopian, Rabbit Dombkowski, Jack Zollo, Paul Lamoreau '26 capt., Larry Mahaney, Chub Clark...all here for Homecoming and enjoying themselves immensely.

The Union building is officially under construction, which is fine. But don't you wish that some dollars were also going into an expansion of seating facilities around Alumni Field? "I'd love to go to the game, but cripes, you can't get a decent seat." Heard this?

Check in with Doc Rankin for the most refreshing philosophy of sports we've heard in a long time. Doc believes that a properly organized and conducted athletic program has a real academic contribution to make in the school curriculum. Seek him out.... and get educated.

He's a member of the losing team, but one name headed the discussions along Fraternity Row after the game —Jim Decker.

Hear This...

Bird's Eye View

Forestry students will soon have new aerial photographs of Marsh Island, on which the campus is located. New pictures, taken recently by James W. Sewell Company of Old Town, will also be used in geology, soil conservation, and engineering courses.

The first aerial photos of this type were taken in 1946 when a course in forest photogrammetry was inaugurated in the forestry department. In 1949 additional photos were taken for research purposes.

Virtually all of the timberlands in large holdings in this state have been photographed from the air because information on the forest lands can be obtained less expensively than by the conventional ground cruising method.

Original pictures for the university were taken with infra-red film at an altitude of 10,800 feet, but those taken recently were made on panchromatic film at the same altitude. Infra-red film is generally used for summer pictures and panchromatic for fall pictures to obtain the greatest detail.

The Jolly Greeks Again

This week will mark another first in University of Maine tradition.

On the basis of a vote taken at last week's Interfraternity Council meeting, fraternity pledges will devote one day of Hell Week, which began today, to a program of civic improvements in Bangor, Old Town, and Orono.

The idea of a constructive Hell Week originated last year at Maine in Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

The members of the fraternity donated the services of their pledges to the town of Orono, where they were kept busy cleaning and painting the interior of the Town Hall.

Art Hathaway, this year's president of Sigma Phi Epsilon, is chairman of the committee in charge of the council's program.

The purpose of the program is to aid the communities in brightening up their appearance, and at the same time to combat some of the ill feeling that has been expressed lately towards fraternities.

Foreign Farmers Here

Twenty-four students from Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, France, and Iceland began a special three-week course in U. S. agricultural methods here Monday.

Already active in agricultural work in their own countries, the young men will return to their homes after the completion of their program, Dec. 1. Many will become extension service agents there.

The group will divide their time here into two sessions per day. Morning sessions will include discussions of relations between education and agriculture here in the U. S.

Their afternoon will be spent in intensified training in farming methods, primarily in potato and dairy farming.

The program, which is sponsored partly by ECA and partly by two agencies of the Department of Agriculture—the Extension Service and the Office of Foreign Agriculture relations—has handled the training visits of 254 students this year from nine countries.

The boys have spent from six to eight months on farms throughout the country, earning from $60 to $80 a month. They pay all of their own expenses except a part of their transportation within the country and their tuition at the University.

On With The Show

By MARJORIE WYLDE

Harvey has left our fair campus after what he said was a very stimulating week end. Before he went, he asked us to deliver a message. He wants to thank his audiences for the enthusiastic reception they gave the play...and most particularly, he wants to thank those who laughed good, hard, and long.

"You know," Harvey explained, "the better the audience, the better the play. So if the play's funny, laugh and laugh loud; if the play's sad, weep unashamedly (I have pink eyes, why can't you?). You'll get more for your money, and a good audience repays the actors for the hard work they've put into the production."

Next Masque production will be another comedy, "Jenny Kissed Me"...which leads to an urgent call for tech crew people. So what if you can't tell a flat from the floor—you'll learn.

Jan Pratt is tech director for this show. If you're interested get in touch with her at South Estabrooke or drop by 330 Stevens Hall to sign up....

More news on the Maine Masque

Talent Pool: All social chairmen who want entertainment for parties, banquets are invited to notify Bill White, Phi Kappa Sigma, or Eini Riutta, the Elms. They'd like to have notice of at least a week, preferably two.

On tap now are singing and dancing acts, skits, and humorous monologues—all free of charge.

And don't forget, if you have any talent you'd like to contribute, get in touch with these same people....

Prof. Herschel Bricker will address the National Theatre Conference in New York on the relation of the Maine Masque Theatre to the community. Other speakers on the program are Prof. Lee Norville, University of Indiana, and Prof. Barclay Leatham, Western Reserve University....

Readings for "Jenny Kissed Me" were held last Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights.

If you would like to try out for a Masque play but are nervous about it, don't be. Nobody has to get up all alone on the stage under glaring lights. A group of people read together, and nobody has any special advantage.

Bears Smash Bowdoin For First Undeclared Season

Bear Facts

By BILL MATSON

It seems good to get back on the sports page again, but without further ado, let's get on with the campus sports outlook.

By now the newness and shine of the undefeated season is wearing off and talk of Hal Westerman's magnificent Black Bears has quieted down among members of the student body. But, it is a foregone conclusion that loyal alumni as far back as '02 will be talking about the team, the game, and the wonderful time they had during the 51st Homecoming celebration.

Without question, this year's University of Maine football team was one of the strongest to tread on Alumni Field in many a year. Names like Pocius, Sturgeon, Pendleton, Whytock, Burgess, Easton, Richardson, and others will go down in university football lore along with the Brices, Nannigans, Barrows, Domkowskis, Zollos, Works, Lamoreaus, and scores of other familiar names.

There was nary a fan in the jam-packed stands on that glorious Saturday afternoon who had anything but admiration for the mighty show of power displayed on both offense and defense by the determined and inspired Maine warriors. All these superlatives and flowery phrases were well earned, too.

Every player who participated in the epoch-making contest against Bowdoin worked long and hard for a right to his position. Out there on the practice field, in fair or foul weather, the players typified the spirit of the Maine squad.

As one player so well put it, "There's a new spirit at Maine. It started with Nelson, and under Hal it really blossomed out. The players can feel it, as evidenced by the great play most of the fellows turned in this year. And now, the students generally are realizing that there are other things besides good football players that make a team a winning one."

And before any more words of praise are written, let us not forget for one minute, the importance of the work that was done by three guys named Tubby Raymond, John Maturo, and Bob Hollway. These three energetic young men constitute the Bear's assistant coaches. The friendly Tubby, for example, never saw Maine play until the clincher with Bowdoin, because he was so busy scouting the teams of future Maine opponents.

Yes, it's a great bunch of players and coaches that represented the University of Maine on the football field this year. The team played hard, clean football, and was in every way, a credit to the school. The Bowdoin game was just the climax to the most successful season in the history of University of Maine football.

Two championships, the State Series and the Yankee Conference, will be Maine's to defend next year.

The only worry we have is that some of the key players, the three-year veterans who instilled their desire to win and play clean football in other members of the squad, will graduate in June. To them, we raise our hat to a job well done.

Basketball Team To Play Opener At Bates Dec. 5

The Black Bear basketball machine will roar into action for the first time this season on Dec. 5 when Coach Rome Rankin and his forces clash with the Bates Bobcats at Lewiston.

"The squad looks good," were the words of the genial mentor this week, commenting on the progress of the boys.

Working out in the forward positions are returning letterman Woody Carville, sophomores Ray Kelley and Jim Orino, plus Bill Rivers, Dick Smith, and Larry Sinclair.

Candidates for the guard posts include veteran-letterman Jack Christie; Joe Saunders and Bunny Parady, both of last year's squad; and Bob Nixon and Al Philbrick, promising sophomores.

Bob Churchill, another letterman and veteran of last season's quintet, and Bill Callinan are the boys battling for the pivot position.

Johnny Norris, ex-Bangor High court star and transfer from Georgetown University, is also on the squad but will not be eligible to participate in State Series competition until the second semester.

Women's Sports

By LORRIE SKOLFIELD

The first round of the badminton doubles tournament has been played. Twenty-three couples participated. Games are played in the women's gym week-day afternoons from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturday mornings.

Soccer practice began today under the managership of Dolores Amergian. Practices will be held daily on the hockey field.

The Women's Phys Ed Department has accepted an invitation to the Farmington Playday to be held at Farmington on Saturday, Nov. 17. Ten representatives will be sent from here.

Jean Bagley is making plans for the coming basketball season which will open on Thursday, Nov. 29, with a basketball jamboree.

Joe Alex, Maine defensive halfback, prevents a Bowdoin TD as he successfully knocks down a Jim Decker pass about to be taken by Polar Bear halfback Roger Levesque. Alex, who was previously on the injured list, was a vital cog in the Black Bear pass defense. Staff Photo by DuPont

Pale Blue Cross Country Squad Will Run IC4A's In New York

Coach Chester Jenkins' varsity cross country State Series Champions will run in the IC4A's to be held at Van Cortland Park in New York City next Monday. A full squad of seven men will make the trip.

The Maine Harriers, who last Monday placed fifth in New England competition at Boston, are working hard this week in preparation for the final contest. Six of the seven men who will accompany Coach Jenkins to New York are: Captain Dick Dow, Carlton McLean, Bill Hirst, Mal Osborn, Ed Perry, and Colwyn Haskell. Seventh place will be decided this week in time trials between Dave Beppler and John Randall.

From a field of 108 runners in the New England competition at Boston, Captain Dick Dow placed tenth and sophomore Carlton McLean came in nineteenth. According to Coach Jenkins, who had expected that the team would do somewhat better, some of the difficulty could be attributed to the poor starting spot drawn by the Pale Blue squad. The team was placed in the middle of the runners lined up for the gun and the race started at an exceptionally fast pace. This naturally crowded the runners in the center as the field narrowed down in the first mile.

Coach Jenkins was pleased with the showing of his frosh squad who placed three men within the first twelve. Fred Libby paced the frosh by taking fifth place in a field of 78 runners.

The team placed fourth among the contenders for Yankee Conference honors in the New England race and, in all probability, would have taken second spot if three of the teams had not used freshmen on their varsity squad. Mass., R. I., and Conn. all used freshmen who were among the better runners. Maine does not use freshmen in varsity competition.

Frat Assessments Upped By IMAA

At the Nov. 6 meeting of the Intramural Athletic Association it was voted that the individual fraternity assessment for participation in intramural sports be increased to $15 per year.

Article 6, section 1, of the organization's constitution was changed to read as follows: "The financial resources of the Association shall be an annual assessment of ten dollars ($10) for each dormitory and off campus team and fifteen dollars ($15) for each fraternity team which shall be paid on or before the date of the second regular meeting. An assessment of $5 per sport for each off-campus team competing to a total of $10."

Key Injuries Fail To Stall Maine Attack

By BEN TUCKER

Hal Westerman's Black Bears are champions. Even the great Adam Walsh had to admit that after the 40-14 drubbing his Bowdoin charges sustained last week end on Alumni Field.

Besides copping two crowns, Yankee Conference and State Series, Maine rolled through its first undefeated season in history—a real accomplishment in this day of bribes, fixes, injuries, and ineligibilities.

Early Game Injuries

It was in this first quarter that Maine lost the services of Gene Sturgeon and Gordon Pendleton, ace quarterback and fullback respectively.

Bogdanovich and McCann alternated carrying the leather and on third down with a few yards to go, quarterback Novick, fooled the Bowdoin defenders with a short pass to standout end Bob Whytock, who sped 35 yards to the end zone for the second Maine TD. Brown kicked the point making it Maine 13, Bowdoin 0.

Bowdoin Attempts Rally

A penalty dropped Maine back deep in its own territory and when Pendleton fumbled the pass on an attempted kick, the Polar Bears took over on the Maine 16. This was a break that Bowdoin cashed in on. In two plays Bishop, Bowdoin piledriver, smashed through the Bear stone wall for a score. Levesque made the conversion attempt good.

Jack Butterfield, who ran punts back beautifully all day, slithered 44 quick yards to the Polar Bear 23 on this return. After an exchange of fumbles Pendleton and Bogdanovich banged at the Bowdoin door until it opened for the third time during the first half. Maine now led 20-7 as Brown converted.

With Decker filling the air with footballs, the Walshmen moved deep into Black Bear territory. On fourth down Milliken tried a sweep of the Maine line from ten yards out and just missed scoring as he was bumped out of bounds by Alex, a sure tackler all afternoon.

Novick Spurs Attack

In the final quarter Maine really rolled as Novick mixed his attack with the poise of a veteran. The Walshmen gambled with Decker tossing deep in his own territory and Maine covered sharply, recovering on the Bowdoin 20. It took the Black Bears just a few plays to push over another tally. This time little Bill McCann scored from 15 yards out.

Two minutes later Decker was trapped in his own end zone as Cox belted him and Breen recovered the flying pigskin in the scramble. It was a TD for Maine. Brown kicked the point after. It was 33-7. Just a few minutes later Bill Grove intercepted for Maine and raced to the Bowdoin four.

Novick went over from here; Brown converted making it 40-7. The Polar Bears tallied in the waning minutes when Cockburn hurled a long spiral to Milliken who outran a Maine backup. Levesque ended all the scoring with his point after. The final score Maine 40 Bowdoin 14.

Varsity Coach Rome Rankin has issued the call for all Freshman basketball candidates to report at Memorial Gymnasium next Monday at 5:30 p.m.

Within The Walls

By PERLESTON PERT, JR.

In the final intramural football game of the season, Phi Kappa Sigma scored an 18-to-0 victory over North Dorms 9 and 10 to become the 1951 campus champion.

Mixing its plays smartly, the Phi Kap team used running plays in moving into scoring position and then took to the air to score the touchdowns. The fraternity squad registered a touchdown in each of the first three periods.

The accurate passing of Paul Beaudry and Bob Berry, the running talents of Jack Curry and Walt Pooler, and the pass-catching abilities of Johnny Gowen and Bob Blethen were all important factors in the Phi Kap victory.

Offensively, Ted Maher shone for the dorm team, while Bob Harmon and Howie Low stood out on defense.

On the basketball front, faculty director Sam Sezak has announced that a total of 39 teams have entered a roster. Seventeen of the teams represent the fraternities on campus, while the other 22 represent the dormitories, cabins, trailers, etc.

This year, according to Sezak, all the teams will be placed into one of two divisions. One division will be made up entirely of fraternity teams, and the other will contain all the non-fraternity teams.

All fraternity teams will compete within the same league. The non-fraternity teams will be split up into either the American League or National League.

The winners of the two leagues in the non-frat division will play off for the division title, and the division finalist will battle it out with the fraternity division title winner for the campus championship.

According to Sezak, the intramural basketball season will probably start on November 26.

Freshman Rules And Beanies Lifted After Annual Hatgames

By REGINALD BOWDEN

Now that the freshmen have been accepted into campus society without restriction, most of them are in agreement that those rules and beanies they have been subjected to for the past eight weeks weren't so bad after all. As a result of the annual "hatgames" held last Saturday morning as a part of Homecoming activities frosh rules and beanies have been packed away for another year.

The Sophomore Owls had little to hoot about after the mauling they received from the freshman boys in back of the field house. What was intended to be merely a rope pull turned out to be a mudslinging melee between a handful of sophs and a sizeable number of blue caps, with several unfortunates escaping minus pride, and essential articles of clothing. This episode, which was refereed by Carl Wight and Lenny Silver, brought an unceremonious climax to the friendly divergencies that have existed between the two classes this fall.

The freshman girls were less successful in their attempt to honorably better their sophomore rivals in a game of field hockey earlier in the day on the Women's Athletic Field and thus rid themselves of their unbecoming millinery. The Eagles took pity on them, however, and all freshman rules have been officially relaxed for the class of '55.

Late Housemother Of Delta Tau Dies

Mrs. Marguerite Finney Cowan, 65, housemother at Delta Tau Delta from September, 1946, to June, 1951, died in Hampden on Nov. 8 after a long illness.

Funeral services were held Nov. 11 in Orono.

Maj. Richard Pierce, Ace Korean Flier, Is Maine Graduate

Maj. Richard H. Pierce, class of 1941, has racked up an impressive record in the current fighting in Korea. Maj. Pierce, rated as top man in the First Marine Air Wing's "Flying Nightmares" Squadron, has flown 68 combat missions in the past six months. Sixty-four of these have been at night.

Pierce, who makes his home in Rye, N. Y., is married and has a 4-year-old daughter. The 35-year-old major was a transport pilot in World War II, hopping from island to island and base to base with supplies. He switched to his Grumman F-7-F Tiger Cat because he "couldn't see any future in transport flying."

Major Pierce, who is also serving as executive officer of his outfit, entered the U. of M. in 1937 and was graduated in 1941. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.
