Phones Here Go On New Toll System

Extended Service To Start Saturday

Telephone users in the University community will have access without toll charge, to approximately 16,900 additional telephones on March 22 with the change-over to a new dial system.

This extended area service, effective at 11:58 p.m. Saturday night, required the changing of all Orono numbers.

The telephone company issued the following instructions to Orono area subscribers to forestall any difficulties that might arise during the change-over:

- (1) To reach Bangor, dial 9 plus the listed Bangor number.
- (2) To reach Old Town, dial the listed Old Town number.
- (3) For all out of town calls from coin telephones, dial operator.
- (4) Consult the new directory for all calls since all numbers have been changed in many exchanges.
- (5) During the night of March 22 dial operator if you have any difficulty in reaching a Bangor, Old Town, or

The University's new phone number, effective March 22, will be 6-4441. With few exceptions fraternity and dorm numbers will be the old number preceded by 6-4. For example, the number at North Dorm No. 1 will change from 401 to 6-4401.

Orono number since it may take a few hours for the company to complete all arrangements.

The University's on-campus dial telephone system will go into effect on campus at 11:58 p.m., May 23, Business Manager Henry Doten said this week.

The following new numbers for night calling will be in effect at midnight, March 22: Night Watchman, 6-3540; Winslow Hall & Library, 6-3640; Heating Plant, 6-2740; Infirmary, 6-2540; Registrar, 6-4446; Publicity, 6-4447.

Campus departments will receive instructions shortly before the actual changeover is made.

Maine Day Work Is Now Under Way

Preparations for Maine Day got under way yesterday afternoon at a meeting of committeemen in Dean John Stewart's office. The meeting was for organizational purposes, said Maine Day chairman, John Skillin.

Although the general procedure is the same as in the past, several changes have been made. One change is the plan to give students a chance to suggest projects for Maine Day.

May 14 has been set aside as Maine Day this year. As has happened in previous years, students and faculty will combine their efforts in constructive projects on campus.

Prof. Richard Hill has a committee at work making plans for the faculty skit which will be presented in Memorial Gym.

Women's Dean Going To Coast For Panel Talk

Dean Edith G. Wilson waits table to aid Goodwill drive.

Dean Edith G. Wilson will travel to Los Angeles during the spring vacation to participate in a panel discussion on "group dynamics."

The panel will be held at a national conference of deans of women, vocational advisors, and other group leaders. The conference will take place at the Biltmore Hotel.

The study of "group dynamics" is, according to Dean Wilson, the study of the forces which make for successful group meetings or that block group processes. She added that group dynamics includes the related fields of semantics, psychiatric understanding of behavior, and social psychology.

Dean Wilson, who teaches an advanced course in group work, says that some of the techniques of "group dynamics" are employed in the course.

The primary need for "group dynamics," Dean Wilson explains, is to help groups reach a common solution to problems, rather than just having the majority vote the minority down.

The Los Angeles panel will attempt to resolve some of the problems with which "group dynamics" are now faced.

Maine Wins Cup In State Debate Tilt

Varsity Speakers Tie For Top Honors

The University of Maine will receive a cup for its part in the annual State of Maine Varsity Debate Tournament held at Colby last week end. Maine debaters tied with Bates for first place.

Maine's affirmative speakers were Marguerite Floyd and Dalton Newell. The negative speakers were Mark Lieberman and George Hersey.

Professor Wofford G. Gardner of the speech department accompanied the team to Waterville.

Maine Wins Four

Maine and Bates each won 4 debates and lost 2. Bowdoin won 3 and lost 3. Colby won 1 and lost 5.

Lieberman and Hersey will represent Maine this week end in the Eighth District Regional Tournament in Albany, N. Y. This tournament, which takes in all of New England and the state of New York, leads to the National Tournament at West Point on April 24 to 26.

Lieberman and Hersey will compete in 6 rounds of debate. They will alternate, taking first the affirmative and then the negative stand. At the end of the six rounds, the eight highest ranking teams will enter a final round.

To Pick Four Teams

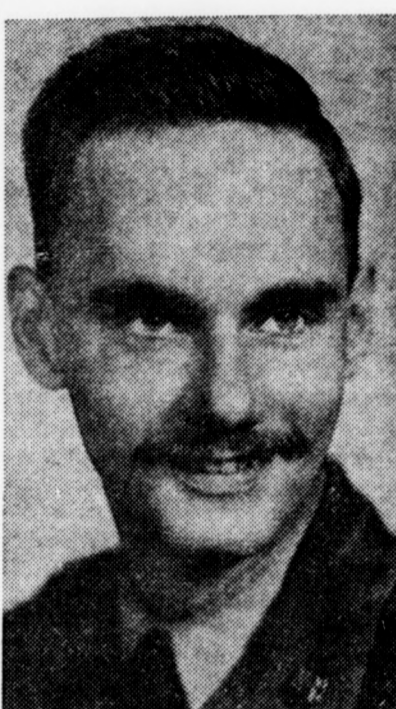

From this round, four teams will be chosen to represent the Eighth District at the National Tournament at West Point.

Last month, Hersey and Lieberman debated in Boston University's sixth annual debating tournament.

Hersey, a senior majoring in psychology, is from Bar Harbor. Lieberman is a sophomore from Bangor.

At Boston, Maine won over the U. S. Naval Academy, the University of North Carolina, and the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy. Maine lost to Brooklyn College, the University of Pennsylvania, and Princeton.

Korea Veteran Ralph Eye Tells Of Blood Need

Ralph Eye is here today because somebody donated blood.

Staff Sgt. Ralph F. W. Eye (U. S. Army, Ret.) is a student today at the University of Maine. About a year ago he finished his 32nd month in Korea. He is here today because somebody's blood probably saved his life.

A Bangor man, Ralph enlisted early in 1946. By September of that year he was in Korea.

Ralph became interested in combat intelligence, and by the time he left he had worked up to staff sergeant. In that period Ralph walked away from two jeep wrecks, but he had a closer call in August of 1948.

At that time he was stationed near the 38th Parallel. A faulty trip flare on which he was working exploded, burning his face and temporarily blind-

Masque Play In Second Night

The Maine Masque Theatre's production of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Ernest" goes into the second performance of its four-night run at 8:15 tonight in the Little Theatre.

The comedy, last staged by the Masque in 1926, is a period piece and will be presented in 19th century costume. Prof. Herschel Bricker is the director.

Three of the scheduled four performances, March 20, 21, 22, remain.

In Spring A Young Man's Fancy's Often Practical

The sweet breath of spring drifts across the campus tomorrow, bringing with it all the promise of summer. The warm air will fade the towering, grey drifts into glimmering pools of water, the soft rains will wash away the dirt of winter.

Where's my rubber boots!

Your blood may save that nice fellow who sat next to you in last year's class.

Blood Donors Being Rallied To Fill Quota

University Groups Coordinate Plans

The University's sororities and fraternities climbed aboard the Blood Drive bandwagon following a Tuesday afternoon meeting of their representatives with the Blood Drive Committee.

The purpose of the meeting was to coordinate all groups with the end purpose of getting pledges for blood donations.

Lt. Col. William M. Summers, head of the Military Department, opened the meeting. He spoke of the need for blood in the armed services and of the reasons for the drive that will be held here April 21-22.

Outlines Program

The Blood Drive Committee chairman, Dick Stillings, outlined the program as it related to the students.

This included a discussion of the arrangements for gathering pledges and distributing parents-consent forms to students between the ages of 18-21.

Stillings reported that President Arthur A. Hauck's pledge had been received last week. A total of 289 pledges have already been received according to the committee—217 from R.O.T.C. cadets and 20 from the military faculty.

Ten Co-eds Pledge Blood

Only 10 pledges had come in from co-eds. Stillings said that although pledges were continually coming in many more were needed to make the drive a success.

Certain age restrictions were outlined at the meeting. Persons through the ages of 21 to 59 may give blood by signing a pledge. Persons 18, 19, and 20 years old must have written consent from their parents. Anyone under 18 is not permitted to give blood in this drive.

When all the pledges have been received and processed, individual appointments will be scheduled by the committee. There is a place on the pledge card for the date and time the donor wishes to make his appointment.

The committee also reported a need for clerks and typists to keep records while the bloodmobile is here.

Students wishing to volunteer for these jobs may apply to Sid Young, 101 Oak Hall, who is in charge of liaison for the committee.

Inter-dorm Socials Begin Tomorrow

The first of a series of inter-dorm socials is set for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the lounge of Dunn Hall. The program, co-sponsored by the WSGA and the men's Dorm Council, stems from a lack of social activities for dorm men on campus.

Attending the party will be 14 girls from West Hall, one from the Elms freshman annex, and one girl from each of the upperclass dorms.

Polly Hilton is in charge of entertainment. Catherine Howe will supervise refreshments. Henry Paradis is in charge of decorations.

Two Phi Gams 'Pin' Movie Stars Jeff Donnell And Barbara Hale

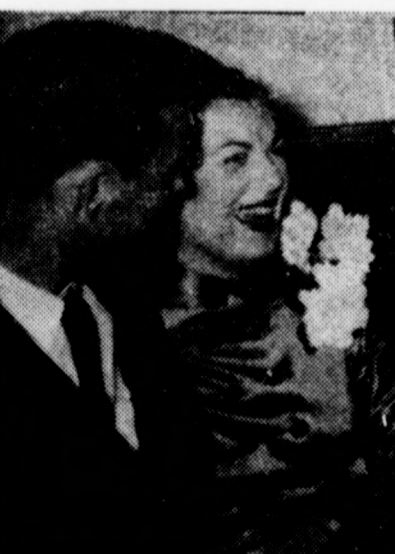

Phi Gamma Delta played host to Hollywood stars Barbara Hale and Jeff Donnell at a tea last Sunday evening.

The actresses, accompanied by their agent, Richard Stephens of Columbia, are on an extended tour of New England. Phi Gam's invitation was extended by Mike Conley and George McKenney.

The young ladies had been on campus a short half-hour when they were "pinned" by their hosts. Miss Donnell was pinned to Conley. Miss Hale was pinned to McKenney. Agent Stephens looked on and wondered, "How legal is it?"

Conley exhibited a great deal of nervousness in affixing his jewelry to

Drive Continued To Fill Unfilled Goodwill Chest

Six groups reached 100 per cent of their goal during the annual Goodwill Chest drive. They are the Home Management house, Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Mu Delta, and the Faculty.

As of last Tuesday morning, 1,438 gifts had been received bringing the amount up to $2,064, which was 62 per cent of the goal.

While the drive officially closed Friday, March 14, money is still being solicited from those areas which were slow in starting.

Drive officials expect further contributions from Corbett Hall, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Bangor, Oak Hall, Theta Chi, Orono, Hannibal Hamlin, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon to bring the total nearer the set goal.

Summer Students Should Apply Now

Students planning to attend the summer session of the University should apply and register as soon as possible, Dean Mark R. Shibles, director of the summer session, said this week.

Application forms and bulletins are now available at his office.

Your blood is needed in April.

Novelty Parties Feature Big Social Week End

By FRANK DION

There were five late-permission parties over the week end, all of them annual and successful fraternity events.

South Sea Island outfits, grass skirts and all, were the costumes of the evening as Phi Gam held its Fiji Island party. Fifty couples entered a thatched hut surrounded by palm trees with coconuts and bananas. Hay spread around the base of the trees added to the effect. Music was furnished by Jam Hawes' orchestra. Hans Thoma was in charge with chaperons being Capt. and Mrs. Leo J. Sullivan and Capt. and Mrs. Salvatore H. Casale.

Sigma Chi had 60 couples at its annual Naughty Nineties party. Decorations were in accordance with the theme. Sammy Saliba and orchestra played for the dance. Chaperoning were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Feeney and Lt. John D. Furkey and Miss Stella Berkowsky. Ben Freeman was in charge of arrangements.

Next door the Phi Etas and their dates were decked out in pirate costumes for the Buccaneer's Brawl. Decorations included muskets, ship wheels, fish nets,—a real pirate's den. Sixty-five couples attended. Ray McHenry's orchestra played, and Pat Theriault was in charge assisted by Ed McGibbon. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bartlett and "Ma" Cook.

At the northern end of campus 225 couples passed through the Theta Chi house during their Apache party. The house was decorated in cabaret style with candles and bottles on the tables. Large fish nets hung from the ceiling filled with balloons. On the walls there were murals depicting life in France. Striped "T" shirts, berets, moustaches, sideburns, bruises, bandages, and black skirts were part of the costumes seen throughout the evening. Bob Jones provided the music. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wylie and Mrs. McPherson chaperoned. Dirk Brown was social chairman.

Next door the Beta house was turned into a sidewalk cafe such as one finds in Paris. The French party was attended by 50 couples. French costumes were the order of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. William Gorrill and Dr. and Mrs. Percy A. Leddy chaperoned.

Hal Thomas was in charge of decorations. Bill (Hokey) Perry was in charge of over-all arrangements for the dance.

Tri-Delt held its annual Fashion Show on Saturday afternoon in the Louis Oakes room before a capacity audience. The latest spring fashions, from suits to coats to evening gowns and dresses, were shown. Cynthia Dunham served as commentator. Models included Jane Noyes, Margaret Paton, Barbara Mason, Joan Vachon, Laura Little, Joan Huston, Joan Leach, Helen Pendleton, Dorothy Leonard, Vonelle Leonard, and Patrician Parsons.

Sigma Nu held a vic dance in their game room on Saturday evening. Approximately 40 couples attended with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Rich chaperoning.

The Chi Omegas will hold an informal coffee in Carnegie Hall from 3:30 to 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Embassy Week, One Of 'Finest,' Ends With Panel

With a faculty panel on "Religion and Science—Reconciled?" last night, the University's observance of Embassy Week came to a close.

According to Rev. Charles E. O'Connor, Director of the SRA, this year's Embassy Program was "one of the finest ever sponsored by the University." He said, "The hard work of the committee in charge did much to make the program the success it was."

Using the theme of "God on Campus," the program was opened on Monday morning at an assembly addressed by Dr. John O. Nelson of the Yale Divinity School.

Speaking before a good gathering of students and faculty in the Memorial Gymnasium on the topic "Student, You have a Religion," Dr. Nelson defined religion as "the active response a person gives to the greatest power he knows."

He went on to say that every person has a religion whether he worships symbols of security like the job, car, or home, someone else's God, or a God of his own.

Panels conducted by the various religious and faculty leaders throughout the three-day program were among the highlights of the program.

Embassy leaders who participated in the panels besides Dr. Nelson were Miss Jean Fairfax, Rev. Albert C. Niles, Rev. Francis T. McGough, C.S.P., Rev. Leonard G. Clough, and Rabbi Bernard Honan.

Musical Festival To Be Held May 17

Invitations were sent this week to all high schools in northern and eastern Maine, asking them to participate in the Eastern Maine Music Festival at the University on May 17.

Prof. Lewis Niven, of the music department, is in charge of arrangements. An estimated 3,500 musical students will participate in all phases of group playing. Among these groups will be bands, orchestras, and glee clubs.

On Saturday evening, a combined orchestra, made up of the best musicians of all the schools, will present a concert in Memorial Gymnasium. This orchestra will be under the direction of a guest conductor.

Last year's festival was held in Brewer, under joint sponsorship with Bangor.

Dr. Charles A. Dickinson, professor emeritus of psychology, speaks today at a luncheon of the Bangor-Brewer Association of Social Agencies. His subject is "Habit Patterns in Relation to Every Day Living."

Stag Dance Forms Must Be In By May 1

Organizations wishing to schedule stag dances for next year are asked to apply in writing to the Social Affairs Committee, 207 Library before May 1.

Prof. Winston E. Pullen, chairman of the committee, said this week: "Dates will be assigned in order of receipt of application. However, those organizations that did not have a date during the preferential period last year, from the opening of school to Homecoming, will receive special consideration."

Blood will tell.

Scholarship Funds Accepted

Two new scholarship funds have been accepted by the University's trustees.

One is a bequest by the late Will R. Howard of Belfast. The other is $5,000 from the estate of Frank P. Morison of Corinth.

Mr. Howard, a former member of the Alumni Association Council, left a portion of his estate to establish "a scholarship fund for deserving students whose homes are in Belfast, and who are in need of financial assistance." The fund will be known as "The Will R. Howard Scholarship Fund."

Mr. Morison was associated with activities sponsored by the College of Agriculture. His will stipulates that the income from his bequest is to be used to establish the Frank P. Morison Scholarship Fund.

Prof. Calkin To Preside

Prof. John B. Calkin, director of the Department of Industrial Cooperation, will preside over a national meeting of the American Chemical Society Tuesday, March 25, at Buffalo.

Insurance Panel Will Be Held Here Monday

The office of Student Aid and Placement will present a vocational panel on insurance careers on Monday, March 24, at 3:45 p.m. in 218 Library.

The panel is being arranged to give students of all classes better information on opportunities in the insurance field.

"Too much misinformation exists about insurance opportunities," said Philip J. Brockway, director of the Placement Bureau. "Many students feel that only sales openings are available. It is our hope that this panel meeting will broaden the outlook of the general student body."

Panel speakers will be Richard Boyd of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company and Laurence Usher and Raymond Wilson of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston.

Mr. Boyd is his company's agent for the State of Maine. Mr. Usher is in charge of training in the Claims Department of Liberty Mutual. Mr. Wilson represents the Underwriting Department of the same firm.

Each speaker will have 30 minutes. Questions and discussion will follow.

On the following day, company representatives will interview individual seniors interested in employment.

THE LADY AND THE LAW

Change is the first law of life. That applies not only to evolution, but to the psychology of dress. A woman, for instance, desires to be different not only from other women, but from herself. Even if a girl can't change her face, one good way of changing her pace is by varying her wardrobe.

A campus version of this quick-change act is the "7 Color" Sweater Wardrobe. By wearing a different sweater in a different color every day of the week, you give your appearance a refreshing lift constantly. You can knit these delightful sweaters by yourself by using "BOTANY" * BRAND NO-DYE-LOT YARNS. Made of beautiful, soft-spun, easy-handling 100% virgin wool... so luxurious to feel and look at. That Others May Live

On April 21-22 there will be a blood drive on this campus.

There is no need to explain the need for blood. Many of us have relatives and friends who are now in the armed forces. Many of these men have been wounded... others have been killed. Blood saved the lives of some... the lack of it killed others.

The blood drive at Maine is but one of many similar drives being conducted at colleges and universities throughout the country. The success of the drive will require the complete co-operation of the entire University community.

There has been some talk of the inadvisability of giving blood because of possible harmful effects. In particular, the question of possible harmful effects on co-eds has been raised. That, according to Red Cross officials, is a strictly local question—one that has not been raised anywhere else in connection with the campaign.

In a letter to the executive director of the Red Cross Chapter of Penobscot County, Dr. N. W. Faxon, medical director of the Massachusetts Regional Blood Program, states: "... Our experience from taking students from Mt. Holyoke, Wellesley, Smith, and other women's colleges where they have careful supervision by a hygiene department, or its equivalent, does not lead us or them to believe that any harm develops."

The simple medical facts of the matter, according to Dr. Faxon, are that:

- The volume of the withdrawal of blood is replaced within 5 to 96 hours depending upon the individual reaction.
- The hemoglobin regeneration after the removal of 500 cc. of blood is in the neighborhood of eight weeks. The average time was 49.6 days. Males showed an average increment of 0.049 gm. per 100 ml. per day and females 0.04 gm. The average drop in hemoglobin taken from the above information is 2.3 gm. per 100 cc. No donors having less than 12½ gm. of hemoglobin per 100 cc. are accepted for donations. If the donor had exactly 12½ gm. and lost 2.3 gm., he would still have 10.2 gm. per 100 cc. which would not be considered a serious anemia, since regeneration as mentioned above, would begin at once.
- The Red Cross uses the copper sulphate test for hemoglobin....

Those are the facts. Your conscience is your guide.

Wax Works

By DICK STEPHENS

Plenty of nice words from the music world have been tossed in the direction of Eddie Fisher, for his newest hit-parade contenders, "Forgive Me" and "That's The Chance You Take."

Eddie's "Anytime," tops on everyone's list of favorites, and way up on the Variety and Billboard polls for weeks, made the young singer one of the most demanded in the business. Now, with his new RCA Victor release, he has outdone his previous hits.

The new disc brings together with Eddie the smooth, rhythmic backing of Hugo Winterhalter and his Orchestra. This is the same combination which made "Anytime" so great.

"Forgive," with its slow tempo, has Hugo Winterhalter's usual sophisticated backdrop giving just the right support to Eddie's silky singing of the song's plea.

Overside is "That's The Chance You Take." Also in slow time, Hugo's trademark—violins and bass—carries a catchy accompaniment through the piece, giving accent to Eddie's romantic crooning.

It seems that Freddy Martin has about the most popular orchestra in the business right now. After making his great "come-back" a couple of years ago, he and his Martin Men have had solid booking all across the country. Currently at the Hotel Roosevelt, he has come up with two resounding novelties.

The first, "If You Don't Hug Her By Nine o'Clock," features the singing of Merv Griffin and chorus.

The reverse side has Murry Arnold in the spotlight as he sings about a colonel's daughter.

Bends In The Road

By BOB WILSON

It's the simple answer to things that is so often overlooked.

Coming down the library steps the other day we fell in with a chap who had just had a session with the Registrar's office on account of being on probation.

"I asked them," he said, "how they justified a point average requirement of 1.7, or whatever it is, when they had a range of grade values from 4 to 0. Someone is bound to get grades below 1.7."

We don't know how long this kept the Registrar's office at the pencil sharpener, but it should be obvious to Mr. Gannett that if no grades were assigned values less than 2 the problems of probation and eligibility would disappear into a thin academic atmosphere.

From the library we headed for a basement studio in North Stevens to face the embarrassing realism of our own down-east French accent on a wire recorder.

In the basement we ran into the psychology department's kindergarten members going through their pre-session hallway warm-up. For those who haven't seen this group, it consists of about two dozen four-and-five-year-olds falling roughly into classes: little monsters (male), and little angels (female). They are the children of students and faculty and serve as "specimens" for the child study laboratory.

One little monster was trying out a new word he had learned over the week end, we won't guess where. His technique was to rush up to within six inches of each newcomer arriving down the stairway and shout in his or her face. "You STINK!"

The effect was all that a monster could desire. His little victims were taken aback and in some cases downright startled. But he was to get his comeuppance.

The seventh or eighth victim was an angel with golden curls, tiny but possessed with an abundance of poise. Little monster rushed up to her, went through his routine, and waited for the usual effect. But something went wrong. The blonde mite merely stared at him with wide-eyed curiosity for a moment, and then—with what we swear was complete innocence of the semantics involved—asked:

"How do you know? Do you SMELL?"

Seedling English teacher! May the good Lord bless and keep her!

Freedom of Choice

Letter to the Editor: It has been driven into our heads all year—in fact for the past four years—that culture at the University, if not already dead, is dying. Take, for example, student attendance at the concerts held on campus. We students are told that our lack of attendance at such cultural functions is shameful. We turn out en masse to the basketball games, but we find other things to do when the Robert Shaw Chorale, for instance, comes to campus. And many of us, we are told, will some day be leaders of our community—a dismal prospect for the community.

And what is the reason for student apathy to concerts and the like? It is true that the fault lies partially with the students themselves, in overemphasizing sports and underemphasizing cultural opportunities. But on closer scrutiny, it seems to me that the Administration is also to blame for their overemphasis on sports. By this, I don't intend to give the impression that sports are unnecessary. Our athletic department should be supported and encouraged.

But, if the University is really concerned about the lack of attendance at concerts, why can't the students choose where they will contribute money to support their University? If a season ticket to the concerts costs four dollars, why can't we purchase that and contribute the remainder to the athletic department—thereby attending fewer games but also attending the concerts.

It is frustrating to carry about an unpunched activities' ticket and wish you had the necessary dollar and a half for the concert.

Some readers will recognize the germ of this letter as the result of a class discussion a few weeks ago. My defense is that such discussions are of importance to many people on campus who would not be reached through a classroom.

HAPPY ARMSTRONG

And Then There Were...

To the Editor: The General Student Senate sponsored an Open Forum last week. It represented to me the first genuine attempt that has been made in a long time to bring the issues to the public on the subjects of student government and student-faculty relations. Here was the chance for any student to make himself known on his pet gripes concerning either of the subjects I mentioned. Pure, direct democracy in action. The voter takes over, and at last has an opportunity to hold his elected student government body accountable for its actions—be they good or bad.

To take advantage of this opportunity no more than 50 students showed up. In the main, they were students who always show up at such meetings. The interested core of students who are trying to improve and better the lot of the student body. We hear talk of "student apathy" and "lack of interest"—those terms are complimentary for a student body which can only muster 50 at so important a General Senate function.

Support is the one expendable item that we all seem to be greedily holding. When the General Senate appeals again to the student body for its support in such beneficial undertakings, don't be so selfish with your support. Who knows, if we allow student government to take on a passive character, there may come a time when you might not be able to support it—even if you wanted to!

Korean Veteran Ralph Eye Tells Of Blood Needs

ing him in one eye.

Ralph returned to this country in November of 1948, and spent the next seven months at Fort Benning, Ga.,

He reenlisted in the summer of 1949 and was transferred to Gloucester (Mass.) High School as an instructor in R.O.T.C.

When the Korean war began in 1950, there was a need for men who had had experience in Korea. With 26 months' service in the area, Ralph fitted into this category. He headed overseas as an N.C.O. intelligence officer with the 7th Infantry Regiment, 3rd Div.

Attached To First Marine Division

Once on the peninsula, he was attached to the First Marine Division in charge of a scout section made up mostly of South Koreans. He fought with this outfit up to the Hwachon Reservoir. On Dec. 1, he was slightly injured by a spent rifle slug.

The big Chinese counter attack started about the same time. Twelve days later Ralph was wounded again, this time by a grenade blast that splattered him with shrapnel fragments.

He was immediately given blood plasma to prevent shock.

The transfusion prevented him from becoming a stretcher case and, despite his injury, he was able to stay with his section and hike out to the Hungnam Beachhead in the great "advance to the rear."

He was quickly put aboard the hospital ship "Consolation," and taken to a hospital in South Korea. He tried to rejoin his outfit but the results of his past injuries were enough to send him back to the States.

Ralph didn't want to leave the service so the Army placed him on the retired list and offered to send him to school until he was able to return to duty. Ralph is at Maine now, studying history and government. He likes it here but is looking forward to the time when he can resume regular army work.

Quick Praise For Blood Program

Ralph was quick in his praise for the blood program. "People don't seem to realize what a fine thing it is," he said. "It increases greatly the chances of recovery. Evacuation of the wounded in Korea is usually a difficult job. The wounded are given blood even before they reach the aid stations and this in itself has saved thousands of lives."

He finished by telling of the pint-sized soldier who walked into the blood bank of a Yokohama hospital where many of the soldier's fellow patients were giving their blood.

"Step right over here and make your donation," said the doctor.

"Donation, hell," piped up the little man, "I want to make a withdrawal."

WSGANarrows Women's Watch Field To Ten

The Women's Student Government Association Council considered 20 entries for the senior watch award at last week's meeting. The watch is given by Portland Alumnae to the woman in the graduating class who has contributed most to the University.

The Council eliminated ten names last week. At the next meeting they will choose the final slate of five names. These names will be voted upon at the spring election.

The Red Cross in Bangor has requested U. of M. women to volunteer for work at the Blood Center, Beverly Pettengill, acting president of the WSGA announced. She said that the work does not require experience.

The Council elected Muriel Marcoux to be in charge of volunteers. Girls who are interested in the work should tell their house presidents or Miss Marcoux at North Estabrooke.

Annual Farm, Home Week Begins March 31

Farm and Home Week will be ushered in Monday evening, March 31, with a program in the Women's gymnasium.

Principal speaker of the evening will be Fred J. Nutter, Maine's commissioner of agriculture. State 4-H Club leader, Kenneth C. Lovejoy, of the Maine Extension Service, will speak on the same program. Several numbers by the Kennebec County homemaker's chorus will complete the evening session. Dean Arthur L. Deering will preside.

The Farm and Home Week program will last for four days, March 31-April 3, and will include notable speakers from various parts of the United States who will discuss subjects of interest to homemakers and farmers.

Bear Facts

By Keith Ruff

In the way of a post-mortem on the basketball season, we note that the University of Connecticut took top honors in Yankee Conference competition with a 6-1 record. This marks the fourth YC basketball crown for the Huskies in the last five years.

Rhode Island's 6-2 mark was good for runner-up honors. Maine finished down in fifth place with a 2-6 record. With only one of Maine's starting five, Capt. Jack Christie, slated for graduation, Coach Rankin could well have more to cheer about next year.

In the individual scoring race, University of Massachusetts hoop ace Bill Prevey stood head and shoulders above the competition with a glittering 24.3 game average. Maine's skyscraper, John Norris, was fifth in this department with a very decent 15.4 average. Big John's teammates Bob Churchill and Jack Christie ended their YC play with 14.2 and 10.1 marks respectively. Norris and Churchill also were voted positions on the 2nd string All-Yankee Conference Team. This team is selected by vote of the Conference coaches.

Arousing considerable interest around campus and fierce pride throughout this part of the state was the showing of Eastern Maine high school teams in tournament basketball play. Old Town in class L, Milo in class M, and Beals in class S reign as state champs in their respective divisions. MCI of Pittsfield steamrollered all opposition to win the state Prep School crown.

Wes Hussey, coach of the flashy Milo club, is remembered by many of us as a member of Maine's State Champion team of 1950. Wes probably would have seen a lot more action with the Bears had his ability not been overshadowed by the greatness of Charlie Goddard.

Lots of folks around campus will be sorry to hear that a real good Joe is leaving soon. Sergeant Eastwood of the Military Dept. left Sunday for Fort Devens, Mass. There he will undergo a Combat Indoctrination Course in preparation for duty in Korea. In addition to his ROTC duties at Maine for the past four years, Sarge Eastwood has coached the Varsity, Freshman, Women's and ROTC Rifle Teams.

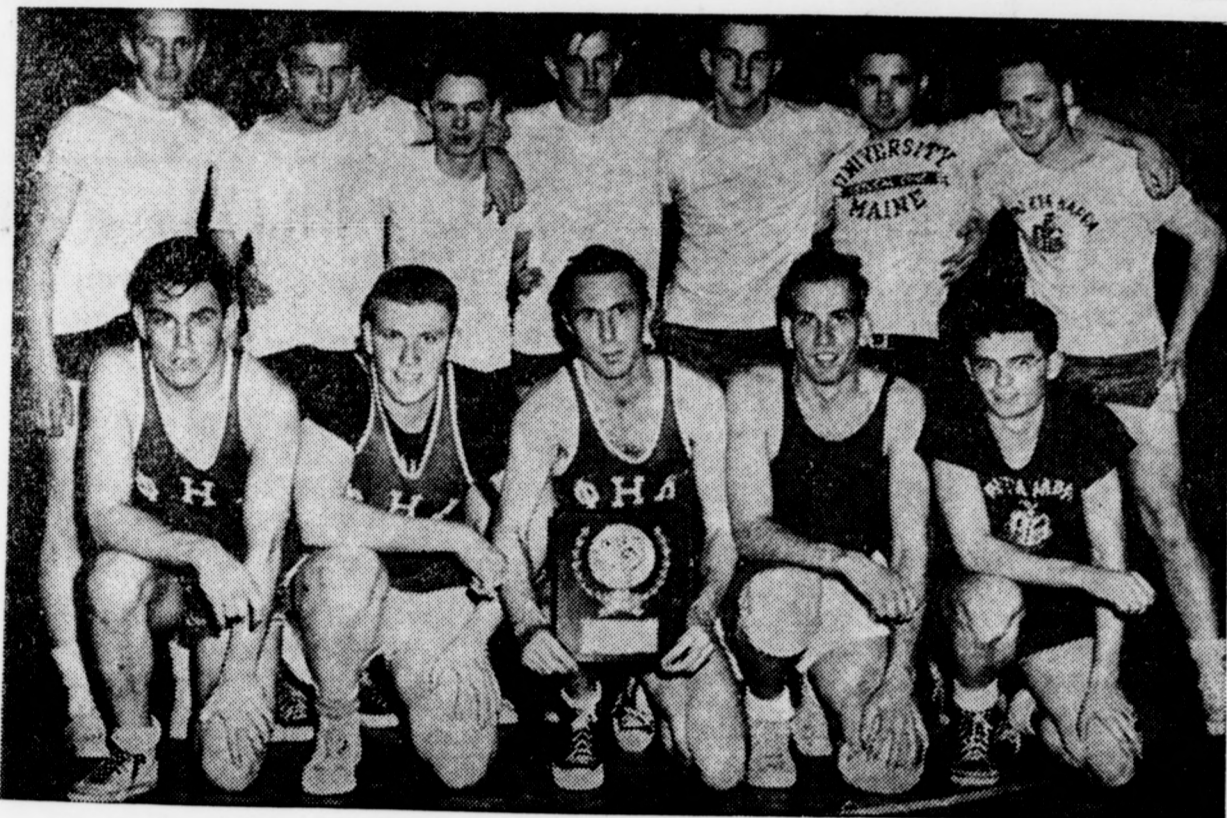

The Sergeant has also served as announcer at the field house track meets this winter. Now 35 years old, he has been on active duty with the U.S. Army for almost 16 years. He served 14 months in the Pacific Theatre during World War II and took part in the Philippines Liberation on Leyte and Cebu. Eastwood will return to Maine next week to await orders for overseas duty. Here's wishing Sarge Eastwood the best of luck.

Coach Raymond has been priming his baseballers for the five-game Spring Vacation jaunt to points South. The trip should serve two constructive purposes: to whip the team into shape for the fast-approaching regular season, and to help select the Varsity material needed to round out the squad.

Raymond has a six-letterman nucleus around which to build his 1952 team.

Fresh from competition in the Golden Ski Races at Bald Mountain, three University students are planning to enter the National Downhill and Slalom Championship races at Stowe, Vermont, soon. These men are Bob Irish, Maine Varsity skier, and Freshmen Robin Upton and Brooks Whitehouse.

Handball Teams Hold Play-offs

It will be the fraternity champ versus the dormitory champ on the handball court tonight to decide the campus championship.

The end of regular season play found three teams tied for first place in each league of the fraternity division and a clear-cut triumph for Dunn 1 in the dormitory division.

Tied for the sunspot in the Northern League were Beta Theta Pi, Phi Eta Kappa, and Tau Epsilon Phi, each with five wins and one loss. Southern Leaguers ATO, Phi Gamma Delta, and Phi Mu Delta all ended with identical records of six wins against one loss.

Dunn 1 went undefeated in six games to sweep the dormitory title. Action this week included the fraternity tie playoffs on Monday and Tuesday nights and the fraternity championship match last night.

Cliff Nielson Named President Of M Club

Other new M Club officers are Dave Wiggins, vice president; Ellis Bean, secretary; Brad Maxwell, treasurer; and Bill Hirst, corresponding secretary.

Maine Boxers Cop Three Titles

Three University students punched their way to championships in their respective weight classes in the Eastern Maine Fourth Annual American Legion Amateur Boxing Tournament held in Bangor Friday night.

Joe McBrine, a classy, hard-hitting, light-heavyweight, took top honors in his division with a first-round knockout over his first opponent. In his second match, the rangy McBrine again ended proceedings in the first round with a Technical Knockout.

Phi Etas Capture Hoop Crown, To Seek State Honors Saturday

By Perlestone Pert, Jr.

Phi Eta Kappa squeezed out a 48-to-45 victory over Phi Gamma Delta last Thursday night to win the 1952 fraternity intramural basketball championship.

The victorious Phi Eta squad will travel to Lewiston on Saturday to vie for the state intramural championship. The team will meet the winner of the Bates-Bowdoin intramural contest which will be played there Friday night. This is the first championship of this kind to be determined on a state-wide basis. Phi Eta will play at 4 p.m. Saturday.

The intramural win here was the sixteenth without a defeat for the Phi Etas. It was the second loss in 15 starts for the Phi Gams.

By winning the title, Phi Eta gains possession of the Intramural Athletic Association basketball plaque.

Led by Lefty Clark who was high man for the night with 13 points, the Phi Etas took period leads of 12-10, 21-18, and 35-26 to stay ahead of the defending champions all the way. With three minutes left and the score, 46-39, Phi Gam started to connect with a series of sets and driving layups, but the rally fell short as Phi Eta successfully froze the ball until time ran out.

In the scoring department, it was Clark, Del Beckwith, Bob Whytock, Joe Wall, and Jerry Hallee for Phi Eta. Clark pushed them in one-handed from any position, while Beckwith was all over both boards to grab and tap in rebounds. Whytock at guard and Wall at forward turned in steady floor games in addition to their scoring, and Jerry Hallee made an able substitute, scoring six points while he was in there.

For Phi Gam, Dick DiBiase was high man with 11 points. Paul LaFountain, Larry DeLois, Gene Sturgeon, and Marty Foley chipped in with good floor play and aided in the scoring.

Art Halliday and Stan Milton officiated the contest.

The box score:

PHI ETA (48)

Lf Wall 1 (5) rf Guioi 1 (1), Dean 1 (1); c, Beckwith 4, Hallee 2 (2); lg Whytock 3 (2); rg Clark 5 (3).

PHI GAM (45)

Lf Sturgeon 4; rf DiBiase 4 (3); c Cross 2, La Fountain 2 (3); lg Foley 3 (1); rg DeLois 4.

The last of the class games will be played this week to bring the basketball season to a close. These games include juniors vs. sophomores, seniors vs. freshmen I, freshmen II vs. sophomores, and seniors vs. juniors.

The standings are as follows: the sophomores are first with five wins, the seniors and freshmen I are tied for second place with four wins, freshmen II have three wins, and the juniors are in the tail spot with no wins.

Badminton practices will be held in the gym every afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30. A dormitory ladder tournament will begin after vacation. Sign up sheets have been placed in the dorms and will be taken down Wednesday, March 26.

Nominating sheets for sports managers and assistant managers have been placed in the dorms. These will be taken down Thursday, March 27. All those interested in being considered for these positions next year are asked to sign up.

Team Members Elect Captains For Next Year

By Dana Warren

Eighty-four University athletes, representing four varsity and three freshman teams, received letter and numeral awards at the annual sports award banquet in the New Cafeteria Tuesday night.

Team captains were elected by their respective team members. They are: Varsity track, Cliff Nielson; Varsity basketball, Jack Christie; Varsity ski, Grady Erickson; Varsity rifle, Norman Schlaack; Freshman basketball, George Burke; Freshman track, Bill Calkin; and Freshman rifle, Jay Potsdam.

Dick Dow, past-president of the M Club, served as toastmaster. Dow introduced the five coaches who spoke briefly on the outstanding events of the season and presented the team members with letter and numeral certificates.

Seven teams and managers received awards at the banquet. Thirty-five men received the major 'M' award while thirty-eight freshmen were presented with numerals. The minor 'M' award was given to eight members of the rifle team.

Those receiving a major 'M' were:

Varsity basketball: William F. Callinan, Linwood L. Carville, John W. Christie, Robert W. Churchill, Raymond J. Kelley, Robert E. Nixon, John J. Norris, James J. Orino, Bernard B. Parady, and Robert P. Rich (manager). Assistant managers Fred T. Breslin and Edward W. Hanson received "AMA" awards.

Miss Donnell's wrist, but McKenney manipulated the tiny clasps without a hitch for Miss Hale. During the pinning, McKenney was granted what is probably the most long-range date in campus dating annals. He is to teach Miss Hale to play golf on the Fourth of July.

Conley, preoccupied with the business of pinning, was unable to manage a similar appointment with Miss Donnell. His face once the pesky clasps had been secured, was a study in pleased relief.

The actresses were in Bangor as part of a publicity campaign to advertise the movie, "The First Time," in which Miss Hale and Miss Donnell have parts.
