THE MAINE CAMPUS

Published Weekly by the Students of the University of Maine

Vol. LV Z 265

Orono, Maine, October 1, 1953

Number 1

Al Grace, a junior majoring in engineering physics, burns the midnight oil as classes get underway.

Army Draft Poses Problems; Deferment Test November 19

"How do I stand with my draft board?" is a question frequently asked by the male students on campus.

In answer to this question the University Military Service Committee, headed by Dean of Men John E. Stewart, has released the following information:

"Every man, within 5 days after reaching his 18th birthday, must report to the office of his local board for registration. In the case of students at the University of Maine, this registration may be done at the local board in Bangor or with the town clerk in Orono rather than have the student go to his home town for this purpose.

"The Selective Service Act provides that a college or university student may not be inducted, once he has started his studies, until the end of his academic year. He must be a regularly enrolled student taking a full-time course."

Student's Eligibility

A student may become eligible for occupational deferment in two ways:

(1) By maintaining an academic standing in the upper half of the male members of the freshman class, the upper two-thirds of the male members of the sophomore class and the upper three-fourths of the male members of the junior class.

(2) By taking the Selective Service College Qualification Test and achieving a score of 70 or better. Results of the test are given to the student and to his draft board, but not to the University.

November 19

This year the test will be given on campus Thursday, Nov. 19. Applications for this test are now available in Dean Stewart's office, 105 Library.

These applications must be postmarked not later than Monday, Nov. 2. Another test will be given sometime in the spring.

Dean Stewart said in an interview, "Although these draft boards are not strictly bound to defer a student on the basis of these tests, they have rarely taken from school men who have passed them."

The student's draft board may request that he submit Form 109 which certifies that he is registered at the University giving his class standing. The Registrar, Mr. Harmon, will furnish these forms and fill them in for the student at his request.

Deferment Not Final

Dean Stewart reminds the students that a deferment is not a permanent exemption and that a student is subject to the call of his local draft board at graduation or at any other time the draft board considers it necessary or just. An exception to this case is an ROTC deferment which remains in effect unless cancelled by the military department.

Welcome

I greatly appreciate the opportunity afforded me by the Maine Campus to extend cordial greetings to all members of the University community.

At this beginning of our 86th academic year, our new Memorial Union serves to remind us again that we are the beneficiaries of the interest and devotion of many persons who through the years have worked for the advancement of the University. The people of Maine, through the State Legislature, have provided funds for instruction and research, and for many of our buildings. The voluntary gifts of alumni, students, faculty, and friends have added much to the beauty and usefulness of the campus, and have made possible an increasingly helpful student aid program. This support by government and by individuals affirms the faith that Americans have in higher education and expresses their confidence in each generation of students. We know that in the year ahead students on this campus will prove themselves worthy of their heritage, that 1953-54 will be a year of fine achievement in academic work and group living. Best wishes to each one of you.

Arthur A. Hauck
President

Prism Notice

Publication date of the Prism for the 1952-53 school year will be sometime in November, according to Paul Marcoux, editor.

The book will be mailed to all who bought a copy and have graduated or for some other reason have not returned to school, Marcoux said.

Secretary Of Interior Speaks Here Tomorrow At Morning Assembly

Event Climaxes Forestry's 50th— Pulp And Paper's 40th Anniversary

By JOE RIGO

A convocation address at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow (Friday) by the Honorable Douglas McKay, U. S. Secretary of the Interior, will highlight a double anniversary celebration to be held here this week end.

The Forestry Department will observe its 50th anniversary at the University with a three day program which began today. At the same time the Pulp and Paper Department, oldest in the nation, will hold its third annual "Open House" in conjunction with its 40th anniversary.

Both groups will be hosts to many visitors, with alumni and representatives of many of the country's major industrial and educational institutions among those who will come to the meetings.

Secretary McKay's convocation address will be in the Memorial Gym.

The Hon. Douglas McKay

Students and faculty, as well as those here for the anniversary observances, are invited to attend.

In honor of the anniversary program, the University will award five honorary degrees as part of the convocation program.

The University trustees will be among those attending the assembly. President Hauck will preside and there will be music by the band.

Secretary McKay, a veteran of both world wars, had extensive experience in Oregon state politics before his appointment to the cabinet by President Eisenhower in January.

Governor Of Oregon

He was a member of the state senate from 1935 to 1949 having served for two years prior to that as mayor of Salem, Ore. He was elected governor in November of 1948 and was reelected in 1950.

ASCE To Hold Dance

An informal dance will be held in the Women's Gym Saturday, Oct. 3. The dance is sponsored by the American Society of Chemical Engineers, Maine chapter. Music will be by Les Nadeau.

Rally Friday

The year's first rally will start off tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. with a torchlight parade from Balentine Hall to the Memorial Gymnasium.

Gorham Hussey of the Senior Skulls will open the program with a short talk. Rome (Doc) Rankin, director of physical education and athletics, will be the guest speaker.

Another Doc—Norman Brochu, campus mayor—will then take over the meeting to lead the students in a spirited rally aimed to boost the Maine Bears to victory over Vermont.

Promotions And Appointments Announced By President Hauck

President Arthur A. Hauck has announced eleven faculty appointments and 22 promotions effective this semester.

There were seven appointments in the College of Arts and Sciences, two in the College of Agriculture, and two in the College of Education. Of the 22 promotions, eight were in the College of Arts and Sciences, five in the College of Agriculture, eight in the College of Technology, and one in the College of Education.

College of Agriculture

Promotions:

Dr. George Cooper from assistant professor to associate professor of botany; Howard P. Bartlett from instructor to assistant professor of agricultural engineering; Dr. John H. Hawkins from associate entomologist to entomologist; and Charles E. Cunningham from assistant in agronomy to assistant agronomist.

Appointments:

Miss Mary Hitchcock, Media, Pa., assistant professor of home economics; E. Harvard Moore, Jr., assistant professor of agricultural economics and farm management, and assistant agricultural economist in the Agricultural Experiment Station.

College of Arts and Sciences

Promotions:

Dr. Wofford G. Gardner from associate professor to professor of speech; Vincent A. Hartgen from associate professor to professor of art; Herschel L. Bricker from assistant professor to associate professor of speech; Dr. Henry Peck from assistant professor to associate professor of economics.

Dr. Robert Shay from assistant professor to professor of economics; Richard K. Stuart from assistant professor to associate professor of economics and business administration; Thomas W. Parker from instructor to assistant professor of history; and Frank H. Todd from instructor to assistant professor of physics.

Appointments:

Robert B. Thompson, Long Island, N. Y., assistant professor of government; Donald A. Kearns, Middleton, Mass. instructor in mathematics and astronomy; Dr. Alfred B. Chaet, Matapan, Mass., instructor in zoology; Joseph S. Dinsmore, Jr., instructor of mathematics; George B. Abbe, Dover, N. H., instructor of English; Gerald S. Harmon, Bridgton, instructor in physics; and Miss Suzanne Pooley, Burlington, Vt., instructor in speech.

College of Education

Promotions:

Harold M. Woodbury from assistant professor to associate professor of physical education.

Appointments:

Clarence O. Bergeson, Rochester, N. Y., assistant professor of education and director of Audio-Visual Service; Alex M. Caughran, Columbia, Mo., assistant professor of education.

College of Technology

Promotions:

Charles M. Howell from lecturer to professor of paper technology; Francis J. Sullivan from assistant professor to associate professor of mechanical engineering; Carl Blake from instructor to assistant professor of electrical engineering.

Elizabeth A. Kelso from instructor to assistant professor of engineering graphics; John R. Lyman from instructor to assistant professor of mechanical engineering; Horton H. Morris from instructor to assistant professor of chemistry; George K. Wadlin, Jr. from instructor to assistant professor of civil engineering; and Arthur S. Weaver from instructor to assistant professor of mechanical engineering.

Debate Tournament At Vermont Next Month

The first intercollegiate tournament for University debaters will be at the University of Vermont, November 20-21, according to Wofford G. Gardner, head of the department of speech. "All students who are interested in participating in intercollegiate debate should contact me at 310 Stevens Hall," Dr. Gardner said.

This year the intercollegiate debate proposition for the entire nation will be:

"Resolved: that the United States should adopt a policy of free trade."

Forestry's 50th; Pulp-Paper's 40th

He is also active in many veteran's organizations.

His address will be the highpoint of the double anniversary program which will emphasize the ways in which the two departments contribute to modern industry and living.

The forestry golden anniversary program includes a review of the department's history, field trips to the various experimental areas, and several panel discussions and addresses.

A similar program has been set up for the Pulp and Paper open house.

Second Oldest

The Forestry Department here ties with two other colleges for having the second oldest undergraduate forestry course in the country.

It was set up by an act of the legislature in 1902 and held its first classes in 1903. This was one year later than the course begun by the Michigan State College.

It has had five department heads, through Prof. Robert I. Ashman who has held that position since 1946.

First established in the College of Agriculture, the department was transferred to the College of Engineering which at that time, had existed only one year. Three years later it was permanently returned to the College of Agriculture.

The first camp was the annual Winter camp started about 1923 and continuing until World War II. About 1936 the Sophomore summer camp began its annual program which continued until the establishment of the University Forest.

After the war the various camps were merged into one summer camp fitting in the course after the junior year.

The Wildlife Conservation division was added in 1936.

Our State Police caution that drivers who follow other cars too closely may be on the trail of an accident.

Women Leaders Conference Set For October 10

The annual Women's Leadership Conference will be held on campus, Saturday, October 10.

Sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, Women's Student Government, and Panhellenic Council, the conference will take as its theme, "Toward Constructive Citizenship."

All women students are invited to attend the seminars along with a luncheon which will precede discussion groups.

Idea for this conference was handed down by the University of Pittsburgh in its effort toward better student self-education. Maine's first leadership parley was held in the spring of 1938 and subsequent meetings have been held each year with the exception of 1943.

In the past the University has had several outstanding speakers, including Dr. Constance Warren, retired president of Sarah Lawrence College.

Broken down into three divisions, the conference includes a luncheon, lecture by the community leader, and seminars.

Margot McCarthy heads the campus leadership committee, which includes Nancy Collins, Pat Parsons, Mary Atkinson, Judy Basker, Kathy Black, and Connie Lewis.

30 Freshmen For Glee Club Tryouts

The Glee Club, under the direction of James Selwood, held try-outs September 22, with a turn-out of 30 freshmen making the total number of chorus members over 100.

The Madrigals held their first rehearsal last week, and the Varsity Singers will soon begin practicing. Try-outs for new members for these organizations will be held later this fall.

Identification Cards Come To Maine

Something new has been added to campus life—identification cards. More commonly known as I.D.'s, these handy little passes have been used at many universities and colleges throughout the country during the past few years.

Although one may at first consider them an unnecessary evil, there are countless advantages offered and protected by your identification card. On campus the cards assure admittance to all varsity athletic contests, concerts, the health service, the library, voting privileges at student elections, and that center of all activity, the Union.

Off campus the cards will be an aid in cashing checks and in proving identification should any important or unexpected situation arise.

The main complaint heard on campus has been that students can no longer sell or give away their tickets to the athletic contests.

Not many people realize that last year many students almost lost their chance to get reduced rates in reserved sections for away games because students were letting other people use their tickets. Small schools, like Colby, Bates, and Bowdoin, cannot take the loss at their gates because they, like Maine, have a self-supporting athletic program.

The Concert series, which is open to all students, needs this outside admission price to compensate for the remainder of its expenses. At the library, I.D. cards will be used at the reserved book desk, and at the infirmary, they will make certain that people obtaining services are students. The cards will also be a positive way to ascertain that only students are attending the movies and dances at the Student Union building, and voting at student elections.

Dean Gives Advice On Draft Status

Students who qualify for the advanced ROTC course will be deferred from induction until graduation under the Selective Service Act, provided they maintain the required academic and military standing.

Immediately after graduation, if commissioned, they will serve eight years as officers in an active or reserve component of the United States Army. At present, two years of active service are required, although this period may be lengthened or shortened, depending on world conditions.

Freshmen will be asked to state whether or not they intend to apply for advanced ROTC in December. The committee reminds the students that, "A commitment made at that time must be considered binding for legal and moral reasons."

The motion picture, "The Razor's Edge," will be shown in the Bangor Room of the Memorial Union Building Friday at 7 and 9 p.m. and Saturday at 8 p.m.

Musical Groups Plan Busy Season

Carnegie has been humming with the excitement of auditions and first rehearsals of the music organizations.

The University band has received an exceptionally large number of incoming freshmen this year. Over forty underclassmen turned out for the auditions, adding primarily to the ranks of the reed section. Francis G. Shaw, director of the band, considers the new members as excellent material and looks forward to an excellent concert season.

Meanwhile, preparations for football season are underway. Under student director Alfred Halliday, the band made its first informal appearance at the send-off rally last Thursday afternoon at the Memorial gym.

Something new will be tried next Saturday when the Maine band, under the auspices of the Music Department, will play host to the bands of Bangor and Brewer at the University. Plans are underway for a mass band get-together and drill formations.

The orchestra, directed by Prof. Lewis Niven, also showed an increase in the number of its musicians, adding four new violinists and one new cellist to the string section.

Get Into The Act

About this time each year it is customary for battle-scarred upperclassmen to force unsolicited advice on eager freshmen. Far be it for this paper to ignore such a custom.

This advice, however, will be in the form of an urging—an urging to go out for extracurricular activities.

Membership in these various groups is rarely dependent on taking a definite course of study, although those working in a particular line will usually want to participate in their related activity whether it is the Forestry Club or the Chemical Engineer's group.

About the middle of last year the University Placement Bureau distributed an interesting booklet put out by the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company. In it were listed 93 questions of the type most frequently asked college graduates during interviews for employment.

Over, and over again, questions appeared concerning the way the applicant used his out of class hours. It continually referred to the extracurricular activities of the applicant.

Employers recognize the valuable experience gained in working with others, in planning programs and other events, and in the leadership and executive ability displayed. This is usually demonstrated by the company by the position and the pay offered.

Then, also, participation in these activities is an excellent way to get your picture in the yearbook, make new friends, and have a lot of fun.

Most campus organizations have held or will be holding their first meetings of the year within the next few days. Many meetings will be announced in the Campus. New members will be welcome at these meetings or see someone who is already in the organization to find out how to join.

With Sincere Appreciation

This week end the Forestry Department will celebrate its golden anniversary, 50 years at the University. At the same time the Pulp and Paper Department, oldest in the nation, will observe its 40th birthday with its third annual open house.

Both of these groups have brought immeasurable prestige to the school and its students. Their courses are recognized throughout the world as being among the best.

Because of these birthdays, many visitors will be attracted to the campus during the next few days. Several top industrial firms and government bureaus will be represented by them. The U. S. Secretary of the Interior will speak in the Memorial Gym tomorrow morning.

All this is in way of wishing the two departments a happy birthday and best wishes for many more to come.

Job Well Done

Congratulations are in order for our campus radio station. With last week's broadcast of the Maine-Rhode Island game it definitely proved itself a valuable member of the campus scene.

Before this year the school was at the mercy of the Bangor stations when it came to whether an away game would be broadcast. Most of the time they found it impractical, either because of the cost or from an inability to spare announcers for the time involved.

This year, through the sponsorship of the University Store Company, the young campus station took over the job and did it well. The description of the game was fine. The broadcasting team on their first time out nailed down a first rate job. Granted, there was some room for improvement, but that should come easily with experience.

We understand there is a new version of an old patriotic song now going around the country titled "Three Cheers For the Shhh, White and Blue."

Opinionettes

Question: How does it feel to be a freshman?

Betty McKusick, Dexter: Well, I love it already and it seems good, of course. I think it's going to be a problem keeping activities to a minimum.

Glen Larson, Houlton: Great! It's a good life and I like the U of M—it's a friendly place. The studies haven't been too bad yet, but... As long as social activities keep up the way they have, I won't kick.

Jay Pease, Rumford: Sort of anti-climatic—I've been waiting five years to get here and anticipation has been the greatest part of it. But I am awfully glad to get here and really enjoy the campus and the life. It's quite a change after the service.

Tom Carmichael, Hampden: It will feel good to get rid of the beanies—till then we feel like the lowest form of human. But it is a terrific place.

Lin Haskins: Feels great! I always wanted to go to college to study Pulp & Paper, but not at a large one like Syracuse, so I picked out Maine and glad I did.

Connie Averill, Schenectady, N.Y., and Gloria Sellon, Easton, Mass.: It's great after being in a Girls' School!

Dan Dearborn, Standish: Nice place. Wish it wasn't so far between classes—too much walking. And I wish there were a few more sociable girls around here. The ratio is too big.

With Student Government

Senate President Plans Year

BY GORHAM W. HUSSEY
President of the General Student Senate

The General Student Senate has three important roles at the University. The first and perhaps most evident is that of a service organization. With its Winter Carnival, Maine Day, and Good-Will Chest committees, it performs needed and worthy services for our campus community. Another of its functions is that of developing in its student participants a sense of responsibility within and towards its own group and the University in general. Many acquire and develop leadership skills and imbue these skills with a sense of duty and responsibility. The long hours of Senate sessions and committee work are not felt wasted when it is realized that this time has been effectively devoted towards improvement of our University and of the individual.

A third and perhaps most important function of the Senate is that it provides a means for promoting valuable lessons to the whole campus community in the amicable arbitration of disputes and an understanding of the proper relationship between freedom and responsibility. Although much could be said about this last function, let us state briefly that one of our primary tenets of democracy is discussion and debate over issues with a resulting rule of the majority and simultaneously preserving the rights of minorities and individuals.

Perhaps at the present time some of the work and responsibilities ahead of the Senate this year should be discussed. Beginning with its first meeting Oct. 13, the Senate has much groundwork to lay if it is to insure an effective and successful year. Perhaps its most important early responsibility is the election of competent and conscientious committees. Because most of the work of the Senate is done on the committee level, the effectiveness of the whole organization traces back to the effectiveness of its committees. With a streamlining of administration processes these committees can begin their work early in the year, and can therefore accomplish perhaps more than they were able to accomplish in previous years.

One of the most important programs ahead of the Senate is the completion of the work done last year on the proposed Student Advisory Board. If such a board is adopted, infractions of University rules by individuals will be considered by a student board with powers of recommendation to the Deans of Women and Men. Many believe that this is a step in the right direction towards students handling more of their own problems. Adoption of such a board on our campus must come before the student body in an election for approval, however.

Another pressing Senate problem is to form a satisfactory working arrangement with the new Memorial Union. The Union's constitution has yet to be approved in its final form, and a satisfactory agreement as to powers must be reached. The Union should be relatively unhampered in its action in its own field, but where it overlaps in other areas or where it is concerned with student life on a wide scope, the Senate should have a voice and responsibility.

During the Senate elections within the next two weeks in each dormitory, fraternity, and off-campus group, the necessity of selecting competent and responsible representatives to the General Senate must be realized. If student government, the voice of the students, is to flourish, then only those representatives who are capable of insuring strong and effective government must be elected. They in turn will see that efficient committees are elected and encouraged to function. In this way the General Student Senate will mean something.

Students, Faculty Have Coffee Hours

Students and faculty gathered at the Memorial Union Building four afternoons this week for annual coffee hours.

Purpose was to acquaint freshmen in the four colleges with advisors, professors, and members of the administrative body of the University. Candleabra, silver punch bowls, and centerpieces of pine boughs and autumn leaves decorated the refreshment tables. Faculty members served cider and cookies to the guests.

Students assisting were: Mary Atkinson, Margery Robbins, Sue Bogert, Kathleen Black, Nancy Gentile, Joan Martin, Jean Grindle, Alice Rinehart, Ruth Bartlett, Barbara Brown, Gorham Hussey, and John Randall.

Miss Ruth White of the faculty and Cynthia Nelson were in charge of the committee.

Dormitory Residents Given Permission To Go Fraternity

Dean of Men John E. Stewart has announced that fraternities have been granted permission to remove from the dormitories men, other than freshmen, to fill pledge quotas.

In an effort to assist the fraternities to fill resident quotas, the University Housing Department has agreed to waive certain regulations and permit men who are already signed up for dormitory residence to live in the fraternities. These men may be members, men already pledged, or men who are pledged through October 1.

Any student who transfers to a fraternity after becoming a dormitory resident will be refunded his room deposit, but will be charged for board and room until the end of the week in which he moves from the dormitory.

A memo should be sent to the Office of the Dean of Men promptly by the house president, giving the names of the men to be removed from the dormitories and when each expects to move. Under this arrangement, in no case can permission be granted to remove any student unless this office is notified on or before 4:30 p.m. Thursday, October 1. Final withdrawal must be completed not later than 6:00 p.m. Saturday, October 3.

In a letter to the fraternities, Dean Stewart said, "I am sure the fraternities are deeply grateful for the assistance the University Housing Department is giving them. By opening the dormitories to fraternity rushing for the first ten days of school, the work of the Housing Department is greatly increased and the final settling of the dormitories is delayed."

"Also, it should not be assumed that this policy will be followed each year. With the construction of the new men's dormitory it should be expected that this concession cannot be granted."

39 Students Attend Forestry Camp

Thirty-nine forestry and wildlife students, including several seniors of the class of '53, attended forestry camp at the University camp at Princeton, for eight weeks this summer.

Each student was required to draw a forest type map, make a timber management plan, and to cruise one square mile of forest. The cruising involved tallying trees on 2½% of the square mile and estimation of the total volume by that method.

There was also instruction in timber estimating, marking, and stand improvement, logging practices and milling methods.

The camp session was directed by Prof. A. G. Randall, and faculty members present from time to time were Profs. Henry Plummer, Frank Beyer, Robert Ashman, Harold Young, and Horace Quick, all of the forestry department.

Ten wildlife students also attended a two week camp directed by Prof. H. F. Quick immediately following the forestry camp. The two weeks were devoted to fish and game ecology and were highlighted by a canoe trip down the Machias River.

Maine Grad New Johns Hopkins Head

Dr. Lowell J. Reed, a graduate of this University in 1907, has been named seventh president of the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., according to Carlyle Barton, president of the Johns Hopkins Board of Trustees.

Dr. Reed received a Bachelor of Science degree from Maine in 1907, a master's degree here in 1912, and, in 1939, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Science by the University.

He took a Doctor of Philosophy Degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1915.

He was a teacher of mathematics and physics here for the two years prior to 1917 when he left to become head of the wartime Bureau of Tabulations and Statistics for the War Trade Board in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Reed had been vice president of Johns Hopkins University since 1946.

Starr To Address First Faculty Seminar

The first meeting of the Faculty Seminar for the current school year is scheduled for Merrill Hall on Tuesday, October 6, at 12 Noon.

The speaker for this first meeting is Professor Wilmarth Starr, head of the Modern Language Department, who has returned from a 15 month tour of duty in Indo-China. He will speak on the subject: "A Three Headed Tiger By the Tail."

Faculty seminar meetings are held each week and are open to all members of the University faculty and their friends.

Harold I. Goss, Secretary of State, today reminded motorists that October will be automobile inspection month in Maine.

"The law requires that all car owners shall have their vehicles inspected at an official inspection station during the months of April and October," he said.

He urged motorists to take care of this duty early in the month and thus avoid the last-minute rush to meet this semi-annual inspection requirement.

Parents' Day Plans Begun

An eleven-person student-faculty committee has been named by President Arthur A. Hauck to arrange for the annual Freshman Parents' Day here Saturday, Oct. 17.

The committee will send invitations to parents of freshmen to visit the University on that day and will plan a special program.

Established in 1937, Parents' Day was held each year until the war. In the post-war years, abnormally large classes made it impossible to accommodate any large number of visitors until last year when the program was resumed.

A total of 726 parents from nine states attended last year's program.

The two students serving on the committee are Gorham Hussey, president of the General Student Senate, and Norma Jose, president of the Women's Student Government Association.

Faculty and administration representatives are Professors Jonathan Biscoe, Stanley Freeman, Matthew

Stag Lines To Shift From Memorial Gym

Most dances from this week on will be held in the Women's Gym or the Memorial Union Building instead of the Memorial Gym, Charles E. Crossland, director of student and public relations, has announced.

Major dances such as the Beaux Arts Ball will be the only ones to use the Memorial Gym according to the new system.

The change was brought about at the request of the Physical Education Department. It is designed to cut down on the number of minor accidents that occur from the frequent waxing of the gym floors by distributing the burden among the three halls.

McNeary, and Robert Olsen; Deans Edith G. Wilson and John E. Stewart; Percy F. Crane, director of admissions, Nelson B. Jones, Memorial Union director, and Charles E. Crossland, director of student and public relations, who will be chairman of the committee.

Prism Pictures

Photographing of the junior class for the 1955 Prism will begin Monday morning, October 5, according to Reginald Bowden, editor. Individual portraits will be taken by Chidnoff Studio of New York City.

Juniors, who did not sign up at registration for an appointment, and seniors, who were not photographed last year, can still make appointments at the Prism office, 211 East Annex, or with Lois Cassidy at the Elms.

Those who have received appointment cards and have found conflicts with their schedules should contact the Prism office or Miss Cassidy at once.

Sleeper Gives Recital

Prof. William R. Sleeper was the feature artist at a University recital held at the Union Building on Sunday. Prof. Sleeper was enthusiastically received with his various compositions by Brahms, Chopin, and Handel.

Program Given For Concert Series

The third annual University Concert Series will open Nov. 10 with the Helsinki University Chorus of 60 male voices, Charles E. Crossland, chairman of the Assembly Committee, has announced.

This will be followed on Jan. 13 by a program by Whittemore and Lowe, widely known duo-piano team. March 2 Dorothy Warrenskjold, prominent mezzo-soprano, will be featured.

The last of the four attractions will be University Music Night April 29, featuring the University's band, orchestra, and glee clubs in their annual concert.

Students will be admitted to these concerts by their identification cards.

WORO Airs Game

Last Saturday WORO, the campus station, broadcasted the Rhode Island-Maine game. The University Store Company was the sponsor, paying for the hiring of a telephone line and other expenses.

Russell Exhibit To Start Today

A collection of paintings by a Maine artist who has had no formal training in art, will be exhibited in the main gallery of Carnegie Hall from October 1-30.

Jack Russell, a native of East Sumner, has been a serious painter for more than 25 years, during which time he has experimented with many of the popular mediums and techniques.

This exhibit features a number of polymer-tempera paintings. Polymer-tempera, a form of plastic paint, is one of the newest and most difficult of all painting mediums. Some experts claim that it will likely supplement the use of oil as a painting medium in the next hundred years. Paintings made with this plastic are unaffected by light, heat, and weather.

Prof. Vincent A. Hartgen, head of the art department, says of the exhibit, "Russell's paintings are brilliantly colored transcriptions of his inner opinions of the nature-world. In a mysterious, sensitive, and romantic way, he speaks a language known only to those who meditate on the moods and secrets of nature. Unreal, yet truly real, his paintings incite one's imagination into a world of nostalgic impressions and emotions."

Jack Russell spent three years with the U. S. Navy in World War II. He now lives and works in Waldoboro. His son, Richard, is a member of the sophomore class at Maine.

Frosh Girls To Receive New Booklet On Sororities

Freshman girls will receive a booklet on Greek organizations at a meeting which will feature a general introduction to sororities to be held Monday, October 26. This booklet is being sponsored by the Panhellenic Council and is the first edition since 1950.

The purpose of this pamphlet is to acquaint the new students with the meaning and purpose of Greek letter societies at Maine.

The booklet will contain articles pertaining to National Panhellenic, general rushing rules, and the six sororities. The pamphlet will also feature a rusher's Webster defining words concerning rushing and sororities, and pictures of each chapter on campus.

Bears Seek Win Against Improved Vermont Team

Bear Facts

By MOE HICKEY

Another school year, another edition of the Maine Campus, another Bear Facts column, come with the 1953 fall season.

The University of Maine sports program, needless to say, wastes no time in getting underway as a full schedule of varsity-fresh football and track, golf, and intramural athletics is on tap next week.

Coach Hal "Westy" Westernman's varsity eleven got underway last Saturday at Meade field, Kingston, R. I., against Rhode Island's powerful Rams and were barely beaten 13-6 by Rhody, picked by the experts to be the top small college football aggregation in New England. Rhode Island, which dropped its only game to Maine last year, had the benefit of already having played one game and also a game scrimmage with another college club.

Bogdanovich Scores

Co-captain Ed Bogdanovich, a Providence, R. I., product, turned in a fine performance before his homestaters in his last appearance there. The Bog passed and ran the Bears to their only touchdown in a bid to defeat the potent Rams.

Coach Westernman can look for some help in moulding out his football team come next fall from the some 80 rugged and willing freshman football hopes, who are now working out under the watchful and experienced eye of Coach Sam Sezak and Woody Carville, a newcomer to the Maine coaching ranks, who graduated from the University last June after a notable athletic career in football and basketball.

Among the frosh football candidates there are a good half dozen of them that hover around the 200 pound mark or over and the team is sprinkled with captains and co-captains of Maine and Massachusetts high schools and prep schools.

Lively Freshman

Talk about fellows who really like to play football, Roville Yoder of Fryeburg, who is 31 years old, married and a father, is out there using his stocky 200 pound build to win a starting position on the Freshman football team. Don't look for an old man with balding hair, however, because Roville looks like any 20-year-old cavorting around the gridiron.

Coach Chester "Chet" Jenkins, working with only a handful of track men compared to yesteryears when track was as popular as football, is doing a wonderful job for the University of Maine sports program, keeping the team among the top-cross-country teams in New England. Jenkins, who has been coaching track here at Orono even before most of us students were born, is looking for another top-notch thinclad to go with sophomore sensations Paul Hanson, Paul Firlotte, and Stan Furrow, who along with veteran Colwyn Haskell, the captain, are expected to give any opponent a stiff battle.

A walk down college avenue during the afternoon or right after the evening meal would find the fraternity men out romping on their front lawns rounding "slowly" into shape for the Campus intramural football championship, which Kappa Sigma now holds after defeating all opposition last year.

Coach Charlie Emery isn't going to let his golf team get too rusty either. He has most of the 1952-53 team back along with a host of freshmen perfecting their game on the Penobscot Valley Country club afternoons.

Here Dave Wiggin, veteran halfback on the Black Bear's football eleven, is about to be hauled down by an oncharging Rhode Island defender from behind. The action took place last Saturday at Kingston, R. I., where the Bears lost their opening game 13-6 to the powerful Rhody team, but not before almost pulling the game out of the fire. The Bears fumbled once inside the Rhode Island ten yard line and a touchdown run by Vince Calenda was called back because he stepped out of bounds.

Record Post-War Squad Reports For Four Game Frosh Schedule

A record post-war squad of Freshman football gridders reported to Coach Sam Sezak this week, and by the size and promise of the yearlings, it should be a very successful year for Sezak and assistant coach Woody Carville.

The frosh, eighty in number, have showed a great deal of promise, Sezak said, and undoubtedly will improve on the mediocre record compiled by last year's freshman team.

The schedule:

Oct. 17 Higgins—home 9:00 a.m.
Oct. 26 Junior Varsity—home 2:00 p.m.
Oct. 30 Maine Maritime—away 1:30 p.m.

Nov. 6 MCI—home 2:00 p.m.
Those reporting for practice were B. Adams, South Lincoln, Mass.; Donald Baade, Portland; Leroy Bailey, N. Y. City; Paul Ball, Lincoln; Jack Bisco, Orono; Mark Biscoe, Orono; Normand Blais, Lewiston; Arthur Boudreau, Ridgelyville; Edward Briggs, Lincoln; Arthur Brownell, Roslindale, Mass.; Bryan Buchanan, Old Town; Paul Buckley, Lewiston; Maxwell Burry, Milo; Tom Carmichael, Hampden, Norman Cole, Gardiner.

Robert Dubois, Lewiston; R. Duckworth, Norwalk, Conn.; John Castor, Pompton Lakes, N. J.; Robert Cecchini, Barre, Vt.; Joseph Cillis, Albany, N. Y.; Don Dearborn, William-

James Noonan, Providence, R. I.; Jack Northrup, Everett, Mass.; John O'Connor, Brewer; Peter Oakes, Rangeley; Clarence Orff, Brookline, Mass.; Thomas Perks, Princeton, N. J.; Harold Plum, Bob Provencher, Lewiston; Andrew Raffety, Fairfield; Don Raymond, Brunswick; Ray Richard, South Paris; Lawrence Ronco, Rangeley; Richard Schindler, Ed Soper, Orland; Eric Simms, Chappaqua, N. Y.; Gray Somer, Waterbury, Conn.; George Smith, Belmont, Mass.; Preston Stanley and Bob Sylvain, Winslow; Dave Therrien, Skowhegan; Burt Tompkins, Presque Isle; Ed Veprovsky, Flushing, N. Y.; Bob Wilshire, Waldoboro; Roville Yoder, Fryeburg.

Frosh Thinclads Prepare For Slate

The Freshman cross country team, 20 strong, has been working out under the watchful eye of Coach Chester Jenkins in preparation for the fall campaign.

Jenkins doesn't know yet whether or not this year's Frosh squad will prove to be as good as last season's powerful team that swept away just about everything in its path.

Among those who show promise after a few days workout are Harry Folster, Karl Kraske and Joel Stinson.

Others on the squad include Kenneth Hall, William Hutchinson, Irwin Hyman, John Johnson, George Karnedy, Scott Kelley, David G. Lukert, Ronald Marsh, Melvin McClure, Donald Michaud, John P. Nolan, John Pavese, Richard Schofield, Robert Shurman, Franklin Stone, David Zibbatt and Lawrence Wood.

Women's Sports

By MARGE MEALEY

A get-acquainted picnic will be held by the Women's Athletic Association at the women's athletic field Monday, October 5. The time has not been set, but an announcement will be made prior to the picnic.

Women's field hockey began last Monday and will run until November 7. Anyone who has not signed up may do so this week.

Cross Country Team Studied With Sophs

Coach Chester (Chet) Jenkins will be faced with a sophomore loaded cross country squad this year. Unfortunately, the Pale Blue harriers will only have one returning veteran back from last year's squad in Coke Haskell. However, such freshman stars as Paul Hanson, Jim Ervin, Stan Furrow, and Paul Firlotte should set the Mainites off on the right foot.

Paul Hanson and Jim Ervin seem to be the boys who will carry the load this year, although at this stage of the game very little can be for certain. With the late beginning of classes this semester, Coach Jenkins has had little time to work with the team. Practice began only last Wednesday, so the squad hasn't worked into shape as yet.

However, a look at last year's freshman squad reveals that a fine team is in the making. Paul Hanson, the New England freshman champion, should be a great asset to the sophomore filled squad. Also Jim Ervin, a rugged little sophomore, seems to be a great prospect. Paul Firlotte, who took over for Hanson when he was set down with a severe cold before last year's I.C.A.A. meet in New York with a strong sixth place finish, is another promising contender. The rest of the squad will possibly be made up of Garnet Dow, another frosh star, Wayne Libby and Captain Coke Haskell.

Coach Jenkins further commented that the squad would be hurt by the loss of such varsity performers as Dave Dearing and Carlton MacLean, who have not reported. Jenkins stated that the prospects for this year's varsity would be much brighter if one of the pair would come out.

Varsity And Frosh Prep For Annual Golf Match

Coach Charlie Emery has had his varsity and freshman linksmen working out at the Penobscot Valley Country Club this week in preparation for the annual University of Maine Golf tournament, which is set for some time next week or possibly later.

Varsity men who had reported to Emery by last Friday were Don

Maine Slight Choice Over Catamounts

Maine's Black Bears, after suffering a tough 13-6 defeat in their opening game against Rhode Island last week, are favored to win in their first home game this Saturday against Vermont's improving Catamounts.

With probably one of their toughest games if not the toughest game all year long already played, the Bears are primed for Saturday's afternoon tilt starting at 1:30.

Vermont, although not considered a serious threat to cop the Yankee Conference this year, is on the upswing in football. Last year the Catamounts fell before the Bears 14-6, but not before extending Maine to an all-out effort.

In the nine games played so far between the two schools over the years the Bears hold an impressive 7 win and 1 loss while tying one against the Vermonters. Vermont's one victory came way back in 1922.

Maine survived the Rhode Island game without any very serious injuries and should be in good shape to take on the Vermont club.

After last year's defeat Vermont will undoubtedly concentrate their defense on line cruncher Ed Bogdanovich, who ran wild against the Catamounts last fall. The "Bog" picked up 157 of the 303 total yardage compiled by the Bears and scored one of the two touchdowns. This year Coach Ed Donnelly, starting his second year with Green Mountain lads, will also have to watch the slick passing arm of Bogdanovich, which was responsible for the only TD against Rhody's Rams last Saturday.

Probable Lineup

Coach Hal Westernman will probably use the same lineup to start Saturday's game as he used against Rhode Island, although he might revamp the entire lineup if he feels it will benefit the Bears.

In the forward wall good bets to start are Ken Woodsum and Ronnie Perry, ends; Ed Cianchette and Lew Clarke, tackles; Tommy Golden and Lucien Garneau, guards; and sophomore Jack Small at the center slot.

Westernman was quoted as saying he was satisfied with the showing of his team last week. He said the players learned a whole lot against Rhode Island and the experience should be put to use against Vermont.

Continuing, he said the whole squad played a good game.

"We liked what we saw, and had we cashed in on a couple of breaks, we might have made it even closer than the final score."

Westernman was reluctant to single out any player for outstanding play because the entire squad played fine ball.

Despite the new football ruling that cut out two-platoon football, Maine used a total of twenty-five players against the Rams.

Mavor, captain of last year's top-notch golf team; Joe Young, Dick Gordon, Emery Howard, captain of last year's frosh team; Paul McNabb, Summer Cahoon, Jr., Lester Fogg, Jr., Robert Irish, Tom Monaghan, and Erwin Kennedy.

Freshmen who had reported include: H. William Sterrett, Richard Gleason, John Eutis, Earl Fletcher, and Charles Ross.

Society

BY HILDA STERLING

After a long summer vacation, we find ourselves back on campus for another year of work and fun. It looks like a busy year is being planned for already the social calendar is filled with meetings, outings, picnics and dances. The past week end was no exception, and it found many students in the midst of activity.

Saturday afternoon the Tri Deltas had a general get-together on the Women's Athletic Field. The group was chaperoned by Margaret Mollison with Jo Reed in charge of arrangements.

Diana Springer was hostess to AOPi sorority over the week end at her summer home in Castine. Swimming, hiking, and exploring was enjoyed by the thirty-one guests. Muriel Bennett was chairman for the outing, and the group was chaperoned by Joanne and Jackie Springer.

Thirty-five members of Chi Omega sorority spent the week end at Echo Lake. Chaperoned by Ruth White, the group enjoyed mountain climbing, group singing, and entertainment. Pat Turner was general chairman assisted by Dot Johnston and Liz Pierce.

Sunday afternoon Hillel held a meeting in the Women's Lounge of the Student Union. Rabbi Elefant and Phil Nectow gave brief messages of welcome, explained the meaning of Hillel and what it can do for students. Refreshments were served.

The sophomore executive committee in connection with the sophomore class sponsored a Soph picnic on Saturday afternoon at the Aggie Picnic grounds. Bob Oldfield headed the committees assisted by Carol Loud and Bill Hammann, entertainment; Howard Simmons and Ann Bronson, advertisement; and Sally Rand and Hi Bronson, refreshments. The class enjoyed an afternoon of baseball, football and volleyball. From all reports it was a huge success!

Off-Campus Women Meet

First fall meeting of the Off-Campus Woman's organization was Monday evening in the Student Union building. Ruth Dow presided.

Next meeting of the group will be Monday afternoon at 12:20 o'clock in the Women's Lounge of the Student Union building. All members are urged to attend, as officers and representatives will be elected.

Invitation

The next time you are in the bookstore, buy a cup of coffee and walk upstairs to the office of the Maine Campus. We invite you to inspect the busy center of your newspaper. Once you are there, we would like you to know that you too can help with the reporting of campus news. We need reporters.

Too Much Male For Maine

Men continued to outnumber women on campus by nearly three to one last week as the 86th year of classes got underway with 2,863 students registered for the fall semester. There are 2,105 men and 758 women registered.

According to James Harmon, registrar, these totals are expected to reach nearly 2,950 when the final figures are in. Harmon said that registration is running about two per cent ahead of the figures for last year at this time.

The greatest increase has occurred in the freshman class which counted a seven per cent increase over 1952.

There are 260 Korean and 135 World War II veterans on campus.

Registration by classes includes: graduates, 74; seniors, 595; juniors, 493; sophomores, 661; freshmen, 930; five-year pulp and paper, 6; specials, 44; and three year nurses, 60. Harmon said that approximately 60 two-year agriculture students would register later this month.

Dental Test This Month

A dental aptitude test will be given on Oct. 31 for students who plan to enter dental schools in Sept. 1954.

Interested students may contact Dr. Carl M. Flynn, 33 Coburn Hall.
