Theta Chi Recovering After Blaze

By Ed Damon

Following its disastrous fire of two weeks ago Theta Chi has resumed activities on a near normal scale, according to Treasurer Reginald G. Collins.

Collins said that all resident members have moved into North Dorm Three and are making the best of the situation.

Not New Life

He added that life in the North Dorms is not an entirely new thing, since many members spent some of their earlier years on campus in the wooden frame structures.

In addition, the Theta Chi treasurer told the Campus, that none of the members have left the University or are planning to do so as a result of the fire.

The $135,000 blaze which left the fraternity house in a shambles has been attributed to faulty wiring.

State Cause

Director of Plant and Facilities Francis S. McGuire said that fire inspectors have not made an official report, but have informally stated that "fire originated in the vicinity of a basement lighting fixture."

Help for the now homeless fraternity has been overwhelming and has come from countless groups, including sororities, other fraternities, and charitable organization.

Collins said, "Everyone is helping out."

Coeds Contribute

He further stated that "many campus girls have written personal checks for $5 or more."

Plans for a new chapter house were already under consideration when the early morning blaze struck.

Consequently these plans have been speeded up.

The new building, according to Collins, is to be a $140,000 structure fully equipped, and will be located on approximately the same site as the original house.

Bricker Names Cast For Next Masque Play

Rochelle Hyman, Margaretmary McCann, and Bradford Sullivan will play the three leading roles in "Anastasia," the second Maine Masque production of the year, Prof. Herschel L. Bricker, director, has announced.

The play will be presented at the Little Theatre Dec. 12-15.

To Play Anna

Miss Hyman will play the part of Anna, Miss McCann the Dowager Empress, and Sullivan, Prince Bounine.

Others selected for parts in the play, soon to be released as a Hollywood movie, are Jack Dion, Shelia Pelosi, Clement Rowe, Samuel Warren, Frank Lisborn, John Goodman, Betty Smith, Byron Averuy, Jr., Suzanne Dunn, and Laurence Ronco.

Dennis Kiernan will be stage manager for the production.

Hungarian Fund Surpasses Goal

The General Student Senate-sponsored drive to aid Hungary has met with overwhelming success on campus with the $1,000 goal being surpassed by almost $500.

Final tabulations made by the Hungarian Rescue committee Tuesday afternoon revealed that a total of $1,498 had been collected here.

In addition, drive chairman Herbert E. Elliott reported that the difference between actual contributions and $1,500 has been made up and a check for that amount will be sent to the International Rescue committee in New York.

From New York the money will be forwarded to Austria for distribution among Hungarian refugees living there.

According to Senate President Reginald G. Collins the drive at Maine was one of the first in New England, perhaps in the United States.

Senate Debates Executive Limits

By Leslie Spaulding

Recommendation, and eventual passage of a move to "limit" the Executive Branch of the General Student Senate stirred heated debate during the final 10 minutes of the Senate meeting Tuesday night in the Union.

The recommendation by the Senate's Constitutional Committee was presented by committee chairman Senator William Sawyer.

The constitutional issue and consequent recommendation was the result of a question raised at the last Senate meeting, Nov. 13, concerning the right of Senate President Reginald G. Collins, and the executive committee of the Senate to act in cases such as the Hungarian Rescue drive.

The President and executive committee went ahead and organized the drive in an effort to get it started and afterward sought Senate approval.

In his report, authorized at the last Senate meeting, Senator Sawyer said Tuesday night that the committee felt the President of the Senate and the Executive committee were within their rights to act in such cases under the present wording of the Senate Constitution.

Constitutional Rule

(The constitution says on this point: "The Executive committee shall have the power to act in the interim between meetings and to approve the payment of bills and to perform such other duties as may be directed by the Senate.")

The Constitutional committee chairman went on to say in his report, however, that it is the recommendation of the committee that the constitution be changed to limit the powers of the Executive branch in the future, to act only on such issues as have been directly prescribed by the general student body.

The report brought heated comments from several Senators, all of whom limited their remarks in an effort to meet a 10 p.m. adjournment deadline set earlier in the meeting.

Outspoken Opponent

Senator Richard Barter was one of the most outspoken opponents of the committee's report. Barter suggested that the Constitutional committee should have called on representatives from both sides of the issue before making its recommendation.

An eventual motion by Senator Gene Carter, who originally questioned the action of the President and executive committee at the Nov. 13 meeting, to accept the report was passed by the Senate.

It was understood that further discussion of the recommendation and possible action will come at the next Senate meeting.

Prior to the Tuesday night meeting Senate President Collins told the Campus concerning the issue "I am confident!" He explained that in his opinion the executive committee had acted as "any executive committee would act."

In other Senate action Tuesday night President Collins, in a report, suggested that a Student Senate Committee Co-ordinator be appointed by the executive committee.

This co-ordinator would be responsible for the work of all the committees under the jurisdiction of the Senate, Collins said. At present this job is included in the duties of the Senate President.

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, eminent scientist who has been deeply involved with the atom during recent years, will speak at a University assembly, Tuesday, Dec. 4, at 10 a.m. in Memorial Gym.

His topic will be "The Pace of Modern Science."

The program will follow the regular University assembly pattern with third hour classes omitted Tuesday.

A consultant to industry on uses of nuclear energy, Dr. Lapp is director and organizer of the Nuclear Science Service. He served as Division Director of the famous Manhattan Project and during the postwar years was Assistant Director of Argonne National Laboratories until appointed Scientific Advisor to the War Department General Staff.

In 1947 the young scientist, Dr. Lapp is in his mid-thirties, was made Executive Director of Dr. Bush's Research and Development Board. A year later he switched over to the Navy department to head the Nuclear Physics Branch of the Office of Naval Research.

'Campus' Editorial Brings Presidential Thank You

The controversial and historically unprecedented editorial in which the Maine Campus endorsed the re-election of President Dwight D. Eisenhower, has brought a presidential thank you to Editor-in-chief John A. Littlefield.

President Eisenhower in a personal letter which Littlefield received this week, thanked the editor for copies of the October 25 edition of the Campus which contained the editorial and which were sent to the President.

Unusually Honored

In his letter Eisenhower wrote: "In view of your statement that this is the first time the Campus has ever backed a political candidate, I am unusually honored by the compliment implicit in your action."

The editorial which brought Littlefield his presidential thanks, stirred considerable interest after its appearance in the Campus.

A storm of protest from Democratic partisans among the University's students and faculty arose over the editorial and the newspaper's right to endorse a political candidate.

The editorial had its supporters too, however.

Republican adherents on campus quickly joined forces in endorsing the editor's action.

Gains National Attention

National attention was given the incident when state newspapers and the Associated Press picked up the story and distributed it across the country.

The complete text of President's letter to Littlefield follows:

PERSONAL

Dear Mr. Littlefield:

Thank you very much indeed for sending to me the edition of the Maine Campus containing an editorial in support of my re-election. In view of your statement that this is the first time the Campus has ever backed a political candidate, I am unusually honored by the compliment implicit in your action.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

WORO Presents Musical Quiz

University students now have the opportunity to win the country's best selling records.

Campus radio station WORO's presentation of Labeau's Musical Quiz is the media through which musically-minded students may add to their record collections without cost.

Aired Monday through Friday at 9 p.m. by alternate quiz masters "Wes" Dyer and "Woody" Hodgkins the show presents its "musical question of the week" to three contestants each night.

Students do not have to live on campus, nor do they have to be listening to the program to be eligible for prizes.

The only requirements are that students must register at Labeau's T.V. Center in Orono and must have a telephone.

Calico Queen Begins Reign Following Coronation At Ball

Lovely Kay Sawyer has begun her rule as Calico Queen. The 18 year old blonde, who was chosen by University students at the Farmers Fair, Nov. 17, is five feet five inches tall and a freshman.

She joins Football Queen Jo-Anne Bagley, also a freshman, as the second campus queen of the year.

1,000 Attend

More than 1,000 persons attended the fair, visited the various booths and exhibits, and participated in numerous contests.

Winners of events at the Farmers Fair this year were: Greased pole contest, Alston Wormwood; pie eating contest, George Lawrence; queen candidates cow milking contest, Jeanne Cook, first; Ewdwina Erbanki and Virginia Spear, runners up. Faculty cow milking contest, Prof. Frank Todd, first; Edgar B. McKay, second; and Oliver Chesauz, third.

Department Winner

Top winners in the competition between departments for booths at the fair was taken by the poultry display, which featured the life and progress of a chicken from the hatching process up, illustrated by live birds. The chicks, which continued to hatch from the shells in a glass incubator throughout the day, drew large interested crowds.

Winners of the college livestock competition were: Holstein, Marshall Nickerson; Guernsey, Graham Nuite; Jersey, Kenneth Blanchard; Nuite was the grand champion.

Kay Sawyer

Winners of the FFA sheep judging event were Carol Heath, first; Derwood Gray, second; and Bruce Fern, third. FFA poultry: Beverly Chapman, first; Clifton Quimby, second; and Ralph Clement, third.

Bucksawing Contest

Winners in the sawing contests were: Girl's bucksaw, Joanne Hunter, first; Felecia Rochelle, second; Lois Perkins, third. Boy's bucksaw, Walt Abbott, first; Bob Abbott, second; William Ashby, third. Boys' and girls' crosscut, Sylvia Potter and Ralph Clement; two man crosscut, Bob Abbott and John Hopkins.

Terry Ritz, Bill Schroeder and Norman Hawes took the first three places respectively in the sack races and Edward Thibau, Ray Seavey and Everett Cowett were winners in the barrel rolling event.

University To Host Student Seminar December 7 To 9

The Second International Student Relations Seminar of the New England Region will be held at the University Dec. 7-9. This marks the first time that the annual seminar has been held at the University.

Purposes of the seminar are: to make students participating and their campuses aware of the international program of USNSA and to aid in developing an understanding of this program and its importance; to provide information and ideas for use in coping with campus international programming problems and to give participants a chance to see what part they and their campuses can play in USNSA's foreign student relations programs both by participation in policy forming at ISRA and Congress, in representing NSA abroad and in work in the United States.

Among the many noted persons conducting seminars will be Bruce Larkin, vice president of USNSA, Sally Johnson and a number of graduates of last year's ISRA.

Radio Club Will Meet

The third meeting of the year of the University's Amateur Radio club will be held Tuesday, Dec. 4, at 8 p.m. in the club-room at the north rear corner of Carnegie Hall. All students and faculty who are interested in the activities of the club are invited.

Sorority Rushing Nears Close With Few Parties Remaining

University sorority rushing is almost at a close with only a few parties left in the final round of after-dinner desserts.

After three weeks of rushing parties, rushees next week will choose what sororities they wish to join. If their wishes coincide with the sororities' bids, they will become pledges.

Bow-pinning for each sorority will take place next Wednesday. Each sorority will also hold special suppers that night to celebrate the acquisition of their new pledges.

Each of the six sororities is allowed to pledge 15 freshman girls, which makes a total of 90 coeds who might be able to join a sorority this year. There are 241 freshman girls, although some are ineligible due to ranks.

The first week of rushing parties consisted of after-dinner dates, meeting the girls, and explaining sorority functions. The second week of parties were highlighted by skits at each party.

Strong Versus Weak

Action taken by the Senate president and executive council in connection with the Rescue Hungary Drive has touched off arguments concerning the role of the Senate president at the University.

The matter has been referred to the Senate Constitutional committee for consideration. But actually there is much more at stake than whether or not the president and his council should or should not have gone ahead with the Hungarian Drive.

The real question concerns the role of the Senate president. Everyone agrees that we need a president of the Senate and that he should preside at Senate meetings, but beyond this there is considerable disagreement.

The purpose of this editorial, then, is to clarify the issues. At this point we are not taking sides. We hope everyone remains open minded until there has been more discussion of the situation.

As we see it, there are two schools of thought on the role of the Senate president. We shall try to state both of them as objectively as possible.

Under the first or "weak president" plan, the president would preside at meetings, carry out instructions given him by the Senate, and perhaps make recommendations to the Senate. Under this interpretation the president would not actively try to get his program adopted.

The other or "strong president" plan can be summed up by one word—responsibility. The president would be the actual leader of the Senate. He would recommend action and would also actively promote his program. Committee chairmen would answer to him for the conduct of their committees.

The main difference between these two plans is where initiative rests. It is in either case only a matter of emphasis, but the emphasis is important.

Under the first or "weak president" system most of the initiative for action and programs would come from the Senate itself.

Under the second plan, the initiative for action and programs would come from the president. But of course all his ideas would be subject to the approval and change by the Senate body.

We hope the student body and the Senators themselves keep an open mind while the Constitutional committee works on this problem. Now is the time for getting the facts together, later we must decide on which plan will do the most for the University community.

Action Is Needed

The Inter-Fraternity Council has in the past year made an effort to enforce Social Affairs and University rules.

However, reports reaching us seem to indicate that certain IFC rules have been violated. Last spring the IFC outlawed "missions" as part of initiation. While this regulation may not have been violated in the letter of the law, it certainly has been in spirit. If the purpose of the IFC rule was to stop sending people out in the middle of the night to parts unknown to get back the way they could, then, the rule has definitely been broken.

A number of houses have taken pledges for "rides." While these rides were not official—as part of initiation—they did have the effect of breaking the IFC regulation.

Another matter—perhaps even more serious—has been brought to our attention. At least one house, it is reported, has in effect been engaged in rushing frosh men out of season. This house may not call it rushing but it amounts to the same thing. Not only is this a violation of IFC rules but it also violates University policy which restricts rushing to certain weeks of the year.

We know the IFC can take no action in either of the cases mentioned above unless a member house lodges a complaint or gives a report of violation. No fraternity can afford a hands-off policy.

If the IFC isn't able to move, then we can expect the University administration to go into action, when it has reliable information.

It would seem to us that most houses would prefer to govern themselves rather than wait for the Social Affairs Committee to take action.

Writing Is A Lot Of Work

By Ed Damon

There is a lot to writing a column, much more than meets the eye. There must be a certain basic knowledge of the subject to be covered by the columnist. Then too, research and first hand knowledge pay off in the long run.

Even so a columnist usually enjoys his work and takes pleasure in it. He does his best to produce an epistle of quality, but every so often he comes up with a—well, call it what you will; "lulu, clunker," etc., etc., etc., ad infinitum.

To completely define the above terminology would take myriads of space, but briefly stated the result would be something like this: A column nobody likes, and you are so impressed and awed with that it seems only logical you'll win the next Pulitzer Prize in your field.

A Bit Of Perfidy

Back To Vegetable Life

By John Thibodeau

We live in an age where a premium has been placed on the importance of the individual; the lack of brains is no longer a detriment. (Thibodeau.)

Since the parsnip incident (Nov. 15 Campus), life has become quite serene in the vegetable world. The aristocracy was again secure and each vegetable knew exactly how far he could aspire.

One day a beautiful lady cabbage moved into the plot.

Naturally she would have to reside in the cabbage plot, but where? You'll remember that the high ground was the best real estate and each cabbage was extremely jealous of his particular area.

To avoid a revolution, the president, in his best diplomatic style, strode up to the lady and said, "Madam, for the time being, I suggest you use my residence, that is, until we can find a more suitable place for you."

This is exactly what the lady was counting on.

So the presidential mansion became inhabited by the lady and life went on in its slow, complacent fashion—except for the president.

There was no place left for him in the cabbage plot, the carrots wouldn't have him, so the only thing left for him to do was to go live with the parsnips.

Mr. Parsnip was most kind. He gave the president the slimmest plot in the area.

At a party in the presidential mansion—which the president missed because of a bad cold—the lady cabbage stood up, and in a grand manner—she was very aristocratic—announced: "When I die, I will not stink like other cabbages, but will always smell as I do now."

It was a matter of opinion as to how odorous she was, but for a cabbage not to stink after death was unheard of.

The poor lady cabbage was heart broken, and, after a few days, died of a broken heart, which, as you all know, was a common medieval ailment.

The president, back in the presidential mansion after a long visit with Mr. Parsnip, accorded her a state funeral. However, since the president believed every word of her statement about not stinking, for she was an exceedingly charming cabbage, he did not allow her to be buried, but let her lie in state in the middle of the cabbage plot.

Need No Comparison

To the Editor,

I am not quite sure to whom this letter should be addressed since it pertains to one of the columns that appeared in the last Campus.

I am speaking of Mr. Damon's column he calls "Tea Room." I think I can speak for many of the student body when I say: We don't give a Damn for the comparative imbibing potential of the Bowdoin and U. of M. students.

May I be one to congratulate you, Mr. Littlefield, on your excellent coverage of so much really newsworthy material. You have "scooped" local papers twice and I hope you will continue your outstanding coverage.

Now just get rid of the trash!

Sincerely,

EVERETT C. SANBORN

Welcome Such Diverson

To the Editor:

While reading a California paper we came across this very unusual incident. We pledges would gladly welcome any diversion of this type.

The incident:

Eugene, Ore., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Freshman girls, playfully angry at the Lettermen's Club, broke into the University of Oregon Student Union Building last night and smeared members of the football team with lipstick.

The 250 screaming girls were no match for the 40 players, whose dinner was interrupted by the raid. The players grabbed the lipsticks and smeared the girls.

The girls retreated but not before one of them, Sally Shea of Garden Home, Ore., was knocked unconscious when she slipped and fell to the floor.

The girls then formed two groups and raided the Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi fraternity houses. They were driven off there with hoses, paddles and cans of paint.

Sincerely,

Pledges, Phi Eta Kappa

RONALD J. MILLIER, president

Time To Back Officials

To the Editor:

I was disappointed to see the election campaign continued in the last issue of the Campus. It is now time for us to stand behind our elected officials and come forth with constructive ideas.

President Eisenhower needs the support of Democrats and Republicans in these troubled times. America must come forth with a bold program to aid the people struggling for freedom behind the "Iron Curtain." We must not let the brave Hungarians die in vain!

The swift action of the U.N. may have prevented a war from breaking out in the "Middle East." Establishment of a U.N. Police Force offers new hope of, or the use of collective action in preventing future aggression. The Eisenhower administration should seek to strengthen the machinery of the U.N.

Here in Maine Gov. Muskie was reelected on a promise to continue his progressive program. This program seeks to bring more industry to Maine so there will be more sources of income to benefit schools and highways. The state of Maine needs action in these fields if it is going to keep pace with the rest of the nation.

The citizens must support their elected officials in the coming year. Democrats and Republicans must stand united in their efforts to secure peace. We must use imagination when considering legislative programs.

The issues should not be clouded by emotional sensationalism.

Let us stand behind President Eisenhower and Gov. Muskie in their efforts to make this great country a better place to live in.

She's Getting Old

To the Editor:

I chanced upon an old U. of M. classmate in Boston the other day and a statement of hers made me ponder—then write this.

It seems she's reached the ripe old age of 29 and just this past September went back to visit the campus during her vacation. Her most pointed memory of the visit was that the current students in the fine old tradition still spoke to her although she was to them a total stranger.

The only distressing thing was the way they politely said "Hello" not "Hi"—and in her words—"proof isn't it that my age shows."

Moral: Remember you too will age and a "Hi" will boost your morale—so do indulge the old grads with the usual youthful greeting!

Thank you.

Mandatory Segregation Bad Says English Head

By Murrie MacDonald

The answer to the problem of segregation seems far easier at a distance than it actually is in the South, says a new University faculty member.

Southern Dr. John E. Hankins, born in Lake View, South Carolina, thinks that desegregation in the South should have been permissive rather than mandatory, as it has been after the Supreme Court ruling.

Negro's Position Good

It is also his opinion that the Negro in the South has been in a far better position than have humans in many other parts of the world, both economically and culturally.

Dr. Hankins succeeded Dr. A. Morton Turner as head of the English department this fall. He came from the faculty of the University of Kansas, where he served for 26 years as an English professor.

The English professor believes that most Maine students don't realize the charm and stimulation which their state offers, due to the great variety in scenery and occupations. He and his family have been spending summers in Maine for many years at their farm in East Otisfield, overlooking Lake Thompson.

The author of five books and many articles, Dr. Hankins has had two outstanding successes, The Character of Hamlet and Shakespeare's Derived Imagery. He has also had poetry published in local magazines. When younger, he did imitative writing along the lines of the Negro spiritual. He is at present gathering material for a new book, a study of Spenser's Fairie Queen.

Received Degrees

Dr. Hankins received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of South Carolina and his Ph.D. from Yale University.

In 1930, Dr. Hankins married Nellie D. Pottle of Oxford, Maine, a Colby graduate with an M.A. from Yale University. They have three children; a girl who graduated from Radcliffe and who now lives in Holland with her Dutch engineer husband; a boy recently graduated from Yale, now teaching at Andover Exeter; and a younger boy, an underclassman at Tufts.

Ives To Sing Folk Songs Sunday

Edward Ives, folk singer, will give a program of folk songs in the Main Lounge of the Union, Sunday, Dec. 2, at 4 p.m.

Ives, a member of the English department at the University, will accompany his songs with the guitar, which he will play in folk style.

His program will feature a group of five Maine Folk Songs from different areas around the State. He has not only collected some of these songs but has arranged them as well.

Other Songs

The program includes in addition to the songs of Maine derivation, songs from other sections of America, England, the Hebrides, Ireland and Scotland.

The next and final concert in this faculty series will be Feb. 17 when Earle Melendy, violinist, will be the featured artist. All of these Sunday Afternoon Concerts are under the auspices of the department of music in association with the Union.

Sophomore Cops $25 Prize In Contest

Robert C. Jervis, a sophomore at the University, has been awarded a $25 cash prize for winning a contest sponsored by a national tobacco company.

Jervis was among students from the nation's colleges who submitted winning "sticklers" to the company.

"Sticklers" are humorous questions used for advertising purposes. Jervis' "stickler" was "What is a small fish who has just eaten a large dinner?" The answer is "A rounder flounder."

Snow Storms Cost Over $500

By Judi Williams

The first two snowfalls of the season cost the University over $500 according to Francis S. McGuire, director of plant and facilities.

The four to five inch snowfall this week will cost between $250 and $300.

The first storm before Thanksgiving cost $250.

Employ Six To Eight

In both storms six to eight men were employed running the grader, plowing the walks, and sanding streets. The biggest part of the work during this week's storm was sanding because of freezing conditions, McGuire said.

The plant and facilities director asked that all students who park their cars here at night, park them together in one section of campus parking lots. This will leave the rest of the lots free for plowing.

Parking lots involved are in back of Stevens Hall, in back of Memorial Gym, and the Stodder parking area.

Extension Service Offers 38 Courses

A total of 38 courses will be offered at the University's three General Extension Division Centers in Augusta, Portland, and Orono during the spring semester, Feb. 16-May 25, Dean Mark R. Shibles, director of the division, has announced.

The dean said that additional courses will be listed later for centers at Washington State Teachers College, Machias, and at Aroostook State Teachers College, Presque Isle.

A number of separate courses will be given in several Maine communities in addition to those given at the five Centers.

All of the courses are designed primarily for teachers and school administrators, but others may enroll.

Basketeers Open Season At Bowdoin

Bear Facts

By DON COOKSON
(Sports Editor)

The snows have come and with the snows, skis and basketball. Army-Navy, the bowl games from Rose to gravy are all that remain of the 1956 football season.

One gridiron remnant remains for Bear Facts, however. And that is the picking of an All-Maine team.

Selecting All-teams is never an easy task. Many times deserving ballplayers are omitted from starry lists.

Having chosen our representative squad for publication in this post-Thanksgiving issue, we were both interested and surprised—in some instances—to view the teams chosen by two Maine dailies last weekend.

Most surprising was the omission of versatile Vern Moulton from first team or honorable mention on either squad.

Almost as shocking was the inclusion by one paper of a Maine tackle who failed to start a game until late in the season, and who did not impress even then, among the honorable mentions.

Embarrassing was a switch in cuts that gave Bill Tarazawich mistaken identity.

Sooooooooo... away we go.

E—Thurlow Cooper, Maine—From here to All-New England and Little All-America... helmet and shoulders above state's ballplayers.

T—John Liljestrand, Bates—a giant at 6' 4", 240 pounds... big and busy.

C—Lee Mathieu, Colby—small (176) as centers go, but rock-ribbed in unsteady mule-train.

G—Carroll Denbow, Maine—another lightweight (165)... rough and tough. Back in '57.

G—Normie Cole, Maine—not spectacular, but dependable... called defensive signals for Bears.

B—Vern Moulton, Maine—all round dynamo who blocked, tackled, ran with equal skill... can play half or full.

B—Bob Martin, Bates—Best back in State... his 99 points gave him tie for NE scoring honors.

B—Neil Stinneford, Colby—Mercury-footed halfback... trouble beyond line of scrimmage.

B—Ray Hostetter, Maine—power-packed mighty mite... could run over or around tacklers.

TURKEY SCRAPS—Boxing enthusiasts can now receive expert instruction from George Mayo, a University junior and former Maine amateur middleweight champ. Mayo is available from 3-5 every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in the boxing room. ... Still agitation for informal hockey at Maine—more to follow next week on this subject. ... Watch intramural basketball for action and thrills. The race promises to be a real dogfight. ... Chet Jenkins, retired Maine track coach, is in Melbourne, Australia, viewing the '56 Olympics. A large contribution by former Maine track stars who performed under Jenkins' wing was instrumental in sending Chet and the Missus to the Land Down Under. ... Attendance up 20 per cent in Yankee Conference football. ... Connecticut's cross country wizard, Lew Steiglitz, cut the tape in second place at the IC4A's. Broke the previous meet record in a losing cause—the eighth record he has broken this fall.

Within The Walls

Fraternity and dormitory teams burned the hardwoods in the opening of intramural basketball play this week.

Gordie Wilson of Oak led all scorers Monday, but in a losing cause. Wilson draped the twines for 21 points as the Oakies were edged by Dunn 4, 42-35. Hal Howard netted 15, Bob Carmichael 13 for Dunn.

Unusual Tilt
Hannibal Hamlin walloped Corbett 3, 46-28 in an unusual tilt—unusual because Corbett failed to hit from the foul line. HHH dropped in ten. Harry Peterson threw in seven floor goals and three Annie Oakleys to pace Hamlin. Will Leighton of Corbett took game honors with 18.

Balance and more balance gave North Dorm 12 a 67-54 win over neighbors ND 9. Pete Hanscom had 16 markers, Jim Steenstra, Pete Bas-tow, and Elmer Wilcox 14 apiece. Wheaton of Dorm 9 plunked home 18.

These were the only scores available at press time.

List Schedule
Next week's schedule: Monday, 7 p.m.—Dunn 1-Corbett 3, Dunn 2-ND 6; 8—HHH-ND12, ND 9-Newman; 9—Corbett 1-Dunn 4, Corbett 2-ND 7. Tuesday, 7—Phi Mu-Theta Chi, TKE-Sigma Nu; 8—SAE-Sigma Chi, Phi Kap-Phi Eta; 9—Phi Gam-Alpha Gam, Delta Tau-ATO; Wednesday, 7—Oak-Off Campus, ND 10-Cabins; 8—Hart 1-Corbett 4, Hart 2-ND 8; 9—Dunn 3-Mobile, ND 5-ND 11; Thursday, 7—TEP-Beta Theta, Lambda Chi-Kappa Sig; 8—Phi Mu-Sigma Nu, Theta Chi-Sigma Chi; 9—TKE Phi Eta, SAE-Phi Kap.

HOPEFUL that his team will improve on last year's 6-12 record is Maine basketball coach Hal Woodbury.

Call Issued

Head track coach Ed Styryna has issued a call for indoor track candidates. Practice sessions are now being held in the Fieldhouse. Interested candidates are requested to report as soon as possible.

Styryna also announced that the annual Freshman-Sophomore Track meet scheduled for Dec. 8 has been postponed until Dec. 15.

Bears Display Individualism

By Joe McCarthy

Though they failed to cop the Yankee Conference Football title, Maine was not without leaders for individual league honors during the past season.

Figures released last week by the YC publicity office list five Bears who compiled outstanding statistical records this fall.

Mr. All-Everything, Thurlow Cooper was the top Yankon pass receiver. Coop pulled in 10 passes, covering 173 yards and accounting for two touchdowns.

Halfback Charlie Thibodeau had the best rushing average with 224 yards gained in 26 carries for an average of 8.62. Lenny King of Connecticut placed first in this department by virtue of the fact that he moved the ball 84 times in 4 games for 412 yards. His per try average was 4.90 yards.

Ken Parady captured third spot in the passing department. The Great Works quarterback attempted 31 passes and completed 13 for a 41.9 percentage.

Bower Third
Bower was third highest scorer with 18 points. King again led that department scoring six TD's.

Over the whole season, Hostetter was the leading ground gainer. Ray ground out 381 yards in 88 carries, an average of 4.3 yards. He also led the team scoring with 36 points.

Bower had the best per carry average. He picked up 315 yards on 42 carries for a 7.5 average.

As a team, the Bears out-gained their opponents by 851 yards. Maine's ground offense was 1,728 yards to the opponents 877. Total offense, passing and running, has Maine with a total of 2,261 yards to 1,525 for the opponents.

The Pale Blue racked up 162 points to just 60 for their seven foes.

Seasonal Recap
Recapping the season, the Black Bears crushed the defending Yankee Conference champions, Rhode Island,

Eight Lettermen Bolster Series, Yankon Hopes

"We'll run—when we get the ball."

Optimistic and pessimistic words from Maine basketball coach Hal Woodbury as the Bears enter final practice sessions for Wednesday's opener at Bowdoin.

Many of the faces are new this year, but the story remains the same—long on speed, short on height.

Tallest Man
Tallest man on the Maine roster is newcomer Dick Smith. A sophomore with limited experience, Smith is six-four. Among candidates vying for starting berths Ron Boynton is the tower at 6-2½.

The Bears close out their fourth week of preliminary work tomorrow. Woodbury has pared the squad to 15, including lettermen Thurlow Cooper and Pete Kosty, and junior Dave Rand who reported late after the completion of the football season.

Narrowed List
"I have now narrowed my list of probable starters to nine," Woodbury said Tuesday.

"At forwards, Boynton, Tom Seavey, and 'Dud' Coyne have the nod. At center Cooper or Frank Smith will open while my guards will come from Keith Mahaney, Bob Jones, Dick Libby," the coach added.

Kosty is a doubtful starter due to a leg injury suffered on the gridiron.

Seavey and Mahaney would seem to hold the key to the Bears' success. Both are lettermen, returning from military service. And both are record-holders.

Record Holders
"Tiger Tom" holds the record for most field goals scored in one game (18 against Rhode Island in 1953.) Mahaney is the school's top individual scorer—39 points against Bates

In addition to his scoring feats, "Kapering Keith" is an adroit ball-handler and playmaker.

The Bears face a gruelling twenty game schedule. Nine State Series tilts are carded, eight Yankee Conference battles, and independent duels with Northeastern (2), and Brandeis.

Butterfield Cuts Frosh Squad

Freshman basketball coach Jack Butterfield has reduced his squad to 16 in a final cut announced Wednesday.

The Cubs inaugurate their season next Saturday, meeting Maine Maritime Academy in a preliminary to the Maine-Vermont game.

The Middies will be the first of 12 opponents on the Frosh schedule.

Squad members are:

just thinking

Chemical progress is autoclaves, test tubes, distillation towers . . . hydrocarbons, heterocyclic compounds . . . processes, polymerizations, products.

But mostly, chemical progress is thinking . . . men thinking. Little men, big men, medium size men . . . in lab coats, business suits, overalls . . . all of them, always, thinking.

Thinking up new products . . . new ways to make chemicals and new ways to use them. Thinking up more comfort, more convenience, better health, for everyone.

Always, the old things have to be improved, and the new things have to be proved. It takes more thinking. The thinking never stops. And so chemical progress never stops. It's that way at Koppers.

You can be one of these men, thinking. You can create some of the chemical progress that's made at Koppers. The products are many . . . the opportunities myriad. Consider a career with Koppers; send the coupon today.
