THE ORONO CAMPUS

The University of Maine, with its seven colleges and four schools, is the largest campus in the statewide university system. There is plenty of elbow room on its 1,200 acres, where the student is offered the diversity and challenge of a large university in the invigorating atmosphere of a small college. Close personal contact among students, and among students and faculty, is a tradition at Orono, where one knows one’s neighbors and teachers.

In 1968, the State Legislature created a new system of public higher education for Maine. This action unified the University and the five state colleges into one “cohesive structure of public education in the State of Maine.”

Orono is a cosmopolitan campus in a classic New England setting. Last year, students from 45 states and 25 countries studied here. More than 20 percent of the total enrollment of 11,000 students is admitted from outside the state of Maine.

There is ample opportunity for students to enrich themselves academically and socially outside the classroom. There are seven scholastic honor societies, four non-scholastic honor societies, 22 departmental and professional honor societies, 56 associations, clubs and organizations, and six religious groups. Nineteen fraternities and 10 sororities have chapters at Orono.

The campus is located one mile from the center of Orono, an attractive town of about 10,000 population, and 10 miles from Bangor, the state’s third largest city. It is in the center of the state’s year-round outdoor recreation area, with ski slopes, scores of ponds, lakes, streams, and the beautiful Maine coast within easy driving distance.

Interstate Route 95, a scenic four-lane highway that bisects the state north to south to the New Hampshire state line, passes within a mile of the campus. Air travelers land at Bangor International Airport.

The University of Maine offers programs in physical education, intercollegiate athletics, intramural sports, recreation and related club activities. These programs are recognized as an integral part of the educational process which the university controls and supports within the limitations of budget, staff, equipment, and facilities. These programs are to promote educational leadership, physical fitness, opportunity for recreational pursuits, and athletic excellence through instruction and competition.

ADMINISTRATION

and master’s degrees in mathematics, Dr. Lick earned his doctorate at the University of California in Riverside.

Prior to taking the presidency of Georgia Southern, he was dean of the School of Sciences and Health Professions at Old Dominion University, vice president for academic affairs at Russell Sage College and chairman of the math department at Drexel University.

He is married and he and his wife, Marilyn, have three children.

DR. DALE W. LICK
Dr. Dale W. Lick, 48, has been named the 16th president of the University of Maine, effective Sept. 1, 1986. Dr. Lick comes to the University of Maine after serving for eight years as president of Georgia Southern College in Statesboro, Ga., where he was also a professor of mathematics and computer science. During his tenure at Georgia Southern, he was a guiding force in moving the school’s athletic programs into Division One and this past year the Georgia Southern football team won the Division 1-AA national championship.

STU HASKELL, JR.
UM’s Director of Physical Education and Athletics is Stuart Haskell, Jr. Stu, who is the first UM graduate and Maine native (Lincoln) to hold the Director’s position, succeeded Harold Westerman on June 1, 1982. Stu has been a member of the university’s staff for nearly 29 years, serving as Assistant Director of Publicity between 1957 and 1965 and as Business Manager of Athletics between 1966 and 1983. He served as Director of Informational Services for the public schools of Evanston, Ill. in 1965 and early 1966. Stu is a journalism graduate of Maine and was employed for three years as a sportswriter for the Bangor Daily News and one year as Editor of The Republican Journal in Belfast in the mid-1950’s. He and his wife, Gloria, are the parents of four children. This year he is vice president of the New England College Athletic Conference; Chairman, ECAC Division One baseball in New England; a member of the executive committee, Hockey East; secretary-treasurer of the North Atlantic Basketball Conference; a member of the Executive Committee of the Yankee Conference; and a member of the national NCAA Division I-AA football ranking committee.
FOOTBALL AT MAINE

It all started in 1878 when an unidentified junior attempted to kick a round ball over Brice Hall (now Oak Hall) in his leisure time. History doesn't record whether or not he ever succeeded or how many pines of glass he broke in the process, but he sowed the seeds of a game which was officially launched at the University of Maine in 1892. That game was football.

The first few years were not fruitful ones for the UM football team. From 1892 to 1900, the squad posted a 10-28 record with one tie. One important development occurred in 1896 when Jack Abbott, a Dartmouth graduate, was hired as Maine's first full-time football coach. It was also during this early period that systematic training was introduced and the use of a regular training table began.

The 1901 to 1920 period saw the first appearance of "Bananas," the black bear mascot, and the hiring of former Harvard star Jack Forley as head coach in 1901.

In 1921, "Foxy" Fred Brice began a 20-year coaching career at Maine which saw Black Bear teams win 79 games against only 58 losses and 15 ties. An innovative man, Brice specialized in trick plays and after a building year Maine went on to win State Series titles in seven of the next eight years. Tabbed as one of the finest periods in UM football history, the years between 1925 and 1934 saw the Bears win unofficial New England titles in 1925, 1927, and 1928 and share one in 1926. From '31 to '34 Maine won 12 straight State Series games.

The years between 1941 and 1950 saw teams depleted of personnel by the war, several coaching changes, and a record of 26 wins, 28 losses and 4 ties. The most outstanding player of the period was Jack Zollo, a guard who suffered severe wounds in the war. He led Maine to a 6-1 record in '47 and was named to the All-America team.

In 1947, Maine along with the five other land-grant universities in New England formed the Yankee Conference, the first college football league of note in the east. UM won its first Conference crown just two years later, in 1949, under a new coaching staff—one of the finest ever assembled in New England football history. Head coach during 1949 and 1950 was Dave Nelson, who later became Delaware's most successful coach. His assistants were Harold "Westy" Westerman, who became Maine's winningest coach upon succeeding Nelson in 1951; Mike Lude, later head coach at Colorado State; and John Cuddeback.

The Westerman Era lasted from '51 to '66 and saw Maine teams win 80, lose only 38 and tie seven and chalk up 15 straight winning records. The '51 and '61 Bears were undefeated and the '65 team went to the Tangerine Bowl and won the Lambert Cup. Maine won Yankee Conference championships in 1951, 1952, 1961, and 1965. Two players, guard Tom Golden and linebacker John Huard, were named All-Americans during Westy's coaching career.

The year 1966 saw Westerman succeed Dr. Rome Rankin as Athletic Director and after the 1967 season he retired as head coach. He was succeeded by Walter Abbott, the popular line coach during the sixties under Westerman. After two seasons below .500, the 1969 Bears posted a 5-4 record.

Former Boston College assistant Jack Bicknell took over the Bears' helm in 1976 and immediately led Maine to a 6-5 record. In 1980, tailback Leonard Bouvier earned All-America honors after setting school and New England records with 1,622 rushing yards on 349 carries.

Ron Rogerson took over the coaching duties in 1981 and reinstalled the Wing-T offense developed at Maine in early fifties. After a 3-7-1 first season, Rogerson molded a championship team in 1982 and captured a share of the Yankee Conference championship. The title was Maine's sixth. Rogerson was named 1982 Yankee Conference Coach of the Year. Halfback Lorenzo Bouvier completed a sparkling career by breaking the then New England career rushing record with 3,828 yards. Along with Curt Warner of Penn State, Bouvier was named Exemplary Player of the Year by Football Roundup Magazine and the Downtown Athletic Club of New York.

Following the championship season, Maine experienced two disappointing years in 1983 and 1984. Shortly after the end of the '84 season, Rogerson left Maine for a position at Princeton and was replaced by former All-Star Dartmouth quarterback Buddy Teevens. The hiring of Teevens, now the youngest coach in Division I football, sparked excitement. As offensive coordinator at Boston University, Teevens helped develop the offense that powered the Terriers to several appearances in the NCAA playoffs.

Teevens didn't disappoint the Black Bear followers as his first-ever collegiate team finished with a solid 6-5 record and a third place tie in the Yankee Conference after being relegated to last place in a preseason poll of other conference coaches. Enroute to the winning season the Bears won three of their final four games, including a 45-40 upset of New Hampshire and a stunning 10-7 win over Delaware at Newark. It marked Maine's first win over Delaware in 11 tries.
A veteran and talent-laden offense paired with a restructured and unproven defense brings both promise and question marks to the University of Maine Black Bears' 1986 campaign.

The offense, which lost just one starter from 1985, will be refined in 1986 after its Multiple I debut under new head coach, Eugene "Buddy" Teevens, last year. Maine players adapted quickly to the new offense and posted a 6-5 record in 1985, only the second winning season for a Black Bear football team in the past 10 years. Last season the Multiple I under Teevens featured the pass with quarterback Bob Wilder completing 172 aerials in 341 attempts for 1,902 yards, all new school single season records.

Wilder, now a junior, returns to run the offense and so do a stable of outstanding pass catchers, including junior split end Sergio Hebra, who caught 57 for 812 yards and six touchdowns. He will get plenty of help from flanker Steve Roth and wide receivers Dan Gordon, healed after a hip injury inactivated him last year, and former quarterback Scott Venditto. Tight ends Tony Lanza and Chris Peucker will also get into the aerial act.

But despite all the passing guns available to him, Coach Teevens will not forget the run. Returning is last year's top ground-gainer, sophomore Doug Dorsey, who carried 204 times for 881 yards and 12 touchdowns before going down with a knee injury in the next to last game.

In fact, this season Teevens would like to see the offense a bit more balanced between the pass and the run than it was last season. "We would like to get to the point where our offense would be nearly 50-50 between the pass and the run, but that will depend on a great many factors," says the young Bear boss.

Perhaps the Bears' biggest loss, offensively, was a player who didn't start until the final game of the season. He is tailback Lance Theobald who carried 125 times for 613 yards and scored the touchdown that enabled the Bears to defeat Delaware, 10-7. Theobald concluded his collegiate career by winning the Jerry Nason Senior Achievement Award.

Defensively, however, Maine returns just three starters from 1985 and only one of them is apt to start at the same position he did last year. Among the returnees are co-captain Steve Donahue at an outside linebacking spot, tackle Steve Violette, who last year was a noseguard, and free safety Jay Davenport, who played last season as a cornerback.

Among those missing from the defense that was ranked number two in the conference against the run are outside linebacker Skip Foley, tackles Ray Paquette and Ron Doody, inside linebackers Jamie Keefe and Mark Coutts and free safety Marc Ware. Foley has signed a free agent contract with the Cincinnati Bengals, Keefe with the New York Jets and Paquette with the New England Patriots.

This season the Maine coaching staff will seek to continue the progress made on defense, looking for a more aggressive style of play from the linebackers and interior linemen while adding speed in the defensive backfield.

THE BLACK BEAR OFFENSE
Potent—and at times explosive. That might aptly describe the Bear offensive arsenal. Triggered by quarterback Bob Wilder, an All-New England honorable mention, the pass-oriented offense will utilize the receiving talents of Sergio Hebra, second team All-Yankee Conference, Steve Roth, who grabbed 27 aerials last season; Dan Gordon, who caught 16 passes as a freshman but who was hobbled with a hip injury last season; and Scott Venditto, converted from a quarterback position and who excelled during the spring practice sessions. Additionally, tight ends Tony Lanza, 16 catches, and Chris Peucker, 7 receptions, along with tailback Doug Dorsey, 21 catches, give quarterback Wilder plenty of options on the field. The running game should also be sound with Dorsey returning after an exceptional freshman year in which he tied Lorenzo Bouter's school record for most touchdowns by rushing with 12. He won't be a one-man offense, however, because two returning fullbacks should share the load. They are Mike Walsh, who ran for 152 yards in 36 carries, and converted linebacker Jeff Cosgrove. Behind Dorsey at the tailback position will be Jim Fox, who had an excellent spring practice, along with veterans Chris Boswell and Randy Hutchins. The runners will operate behind a veteran offensive line that includes tackles Joe McDonald and Chuck Kasmer, guards Dave Ingalls and Joe Colasacco and co-captain Tim Cahill. The offensive line has some depth this season, particularly at the tackle position where Mike Bellman, who was ineligible last season, will make a determined bid to become a starter. Another outstanding backup tackle is veteran Tom Dioszeghy while 6-5, 255-pound Seth Koeppe1 will be moved to the backup center spot. Also figuring prominently in the early plans for the offensive line is 6-6, 255-pound Scott Hough.

The placekicking duties will be handled by Peter Borjestedt, a Swedish import, who last season scored 58 points on eight field goals and 34 of 35 extra points. Among his field goals was a 51-yarder. The soccer-style boomer will be backed up by freshman Mike Petit of Biddeford.

THE BLACK BEAR DEFENSE

Untested would be an accurate description of the 1986 defensive unit which will need particularly to shore up the linebacking and defensive backfield positions. Two veteran outside linebackers return in cocaptain Steve Donahue and senior Chris Gillmann, but depth will be a problem there. Sophomores Mike Dennino and David Otis are the most likely candidates. With the loss of inside linebackers Jamie Keefe and Mark Coutts, the Bears are faced with a major rebuilding situation. Steve Root, who started several games while Coutts recovered from mononucleosis, is a logical starter at one of the positions while Nick Penno, who saw action on specialty teams, may start at the other. Another possibility is junior Marty Glebus, who was a candidate for the club as a freshman but then dropped off the squad for two years. A weightlifting enthusiast, Marty is one of the strongest players on the club. Another possibility is Joe Trefethan, a converted fullback.

Only Jason Davenport, a senior, returns from last year's defensive backfield, and this season he is slated to move to the free safety position. Cornerback candidates include two players who saw action last season on a limited scale, Stu Pelkey and Tom DiGeromino. Also showing promise at that post are Keith James, a transfer from Boston University, and sophomore Joe Coleman. Jeff Durr, a starter two years ago before being felled by injuries, is another being considered for the cornerback job. At the strong safety position the nod may go to Rob Sterling, a transfer from Montgomery Junior College in Maryland. Sterling, who came to Maine in the spring semester, was a member of the Black Bear indoor track team, participating in the 60-yard dash and long jump.

The interior defensive line lost Ron Doody and Ray Paquette but Steve Violette, a starting noseguard last year, will be shifted to one of the tackles spots and Bob Kreppen, who saw considerable action last year, will play the other. The noseguard position should belong to Dave Bochtler, if his injured knee responds to treatment. Backing up the tackle positions will be Scott Nason, who has returned to school after a year's absence, and Troy Conquest.

Perhaps the most undecided position on the squad is that of punter. Last season the punting was done by Jeff Topliff, a former outstanding basketball player at Maine. This season the punting chores may go to one of several people, including Rick Kidd, Mike Petit or one or two other incoming freshmen.

The keys to the restructured Maine defense this season may rest with the noseguard position, the linebackers and the free safety slot. If the injured knee of Dave Bochtler holds up he will be the anchor of a good defensive line. Last season as a backup he was credited with 45 tackles and two quarterback sacks. Steve Donahue on the outside should have his best year yet and last year was pretty good with 53 tackles, three fumble recoveries and three quarterback sacks. Steve Root must provide leadership at the inside linebacker spot. He was credited with 51 tackles, one interception and four pass breakups last year. Jay Davenport brings plenty of savvy to the free safety position as a senior. Last year he was credited with 57 tackles and led the team in pass breakups with eight. He also had three interceptions.
Maine's head football coach is Eugene "Buddy" Teevens, who in early March 1985 became the University's 30th football coach in the 94-year history of the program. He succeeded Ron Rogerson who had resigned in December, 1984, to become the head coach at Princeton. At 28, Teevens was the youngest head coach in Division I football.

Teevens came to Maine from Boston University, one of the most successful football programs in the Yankee Conference. While with the Terriers, he served as offensive coordinator and also coached the BU quarterbacks and receivers. Teevens was an integral part of building three consecutive NCAA playoff teams (1982, 1983 and 1984) that featured such Yankee Conference standouts as quarterback Jim English and flanker Bill Brooks.

Teevens is a 1978 graduate of Dartmouth where he completed an outstanding football career. He was the Ivy League's Most Valuable Player in 1978 and captained his senior year team. That season, he completed 154 of 259 passes for 1,808 yards and nine touchdowns to earn All-ECAC and All-America honors. He also quarterbacked the Blue squad in the 1979 Blue-Grey Football Classic. A multi-sport athlete at Dartmouth, Teevens also earned three letters playing on the Big Green hockey team.

After graduation, Teevens pursued a Master's Degree at Depauw University in Indiana where he also was a graduate assistant football coach. He left Depauw in 1980 to become an assistant at BU.

Teevens is a strong believer in the passing attack and reoriented the Maine offense towards a passing game.

COACHES

TIM MURPHY — OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR/OFFENSIVE LINE
Tim Murphy (Springfield ’78) came to Maine after serving as the offensive line and tight end coach at Boston University for three seasons. During that period, the Terriers made three consecutive trips to the NCAA playoffs and won three Yankee Conference titles. Murphy was a four-year starter at linebacker and defensive end at Springfield where he won the College’s Most Courageous Football Player Award twice and Most Courageous Athlete Award in his senior year. In 1977, he was named to the UPI All-New England team. After graduation, he spent two seasons at Brown where he first was a scout for the varsity team and offensive line coach for the freshman squad, and then served as varsity offensive line coach and JV head coach. In 1981, he moved on to Lafayette where he coached the defensive line for a season. Murphy is single and lives in Orono.

BRUD BICKNELL — RUNNING BACKS
Harrison “Brud” Bicknell (Ohio Wesleyan ’81) will again coach Maine’s running backs this fall after having served as a graduate assistant at Wake Forest in 1984. While at the Winston-Salem, NC campus, Bicknell coached the Demon Deacon tight ends. Bicknell began his college playing career at Harvard where he put in two years before transferring to Ohio Wesleyan in 1978. While at Ohio Wesleyan, he was actively involved with the school’s athletic program, serving as President of the Physical Education Club and on the Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics. After exhausting his eligibility, Bicknell served as a student assistant, coaching the receivers. In 1981, following graduation, he went to Dublin High School in Ohio to teach math and coach football and softball. In 1983, he moved on to Wake Forest. Bicknell is married and lives in Orono.

JOHN LOVETT — DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR/DEFENSIVE BACKS
Maine’s defensive coordinator is John Lovett (C.W. Post ’73) who came to Orono after a season as an assistant coach with the New York Jets of the National Football League. While with the Jets, Lovett was responsible for the statistical breakdown of game films using an IBM PC AT computer, assisting with the defensive notebook and game plan and running the scouting team. A four-year player at C.W. Post, Lovett captained his senior team. After graduation he received his Master’s of Education from the University of Denver and then went on to assistant coaching positions at St. Joseph’s Regional High School in Montvale, NJ, Union College and Brown before joining the N.Y. Jets in 1984. In addition to football, he also has coaching experience in basketball, track, skiing, wrestling and baseball. Lovett is single and lives in Orono.

STEVE ROBICHAUD — DEFENSIVE LINE
Steve Robichaud (Springfield ’78) returned to Maine as the Black Bears’ defensive line coach after four and a half years as the offensive line coach at Worcester Polytechnic Institute. He was also responsible for the WPI specialty teams and supervised the team’s weight training program. Prior to his stint at WPI, Robichaud was a graduate assistant at Maine under current Boston College coach Jack Bicknell. During this period, Robichaud coached the defensive ends and was the defensive coordinator for the JV team. In college, he was a four-year regular at linebacker and co-captained his freshman squad. During his senior year, he also coached Springfield's freshman basketball team. After graduation, he received his Master's of Education from Maine. Steve and his wife, Becky, and young daughter live in Orono.

MIKE HUTCHINS - DEFENSIVE ENDS
Mike Hutchins (Maine '76) is Maine's defensive ends coach. The only coach returning from the 1984 staff, this is Hutchins' first full-time college position. In 1984 he served as a part-time coach assisting in the development and evaluation of the offensive backs. Following last year's departure of Ron Rogerson and his staff, Hutchins became a full-time coach, responsible for recruiting and academic counseling. He began his college career at Dean Junior College in 1973 and then transferred to Maine. He played both football and baseball at Orono. From 1977 to 1980, he served as assistant football coach at Brewer High and head baseball coach at Brewer Junior High. In 1981, he became head football coach at Orono High where he compiled a 25-5-0 record in three years, winning one State Class B title and finishing second once. Mike and his wife, Carol, live in Orrington.

TIM FITZGERALD - LINEBACKERS
Tim Fitzgerald (Mount Union '80) is Maine's linebacker coach and came to Orono after three successful seasons as a part-time assistant coach at Boston College. While at BC, Fitzgerald handled a wide variety of duties including working with the Eagle tight ends, offensive tackles, wide receivers and the defensive secondary. Fitzgerald played four years at linebacker at Mount Union in Canton, Ohio, earning letters in his junior and senior years. After graduation, he earned his Master's degree from Indiana State while also working as a graduate assistant coach responsible for the defensive secondary and linebackers. In 1982, he moved on to Boston College where, in addition to coaching, he completed 15 hours towards a Doctor of Education degree. Fitzgerald is single and lives in Orono.

Major: CHEMICAL ENGINEERING
College: ENGINEERING AND SCIENCE

Maine Football: Joe came to Maine as a fullback and saw limited action in his freshman year on the special teams. He was converted to an inside linebacker during spring practice this year. Has the best vertical jump ability on the team recorded at 31 inches. Joe can also bench press 400 pounds. He is expected to challenge for one of the inside linebacker posts left vacant by the graduation of Mark Coutts and Jamie Kete.

High School: Joe lettered four years in football at Orono High School under coach Leo Pelleriti and was named second team All-Conference as a fullback. He also participated in indoor and outdoor track and was the state champion in the shot put and the 220-yard dash. Joe was also a member of the Student Council.

Family: Joe is the son of David and Elizabeth Trefethen and has two brothers, Steve and John.

Maine Football: Steve became a starter as a junior at the nose guard position and had an excellent year, making 30 tackles and being credited with three quarterback sacks for losses totaling 20 yards. His best games were against Massachusetts, with five tackles and a quarterback sack, and Richmond, four tackles and a quarter sack. This season he will be switched to defensive tackle. Steve played very little in his first two years at Maine.

High School: Steve played three years of football at Winslow High School for his father, Harold “Tank” Violette, who also played football at Maine. Steve was an All-Maine selection in his junior and senior years as a linebacker and kicker. He was the top defensive player as a senior and was the top scholar/athlete in his conference as a senior. Steve also played hockey and baseball.

Interests: Water and snow skiing, fishing, racquetball, weightlifting.

Family: Steve is the son of Harold and Harriet Violette and has a sister, Debra.
