The University of Maine

The University of Maine is the state's center of learning, discovery, and service to the public. As the flagship campus of the University of Maine System and the state's land-grant and sea-grant institution, the University of Maine has the unique responsibility for providing high-quality undergraduate and graduate education programs, public services, and basic and applied research.

Located in Orono, within close proximity to the ocean, lakes and mountains, the University offers an inspiring learning environment. There is plenty of open space on its 1,200 acres, where students are offered the diversity and the challenge of a large university in an invigorating atmosphere of a small college. The campus is located 10 miles north of Bangor, Maine's third largest city.

The University's undergraduate and graduate educational offerings are built upon a liberal arts and sciences foundation complemented with profession-oriented education in a wide range of disciplines, many of which are found nowhere else in the state. Because of their responsibility to teach, conduct research and serve the public, faculty members are able to incorporate the new knowledge they uncover with classroom activities, often giving students hands-on experience in the research process.

The campus houses the expansive Raymond H. Fogler Library and a number of respected modern research facilities to give the student an excellent learning environment.

Student activities at the University create an important balance between the classroom experience and the personal life of the individual scholar. The 1,600-seat Maine Center for the Arts attracts some of the world's top performers to the University of Maine campus.

The University offers its students, faculty, and staff, as well as the people of the community and the state, an outstanding athletic tradition. Several Black Bear teams have excelled to regional and national prominence, including the Black Bear ice hockey team, the 1993 NCAA Division 1 national champions.

Included on Maine's athletic staff is a full-time academic coordinator responsible for closely monitoring the progress of each of the 600 varsity student-athletes. Coaches also monitor and advise their student-athletes, frequently holding meetings specifically to discuss academic situations. Study halls and special tutorial sessions are scheduled daily as a way to enhance the learning process. This support and close scrutiny has been a significant reason that the overall grade point average of student-athletes has been higher than that of the general student body. The primary goal of the University and the athletic department is to see each individual reach his or her academic potential.

The office of recreation and intramurals offers organized competition in a number of events throughout the year. Students can participate in a variety of intramural and club sports, while open facilities are also available for informal play.

Maine's 19 Division I athletic teams entertain more than 100 intercollegiate events on campus each year, attracting over 200,000 spectators.

The Department of Athletics contributes to the University goals of attracting motivated undergraduate and graduate students and producing graduates with the intellectual preparedness necessary for the personal and societal challenges of today and tomorrow.
DR. FREDERICK HUTCHINSON
President

By action of the University of Maine System Board of Trustees, Dr. Frederick E. Hutchinson became the 16th president of the University of Maine on April 1, 1992. A native of Atkinson, Maine, Hutchinson was born June 1, 1930. In 1952, he married Dione Williams, and they have two daughters, Juliana and Karen.

Hutchinson earned his bachelor's (53) and master's degrees in agronomy at the University of Maine. He earned his doctorate in agronomy from Pennsylvania State University.

Hutchinson was praised by the campus community, the media, and the citizens of the state for his handling of a strict budget cut in his first month on campus.

In addition, Hutchinson has given his support to the athletic program.

"I subscribe to the idea that athletics are a part of the University's image," said Hutchinson in an interview in MAINE, the publication of the University of Maine Alumni Association. "There are very good schools in the country that have built a tremendous image with athletic success.

"I'd like to see us maintain all of our sports, the major sports and the Olympic sports, because we need them both. What is important to me is to decide at what level we are going to compete and be sure that we are putting our athletes on the playing field with an equal chance."

Prior to returning to the University of Maine, Hutchinson was vice president for Academic Affairs and provost of The Ohio State University. He joined the faculty there in 1985 as director of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center. In 1986, he was named vice president for Agricultural Administration and dean of the College of Agriculture and later became acting provost on July 1, 1989. On Dec. 1, 1989, Hutchinson was permanently appointed to that position. In addition, he was named senior vice president for Academic Affairs and provost on Nov. 2, 1990.

As Ohio State's chief academic officer, Hutchinson was responsible for the academic environment on campus. Among the areas reporting to him were all instructional programs, the library system, the Office of Student Affairs, the Office of Minority Affairs, Continuing Education, the Biotechnology Center, the Graduate School, the Honors Center, ROTC, the Sea Grant College, the SuperComputer Center, the University Press, and the Wexner Center for the Visual Arts. The office also oversaw the promotion and tenure process for members of the faculty and initiated a recent revision to the undergraduate curriculum. Academic Affairs also worked with various offices and groups on campus to develop an action plan for the recruitment and retention of black students and a Hispanic action plan.

Before joining Ohio State, Hutchinson was executive director of the Board of International Food and Agricultural Development of the United States Agency for International Development. Earlier, he was a faculty member and vice president for Research and Public Services at UMaine.

Hutchinson joined the faculty at Maine in 1957. He held the positions of chairman of the Department of Plant and Soil Sciences from 1971–72; dean of the College of Life Sciences and Agriculture and director of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station from 1972–75; vice president for Research and Public Services from 1975–80; and acting vice president for Academic Affairs from 1980–81. He returned to his post as vice president for Research and Public Services from 1981–82, before taking the federal post.

He has authored numerous journal articles, technical bulletins, and research articles. In addition, he has presented invitational papers at numerous scientific and professional meetings and has participated in several international programs.

Hutchinson is recognized as a leader among agricultural administrators and was instrumental in building the research program at UMaine. He had a positive impact on the significant increase in federal, state and private grant support for research at UMaine.

He has served as chairman of the Maine Food and Farmland Study Commission, the Committee on Erosion and Sediment Control, and the Advisory Committee on the Selection of Coastal Natural Areas. In addition, he served as a member of the Governor's State Energy Resources Advisory Board, the Governor's Committee on Coastal Development Conservation, and the Governor's Land and Water Resources Council.

He has also held the positions of administrative advisor to four regional and interregional agricultural experiment station projects; chairman of the Northeast Association of Agricultural Experiment Station Directors and the Joint Committee under the Board of International Food and Agricultural Development.

From 1986–89, he was on the Board of Directors of Agriculture for the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges. In 1987, he chaired a panel of the National Academy of Sciences Board of Agriculture before accepting a one-year term as president of the Agricultural Research Institute in Washington, D.C.

Currently, he is a member of the Board of Directors for the International Center for Tropical Agriculture in Colombia.
Michael Ploszek, 38, begins his third year of leadership at UMaine. Ploszek was appointed director of athletics on August 20, 1991.

A creative and progressive administrator, Ploszek has made an impact on the Athletic Department and the state of Maine.

Ploszek designed and implemented the "Team Maine" concept, which is a comprehensive statewide outreach program developed to enhance the Athletic Department's relationship with various constituencies. The concept includes the A+ Attendance program which recognizes and encourages the academic achievement and dedication of Maine students in grades 7-12. Almost 500 students from 58 Maine schools participated during 1992-93.

In addition, "Team Maine" includes the "Dream Big Dreams" aspirations series, an annual high-school athletic director's visitation program with Walt Abbott and athletic staff members. Together, the "Dream Big Dreams" team made over 75 public speaking appearances in 1992-93 at schools, civic organizations, and various other meetings.

Ploszek is a founding member and co-director of the Maine Center for Coaching Education, a new initiative throughout the state created to enhance and upgrade the coaching profession throughout the high schools and recreation programs.

Under his direction, the Athletic Department implemented several budget reductions during the past two years and achieved an all-time high in private donations with over $750,000 raised through the newly created Black Bear Club in 1992-93.

Ploszek was an integral member of the NCAA Division I-AA Football Issue Committee, a group established to evaluate the wide scope and future of Division I-AA football. In addition, he was named director at large to the North Atlantic Conference's Executive Committee and is one of the three members of the HOKEY EAST Executive Committee.

Before coming to Maine, Ploszek had worked as assistant athletic director for development at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, New Jersey since 1986. He was responsible for all fund-raising activities related to Rutgers' 30 intercollegiate sports. While at Rutgers, he achieved athletic fund-raising records amounting to over $10 million.

A 1977 graduate of the University of Notre Dame with a bachelor's degree in business administration, Ploszek was a backup center for the Fighting Irish football team for two seasons.

Following graduation, he spent seven years working in sales, marketing, and management for United States Steel Corporation.

He then accepted a job as regional director of development for Notre Dame in the Chicago area, a position he held until his appointment at Rutgers in 1986.

Ploszek and his wife, Karen, have five children, Mike, 12; Lauren, 10; Matt, 8; Pete, 6; and Luke, 2. The Ploszek family resides in Orono.

Athletic Academic Support

Each Saturday when Margaret Zillioux attends a University of Maine football game she sees more than a team of athletes. Her sights go beyond athletic achievement and into the academics and personalities which lie beneath the helmets, shoulder pads, and blue and white uniforms.

As associate athletic director for academic support, Zillioux’s responsibilities include making the students aware of existing support services on campus like the tutoring service, the career center or the faculty advisor program. She also makes sure the students are attending class on a regular basis.

“1 work extremely closely with first-year students,” says Zillioux. “I wear many different hats. Some students need help with time management. Others need faculty advice or mediating with coaches. I try to ensure that the athletes get off to a good start.”

This season, Zillioux will work with first-year football players a month before they step into their first classroom at Maine. First-year head coach Jack Cosgrove has set aside hours during orientation to work strictly on academics.

Cosgrove, a former All-ECAC quarterback at Maine, realizes the importance of an education and the guidance an academic support coordinator can provide.

Each feels a strong, open relationship between coaches, athletes, and support staff is a necessity for academic success.

“He is very enthusiastic about this plan,” says Zillioux. “He’s given me a lot of authority. We want to prevent academic problems.”

Zillioux feels Cosgrove’s interest in academics is genuine, making her job more rewarding.

“He’s very involved with his kids academically,” says Zillioux. “There’s a lot of pressure on coaches around the country to say ‘academics are our first priority,’ but from my experience thus far, I think Jack is very sincere.”

Zillioux sees her role as a communicator with the student. She prefers working face-to-face, rather than writing memos or making telephone calls.

“I like to work closely with the students,” says Zillioux. “I want to work firsthand with their problems. If we’re going to solve any problems, the athletes need someone to trust.”

One way of earning that trust is by attending football practices, or by sitting near the 50-yard line at Alumni Field on a Saturday in the fall.

“If I talk to a player about his position, a good game he’s played, a couple of tackles, a touchdown, he may open up,” says Zillioux. “It’s important that I’m not always sitting across a desk.”

In addition to her work with the first-year students, Zillioux is involved with upperclass students with marginal grades and any students with questions, as well as students involved in the mandatory study hall.

“It’s important the students are actually studying in study hall,” she says. “We need to teach them not only to play football, but how to play the academic game.”

The work of Zillioux is a large reason that Maine’s grade point average and graduation rate for student-athletes is higher than that of the student body.
JACK COSGROVE
Head Coach

When Michael Ploszek, UMaine’s Director of Athletics, went searching for a head football coach, he looked no further than the offices which house Maine’s assistant coaches.

“We needed to make sure we got the right person,” said Ploszek. “We needed a fit that was right for the University of Maine at this time.”

With that, Jack Cosgrove, a former All-Yankee Conference quarterback at UMaine and the Black Bears’ offensive coordinator for the last four years, was named head coach at his alma mater on February 22. Cosgrove succeeded Kirk Ferentz, who resigned after three years at UMaine to become an assistant coach with the Cleveland Browns.

“As we went through the process of talking to a number of people and gathering a lot of input, it became clear that Jack Cosgrove’s depth of understanding as a football coach, as a person, as a member of the community was exactly what the University of Maine desired.”

For the 36-year-old Cosgrove, the announcement was a dream come true.

“Someone asked me if this was the best day of my life,” said Cosgrove at the press conference announcing his hiring. “Other than the day my daughter was born, this rates right up there. Is it my dream job? Right now it is.”

Cosgrove has seen a variety of coaching styles, while playing under Walter Abbott and Jack Bicknell at UMaine and serving as an assistant coach for Bicknell, Tim Murphy, Tom Lichtenberg and Ferentz.

“I hope my hiring is more the result of my hard work than the longevity aspect here at the University of Maine,” said Cosgrove. “Over the years here I have developed professionally as a coach and as a person.”

A 1978 graduate of Maine, he was an All-Yankee Conference quarterback and ECAC All-Star for the Black Bears in 1976. He still ranks as the fifth all-time leading passer in UMaine football history with 2,836 career yards.

Upon graduation from UMaine, Cosgrove was a graduate assistant coach with the Black Bears from 1978-81 under Bicknell. He later coached with Bicknell at Boston College from 1985-86 as a part-time assistant coach. He served as the head football coach at Stoughton High School from 1980-84.

He returned to UMaine in 1987 as the quarterbacks and receivers coach for Murphy. His guidance helped develop Mike Buck, the UMaine career passing leader, who led the Black Bears to their first NCAA Division I-AA playoff appearance in 1987.

In 1988, he was promoted to pass game coordinator and directed the YC’s top passing offense.

In 1989, he was promoted to offensive coordinator by Lichtenberg, the first-year head coach. Cosgrove coached the Yankee Conference’s top offensive team, as the Black Bears averaged over 440 yards a game in total offense en route to a school-record nine wins, the Yankee Conference championship and the school’s second NCAA Tournament appearance in three years.

From 1990-92, he served as offensive coordinator under Ferentz.

Cosgrove received his master’s in educational administration from UMaine in 1981.

He and his wife, Marilyn, live in Bangor with their daughter, Jeri, 1.
Cosgrove ran Maine's Wing-T offense from 1974-77.

Chuck Bresnahan, 33, begins his second season with the Black Bears as defensive coordinator.
Bresnahan comes to UMaine from Georgia Tech where he was inside linebackers coach since 1987.

A 1983 graduate of Navy with a bachelor’s degree in physical science, Bresnahan was a three-year letter winner for the Midshipmen football team. Navy was a three-time Commander in Chief Trophy winner. Bresnahan participated in the Garden State Bowl and the Liberty Bowl during his undergraduate years.
Upon graduation, Bresnahan served as a graduate assistant coach at Navy from 1983-84, before becoming a commissioned officer in 1984. He served in the Navy at Adak, Alaska from 1984-86, when he became an assistant coach at Navy.
Bresnahan is married and he and his wife, Erin, have two daughters, Megan, 4, and Caitlin, 2. The Bresnahans live in Orono.

PAUL DUNN
Offensive Coordinator, Offensive Line

Paul Dunn, 33, returns to the Orono campus for his fourth season as offensive line coach. Dunn came to UMaine after a year at Rutgers University, where he was offensive line coach and worked with the Scarlet Knights special teams.
A 1983 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh with a bachelor’s degree in administration of justice, Dunn was an offensive lineman at the University of Pittsburgh, where the Panthers participated in bowl games in each of his five seasons. He was a starter on the 1980 Gator Bowl Championship team, the 1982 Sugar Bowl Championship squad, and the 1983 Cotton Bowl squad.
Upon graduation, Dunn played for the Tampa Bay Bandits of the United States Football League in 1983. He then became a graduate assistant coach at Pittsburgh, serving on the 1984 Fiesta Bowl squad. He served as a graduate assistant coach at Penn State University from 1984-86, where he was a member of the 1986 Orange Bowl staff.
Dunn also served as the offensive line coach at Edinboro University in Pennsylvania from 1986-89.
Dunn and his wife, Melody, have three children, Katlyn, 6, Casey, 4, and Kelsey, 4 months. The Dunns reside in Orono.

KEVIN COOPER
Defensive Line

Kevin Cooper, 27, begins his first season as a full-time assistant coach at UMaine where he will guide the defensive line. Cooper served as a restricted earnings coach with the Black Bears last season with primary responsibilities with the inside linebackers.
Cooper came to UMaine after a pair of seasons as a graduate assistant coach at Ohio University under former UMaine head coach Tom Lichtenberg. Cooper received his master’s degree in sport management from Ohio in 1992.
A 1989 graduate of Dartmouth College with his bachelor’s degree in government, Cooper was a three-year letter winner for the Big Green. While at Dartmouth, he played linebacker for former UMaine head coach Buddy Teevens.
A native of Fairfield, Maine, Cooper was a three-sport standout at Lawrence High School. He was an All-State quarterback and defensive back for the State Champion Bulldogs while playing for his father, Pete, a former UMaine captain for Harold Westerman in 1963.
Cooper is married and he and his wife, Staci, live in Bangor.
STEVE SPAGNUOLO
Secondary

Steve Spagnuolo, 33, begins his first season as an assistant coach at the University of Maine. His primary responsibilities will be coaching the defensive secondary.

Spagnuolo most recently held an assistant coaching position with the Barcelona Dragons of the World League and then served as a talent scout with the San Diego Chargers.

From 1987-91, Spagnuolo was an assistant coach at the University of Connecticut, serving as the defensive coordinator for the Huskies in 1990 and 1991.

Prior to his service at Storrs, he was an assistant coach at Lafayette College from 1984-87.

A 1982 graduate of Springfield College with his bachelor's degree in physical education, Spagnuolo was a member of the varsity football team. In 1981, he was the recipient of the Norman C. Keith award, given to the top scholar-athlete on the football team. In 1982, he was received the school's Male Scholar-Athlete award when he graduated Magna Cum Laude.

Spagnuolo earned his master's degree in sport management from the University of Massachusetts in 1983. While at UMass, he served as a graduate assistant coach for a pair of seasons before being promoted to a full-time assistant in 1983.

Spagnuolo is single and will reside in the Orono area in the fall.

SCOTT WALKER
Running Backs, Recruiting Coordinator

Scott Walker, 31, is in his fourth season with the Black Bear staff. He serves as the recruiting coordinator and administrative assistant as well as running backs coach.

Walker came to UMaine after serving a season as the running backs coach at the University of Iowa, where he worked with Hawkeye offensive line coach Kirk Ferentz.

Previously, Walker was the recruiting coordinator and tight end coach at Purdue University, where he was responsible for implementing the current recruiting system used by the Boilermakers.

A 1984 graduate of Princeton University with a bachelor's degree in geology, Walker coached the freshmen team's defensive ends from 1982 through 1984. From there he moved on to the University of Texas as a graduate assistant coach and assistant recruiting coordinator. In 1985, he was the tight ends coach before moving on to Purdue.

He and his wife, Michelle, live in Orono.

He then transferred to Upsala College, where he was a member of the Vikings' football team in 1989.

The older brother of Black Bear tight end Brian Gaine, Brendan will take courses toward a master's degree in education in the fall.

He is single and resides in Orono.

Nick Mamula, 23, joins the Black Bear staff this season as a restricted earnings coach. Mamula will assist Paul Dunn with the offensive line.

Mamula comes to UMaine from Purdue University, where he completed his playing career as a center on the Boilermaker football team in 1992. As a senior, Mamula served as a co-captain and was the recipient of the Red Mackey Award for leadership and loyalty and the Leonard Wilson award for unselfishness and dedication.

Mamula received his bachelor's degree in history from Purdue in 1992.

A native of Fremont, Ohio, he was a first team All-State, All-Area and All-Conference selection at Hoffman Estates (Illinois) High School as an offensive and defensive tackle. He served as the team captain and was selected Most Valuable Player in 1987.

Mamula is single and will reside in Orono.
Dr. Robert Lehnhard begins his third season as strength and conditioning coach with the Black Bear football team.

Lehnhard is also the director of the Exercise Science Institute Laboratory of Work Physiology and an assistant professor in the College of Education at UMaine.

Lehnhard, who received his Ph.D in Exercise Physiology from The Ohio State University in 1984, also works with the other Black Bear athletic teams to develop specific conditioning and training programs.

Lehnhard has worked as the director of professional services at the Grant Fitness Center in Columbus, Ohio, where he directed cardiac rehabilitation and wellness programs.

Lehnhard has also served as a graduate teaching assistant at both The Ohio State University and the University of Michigan, where he performed metabolic and strength testing on many of each school's athletes.

Lehnhard is the author of several publications and presentations.

Lehnhard and his wife Holly, also an assistant professor in the College of Education, reside in Bangor.
Jack Cosgrove looks to put his mark on the University of Maine football team as he begins his initial year as head coach of the Black Bears. Cosgrove will start with a solid base established by former head coach Kirk Ferentz, who resigned in February to accept an assistant coaching position with the Cleveland Browns.

Last season, Ferentz guided Maine to a 6-5 record, his first winning campaign in three tries at Orono.

No stranger to UMaine football, Cosgrove is a 1978 UMaine graduate and a former All-Yankee Conference performer for Coach Jack Bicknell. Cosgrove has served the past six seasons as an assistant coach at UMaine, the last four years as offensive coordinator.

A former quarterback, Cosgrove will look to that position for leadership and poise on the offensive side. Two-year starter Emilio Colon is one of just three starters back on offense, but several players with game experience return.

Defensively, three-year starter Jemal Murph spearheads defensive coordinator Chuck Bresnahan's attack, which includes six starters.

OFFENSE

Offensive Line: All-Conference tackle Dan Jones has graduated, as have starters Dick Donahue, Chuck Keegan, and Paul Fuller.

Senior John Pourby was a starter at right tackle last season and will anchor the offensive line this year from that same position. Sophomore Steve Stinson, who was a starter at times as a true freshman in 1992, inherits Jones' left tackle position. Sophomore Mike Missbrenner and redshirt freshman Dave Riatt will share duties at left guard.

Dave Clark, who started for the injured Fuller at the end of the season, is the center. He is backed up by a pair of redshirt freshmen, Tom Bingham and Brendan Parker.

Senior John Hevesy, an experienced linemen at all positions, is the right guard.

Sophomore Brian Gaine, the UMaine Rookie of the Year last season, is the starter at tight end. Gaine had 21 receptions for 212 yards and three touchdowns in 1992. A pair of redshirt freshmen, Lenny Cole and Mitch Maury, are the backups.

Quarterbacks: Junior Emilio Colon settled into the quarterback's position last fall and became one of the Yankee Conference's best. Colon completed 157 of 256 passes for 1,823 yards with 13 touchdowns and six interceptions in 1992. He already ranks fourth on the UMaine career passing list and is less than 1,400 yards from moving to second.

Junior Joe Marsilio, who saw limited action as a letter winner last season, is Colon's backup. Junior Brian Goff, a transfer from Chowan Junior College, was impressive in the annual spring game. Freshman Chris McKean was a redshirt in 1992.

Running Backs: Gone is Ben Sirmons who last season as a senior became just the third back in the 101-year history of UMaine football to rush for over 1,000 yards in a season. Sirmons was an All-Yankee Conference selection after rushing for 1,214 yards and 10 touchdowns in 1992.

Sophomore Ray Baur, the team's leading returning rusher from last season, is the projected starter at tailback. Baur was forced to action at fullback as a true freshman in 1992 due to several injuries at that position. He responded with back-to-back Rookie of the Week honors.

Emilio Colon (above) already ranks fourth on the UMaine career passing list. Steve Cates (right) was one of Colon's top targets with 21 receptions for 246 yards.
Outside linebackers Al Hall (43) and Jemal Murph (23) lead the UMaine defense.

Seniors Larry Jones, Anthony Jackson, and Fred Guions are the corners. Jones had 48 tackles a year ago and had three interceptions after recording six the previous year. Jackson made 30 stops and recorded his first career interception. Guions, who played his first season with the Black Bears after transferring from Hudson Valley Community College, made 30 tackles in 1992.

Freshman Kevin Harris, who was a redshirt in 1992, will also see action at cornerback.

Sophomore Joe Robinson is the projected starter at strong safety following the graduation of three-year starter Boston. Robinson had nine tackles in a backup role last season. Former quarterback Bob Zurinskas will also see action at this position.

At free safety, junior Greg Mikell had 39 tackles a season ago as a starter. Sophomore Greg Kelley is also expected to see time at free safety.

Special Teams: Jerrod Thebarge, who punted for a 33.8 yard average as a true freshman in 1992, is the incumbent. Sophomore Tom Dadmun, the team’s only veteran place-kicker, handled those chores during the spring drills.

Black Bears in the Professional Ranks

Alumni Field

The home of the Maine Black Bears for the last 45 years has been Alumni Field on campus at Orono. The facility was constructed in 1946 shortly after the end of World War II with funds obtained from the state legislature as part of a reorganizing of the Orono campus.

A pressbox atop of the west side grandstand was constructed in 1982, as was the scoreboard now at the south end of the field. The pressbox includes a section for special guests of the University's president and director of athletics. The media area is host to the Black Bear television and radio networks, as well as to the print and visiting media representatives.

A seating addition in 1988 increased the stadium's capacity to more than 9,300 people as a result of new bleachers being placed in the south end zone.

The field also features concession stands located behind the home stands and adjacent to the west entrance to the field from the Memorial Gym parking lot.

Black Bear football has attracted some of its largest crowds ever in recent years. In 1989, a total of 55,781 fans passed through the turnstiles at Alumni Field for an average attendance of 9,300. The Alumni Field record attendance of 11,490 was set during a game against Bowdoin College in 1951.

Complementing Alumni Field this season is the new Clarence Beckett Family Track and Field Center. Completed earlier this summer, the Beckett Track and Field Center is one of the top facilities in the Northeast.

Approved by the NCAA and International Sports Federation, the site can host regional, national, or international competitions.

In the past two seasons, Alumni Field has attracted some of the top crowds in the history of UMaine football. In 1989, the Black Bears drew a school-record 55,781 fans.
Football Weight Room

The Maine Black Bear football team had its own weight room built for the 1987 season, and since then strength and success have followed closely. This new facility has been utilized by the team to enhance conditioning of its student-athletes to their maximum levels.

In the five years since its completion, the Black Bears have posted two Yankee Conference championships and a pair of appearances in the Division I-AA playoffs. Completed during the winter of 1986-87, it is a spacious and attractive training facility that houses all of the equipment necessary to get the Black Bears in top condition for the season.

The weight room has been given much of the credit for turning the Black Bears into one of the strongest teams in the very physical Yankee Conference. In fact, the Black Bears have ranked as the conference's top team either offensively or defensively for three of the past five seasons.

Head coach Jack Cosgrove feels the weight room is critical to the success of his team. "The name of the game now is speed and strength," said Cosgrove. "With this area, we can give our student-athletes a program, and they can develop their bodies to their maximum as far as strength."

The 20-foot-by-80-foot weight room contains 18 Olympic weightlifting bars, more than 8,000 pounds of weights, four bench press stations, four utility benches, four squat racks, two military press stations, a power cleaning station, two lateral pulldown areas, hack squat and leg extension machines, and a variety of free weights.

"The equipment gives us a lot to offer a young man in order to get a complete workout," said Cosgrove. More than 100 players use the weight room with groups between 35 and 50 working out at one time under the supervision of strength and conditioning coach Dr. Bob Lehnhard.

Lehnhard, who has his Ph.D. in exercise physiology, administers a year-round fitness regiment for the Black Bears.
The Yankee Conference

One of the premier Division I-AA conferences in the nation, the Yankee Conference begins its 47th year of competition with a precedent-setting change.

James Madison University, Northeastern University, and the College of William and Mary, officially admitted to the membership on March 22, 1991, will begin play within the conference schedule this season. With the addition of these three schools, the Yankee Conference will now feature two divisions with six teams in each circuit. The New England Division will be comprised of Boston University, University of Connecticut, University of Maine, University of Massachusetts, University of New Hampshire, and University of Rhode Island.

The Mid-Atlantic Division will include University of Delaware, James Madison University, Northeastern University, University of Richmond, Villanova University, and the College of William and Mary.

Each team will play an eight-game conference schedule consisting of the five teams within its division and three games from the other division.

The Yankee Conference developed from the old New England College Conference of Intercollegiate Athletics. When Northeastern University offered its resignation from the NECCIA, the land-grant institutions appointed a committee to pursue a new league. On December 8, 1945, the committee recommended an athletic conference formed by the six New England land-grant colleges, namely the University of Connecticut, the University of Maine, Massachusetts State College, Rhode Island State College, the University of New Hampshire, and the University of Vermont.

On August 24, 1946, representatives from the schools met. A preamble and code of the Yankee Conference were adopted to become effective December 3, 1946. The first league championships were conducted in 1947.

Five of the six original members (Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, and Rhode Island) are still in the conference. Boston University joined the league in 1971 but was not eligible for the championship until 1973. The University of Delaware was voted into the league in 1983, while the University of Richmond was added in 1984. Villanova University was added in 1985 and became eligible in 1988.

In June of 1971 Holy Cross accepted an invitation to become a member of the conference. For its own institutional reasons, Holy Cross withdrew from the conference in November 1972 and never officially became eligible for a conference championship. Vermont dropped football following the 1974 season. At that time, the Yankee Conference sponsored championships in almost every sport.

The Yankee Conference has member institutions in eight states of the eastern section of the country including Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Delaware, Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

The commissioner of the Yankee Conference is Albert Benson, who also serves as an assistant commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) and the supervisor of football officials for the ECAC.

UMaine is an original member of the Yankee Conference while Delaware was voted into the league in 1983.
