Ronald Hurd Is Senate President; Judiciary Passes By Slim Margin

Joyce-marie Crockett

Ronald Hurd, past campus mayor and vice president of the Senate, was elected as the 1958-59 President of the General Student Senate Tuesday. The total number of votes cast in the election was approximately 1846.

The Judiciary proposal was passed by a margin of 202 votes. There were 1332 votes recorded. The vote was broken down as follows: total number approving the Judiciary were 767, opposing 565; 353 men approved and 425 opposed; 355 women approved and 91 opposed. Those voting a neutral ticket were 108.

The proposal as passed will allow the General Student Senate, working with the Committee on Administration, to establish a Judiciary system, which will go into effect when approved by a 2/3 vote of the Senate membership and a majority of the women membership. The plan must also incorporate the Associated Women Students Judiciary.

The battle for Mayor was closely knit throughout the counting of the ballots. Although Ed Hall taking Chester Keefe's place, entered the race only hours before the voting began, his backers supported him as staunchly as possible. Paul "Little Max" McGuire beat him out of the winning circle by a slim margin of only twenty-five votes.

Both men portrayed their abilities at leadership in their skits on Monday evening. "Little Max" proved that even though the "Max Awards" were small, they were able to carry him to the tallest position on campus—that of Campus Mayor.

Arthur A. Atherton III polled 793 votes to become vice president of the Senate. Following Atherton in line of votes cast were Ken Hayes, 426; Charles Ochmanski, 355; Donald Sweeney, 235.

Other new officers of the Senate are: Secretary, Deanna Chapman, and treasurer, Dorothy Anderson. Miss Chapman polled 487 votes, winning out over her closest opponent, Charlene Manchester, with 478 votes. Betty Colley followed with 392 votes.

Elected to the Student Religious Association Executive Board were Melissa Boomer, 1,111; Ruby Fecteau, 539; George Lawrence, 650; Harriet Levco, 640.

The new president of the University Athletic Association is John Theriault who polled 1,311 votes. The other candidate, Joseph Cuccaro, got 509 votes. Associate representatives elected were Richard Hlister, senior; Robert Bragg, junior; and Wayne Champeon, sophomore.

Senior class parts go to James

Hambelton, history; Maxine Shapiro, ode; William O. Farley, prophecy; Richard Barter, prayer; Robert McKown, marshal; James Conley, certificate to wives.

The first Chief Justice of the Associated Women Students is Judith Adams. Judith Webster was her opponent.

Laurel Hoyt is the new junior secretary.

Views Offered On Dean's List

The proposal to change the Dean's List to the highest ranking 10% in each college brought varied reactions from administrative officials.

Dean Joseph Murray of the College of Arts and Sciences states, "I was unable to attend the meeting when it was discussed, but from what I know about it, I would vote against the change."

Dean Weston Evans of the College of Technology thinks that the change would not make much difference in engineering except for the fact that it would make the Dean's List much smaller.

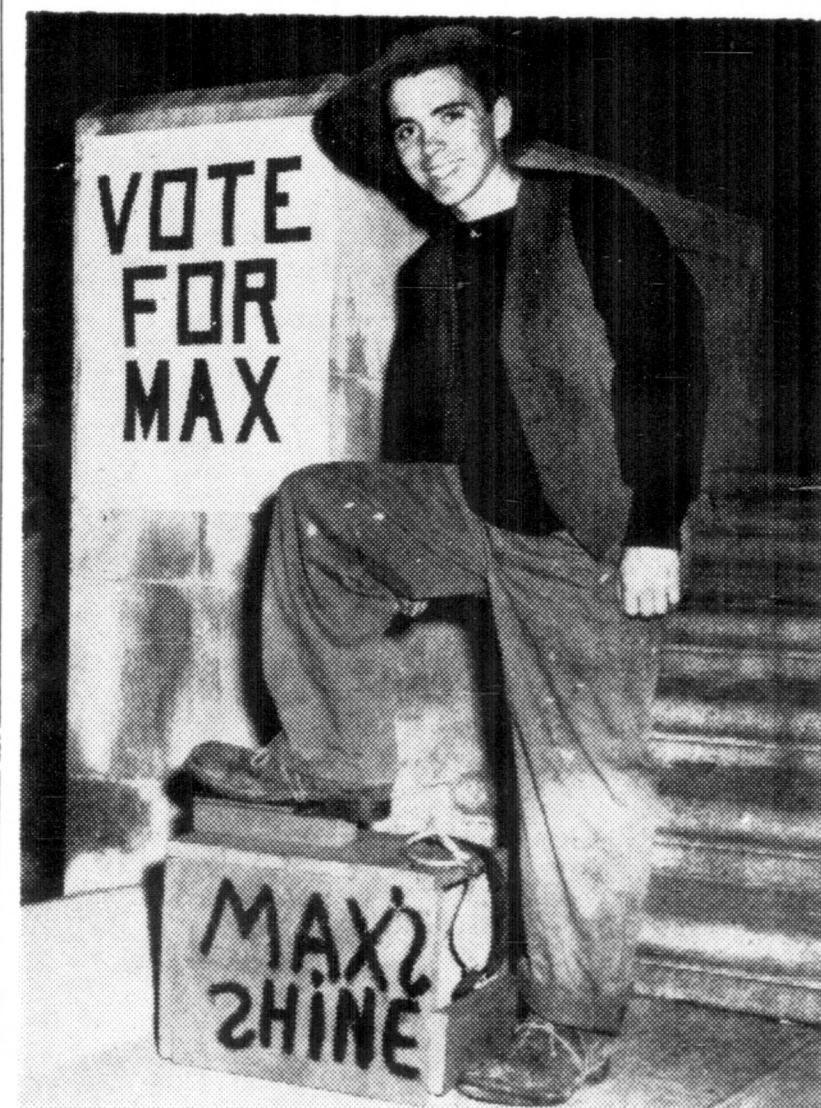

Dean Mark Shibbes of the College of Education has a different idea about it. He says, "The change is a very good thing, but the Dean's List is a matter of motivation that spurs learning in students." He would like two lists—a Dean's List and an Honors List for students who hold a B average and over.

Dean Winthrop Libby of the College of Agriculture thinks that it is a reasonable proposal and would favor it. He states that it would reduce the Dean's List in the College of Agriculture by at least 10%.

The proposal to change the requirements for the Dean's List is awaiting the next meeting of the Faculty Council, scheduled for May 19. If approved, it will cut the number of honor students nearly in half. The honors will go to the top 10% of each class in each college, provided the ranks of these are 3.0 or above. The grades, then, will be chosen from 16 different averages...4 classes from the 4 schools.

George Crosby, registrar, stated that if the bill were approved at the next meeting, it would probably go into effect for all classes in the Fall semester of '58.

"Little Max," Paul McGuire, smiles the smile of victory after learning that he is to be the 1958-1959 Mayor of the University of Maine. McGuire, a freshman, is a pledge of Alpha Tau Omega. He won by a twenty-five vote margin. He is shown here on the library steps in his campaign character. (Staff photo by Pearson)

The Sophomore Owls And Senior Skulls Are Tapped

University men were named to the Senior Skull Honor Society and 20 were tapped for membership in the Sophomore Owls at the Interfraternity Sing Tuesday night.

Membership in the Senior Skulls represents the highest honor that a Maine man can receive. The outgoing group chooses the new members on the basis of contribution to University and class activity, character, personality, and popularity.

Sophomore Owls, also chosen by members of the outgoing group, represents the highest honor for freshmen.

James R. Hambelton, Skull president, reviewed the history of the organization and highlights of their past year activity before naming the new members.

"The Senior Skulls is concerned with maintaining the highest possible standards in all phases of University activity. In doing this, we are free to work with any group or initiate any program," Hambelton explained. During the past year the Skulls participated in Freshman Week, Homecoming, Parents weekend, and furnished guides for various occasions, he said.

"In addition, we initiated a series of dinner-conferences with student leaders. And in doing these things, we have maintained the highest point average of any student organization with the exception of the regular academic honor societies."

Charles Ochmanski, Owl president, said that the principal duties of the

In the women's division first place went to Chadbourne's "Teahouse of the August Moon," honorable mention went to Balentine Hall's "October Fest." The winner for organizations went to the only entry, the Maine Christian Association's "United Nations Day."

The Glory Days Of Logging Will Be Relived At Maine

By Joyce-marie Crockett

Maine's "glory days of logging" will be relived on the Maine campus this weekend when twelve colleges will compete in the 11th Annual Intercollegiate Woodsmen's Weekend contest.

The persistent chop of the double bit axe, the rhythmic hum of the cross-cut saws, and the victorious cry of "Timber" will re-echo throughout the University as it did in days of old when men were men and women could wield the axe and cross-cut as easily as a mix-master.

Twelve college woodsmen's teams, each comprised of two teams, or of one team of six men, will arrive on Saturday to challenge Maine's own descendants of the timber eatin', saw dust spittin', lumber jacks.

Those schools represented will be: West Point, Dartmouth, Harvard, Middlebury, Paul Smiths of New York, Colby, Bates, Bowdoin, University of New Hampshire, and New Brunswick.

The two-day program includes events of fly casting for accuracy, fly casting for distance, bait casting for accuracy, bait casting for distance, felling for accuracy, crosscut sawing, bucksawing, splitting, pulp wood throwing, speed chopping, fire building, pack board racing, log rolling, two man canoe race with obstacles, one man canoe race with obstacles, one man portage race.

Those vying for the twelve places open on the Maine teams for competition this weekend are: Jack Lindsay, Walter Abbott, An-cyl Thurston, Fred Schwink, Jack Schlotter, Steven Hardy, Bernie Collins, Joseph Cuccaro, Ronald Speigal, Carl Flynn, Kenneth Hamilton and Robert Haight.

The Intercollegiate Woodsmen's Weekend was started by the Dartmouth Outing Club in 1948 which has joined forces with the different Forestry Clubs for the first time this year.

The event will be sponsored by the Maine Outing Club and the Maine Forestry Club, co-chairmen being: William Frotscher, Maywood, N. J.; and Lee Harington, New Haven, Conn. Other committee chairmen are Ned Hogan, Tenaflly, N. J.; Jack Schlotter, Peekskill, N. Y.; Jack Lindsay, Providence, R. I.; and Robert Kratz, Newtown, Pa.

The University of Maine has portrayed outstanding ability in the past few years. They came in second at Dartmouth in 1953, won first prize in 1954, placed second, fourth and third, respectively, in 1955, 56, and 57.

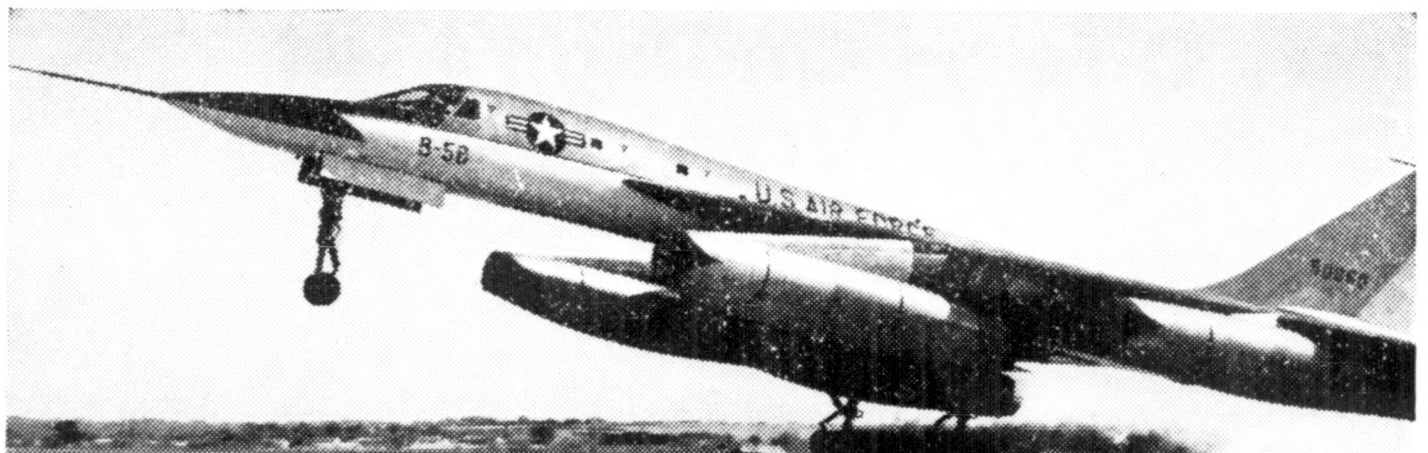

Log splitting was a major part of the lumberjack's day in times past in the Maine woods. Here Jack Schlotter tries his hand at swinging the axe a few times. Splitting will be only one of the many events featured at the Woodsmen's Weekend here on Saturday.

Hauck Building Fund Reaches 'Half-way Goal'

The voluntary student drive for the Arthur A. Hauck building fund reached the half-way goal—$50,000—last weekend, announced Arthur Mayo, chairman.

"Nearly everyone on campus has been contacted," he reported, "but, off-campus students are harder to reach and the time of the drive will be extended to accommodate these workers."

The Air Force pilot or navigator is a man of many talents. He is, first of all, a master of the air—and no finer exists. In addition, he has a firm background in engineering, electronics, astro-navigation and allied fields. Then, too, he must show outstanding qualities of initiative, leadership and self-reliance. He is, in short, a man eminently prepared for an important career in the new Age of Space.

As a college graduate, you will be given priority consideration for the Air Force Aviation Cadet Program. While openings are limited, you will be tested and advised immediately of qualification status. Find out if you measure up. Paste the attached coupon on a post card and mail it now.

Co-operation Is The Key-Word At The Elms

Located halfway between Pat's and Campus—

Cooperation—that's the key-word at the Elms. In this co-operative dormitory, the girls have learned to live and work together and share responsibility.

The Elms is located about a mile off-campus beside the Stillwater River. Fifty-five girls, including one senior resident, now live there. The upper-class girls live in the main part of the building, and the freshmen live in the annex.

The girls who live at the Elms enjoy it very much because of the "homey atmosphere" and the closeness of the group. Their rules and regulations are similar to those in other girls' dorms on campus.

Each girl has a "duty" to perform every day. There are two types of duties: regular duties and special duties. Each girl spends about one hour daily on regular duty. The special duty is a duty done on weekends which includes jobs that are done only once a week. Every girl has special duty about once a month. The girls do almost all of the work themselves—cleaning, cooking, waiting on tables, and generally maintaining the house. The only hired help is a part time janitor.

Every year an upperclass girl, usually a senior, is elected Duty Manager.

This year's Duty Manager is Cynthia Giles. It is her job to assign duties to every girl in the dormitory. She must plan each girl's duties according to her schedule.

Each semester two Home Economics Majors act as food supervisors. The menus are planned by these two girls and are checked by the Home Economics Department to see that they are well-balanced. These girls must also check the menus with the housemother to see that they stay within the budget. The two student dietitians this semester are Marie Hedstrom and Priscilla Stinson.

Mrs. Reardon, like all other housemothers, chaperones and supervises over the whole dormitory. However, at the Elms the housemother has a double duty. She not only has to maintain harmony among the girls, but she must also see that they accept their responsibilities so that the house will operate smoothly. She helps the dietitians in ordering the food and keeping within the budget. She is very close to all the girls in the dorm and is concerned with their individual problems.

Girls are chosen to live in the Elms according to their scholastic record, ability to get along with people, financial need, activity, and co-operation. A girl must maintain at least a 2.0 average to stay in the house.

Berry Named To Maine Staff

John E. Berry of Manhattan, Kansas, was appointed assistant professor of poultry husbandry in the College of Agriculture, announced Charles E. Crossland, Acting President, earlier this week.

A native of Philadelphia, he received his B.S. degree from Pennsylvania State University in 1954, and a year later he was awarded his M.S. degree from the same school. He expects to receive his Ph.D. from Kansas State College in June.

Berry has served as a graduate assistant at Kansas State College since 1955, assisting in conducting genetic experiments and collecting and analyzing data. He is a member of the Poultry Science Association, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Sigma Xi, Gamma Sigma Delta and the American Genetic Association.

Professor Berry will assume his duties on July 1.

Spring House Parties To Spark This Weekend

Glenn Philippon

Last weekend was another busy weekend both on and off the campus. Friday night was the Junior Prom with Billy Butterfield.

Saturday, Dunn Hall Dormitory Council held a Roller Skating Party at Pushaw Pond. That night there were Vic Dances at Lambda Chi Alpha and Phi Kap. Lambda Chi's party was a Come As You Are while the Femmes Phi Kap held their annual evening.

This week has held many exciting events as is always true of Maine Day week. Monday night, students and faculty were surprised to find at the Mayoralty Skits that one of the candidates had been switched. This meant that students voting for Chet Keefe on Tuesday morning were actually voting for Ed Hall.

Tuesday night, was the popular Interfraternity Sing. Since it is the night before a University holiday, girls were allowed 12:10 permissions. Maine Day being the next day, many students hurried back to the dorms and fraternity houses to help work on the floats.

Wednesday was the big day. Up at dawn, everyone charged around to various places for breakfast then off to the Library for work projects. As is traditional, the new Mayor was announced just before the work projects were begun. The afternoon was highlighted by the Float Parade depicting World Wide Wing Dings. After an afternoon of comparative rest, everyone was ready for the annual Student-Faculty Skits. Unlike past years, there was no dance this year, thus no late permissions for the girls—C'est la vie.

This week-end will really be jumping what with House Parties at many of the fraternities.

CONSTRUCTION ENGINEERS

To individuals of certain temperaments, no phase of engineering offers the feeling of accomplishment that is realized on heavy industrial construction and Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation is looking for civil, mechanical and electrical engineers to work in this field.

Industrial construction offers an opportunity for the practical application of your academic theories and a chance to work in close association with specialists in many different engineering fields.

In the employ of Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation you'll have an opportunity to work on projects of a widely diversified nature such as steam, hydro and nuclear power stations; chemical and petroleum plants, pulp and paper mills, hospitals and industrial establishments. You'll be working for an internationally known corporation that operates in the United States and through subsidiaries undertakes projects in every part of the free world. Your sound academic training coupled with this field engineering experience will provide an ideal background for supervisory and administrative positions.

"Campus" Wins "All-American"

The present staff of the Maine Campus takes great pleasure in extending congratulations to last year's staff who recently received an "All-American" national rating for their work. This is the second consecutive year that the Campus has been awarded this honor.

Senate Will Need Ambition

We would like to see some action! Of course we mean the General Student Senate — the New General Student Senate.

When this paper goes to press the students will have elected a new Senate president; imposed a new trust. His biggest job will be that of promoting the Senate. This will include support from the student body and a little initiative on the part of the Senators themselves. It will mean giving the poor beat Senators the motive for dragging themselves to the Bangor Room twice a month. It will mean arousing the electorate to the point of pushing and hounding their Senator until something constructive is accomplished — and then pushing some more.

It will indeed be a big job. But it will take more than the devotion of the Senate president to make a constructive Senate. It will mean the effort of every student.

The past year has been characterized by indifference. At the last meeting, which was, incidentally, meeting to consider the fate of the student judiciary, there were not enough Senators present to make a quorum. Perhaps it would be better to say that there was not enough interest to justify a Senate at all.

But spring is a time for optimism. Many other schools have Senates which have been made instruments of the students they represent. They have had the energy to do something besides listen to a little meaningless oratory and debate between procedurally correct, but practically ineffective, Junior Claghorns.

So we are optimistic. The political air has been cleared and enthusiasm rekindled for another year by the recent elections. Next year will mean the dying breaths of an old Senate or the first breaths of a vital new Senate. We ask this: will the coming year be a year of stagnation, or of progress? Will the year be characterized by the word "guts", or by an indifferent shrug?

CAMPUS QUOTES

By Harmon Banning

Ronald Littlefield: I don't believe it would be as good. The 3.0 is a constant goal for the student to aim for, and the "top 10%" is somewhat elusive.

Shireen Snelder: I'm opposed to raising the Dean's List standard above 3.0 to 10% of the highest college grades, because too many people work very hard to get a 3.0 and if there were no reward, such as a Dean's List, why work to get a 3.0?

Alan Ellingwood: For all those that do get a 3.0 or above, it may be hard for some to go much higher and get honors by the 10% system. Let's still give them recognition if they get 3.0 or better.

Pat Benner: Yes, I'm in favor of raising the Dean's List requirements to a 10% basis as it would raise the academic standards of the University.

Ren Cotton: I feel that the proposed method of electing Dean's List students would be an improvement, as it would mean more to a graduate to have been on this elevated Dean's List.

Bee Hive

Name No Shame

By Bill Farley

Why are some people so afraid of seeing their name in the newspaper?

Example: A young male student told me that he had his wallet stolen early this week from his dormitory room. Three dollars is the only loss, for one of the proctors found the empty wallet, along with the student's important I.D. cards and other papers, in one of the dorm telephone booths.

I explained that the incident should be published as a reminder to others that this sort of thing goes on — anywhere — thus, alerting students to more care.

"Oh no! Don't use my name!" the student exclaimed.

"Why?" Frankly, I was puzzled. "I don't want to get mixed up in anything!" he answered, sheepishly.

The End

I didn't write the story, not because of his name's claim to fame, but simply because he wouldn't give me the facts of the supposed theft.

Unfortunately, this closed-mouth type of incident is a common occurrence. The newspaper can be a great boost to social control, if given the chance by members of the community. We try to publicize all the news, whether it be about contributions to or violations against our campus society—of course keeping, at all times, within legal bounds.

Fairclough once said, "In Russia a man can talk his head off very easily." Fortunately, this is not Russia; decapitation is not an accepted procedure here.

And in the words of Will Rogers, "Worrying is like sitting in a rocking chair. It keeps you busy but doesn't get you anywhere."

So, friends, stop worrying. If you have something to say, SAY IT! Nobody is going to hurt you!

Who's Beat, Bored, And Bushed?

By Bill Cook

We are beat! Really beat, but not too beat to have missed a little thing that came across the editor's desk the other day. It was an article on the recent talk by one Jack Kerouac at Brooklyn College on his favorite subject, "the beat generation." The article gave some examples of the talk at the affair and it is pretty familiar. A sample:

"Did you finish Columbia?" ... "After two years I quit the football team and had to start paying tuition so I dropped out."

"Aww, come on."
"Man, I'm bushed."

"What are you doing that for?" ... "I'm bored. It gives me something to do."

It must be true. We all see evidence of this new attitude every day. But the greatest manifestation of the situation comes not in what is said, but what is not done. There seems to be a general sit-down strike by the U.S. collegiate world in general. We must be alone. The rest of the world isn't like this.

Take politics. This is one of the few countries in the world where students don't take any interest in government. One of the most feared checks on a European government is the student riot. Entire revolutionary forces have been made up of students. Not here. Of course, no sane person would encourage student rioting or insurrection in this country. But a little interest would be a step in the right direction. Yes, we are beat. But after all, what can we do?

Kerouac isn't the only one who reports on the problem. Time and Life have been publishing articles on the same thing. Life had a particularly good article on the lack of enthusiasm in the world of campus sports. They said that the athlete is rejected rather than revered, a complete reversal from the days of our parents. No one goes to games any more but alumni of an older and more enthusiastic generation. Students know very well that the dormitory room is warmer than the stadium, and the bed more comfortable than the bleachers.

I have been looking for some of this "Beat attitude" at Maine and have found it. Perhaps this is because I was in college five years ago and can see the change that has taken place.

Gone is the irate debater of

I am told that Woman's dorm talk runs pretty much to who is, has been, or is going to be married, who is with child, and who has flunked out. All is inconsequential. What staggers me is the fact that all of this has taken place over a period of five years!

To the Editor:

Profoundest congratulations on your superb and incisive editorial entitled, "Scholastic Attitude Noted" in the April 24th edition.

Recognition of a problem is the first step toward solution. Let's hope that this perverse attitude toward scholastic achievement can be completely reversed in the near future. Keep up the good work.

Newman Honor Keys Awarded

Richard Barter and Kathrine Vickery were awarded John Henry Newman Honor Keys at the Newman Club Mexican Fiesta Saturday night.

The keys represent membership in the John Henry Newman Honor Society, highest national Newman award.

In making the presentations, Rev. Francis E. LeTourneau, Newman Chaplain, congratulated Miss Vickery in saying she had made "significant contributions to Newman Club during your four years at the University." She has served as Newman Club president, Educational Chairman, and on numerous committees.

Father LeTourneau said that Barter "is an individual who had always found time for Newman Club, even when he was personally involved in many other campus activities..." Barter is past vice-president of the Club, and is now a senior student adviser. He has also served as committee chairman in the past.

Another Honor Key award went to Francis McGuire, University director of plant and facilities, who Father LeTourneau said: "... has always been a great help to me personally. Much of his work has been behind the scenes. But it is doubtful that the Club could have done many things without his help and services."

The awards were made at the end of the entertainment period of the annual Fiesta. Ronald Hure was master of ceremonies for the event, and Richard Collins, Sigma Chi, was general chairman.

Stanley M. Wallace of the Men's Division of Physical Education today announced that all freshmen who are passing Physical Education must take the Physical Efficiency Test during the last three scheduled class periods. This includes those freshmen who are participating on special sports squads.

Campus Mayor Ernie Park and State Representative Jerome G. Plante are shown presenting a certificate of membership on the Governor's Safety Council to Acting President Charles E. Crossland. The presentation is a part of the drive by Park and Plante to enlist the effort of the University community in reducing accidents and promoting safe driving. This drive will get under way this week and will be a "first" for American universities.

Music Week To Be Observed On Sunday Afternoon

National Music Week will be observed at the University on Sunday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. in the Union. A program of chamber music will be featured.

The program, devoted to Baroque and Contemporary music, will feature the Brass Quartet and String Ensemble assisted by Eula Morris, organist. Miss Morris is a recent winner of one of the music scholarships in Applied Music for next year.

Two concertos, one Baroque and one Contemporary, make up the major portion of the program. In the Baroque by Vivaldi, Jane Quinby will accompany the string players. The Contemporary concerto by Norman Lockwood will employ the Brass Quartet and organ.

Other works to be performed will include some "Tower Music" for brass and some short pieces of Bartok for strings.

Members of the Brass Ensemble are: Lester Nadeau and Donald Piper, trumpets; Walter Fullerton and Patricia Blackett, trombones. The String group is composed of Constance Linnell, Roberta White, Robert Groth, Harriet Hunter and Mary Holleran, violins.

Admission is free.

Students May Apply For Work

Students interested in securing University employment for the fall semester of '58 may still apply. Applications, which may be picked up at the Office of Student Aid located in East Annex, will be accepted until the close of the semester.

Last year approximately 750 students worked at some time during the school year. University pay for these students totaled nearly $150,000. Jobs included work as waitresses and waiters, and work in various departments.

Campus job prospects are estimated in about the same number for next year, according to Robert C. Worrick, Director of Student Aid. He added that he thought off-campus job prospects might be a little less.

The summer job opening announcements received by the Placement Bureau have remained steady this spring in spite of the recession. If anything, there seem to be a few more, according to placement officials.

Hold Memorial Union Recognition Banquet On Thursday

by Nonni Hilchey

On Thursday night, at 7:00, the Activities and Governing Boards of the Memorial Union will hold their annual banquet in the dining hall of North Estabrooke. This event is being planned by the Special Events Committee of the Union, under the direction of Gail Mallett and Priscilla Bickford.

The banquet is part of the Union Recognition Week, set up to honor those students, faculty and administration members who have "generously given their time and talents" to present enjoyable programs to the University community.

Among those present will be the members of the two Boards, the members of the committees in the Activities structures and others who have contributed to the effectiveness of the Union program.

A display is being shown in the Lobby of the Union during this week, depicting Union events with use of photographs recognizing the student members of the Boards.

Honored at the banquet will be Arthur F. Mayo, retiring president of the Activities Board and retiring chairman of the Governing Board; the 1957-58 officers and committee chairmen: Laurence Thurrell, Nonni Hilchey, Jane Ledyard, Barry Smith, Eric Kravitsky, Joyce-marie Crockett, Robert Everett, Donna Grant and Eric Bolen. These individuals will be presented with plaques, appropriately inscribed. The members of the various committees will receive recognition certificates.

Among the Governing Board members to be honored are: Barry Millett, Assistant to the Dean of Men, and Miss Lillian Avila, retiring members. Other Governing Board members are Ronald Hurd, Clarence Bergeson, Edith G. Wilson, Dean of Women; and Nelson B. Jones, Director of the Union.

Remarks will be given by Arthur Mayo, Eric Bolen, incoming president of the Activities Board; Barry Smith, incoming chairman of the Governing Board and Nelson B. Jones.

The main speaker for this event will be Donald Lancaster, director of the Moulton Union, Bowdoin College.

'Campus' Given High Rating

The Maine Campus won an All-American rating, the highest award, in national competition with 38 other college papers of its size.

Only three of the 38, including the Campus, ranked All-American. The University of Maine student-publication was either first or second top paper in the group. Ratings were based on publications during the fall semester.

The recent award marks the second consecutive year that the Campus placed in the top category, and is the third such rating in the paper's history.

The award is based on a critical analysis of the paper and its contents by professional journalists in cooperation with the Associate Collegiate Press. Ratings range from the All-American—"distinctly superior achievement," to a Third Class—"fair to good."

The paper is judged on three categories, news coverage, handling of news, and placement of material.

Each department of the paper including editorial, sports, and photo were judged as well as to make-up, headlines, contents, and general news coverage. Nearly all items ranked excellent or superior.

Highest praise went to the editorial department. The rater remarked, "Excellent, combined with the strong 'Letters to the Editor' column—you certainly present the diverse views of Maine students on serious, current subjects!"

Inside make-up—the placement of stories and headlines on all except departmental pages, also drew favorable comment.

"Your make-up staff does a good job with tight pages. I wish more college papers would make the same display effort."

Ronald Knight, a senior journalism major, as make-up editor supervised inside make-up.

Denbow Is Presented Cadet Award At Drill

Cadet Colonel Carroll E. Denbow received the Alumni Sabre as the outstanding graduating cadet of the R.O.T.C. this afternoon. Henry T. Carey, president of the General Alumni Association, presented the award before approximately 1100 cadets at the annual review and presentation of awards ceremony held on Alumni Field.

The review was held in conjunction with the annual federal inspection of the Military Department of the University. Cadets paraded for the first time as a battle group, in keeping with the army's current policy of organizing combat units in battle groups.

The reviewing party included Col. B. V. Bryant, professor of Military Science and Tactics; Charles E. Crossland, Acting University President; Col. G. W. Coffman, chief of the Army Inspection team; Henry T. Carey, president of the General Alumni Association; Lt. Col. Carl E. Otto, and Cadet Colonel Carroll E. Denbow, who commanded the battle group.

Assisting with the presentation of awards were Shirlene Heath, honorary colonel, of the ROTC, and the honorary lieutenant colonels, Tade Osier, Jolean Flint, June Richards, and Cornelia Proctor.

Cadet Colonel Denbow, also received, besides the Alumni Sabre, the Department of Army Superior Senior Cadet award. Other Superior Cadet Awards were presented to Joseph B. Probert, junior; Conrad S. Cleale, sophomore; and John C. Philbrick, freshman.

The Ordnance Corps Association Scholarship Key was awarded to Dudley A. Roberts. Edwin M. Baston received the Armed Forces Communication and Electronics Association Gold Medal and Richard E. Coady received the Association of the United States Army Leadership Medal.

The University of Maine Scabbard and Blade Streamer for the best drilled platoon of the Battle Group was presented to Platoon Leader James J. Kelley, Jr. Charles B. Knowlen was designated as the outstanding company commander of the Battle Group and Robert W. Gardiner as the outstanding First Sergeant.

Chosen as the outstanding second year member of the ROTC Band was Max W. Stewich. Gerard W. Ingalls received the award as the outstanding first year band member.

Milton Friend accepted for the University and the rifle team the first place trophy presented by the First United States Army Area Intercollegiate and Interscholastic Rifle Match.

Raymond W. Nelson accepted the second place trophy from the New England College Rifle League on behalf of the University and the team. John W. Almond was awarded a medal as the outstanding first year member of the ROTC Rifle Team.

Individual medals for excellence in rifle marksmanship were presented to Milton Friend, Raymond W. Nelson, Ronald E. Richardson, Ronald G. Grammont, Edwin M. Batson, Paul B. Webber, Russell D. Fieldhouse, John W. Almond, and Larry D. Cilley.

A special feature of the ceremony was a demonstration of precision drill movements by the drill platoon of the University Scabbard and Blade society.

The University ROTC Band, led by Richard I. Bryant, provided military music for the event.

Neai Mathetai Women Chosen

Newly-elected members of Neai Mathetai, the top ten women of the freshman class chosen on the basis of grades received at the end of their first semester at the University, were honored Wednesday evening, April 30 at a banquet in Stodder Hall.

Those honored were: Judith Bates, Sonja Brown, Katherine Chase, Margaret Eastman, Ann Keenan, Nancy Kennedy, Marilyn Leslie, Jean McNeary, Marcia Meade, and Eula Morris.

Miss Cynthia Nelson, instructor in sociology and a former member of the Sophomore Eagles and All-Maine Women, was the guest speaker. Other guests included Mrs. Charles Crossland and Miss Edith Wilson, Dean of Women.

The University of Maine ski team has won the state championship 21 out of the past 25 years.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"Growth makes opportunities in the telephone company"

In October, 1957, only four years after graduation, Stanley W. Smith was appointed District Plant Engineer in Northwestern Bell Telephone Company. Here Stan tells what his responsibilities are and how his promotion came about.

"I'm responsible for outside plant engineering in a district which includes about one-third of all Bell telephones in Nebraska outside of Omaha," Stan says. "That's about 35,000 phones, and the number is growing every day."

"The most important part of my job is to plan for growth and have facilities ready when needed. This means planning for pole lines, aerial and underground cable, and conduit lines to the central office. I also make cost estimates for all planned construction so that money can be budgeted for it.

"This is the kind of job I really like—one which combines engineering and management. And it was the continuing growth of the business," Stan points out, "that opened up this new assignment for me. My predecessor was appointed to a newly created position and I was selected to replace him."

"What the future holds for me depends on a lot of things. But I can see from my present job that growth will keep opening opportunities for myself and other engineers like me. I'm more convinced than ever that the telephone company is the place to get ahead in an interesting and challenging career."

Stan Smith graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1953 with a B.S. in E.E. degree. He is one of many young men who are finding rewarding careers in the Bell Telephone Companies. Find out about opportunities for you. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus, and read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office.

Bear Facts

By

Ron Drogin

Sports Editor

On Saturday, May 24, the New England Track and Field Championships will be held at the University of Maine. This meet, which promises to provide the best in track competition, will be an all day affair with the trials beginning at 9:30 a.m. and the finals beginning at 1:30 p.m. It will be well worth your time to take in this big event on the weekend before finals. To get into the stands, you will only have to present an I.D. card.

This will be the first big weekend for Maine's varsity teams. The golf and tennis teams will be competing in the Yankee Conference title meets. The trackmen will be participating in the State Meet. At home, the varsity baseball team will play host to Bates in an important state series clash. Maine's chances in the YanCon meets are low.

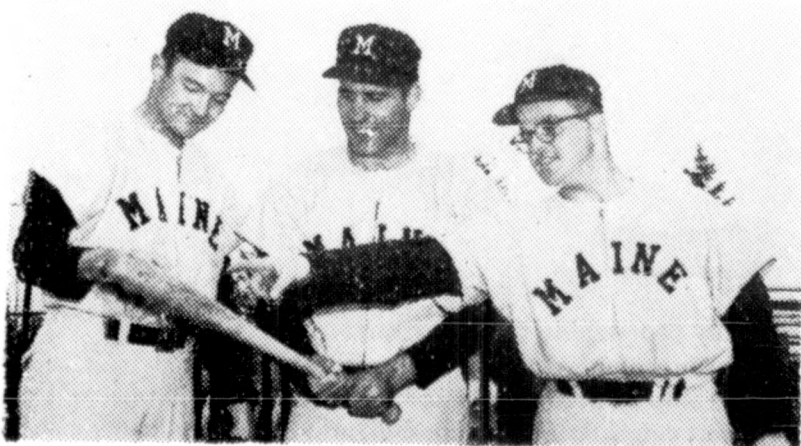

Pity the poor intramural referees and umpires. These students, hired by the athletic department to handle intramural games, find themselves losing friends and not influencing people. They are doing their best, and all is in fun as players rib the ump with a call of, "the Stillwater is mighty cold, would you care to try it?"

In focusing our silver ball on national sporting affairs we notice several things. For one, Tim Tam should win the triple crown. The Red Sox will get up to the first division or Pinky will be looking for a new job. No Los Angeles player will hit 60 homeruns. Bill Skowron may win batting title along with Musial. And Arnie Risen may shock the nation by signing to coach at a little cow college somewhere in the Northern woods and actually come up with a winning team.

Intramural softball and tennis are now being played. With the intramural race for all point trophy between Phi Mu, Phi Eta, and Phi Kap, softball and tennis should decide winner of Kent trophy.

Phi Mu Deltas did an excellent job in winning intramural volleyball championship. Had height, speed, and desire for qualifications.

Class of '61 is going to provide Big U with top varsity athletes for the future.

Favor Bates To Capture Lid In State Track Meet

Ron Drogin

"Bates is the team to beat," says Maine coach Ed Styrna, commenting about his team's chances in the 59th annual Maine Intercollegiate track and field championships at Bowdoin's Whittier Field on Saturday. Bates College is the defending state champion, and Styrna rates his Black Bears as second choice with a slim chance to stop the Bobcats' surge toward a second straight crown.

Smith Leads Bobcats

Bates, which has 18 straight victories, has 14 lettermen plus a host of freshman stars. Walt Slovenski's roster includes Rudy Smith, John Douglas, John Fresina, Pete Gartner, Bill Neuguth, Jim Wheeler, George Goodall, John Makowsky, Jim Keenan, and Lou Riviezzo.

Smith, a smooth-striding sophomore from Fairfield, Conn., has won races in the middle distances against the best in the nation such as Olympians Jenkins and Culbreath during the past season. Styrna rates Smith as an easy favorite in the 440, but says that Smith may have trouble from Maine's Phil Haskell if he decides to run the 100 or 220. Another Bates star, John Douglas, is a threat in the broad jump and hurdles. Fresina, Neuguth, Wheeler, and Makowsky should score most of the remaining Bobcat points.

Styrna says his crew, which is short in depth, must get a number of first place finishes. For these, Styrna is counting on Haskell (100 and 220), Dan Rearick (mile and 2-mile), Bill Schroeder (pole vault and high hurdles), Chuck Thibodeau (javelin), and Dale Bessey (880). Other Bear threats are Dick Law in the mile and possibly the 880, Dave Linekin in the vault and javelin, Dale Delano in the 100 and 220, Ace Conro in the 440, Bob Dean in the 2-mile, and Cliff Ives in the hurdles. Larry Jackson, Cal Bickford, Pete Hannah, Bill Donnell, Jim Soper, Ken Pinkham carry the load in the weight events. In the freshman relay, Styrna is expected to use Wil Spencer, Arnold Baker, Larry Safford, and Terry Brooks.

Bowdoin Looks To McWilliams

Bowdoin senior Bill McWilliams won three events in the state meet of two years ago. McWilliams should be out to capture the hammer, shot, and discus. His victory would help Maine by stopping Bates' strong weights crew of Wheeler and Fresina.

On the basis of his hurdles marks set at Bowdoin and Maine during the past indoor season, Larry Wilkins rates as one of the top hurdlers and sprinters in the state.

UM Portland And Husson Facing Cubs

Three important contests face Jim Butterfield's freshman baseball team next week. The Cubs meet Maine Maritime Saturday, return home to face Husson, Tuesday, and University of Maine (Portland), Thursday. Both home games will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Maine Maritime bowed to the Bear frosh last week, 12-0, and will be trying to even up the score on their home ground.

Husson lost to Bears in a squeaker last year, 8-7. Husson is reputed to have a strong hitting outfit this year.

Our UMPortland cousins will be making their first appearance against a freshman baseball unit. UMP has a capable hurler in ex-Westbrook star, John Beal. UMP, whose basketball team was beaten by the local Cubs, will be out for revenge.

Freshman southpaw Jack Holmes lived up to his advance ballyhoo by no-hitting Maine Central Institute in the opening game. When another lefty, Hadden Libby, followed with a 1-hitter against Maine Maritime, prospects brightened for a successful Maine season.

In the opener with MCI, Holmes was touched for an unearned run in the last inning to blemish his 22 strikeout job. Not a ball was hit out of the infield. In fact, he struck out 9 in a row during one 3 inning stretch. Libby followed up this 2-1 win with a 12-0 one hitter against the Middies. Libby struck out 18.

YanCon Golfing Title At Stake

The University's varsity golf team will participate in the Yankee Conference and New England golf championships tomorrow and Saturday at Burlington, Vermont.

Connecticut's powerful linksmen, favored in the YanCon meet, are led by Art Meikle, highly touted ex-professional, and Jack Kearns. The Huskies defeated Maine 5-2 in an earlier match this spring.

Another threat for the conference crown is Massachusetts. The Redmen upset Connecticut a few weeks ago. New Hampshire, who defeated Maine 4-3 last weekend, is also rated as a top contender. Maine's only conference victory, thus far, has been against Rhode Island, 4-3.

Sigma Chi Awarded Trophy At Annual Inter-Fraternity Sing

First prize at the 1958 Inter-Fraternity Sing, held on Tuesday evening, went to Sigma Chi.

The Sigs, directed by Robert Wood, showed skill, good direction, and hours of practice in the song "Ride The Chariot." Their second number was the "Drinking Song."

The trophy, donated by Joseph McCusker of New York City, class of 1917, will be displayed in the Sigma Chi House during the next year.

Charles E. Crossland, Acting President of the University, announced the awards. Theta Chi and Delta Tau Delta were given Honorable Mention.

Paintings Of Russell Are On Display

Once again, the University Art Department is presenting the art exhibit of Jack Russell, in the Main Gallery of Carnegie Hall.

Russell, a resident of Waldoboro and an upholsterer by trade, is one of Maine's most accomplished artists. He works with oil and polymer tempera. Not a visual painter Russell reproduces his emotions in an array of colors to create a meditative type of thinking for the viewer. Many will recognize his works as abstraction but more aptly, they are moods and emotional recreation.

He was discovered by Vincent Hartgen, head of the University Art Department. Hartgen relates that he found Russell beneath a car working as a mechanic. Today, Russell feels that working as a mechanic and as an upholsterer has given him discipline for his painting.

Over a period of time, Russell has continued improving his ability to express what is burning inside of him. He has had no formal training but has explored and experimented with a variety of media for twenty-five years.

Hartgen states that Russell's technique and imagination will ultimately mark him as one of America's fine outstanding artists.

Most of his works are done with the polymer tempera media. This media is a product of modern industry within the past twenty years. Polymer tempera is preferred because it is a more durable and permanent media than oils.
