The University of Maine, located in Orono, is the largest campus in the statewide university system. There is plenty of open space on its 1,200 acres, where students are offered the diversity and the challenge of a large university in an invigorating atmosphere of a small college. The campus at Orono is in a classic New England setting, located 10 miles north of Bangor, Maine's third largest city. The region is conveniently located close to ski slopes, outdoor recreation areas and the beautiful Maine coastline.

The University, with a variety of exciting and challenging course opportunities, offers an outstanding faculty. Baccalaureate degree programs are offered through eight colleges: Applied Sciences and Agriculture, Arts and Humanities, Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Technology, Forest Resources, Sciences, and Social and Behavioral Sciences. The campus houses the expansive Raymond Fogler Library and a number of respected research facilities to give the student an excellent learning environment.

Students from 45 states and 74 countries studied at the University last year, and more than 20 percent of the total enrollment of 12,165 is admitted from outside the state of Maine.

Student activities at the University create an important balance between the classroom experience and the personal life of the individual scholar. There are seven scholastic honor societies, four non-scholastic honor societies, 22 departmental honor societies, 56 associations, clubs and organizations, and six religious groups. Twelve fraternities and seven sororities have chapters in Orono. In short, a variety of opportunities exist for students, both academically and socially, outside the classroom. The Maine Center for the Arts, host to concerts, comedy, theatre, recitals and other popular entertainment, is located on campus and features nationally and world renowned entertainers.

The University offers its students, the community and the state an outstanding athletic tradition. Several Black Bear teams have excelled to regional and national prominence. Included on Maine's athletic staff is a full-time academic coordinator responsible for closely monitoring the progress of each of the 600 varsity student-athletes. Coaches also monitor and advise their student-athletes, frequently holding meetings specifically to discuss academic situations. Study halls and special tutorial sessions are scheduled daily as a way to enhance learning. This support and close scrutiny has been a significant reason the overall grade point average of student-athletes has been higher than that of the general student body. The primary goal of the University and the athletic department is to see each individual reach his or her academic potential.

The recreation and intramural department offers organized competition in a number of events throughout the year. Students can participate in a variety of sports from basketball, softball and soccer to waterpolo, mountain bike racing and broomball. Open facilities are also available to students for informal play. Maine's 19 Division I athletic teams entertain more than 100 intercollegiate events on campus each year. The University offers students a wide spectrum of opportunities to enhance the overall college experience.

By action of the University of Maine System Board of Trustees, Dr. Frederick E. Hutchinson became the 16th president of the University of Maine on April 1, 1992. A native of Atkinson, Maine, Hutchinson was born June 1, 1930. In 1952, he married Dione Williams, and they have two daughters, Juliana and Karen.

Hutchinson earned his bachelor's ('53) and master's degrees in agronomy at the University of Maine. He earned his doctorate in agronomy from Pennsylvania State University.

Hutchinson was praised by the campus community, the media and the citizens of the state for his handling of a strict budget cut in his first month on campus.

In addition, Hutchinson has given his support to the athletic program.

"I subscribe to the idea that athletics are a part of the university's image," said Hutchinson in an interview in MAINE, the publication of the University of Maine Alumni Association. "There are very good schools in the country that have built a tremendous image with athletic success.

"I'd like to see us maintain all of our sports, the major sports and the Olympic sports, because we need them both. What is important to me is to decide at what level we are going to compete and be sure that we are putting our athletes on the playing field with an equal chance."

Prior to returning to the University of Maine, Hutchinson was vice president for Academic Affairs and provost at The Ohio State University. He joined the faculty there in 1985 as director of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center. In 1986, he was named vice president for Agricultural Administration and dean of the College of Agriculture and later became acting provost on July 1, 1989. On Dec. 1, 1989, Hutchinson was permanently appointed to that position. In addition, he was named senior vice president for Academic Affairs and provost on Nov. 2, 1990.

As Ohio State's chief academic officer, Hutchinson was responsible for the academic environment on campus. Among the areas reporting to him were all instructional programs, the library system, the Office of Student Affairs, the Office of Minority Affairs, Continuing Education, the Biotechnology Center, the Graduate School, the Honors Center, ROTC, the Sea Grant College, the Supercomputer Center, the University Press, and the Wexner Center for the Visual Arts. The office also oversaw the promotion and tenure process for members of the faculty and initiated a recent revision to the undergraduate curriculum. Academic Affairs also worked with various offices and groups on campus to develop an action plan for the retention of black students and an Hispanic action plan.

Before joining Ohio State, Hutchinson was executive director of the Board of International Food and Agricultural Development of the United States Agency for International Development. Earlier, he was a faculty member and vice president for Research and Public Services at Maine.

Hutchinson joined the faculty at Maine in 1957. He held the positions of Chairman of the Department of Plant and Soil Sciences from 1971-72; Dean of the College of Life Sciences and Agriculture and Director of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station from 1972-75; Vice President for Research and Public Services from 1975-80; and acting Vice President for Academic Affairs from 1980-81. He returned to his post as vice president for Research and Public Services from 1981-82, before taking the federal post.

He has authored numerous journal articles, technical bulletins and research articles. In addition, he has presented invitational papers at numerous scientific and professional meetings and has participated in several international programs.

Hutchinson is recognized as a leader among agricultural administrators and was instrumental in building the research program at Maine. He had a positive impact on the significant increase in federal, state and private grant support for research at Maine.

He has served as chairman of the Maine Food and Farm Land Study Commission, the Committee on Erosion and Sediment Control, and the Advisory Committee on the Selection of Coastal Natural Areas. In addition, he served as a member of the Governor's State Energy Resources Advisory Board, the Governor's Committee on Coastal Development Conservation, and the Governor's Land and Water Resources Council.

He has also held the positions of administrative advisor to four regional and inter-regional agricultural experiment station projects; chairman of the Northeast Association of Agricultural Experiment Station Directors and the Joint Committee under the Board of International Food and Agricultural Development.

From 1986-89, he was on the Board of Directors of Agriculture for the National Association of State University and Land Grant Colleges. In 1987, he chaired a panel of the National Academy of Sciences Board on Agriculture before accepting a one-year term as president of the Agricultural Research Institute in Washington, D.C.

Currently, he is a member of the Board of Directors for the International Center for Tropical Agriculture in Colombia.
Michael Ploszek, 37, begins his second year of leadership at Maine. Ploszek was appointed director of athletics on August 20, 1991.

An innovative and progressive administrator, Ploszek has quickly made an impact on the athletic department and the state of Maine.

In January, Ploszek instituted the A+ Attendance Program, which recognizes and encourages the academic achievement and dedication of Maine students in grades 7-12. Students who earn straight A’s in a grading period, or who earn perfect attendance in that time receive two free tickets to Black Bear athletic events of their choice.

“The University of Maine athletic department is deeply committed to the success of our student-athletes and the educational aspirations of all students throughout the state,” said Ploszek when making the announcement of the program. “I firmly believe in the positive role athletics can perform in shaping a student’s academic ambition and encouraging the educational mission of any school.”

Ploszek has also instituted the new “Team Maine” concept which is designed to create a strong relationship for Maine athletics throughout the entire state. As part of this new approach, Ploszek and Walter Abbott visited every high school athletic di-

University in New Brunswick, N.J. since 1986. He was responsible for all fund-raising activities related to Rutgers’ 30 intercollegiate sports. While at Rutgers, he achieved athletic fund-raising records amounting to over $10 million.

A 1977 graduate of the University of Notre Dame with a bachelor’s degree in business administration, Ploszek was a backup center for the Fighting Irish football team for two seasons.

Following graduation, he spent seven years working in sales, marketing and management for United States Steel Corporation. He then accepted a job as regional director of development for Notre Dame in the Chicago area, a position he held until his appointment at Rutgers in 1986.

Ploszek and his wife, Karen, have five children, Mike, 11; Lauren, 9; Matt, 7; Pete, 5; and Luke, 1. The Ploszek family resides in Orono.

1991-92 Athletic Highlights at Maine

Basketball (Men)
- Rudy Keeling's team posts the third 17-win season in the 73-year history of the program. The campaign is one of the five winningest in UM history.

Basketball (Women)
- The women's basketball team posts its third consecutive 20-win season. Maine native Joanne Palombo, of Brunswick, becomes the fourth head coach in the program's history. Eight are named to the NAC Academic Honor Roll.

Field Hockey
- Terry Kix leads the Black Bears to a nine-win season in her rookie year. Seven student-athletes are named to the NAC Academic Honor Roll. Suzanne Plesman is the NAC's Top Scholar-Athlete in that sport.

Football
- Kirk Ferentz's squad boasts Paul Capriotti, a National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete. Carl Smith, who closes his storied career at Maine with over 4,000 yards rushing, competes in the Blue-Grey game.

Hockey
- Shawn Walsh's team reaches the NCAA Tournament for the sixth consecutive year. Scott Pellerin is the recipient of the Hobey Baker Memorial Award, given to college hockey's top player.

Soccer (Men)
- Jim Dyer's team boasts 11 NAC All-Academic selections including Academic All-American Gary Crompton.

Soccer (Women)
- Diane Boettcher completes her rookie season with five wins and five players named All-Academic.

Swimming and Diving
- Lance Graham receives his second New England Coach of the Year Award in three seasons. Rick Keene and Derek Marshall post victories in the NAC Championships.

Softball
- Janet Anderson's team qualifies for the first NAC Tournament as Deb Smith and Kim Reed are All-Conference selections. Eight are named to the NAC Academic Honor Roll.

Track
- The new Beckett Family Track and Field Complex is completed. Charla Harrie sets a pair of UM records and competes in the National Junior Championships. Mike Proctor earns the NAC title in the 400 meters.

Carl Smith became the first player in the 100-year history of Black Bear football to eclipse 4,000 yards rushing in a career.

Scott Pellerin, shown with Harold Alfond (left) and Kyle Alfond (center), was recognized as the nation's top collegiate player when he received the Hobey Baker Memorial Award.

Derrick Hodge, who ranks 10th in career scoring at Maine, led the Black Bears to a 17-win season.

Tracey Frenette became just the sixth player in UM women's basketball history to score 1,000 points in a career.

Paul Capriotti (back row, far right) was one of three NCAA Division I-AA players to receive a National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete award.
Athletic Academic Support

When Margaret Zillioux attends a University of Maine basketball game she sees more than a team of athletes. Her sights go beyond athletic achievement and into the academics and personalities which lie beneath the blue and white uniforms.

As Associate Athletic Director for Academic Support, Zillioux’s responsibilities include making the student aware of existing support services on campus like the tutoring service, the career center or the faculty advisor program. She also makes sure the student is attending classes on a regular basis.

“I work extremely close with first-year students,” says Zillioux. “I wear many different hats. Some students need help with time management. Others need faculty advice or mediating with coaches. I try to ensure that the athletes get off to a good start.”

This season, Zillioux has already been working with freshmen basketball players months before their first practice.

Men’s basketball coach Rudy Keeling realizes the importance of an education and the guidance an Academic Support Coordinator can provide.

Zillioux feels Keeling’s interest in academics is genuine, making her job more rewarding.

“He’s very involved with his kids academically,” says Zillioux. “There’s a lot of pressure on coaches around the country to say ‘academics are our first priority,’ but from my experience thus far, I think Coach Keeling is very sincere.”

Three years ago, Keeling’s leading scorer earned honors for both his academic and athletic accomplishments. Dean Smith, a 1990 graduate in electrical engineering, was awarded the NCAA Walter Byers Postgraduate Scholarship. The scholarship is awarded to the nation’s top scholar-athlete who is planning to continue his education.

Two years ago, Maine’s all-time assist leader, Marty Higgins was named to the NAC All-Academic team with a GPA over 3.0. He is a physical education major.

This season, two of Keeling’s recruits ranked in the top five percent of their senior class.

Zillioux sees her role as a communicator with the student. She prefers working face-to-face, rather than writing memos or making telephone calls.

“I like to work closely with the students,” says Zillioux. “I want to work first hand with their problems. If we’re going to solve any problems, the athletes need someone to trust.”

One way of earning that trust is by attending basketball practices, or by sitting near midcourt on the night of a Black Bear basketball game.

“If I talk to a player about his position, a good game he’s played, a nice scoring play, a good assist, he may open up,” says Zillioux. “It’s important that I’m not always sitting across a desk.”

In addition to her work with the freshmen, Zillioux is involved with upper-class students with marginal grades, any students with questions, and students involved in the mandatory study hall.

“It’s important the students are actually studying in study hall,” she says. “We need to teach them not only to play basketball, but how to play the academic game.”

RUDY KEELING
Head Coach

Rudy Keeling 43, enters his fifth season as head basketball coach at Maine. In his tenure, he has rejuvenated the UM program into a conference contender on the verge of its first NCAA berth.

In his first four seasons, he has increased his win total every year, including a 17-15 mark in 1991-92. Last season’s 17 wins is a total matched only four times previously at the University of Maine. With that successful season, Keeling becomes one of only three UM coaches to record 50 or more wins at Maine.

A year ago, the Black Bears finished above .500 for the first time since 1983-84. Maine won more Division I road games than ever before (eight) and tied for the most non-conference wins (nine) since the beginning of North Atlantic Conference play. Keeling’s recent two-year total of 30 wins is the largest since 1977-79.

In addition, the Black Bears for the first time have put together three straight winning conference records, sporting a 21-15 mark versus NAC foes since 1989-90.

The Keeling era has also seen Black Bear basketball move from the Bangor Auditorium to the recently expanded Alfond Sports Arena on campus. Keeling’s squad played the first basketball game there on Jan. 17 against the Drexel Dragons. A virtual sellout crowd watched the historic event. Keeling’s exciting style of full-court basketball and demanding and attractive home schedule has increased Maine’s attendance to its highest points since 1980-81. In all, UM attendance has grown 62.5 percent since Keeling arrived at Maine.

Keeling welcomes back eight letterwinners and three of his five starters. Joining the veterans is a heralded group of freshmen. Casey Arena, Chris Collins, Terry Hunt and Reggie Smith make up what may be Keeling’s best recruiting class. The four players come from winning programs, combining their senior seasons with an impressive 102-11 mark.

The incoming class will challenge the freshman contingent of 1990-91 that placed Francois Bouchard, Ken Barnes and Kevin Terrell on the NAC All-Rookie team. That group set a new conference standard by earning Rookie of the Week honors nine of 12 weeks. The 1990-91 squad represented a turning point for the Keeling-led Maine squad. The Black Bears enjoyed a 7-3 conference mark, leading the league most of the year before ending the regular season in second place. The Black Bears played host to a conference tournament game, defeating Boston University and advancing to the NAC Championship on national television (ESPN).

Prior to arriving at Maine, Keeling served two years at Marquette University as the associate head coach. Keeling graduated from Quincy College in 1970 and Illinois State Coach of the Year in 1980.

The Coaching Staff

Keeling’s Capsule
- One of three UM Coaches with 50 or more wins
- Coached Maine in its first ever national television appearance
- Led the Black Bears to the third-most wins in school history (17) in 1991-92
- 21-15 conference record the last three years
- Helped recruit the 26th best class in the nation in 1986-87 at Marquette
- His 1990-91 UMaine class ranked 50th in the nation
- Recruited NBA pro Hersey Hawkins to a Bradley team that went 32-3 and advanced to the NCAA Tournament
- Graduated from Quincy College in 1970
- Illinois State Coach of the Year in 1980
- Fourth best winning percentage in UM history (min. 50 gm.)
Rudy Keeling, shown here instructing in the newly expanded Alfond Arena, is one of only three UMaine basketball coaches to record 50 wins.

The 1986-87 recruiting class was rated the 26th best in the nation. He was also involved with scouting and floor coaching in addition to being the program's principal liaison with the media.

From 1980-86, Keeling was the first assistant coach at Bradley University, where he also served as recruiting coordinator. In the 1984-85 season, he signed eight players, including standout Hersey Hawkins, to a Bradley team that went 32-3 and advanced to the NCAA tournament in 1985-86.

A native of New York City, Keeling attended Bishop DuBois High School where he earned All-New York City honors as a guard, while graduating fifth in his class in 1966. He played freshman basketball at Notre Dame before transferring to Quincy College in Illinois where he played both basketball and baseball. He obtained a bachelor of science degree in mathematics in 1970.

In 1976, he became assistant basketball coach at Bergan High School in Peoria and took over the head coaching duties there in 1977. In three years at Bergan High, his teams compiled a 61-19 record. His 1979-80 team finished as the Illinois Class A runner-up and Keeling was named Illinois State Coach of the Year.

University of Maine Director of Athletics Mike Ploszek says, "Rudy has built a program during his time at Maine that exemplifies the values we hold. He is firmly committed to each student's academic and personal growth in proper balance with our team goals on the court."

Last season, all the seniors on the team were on schedule to receive their degree from the university. Three years ago, Dean Smith was named a first-team Academic All-American. Two of Keeling's recruits in 1992 rank in the top five percent of their high school class.

"Academics and excellence go hand-in-hand," says Keeling. "This academic commitment can be seen in the athletic department where our staff, with the assistance of an academic support coordinator, has vowed to provide every University of Maine basketball player the means needed to graduate."

Keeling is married, and he and his wife Jane have four children: Kara, 21, a senior at Notre Dame; Tina, 18 a freshman at Maine; Kip, 17 and Cory, 7.

1992-93 Men's Basketball Media Guide • 9
Mike Jaskulski, 38, is in his fifth season as an assistant with the Black Bears. Jaskulski's responsibilities include scheduling, floor coaching and recruiting. In addition, he serves as a liaison with academic support.

A 1976 graduate of St. Norbert College, Jaskulski earned his master's degree in 1984 from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Jaskulski brings to Maine a reputation for coaching aggressive, hard-nosed defense. He was previously head basketball coach at Loras College from 1984-88. His 1987-88 team finished as the top defensive team in the Iowa conference and was ranked third nationally by the NCAA in team defense. From 1982-84, Jaskulski was an assistant basketball and football coach at Loras.

Prior to his position at Loras, Jaskulski was an assistant coach at St. Norbert College in Depere, Wisc., where his teams made the NAIA tournament in four of his six seasons. In 1981-82, the Green Knights were ranked 10th defensively in the NAIA.

Jaskulski, his wife, Marcia, and their two-year-old daughter Katie reside in Veazie.

Mike LaPlante enters his second season as a member of the UM staff. He played in over 90 games as a member of the Black Bear basketball team from 1985-89, including Rudy Keeling's first season at Maine.

LaPlante, 25, has established himself as an aggressive recruiter in the East. He played a vital part in bringing together Maine's 1992 class, which includes players from New Jersey and Massachusetts. Floor coaching and team travel are other duties LaPlante is responsible for.

He earned his bachelor's degree in education with a concentration in management. The 6-6 forward last coached at Yale in 1989-90. His responsibilities there included scouting, assisting with practice preparation and recruiting. Four years prior to coming to Maine, he worked with Five Star Basketball Camps.

A native of Holyoke, Mass., LaPlante is married to the former Suzanne Hussey, who captained the Maine cheerleading squad in 1988. Ms. LaPlante was recently hired at Maine as cheerleading coach. They have a daughter, Courtney, who is three and a son, Jackson, who is one.

Scott Benzie, 35, joined the UM staff in 1991 as a graduate assistant. He is helping the basketball staff while working on his master's degree in physical education at the University of Maine. Last summer, he directed the Maine basketball camp program on the Orono campus.

He previously coached at Rockland High School for 11 years, including several trips to the Eastern Maine playoffs. His Rockland squads earned Eastern Maine runner-up honors twice, most recently in 1991.

Benzie graduated from the University of Maine in 1978 with a degree in physical education. A talented athlete, Benzie was a member of the Maine basketball team as an undergrad.

On Keeling's staff, he assists in pre-game preparation, including film exchange and scouting. In addition, Benzie helps with practice instruction and on-campus recruiting.

An Orono native, Benzie has a wife, Kate, and two children; Taylor, a six-year-old son and Gabbielle, a two-year-old daughter.
The 1992-93 Black Bear Basketball Team
After two seasons of being a contender, the Black Bears are primed for the final step to a North Atlantic Conference Championship and an automatic bid into the NCAA Tournament.

Maine, with a 17-15, 8-6 mark, placed third in the NAC before a senior-laden Drexel squad eliminated the Black Bears in the conference semifinals. The 17-win total is matched by only four other UM teams. An improvement on those accomplishments will take increased maturity from returning players and the insurgence of new faces to make quick impacts.

For the first time since 1988-89, the Black Bears enter a season with more upperclassmen than freshmen and sophomores. The Black Bears return three starters and seven of their top nine scorers and rebounders. Leaving the UM squad after four seasons are former captain Marty Higgin and 10th all-time leading scorer Derrick Hodge. Junior point guard Deonte Hursey (Bloomington, Ill.) began the move into the floor general spot last season and should be able to take over where Higgins left off. The replacement for Hodge is not immediately identifiable, but Black Bears new and old are lining up for the chance to fill those formidable shoes. Four new student-athletes man what could be head coach Rudy Keeling’s best recruiting class yet. All four players are winners with a combined senior year record of 102-11.

Frontcourt: Returning to the power-forward position will be junior Francois Bouchard (Old Orchard Beach). The 6-8 wide-body led the team with 6.8 rebounds and 13.5 points a game. He was named to the Shootout Spokane All-Tournament team and also earned NAC Player of the Week honors.

Bouchard started slowly last season, as a shift in the UM lineup forced him away from the basket to the three position instead of the four. In late December, Derrick Hodge returned to the lineup and the three spot, allowing Bouchard to move closer to the basket. He responded by showing the talents of his freshman campaign. He scored in double figures in 11 of the last 13 games, including a season-high 25 against Drexel in the NAC Semifinal.

Deonte Hursey will shoulder the burden at the point guard position after the end of assist-record holder Marty Higgins’ collegiate career.

If there was a weakness in the Maine lineup a year ago, it was the inconsistency found in the pivot position. Bouchard started 31 of 32 games and was solid at the four position. Fritz Marseille (Chicago, Ill.), Dan Hillman (Rutherford, N.J.), Ken Barnes (Limestone) and Ed Jones (Rockford, Ill.) all started at times in the five spot.

Marseille, by starting in 12 of the last 13 games, established himself as the man in the center spot. Marseille, who made the transition from Junior College to Division I last year, averaged 6.1 points and 3.5 rebounds a game. He scored a career-high 17 points and pulled down seven rebounds at Wisconsin-Milwaukee in December. At 6-6, he’s a small center but has the athletic ability to leap with the best in the league. Many Maine hoop fans will remember a tremendous Marseille jam on the end of an ally-oop pass from Hursey that added excitement to a Black Bear comeback win over Wisconsin-Milwaukee at Alfond Arena.

Hillman appears to be the backup but has the ability to control the inside on any given night. A 6-8, 260-pound senior, he has battled injuries and inconsistency throughout his three-year career. Chronic knee and back injuries have been the most painful. He started eight games a year ago, once again showing flashes of brilliance. In the NAC semifinal, he came off the bench to score 13 points with 6-6 shooting.

Hillman shot 67 percent from the field last season, but attempted just 87 shots. In the last five games of 1991-92, Hillman connected on all 12 of his attempts.

Jones showed the greatest improvement over his freshman season. Four games into his sophomore year, he surpassed his offensive totals of his entire first season. His 30 blocks in 1991-92 were the most since Guy Gomis swatted 45 in 1988-89. Even though he stands 6-6, he is one of the fastest players on the team. His first year, he ran the 400 meters for the UM track team.

Barnes, a 1991 member of the NAC All-Rookie team, continued to be a solid role player. At times, he dominated with authoritative dunks and imposing inside play. A 6-6 forward, he came off the bench four of the five times he reached double figures in scoring.
Waiting in the wings will be Reggie Smith (Watertown, Wisc.). The 6-10, 235-pound recruit was a force in Northwestern Prep's drive to a Division II Wisconsin State Championship last March. He averaged 17 points and 13 rebounds. The biggest player Keeling has recruited at Maine, Smith has the size, strength and ability to break into the starting lineup. Smith can shoot from 15 feet and is also a fine athlete.

Rossie Kearson (Irvington, N.J.) plays small forward or, in a pinch, off-guard. Kearson, in the past, has given Maine a spark off the bench offensively and defensively. Based on his experience, he is a candidate for a starting spot in the frontcourt. He scored a season-high nine points at Vermont, when Hodge left the game with a head injury. As one of three seniors on the team, he will have to lend leadership to an impressive freshman class.

Backcourt:

With Hodge and Higgins, Maine claimed one of the best backcourts in the conference if not the northeast. Aside from their leadership and offensive talents, they were easily the two best Maine players on the defensive end of the court. More than anything else, that will be missed from the Black Bear lineup.

Hursey started the last 21 games of the season averaging over five assists and two steals per game in that time. In addition, he scored in double figures in 11 of the last 16 games and ended the season fourth on the team in scoring (8.4 ppg) and third in rebounds (3.8 rpg).

Hursey established career-highs in scoring (16) and rebounding (12) February 16, against Boston University. He narrowly missed a triple-double with 13 points, 10 rebounds and nine assists a week later against Wisconsin-Milwaukee. His 140 assists and 64 steals ranked second on the team to Higgins. His 140 assists and 64 steals ranked second on the team to Higgins. He also ended the season ranked in the top five in the NAC in free-throw percentage (1st, .833), assists (5th, 4.4 pg.) and steals (3rd, 2.0 pg).

Kevin Terrell (Chicago, Ill.) is the other top returning guard in the backcourt. Terrell, after being named to the All-Rookie team and selected Rookie of the Week three times as a freshman, had his 1991-92 season marked by inconsistency and injury. After scoring six points in six minutes against Delaware, he sprained an ankle, forcing him to miss several games and play others in pain.

At times, Terrell lit it up. He scored 21 points and 14 points in two games against the University of Vermont. He shot 6-6 from the three-point line, including a UM record-tying 4-4, Jan. 11, in Orono. Terrell also torched Big East teams Miami (18) and Connecticut (19) on the road.

The highlight of his season, possibly his career, was a buzzer beating 15-footer that won Maine's contest with Wisconsin-Milwaukee in Orono. Terrell collected a loose ball on the left baseline with three seconds remaining and fired up the game-winner. Moments later, he was smothered by teammates in a midcourt celebration.

Three recruits will add depth to the backcourt but also vie for starting time. Casey Arena (Beverly, Mass.) scored over 2,000 points in four years at Bishop Fenwick High School in Peabody, Mass. The 6-0 guard, named Massachusetts Gatorade Player of the Year, will certainly challenge Hursey and Terrell. Arena can obviously shoot well enough to be the off-guard but coach Keeling has not ruled out the chance of him playing the point.

Chris Collins (Patterson, N.J.) and Terry Hunt (Jersey City, N.J.) also carry impressive resumes to the University of Maine. Both recruits are outstanding students and athletes.

Hunt stood 6-3 when he signed with Maine in the fall, but he grew an inch and a half and is a strong candidate to play the small forward or guard spots. He played at St. Anthony's High School in Jersey City, N.J. St. Anthony's was ranked in the top five most of the season, before finishing ninth in the USA Today's national high school poll.

Collins played for his father Tyrone at John F. Kennedy High School, where he earned All-Conference, All-County, and second team All-State honors. His team put together an impressive 25-2 record before falling in the sectional finals. He comes from an athletic family. His father played college basketball at Marshall and his twin brother Shawn is attending Michigan on a football scholarship next fall.

At 6-4, 195, Collins can play both the small forward or guard position.

Francois Bouchard is one of several juniors that will have to show leadership in 1992-93.

Massachusetts Gatorade Player of the Year... Boston Globe Division 2 Player of the Year... averaged nearly 35 points a game... Catholic Central League MVP... scored 2,166 points in his high school career... compares favorably to Marty Higgins, Maine’s former captain... averaged 40 points a game in his first four high school tournament games, including 49 points in the Division 2 North Semifinal against Belmont... high school team finished 24-4 after falling in the Division 2 North Championship... played on the Massachusetts team at the Boston Shootout. Personal... born Feb. 12, 1974... major is undecided... the son of Robert and Charlene Arena.

Casey Arena’s coach at Bishop Fenwick, Mike O’Brien says, “I think he’s going to make a solid contribution in his first year and he should progress into a multi-year league all-star. He’s the most competitive person I’ve ever met, with more stamina than anyone I’ve met. He’s almost impossible to fatigue.”

Has the ability to step in and contribute at the one, two or three spots... led his high school to a 27-2 record before being eliminated in the sectional finals... averaged 25 points, eight rebounds and three assists a game... an outstanding student-athlete, he ranked in the top 10 of his class... played on N.J. All-Star team with Terry Hunt... earned All-Conference, All-County, and second team All-State honors at JFK... Personal... played for his father Tyrone at John F. Kennedy High School... his father was a high school All-American and played basketball at Marshall and his twin brother Shawn will attend Michigan on a football scholarship... born Nov. 11, 1974... a biology major... the son of Tyrone and Karon Collins.

His father and coach, Tyrone Collins says, “We were very impressed with the academic reputation of Maine and the emphasis coach Keeling and his staff place on academics. The academic support available at the University of Maine also impressed us. They were interested in Chris as a student and a person as well as an athlete.

“He is an all-around athlete who can do many things. He played four different positions for us, both point- and off-guard and he posted up. He is good defensively and he was our second leading rebounder.”
TERRY HUNT

Guard/Forward
6-5 180
Jersey City, N.J.

A senior captain on the St. Anthony’s High School basketball team... St. Anthony’s was ranked in the top five in the nation most of the season before closing at number nine with a record of 28-2... ranked 5th academically in high school class... signed at 6-3, he has grown an inch and a half since then... student council president... played on a New Jersey All-Star team with Chris Collins... member of the National Honor Society... received Hudson County Leadership Award for contributions as a leader in the community... PERSONAL... born Feb. 24, 1974... a history major... the son of Lester Hunt.

Terry Hunt’s St. Anthony’s High School coach, Bob Hurley, Sr. says, “His best basketball is ahead of him. He’s a late bloomer who needs to mature physically and athletically. Athletically, he catches a lot of people now, and physically, he’s up to 6-5. He is also a very well-rounded person as student council president and a National Honor Society member. He should be very successful at the college level.”

REGGIE SMITH

Center
6-10 235
Watertown, Wisc.

The biggest player and the truest center Keeling has ever recruited to come to Maine... a big physical specimen, who has the ability to shoot from 15 feet... averaged 17 points and 13 rebounds at Northwestern Prep, one of the top programs in Wisconsin... won the Division II State Championship as his team went 23-3 his senior year... Midwest Classic All-League... All-State honorable mention... PERSONAL... born March 10, 1974... major is undecided... the son of Bonnie and Hebert Smith... his grandmother, Martha Putz, is his legal guardian.

Paul Bertolus, Reggie Smith’s Northwestern Prep coach says, “Any young man making the transition from high school to college needs some transition time but the one thing Reggie has going for him is his strength. In addition to his strength, Reggie is a good passer and a team player. Ever since I first saw him, the team’s success has always been much more important to him than any numbers.

“He is very self-motivated. He practices hard. He is very serious about his game and getting his education.”

1991-92 Highlights

INDIVIDUAL HIGHLIGHTS

- Marty Higgins ends a superb collegiate career by earning second team All-Conference honors. Higgins, Maine’s captain as a senior, holds six Maine records including most games (116), most assists in a season (168) and career (619) and most steals in a game (8), season (95) and career (243).
- Derrick Hodge earns second team All-Conference accolades for the second consecutive year. Hodge scores his 1,000th career point Jan. 11 versus the University of Vermont. His 1,206 points places him 10th on UM’s all-time list.
- Francois Bouchard is named NAC Player of the Week Jan. 6. He scores 17 points in games vs. Loyola and Florida Vermont. Higgins sinks two free throws with 0.1 seconds left to lift UM over Northeastern, 67-65.
- Hodge records his 1,000th point Jan. 11 versus the University of Vermont. His 1,206 points places him 10th on UM’s all-time list.
- Higgins is named NAC Player of the Week Feb. 3, when he tallies 28 points, 14 assists and eight steals in games at Northeastern and Boston University. Higgins sinks two free throws with 0.1 seconds left to lift UM over Northeastern, 67-65.

TEAM HIGHLIGHTS

- Maine completes the 1991-92 season with a mark of 17-15 and 8-6 in the North Atlantic Conference. The 17 wins ties for the fourth most in Maine history.
- Eight Division I road wins is the most in UM history. The first sweep of Boston University and Northeastern in Boston since 1979-80 is included in the road success.
- Nine non-conference wins ties the 1983-84 and 1980-81 teams for most non-conference wins.
- Maine opens the season with an exciting overtime 80-74 win over Northern Arizona. The Black Bears score the last nine points of the extra period to win its fifth straight season-opener. Five UM players score in double figures.
- Maine places fifth in the San Juan Shootout. The Black Bears lose to Big East member Miami 62-57 then defeat Florida Southern 63-50. NCAA Tournament participant and Big Eight power Iowa State edges Maine, 70-63 on the final day of the shootout. Bouchard's 10-15 shooting leads to a game-high 22 points as Maine trailed 64-61 with just a minute left. Marty Higgins is named to the All-Tournament team.
- On the way back from San Juan, Maine stops in Baltimore, to snap Coppin State's 24-game home winning streak with a 69-66 victory. Maine shoots 57 percent in the second half to overcome a 35-29 halftime deficit. Higgins leads UM with 14 points and Ed Jones blocks four CSC shots.
- For the second year in a row, Maine hangs tough with a powerful Connecticut team. The Huskies trail most of the first half but control the second half for the 85-71 win. Bouchard pours in 21 and Kevin Terrell adds 19 points for the visitors.
- The Black Bears place third in the Shootout Spokane. Bouchard is selected All-Tournament as Maine is outgunned by Gonzaga 70-55 then defeats Vermont 67-61.
- A Derrick Hodge three-pointer at the buzzer leads Maine to a dramatic come-from-behind 56-53 win at Rider in January. In winning its second game in a row, and third out of four, Maine overcomes deficits of 20-4 in the first half and 35-24 at halftime.
- A 76-60 win over Vermont in Memorial Gymnasium opens the conference schedule. Higgins' 20 points and Terrell's 4-4 three-point shooting, tying a UM record, lead the Black Bears. Hodge records his 1,000th point.
- On Jan. 17 versus Drexel, Maine plays its historic first game in the Alfond Sports Arena in front of 3,153. The Dragons ruin the opener with a 55-50 win despite Higgins' 14 points and University record eight steals.
- Hartford becomes the first Black Bear basketball victim at Alfond Sports Arena, with a 73-63 loss to a fired up Black Bear team. Bouchard leads Maine with 16 points.
- Maine enjoys its first Boston sweep since 1979-80 with road wins at Boston University 79-46 and Northeastern 67-65. The win over BU is the largest margin of victory over a Division I team for Maine since a 125-86 win over UNH in 1968-69. A pair of free throws by Higgins with 0.1 remaining pushes Maine past NU.
- Maine handles Rider 86-80 then New Hampshire 84-64 for its second and third straight wins at Alfond Sports Arena and its fifth straight overall to improve to 12-10.
- Maine stretches its streak over Boston University with an 83-67 win over the Terriers. Deonte Hursey continues to mature with career highs in points (16) and rebounds (12). Hodge adds 26 points, tying a career best.
- Bouchard's 19 points and Ed Jones' career best 11 help Maine collect its first win at Hartford in eight tries. UH's Vin Baker is held to 19 points with 7-28 shooting. Maine outscore the Hawks 42-26 in the second half.
- A Kevin Terrell 15-foot baseline jumper with three seconds left tops off a game-ending 12-0 run to lift Maine over highly-regarded independent Wisconsin-Milwaukee, 61-59. Trailing 59-49 with five minutes left, Higgins leads an impressive charge with two three-pointers. Hursey narrowly misses a triple-double with a team-high 13 points, 10 rebounds and nine assists.
- Maineclinches third place in the NAC with a 55-39 win at New Hampshire, ending the regular season 8-6 in league play. Bouchard's 20 points leads Maine.
- The NAC playoff scenario sends Boston University to Maine for the second straight year. The Black Bears eliminate BU 68-51, for the sixth consecutive win over the Terriers. Higgins' 20 and Bouchard's 15 points bolster the Maine attack. Hursey and Higgins each record five steals as the Terriers commit 27 turnovers.
- Maine heads to Philadelphia for the NAC Semifinal. Despite being tied 44-44 at half, Maine loses 97-79. Bouchard scores a season-high 25 while Higgins closes his collegiate career with a 15-point effort.

The North Atlantic Conference has endured numerous transformations in its first decade, but the league enters its 14th year of existence with a strong foundation established and a bright look toward the future. The league enters 1992-93 with an eight-institutional alignment: Boston University, Drexel University, Northeastern University and the Universities of Delaware, Hartford, Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont.

Originally founded in 1979 as the ECAC North, the league involved 10 teams competing in men’s basketball for an automatic bid to the NCAA Division I Tournament. The 1987-88 season marked a turning point for the conference when league administrators made a commitment to establish new championships, with the goal of building a broad-based athletic conference. Stuart Haskell was named the league’s first commissioner on January 1, 1988.

League roots can be traced to the 1974 formation of the New England Conference, in which the five charter members of the NAC were aligned. Canisius, Colgate and Niagara combined with NAC charter members BU, Maine, NU, UNH and UVM to make up the ECAC North for the 1979-80 season. The league’s first men’s basketball tournament was held that year. In 1984, the league expanded with the addition of Siena and Hartford, and became the “ECAC North Atlantic Conference.” Following the 1988-89 season the league trimmed to seven schools with the departure of Canisius, Niagara and Siena, and became its own entity, no longer under the auspices of the Eastern College Athletic Conference. Colgate was the final school to depart following the 1989-90 season. Delaware and Drexel joined the conference for the 1990-91 academic year.

In only four years, the NAC has expanded to sponsor 20 championships. Men’s teams compete in baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, indoor track and field, lacrosse, outdoor track and field, soccer, swimming and tennis.

The 1991-92 season will mark the fourth in which women’s sports will be sponsored by the NAC. Women’s teams compete for championships in basketball, cross country, field hockey, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, swimming, soccer, softball, tennis and volleyball.

Men’s and women’s basketball teams compete in a double round-robin regular season schedule, concluding with the annual post-season tournament. The men’s tournament championship receives the league’s automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament.

In 1992, Delaware (men) and Vermont (women) captured basketball championships and represented the NAC in NCAA tournament play. Since the inaugural NAC men’s basketball tournament in 1980, Northeastern has won seven of the 13 titles, with Boston University collecting three championships, and former members Holy Cross and Siena each winning one.

NAC basketball teams are not the only ones to enjoy success in post-season tournaments. League teams have achieved success on all areas. Men’s soccer in the NAC has moved steadily to the forefront in New England and now enjoys an automatic bid to the NCAA post-season tournament. Boston University advanced to the second round of the tournament in 1990 while Vermont went to the third round in 1990, and made the first round in 1991. Last season Hartford advanced to the third round.

League teams have established a tradition of post-season tournament participation in field hockey, another sport in which the NAC enjoys an automatic bid to NCAA post-season competition. In the first year of NAC field hockey play, three of the five league teams received berths in the NCAA Tournament. League champion New Hampshire was joined by Boston University and Northeastern in the 12-team field.

The NAC replaced the ECAC New England Division in baseball in 1990. Teams competed in round-robin competition, with the NAC Champion representing the league in the ECAC Division I post-season tournament. Maine won the NAC baseball title the first two years, and received a berth in the NCAA Regional Tournament both seasons. This year, the conference will hold its own league playoff.

In addition to building strong athletic programs, the member institutions are also committed to establishing and maintaining the highest standards of academic excellence. The conference selects an all-academic honor roll in each of the round-robin sports to recognize athletes who have excelled in both the classroom and the field. Additionally, top scholar-athletes from each school will be recognized by the conference each year.

Harold Alfond Sports Arena

The Harold Alfond Sports Arena, one of the finest all-purpose facilities in the Northeast was completed in February of 1977. Thanks to the generosity of Mr. Harold Alfond, the Arena allows for basketball to return to campus in a modern, up-graded facility.

The Black Bears have played in front of crowds shoe-horned into Memorial Gymnasium on the Orono campus. Maine spectatorship enabled the Black Bear home court to be noted in Sports Illustrated as one of the top 10 most difficult gyms to play in, in the seventies.

Mr. Alfond, who has donated over $4 million dollars to the University since 1968, contributed $2 million dollars for the expansion. Mr. Alfond's gift represents the largest one-time (non-posthumous) cash contribution ever bestowed upon the University. Over 2,000 people, headed by Mr. Alfond, contributed funds for the original construction of the complex.

The expansion created 70-foot by 140-foot additions to the east and west sides of the Arena allowing for the installation of 1,200 seats. The construction raises the capacity to 5,200 for hockey and nearly 6,000 for basketball.

Included in the Arena expansion are additional concession areas and rest rooms, locker rooms, ticket offices, souvenir stands and improved media facilities. A storage area will also be built for the new basketball court to be used in the facility.

Aside from being Maine's home court, the Arena is used by high school and youth hockey leagues, and for concerts and graduation ceremonies.

The complex is a modern facility with virtually no obstructed-view seats, and an excellent view of the court.

Michael B. and Georgia D. Latti Fitness Center
Michael Kessock Sports Medicine Center

Completion of the $1.2 million Memorial Gymnasium Renovation and Addition Project has given the University of Maine some of the finest athletic facilities in the Northeast.

The Michael B. and Georgia D. Latti Fitness Center was dedicated at a ceremony on October 6, 1989. The 6,000-foot facility next to Wallace Pool contains a weight room and training facility which serves an estimated 500 students, faculty and members of the surrounding community each day. The skylighted facility is home to tons of free weights, a Universal gym, life cycles and other exercise equipment.

The Michael Kessock Sports Medicine Center, a modern training facility to serve the University community was completed in June of 1990. The new facility is more than double the size of the old facility. The 1,800-foot room also features top equipment to serve the 200 recreational and varsity athletes who use the facility each day. The wet area of the room includes a freezer with ice making capabilities and three whirlpools. The facility also houses seven plinths and a taping area for 30 athletes.
UMaine’s Jim Boylen Makes It To The Pros

After obtaining one's degree, there is the demanding task of making a career choice. With basketball players, coaching is often an obvious choice. Several former Black Bears are making their marks in the coaching profession.

Matt Rossignol and Jeff Holmes come to mind as successful Maine high school coaches. Mike LaPlante, now at Maine as an assistant on Rudy Keeling's staff, is a former player who has chosen to join the collegiate basketball ranks.

Last summer Jim Boylen created a new category for former Black Bear hoop players. He became an assistant coach for the NBA's Houston Rockets.

Boylen's route to professional basketball includes talent, desire and good fortune. At Grand Rapids High School he was recruited for football more than basketball, but when Maine offered a basketball scholarship he jumped.

"I wasn't recruited that heavily," said the 27-year old. "Maine was the only school to offer me a scholarship during the early period. I saw it as a place to play, get a good education and play for a good coach. Paul Cook was my host when I visited and he influenced me a lot. He was a solid, honest guy and I thought, if the rest of my teammates are like this, then this is where I want to be."

Boylen entered Maine as a business major. Beside "career goals" on his freshman basketball questionnaire, Boylen wrote "get a job in finance." But then Boylen became a part of the UM basketball program, which fueled the fire for his future coaching plans.

"As the years went by, it became difficult for me to imagine not going to basketball practice every day. I had such a positive experience with coach Chappelle and my teammates, it became a coaching training ground for me.

"The people I came in contact with at Maine made all the difference.

"My roommate was Bob Wilder, who is now an assistant football coach at Maine. We always used to talk about practice drills and different plays. We wondered how to get the most out of a player who was the most talented.

"I also remember going to Boston on road trips. We went to see the Celtics play, and that’s when I started becoming a pro basketball fan, watching Larry Bird play.

Boylen captained the Black Bears as a junior and a senior. He averaged 21.1 points a game in his final season while being the second best player in the league behind another pro named Reggie Lewis. Boylen, ninth on Maine’s all-time scoring list with 1,244 points, held the records for steals in a season (70) and career (184) until last season.

Although he didn’t score the most points, he played an important role in Maine’s memorable 84-81 upset of Michigan State in 1986-87. Soon the victory would become both an irony and a door opener.

Upon graduation, Michigan State head coach Jud Heathcote remembered how a kid from Grand Rapids, Mich. led the Black Bears to a win over the Spartans.

"Jud was looking for someone who he knew could play and knew the game. And I was from Michigan which also helped," said Boylen.

While at Michigan State, Boylen mastered a computer-aided film scouting system. This talent, combined with some hard work at Five-Star Camps, and coaching a team in the NBA summer league earned Boylen his chance at the pros.

The two-time Maine basketball captain still maintains his Black Bear ties.

"It’s hard sometimes to keep in touch, but its was nice to get together at Jeff Holmes’ wedding during the summer and see everybody again. And now that so many of us are in coaching we always talk about X’s and O’s.”

In addition, Boylen has kept an eye on the Maine program, especially with former teammate Mike LaPlante on the UM staff.

"Rudy has placed the team in a position to win the North Atlantic Conference. He’s recruiting quality kids from all over the nation and in keeping with the Maine tradition of past coaches, education and working towards a degree are still a priority.

"Maine is a great place to go to school. I have no regrets. Being with the guys, just hanging out, my relationship with Skip, the travel, the wins and losses were all part of a great experience. I think it’s the relationships that you develop that are most important. Seeing everyone at that wedding, seeing how everyone is successful, and now we’re all coaches, so we can talk about the game, that’s fun. Those are the things I hang onto from Maine.”

UMaine’s Jim Boylen Makes It To The Pros

After obtaining one’s degree, there is the demanding task of making a career choice. With basketball players, coaching is often an obvious choice. Several former Black Bears are making their marks in the coaching profession.

Matt Rossignol and Jeff Holmes come to mind as successful Maine high school coaches. Mike LaPlante, now at Maine as an assistant on Rudy Keeling's staff, is a former player who has chosen to join the collegiate basketball ranks.

Last summer Jim Boylen created a new category for former Black Bear hoop players. He became an assistant coach for the NBA’s Houston Rockets.

Boylen’s route to professional basketball includes talent, desire and good fortune. At Grand Rapids High School he was recruited for football more than basketball, but when Maine offered a basketball scholarship he jumped.

"I wasn’t recruited that heavily,” said the 27-year old. "Maine was the only school to offer me a scholarship during the early period. I saw it as a place to play, get a good education and play for a good coach. Paul Cook was my host when I visited and he influenced me a lot. He was a solid, honest guy and I thought, if the rest of my teammates are like this, then this is where I want to be."
