Dual Exercises, Books Chosen By Senior Class

The motion to give $2000 to the University for the distribution of reference books for the four colleges was passed at the Senior Class meeting last night. In further business, the class voted to have dual graduation exercises as originally announced by University officials. Approximately 250 seniors attended the special class meeting.

George Giostra, class vice president, presented a new proposal for the class gift, based on the original athletic scholarship which was turned down by the Administration. Giostra said that this proposal if passed, would "be acceptable by University officials." The proposal differed in that it stipulated that the scholarship would be made by the University Scholarship Committee rather than a committee from the class. Such a scholarship would be based on: 1) need; 2) academic success; 3) all other things being equal, athletic ability; and 4) promise of leadership. The motion was discussed and finally turned down by the class.

With the defeat of this proposal, two more motions came from the floor. The first was to give the $2000 for a basketball scoreboard for the gymnasium. The second was to give the money to the University, the interest to be used to subsidize the publication of a literary magazine.

Altogether six proposals were voted on, which were: a general scholarship; a contribution of $1000 for the Hauck Auditorium, and $700 for a tape recorder for WORO; a scholarship of $1500 and $700 for a tape recorder for WORO; a gift of $2000 for reference books for the library to be distributed among the four colleges, and the two new proposals.

A standing vote was taken, with the motion for reference books being passed.

Joe Cuccaro, president of the class, brought up the issue of graduation exercises. Cuccaro announced that there would be no chance to have the exercises in the Bangor Auditorium. Charles E. Crossland, Vice President for Administration and adviser to the class, said that the "building does not lend itself to Commencement Exercises."

Two proposals were voted on: to have one exercise at which students would receive three tickets apiece, or to have dual exercises—Arts and Sciences and Agriculture students graduating in the morning, and Education and Technology students graduating in the afternoon—students receiving six tickets apiece. The vote to have dual exercises was almost unanimous.

The meeting ended with an ovation for Charles Crossland who has been the adviser for the Class of 1959 for three years.

Vice President Of Cornell Speaks At Assembly Monday

The annual Scholarship Recognition Assembly will be held on Monday, April 27, at 9:50 a.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

The faculty, wearing caps, gowns, and academic hoods, will form at the northeast corner of the Mall, and senior honor students, also wearing caps and gowns, will form at the northwest corner. Both groups will file into the Gymnasium at 9:50.

ents of the Class of 1905 Scholarship, the Kidder Scholarship, the Merritt Caldwell Fernald Scholarship, the James Stacy Stevens Scholarship, the Harold Sherburne Boardman Scholarship, the Leon S. Merrill Scholarship, and the Charles Davidson Scholarship.

Mark Shibles and William Chandler were nominated by the General Student Senate Tuesday night for the position of next year's Senate president. Also announced were the names of the nominees for the Washington Watch Award. In further Senate action, the group questioned election proceedings and salaries paid to staff members of the Maine Campus and WORO.

The Executive Committee announced the slate of officers for next year which will include Mark Shibles and William Chandler as candidates for president at the elections to be held on the fifth of May. Shibles is the present vice president of the organization, and Chandler is an Off-Campus senator.

Named as candidates for vice president were Larry Cilley, Thomas Powers and William Wise. For the office of treasurer, the slate includes Ann Sleight, Phyllis Stewart, and Penny Hall. Nancy Rich, Margaret Stiles, and Melissa Boomer are secretary nominees.

Shibles, heading the Executive Committee, said that the ballot

Pledge Colony Installed As Delta Theta Chapter

By Mary Irving

The University of Maine's Alpha Chi Omega pledge colony will be initiated into the National Sorority this weekend as the Delta Theta Chapter.

The pledging of the chapter will take place Friday evening at 7:00. The initiation will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. with a Formal Banquet that evening at 7:00 in Stodder Hall. President Lloyd H. Elliott will speak. The chairman of the banquet is Mrs. "Army" Evans, District Alumni Chairman.

Sunday morning, Mrs. Kennard Jones, National President, will install the chapter officers at a model chapter meeting. A reception will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Memorial Union.

Thirty girls belonging to the Alpha Tau chapter of Alpha Chi Omega at the University of New Hampshire will arrive Friday night to spend the weekend and take charge of the initiation of the Delta Theta's.

The sorority was founded by Rheta Colwell and Judy Clark Rankin during their Freshman year. On May 23, 1957, the first seven members were initiated into the local sorority which was then called Gamma Chi Alpha. The next fall the sorority was recognized as part of the Panhellenic Council. That fall the sorority started rushing, taking in both upperclassmen and freshmen.

Last fall they pledged the national sorority Alpha Chi Omega and became a pledge colony. This weekend the 43 members will be initiated into the national sisterhood.

The Alpha Chi's have decided not to have a brother fraternity. They held their pledge formals at Lambda Chi Alpha last year and at Alpha Gamma Rho this year.

The chapter's advisor is Mrs. Geddes

The grants are awarded under the International Educational Exchange program of the U. S. State Department.

Students who receive scholarships are selected by the Board of Foreign Scholarships and are recommended by Fulbright committees at their respective colleges and universities and by the Institute of International Education.

Name Animal Poultry Building For Hitchner

The University Trustees have voted to name the new Animal-Poultry Science Building for E. Reeve Hitchner, professor of bacteriology.

The classroom-laboratory building which is an addition to the former Animal Pathology Building, will house the poultry science department, part of the animal science department, the department of biochemistry, the department of bacteriology, and the offices for the Agricultural Extension Service personnel in dairying and poultry.

The 98th Maine Legislature appropriated $600,000 for Hitchner Hall, which will be ready for occupancy by late summer.

The old Men's Cafeteria will be torn down to make room for a much needed parking lot. Mr. Francis McGuire, Director of Plant and Facilities, said that the site should be cleared by graduation.

New Eagles Named At Annual Banquet

New Eagles and Neai Mathetai members will be tapped at the annual Eagle-Neai Mathetai banquet Wednesday, April 29, at Stodder Hall. The guest speaker will be Professor Alice E. Stewart of the history department.

The students arrived on campus in the morning with the first round of contests beginning at eleven o'clock. The program was resumed after a noon meal in the cafeterias on campus. Results were announced in the Memorial Union later that afternoon.

The Maine Speech Festival, in its purpose to encourage the use of better speech, provides an opportunity for the students to compare their progress and skill with participants from other schools.

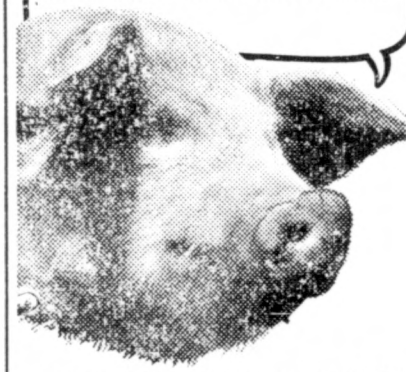

Eight events in the original speaking and oral interpretation contest were judged by debate coaches, University faculty and students. Working with Wofford G. Gardner, head of the Department of Speech, and Mr. William L. Whiting, director of the Maine Speech Festival, were four University students, Donald Peakes, Will Freeman, Selma Sherman and Elmira Cram.

Electrical Engineers Urgently Need Building

The need for a new Electrical Engineering building for the State University is "so urgent we're now rating it far higher on our priority list," said President Elliott.

Elliott reviewed the 14 University projects, totaling $8,752,400, at a hearing on the University's capital improvements program before the Appropriations Committee of the Legislature.

President Elliott said the University was "greatly concerned" about improving its Electrical Engineering program since it received the report that the electrical engineering department was in danger of losing its accreditation. Since this report the building has moved to 9th place on the priority list.

Other projects on the priority list include: a classroom-laboratory-library building for the Portland campus, a women's dormitory, a new incinerator, sewage disposal, steam plant expansion, and service buildings, a college of education building, an electrical engineering building, completing the wings of Boardman Hall, and a women's physical education building.

Elliott repeated a statement made at a previous hearing that for University expansion to proceed soundly as many of these projects as possible should be approved by this session of the legislature.

The Phi Kap's and their dates came back refreshed for their record party after a dip in the YMCA pool.

May 2 the Newman Club is sponsoring its annual Mexican Fiesta from 7:30 to 12 p.m. There will be dancing, entertainment, games of chance, and drawings on various prizes. Civil Defense Alert Stops All Traffic

The Civil Defense exercise that took place on Friday, April 17, "was as good as any we've had," Francis McGuire, Director of Plant and Facilities, reported yesterday afternoon.

He added that approximately one minute after the take-cover signal all traffic was either at a stand-still or non-existent; however, it was five minutes before all pedestrians were under-cover.

McGuire said that a few individuals either did not know about the warning or just ignored it.

IFC Extends Pledge Minimum

The Interfraternity Council has extended its 1.8 pledging rule to cover all classes. A prospective pledge, freshman, sophomore, junior or senior, must have a 1.8 accumulative to be eligible for rushing.

Last fall, the IFC upped freshman requirements from 1.5 to 1.8, but left the eligibility rule for upperclassmen at 1.5.

"The passage of the 1.8 accumulative rule is a further indication that fraternities are in tune with the increased emphasis on scholarship at Maine and at other schools across the country," IFC President Donald Cookson said Tuesday.

Hungarian Artist's Woodcuts Displayed

"War and revolution leave their memories of glory and suffering, and sometimes are the source for great art. Political upheavals often force people to flee from their native countries and have in our time brought many distinguished scholars, scientists and artists to America. Among the most recent arrivals has been the Hungarian artist, Jozsef Domjan" . . . whose color woodcuts are presented in the main art gallery of Carnegie this month.

Gustave von Groschwitz of the Cincinnati Art Museum further says, "Domjan's success with the color woodcut is derived from his training as a painter. His work has been described as painting with woodblock, and although painting has a greater range, the process of each is similar in that a woodcut is made by printing pigments on paper instead of brushing them on canvas. Furthermore, the woodcut permits multiple printings, each one an original, but costing less for this reason. Domjan limits the edition of each subject to twenty-five handprinted, signed impressions, and uses from five to eight blocks" in each woodcut.

Since his first exhibit in Budapest in 1948, Domjan's work has been exhibited and acquired by literally every important museum in the world. This includes those in Great Britain, Sweden, Denmark, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland, and the United States. In 1955, Domjan received the rarely awarded "Master of the Colored Woodcut" during a trip to China. The March 1958 issue of Art News reported that his "bright peacocks and flowers (which are included in Carnegie's exhibition) derive from peasant art and are executed with consummate skill."

It's what's up front that counts

You can reproduce the experiment. It's easy as π . (Yes, you can do it in the bathtub.) Assuming that you have first visited your friendly tobacconist, simply light your first Winston and smoke it. Reasoning backwards, the discovery proceeds as follows: first, you will notice a delightful flavor, in the class of fresh coffee or of bread baking. Obviously, such flavor cannot come from the filter. Therefore, it's what's up front that counts: Winston's Filter-Blend. The tobaccos are selected for flavor and mildness, then specially processed for filter smoking. This extra step is the real difference between Winston and all other filter cigarettes. Besides, it's why Winston is America's best-selling filter cigarette.

Editorial

A Sincere Farewell

We would like to echo the sentiments of President Elliott on the resignation of Dr. Robert Shay, as the Head of the School of Business Administration.

"The University and State have suffered a major loss by Dr. Shay's resignation. We need the kind of leadership that he has provided in the area of business administration and in the entire field of economics."

In the short time that we have been associated with Dr. Shay on the Campus, we have found him to be a great help in determining the financial policies of the paper. He was never too busy to sit down with us and discuss any matters which we felt were important.

But this was only a small facet of his work while at the university. As the head of one of the largest departments on campus, he sometimes could have used a thirty hour day to complete all of the work which piled up on his desk.

It may be for this reason that Dr. Shay felt it necessary to resign. Not that he doesn't feel it necessary to complete this work, but it left him little or no time to pursue his interest in the field of economic research. He has received national recognition through his work in this field.

As you take your leave of the University of Maine, Dr. Shay, we at the Maine Campus would like to extend a sincere "thank you" for the help that you have been to us this year. We are sure that the promise which you have shown during your tenure here will be indicative of the success which you will achieve in New York.

It has been a pleasure to be associated with you.

What's Maine Day? Student Forum:

By Larry Cilley

Chairman of the Maine Day Publicity Committee

Just what is this day of fun, spirit, and accomplishment which is supposed to be unique with this college, and why should you be there? The reason is simple. That "Maine Spirit" which sparked us during freshmen week will be recaptured for a few days. This is what a Maine Day is like.

Shortly after supper, Monday May 4th, people will be aroused by blaring horns, cheers, and enthusiastic shouts of students winding their way through the campus as the Mayor's Campaign Car Parade moves toward the gymnasium. Within the crowded gym, the candidates for mayor present their crazy, vote-seeking antics. In past years we have seen such personalities as Julius Caesar in his white toga, Humphrey Pennyworth in shorts, high boots, and ivy league cap, and Ron the Con dressed in black and white vertical stripes.

Tuesday afternoon W.O.R.O. joins the fun and excitement with a 35 hour radiothon broadcasting remote from the mall.

Tuesday evening the gymnasium is lined with multi-colored fraternity banners and people waiting for their favorite fraternity to approach the choral stairs and at the command of their leader fill the gym with the masculine tones of a drinking song.

During intermission a long suspense is broken by the announcement of the new Senior Skulls and Sophomore Owls. After the sing, fraternity pledge rivalry starts as pledges work all through the night building a float to win the approval of the brothers.

Next morning at 6:30 the Maine Band becomes a musical alarm clock waking everyone to the Maine Day call. By 7:45 crowds begin to collect on the mall in Bermuda shorts, dungarees, and old sweatshirts, anxious to start constructive work on campus. Refreshments and a mobile ballot box visit each work group.

The afternoon float parade starts with the arrival of the president and the campus queens via motorcade to the steps of the library. The queens are presented long-stemmed red roses. Floats portraying television scenes will pass twice for the inspection of the judges. The new mayor is announced and is presented keys to the cities of Bangor, Brewer Orono, and Old Town. The Maine Band will play a few snappy selections, and final announcement of the float contest will be made.

That night Bud Ochmanski's spectacular production, "Swanee on the Stillwater," will feature favorite faculty personalities and talented students in the traditional Faculty-Student Skit.

So you see Maine Day will be great... so don't hesitate, get a date, and participate.

Special Course

University seniors, training for teaching, will be able to qualify as driver training instructors through a special course to be given on campus from June 15 to 26, the Office of the Summer Session announced this week.

Two separate courses will be offered, one in basic driver education, and an advanced course in driver and traffic safety education. Teachers and administrators in school work are eligible for these courses, as well as University seniors who are preparing for high school teaching.

Should A Woman Be Able To Run For The Presidency Of The General Student Senate?

From time to time this page will carry pro and con discussions of matters which we feel are of general student interest. This is the first in that series.—Ed.

FOR

When was the last time a woman ran for the presidency of the General Student Senate?

Don't rack your brain too long over this question, as this situation has never happened. And here's why.

There is an unwritten law in the Senate that says a woman shall not be eligible to campaign for the Presidency. It's as simple as that.

But why do the Senators feel that a woman is unqualified? I doubt that there is any valid reason. There are certainly qualified women who might want the Senate Presidency if they felt it was a fair and impartial election.

Let's face it, women have a definite place in our society, and that does not mean that their place is "in the home". There are successful women business executives, women legislators, etc. Sex is becoming a lesser factor in determining women's careers.

Every four years some major publication will feature a story about the possibility of a woman being elected President of the United States. Not too long ago this idea would have been ridiculous to the majority; now it seems to be getting widespread acceptance as a possibility — a remote one to be sure, but nevertheless a possibility.

Now... we would like to make a proposal. There must be one woman on campus who feels that she is qualified and able to carry out the duties of the Senate President. We suggest that she register as a candidate for the office. There is nothing in the Senate Constitution that can prevent it and I doubt that they would care to go on record as opposing women aspirants.

You probably wouldn't get elected, but it would set an interesting precedent. What do you say?

Jack Linnell

AGAINST

In less than three weeks, the students will go to the polls and elect the President and other officers of the Senate. As of this date, the candidates for office haven't been announced.

When the announcement is made, look carefully—there will not be a female name in the group of presidential candidates. Why? Because it is "tradition" that a woman will not be President of the Senate. Perhaps many women have felt that the Senate constitution has a clause similar to the various constitutions of the various classes, wherein it says that a woman may not run for class presidency.

Think a little — why should a woman hold such an office?

Admittedly, a woman may have the necessary intelligence, capability, and efficiency to hold the office. As a matter of fact, she may hold the office and hold it well.

But there is another side to this story. A woman is still not accepted in an administrative capacity on the higher levels. An entirely male meeting may accomplish much — but, add one woman to the group and things may likely become stilted and uncomfortable.

There is still a group of men, perhaps in the minority, who feel that a woman isn't capable and is just taking up one-chair space at an administrative meeting. They feel that unnecessary explanations must be given her so that she can keep up the pace. To these men, she is a hindrance.

Another school of thought holds that a woman cannot represent a group in all situations. They think that a man can better present the feeling of his group and can best attain the necessary respect and attention that is needed.

Until the time comes, and it probably never will, that a woman is completely accepted in an administrative position, it is best that she doesn't even compete for it. The differentiation in sexes for these positions will never be overcome.

In many campus organizations, women hold the top offices and do a very good job. However, the job of Senate President has always gone to a man by "tradition" and let's keep it that way.

Maine Masque Selects Hanson

William Hanson, a senior theatre major, has taken over the presidency of the Maine Masque Theater, Professor Herschel Brickner announced earlier this week.

Hanson takes over the position from David Robinson who had to resign because of "increasing scholastic pressure." Robinson said he "feels unable to continue to serve the Masque in the best capacity."

Hanson, who has served as vice president of the Masque this year, has been active in the Masque productions since his freshman year.

VIVE LE POPCORN!

The other day as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (Marlboro, incidentally, has the best tinfoil, which is not surprising when you consider that they have the best cigarettes, which is not surprising when you consider that they take the best filters and put them together with the best tobaccos and rush them to your tobacco counter, fresh and firm and loaded with smoking pleasure). The other day, I say, as I was walking down the street picking up tinfoil, (I have, incidentally, the second largest ball of tinfoil in our family. My brother Eleanor's is bigger—more than four miles in diameter—but, of course, he is taller than I). The other day, as I was saying, while walking down the street picking up tinfoil, I passed a campus and right beside it, a movie theatre which specialized in showing foreign films. Most campuses have foreign movie theatres close by, because foreign movies are full of culture, art, and esoterica, and where is culture more rife, art more rampant, and esoterica more endemic than on a campus?

Nowhere; that's where.

I hope you have all been taking advantage of your local foreign film theatre. Here you will find no simple-minded Hollywood products, marked by treacly sentimentality and machine-made bravura. Here you will find life itself—in all its grimness, its poverty, its naked, raw passion!

Have you, for instance, seen the recent French import, Le Crayon de Mon Oncle ("The Kneecap"), a savage and uncompromising story of a man named Claude, whose consuming ambition is to get a job as a meter reader with the Paris water department? But he is unable, alas, to afford the flashlight one needs for this position. His wife, Bon-Bon, sells her hair to a wigmaker and buys him a flashlight. Then, alas, Claude discovers that one also requires a leatherette bow tie. This time his two young daughters, Caramel and Nougat, sell their hair to a wigmaker. So now Claude has his leatherette bow tie, but now, alas, his flashlight battery is burned out and the whole family, alas, is bald.

Or have you seen the latest Italian masterpiece, La Donna E Mobile (I Ache All Over), a heart-shattering tale of a boy and his dog? Malvolio, a Venetian lad of nine, loves his little dog with every fibre of his being. He has one great dream: to enter the dog in the annual Venetian dog show. But this, alas, requires an entrance fee, and Malvolio, alas, is penniless. However, he saves and scrimps and steals and finally gets enough together to enter the dog in the show. The dog, alas, comes in twenty-third. Malvolio sells him to a vivisectionist.

Or have you seen the new Japanese triumph, Kibutzi-San (The Radish), a pulse-stirring historical romance about Yamoto, a poor farmer, and his daughter Ethel who are accosted by a warlord one morning on their way to market? The warlord cuts Yamoto in half with his samurai sword and runs off with Ethel. When Yamoto recovers, he seeks out Ethel's fiancé, Red Buttons, and together they find the warlord and kill him. But, alas, the warlord was also a sorcerer and he whimsically turned Ethel into a whooping crane. Loyal Red Buttons takes Ethel home where he feeds her fish heads for twenty years and keeps hoping she'll turn back into a woman. She never does. Alas.

Faculty Dines At Merrill Tea Room

A little known institution on campus is the Merrill Hall Tea Room. Any member of the faculty or any office employees may dine in the cafeteria each noon from Monday to Friday. Here they eat a well balanced meal at moderate prices.

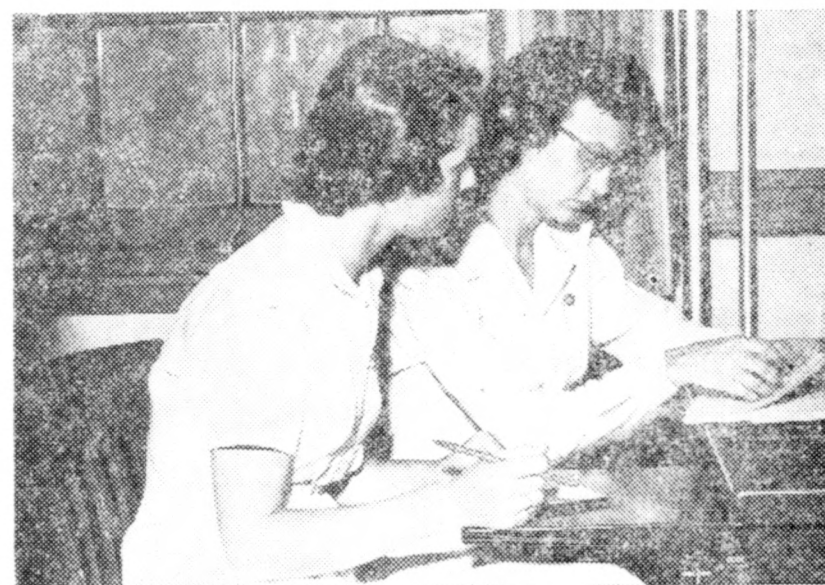

Cooking for the cafeteria is done by the girls in Institutional Foods class, which is a course in Home Economics. There are five girls who prepare the meal for each day, which is a two hour duty.

The class is under the supervision of Phyllis Gulbrandsen, a dietitian in the School. She along with the manager, who is a student in Institutional Management, must plan the menus and order the food for each week.

At every meal, there is a choice between a luncheon dish or a complete dinner. The menu for the week is given to the regular diners a week in advance so they can check off what they will be having. Then when they come in each noon, they pick up the menu with their check marks and take what they have ordered, paying for each item individually. Mrs. Gulbrandsen is always ready to hear their requests for their favorite dishes.

The chore of washing the dishes after the meal is done by students who live in the University Cabins. For their work, they earn their noonday meal.

"Next week we will have on the menu . . ."

"Come and get it while it's hot!"

The reward for all the work: the face of a satisfied customer.

Blanchard Is IPYE Delegate

Lawrence S. Blanchard has been selected to go to Argentina in October as Maine's 1959 International Farm Youth Exchange Delegate. Blanchard is a senior majoring in animal and dairy husbandry in the College of Agriculture.

He is the fifth IFYE delegate Maine has sent abroad to live and work with farm families. When these delegates return to Maine they are available to speak at meetings throughout the state and to explain life in the countries they have visited.

Blanchard has served as president of Alpha Gamma Rho, and the college 4-H club. He has also been an officer of the Agricultural Club, the Farmer's Fair, and Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural society. He has won the Maine Farmer and Homemaker Scholarship, two Sears and Roebuck Scholarships, James E. Totman Fund, and two Charles H. Hood scholarships.

Three Initiated By Omicron Nu

Alpha Beta chapter of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics society, held its spring initiation last Thursday evening at the home of Dr. Katherine Miles.

Three new members were initiated into the chapter. They were: June Allen, June Adams and Gloria Faulkner. The initiation program was conducted by the present members: Merrill Warren, Rebecca Folsom, Katrina Lawrence, Joan Dow and Jeanne Soule.

Maine Granted Science Fund

The National Science Foundation has awarded the University of Maine a grant of $42,780 with which to hold a Summer Training Program.

Approximately one hundred high school students who have demonstrated outstanding ability in science will live and study on the University campus for four weeks in August.

Dr. Lloyd H. Elliott, president of the University, said the program will be held in cooperation with Science Service which promotes high school Science Fairs and conducts the annual Science Talent Search.

The major objective of the program is to give the opportunity to promising secondary school students to gain an increased understanding of scientific content and methods through instruction given by persons of recognized scientific stature, President Elliott stated.

Students will attend lectures and discussion groups, engage in laboratory work, and take field trips. They will also confer with University staff members engaged in research. Special lectures will be given by outstanding visiting scientists and authorities.

The program is an experimental one which will not duplicate the work usually covered in existing high-school or first-year college courses.

Union News

The Chess Club will meet on Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Totman room of the Union.

The Union movie this week will be Winchester 73. The movie will be shown only on Friday night due to the Ace of Spades party on Saturday night.

Scenes from Key Largo will be read at the Poetry Hour next Tuesday April 28, at 4:00 in the Women's Lounge. James Barushok and the speech choir will read from Maxwell Anderson's famous play.

Tennis Squad Lacks Depth

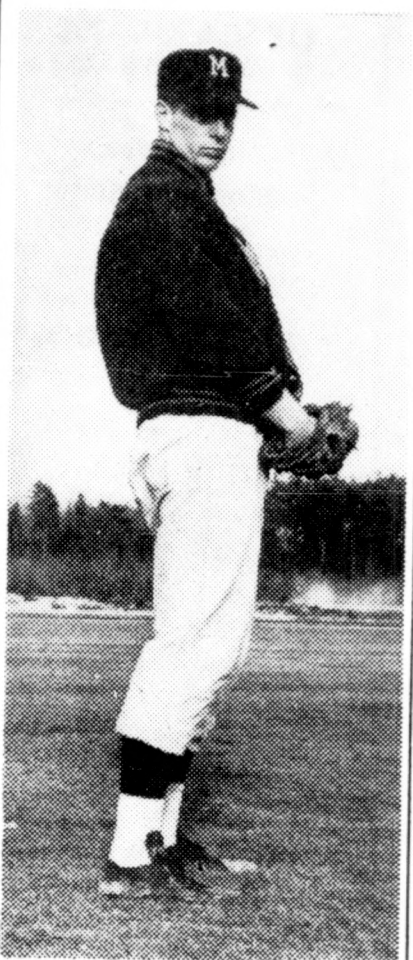

Thirteen matches have been scheduled for the Netmen of the University of Maine. The Tennis-minded Bears open their season on April 23 against the Wildcats of New Hampshire.

In an interview with the Maine Campus, McCall stated, "I do not have enough depth to really predict what my boys can do. There can be no indication, whatsoever, of my team's ability until we get a good look at what the opposition is going to be like. I will commit myself by saying that I have the strongest group of freshmen ever to represent the college in many a year. The future looks good."

Under the guidance of Brian McCall, the tennis team will try to better its mark of last season. The Pale Blue racqueteers had a 3-7 mark for '58. They placed third in Yankee Conference play. The Bears will be on the road seven times and will be at home six times.

Four lettermen have returned this season to help the Maine coach to bring tennis into the same limelight that other varsity sports are currently sharing. Captain of the Bears will be Carl Edler. The senior from the Bronx, N. Y., won the intramural tennis championship last fall and is rated as one of the better players in the state. Bob Chase, Bob White, and Bob Sterritt, all varsity winners, will form the nucleus of the McCall

Pitching Shines vs. Mass.; Team Preps For Colby Game

By Art Zalkan

With the State Series Opener against Colby at Waterville only five days away, the Black Bears baseball team is currently working hard on its hitting. The Bears meet Colby on Tuesday, April 28, and then follow up the opener with a contest at Lewiston on Wednesday, April 29.

After splitting their four game southern trip, the Pale Blue split a two game series with the Redman of Mass. The Bears lost the first game 3-0 and then won the second contest 3-2 in the tenth. The Maine team received good pitching but so did the Massachusetts squad.

Pitchers Colwell, Libby and Burke gave up only ten hits in two games. However, pitchers Joe Connolly and Jerry Glynn allowed only six safeties. Maine's Kenny Perrone and Blink Davis did not make the trip to Amherst. Their positions were very capably filled in by Jack McCabe at first and Phil Curtis at second. Curtis was impressive with his hitting and his defensive play around the bag. McCabe played first with no experience whatsoever. In the outfield, Valiton and Mosher were flawless in their play.

Around the Horn

Captain Dick Hlister has the most hits, eight... Tom Valiton has scored the most runs, six... Ray Weed is the leading hitter with a .333 average... Deane Deshon is batting .280... Hlister is at a .320 clip... Haddon Libby struck out 10 batters against Mass... Weed has driven in the most runs—6... The Bears have scored 24 runs on 41 hits. They have been at bat 198 times. As a team, the Pale Blue is hitting .207.

Currently working out with Freshman Coach Jack Butterfield are 20 freshmen who are bidding for a starting position. The squad has been working out since the middle of March. Thus far, frosh Bill Livesey, who is an outfielder, who can double as a pitcher, has made an impression on the Maine Coaches. Butterfield feels "that Livesey is a good prospect and will contribute a great deal to future baseball teams at Maine."

The only complaint the frosh mentor had was concerning the condition of the playing field. "Since they built the new building, they dammed off the water so that it flows on the grass in the outfield. The outfield is a mess. Something must be done before long because the area is unsafe for play."

An excited Boston baseball announcer, during one of the infrequent Red Sox rallies, screamed frantically into the microphone that Williams had just slid into second base with a stand-up double.

Propose Modified Athletic Scholarship For U. Of M.

By Rick Brennan

In view of the fact that there has been so much controversy on the topic of athletic scholarships, I would like to digress a moment and discuss the subject.

As I understand it, the article which the senior class will have voted on by the time this paper is released, contains a clause to the effect that the scholarship money would be meted out to deserving athletes with respectable grades.

Athletes are people with a particular skill. If possible this skill should be recognized BUT only inasmuch as their scholastic standing is on a par with the remainder of the student body. The conditions of such a scholarship are more in recognition of the athlete's scholastic ability than a reward for his athletic talent. Under conditions such as these, we certainly need not worry about perverting the athletic program at the university.

The strictly athletic scholarships which the University has avoided in the past and will continue to avoid, at least in the near future, involve in the final analysis, a clique which would be composed of "salaried players." This was not an infrequent occurrence at many of the midwest schools in the early decades of the present century and still continues throughout the nation. Varsity coach Hal Westerman commented last week that he likes to see boys play football because they love the game and not because they're out to make a name for themselves or because they're collecting their share of wampum.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Southpaw Haddon Libby fanned ten, scattered four hits, and yielded only two runs in seven and two-thirds innings as the Bears handed Massachusetts their first Yankee Conference setback, 3 to 2. Libby was spelled in the eighth inning by Bill Burke who contributed an outstanding relief job.

Name Women's All-Maine Team

By Beatrice Reynolds

The All-Maine basketball team for 1958-59 includes Marion Larry, Katherine Allen, Marie Ifill, Sylvia Tibbitts, Diann Perkins, Patricia Norton. The All-Maine Reserve team consists of Faye Miles, Shirley Jones, Judy Ward, Joan Wales, Dianna Quinlan, Nancy Woods, and Lora Lenz.

Both All-Maine teams were chosen from those women students who participated in W.A.A. Class and Dormitory tournaments. Team members were chosen on the basis of skill, sportsmanship, team play, interest, and spirit by a committee of class and dormitory captains, basketball manager, Miss Alice Finnegan and Miss Lorraine Mohrman.

On April 11, the PEM Club gave a demonstration and a panel discussion for prospective students. Sally Snow and Shirley Jones headed the demonstration and Faith Hutchins acted as chairman of the panel discussion, "Physical Education as a Career and as a Profession." She was ably assisted by Marion Larry, Carol Warren, Lenor Hersey, Beverly LaFrance, and Sara Dry. Sylvia Tibbitts was in charge of exhibits pertaining to the profession of physical education.

Class Elections Soon

Barbara Burns, chairman of the Elections Committee, reported to the Senate that class elections for next year's class officers will be on Tuesday, May 5, in the Union from 8 to 5 p.m. Elections for Campus Mayor will be held on Maine Day. Miss Burns discussed with the Senate the procedure which should be taken in event of an extremely close election similar to the Junior vice presidency election of last fall when the three candidates finished within three votes of each other. It was suggested that if no candidate was able to receive a plurality, the election would revert back to the class which would have a class meeting to decide the issue. This motion was defeated, but the motion to have all newly elected class officers' names not posted until all races have been decided was passed. The question of what to do in case of close elections was turned back to the committee which shall look for better possible solutions.

Salaries Questioned

President Richard Salisbury disclosed that the question has been raised about the remunerations paid to staff members of the Campus and WORO. Salisbury posed the query, "Why is this being done?" Peter Gammons, Business Manager of the Campus, answered by saying that staff members of these communications have been paid for many years. Gammons said that the number hours put in by these students are many, with a very low salary coming in return (20 cents an hour in his case). Funds are mostly raised from national advertisers, and the amount distributed at the end of the year depends on the money available at the time. Gammons suggested in the form of a motion that the Senate call for the forming of a committee to meet with the executives of the Campus and WORO to investigate finances.
