Shibles Elected Senate President

Peter 'Maverick' Berry

Cilley Wins Vice Presidency Contest; Pete Maverick Takes Over As Mayor

By a margin of several hundred votes, Mark Shibles defeated William Chandler in the race for the presidency of the Student Senate this week. In the same election Larry Cilley defeated Tom Powers and Bill Wise for the vice presidency. On the lighter side, Peter "Maverick" Berry swept the polls to become next year's mayor.

In other Senate elections, Melissa Boomer was elected secretary of the organization, defeating her two opponents, Nancy Rich and Margaret Stiles. Phyllis Stewart was elected treasurer over her opponents, Penny Hall and Ann Sleight.

Approximately 1200 votes were cast in the battle for Senate offices as compared to over 1800 cast last year. In the mayoralty race, 968 were cast during the morning of Maine Day.

'Maverick' Elected

Peter "Maverick" Berry was elected next year's campus mayor by an overwhelming vote of 694 out of 968 votes cast. The victory came after a vigorous campaign on the part of all four mayoralty candidates. The candidates who opposed "Maverick" in his campaign were: Deane "Beetle Bailey" Jones, "Crazy Al" Campbell, and "Peter Gunn" Glazier. The candidates put on one of the most spirited campaigns seen on the campus.

Seniors who voted elected members of their class for class parts on Class Day. They are: history, Blaine Moores; prophecy, Suzy Dunn; Ode, John Boutilier; prayer, Marianne Schmidt; marshal, Bob Munson; wives, Chuck Eberbach.

SRA Cabinet Named

SRA Cabinet members from the Campus-at-large for next year will be: Melissa Boomer, Sheila Chouinard, George Lawrence and Barbara Spiller. They were elected from a ballot of nine nominees; the other candidates were: Anne Coleman, Elinor Epstein, Andy Harvey, Barry Kilday and Art Newman.

Barbara Burns was elected Activities Board Chairman of the Associated Women Students.

Announcement will be made at Commencement Exercises of the winner of the Washington Watch Award. Don Cookson, Niles Nelson, Bob Munson and Blaine Moores were candidates.

James Hart, Dean Emeritus, Dies Suddenly Monday At 97

By Mary Irving

Dean James Norris Hart, first Dean of the University, died Monday morning following a short illness. Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. this afternoon at the Church of Universal Fellowship in Orono.

The only surviving graduate of the Class of 1885, Hart would have been 98 years old the 22nd of this month. In 1861, the year the Civil War began, James Norris Hart was born on a small farm in what is now Willimantic, Maine.

He grew up in Willimantic, where he attended a one-story schoolhouse near his father's farm. He prepared for college in Monson Academy and Foxcroft Academy. Before entering the Maine State College, which is now the University of Maine, he taught five winter terms of ungraded school.

In 1882 he entered the sophomore class of the Maine State College. When he was a student here, the enrollment was less than 100. At that time there were no electric lights or automobiles. If one had to go to Bangor, he went by train. Freshman students were obliged to "work the farm" several hours each week, at ten cents an hour. Although Hart and his roommate enrolled as sophomores and were not obliged to work, they had come to college "fresh from haying" and the superintendent put them to work plowing oats where Balentine Hall now stands.

The athletic field of the 1880's was a baseball field where Aubert Hall now stands. The only athletic team was a baseball team. During Hart's senior year the students bought a football and "kicked it around some."

There was only one men's dormitory then—it was called Brick Hall,

New Skulls, Owls Announced At Sing

Eight junior and twenty sophomore men have been chosen to two non-scholastic honorary societies this week. The men were tapped at the Interfraternity Sing held Tuesday night. The new Senior Skulls were introduced by outgoing president, Paul Duffy, and the Sophomore Owls by Don Edwards.

The new Senior Skulls, highest honor attained by a Maine man, are:

Maurice Dore, Stephen Howe, Donald Lewis, Robert Sterritt, Mark Shibles, Jr., Norman Stevenson, Ira Stockwell, Jr., and J. Morris Weinberg.

Dore is a member of three varsity teams, football, basketball and track. He is also a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Howe, president of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity, is a member of the Junior class executive council. He has served on the Maine Day committee.

Lewis was recently elected vice president of the Interfraternity Council. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon and a former student Senator. He was active during the Student Campaign for the Hauck Auditorium last fall.

Sterritt is president of the Junior class, and vice president of Phi Kappa Sigma. He was a Sophomore Owl. He is president of Scabbard and Blade and plays on the varsity tennis team.

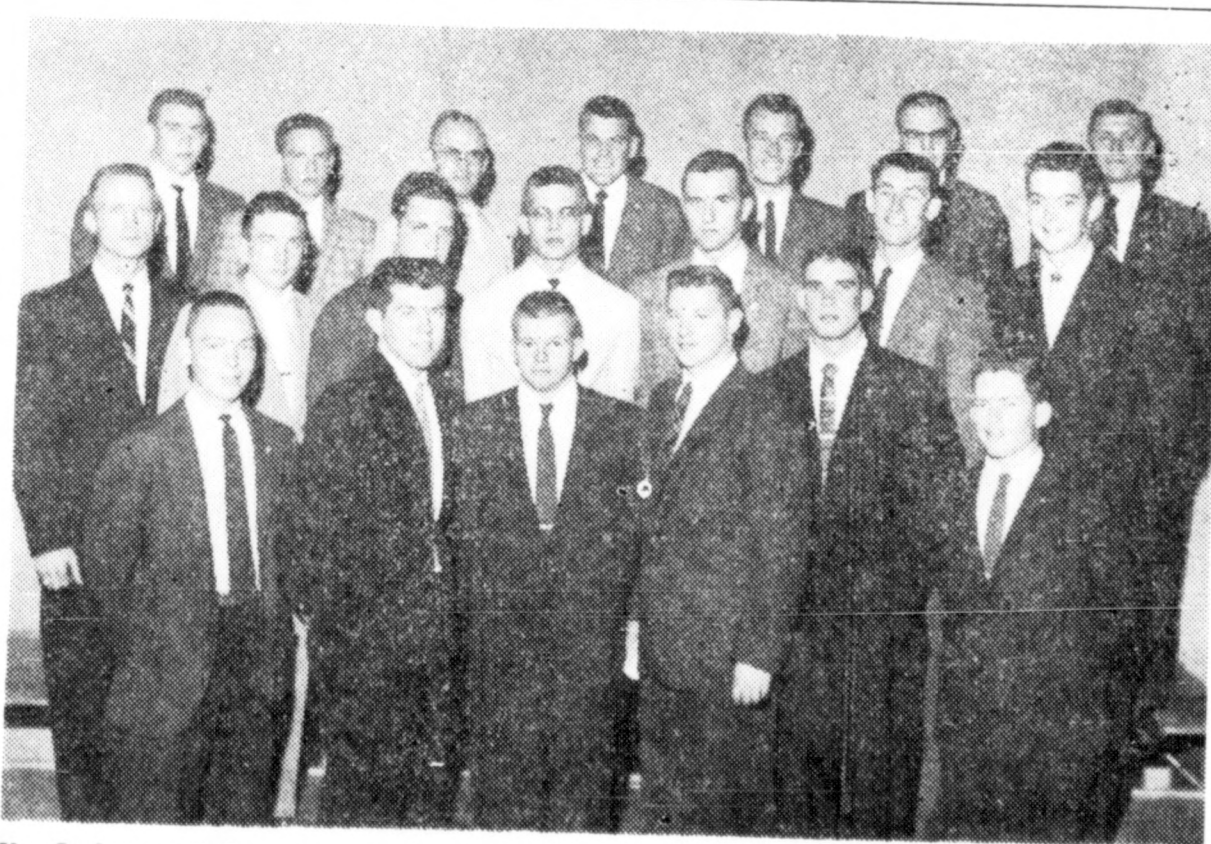

Shibles, president of Phi Mu Delta, was elected president of the Student Senate this week. He is also Junior Class Treasurer.

Stevenson is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and was a Sophomore Owl. He is a member of the Junior Class Executive committee and has served on the Maine Day committee.

Stockwell was vice president of the Sophomore Owls. A member of Phi Mu Delta, he plays on the varsity baseball team and is in Scabbard and Blade.

Weinberg served as head proctor of Hart Hall this past year. He is a former president of Hillel and secretary of Tau Epsilon Phi. He has also been president of the Student Reli-

"Pirates Of Penzance" Featured At Pops Concert

"The Pirates of Penzance" (or "Slave of Duty") will be presented at the annual Pops Concert next Thursday night, May 14, at 8:15 at the Memorial Gymnasium.

The musical is a satire on British Law and class structure. "Pirates" takes place on the seacoast of Cornwall and its simple plot involves a baby who is apprenticed to a pirate instead of a pilot, and the trials and tribulations of those involved.

The list of characters include: Al Packard, Major-General Stanley; Ben Adams, Pirate King; Ed Dyer, Frederick, pirate apprentice; Alden Grant, Sergeant of Police; wards of the major-general, Sherry Webster, Jane Wilson, Jean Elliott and Linda Bowden; pirate's maid, Nancy Lou Small and a chorus of pirates, police and girls.

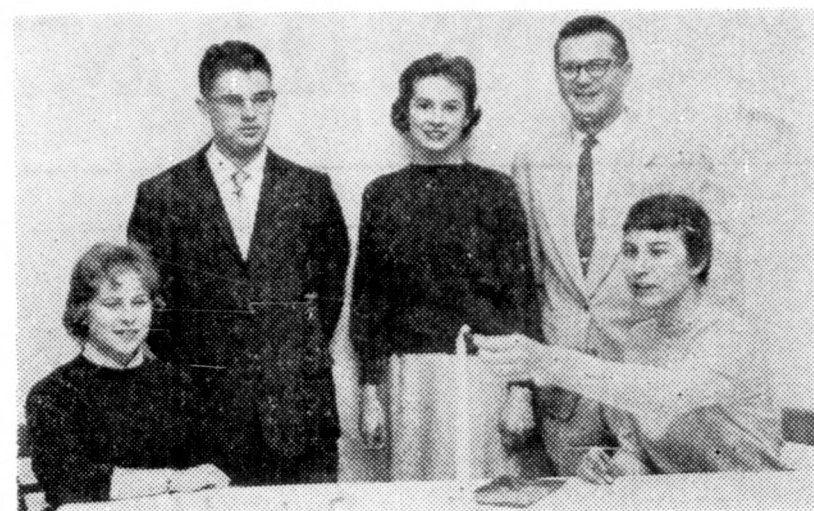

The musical contains 28 musical numbers in 2 acts. The music will be played on 2 pianos by Andy Newbert and Robert Groth. It is directed by Mr. Lewis Niven, with dances staged by Joyce-marie Crockett.

This is the first attempt at a Gilbert and Sullivan play since 1955 when "Trial by Jury" was produced. The play is being produced by Mu Alpha Epsilon for the benefit of the scholarship fund.

Masque Theatre Makes Plans For Initiation, Apple Award

The Maine Masque Theatre is making plans for its initiation of new members to be held Sunday, May 17, and for the annual Golden Apple Award banquet to be held Tuesday, May 19.

Professor Herschel Bricker, director of the Masque, has announced that the Bangor High School Speech Department, under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Browne, will present Lady Precious Stream at 5 p.m., at the Little Theatre, just prior to the annual banquet which will be held at 6:30 o'clock in the North dining room section of Estabrooke Hall. This production was the winner of Maine's 1959 One-Act Play Contest, and of top honors and rating in the New England Play contest just held. Three members of this cast have been chosen to place among the top ten secondary school actors in New England.

Admission to the play is included in the banquet ticket, which may be purchased by anyone, Masque member or not, who may wish to attend. Tickets are $2.00 and may be purchased at 330 Stevens Hall on or before May 12.

The Golden Apples, highest award given to Maine Masque members, will be presented at the banquet.

The initiation of new members will be held at 6:45 o'clock on the evening of May 17 in the Little Theatre. The ceremony will be followed by the holding of the annual business meeting and the election of officers for the coming year. Those who are to become new members and find it impossible to attend the initiation ceremony are instructed to leave their names at Professor Bricker's office.

A total of $1485 was collected during the Good Will Chest Campaign this month, Marvin Hirschfeld, treasurer of the campaign committee, announced this week.

Scholarship Interviews Held Only In Special Cases Now

Scholarship interviews will not be held this year except in special cases the office of Student Aid announced this week. Due to the increased number of applications only those students whose application forms show either a definite need or a definite lack of need will not be interviewed.

The University is now a member of the College Scholarship Service whose Parents' Confidential Statement enables the determination of student need in most cases without the necessity of an interview.

Students who have made applications for scholarships will be notified of the results in their cases on or about July 1. Any student with either questions or additional information that did not go on his application form should contact Mr. Worrick at the Office of Student Aid in the East Annex.

Plans are now being made for an exchange dinner between Stodder and the Commons, Wednesday evening, May 13. Students taking part in the exchange meal will be issued special meal tickets. A certain number of students will be able to swap dining halls that night.

If there is a good response to this exchange meal Wednesday night, they will be continued each Wednesday night next year.

Bad Luck, But Still Playing ROTC Federal Review Will Be Held May 9

You wouldn't think University of Maine second baseman Ken Perrone would be as enthusiastic in athletics as he is. For example, he once was flat on his back for four months with a broken neck suffered playing football in high school. Another time, he watched from the on-deck circle as his best friend was smacked in the head with a pitch. His friend died a few hours later. Despite these tragedies, the slick-fielding youth from Hamden, Conn., is one of the most eager athletes you could ever meet.

A good example of his enthusiasm was displayed recently when he suffered a badly sprained ankle in practice the day before his teammates were to play two games at Massachusetts.

Unhappily, he watched the team board the bus for the trip. That night, hoping his ankle would heal quickly, he set his alarm clock for 3 a.m. and packed his car in hopes of driving the more than 350 miles to Amherst for the first of the two games slated for the next afternoon at 3 p.m.

Research Is Theme For Maine SRA

"Research in Religion" will be the theme for the Student Religious Association in 1959-60 at the University of Maine.

Laboratory facilities for experiments will be provided in the Louis Oakes Room of the Library, various rooms of the Memorial Union, the Stoddard Dining room, and, perhaps, one of the new physics lecture rooms and the gymnasium, depending on how many students elect to do such research.

Among the specimens to be dissected (intellectually, of course) will be the chaplains and directors of the campus Hillel, Newman, MCA, and Canterbury groups; Professors Bennett, Speicher, and Terrell; assorted "Experts" from off-campus and the director of the S.R.A.

The topics for seminars, lectures and symposia in connection with the research will include "Research in Judaism," "Science and Religion," "Research in Roman Catholicism," "Research in Brotherhood," "Research in Protestantism," "Literature and Religion," "Research in Episcopalianism," and "Religion in the Arts."

Directors of this research include the student cabinet of the S.R.A., the sponsoring board of that group, and the director. They hope, however, that a number of independent research projects will develop among the students, faculty, and staff.

Ken arose when the alarm sounded, but he couldn't even get out of bed. To his dismay, his ankle was even more swollen than when he went to bed.

On the positive side, the 22-year-old Perrone has played many games since joining the Black Bear varsity under Coach Jack Butterfield three years ago as a sophomore.

He became a regular that year and has been one ever since. While his batting average doesn't make him a slugger (it's .281), he can still boast of the best average among the senior infielders.

Perrone graduated from Hamden High School in 1954. While in high school, the dark-haired Perrone contributed his efforts to the athletic program of the school. He played football and basketball for two years and baseball for three.

Before entering Maine in 1955, he attended Cheshire Academy in Connecticut for one year where he captained the baseball team.

One of the prize moments in Perrone's life came in 1954 when he played for the Hamden Medics who won the Connecticut state championship and played in the World Tournament of Baseball sponsored by the American Congress of Baseball. The Medics

New Professor

Dr. Eugene A. Mawhinney of Jonesboro has been named an associate professor of government at the University of Maine, it was announced Monday by Dr. Lloyd H. Elliott, president of the university.

Dr. Mawhinney, a 1947 graduate of the State University, is currently a professor of political science at Elmira College in New York. He received his master's degree in 1949 from Maine and his doctor's degree in 1955 from the University of Illinois.

Prior to assuming his present position, Dr. Mawhinney was a member of the faculty of Northeast Missouri State College for four years.

eliminated teams from Maryland and Cuba before being beaten by the eventual winner, the Michigan entry, in the tournament at Battle Creek, Mich.

Perrone had a crackerjack season in baseball as a freshman at Maine. He went to the plate 28 times and pounded out 11 hits for a sparkling .393 average.

His averages during his sophomore and junior seasons were nearly identical. As a sophomore, he rapped out 19 hits in 73 trips for a .260 mark. Last year he had 18 hits and 70 at bat for a .257 mark.

This year Perrone is seeking to re-enter the .300 circle and his performances in Maine's first seven games indicates he may do it. He has a .313 average with five hits in 16 trips to the plate.

In discussing the merits of his second baseman recently, Maine Coach Jack Butterfield said that while Perrone "is not the kind of person who is the sparkling type of player, he has played the steadiest brand of baseball possible over a three year period."

Following graduation in June, Perrone plans to remain at the state university to work on his master's degree. Upon completing his studies, he hopes to obtain a teaching-coaching position.

When he does, one thing's for sure — his team will never lose from a lack of desire. It's sure to be their trademark.

Mr. Clayton W. Dodge will speak on "An Introduction to Matrix Theory" at the Maine Mathematics Club meeting May 12. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Women's Lounge of the Memorial Union.

The following newly-elected officers will be installed for the coming year: Frank Antonucci, President; Dick Mainville, Vice-President; and Sally Flemington, Secretary-Treasurer.

The annual Federal Inspection of the ROTC program will take place May 8 and 9. The climax of the inspection is a review of the 1st Cadet Battle Group in the football stadium.

In addition to the review there will be a presentation of awards and honorary rank by the military department. Awards will be presented by President Elliott; Colonel B. V. Bryant, Professor of Military Science and Tactics; Captain David Trafford, USAR, Reserve Officers Association; Mr. Ernest Hofzyer, Assistant Publisher, Record American Sunday Advertiser; and Mr. Henry T. Carey, President of the General Alumni Association.

Other selected awards have been made during the past three weeks. On May 2, awards were presented to: Cadet Arlyn R. Leach, the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association Gold Medal; Cadet Ronald E. Richardson, the University of Maine Military Department Medal for the outstanding member of the ROTC Rifle team; Cadet William C. Townsend, the Military Department Award to the outstanding member of the Freshman ROTC Rifle Team; Cadet David A. Sweet, the Military Department award to the outstanding Sophomore member of the ROTC Band; Cadet Richard A. Bodette, the Military Department medal awarded to the outstanding member of the ROTC Band.

The following senior cadets were presented certificates and notified of their appointment as Distinguished Military students: Maurice J. Belleville, Robert V. Connors, Lee A. Gagnon, George W. Hanson Jr., Frank M. Kilbourne, and Robert D. Perrault.

During a review on April 25, Colonel B. V. Bryant presented the Scabbard and Blade Drill Streamer to the 4th Platoon of "C" Company, 1st ROTC Cadet Battle Group. The streamer is awarded for excellence in drill and will be carried on the "C" Company guidon until May 1960.

On April 18 Colonel B. V. Bryant presented "Certificates of Proficiency" to Gerard Ingalls, Carl Morton MacDowell, Douglas Ralph Hanson, Richard Arthur Leadbetter, and Ormand Joseph Wade.

The Annual Review and Awards Ceremony on May 9 will be the last opportunity for the public to see the ROTC Band perform prior to their trip to New York City to participate in the Armed Forces Day Parade on 5th Avenue.

Dr. Smith Praises Maine Hospitality

Dr. Huston Smith, Professor of Philosophy at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, spoke before two gatherings at the University recently in addition to delivering the address at the annual evening assembly.

With regard to his visit to the campus, Dr. Smith has written Vice President Crossland, chairman of the Assembly Committee, as follows:

"Not only the hospitality of your faculty but the inquiring quality of both faculty and students made this visit one of the most satisfying in my memory."

A Word To The Wise

Because of our deadline, which is on a Tuesday, it is impossible for us to congratulate the new Mayor and Senate President by name. Nevertheless, because of the type of campaign that was waged, it is more than likely that the best men will fill the jobs. We sincerely hope so.

Now Mr. Mayor and Mr. President, we hope that you will try to live up to whatever promises you have made during your respective campaigns. Once the election is over it is all too easy to become smug and complacent over your vote getting prowess. When this happens, steps are sometimes taken, especially in the case of Senate President, to rectify the situation.

Lest you get the impression that we are trying to impeach the Senate President even before he takes office, let us set you straight on the matter.

What we want most is a sincere person, conscious of his duties as the head of the Student Senate. Nothing more.

As for the new Mayor, we hope that he will be an asset to the campus community. In the past there have been some excellent campus mayors, and there have been some poor ones. The type of mayor that you are will depend largely on the type of mayor that you want to be.

So gentlemen, that is our sermon for this week. We hope that some of it will be taken to heart.

Student Hopes "Chatterbox" Will Become More Constructive

To the Editor:

After reading the article on the editorial page of your April 30th edition entitled "Class Meeting Was A Riot" by one of your more prominent writers, Tanya Sloveyn (whose name is absent from the student directory) I could not help but think that it might have been better if the space had been left vacant.

First of all, the Senior class meeting held in the Union last week was not quite a riot. The writer states that she was told what happened at the meeting, however, I listened to the whole meeting over our campus radio station W.O.R.O. and feel that it was far from a riot.

Miss Sloveyn commented upon the athletic scholarship being turned down so easily as a "railroad job" attributing the whole thing as being "traditional". What would more rational readers think of this statement, Miss Editor?

Evidently, all the business taken up before the graduation discussion was "fun", for the writer states "the real fun began" with the discussion on graduation. As I am not a senior, perhaps my comments are out of order, but it seems to me that the administration should be the controlling factor for such a large undertaking as a University graduation and not a class that finds it difficult to get its members to show up for the general meeting. Of course we must not overlook the "grapevine" which was employed for information. I ask you, do we accept information via the grapevine for publication? The grapevine has made more than one face red on this campus at one time or another.

It really seems too bad that writers like Tanya Sloveyn must appear weekly in our campus newspaper always pulling at the administration and screaming independence. If you feel that we must show our power to the administration, why not do something about the attendance at assembly programs, or work for a better Student Senate?

The administration handled the operation of this University long before we arrived and will continue to do so long after we depart. It is my hope that we, as educated individuals, might help, rather than hinder the administration with the childish "if I can't have my own way, I'm going home" attitude.

I sincerely hope that the Chatterbox will have a more constructive purpose in your next edition.

Sincerely
Dave Robinson

A Plea From The Library

To the Student Body:

In a few short weeks students will leave the campus for the summer vacation or to face the "cold, cruel world" after graduation. All of the Library staff joins me in wishing you the greatest success and a wonderful summer.

Before you leave I hope you will use your influence to steer some things back to their Library Home.

Volume I of the Dictionary of American Biography has been gone for some time as has volume 17 of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Both of these are bound in maroon and have gold lettering. Neither of these single volumes can be replaced. There is no prospect of a revision or printing of the twenty volumes of Dict. of Amer.

Blog.

Volume 56 of the American Midland Naturalist, vol. 23 of the American Journal of physics, volume 23 of the Journal of Milk and Food Technology (all bound in dark green); Apr.-June 1955 of Engineering News-Record bound in red; and the Bulletin of the Geological Society of America for Oct.-Dec. 1953 bound in black have wandered from the Science-Technology Room.

The replacement cost of these volumes, (if the back issues are available) will be at least $75 plus the binding cost and the inconvenience to students wishing to use them.

Sincerely yours,

Business Professor Offers Advice To Next Year's Job-Seekers

By Prof. Arnold Raphaelson

One of the sure signs of the approach of commencement is the traveling rate of the seniors, in pursuit of jobs. Many have already been accepted at graduate or professional schools, and many others have been hired, to report for work soon after they collect their degrees. For others, however, there is still some concern in what appears to be a later, slower market for their services than there has been in recent years.

Random observations of this market activity at this date may assume the cloak of tactless criticism at a time too late to be helpful. They are not offered in this spirit; rather, it is the hope that such observations may be useful, if not for now, for some of next year's graduates.

It would seem that the major activity of the job hunters is the Memorial Union interview. Many seniors do not even consider companies which fail to send representatives to Orono to view the 1959 crop. The success of such seniors is often more a tribute to the Placement Office than to the seniors themselves.

It would seem that too few of the seniors go through a systematic evaluation before they approach the job hunt. The first part of a search for work is a difficult task, for it should be to determine what the student really wants to do, what his level of preparation is, and for whom he wants to start doing it. This consideration should lead to some sort of conclusions, to letters to companies early in the year, and to some interviews in Orono or in company offices.

Without this type of approach, the attitude seems largely to be a willingness to wear a tie and jacket for half a day, to walk to the Union, and to forsake the Bear's Den for an hour or more. The result is sometimes rancor because an interviewer may give too little time to the fiftieth East Coast candidate for the seven jobs he will fill, and sometimes it is bitterness over the time and effort lost in filling out forms and tests for a job which may not be offered or even wanted, except as a last resort.

Generally, the achievement of a degree by a senior indicates to the interviewer that the applicant has successfully completed a four-year aging process. The interview itself reveals a warm body available for a training program. It is up to the job hunter to show the rest, to display the interest and achievements which indicate a current or potential value to the hiring company. He must differentiate himself from the other available warm bodies.

To do this, and to succeed in getting a really desirable job, the average senior will have to prepare thoroughly for each interview. He must anticipate all the questions he will be asked so that he can reply with articulate candor, not with hastily contrived answers delivered with halting malaise.

A final observation is that many of the job seekers, when happily confronted with alternative offers, seem overly concerned with security. Some consider fringe benefits with greater care than the salary, and they are more concerned with the compensation than they are with the job duties. It is true that the fringe benefits should be carefully noted; they are part of the remuneration package, the price for services.

However, the stress on security and price leads to the abandonment of opportunity as a major criterion. Many of the seniors who now have job offers talk of retirement benefits as if these, their first jobs, were also their last, and as if the completion of undergraduate studies means the end of the obligation to learn.

The first job should, instead, cultivate new abilities which may be applied in the next job. For this reason, salary and fringe benefits should receive only part of the consideration in reaching a job decision, for the time invested in a job which will add little to the senior's experience is a real cost to him.

Tennis Anyone?

To the Editor:

The first sunny weather at Maine brings the tennis players flocking to the courts to play tennis. For a non-tennis team member the probability of using one of our crowded courts is practically nil on any weekend. I know of one co-ed who tried to get a court for two weeks to no avail because a tennis court that was already inadequate for the student body was being used to accommodate a tennis team with court priority and a gym class.

There are four thousand students at the University of Maine and four tennis courts currently in condition to play on. Granted, all four thousand students are not rabid tennis enthusiasts, but the ones who are will probably never get the opportunity to play tennis.

There are several courts on campus but the girls' courts behind Balentine is (when the nets are finally put up) in notoriously poor condition, the courts by Sigma Nu and Beta are rolled late in the season and it is absolutely impossible for the four tarred courts by the gym to accommodate the numbers who have to use them.

True, the tennis courts can't be put into condition before the frost is out of the ground or before the soil is dry enough to work with and the ground crews have a full time job keeping the University campus in shape. But couldn't something be done? It's a poor situation, and what's more, it's unfair.

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 3

Today, ranging again into the fascinating world of social science, let us take up the subject of anthropology—the study of man and his origins.

The origin of man was indeed a puzzle until the Frenchman, Jean-Louis Sigafoos, discovered the skull and shinbone of Pithecanthropus Erectus in Java in 1891. What Sigafoos was doing in Java is, incidentally, quite an odd little story. Sigafoos was a Parisian born and bred. By day one could always find him at a sidewalk cafe, sipping barley water and ogling the girls; each night he went to a fashionable casino where he gambled heavily at roulette and go-fish; in between times he worked on his stamp collection, which was one of the largest in Paris.

Well sir, one summer Sigafoos lost his entire fortune gambling at the casino. He was seriously contemplating suicide when, quite unexpectedly, a letter arrived from one Lotus Petal McGinnis, a Javanese girl and an avid stamp collector, with whom Sigafoos had been corresponding from time to time through the international stamp collectors journal. Until now the nature of their correspondence, though friendly, had been strictly philatelic, but in this new letter Lotus Petal declared that although she had never laid eyes on Sigafoos, she loved him and wanted to marry him. She said she was eighteen years old, beautiful and docile, and her father, the richest man in the tribe, had agreed to give half his fortune to the husband of her choice. Sigafoos, penniless and desperate, immediately booked passage for Java.

The first sight of his prospective bride failed to delight Sigafoos. She was, as she said, beautiful—but only by local standards. Sigafoos had serious doubts that her pointed scarlet teeth and the chicken bones hanging from her ears would be considered chic along the Champs Elysees.

But sobering as was the sight of Lotus Petal, Sigafoos had an even greater disappointment coming when he met her father. The old gentleman was, as Lotus Petal claimed, the richest man in the tribe, but, unfortunately, the medium of exchange in his tribe was prune pits.

Sigafoos took one look at the mound of prune pits which was his dowry, gnashed his teeth, and stomped off into the jungle, swearing vilely and kicking at whatever lay in his path. Stomping thus, swearing thus, kicking thus, Sigafoos kicked over a heap of old bones which—what do you know!—turned out to be Pithecanthropus Erectus!

But I digress. From the brutish Pithecanthropus, man evolved slowly upward in intellect. By the Middle Paleolithic period man had invented the leash, which was a remarkable technical achievement, but frankly not particularly useful until the Mesolithic period when man invented the dog.

In the Neolithic period came the most important discovery in the history of man—the discovery of agriculture. Why is this so important? Because, good friends, without agriculture there would be no tobacco, and without tobacco there would be no Marlboro, and without Marlboro you would be without the finest filter cigarette that money can buy, and I would be without a job.

That's why.

© 1959 Max Shulman

Without tobacco you would also be without Marlboro's sister cigarette, Philip Morris, a non-filter smoke that can't be beat. Philip Morris or Marlboro—pick your pleasure.

but the name was later changed to Oak Hall. It stood in line with the present Hannibal Hamlin Hall and faced the Stillwater River. However, this dorm was damaged by fire and rebuilt into the present Oak Hall.

Where Wingate now stands was a 3-story building called White Hall. The ground floor and part of the second were used for recitations. One second-floor room was occupied by the Y.M.C.A. The third floor was occupied by students, mostly self-boarders.

A small, 2-story building stood where Coburn is now. The lower floor was used for recitations, and the second floor was the meeting place for Q.T.V. Fraternity, predecessor of Phi Gamma Delta. Another fraternity, Beta Theta Pi, met in the village. What is now Kappa Sigma was organized during his senior year, and some of his classmates were active in its formation.

Hart graduated in the class of 1885 with the degree of Bachelor of Civil Engineering. There were fifteen graduates, all men. Although women were welcome to attend the college, not many came because they had no place to live except in private homes.

After graduation, he taught for one and one-half years in grammar and high schools. Then he came to the Maine State College as an instructor in mathematics and drawing. He has worked under seven of Maine's eight presidents—Fernald, Harris, Fellows, Aley, Little, Boardman, and Hauck.

In 1894 he took a two-year leave of absence to do graduate work at the University of Chicago from which he received his Master of Science degree.

In 1903 he was appointed the first "Dean" by President Fellows. When Deans were appointed to the special departments, he was appointed "Dean of the University" and continued as Head of the Department of Mathematics until his retirement in 1937, at the age of 76.

The late Mrs. Hart was the former Alice Pottle of Bangor. The couple were married in 1897 and had two sons, one of whom died an accidental death during high school. The younger son, Clarence, graduated from Maine in 1926 and has been working for many years as an engineer with the State Highway Department.

Hart was a member of the Church of Universal Fellowship in Orono. He also belonged to A.F.A.M. Masons and had a 50-year Veteran's Medal.

Maine has conferred upon him the honorary degrees of Doctor of Science and Doctor of Philosophy. The newest men's dormitory, Hart Hall, was named for him.

At the annual tournament of the Eastern Forensic Association held last week at St. Peter's College in Jersey City, New Jersey, the University of Maine was represented in the affirmative by John Dennis and James Bishop who won from St. Josephs College, Le Moyne, and the United States Merchant Marine Academy, and lost to St. Peters, Pennsylvania State University, and Lehigh. In the negative, John Philbrick and Donald Sweeney won from University of Vermont and Morgan State Teachers College, and lost to Mysericordia College, St. John's Hillcrest, United States Military Academy at West Point, and St. John's University College.

This was the last tournament of the intercollegiate debate season which opened in November.

Burke, Colwell Spark Maine Past Rhode Island In Weekend Games

By Art Zalkan

On the strength of strong hurling performances by Lefty Billy Burke and right hander Dick Colwell, the Maine Bears jumped into second place in the Yankee Conference Standings. The Bears knocked Rhode Island off in last Saturday's twin bill, 2-1 and 4-3.

The clutch hitting of Ray Weed and smooth fielding of Ken Perrone helped both hurlers. Weed's fourth hit of the day drove in Deane Deshon with the winning run in the ninth inning. The Rams tied the score in the top of the sixth inning. In the top of the ninth, the Rams put the pressure on Lefty Burke. Nick Trebisacci led the frame off with a double to center. Burke then showed the poise that has made him the pitcher that he is by striking out the next two batters swinging and throwing Tony Rao out at first.

In the second contest, it was Colwell who proved to be the king on the mound. Dick limited the Rams to eight scattered hits in gaining his second win of the year. Colwell sent eight visitors back to the bench with his trickery.

Despite the fact, the home team could only muster six hits off the arm of Bob Humphrey, the Bears made each one count. Irony as it may seem, the hitting star of the first contest, Weed, was unable to get one ball past the mound in the second game.

All was not so overwhelming in State Series play. Maine went down to defeat 5-3 despite the fact, the Bears at one time held a 3-0 lead.

Monday afternoon, the Bears did it again. After taking a 2-0 lead on the power of Deane Deshon's home run, they could not hang on to the ball to win the game. Bates College knocked Maine off 12-11 in a wild loosely played contest. The Bears had five errors in the field including a costly one by Blaine Davis that allowed three runs to sweep across the plate. Maine kept pecking away at the Bates lead and nearly overtook the Bobcats. The Bears' five run rally in the eighth fell one run short. Capt. Dick Hlister and Ken Perrone sparkled in the hitting and fielding dept. Hlister had three hits while Perrone made a diving catch of a labeled basehit by Frank Vana. Don Means who relieved Burt Payson was very effective during his stay on the hill. Means held Bates to three hits in 3½ innings of hurling.

Player of the Week

The Bear Players of the Week are two boys who have contributed a winning punch to Maine's wins during the past week. The first player is Art Dickson who defeated Ralph Noel 79-80 to lead the Bear golfers to victory. The second athlete is Ray Weed. His timely hitting gave Maine a victory against the Rams.

Softball Competition In Spotlight; Intramural Season Nears Close

By Stan Allain

What's all this noise and cheering coming from behind the Field House? A varsity baseball game. No, it's the intramural softball games being played. A large number of spectators are usually on hand to watch this spirited action.

After the first round of competition in the fraternity league, the field has been narrowed to eight teams. Kappa Sig, last year's champ, came through with an expected win, but had to go all out in 10 innings to win over Delta Tau by a score of 7 to 6. ATO beat Lambda Chi in another close one: 4 to 3. Theta Chi nosed out Alpha Gam by the same score. Sigma Chi, after much dispute, edged Phi Eta, the all-point leader, by a score of 10 to 9. Sigma Nu, led by Schiner, Needleman and Tshorn and considered the dark horse by many, is the only team with two wins to their credit. They have beaten Phi Kap and SAE. Phi Gamma Delta eliminated Sig Ep 10 to 9, while Phi Mu overpowered Beta 9 to 3.

The non-fraternity league winners are: Dunn 1, South Apartments, Hart 3, The Cabins, Dunn 3, Corbett 1, and Corbett 4. These teams, having survived the single-elimination first round will vie for their championship later this week.

ATO, Phi Eta, Sigma Chi and Phi Mu have all won tennis matches the past week to place them, along with Delta Tau, in the semi-finals. All results are not in as several houses have yet to play their games.

Maine Crushes NH With Near Sweep; Challenges Bates Next At State Meet

By Pete Hannah

Coach Styra's track squad showed tremendous improvement since the Boston College meet as they walloped the University of New Hampshire last Saturday 93-42. Maine took first place in 14 of the 15 events. Terry Horne was a double winner in the discus and hammer and Cliff Ives won the high and low hurdles. Phil Haskell won the 100 yard dash, then blazed through the 220 in 21.7 seconds. This time bettered the school record of 21.8 seconds. However, it will not be a new record because of favorable winds.

Looking forward to next week the state meet at Colby will be the biggest single sports event in Maine this spring. Last spring Maine fielded a powerful team and the situation is much the same this year. Maine lost last year by less than 3 points.

Bates will be the team to beat. This team has speed and depth and is rated as perhaps the strongest team in the east. Bates' feature talent is Rudy Smith and John Douglas. Douglas is one of the top broad jumpers in the country. His best jump is 25' 1". He is also an excellent hurdler. Smith is another top notch competitor. He runs any race from the 100 to the 880. He holds the New England 440 yd. set last year at 47.3 seconds. Phil Schyler and Larry Boston are excellent runners in the half mile and mile. Bates' weaker events are in the weights.

Bowdoin is not as powerful as last year. They will be depending heavily on Larry Wilkins who is one of the top hurdlers in the East and an excellent sprinter. Bowdoin also has potential in the weights.

Colby appears to be relatively weak, yet in this close meet they could upset the appiecart.

Taking a look at Maine, there is a lot of potential and reasonable depth. Dale Bessey will be a key man in the half mile and mile. The half mile race with Bessey, Smith, Boston, and Schyler as possible entrants will be the big race of the day.

Bill Daley will be Maine's top challenger in the 2-mile. Dave Linkin will battle it out with Erdman of Bates in the pole vault.

In the weights, Horne, Hannah, Jackson, Hunt and Stiles will be anchoring for Maine. Field events will be all important for a Maine victory.

Maine's top hurdler Cliff Ives will battle some of the best competition in New England, also will Roger Hale in the broad jump and Frank Beyer in the 100 and 220. Art Conro, greatly improved over last year will enter the 220 and 440.

If this meet is anything comparable to last year, the winner won't be decided until the last race is over. Bates will be favored. They have won all their outdoor meets by a wide margin this year and their only defeat during the winter was by Maine.

During a Maine Baseball practice session, a few weeks ago, Coach Butterfield conveyed one of the team's signs to Deane Deshon. The sign was meant for Deshon to steal. Deshon looked at his mentor perplexedly.

"Cone on, Dean," yelled Butterfield, "take off."

"Take what off, coach?" came the query.

Burke, Colwell Spark Maine Past Rhode Island In Weekend Games

By Art Zalkan

On the strength of strong hurling performances by Lefty Billy Burke and right hander Dick Colwell, the Maine Bears jumped into second place in the Yankee Conference Standings. The Bears knocked Rhode Island off in last Saturday's twin bill, 2-1 and 4-3.

The clutch hitting of Ray Weed and smooth fielding of Ken Perrone helped both hurlers. Weed's fourth hit of the day drove in Deane Deshon with the winning run in the ninth inning. The Rams tied the score in the top of the sixth inning. In the top of the ninth, the Rams put the pressure on Lefty Burke. Nick Trebisacci led the frame off with a double to center. Burke then showed the poise that has made him the pitcher that he is by striking out the next two batters swinging and throwing Tony Rao out at first.

In the second contest, it was Colwell who proved to be the king on the mound. Dick limited the Rams to eight scattered hits in gaining his second win of the year. Colwell sent eight visitors back to the bench with his trickery.

Despite the fact, the home team

could only muster six hits off the arm of Bob Humphrey, the Bears made each one count. Irony as it may seem, the hitting star of the first contest, Weed, was unable to get one ball past the mound in the second game.

All was not so overwhelming in State Series play. Maine went down to defeat 5-3 despite the fact, the Bears at one time held a 3-0 lead.

Monday afternoon, the Bears did it again. After taking a 2-0 lead on the power of Deane Deshon's home run, they could not hang on to the ball to win the game. Bates College knocked Maine off 12-11 in a wild loosely played contest. The Bears had five errors in the field including a costly one by Blaine Davis that allowed three runs to sweep across the plate. Maine kept pecking away at the Bates lead and nearly overtook the Bobcats. The Bears' five run rally in the eighth fell one run short. Capt. Dick Hlister and Ken Perrone sparked in the hitting and fielding dept. Hlister had three hits while Perrone made a diving catch of a labeled basehit by Frank Vana. Don Means who relieved Burt Payson was very effective during his stay on the hill. Means held Bates to three hits in 3 1/2 innings of hurling.

Player of the Week

The Bear Players of the Week are two boys who have contributed a winning punch to Maine's wins during the past week. The first player is Art Dickson who defeated Ralph Noel 79-80 to lead the Bear golfers to victory. The second athlete is Ray Weed. His timely hitting gave Maine a victory against the Rams.

Softball Competition In Spotlight; Intramural Season Nears Close

By Stan Allain

What's all this noise and cheering coming from behind the Field House? A varsity baseball game. No, it's the intramural softball games being played. A large number of spectators are usually on hand to watch this spirited action.

After the first round of competition in the fraternity league, the field has been narrowed to eight teams. Kappa Sig, last year's champ, came through with an expected win, but had to go all out in 10 innings to win over Delta Tau by a score of 7 to 6. ATO beat Lambda Chi in another close one; 4 to 3. Theta Chi nosed out Alpha Gam by the same score. Sigma Chi, after much dispute, edged Phi Eta, the all-point leader, by a score of 10 to 9. Sigma Nu, led by Schiner, Needleman and Tshorn and considered the dark horse by many, is the only team with two wins to their credit. They have beaten Phi Kap and SAE. Phi Gamma Delta eliminated Sig Ep 10 to 9, while Phi Mu overpowered Beta 9 to 3.

The non-fraternity league winners are: Dunn 1, South Apartments, Hart 3, The Cabins, Dunn 3, Corbett 1, and Corbett 4. These teams, having survived the single-elimination first round will vie for their championship later this week.

ATO, Phi Eta, Sigma Chi and Phi Mu have all won tennis matches the past week to place them, along with Delta Tau, in the semi-finals. All results are not in as several houses have yet to play their games.

Muir's Wood Sculpture Presented In Carnegie

By Joyce Kingsbury

The wood sculpture of William Muir and the painting of Emily Muir, a husband and wife team of artists, is being presented in Carnegie this month and next. The Muirs live and work in Maine at their home overlooking the ocean on Deer Isle.

William Muir works in a variety of hard woods and presents sculpture that reflects the growing forms of nature. One man said that Muir is so much in tune with things that grow and the forces that grow them that he creates forms which nature herself might have created. Muir communicates true imaginative beauty by keeping his work as simple and straightforward as possible. He uses the form, color, texture and grain of each wood to his greatest advantage. All of his work on display is sculpture carved in wood and several of his pieces are in various stages of completion. Some of the larger sculptures are shown here for the first time and will be shown at the Sculpture Center in New York City.

Emily Muir, who has just finished a term on the Fine Arts Commission in Washington, D. C., as the only artist and woman member, has the painting side of this exhibit. Her works include many Maine scenes. It has been said of Mrs. Muir's painting that subject matter, although always evident, is of less importance than the design and composition in which field Mrs. Muir is certainly an expert.

The Muirs have exhibited widely in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., and other important cities. Although the Muirs have exhibited at the University before, this is their first joint exhibition.

The University of Maine plays 16 varsity baseball games in 1959, meeting Yankee Conference opponents 10 times and State Series opponents six times.
