University of Maine Seniors will dance to the music of Richard Maltby, featuring Mary Mazza June 5. The commencement ball will be held in the Memorial Gymnasium from 9 to 1.

Maltby has been described as a "master of musical moods," with the "band the dancers demand." He has played at colleges all over the country including Yale, University of Massachusetts, University of Connecticut, and Bowdoin College.

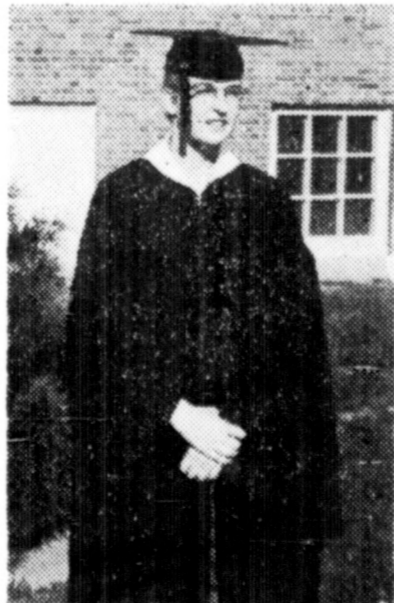

Maltby was born in Chicago, Ill. He began his association with music during his early grade school days. Upon completion of high school he entered Northwestern University. Then he joined local dance bands while studying advanced harmony and orchestration under Leo Sowerby. He traveled with many dance bands arranging and playing trumpet.

Maltby's arrangements have been used by such big name bands as Benny Goodman. With the help of Paul Whitman he became conductor-arranger with the American broadcasting company. There he did a series of recordings called Jazz Classics.

In 1955 Maltby organized his own band. He now records with Columbia besides traveling with his band all

Motion Passed To Cut Salaries

By Ron Drogen

The General Student Senate, after a lengthy debate, ended all speculation concerning remunerations given to Campus and WORO staff members by approving a motion recommended by the Senate's Investigating Committee on this question. The motion as passed was that the business manager, editor-in-chief and city editor will receive a set salary and all department heads will receive a lower compensation figure. The remaining unexpended balance will then go into the sinking fund.

The Senate, holding its annual last meeting and banquet, hashed over three previous motions defeating all of them before accepting the Investigating Committee's proposal. Recommended to the Senate were proposals of cutting fifty cents from the student Campus subscription rate, and that no salaries whatsoever be paid.

The Investigating Committee consisted of Senate president Richard Salisbury, William Wise, William Gavitt, and Thomas Powers. Senator Avern Danforth made the motion to pass the recommendation of the committee.

The debate centered around the topics of hours worked by staff members, exact amounts paid to them, credit hours received by senior Journalism majors, previous salary policy, and the fact that no payments are given to those working in other campus activities. Leading the discussion were Peter Gammons, Business Manager of the Campus, and Larry Cilley, News Director of WORO, Bob Sterritt, Bill Gavitt, Mark Savage, William Chandler, and Danforth.

Conflicting Views

Savage, representing the Off-Campus Men's organization, said that his group was in favor of discontinuing all payments to staff workers. On the other hand, the Senator representing Chadbourne Hall, Jane Fitz, stated that her constituents were for increasing the salaries. With these conflicting viewpoints, the Senate haggled for well over an hour on this important issue.

The meeting also saw the awarding of Senate certificates to members of the organization. The new officers were installed with Mark Shibles as president, Larry Cilley as vice president,

Starr Announces Change In Language Department

By Jo Dion

Students majoring in foreign languages will no longer be taking elementary and advanced oral courses, Dr. Wilmarth H. Starr, head of the Department of Foreign Languages, has announced. The Department is establishing a new pattern of teaching foreign languages.

The new change will eliminate the present oral sequence of courses. The elementary and advanced oral courses will be combined into French, German, and Hispanic Civilization. Each one of these courses is worth six class and credit hours, while the combined courses now equal 16 class hours in French, 12 in German, and 22 in Spanish. Dr. Starr said, "We believe it will be in the best interests of the department to concentrate our students in fewer courses. We believe we can do this without sacrificing standards." A Latin Civilization course will not be offered until 1960-61.

The fellowships are for one academic year of graduate study in a foreign land. Applicants must be able to read, write, and speak fluently the language of the country in which the study is to be taken.

Rotary District No. 781, which comprises all of the Rotary Clubs in New Brunswick and Aroostook and Washington Counties is eligible to present a name to Rotary International for such a scholarship.

The applicant must live in the area and must apply through a rotary club. The fellowship would be for the year 1960-61.

Opportunities For Recreational, Cultural And Social Activities Offered By The Union

By Marjorie Abbott

A coed recently was asked the whereabouts of a friend. She promptly replied, "Oh, probably in the Union playing records or shooting pool. He'll flunk out yet—spends too much time in the Den."

But Director of the Union since its completion in 1953 Nelson Bishop Jones states, "The Union is more than a recreational playground." For those who can best find the balance of recreational, cultural, and social opportunities provided for through the Union, a part of the broad educational basis is offered.

The Memorial Union of the University of Maine is the center of student activities and recreational programs on campus. It has meeting rooms, lounges, offices, game room, and a snack bar commonly called the "Bear's Den."

"The purpose of the Union shall be to offer significant social, recreational, and cultural opportunities for the University community," states Article II of the Constitution and By-Laws of the Memorial Union of the University of Maine.

The Union is partially managed by students. It functions with two boards, the Governing Board and the Activities Board. The Governing Board consists of eleven voting members, seven regularly enrolled undergraduate students, two members of the University faculty, and two members of the University administration. The director of the Union, the general secretary of the Alumni Association, and the vice president of the General Student Senate are the ex-officio members. This board is responsible for the operation and policies of the Union.

The Activities Board is composed entirely of students who are the chairmen of the Activity Committees and is responsible for the programs and activities of that committee. The concern of this latter group includes the planning of such programs as record and orchestra dances, game tournaments, jazz concerts, humanities lectures which are cosponsored with the English Department, after the game parties, movies, and the record collection. Membership on the committees of the Activities Board is limited to regularly enrolled undergraduates of the University. It meets weekly while college is in session.

Occasionally announcement is made that there are openings for members on the various activity committees. Students are informed of these openings. Any student may leave his name and committee interest in the Director's Office. He will then be invited to meet the chairman and the members of that committee at a future meeting. Thereafter, the student's interest in and work on the committees will determine his future committee status.

The position of the Union Director is an administrative appointment. Therefore Jones is responsible to the Dean of Men and the college president. Questioned about his relationship with the Union Governing Board, Jones said that his position is probably more difficult to define than that of any other office on campus. He said that it is his duty to advise, persuade, and to direct within the policy of the University.

The budget for over-all operation is submitted by the Union Director to the University president for adoption by the trustees. The income of the Union is enhanced $10. per undergraduate student or approximately $38,250. per year for the operation and upkeep of the building.

The comfortable and quiet rooms of the Union provide conducive study situations. The students of this University who work to provide the planning of its activities need the constructive criticism and suggestions of faculty and students.

Registration for all upper-classmen will take place Monday and Tuesday, September 14 and 15, for next semester. Classes begin on Wednesday, September 16.

Reprint Text For 5th Time

A book on geometry co-authored by Prof. Matthew McNeary has been reprinted for the fifth time by the McGraw-Hill Book Company.

Prof. McNeary is head of the department of engineering graphics. His co-author is Frank M. Warner, professor emeritus of general engineering of the University of Washington.

The book demonstrates many important applications of descriptive geometry, with problems involving lines and planes to conventional engineering fields and curved lines and surfaces. Emphasis is placed on cones and cylinders because they occur frequently in engineering practice.

Prof. McNeary has been a member of the University faculty since 1937. He is a 1932 graduate of Pennsylvania State University. In 1941 he received his master's degree from Maine.

Major Changes Made In Language Department

pression through readings, discussions, lectures, written and oral reports, and laboratory practice through a study of the native culture. In the classroom, the native language will be spoken by both the student and the instructor, and English used only if necessary for better understanding.

The textbook that will be used for French Civilization was written by Dr. Starr and Alfred G. Pellegrino, professor of Romance Languages. New Functional French, now available, will be divided into units, which include speech patterns and vocabulary, oral practice, model sentences, grammar, writing, reading, and comprehending. Dr. Starr believes that students will learn to speak, understand, read, and write French in that single course.

The new change in the department curriculum represents a ten year program of converting to aural-oral emphasis without sacrificing writing and reading skills. The program began with the production of new teaching methods which appeared in four textbooks. Along with the new books, the department introduced a whole series of courses to upgrade the listening and speaking abilities of students.

The development of electronic aids, such as laboratory wire recorders, has been the greatest aid in reaching the present advancements. The laboratory idea began with two wire recorders confined to use by individuals or small groups. In 1956, tape recorders and 12 listening posts with headphones were installed. An additional six booth laboratory for listening and speaking was set up in 1957. Now a 36-listening-post laboratory equipped with four channels is part of the program.

Plans are being made for a monitoring system so the instructor can listen in on the students' oral work in the laboratory. The student will also be able to hear his voice recorded back from a speaker, instead of through earphones. There will be a nine position laboratory where students can borrow tapes to review lectures, or hear lectures they missed.

An elementary course in Russian is planned for next year. The addition of Russian, according to department belief, will help meet the urgent educational objective of our time.

The work in the Foreign Language department was officially recognized in 1957 by the Modern Language Association of America. Dr. Starr outlined the University's program and said, "...we should like to think of ourselves as having a role in the 'quiet revolution' (of foreign language teaching) that is taking place throughout the country."

In 1959, Dr. Starr took part in the Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages, which described the kind of modern foreign language teaching, it is hoped, will be adopted in this country. The University's new program is a step in that direction.

"As a result of the new program at the University of Maine, the department is playing an important role in developing and describing the teaching of foreign languages in a new key," said Dr. Starr.

Students Train For Vocations In Paper Field

By Carol Pollard

From among the test tubes and machines of Aubert Hall come students with slide rules and wood pulp. These are the University's pulp and paper students. The University tries to interest its engineering and forestry majors in this industry by offering special courses of study for them.

The pulp and paper industry does its share too. It has organized a Pulp and Paper Foundation, through which individuals and organizations give financial support to the program. The Foundation furnishes money for new equipment and research. It also encourages students to go into the course by loans, grants and scholarships.

Students who wish to enter pulp and paper technology may choose one of three courses of study. The four year pulp and paper program is designed for the student who is more interested in the technology of paper making than in engineering. It leads to a B.S. degree in pulp and paper technology. Graduates of the course enter fields of research, sales and service engineers, or production and development supervisors.

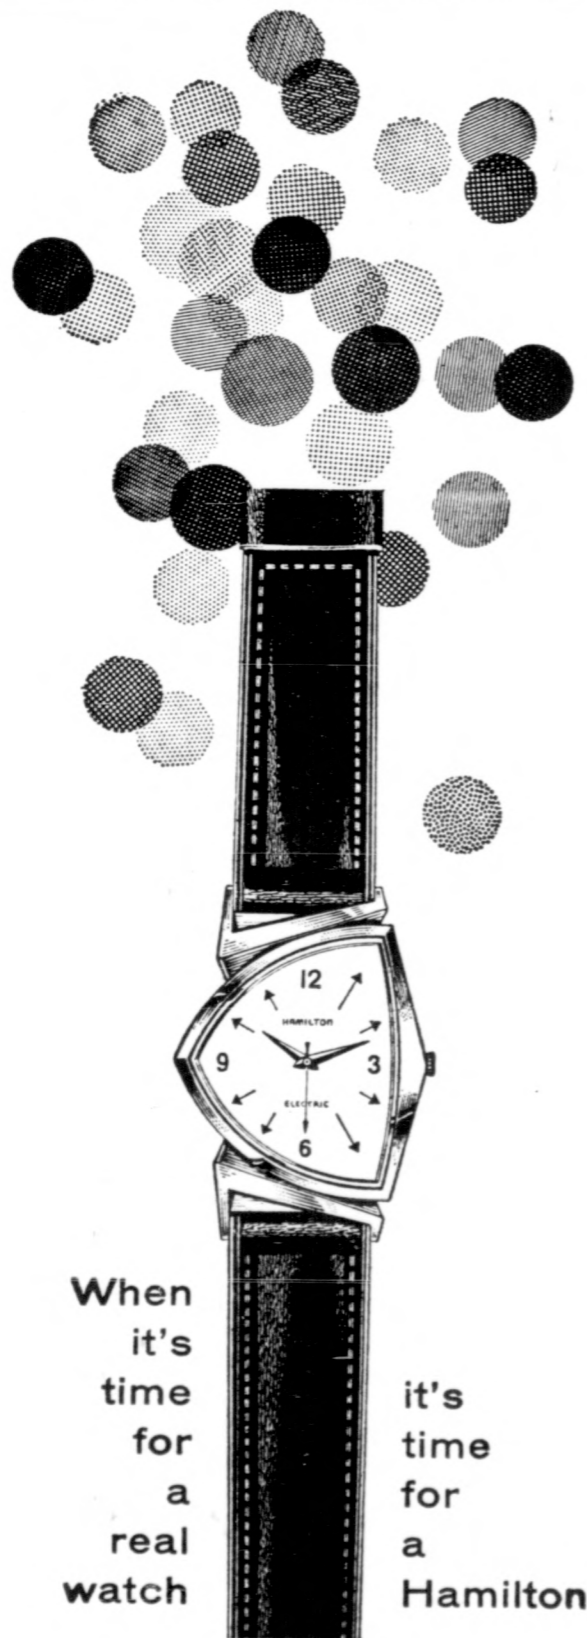

The five year management program combines a four year engineering, science, or forestry program with a certificate of pulp and paper management option at the end of five years.

A student who wants a Master of Science degree and can meet the graduate study requirements may select the graduate study program. The five year management program totals two-thirds of these graduate study requirements.

Tuition scholarships are available for Juniors and Seniors who select a pulp and paper program. Scholarship finances are furnished by the University and by the Pulp and Paper Foundation. The Foundation also offers $1,200 grants for students in the fifth year of the management plan.

Recently the University Pulp and Paper facilities have been expanded. In 1955 the state legislature appropriated funds for two wings on Aubert Hall. With the financial aid of the Foundation, these wings are now in use.

The University and the Foundation have also contributed many pieces of experimental equipment. The Foundation has given money for research which the instructors are carrying on here. The pulp and paper programs are small, with about sixty students graduating this year. However with University promotion and the various aids from the Pulp and Paper Foundation, the program should expand even more in the next few years.

Burke Operates Ham Radio

Mary Irving

"CQ - CQ" . . . Sandy Burke, girl ham radio operator, is on the job chatting with radio hams. Sandy is a sophomore at the University, and has an avid interest in ham radio.

Sandy first became interested in ham radio at the age of twelve when she read an article in a magazine about "Hams" talking to other people around the world. Her chief interest in it now is experimental in building equipment and studying theory.

Her receiver is an old one her father had. In 1955, she bought a transmitter and put it together, using a piece of copper-plated electric fence wire as an antenna. This transmitter puts out about 25 watts using the Morse Code.

About a year ago she built herself another transmitter, a "homebrew", which puts out about 75 watts.

At the age of 18, Sandy got her Amateur Radio Operator License WIHAG. Last year she got her Amateur Extra-Class License, which is the highest Amateur License she is able to get. She also has a commercial license, the Radio-telephone First Class.

She has contacted ham radio operators in about 45 states and in over 30 foreign countries including Russia, New Zealand, and many African, South American, and European countries. Last year she had her radio set in her room in Stodder, but she couldn't make any contact because she wasn't permitted to put up an outside antenna.

Sandy, who lives at the Elms, is a sophomore majoring in Physics. She grew up in East Weymouth, Massachusetts, and Appleton, Maine, and graduated from Appleton High School. She is interested in going into research work in physics or college teaching.

Her interests, besides "hamming", include painting and all sports.

Union Will Be Scene Of Service

A brief Memorial Day service will be held Saturday, May 30, in the Memorial Union.

Prayer and scripture will be by Rev. Harvey Bates, director of Student Religious Association. President Lloyd Elliott will place a wreath of flowers near the memorial book in the Memorial Room and say a few words of tribute. The ROTC color guard will be at attention during the ceremony. A wreath will also be placed under the tablet in the lobby of the Memorial Gymnasium.

A general assembly would be impossible since final examinations are being held. However, the assembly committee plans to hold an assembly on Veterans Day in November.

Faculty members and students are welcome to attend the Memorial Day exercises.

We Defend Our Stand

If you have read the lead story in this week's edition you will have noted the Senate's action on the Campus' policy of paying reporters. Needless to say we are far from pleased with this action.

From the start this Senate "investigation" has been a colossal farce. There has never been any doubt that the committee had its mind made up long before it submitted its report to the Senate as a whole.

The reasons for this are plain. Ever since this newspaper jumped on the Senate for "inactivity", certain members have been smarting to return the compliment. And what better way to do it than to pick the age old issue of money.

We do not object to having our financial policy reviewed. But we certainly must object to the method which was used. To say that this motion was rammed down the Senate's throat is far from an understatement. Many senators realized this and spoke favorably on the Campus' stand. Unfortunately other overzealous senators jumped at the chance to hear themselves talk, and from some of their statements it is doubtful that but a few of them understood what they were talking about.

The obviousness of the attack being aimed at this paper, is made plain by the wording of the recommendation. The positions of Editor-in-Chief, Business Manager, and City Editor are all newspaper positions. The original purpose of the "investigation" was to survey the operations of WORO as well as ours, but no mention of Station Manager, etc., appears in the recommendation. An oversight? Hardly!

We have felt, and still do, that in order to get good reporters we must pay them in some way. The reporter is a very essential part to any newspaper as it is he who must find the news that makes up the bulk of the newspaper's coverage. Certainly the recompense to our reporters has never been great. Rather the pay is more of a gratuity than anything else.

We will always listen to recommendations, but the establishment of policy we will do ourselves.

We do not want to get into any discussion of "freedom of the press" for we feel that it is a well established fact. But we will say this: the business of this newspaper must be ours, and ours alone.

We should not have our editorial or our financial policies dictated by a group of would-be politicians.

HOORAY!

By Bill Cook

I say, "hooray!" A Maine woman has been elected president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution. I say "hooray" because we in Maine have always had a sort of earthy reputation. Now a woman who admits to Maine residence has become the temporal leader of a large number of American women who hold their noses aloft by dint of their great-great-grandpappies' efforts in chasing the dastardly British hordes from our shores. It kind of makes one pause and realize that 'ole Maine ain't through yet; not when we kin send a woman out to lead a division of tea cup patriots.

Perhaps I shouldn't be so critical of the D.A.R., but I think of the thousands of opportunities a person has in this age to do something useful. The D.A.R. is supposedly a patriotic women's organization and patriotism is the love of one's country but there was a bit of love forgotten years ago when an American principle was violated. Marion Anderson, the negro singer, was not permitted to sing on D.A.R. property. That was when Eleanor Roosevelt left the ranks in protest.

But as I say, I shouldn't be quite so vehement. The ladies undoubtedly have done good things like rolling bandages, giving flags to public schools, and expressing themselves on bad legislation.

The world is a bitter place. "The French hate the Germans; the Germans hate the Poles." I have a sneaking suspicion that if peoples would stop feeling superior to other peoples, a lot of bitterness and strife would simply be impossible.

Well, no, not quite so vehement. It just isn't worth it.

Sophomore's Lecture To Seniors

This is the last issue of the year. That means a lot of people will be leaving the University of Maine. Most of these are seniors and we wish them well. I have heard seniors counting the days. Some are counting the days until they get out of here and some are counting the blessed days until they have to go to work. At any rate most seniors are counting days and, for that matter, just about everyone else is counting days. A few count hours, seconds, etc. Some of us still count years.

All of this counting reminds me of the story about the senior about to graduate with a degree in mathematics who approached a mathematics professor and said he had figured out the number of seconds that he had been alive.

"How old are you?" asked the professor.

The student told him. "You forgot to subtract for several leap years," muttered the professor as he went on his doddering way.

If there is any moral to the story it is this: Seniors, you don't know which end is up. You might think of yourself as a competent civil engineer, teacher, or journalist. You are actually a babe in the woods. If you are going to lick the world, plan ahead a little. About thirty years would be just about time enough. And all of this from an over-age sophomore!

Well, good friends, best of luck. Don't cry at graduation no matter how hard you hate to go to work.

The Student's Lament

(Sung to the tune of The Merry Minuet by the Kingston Trio)

There's prelims in history,
There's quizzes in Zo.
There's questions in geology and English to know.

The whole world is festering with unhappy sounds,
The French is unbearable, the Chem is the end.
Psychology, Sociology, Phys. Ed. and E.D.
It is a strain on my sobriety.

But we can be thankful, and we can be sure,
We've been endowed with the University Store.
And we know for certain that some lovely day,
The book market will drop off, and we will

There's finals in Rot-Cee,
Assignments in Greek.
What professors have not done to us,
They will do this coming week.

Students' Attention Called To Poor Mailing Practices

To the Editor:

I have two items you may wish to bring to the attention of your readers. The first is that an increasing number of students are placing campus mail in the U. S. postal boxes. These items are taken to the Orono Post Office, handled as mail without postage, and returned to the University with postage due stamps affixed. Campus mail should be placed only in those receptacles so marked.

The other item concerns change of address on mail and magazines for students and faculty members. Those who will be away from their present addresses during the summer, and this includes all students living on campus and in fraternity houses, should file a change-of-address notice with the Orono Post Office. These notices can be obtained at the postal branch in the Book Store. If it is desired that magazine subscriptions follow promptly, magazines should be notified directly of the change — four weeks in advance, if possible. Each publisher should be sent the present and the former address, with an indication of the starting and ending dates if the change is for the summer only. An address label from a copy of the magazine should be enclosed.

Sincerely,
George H. Crosby
Registrar

The Memorial Union Activities Board is making preparations for the formation of a married students committee. This "togetherness" club, made up of married students, will try to enlist greater interest in the activities by planning activities for married students. All individuals and suggestions are welcome.

The winner of the Robert C. Hamlet One-Act Play Contest for 1959 is Roland A. Burns Jr., a freshman, for his entry, "And Go Places Easter". Honorable mention goes to Dale R. Ireland, for "Residue". Dr. Mosher And Dr. Bortner Will Teach Courses

Dr. Howard J. Mosher, professor of education at the New York State Teachers College will teach three courses here at the 1959 Summer Session.

Dr. Mosher is a 1930 graduate of New York State College for teachers. He received his master's degree in 1932 from the U. of Rochester and his doctor's degree in 1941 from Columbia University. He will cover the subject of measurement in education in his three courses. He is expected to discuss the philosophy, principles and technique of measuring in the elementary and secondary schools. Tests for use in basic abilities, readiness, diagnosis, and achievement will be studied.

Dr. Doyle M. Bortner, chairman of the Division of Education and Graduate Studies of Hofstra College will also teach courses covering public relations in education this summer.

Dr. Bortner is a 1936 graduate of Gettysburg College. He received his master's degree in 1937 from Pennsylvania State University, and his doctor's degree in 1950 from Temple University.

In his course, Dr. Bortner will present a practical application of techniques and approaches in the development of a desirable public relations program for schools. He will evaluate reporting practices and discuss the process of working with lay citizens of the community. He will be returning to the University of Maine for the fourth time.

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

This is the last column of my fifth year of writing for Philip Morris and Marlboro. I have made it a custom in the last column of each year not to be funny. I know I have also realized this aim in many other columns during the year, but that was not for lack of trying. Today I am not trying. I am not trying for two reasons: First, because you are getting ready for final exams and in your present state of shock, nothing in the world could possibly make you laugh. And second, this final column of the year is for many of us a leave-taking, and good-byes always make me too misty to be funny.

For me the year ends neither with a bang nor a whimper, but with a glow—a warm, pleasant, mellow glow—the kind of glow you will find, for example, at the end of a Philip Morris or Marlboro.

It has been in every way a gratifying experience, my five years with the makers of Philip Morris and Marlboro, and I would like to take this opportunity to extend my heartfelt appreciation to these good tobaccoists, to assure them that the memory of their kindness will remain ever green in my heart, and to remind them that they still owe me for the last three columns.

And in these waning days of the school year, let me address myself seriously to you, my readers. Have I trod on any toes this year? Ruffled any feelings? Jostled any sensibilities? If so, I am sorry.

Have I occasioned any laughs? Chuckles? Sniggers? Mona Lisa smiles? If so, I'm glad.

Have I persuaded any of you to try Philip Morris and Marlboro? To taste that fine flavor? To smoke that excellent tobacco? If so, you are glad.

And now the long, lazy summer lies ahead. But for me summer is never lazy. It is, in fact, the busiest time of year. Two summers ago, for instance, I was out ringing doorbells every single day, morning, noon, and night. There was a contest, you see, and the kid in my neighborhood who sold the most bluing won a pony. I am proud to report that I was the lucky winner.

Last summer I was also out ringing doorbells every single day, morning, noon, and night. I was trying to sell the pony.

This summer I am not going to be out ringing doorbells. I am going to saddle the pony and ride to Hollywood, California. What am I going to do in Hollywood, California? I am going to write a series of half-hour television comedies called THE MANY LOVES OF DOBIE GILLIS, and starting in October, 1959, your friends and mine, the makers of Philip Morris and Marlboro, are going to bring you this program over the Columbia Broadcasting System every Tuesday night at 8:30. Why don't you speak to your housemother and ask her if she'll let you stay up to see it?

And now good-bye. For me it's been kicks all the way, and I hope for you it hasn't been altogether unbearable. Have a good summer. Stay well. Stay cool. Stay loose.

© 1959, Max Shulman

For us, the makers of Philip Morris and Marlboro, it's been kicks too, and we would like to echo kindly old Max's parting words: Stay well. Stay cool. Stay loose.

A Senior Plans For Graduation Day

Photographer, Wally Cole

"In the spring, a young girl's fancy turns to thoughts of graduation." She is preoccupied with the tasks of getting ready for the big day. Her major complaint is that she'll never have time to get everything done.

Her most important work is finishing term papers, and taking her finals. She must write applications and take interviews for her next year's job. After all she will soon be out in the cold, cruel world and will have to put her wealth of knowledge to use then.

Her preparations for commencement keep her busy during the final days. But all in all, she admits it's fun and exciting. The future looks bright and promising with new adventures on the way. But deep inside she feels a little sad. The memories of college life will always be there, and her "alma mater" will not soon be forgotten.

"Thank you for all your able assistance".

"Do you have a size small enough to fit me?"

"Only one more week, is it possible!"

"I'll never be able to get everything home!"

"I can't wait for Commencement Ball".

"At least I have all my requirements."

Maltby's band consists of four trumpets, three trombones, five reeds, a bass, guitar, and drums, a girl vocalist and Maltby himself who plays cornet, electronic piano, and chimes.

Maltby has conducted or arranged for such leading musicians as Tommy Dorsey, Paul Whiteman, Buddy Clark, Vic Damone, and Sarah Vaughn.

Ryckman Resigns Post At University To Accept Position In Dayton, Ohio

By Hal Maguire, Jr.

Seymour J. Ryckman, professor of Sanitary Engineering, has submitted his resignation to the University of Maine to become effective September 1st. He has accepted the chairmanship of the Department of Civil Engineering and Engineering Mechanics at the University of Dayton in Dayton, Ohio.

Professor Ryckman has been a member of the Civil Engineering faculty at Maine since 1940, and during this time has developed the Sanitary Engineering program to a level at which it is now recognized as outstanding in the East. He designed the Sanitary Engineering Laboratory which has been built in Boardman Hall—a laboratory which has served as a model for many other colleges and which is the only such laboratory north of Boston. He has promoted graduate study at the University in Sanitary Engineering and has initiated and supervised several outstanding research projects.

Professor Ryckman is a member of the Graduate Faculty here at Maine and of the Faculty Council. In the past, he has assisted the Dean of Technology with registration, programming, and scheduling in the department of Civil Engineering.

Professor Ryckman's own research work has been outstanding, and in 1956, he was awarded a $16,500 grant by the U. S. Public Health Service for his study of the action of non-filtrable viruses in water treatment plants. He has also been carrying on research in the matter of methods of treatment of potato starch wastes.

During the past year, Professor Ryckman was designated a "Diplomat of the American Academy of Sanitary Engineers" by the American Sanitary Engineering Intersociety Board, Inc., in recognition of his outstanding work in his field. For several years, he has been active throughout the State of Maine as a consulting sanitary engineer and is a member of the State of Maine Water Improvement Commission, to which he was appointed, first, by Governor Burton Cross, and, later, by Governor Edmund S. Muskie.

Both Professor and Mrs. Ryckman, who is, herself, a former member of the University of Maine faculty and a well-known former Bangor Daily News Editorial Staff member, have been leaders in the community of Orono. Professor Ryckman has served on many civic committees and has often been called upon for advice by the Orono selectmen and the town manager. Mrs. Ryckman is a member of the Orono Budget Committee and the Orono Industrial Development Committee, and with Professor Ryckman, is a member of both the Elementary School and the High School P.T.A. groups.

Professor Ryckman did his undergraduate, master's, and doctoral work at Michigan State University, the University of Missouri, and Harvard University, respectively. He is a registered professional engineer and is a member of Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Lambda Tau, Phi Kappa Phi, the Maine Association of Engineers, The American Association for Engineering Education, the American Society of Civil Engineers, and of the American Association of University Professors. He is a member of the Orono-Old Town Kiwanis Club, the Penobscot Valley Country Club, and the Bangor Chapter of the Harvard Club.

In commenting upon his resignation, Professor Ryckman says, "This has been a difficult decision for me to make. After spending 19 of my 40 years here at Maine, I feel that this is 'home.' My associations here have always been pleasant and productive. However, the University of Dayton is now in a period of great expansion and is planning the development of a strong graduate program. I feel the challenge in the position offered me, and this, coupled with the stimulating personalities of those in administration there whom I have met, has prompted me to accept the position. It is, of course, important, also, that the generous salary going with the position represents a very substantial increase over my present salary. This is for a nine month year and will allow me my summer months for travel, study, and rest.

"I have had great satisfaction here at Maine in seeing students I have helped train fit well into their professional field, and I have followed the excellent progress of many of my former undergraduate students in graduate study in Sanitary Engineering in the nation's top graduate schools. However, we are now looking forward to a new bond between the students of Dayton and the Ryckmans. Maine's basketball coach, Brian McCall, is a Dayton graduate, and, if he is an example of the Buckeyes at Dayton, we feel safe in predicting a happy association for us in Ohio.

"I have four children, all of whom, at the moment, feel that they want to return to Orono 'to go to Maine.' If this should come to pass, I should most assuredly be a proud father, for the University of Maine is, to me, an outstanding school and one for which we Ryckmans will always feel a special fondness. The inspiring leadership and personal vigor and forthrightness of President Lloyd Elliott portend good things to come for this campus, and have made our decision to leave the more difficult."

Ron Woods—Bowdoin

Carl Seddon has been chosen over the other catchers because of his fine throwing arm and his strong hitting.

Ed Burke has been named for his defensive play and his steady influence with a bat. In the game against Maine, Ed scored three runs and had two hits.

Maine's Kenny Perrone has been named for his outstanding defensive play. Perrone's play around the middle sack has saved many games for his team.

Lloyd Cohen's powerful bat has placed him on the All-Maine squad. Cohen's homeruns have been a deciding factor against Colby's foes. His defensive play has also been of the best nature.

George Roden has been named the shortstop. Roden's steady hitting and fielding has been an asset to the State Champions.

On the basis of his strong throwing arm and timely hitting, Pete Caveri has been named the left-fielder. Caveri has thrown men out at the plate four times this season.

Sophomore Ray Weed has been given the centerfield's spot because of the following:

Hits—22
Rbi's—10
batting average—.354

Right field is manned by Art Agnos. Agnos has been chosen on the basis of his hitting and fielding ability. Agnos drove in four runs against Maine.

Dick Colwell has been named on the basis of his fine record as a control hurler. During the season when Maine needed a steady reliever, Colwell was the man.

Don Means has been chosen on the basis of his outstanding hurling performances against Connecticut.

Billy Burke has been named on the basis of his 3-1 record. Billy won the important games when it was necessary to do so.

Ray Berberian makes the All-Maine team on his 7-0 record. The right-hander defeated Maine twice during the season.

Ron Woods was selected because of his fine record 4-2 and his performance against Maine. He gave up five hits while losing 2-0.

Well, there it is. If you have any comments, kindly address them to the Sports Editor, Maine Campus.

The student Fulbright competition for 1960-61 is now open. The closing date is November 1, 1959. Interested students and faculty members may obtain information pamphlets and application blanks from Dr. Alice Stewart in 140 Stevens.

Colwell Named To All-State Squad

A 15th inning homerun by left-fielder Bill Stevens with team mate Ted Kosier on base gave the University of Connecticut a 5-3 triumph over the University of Maine last Saturday.

The win also gave the Huskies the ownership of the Yankee Conference title for the third straight year.

In Friday's contest, the visiting team scored three runs in the eighth inning to gain its 15th victory in a row. The Huskies defeated the Bears 4-2 behind the seven hit pitching of John Risley. Risley gained his seventh decision without a setback.

Saturday's feature proved to be lengthy. It lasted four hours and twenty minutes.

Starter Don Means who was making his second start of the season held the pounding Huskies to only one run in eight frames. He had given up 10 hits during this period.

Maine controlled a 3-1 lead going into the ninth frame, but careless play on the part of the Bears allowed the Conference champs to tie the score 3-3.

In the ninth, Means retired the first man that faced him. The second man walked. The third batter of the frame flied to centerfield. With one man on and two outs recorded, Maine committed two straight errors. With the bases loaded, Connecticut's Ted Kosier banged Means next pitch into left field for a single. Two runs scored tying the contest.

Dick Colwell replaced Means on the mound. The righthander retired the side.

For four and 2/3 innings, Colwell and Connecticut's Joe Clement were hooked up in a tight pitching duel. Clement had relieved starter Brad Leach in the eighth. Neither hurler gave an inch. However, the 15th frame proved to be a tragedy for the Bears. The Bears tried to muster a rally in their final try, but Connecticut wanted its 17th victory too much.

At this writing, the Bears had played two games during the week. On Tuesday, Bowdoin was the host team. Yesterday, the Wildcats of New Hampshire were on campus.

Today the Maine squad left for Vermont where they meet the Catamounts in a two day series. If the Bears win both contests, they will end the season in second place in the YC.

The baseball season has come to a close for this year. For five seniors, it will be the finale of a collegiate athletic career. Due to graduate from the U. of M. are captain Dick Hlister, Kenny Perrone, Pete Bastow, Charlie Eberbach, and Billy Burke.

These boys have given their best for the name of the University. Their names will be remembered as long as baseball at the University is played.

Edler, Chase Win Doubles

Maine's Carl Edler and Bob Chase won the doubles tennis championship Wednesday afternoon. Edler and Chase defeated Colby's Brian and McKenzie. Colby's Grant Hendricks won the singles championship after a torrid battle.

After the matches, Brian McCall stated that this year's squad has done a fine job. "They started well, but due to lack of practice time the team did not reach its full potential."

The Maine tennis squad, with one match left, has a 4-5 record. The Bears ended in second place in the State Series.

Over The Year

A summary of athletics at the University of Maine for 1958-59 proves interesting. Two teams won outright State Championships (Track and Winter Sports) while our Basketball team was tied by Colby for the Championship. The Rifle team won the only Yankee Conference Championship although the Relay team, Basketball and Football teams scored second place and at this writing our Baseball team can mathematically get second in the Yankee Conference. Maine's doubles tennis team (Edler and Chase) won the State Championship. Maine's Cross Country team scored second in the New England Championship.

This year's record shows considerable improvement over last year's record when we did not win any State Championships and our Cross Country team was the only team to win a Yankee Conference or New England Championship in 1957-58.

Our new basketball coach, Brian McCall, had a very fine basketball season and his team defeated Colby two out of three games this past season. (W-15, L-7.)

Huskies Halt Rhode Island In Yankee Conference Track Meet; Maine Third

By Pete Hannah

Connecticut ended an 11 year domination of the Yankee Conference Track title by Rhode Island, posting 55 1/2 points in the tilt. Rhode Island had 42 1/2 points and Maine placed third with 41 points. New Hampshire scored 11, Massachusetts 9, and Vermont, the host team, scored 6.

Eugene Givens of Connecticut was the top runner of the day as he set new records in the 100 yd. dash at 9.8 and in the 220 at 21.5. The former records were 9.9 and 21.9 respectively.

Terry Horne was Maine's top scorer taking first in the hammer (163' 4"), third in the discus (137' 7 1/2") and fourth in the shot put (43' 5 1/2"). Pete Hannah took third in the hammer and fourth in the discus.

In the mile run Dale Bessey and Bill Daly of Maine took an early lead to place first and second in that order. In the half mile Will Spencer was the only entrant for Maine. Spencer retained a good position throughout the race then in a tremendous finish fought off Cutts of Vermont and Keelon of Mass. to take first place.

Dave Linekin and Sarkis Kojian of R. I. battled for a first place tie in the pole vault at 13' 1/4". Maurice Dore was Maine's only entrant in the hurdles. Cliff Ives fell on a hurdle and failed to qualify for the finals. Dore ran a close race with Dave Gardner of Conn. to place second. In the Javelin Reid Crawshaw of Conn. set a new mark of 201' 2 1/2" breaking the old mark of 186' 2 1/2".

This Saturday Maine will travel to Storrs, Conn., for the New England meet. Boston University will be favored to win this classic.

Looking forward to next year Maine has prospects for another successful season. Coach Styerna will be welcoming some excellent talent from the freshman squad to balance the loss of such outstanding seniors as Dave Linekin, Dale Bessey, Phil Haskell. Potential should still be strong enough for another State Championship.

59 Grid Season Uncertain

By Rick Brennan

The Maine Campus Sports Department presents its first annual All-Maine baseball team. This team has been chosen by baseball columnist Artie Zalkan.

The team is as follows: 1b Ed Burke, Colby; 2b Ken Perrone, Maine; 3b Lloyd Cohen, Colby; ss George Roden, Colby; lf Pete Cavari, Colby; cf Ray Weed, Maine; and rf Art Agnos, Bates. The pitchers are Dick Colwell, Maine; Ray Berberian, Colby; Billy Burke, Maine; Don Means, Maine, and Ron Woods, Bowdoin.

WESTIE SAYS:

"The fortunes of the 1959 University of Maine football team may rest in the hands of fate. Final exams, summer employment, injuries and love will all play vital roles in determining the outcome of the season next fall.

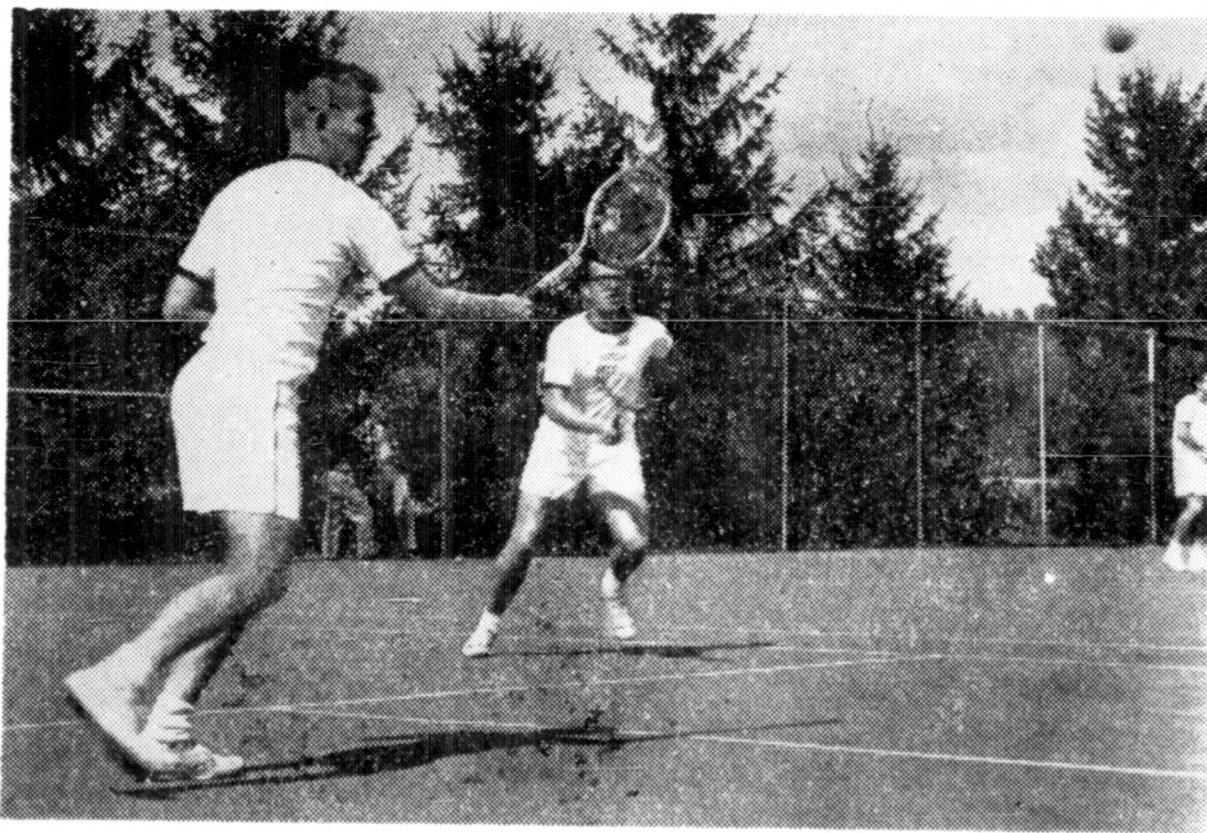

"Of course, the staff is fully aware that only head work, foot work, teamwork and, above all else, hard work will make the difference. Along with this, there must be a few student athletes who possess a real winning and competitive spirit and the willingness to make the necessary sacrifices to make the football team.

"With graduation and eligibility eliminating fourteen of last year's lettermen, the coaching staff faces a major rebuilding job; our primary concern will be to find line replacements for such men as Roger Ellis at center, Charlie Eberbach, Cal Bickford and Vince Trincia as guards, Jim Soper at tackle, and three veteran ends, Ed Manson, Niles Nelson and Phil Clemente. All of these, plus two regular backs, Bob Pickett and John Theriault, will graduate in June. We are in hopes that other lettermen, such as Dick Pottle, Ron Caselden, Dick Kinney and Stan Masalsky, who are not in school this semester, will be back ready to go in the fall.

"The coaching staff does feel that, with very good fortune between now and September, the 1959 football team could be a contender for both championships."

With this, the last issue of the Campus until fall, on behalf of the sports columnists and myself, I would like to wish everyone a very enjoyable summer.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Don Means, varsity moundsman, gave up ten hits but only one run in 8 1/3 innings against the University of Connecticut last Saturday afternoon. He fanned four and walked two. Means was only two outs away from a victory over one of the strongest clubs in the East, but lack of support from his teammates in the field enabled the UConns to knot the game at 3 to 3 and go on to win 5 to 3 in the 15th.

Phi Eta Cops Trophy; ATO Softball Champions

By Stan Allain

Another successful intramural season is fast drawing to a close, and a great deal of credit should be given to the Phys. Ed. Department for sponsoring the competition.

The fraternity division championship softball game was played recently between ATO and Sigma Nu. The game was, according to Sam Sezak and those who saw it, one of the best played on record. John Murphy of ATO hurled his mates to a 2 to 0 shutout over hard-trying Sigma Nu. Joe Dumont of Sigma Nu was impressive in a losing cause.

In the non-fraternity division, Dunn 3 racked Off-Campus to the tune of 16 to 1. This game also decided the championship.

The big game, for the campus championship, was played last Monday night. After a tough contest, ATO managed to edge the men of Dunn 3 by a score of 9 to 4.

In tennis action, Sigma Nu has entered the final round and will face either Sigma Chi or Phi Mu Delta for the campus title.

Congratulations to all-point trophy winner, Phi Eta Kappa. Through consistent power in nearly all of the intramural sports, they managed to build up a large margin over the other houses for the major fraternity prize.

Shibles Names This Year's Summer Staff

Two new instructors have been named to the faculty for the 1959 summer session, Dr. Wendell Hunt, and Dr. Victor H. Kelley.

Hunt, director of the Campus Elementary School at the University of Wisconsin, will teach two courses covering the curriculum of elementary schools.

Dr. Hunt is a 1948 graduate of the University of Nebraska. He received his master's degree in 1949 from Nebraska and his doctor's degree in 1951 from Columbia University.

In "Status and Trends of the Elementary School Curriculum," Dr. Hunt will present the aims and philosophy of modern elementary education and the relationship between the curriculum development and the findings of modern psychology. In a seminar in elementary school curriculum, he will direct individual projects in curriculum planning.

Dr. Victor Kelley, professor of education at the University of Arizona will teach two courses covering the history and philosophy of education. Dr. Kelley is a 1923 graduate of Kansas City University. He received his master's degree in 1926 from the University of Kansas and his Doctor's degree in 1931 from the University of Iowa.

He is the co-author of two textbooks on reading.

In "Introduction to Education" Dr. Kelley will discuss the general aims and purposes of education in our society, development of the United States school system and the organization, support, and control of education in this country. In "Comparative Education" he will give an analysis of the forces that create differences between national systems of education of England, France, Russia, and the United States.

Last summer Kelley toured the Soviet Union, visiting schools and universities throughout the country. In 1956 he studied in several countries in Western Europe.

Shibles States Views On Senate Presidency

"Responsibility" is a key word used by Mark Shibles, recently elected Student Senate president. In an interview with the Campus Shibles said, "The job of the Senate president is a responsible one if the Senate is to become something. It is his duty to guide, lead and direct it."

Speaking of his own presidency of the organization, Shibles said, "The president must take a more active role if the Senate is to grow. He must spend a great deal of time consulting with other governing organizations on campus, and perhaps test the opinion of the Senate concerning their particular problems, as well as those of the general student body."

Shibles has very definite ideas on the administration of the Student Senate. He thinks that committee action can be speeded up, and that stands can be taken by the Senate on specific issues that will be valid in the eyes of the administration. Most important of all, he feels that the responsibility of senators plays an important role in the success of the Senate as a whole.

Speaking of committee work, Shibles said that issues handled through committees should be speeded up. He said that much of the delay in putting a bill through the Senate comes in the committees delegated to do research. One way to speed the work of these committees up is to make it imperative that committees report at the next Senate meeting on their findings, Shibles said. "Action should be taken against those committees not reporting."

"By assuming definite stands on basic issues facing the student body, the Student Senate should rid itself of the 'do-nothing' Senate." Shibles believes that the Senate should take the initiative in making such stands.

Of the senators themselves, Shibles said that the "Senators should realize that they are representing their constituents and that they have a responsibility to them."

"In the end, the Senate is basically what the students want it to be. If they do not feel that it is doing its job, they should seek to improve it. This is far more effective than to merely criticize, despite what may come of the criticism."

Mark Shibles is well qualified for the job of leading one of the most important organizations on campus. He graduated from Orono High School in 1956. During his junior year in high school, he attended Boys' State. Shibles is a history and government major and is a Dean's list student. He plans to go on to law school after graduating.

Shibles is active in extracurricular activities. He is president of his fraternity, Phi Mu Delta, and is a member of Scabbard and Blade. He was recently named to the Senior Skulls Society, the highest honor a Maine man may receive. He also holds the position of the treasurer of the Class of 1960.

Crossland Evaluates Senate

Charles Crossland, Vice President of the University, spoke to the group on the role of a student governing body. He mentioned that the success of a Senate might be guaranteed when the body has a vision of greatness and achievement. He said that such a vision demands clear and constructive thinking and planning. Crossland recommended that the Senate have more reliance upon committees leaving their findings to be discussed by the Senate body.
