Louis Untermeyer Here; Appearance Arranged By Contributors' Club

Author and Critic Lectures Tonight In Little Theatre

By Virginia Hill

Louis Untermeyer, famed American poet and critic, will speak on "The New American Arts," Thursday, January 11, in the Little Theatre at 7:30.

Before his fiftieth year he has written and compiled more than thirty volumes of prose and verse. His translation of Heine has become standard, reinforced by the biography, "Heinrich Heine: Paradox and Poet." His anthologies have been adopted as text books in colleges and universities throughout the country. When the "Encyclopedia Britannica" was revised he was selected to contribute the articles on Modern American Poetry.

Mr. Untermeyer is an enthusiastic man. He has the reputation for being the best story teller in the Adirondacks. Rockwell Kent, famous illustrator, said of him, "He is a simple man whose work is consistent."

On his own aims and interests Mr. Untermeyer says: "In my eighties I plan to finish a sonata I began thirty years ago, read the Anatomy of Melancholy, and translate the complete works of Heinrich Heine. At ninety, I shall pay all my debts, and at ninety-five, I hope to breed a really bright red iris. Then I shall die content."

Library Drive May Include Student Body

A group of twelve students, appointed by an alumni committee, met at President Hauck's home last Sunday night to consider the question whether or not the undergraduates of the University would like to have a share in making possible a new library, plans for which have already been announced.

This committee is studying the situation carefully and at a subsequent meeting is to consider further the possibility of student participation in the library campaign, at which meeting it is expected a decision will be made on this matter.

Presiding at the meeting was Dean Arthur L. Deering, chairman of the alumni committee. Dean Deering outlined the general situation in regard to alumni plans for raising funds for the library. President Hauck discussed some of the important reasons why the University needs a new library building. Mr. Earl Bennett, also of the committee, presented some salient points to be considered by the student group who are to determine whether or not the undergraduate body will be invited to join with the alumni and faculty in this faculty.

Columbia Presents "Campus of the Air"

An intercollegiate radio program, "Campus of the Air," will be inaugurated Saturday, January 20, at 5:00 p.m. over the New England network of the Columbia Broadcasting System. Miss Marcia Finks is the Contributing Editor representing University of Maine on this new program that will broadcast highlights of the campus activity of thirty New England colleges.

The program, the first of such magnitude in the annals of American radio to be presented by a staff of college editors and devoted to depicting a slice of college life, has been organized with the co-operation of New England Town Hall and the aid of the regional office of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Chicago Debate Award Given Sophomore

Francis Andrews Wins Excellence Award In Forensic Tournament

Francis Andrews, a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, received an "excellence" award in the National Forensic Progress Tournament held during the Christmas recess at Chicago. John Cullinan, a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences, also representing the University, received a high rating.

FRANCIS ANDREWS

Andrews' "excellence" rating signifies that he was one of the twelve best out of nearly six hundred college students competing in the tournament.

Forensic progression, Andrews stated, is a new method of debating based on the panel discussion idea. Each contestant speaks in seven different panels on one general subject. He does not know until his turn to speak arrives what particular phase of the general subject he must discuss.

Delwin B. Dusenbury, instructor in the department of public speaking, accompanied Maine's representatives to Chicago and served as a judge in the tournament.

Finance Finnish Freedom

Give fifty cents for Finland!

When the mighty Russian juggernaut launched an attack on three fronts of diminutive Finland, the whole civilized world was appalled by this disgraceful breach of international law and morality. "The Finns surely can't last any longer than Poland did after the German attack," was the common consensus of opinion as the Red Army slowly began to gain momentum during the first week of the invasion.

Donate fifty cents for Finland!

But as the Soviet advance neared the Mannerheim Line in the south and the main Finnish defenses in the north and east, followers of the international scene began to sit up and take notice. When it was evident that the Communist attacks were continually being repulsed on all three fronts, opinion conceded the Soviets only a retarded and very costly victory.

Sacrifice fifty cents for Finland!

Now that the "Northern Slavs" have actually destroyed not only companies but even whole divisions of their Communist assailant, the Finns are given an even chance at least of permanently stopping the Russian drive. This hardy and courageous little country has shown its potential defensive and offensive ability. The Finns have demonstrated that they are capable of preserving their independence from Commu-nazi aggression IF—IF they can obtain financial and economic support.

Find fifty cents for Finland!

That IF is the main subject of this editorial. The editorial board of the Campus, in recognition of the worthy Finnish cause and the moral issues involved, has seen fit to conduct a campaign to raise money for the aid of Finland. This money will be turned over to the State committee that Herbert Hoover has appointed to raise funds in Maine.

Contribute fifty cents for Finland!

The purpose of the Campus campaign should appeal to all American students who appreciate the values of the democratic form of government. It is not a campaign for enlisting an expeditionary force to fight for Finland. American military support would not be necessary to defend the Finnish Democracy if this country lends its financial and moral support to the cause.

Save fifty cents for Finland!

Keep the Campus staff busy emptying the Finnish campaign contribution boxes.

Fifty cents for Finland!

Students Open Book Exchange

A student used-book exchange is to be organized and operated upon the campus at the beginning of the next semester. Under a plan recently approved by the Administrative Committee of the University, a committee of students, which includes George Ellis, Edwin Young, and Martin Scher, will run the non-profit exchange.

The committee will post lists of the books that are to be used next semester. Students will bring their books to the exchange and receive a receipt for them. The location of the exchange is to be announced later but it will be centrally located in order to facilitate this service. The exchange will sell the books and keep the money for the student until he calls for it. If the books are not sold, they will be returned to the student at the end of the first week of the next semester.

The student selling the book decides on how much he will ask for it. Since, however, the standard price on the campus for second-hand books in good condition is usually about two-thirds of the original price, it is expected that this price will be usually maintained.

This is a service organization for the students at this University and as a result of this policy no charge whatsoever will be made. If, however, it is found that there is a lack of cooperation upon the part of the students for whom the service is to be maintained, it will be discontinued.

Bureau Acts To Place Seniors

The annual senior placement activities have already opened promisingly for the Class of 1940, according to a statement made today by Philip J. Brockway. Visits by representatives of three leading corporations during the first and second week of January is a probable indication that employment activities are going to be better than in recent years.

Consideration by E. I. duPont De Nemours Company, Ingersoll-Rand, and the Armstrong Cork Company of senior applicants with both technical and non-technical training has resulted in promising leads for several men.

In addition, a number of requests for selected recommendations has resulted from the field trips of the director and are being followed up rapidly.

Pale Blue Key Holds Cabaret Friday Night

Student Artists Feature Show; Akins' Music

The Pale Blue Key Cabaret, Maine's only night club, sponsored each year by the Pale Blue Key Society, will open its doors Friday evening, January 12, at 8:00 p.m. in Memorial Gymnasium.

A floor show will be given by such entertainers as Ted Sobel and Ted Stone who will do dance numbers and other specialties. Skip Creamer will do a solo act.

There will also be a broadcast from the club with Watie Akins and his orchestra furnishing the music and many special arrangements. Scores of the Maine-Connecticut game will be given at intervals during the evening.

Waiters from the freshman class will serve refreshments at the tables surrounding the dance floor. There is to be no cover charge and no stags are to be admitted. Check room reservations will accompany the tickets which can be obtained from members of the Pale Blue Key Society.

Song Dedicated To University

Paul White, well-known composer and orchestra leader, who received an honorary degree from the University of Maine last year, is the author of a new composition, "College Caprice," based upon the Y.M.C.A. song of the state of Maine. The new composition, dedicated to the University of Maine, was played over a national hook-up of the National Broadcasting System Thursday night.

The Rochester Times-Union said of the piece, "—it is written in an amusing vein, and is as ingratiatingly unassuming as it is aurally persuasive." The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle wrote, "College Caprice" proved of real humor, the sort of amusing thing he does so well. Based on a roistering college song and dedicated to the University of Maine, his alma mater, its buoyant gaiety evoked real audience enthusiasm."

Contributors Meet At Ellis Home

Original selections by Miriam Golden, Virginia Hill, and Mrs. George Sanderlin were read at the meeting of the Contributors' Club last Sunday night at the home of Dr. Milton Ellis.

The program was as follows: Miriam Golden read two of her short stories, one of which was in letter form. Virginia Hill recited two short poems, and Mrs. George Sanderlin read a short story.

During the meeting the members discussed the coming of Louis Untermeyer to the University.

Machine Age Methods Used on Exam Schedule

By Wendall Milliken

Every student at the University of Maine takes from four to nine courses which come at various times each day and on different days of the week. After each semester's work is complete, these two thousands or more students are required to take final examinations. These examinations are all crowded into approximately eight days.

The difficulty of making out the examination schedule seldom if ever occurs to anyone not directly connected with its compilation. It must be managed in such a way that no student is required to take two examinations at the same time, with courses having as many as twenty-three divisions. In arranging this schedule, the field of statistics plays a very important role. The mere mention of the word "statistics" is enough to frighten many people; however, it simply refers to the application of mathematical formulas which in themselves are relatively easy to understand.

In determining the time and place for different examinations in the final schedule, a sorting machine is used. This machinery, which cannot be purchased, is rented to the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station by the International Business Machines Incorporated. It is used for card sorting and different types of statistical analyses.

The cards have holes punched on certain numbers which can be given a variety of meanings by use of a code.

Start Four-day Drive Friday; Contributions For Hoover Committee

Adopting as its slogan "Fifty cents for Finland," the MAINE CAMPUS will launch a four-day drive tomorrow to raise money for the aid of Finland, Charles A. Peirce, editor-in-chief, announced today.

The CAMPUS campaign begins Friday, January 12, and will close Monday, January 15. Boxes in which students and faculty members may place their donations will be located at central points on the campus, in fraternity houses and dormitories.

Although not setting any definite quota as its goal, the CAMPUS has adopted as its slogan, "Fifty cents for Finland," in hopes that the contributions will total about $1,000. This figure is based on the assumption of a fifty cent donation from each of the 2000 students registered.

The CAMPUS campaign will be conducted in cooperation with the state and national committees which are now carrying on an extensive drive to raise funds for the aid of Finland in its life or death struggle with the Soviet Union. Soon after the Russian invasion began, a committee was formed in the United States for the above mentioned purpose. Herbert Hoover, ex-President of the United States and particularly remembered for his efficient war-relief work in Europe during and after the last war, has been chosen to head the national committee. The State of Maine Drive is being managed by Clarence Stetson of Bangor.

Give fifty cents for Finland.

Founder's Day To Be Observed

Observance of the 75th anniversary of the founding of the University of Maine, to be held on February 25 and 26, will be shared by students, alumni, and faculty. There will be an assembly on Sunday afternoon, when salutation to the Founders will be delivered by a student representative from each of the colleges and schools of the University, and representatives of the teaching staff.

Students on the committee are Kenneth Burr, horticulture, John Carlisle, economics, Elizabeth Kruse, home economics, Ruth Trickey, drama, Charles Wilson, pulp and paper, all seniors.

The faculty committee is made up of Dr. Olin S. Lutes, dean of the School of Education, Fred P. Loring, director of short courses, Dr. Rising L. Morrow, professor of history and government, Prof. Harry D. Watson, acting head of the Department of Mechanical Engineering, and Prof. Adelbert W. Sprague, head of the department of music.

The graduates of the University will mark the anniversary at a dinner Monday night, at which President Arthur A. Hauck and others will speak. Frederick D. Knight '09, will preside.

Vote in Poll Tomorrow

Those who stoop to read these columns may remember that we had a few remarks to make recently concerning the future of the "Campus" poll.

This poll will be held tomorrow. There are six questions; three dealing with University affairs and three dealing with questions of supposed student interest in a broader field.

In the last editorial we asked for suggestions for the criticism of the "Campus" poll. Since we have received none of either, we assume that it is being handled in a satisfactory manner.

On The Mellow Side

Steve Kierstead and John Mayo

A little variety in today's type of record is found in Ziggy Elmer's new version of 'I'm Yours'.

One of the sweetest pieces to come from the wax dies in some time is Glenn Miller's 'Melancholy Lullaby' (Bluebird B-10423-A).

On the flip-over we have an arrangement something like 'I'm Yours' in 'You Took Advantage of Me'.

Res Politicæ

By Edwin Young

It is my purpose in this column to draw attention to matters of major and minor importance relating to our national and international life.

Unfortunately I shall be concerned a great deal with war and rumors of war. I think it is fitting to quote from a letter recently received by a Maine student from a young married Englishwoman.

"... We're glad the American girl came when she did—for who knows after this horrible war things may not be the same again. The newspapers are sickening and heartbreaking to read and Heaven only knows how it will all end."

The excitement comes when bogey Wheaton dies and leaves a cool million to the fund-pinned academy on condition that it endorse racial discrimination.

The suspense here is well-handled, for not until election day do we get a whiff of the sweeping success and triumph of Hulme and old Mr. Dewey.

A substantial story as to ideas, Seasoned Timber is complete in the characterization of its chief figure.

The portrait of Hulme is a full-length one done with mirrors. Penetrating and revealing analyses of the persons she creates are Mrs. Fisher's specialty.

"Will you have some chocolate pudding?" Miss Peck asked of what looked like Prof. Hulme sitting at the table.

His fondness for as nearly an absolute objectivity as it was possible for him to achieve, both in regard to himself and to others, which leads him into many fascinating silent soliloquies, is hopelessly foiled when he falls in love.

Modern in its ideas, setting, and treatment, this novel can be honestly labelled "Grade A."

Another piece to be heard more in time to come is 'Out of Space' again we have Glenn Miller and band.

in the School of Education, has been selected to write the CAMPUS political column from which Myer Alpert was forced to resign due to the fact that he is completing his undergraduate work at the end of this semester.

By Marguerite Bannigan

Books of the Times, book review section in the daily New York Times, gave Dorothy Canfield Fisher's Seasoned Timber a place on its list of outstanding books of 1939.

Chief character is Timothy Hulme, principal of the academy at Clifford. Dealt with are his undeclared and ultimately frustrated love for naive, schoolteacher Susan, the problems of running the academy, the maddening eccentricities of his aged aunt, Lavinia, and most significantly, the struggle to maintain in the academy traditional ideals of American racial equality.

Utterly contemptible, Mr. Wheaton, money-making trustee of the school, periodically arouses the dormant wrath and ire of Hulme when the latter goes to see him in New York.

The excitement comes when bogey Wheaton dies and leaves a cool million to the fund-pinned academy on condition that it endorse racial discrimination.

The suspense here is well-handled, for not until election day do we get a whiff of the sweeping success and triumph of Hulme and old Mr. Dewey.

Bates Falls To Maine In Thrill Packed Battle Before Capacity Crowd

Tracy Is High Scorer As Black Bears Win First Series Tilt

By Bob Willets

In the closing minutes of the game when it looked as if Bates were going to win the first game of the State Series, Maine let loose a last minute whirlwind finish to defeat the Garnets 51 to 47 in the Memorial Gymnasium Saturday night.

With two minutes left to play, Bates led Maine 47 to 45. The crowd was on its feet; the gym shook as they shouted and begged for a basket that would tie the score. Buzz Tracy dashed down the center of the court to sink a beautiful one-hander to tie the score at 47 all. Parker Small, who had been unlucky all night, quickly followed with another basket from the corner to put Maine in the lead. With but forty seconds left to play, and the game by no means 'on ice' Lou Harris sank a two pointer to end the game in a victory for Maine. The final score Maine 51, Bates 47.

The Bates team with two wins out of three previous starts was the heavy favorite as the game opened. Led by their tall center, Webster, and two able forwards, Stover and Raftery, the Garnet five started in a flash of speed that looked like a walkover for Bates. In the opening moments of the game the Bates players set up plays for Webster, the tallest man on the court to score. This height advantage was giving Maine plenty of trouble until Bill Kenyon countered with his tallest man, Gene Leger. Leger, who is a sophomore, was appearing in his first college game and was naturally a little nervous and inexperienced, but he soon stopped the Garnet monopoly of the rebound play. Even with this help the Bears were able only to tie the score twice in the fast moving, thrill-packed first half. With but seconds left to play in the first half Maine slumped and Bates forged into the lead to close the half, Bates 34, Maine 27.

The second half started out like the first with Bates still on the heavy side of the score. With but five minutes left before the final gun Bates led Maine 46 to 40. However, the Kenyonmen showed good training and control as they slowly and coolly waited for an opening. This came when Roberts uncorked a thirty foot shot that sent the Bears into their winning

Strong Frosh Expect Win In Track Meet

Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. the Maine Frosh track team takes on the South Portland, Bangor, and John Baptist High School teams at the field house. This is the first meet of the year in which the freshmen meet outside opposition.

South Portland, according to those who are acquainted with the team, is not expected to show much opposition. Last year they were strong enough to beat the freshmen; but this year they are weaker, and the freshmen are a strongly balanced team. Bangor will probably take the vaults, and John Baptist, with Perry, is strong in the 300 and 600 yard events.

The team has been hard at practice since the return from vacation, and the probable competing men have been selected by Coach Jenkins. There are a few question marks, but since a few days still remain, the coach will find the answers.

The Frosh have very little to worry about in the middle distances and long runs as men of the caliber of Martinez, Moody, Creamer, and Hamm are in excellent condition from cross country. In the weights Weisman, who has put the 12 pound shot 48 feet, is the outstanding Frosh candidate. In the dashes Coach Jenkins feels that he has a well rounded combination with Sinkinson, Caldwell, and Stewart.

Hadlock and Brady will probably take first and second in the hurdles. In the high jump Brady and Crane look strong, and in the broad jump Hadlock is the best the frosh have. Gildersleeve and Walden will score in the pole vault with ease.

That is how the team stands; and if no ill luck floats into the Field House, Maine should be thrice a victor late Saturday afternoon.

NOTICE

Independent teams wishing to enter the Intramural Handball League will please leave their names at the Physical Education office not later than January 19.

Help is needed to clean the snow off the new skating rink each night after ten o'clock. Any help by students will be greatly appreciated and will add to the usefulness of the rink.

attack. Charlie Arbor made a foul shot count and a few seconds later pushed in a two pointer.

With less than two minutes to play left the score was Bates 47, Maine 45. There was a mixup under the Maine goal and Buzz Tracy emerged from the scrap with the ball which he tossed in for the tying score. The capacity crowd of 3000 was on its feet shouting for the basket that would spell doom to Bates. This came as Parker Small let loose with one from the corner which 'swished' the net for two points. In the last few seconds of play Lou Harris tossed up the last score of the game which clinched it for the Black Bears. Maine 51, Bates 47.

Intramural Track May 'Tell All'

The Intramurals a week from Saturday will really tell the story as far as the varsity indoor track team is concerned, said Coach Chester A. Jenkins this week when questioned concerning the present condition of the squad. "The boys haven't been practicing very long," Coach Jenkins said, "so it's impossible to make any definite statements." The Intramural track meet January 19 will be the first real indication of the material we will have to work with, he said.

In the jumping events (pole vault, high jump, and broad jump) several good men were lost through graduation. Bill McCarthy's absence in the high jump will definitely be noticed, as will Spike Leonard's absence in the pole vault.

Varsity men from last year who will be back again in the pole vault are Rich, a senior, Weaver, a senior, and Dexter, a junior. Graham, who competed on last year's freshman team, is also a prospect in this event.

There were no outstanding freshman high jumpers last year, so at present this event is left almost entirely to Dexter. Likewise Graham seems to be the leading candidate in the broad jump.

It seems apparent that the Intramural meet will possibly "tell all." The season is early yet, however, the first meet not coming up until February. This will give the boys plenty of time to work into shape, and will give Coach Jenkins plenty of time to figure out just what the prospects for the 1940 season in indoor track are.

Intramural Basketball Starts With Six Games

The Intramural basketball season opened Wednesday, January 3, with six games being played off that evening in the Memorial Gym. At 7 p.m. Dorm A defeated the Indies, 52 to 19, with Adams and Burleigh refereeing. At the same hour the Commuters beat Dorm B, 38 to 12. Curtis and Hoctor refereed.

At 8 p.m. Phi Eta Kappa trounced Oak East, 49 to 18, with Adams and Burleigh again refereeing. On the other court Tau Epsilon Phi outplayed Oak West by the score of 25 to 18. Curtis and Hoctor also refereed this contest.

In the last two games at 9 p.m. the 13 Club beat Sigma Nu, 39 to 29, with D. Brown and Humphries acting as referees. The Cabin Colony defeated Alpha Gamma Rho, 20 to 15. Lane and Peabody refereed.

On Monday evening, January 8, in two games at 8 p.m. Kappa Sigma defeated Delta Tau Delta, 30 to 11, with Small and Leek refereeing, while Phi Kappa Sigma beat Lambda Chi Alpha, 44 to 21, Crowley and Briggs refereeing the contest.

At 9 p.m. Beta Theta Pi beat Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 33 to 12, Small and Leek refereeing. In the second game Alpha Tau Omega defeated Phi Gamma Delta, 30 to 11.

Hopeful Varsity Hoopsters Are Away on Three Game Conference Road Trip

Hamilton And Crockett Grab Tennis Title

The Fall Tennis Doubles Championship came to a flashing climax in the finals match held in Memorial Gymnasium Wednesday, December 13. Bob Hamilton and Russ Crockett triumphed over Bill Chandler and Charlie Guard in a gruelling struggle described by several of the Athletic Department as the best indoor match ever held here. It was a five-set match, and the winners had to go the whole route before taking the lead from Chandler and Guard. The score, 3-6; 4-6; 6-4; 9-7; 6-3, is a graphic representation of the contest itself.

Chandler and Guard were the aggressors from the start and had little trouble in taking the first two sets and leading in the third through superior service and accuracy of placement, Guard especially showing great form in this respect.

Hamilton and Crockett appeared nervous and lacking in team play. But as Chandler and Guard put on the pressure in a great exhibition of smashing tennis attempting to win the third set and clinch the match, Hamilton and Crockett began to find themselves and met the challenge with strokes of equal power and accuracy to bring the score to 4-4. For the rest of the third set it was a contest of sheer strength with all four men putting their whole weight behind each shot. Chandler and Guard weakened, becoming inaccurate, and Hamilton and Crockett, making scarcely an error, carried the set at 6-4.

The ball was coming off all four racquets with a report like that of a pistol shot as they entered the fourth and deciding set. Hamilton and Crockett were now setting a fast pace, but their opponents responded with power and the games went with service to 7-7. Both teams were rushing the net and began to show fatigue, but Hamilton and Crockett displayed the better team work. At this point Bill Chandler put on a great exhibition of overhead play and time after time pulled his side out of the hole. Guard and Chandler were playing fine individual games but finally had to yield the set 9-7.

At the end of the fourth set the match stood at 2-all and the fifth set promised to be a close contest, but the fourth proved the climax, for Guard and Chandler never regained their perfect stride of the early sets. Hamilton and Crockett held the initiative and ran out the set at 6-3 to win the Doubles Crown.

Competition in ice hockey will start this week-end, it was decided by the Intramural Board at a special session Tuesday noon, January 9, in the office of the Department of Physical Education.

Freshmen Are Impressive In 52-24 Victory

To the 3500 spectators last Saturday night at the Memorial Gymnasium the Frosh basketball team made a fine showing against John Baptist High School. The score, which was 52-24, is an indication of the strength of the team.

John Baptist had younger players which may account for their inability to beat a Maine team that has some experienced men. Also, the Baptist team did not have the powerful reserves that Coach Szrak had in his two squads.

The coach has two teams; substitutes are not sent in as individuals but as a team. With two such teams, the discovery of such a player as Pratt creates a pleasant problem, for Wright, the regular forward, was unable to play.

Chet Savasuk gave a typical Savasuk performance with good playing and real teamwork. Others, showing the type of basketball that the Maine fans wanted and got, were Quint, who was after the ball; Ward, who used his change of pace footwork to the best advantage; Nickerson, who was a crackerjack at his guard position; McKee, a fast guard; and Weinstein, a fast accurate shooting forward.

On the team that was substituting were some who, if they were not as good as the former players, showed evidence of being so with more experience. They were Adler, acting captain of this team, Hussey, and Weinstein who made their share of the 52 points. The fact that they scored 14 points to Savasuk's team's score of 16 points at the half shows the evenness of the teams. This Saturday the first-year men face Old Town.

Many Candidates Report For Boxing Team

Coach Arthur Henderson announced that this week for boxing instruction to end in the intramural fights in March.

About 40 students have turned out for instruction, chiefly in the heavy and middle classes. The squad is completely lacking in the 112 pound class. Those enrolled for the 126 pound class are Allan Hardison, Charles Howe, and Abraham Pepper.

In the 135 pound class are Bill Perry, Wendy Eaton, Dick Bader, Owen Handcock, Earl Langley, Bob Larson, and Sydney Chandler.

The 147 pounders are Ralph Johnson, Wayne McLaughlin, James Merchant, Gerald Ward, Charles Keniston, Chet Savasuk, and Herschel Abbott.

Hilton Mortland, Hymie Gordon, Joe Glasser, Fred Viles, Pat Ford, and Booth Leavitt weighed in at 160 and the heavyweights include Jake Serota, George Gott, and Ed Arbo.

Strong Teams Matched With Varsity Squad

The varsity basketball squad left the campus yesterday bound for Kingston to face the Rhode Island State array, the first of three contests on the squad's annual New England trip.

Tomorrow night finds the Maine hoopsters in Storrs, opposing the Connecticut State Nutmeggers, the last game being played Saturday night in Boston with Northeastern. This heavy schedule of travelling is decidedly a disadvantage, says Coach Kenyon, and not more than one victory can fairly be expected. Moreover, the team is green, having played but one game this season to 8 or 9 of each of the opponents.

These games are vital to New England Conference hopes, but Coach Kenyon is inclined to believe that this trip will do more in settling the team into a competitive state of mind for the games after the return rather than bring triumphs to the Pine State invaders.

Looking over the enemy prospects, Little Rhody has the most powerful outfit in many a day. With "Tiny" Keaney leading the bill, Rhody has no lack in height—which will be a decided advantage.

Winter sports equipment is now available for the use of all women students. It may be procured from Virginia May or Arlene Webster in Balentine Hall or from winter sports manager, Martha Hutchins, in Colvin. Time schedules have been posted in the dormitories, telling when arrangements may be made.

There are definite regulations which must be followed if the students wish to use this equipment. Ordinary wear and tear should be reported to managers at once. Only moccasins without heels or oxfords with rubbers over them should be worn with snowshoes. Toboggans are not to be towed behind cars. Responsibility for any damage to equipment due to carelessness rests with the person last using it, and at discretion of manager and Department of Physical Education may be charged to that person at full replacement value. Fines likewise will be charged for keeping equipment out over time.

All upperclass girls should get in basketball practices as soon as possible because tournament games start the week after examinations. Although specific team practices are scheduled for Friday and Saturday, girls may scrimmage any afternoon.

Iva Henry was elected the freshman representative to W.A.A. at a compulsory meeting of all freshman girls held Friday, December 5, in the Alumni Gymnasium.

Psst! that's a ladies PRIVILEGE!

IT'S O. K. — now and then — for a lady to tug away at a troublesome girdle.

But a man looks darn silly when he attempts the same maneuvers with a pair of shorts.

Wear ARROW shorts. They have no seam in the crotch — don't ride up, chafe or bedevil you. And they're Sanitized-Shrunk (fabric shrinkage less than 1%) so that they don't grow small on you.
