Estabrooke Hall Is Name Of New Women's Dorm Nearing Completion

Mrs. Estabrooke Was Matron Of Mt. Vernon

Estabrooke Hall will be the name given the new women's dormitory now under construction, it was announced at the office of President Arthur A. Hauck here today. The name will memorialize Mrs. Kate Clarke Estabrooke, wife of Horace M. Estabrooke, who was matron of Mt. Vernon House, first women's residence, from 1912 to 1926.

Mrs. Estabrooke, who died recently in her 81st year, became associated with the University's administration shortly after the death of Prof. Estabrooke, who graduated from the University in 1876 and was a member of the faculty from 1891 until his death in 1908. The three Estabrooke children were all graduates of the University.

When Mrs. Estabrooke, who was born in West Tremont, was married to Prof. Estabrooke, she became closely associated with the faculty and community life of Orono. From 1890 until her death she was a member of the Orono Woman's Club and a regular attendant at the Congregational Church. Since leaving Orono, she has been a member of the University alumnae association of New York. She was elected a member of All-Maine Women, honorary student organization. In 1926 the University conferred on Mrs. Estabrooke an honorary master's degree.

Mrs. Estabrooke was a member of the Esther Eayres chapter of the D.A.R. in Orono and of the Frances Dighton Williams chapter of Bangor. She was a member of the Maine State Library Commission until its affiliation with the state library, a period of twenty years. She was also formerly secretary of the educational committee of the Maine Federation of Women's clubs.

Prof. Estabrooke was appointed to the faculty of the University as the

Arts Club Plans Musical Show

Try-outs for the musical comedy to be presented by the Arts Club Saturday, April 20, were held Wednesday night in South Stevens. The play selected, "Sonia, the Girl from Russia," will be presented in Memorial Gymnasium and is being produced under the general directions of Louis Thibodeau. Additional try-outs will be held tonight, Thursday, in South Stevens.

Others in charge of the production include: Music, Stephen Kierstead; Costumes, Miss Eileen Cassidy and Mrs. Mary Wetherbee; Stage, Robert Fortier and William Wetherbee; Dancing, Miss Eileen Cassidy; Publicity, Robert Davis. Dean Edward J. Allen and William Wetherbee are faculty advisers.

The preliminary plans for the show were made at a meeting of the Arts Club last week. At that time the club was reorganized, and it was agreed that a new president should be named from a group of candidates, including Richard Martinez, president of the freshman class, George Ellis, and Louis Thibodeau.

Two years ago the Arts Club produced a musical satire on the politics of the day. Last year plans were made for another show but no date was available.

Much interest was shown at the meeting last week in the coming production, and the entire Arts Club is behind the endeavor. Rehearsals for the play will probably start Sunday or Monday. Additional committees are to be named this week.

The cast for the play includes, as well as the principals, several singing and dancing choruses of both men and women. The story, briefly, is of a Russian girl who takes her American college companions back to Russia to free her father from prison. When they arrive they find themselves in the middle of a minor revolution, but, as usual in musical comedies, everything turns out all right.

Library Fund Needs Support Of Students

Gift Average $2 Shy Of Set Amount

By Daniel Caouette

The Student Library Fund Campaign will not reach its goal of $18,000 unless those students who can give more generously than they have to date do so, the Executive Committee reported today. The contributions thus far are below the average which was hoped for by the Goal Committee. The average of student contributions now stands at $7.64. The average gift required to reach the goal is $9.06 for every one of the 1,942 students.

The difference between these two figures multiplied by the number of gifts will be the amount by which the drive will fail of its goal, unless the average of contributions comes up. The Executive Committee and all the workers are well aware that many who have contributed have done so at considerable sacrifice, but they are certain that there are many who could have contributed more than they have without any sacrifice at all. The Committee is working for 100% participation, but at the present rate the goal will not be reached even with 100% participation.

All of the student committees have gone to great efforts to plan, organize, and sell this campaign to the student body. The generals, captains, and the aides are working hard to make the campaign a success. Everyone is convinced that the object of the drive is worth while. A new library is indispensable; all the students recognize the fact. The conversion of the old library into a student union is approved by all. Yet with all this unanimity of opinion the campaign is lagging behind expectations because some students are not willing to make some sacrifices in order that the drive may go over the top.

Executive Committee and the workers are not discouraged, however, and are certain that when the students realize the situation they will give more generously than they have thus far. The campaign will either be a great success or a failure. If the goal of $18,000 is reached, the drive will be a success; if $18,000 is not subscribed, the drive will be a failure.

Every student should give as much as he possibly can. In arriving at the goal of $18,000, the Goal Committee, headed by Doc Gerrish, investigated the finances of the students and re-

George Ellis, '41, Wins Oak Speaking Contest

George Ellis won first prize in the Oak Prize Speaking Contest held in the Little Theatre last Wednesday, February 28th, at 7:30. Robert Ellwell and Dudley Utterback won second and third prizes respectively.

Three others got Honorable Mention. They were Woodrow Mercier, Edward Oppenheim, and Paul Moran. There were thirteen out for the preliminary trial.

George Ellis is well known on campus for his debating ability, and has won several contests of this sort during his college career. He is a member of Phi Eta Kappa fraternity. Robert Ellwell is a reporter for the Campus. He is also the president of The Future Farmers of America; and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Dudley Utterback has done consistently good work in the Maine Masque.

He designed this year's prize-winning snow sculpture for Phi Gamma Delta.

The money for the Oak prizes comes from the income of bonds left by the late John M. Oak for this purpose. The prizes are as follows: $25 for first prize, $15 for second prize, and $10 for third prize.

Professor Mark Bailey was chairman of the Judging Committee. The other judges were Fred P. Loring, John Needham, and Edwin Buchner.

Frost Sketch of New Library

Jack Frost, '33, writer and artist for the Boston Herald, sketched this conception of the new library from the architect's plans.

Jack Frost Draws Sketch Of Library

Artist Well-Known In New England

Mr. Jack Frost, Maine alumnus of the class of 1933, and author and artist of Cape Cod Sketches, has sketched a beautiful copy of the architect's drawing of the proposed library at the University of Maine, to initiate the library drive.

Mr. Frost has been employed on the staff of the Boston Herald as a writer and creator of the popular series, "Fancy This." Since his first drawing, he has won an audience which has now grown into thousands throughout all New England. Today, after a recent illness, he lives in Eastport, Maine, and does occasional work. Many of his recent sketches were completed there.

In addition to sketching, Jack Frost has also done paintings and drawn such personages as President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Ruth Draper, Charles Dana Gibson, and Primo Camera. Mr. Frost is a member of the Maine Alpha chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. As a student here, he was active in track, baseball, and debating. His junior year he was vice president of AIEE.

Blanket Tax Required For Wind-up Dance Sat.

Presentation of the blanket tax is necessary for admittance to the wind-up dance of the Student Library Fund Campaign that is to be held on Saturday evening, James Harris, chairman of the "wind-up" committee, announced today.

Paul Monaghan's Orchestra will play at this dance which will follow the Thornton-Frost and Northeastern-Maine Track Meets. This dance will be held in the Memorial Gymnasium from 9:30 until 11:30.

Chaperons for this event are to be Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Crossland and Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Bennett.

The Editorial Board of the Maine Campus voted yesterday to contribute one hundred dollars from its reserve fund for the new library. The Campus is the second University Organization to make a donation to the Library Fund, the Seaboard and Blade society having previously made a gift of fifty dollars.

Four-Day Run Of 'Our Town' Starts Monday

Wetherbee Directs Pulitzer Play

By Paul Ehrenfried

The University of Maine Masque will present its third and next-to-last production of the year March 11, 12, 13, and 14, when it stages Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer prize-winning play, "Our Town," in the Little Theatre on the campus.

In the leading role, that of the Stage Manager, will be Russell Woolley, star of the first Masque play of the year, "Girl of the Golden West." Barbara Savage, winter carnival queen, will play the ingenue, or female juvenile lead, Emily Webb. Earle Rankin will play opposite her in the role of George Gibbs.

In prominent supporting roles will be Philip Hutchinson, star of the Masque play, "Accent on Youth," as Dr. Gibbs; Jean Boyle as Mrs. Gibbs; Fred Libby, whom Masque play-goers will remember as Captain Shover in last year's "Heartbreak House," as Mr. Webb.

Beatrice Besse, who composed an original musical score for "Accent on Youth," will play the part of Mrs. Webb. Robert Fortier, who designed the scenery for "Accent on Youth," and who is musical director for "Our Town," will also appear in the play as Simon Stimson.

No Scenery Used

The play was first produced by Jed Harris in 1938, enjoying a very successful run with Frank Craven in the role of the Stage Manager. The play is unique in that it uses no scenery. The locale of the play is Grover's Corners, N. H., a typical New England country town.

The author, Thornton Wilder, attempts to convey the idea that truth is to be found only in the future; that living people, occupied with their petty occupations and small thoughts,

Student Pledge Near Half-Way Point With $8,000; Three Teams Reach 100%

New Me. Head

HARRY DEXTER WATSON

Watson Is Head Of Mechanical Department

Has Been on Faculty Since 1920

Harry Dexter Watson, member of the University of Maine faculty since 1920, has been appointed head of the department of mechanical engineering in the College of Technology, President Arthur A. Hauck announced here today. Prof. Watson has been in charge of the department since last November, following the death of Prof. William Jordan Sweetser, who had been head of the department from 1915.

Prof. Watson was appointed an assistant professor in 1923, an associate professor in 1929, and has been a professor since 1937. He received his bachelor's degree from the University in 1920 and his master's degree in mechanical engineering in 1929. He has studied at the Harvard engineering school and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and attended the Mechanical Engineering Summer Conference at Purdue University in 1929.

A registered mechanical engineer in the state, Prof. Watson has done professional work for the Penobscot Fibre Co., the stream pollution survey of the Penobscot River, Eastern Manufacturing Co., and consultation work on design and installation of heating systems for the Old Town Fuel Co.

Maples, North Hall, Tau Epsilon Phi, Make Goal

By Rachel Kent

Nearly 45%, or $7,932.50, has already been pledged up to noon on Wednesday, it was announced by Charles Peirce, General Chairman of the Student Library Campaign Fund Committee. This amount that has already been pledged, as checked by the aides of the individual teams, represents a 55.3% participation by the student body.

There are now three teams showing 100% enrollment. They are the Maples, freshman girls' dorm; North Hall, freshman girls' dorm; and Tau Epsilon Phi, social fraternity.

At the time of the latest report, there have been 1,076 students take part. This means that in order to have 100% participation, the slogan of this campaign, there are still 866 students who have not pledged up their donations to the new Library and subsequently to the Student Union Building.

$2,483.50 Increase

With the present amount of pledged that have been signed, there is an increase of $2,483.50 over the total amount as reported yesterday. This means that there is $10,067.50 yet to go before the goal of $18,000 is reached.

This goal, which was set by a representative committee of the student body, is to be reached by Friday noon, the closing date for this campaign.

With the aides reporting to their captains by teams, it is possible for the captains and generals to keep check on the percentage participation by teams in the campaign. The chart that is found elsewhere in this paper shows that three teams have already obtained the 100% participation mark. There are 14 teams out of the 50 teams entered which now show a 75% or better enrollment in the campaign.

Since the slogan and main aim of this campaign is to show that the students can put this thing across by 100% participation, it is earnestly hoped by the aides and committee as a whole that they may report 100% participation of every team enrolled at the close.

Daily Check-up

This accurate check on the progress of this campaign that the student body has undertaken is done by a daily report of each aide to his or her captain. These captains in turn report to their general at a daily meeting at noon in Coburn Hall. Thus a check can be had at all times. However, by having the aides report to their captains it eliminates the necessity of some 100 people coming up to those noon meetings at Coburn.

Debaters Leave For Five Meets

George Ellis, Brooks Brown, Elton Carter, and David Maurice, members of the varsity debate team, left today on a four-day trip which will take them to M.I.T., Cambridge, Mass., and Tufts College, Medford, Mass., on March 5; Providence College on March 6; American International College, Springfield, Mass., on March 7; and Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., on March 8.

The question for the first two debates, which will be non-decision, is: Resolved, That the United States should follow a policy of complete economic and military isolation toward all nations outside the Western Hemisphere engaged in foreign or domestic wars. An audience discussion will follow.

The question for the last three, which will be decision debates, is: Resolved, That the United States should take steps to stop un-American activities within its borders.

Since Wesleyan and the University of Maine are both members of the Eastern Intercollegiate Debate League, the Wesleyan debate will be one of the deciding factors for the championship of the League and therefore one of the most important of the trip.

An Analysis

An analysis of the Student Library Fund pledge cards which have been turned in during the last three days reveals several interesting points. In fact it is a meaty study for psychologists as well as for statisticians.

In the first place the analysis shows that fairly good progress is being made in the number of subscriptions secured. This is important, since one of the objects of the campaign is to achieve 100% participation. However, another object, even more important, is acquiring the goal of $18,000 (as recommended by a special student committee and approved by the Student Advisory Council). In this respect the results of the pledging to date are far from satisfactory. The campaign will be considered a success only when both 100% participation and the goal are secured.

A great many students who could give $10 or more as painlessly as they might give $5.00 are getting off by pledging the $5.00. As far as the goal is concerned, the ultimate success of the campaign depends upon receiving the $10 pledges from those who are able to make them. And by comparing personalities with pledges we know that there are many who could afford to make larger contributions.

In general it has been the surprisingly larger pledges of the poor students in the University, many of whom are working their way, which raise the averages caused by the small gifts of those who are in a comparatively better financial position. For example, the son of a day laborer (family income of $2,000) has pledged $12 to the Library Fund while the daughter of an important business executive (family income of $5,000 plus) has pledged only $5.00.

Numerous instances of this sort might be cited. No comparison can be made of the individual sacrifices of the two classes of students. It is possible, however, to compare their pride. The poorer students have come through magnificently, those more able to contribute have been indifferent.

There is still a chance to correct this situation and win the goal. The campaign will not end before Friday night. Sufficient time remains in which those who are in a better financial position to subscribe may reconsider their previous pledges and increase them if they see fit to do so.

The campaign workers, captains, generals, and committeemen are working hard. They are to be commended for doing their part, both in regard to the work they have done and to the amounts they have pledged (all workers are included in the pledging as well as those with lesser connections to the campaign). The rest is up to the student body, especially to those who can give more.

Birth Control at Maine

In view of the disgracefully small representation of the faculty at last Monday's University assembly, we assume that they will never again urge student attendance at any future assembly, nor will we expect them to upbraid the student body for its failure to attend these functions.

The fact that so many professors did not bother to attend the Library Campaign assembly may be interpreted in three ways. In the first place, they may have remained "in absentia" to indicate that they were not in sympathy with the campaign. The second interpretation may be that they considered the speakers too far below their intellectual level. Or, thirdly, they may have had a hard week-end.

Regardless of the reasons, the faculty's failure to take an interest in a program which was enjoyed by the largest student gathering that we have ever seen at a University assembly shows that "something is rotten in Denmark." Could it be that the inertia and lethargy so often attributed to the students actually have their source in the faculty?

The advocates of compulsory assemblies or chapels might well investigate the practicality of achieving 100% faculty attendance before requiring the same from the student body.

CORRESPONDENCE

(The correspondence columns of The Campus are open to the public on pertinent subjects, and letters are welcomed. All letters should be signed with the author's real name, but a pen name will be used in publication of the letter if desired. The ideas started in these columns are not necessarily those of The Campus and should not be so considered. The editor reserves the right to withhold any letter or a part of any letter.)

To the Editor:

I should like to extend briefly my sincere gratitude and appreciation for the efforts some of the students have contributed to the pre-campaign work of the Library drive. Most of the work of this particular group has been necessarily of an inconspicuous nature. Such a contribution, which is made without the satisfaction of receiving credit from other students, is to my mind more deserving of commendation and admiration than those contributions of a more obvious character.

Those students who have rendered especially creditable work are: Will Alford, Dwight Barrell, Bob Cameron, Dan Caouette, Jim FitzPatrick, Rachel Kent, Virginia King, Virginia Pease, Henry Pryor, and Tex Stusilis.

There are many others, of course, who have worked as hard as these students, but the above named are the ones whose work I was most closely connected with and feel personally indebted to.

Sincerely yours,
Bill Treat

Editor, Maine Campus

Dear Editor,

In your last issue of the Maine Campus you or one of your board painted a rather attractive picture of what the Maine Co-ed should expect from Maine men.

Quoting—"Gone are the days of Sir Philip Sidney, when women were considered too delicate even to wade through a mud puddle." Not only do the Co-eds wade through mud puddles, they stand on wet and icy streets hitch-hiking! Can you name another institution in the country where this situation is duplicated?

Girls who frequent such places as the "Chateau" are often seen hitch-hiking. But I doubt very much if the typical sophisticated Maine Co-ed considers herself on the same level as "Chateau" girls.

The situation is becoming serious, not because it spoils the men's chances of getting a ride, but because Maine women are direct representatives of the University. Their actions are seen by practically everyone from all over the State, especially when they expose themselves on the highways.

Quoting your article again: "Yes, it seems as though girls on this campus can say that they have become the full social equal of men."

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

It is very pleasing to have the students join with the alumni and faculty in the drive for a new university library.

The present student body realizes perhaps more than any other group how much a new library building is needed, and though most of the classes now in college will have graduated before building operations commence, the students will take pleasure and satisfaction in the fact that they have contributed to a great cause.

The combined drive of students, faculty, alumni, and friends of the University toward a common objective will be of lasting benefit in fostering the spirit of the University.

NOTICE

Several students and members of the Department of History and Government are cooperating with the Maine League of Women Voters in its series of weekly broadcasts. On February 16, William Treat, a senior major in Government and Economics, was the speaker on the subject "Maine Taxes." The paper was written by Professor Edward F. Dow. The talk of February 23 was written by Mr. Lawrence L. Pelletier and delivered by F. Clark Thurston, a senior majoring in English. The title was "The Amending Process of the Federal Constitution." The broadcasts are given at 11:00 a.m. from the Bangor studio of WLBB and last for 15 minutes.

Miss Alma Fifield, a junior majoring in History and Government, will write and deliver a talk on "The Duties of New Voters." The date of Miss Fifield's talk is March 15.

Ted Strain, Michigan State College basketball player, has been nicknamed "Nervous."—(A.C.P.)

Res Politicae

By Edwin Young

Among columnists it is a common practice to have guest writers present their viewpoints or to allow the regular columnist time to vacation in Florida. Starting this week from time to time this column will be written by guest writers.

This week's guest columnist is MARTIN SCHER, a technology student in class of '42.

Byron Darnton, in an article in the New York Times tells of the influx of migrant workers into California. "Spring is coming to California.... and... is bringing with it an increase in the flow of migrants into a land where they seek, but will not find milk and honey." Between June and December of last year 44,174 of them entered the state. This year, according to reports from State Department of Agriculture border stations, they are coming in twice as fast as last year.

Because of the fact that there is little need for them in the economy of the state, and because of seasonal employment and low wages, the conditions of the "Okies" are very bad. Not only are their living conditions poor, but, the author says, "there have been numerous instances in which their civil liberties have been trampled underfoot."

This treatment of the migrant workers lends credence to the belief held by many people that social and political democracy cannot be achieved until economic democracy is an established fact. In these days of talk about helping the various belligerents in Europe, it might be well to clean up our own back yard first.

It seems as though the Allies are taking advantage of the fact that many people in this country only read the headlines. According to reports from Washington and Puerto Rico sources, there seems to be little truth in the report that the British liner Southgate was attacked by a submarine. Searching planes report her in no apparent danger and Naval sources state that no American subs were in the immediate vicinity of the purported attack. This technique is vaguely reminiscent of the submarine scares in the United States preceding the last war.

Several interesting things have been disclosed at the hearings of the National Labor Relations Board which is investigating the alleged unfair labor practices of the Ford Motor Company, coercion of workers, wire tapping, and beatings of union organizers and a C.I.O. attorney were disclosed by witnesses. One witness told of a plan to break up a meeting in a public park. His task was to see that the sound equipment used at the meeting was confiscated, while another squad was to get the women and the children out of the way preparatory to tarring and feathering the speaker. How considerate of them to get the women and the children out of the way!

The communists policy of boring from within was aptly illustrated recently. A United Press report tells of a school down south at which 250 students went on strike for the right to hold hands with the co-eds. After the strike was broken and five of the ringleaders expelled, the president of the school issued the following statement: "This is one institution where the faculty will not brook bolshevism." There must be a lot of bolsheviks on this campus then!

Sixteen Receive "A" Semester Averages

Sixteen students earned a four-point average for the fall semester, Registrar J. A. Gannett announced recently.

Of the sixteen receiving an all 'A' average, seven were from the College of Arts and Sciences, five from the College of Technology, three from the College of Agriculture, and one was a special student. Of this group five were sophomores, nine were juniors, and there was one senior.

The list consists of: Edwin M. Seabury, special; Frank E. Brewster, '42; Corinne L. Comstock, '41; James S. Condon, '41; Carlton S. Herrick, Jr., '42; Edward L. Kozicky, '41; Ruth E. Loring, '42; Bernard Lown, '42; Robert S. McDonald, '41; Alfred A. Mann, '41; Alvalene M. Pierson, '40; Ernestine K. Pinkham, '41; Edgar T. Pitts, '42; Virgil S. Pratt, '41; Catharine M. Ward, '41; and James O. Williams, '41.

There will be a compulsory meeting of all non-sorority women on Monday, March 11, at 15 Coburn Hall. At this time a representative to the nominating committee for W.A.A. Council will be elected.

Hello, folks... Lots of folks have been helping us out this week with their contributions... Both to the Library campaign and to our daily paper... Have you pledged yet??? Better hurry and go along with the rest of your fellow students—One more day to pledge—Take advantage of it...

S.A.E. seems quite popular at the Maple. Looks like Marge has settled down for the time being... Congratulations to Nancy Philbrook and Bob Hamilton... If anybody wants to win Polly Reilly's heart just give her a can of peanut butter... Dot Webby thinks Bill is pretty swell and of course there is Bud, too... Betty Walker can't seem to make up her mind... These freshmen certainly do believe in safety in number...

Certainly was a surprise to see Esther Drummond and Gimmy Jewett at Penny Carnival stag... Back of the Memorial Gym still gets the top position for attractiveness to parkers... Jack Houghton has his car down here now... Quoting Frannie Schmidt, "Old Town just can't get along without me"... According to some of our early morning risers on Saturday morning—"The best looking group of fellows on campus are in the advanced military class"—Strut your stuff, boys...

Marcia McCarthy didn't seem to appreciate Stan's haircut at all... It certainly is too bad that a mere woman can get a big football hero like Roger Stearns cooing baby talk—And over the telephone—"Who isum oo's babykins Rogie Woggie??" "Speaking of Roger Stearns; there's a freshman by that name who got himself married last month—Congratulations."

To supply a long-felt need for an adequate work in English on the famous French dramatist, Jean Racine, Mr. Clark has undertaken to fill this gap with a study that gives us an extremely comprehensive view of the subject. His aims are fourfold: (1) to sketch the artistic and social backgrounds that explain Racine's life and work, (2) to provide an up-to-date biography of the poet, (3) to attempt a critical analysis and estimate of his plays, (4) to offer an anthology of the more striking passages from these plays.

Although the greater part of the readers of this book will be those who are acquainted with the French language and literature, the average cultivated reader will find in it material to satisfy his curiosity about foreign literature and about a man who occupies one of the foremost niches among the world's tragic dramatists.

The average conception of classical drama is that of drama bereft of all human appeal due to autocratic imposition of discipline and regulations. However, these rules evolved as a solution to a crisis in which the French drama found itself—a crisis that involved ridding the theatre of medieval confusion and enlisting the support of a new rationalistic society. Classical drama deserves this appellation because "it portrays man's universal fate in terms that can be rendered by each age in its own symbols." The very restrictions that some disdain are responsible for the most characteristic trait of French tragedy—the aspect of pure drama—the elimination of everything that is not the essential drama to produce simple, denuded dramatic tension.

Racine's role in the development of French classical drama was to rejuvenate it after Corneille lost public favor. His role takes on a broader significance, however, when we realize that he also revolutionized the content of drama by introducing "amour-passion" which has since remained the favorite subject of European dramatists.

Better than any other French writer, Racine has represented the two predominant strains of French genius—the passions of the flesh and the passion of the spirit. His achievement is more unique even in his combination of passionateness of content with discipline of form.

CAMPUS CHATTER

The summerlike weather that's with us today reminds us of our last summer in New York. It was so awfully hot that every night without fail my pal and I would buy a newspaper and some penny candy; then go to an air-conditioned restaurant, order ice cream, and spend the evening there—reading, eating, and waiting for winter to come.

Just in case University of Maine students don't know—there's an eleventh commandment—"thou shalt not cut." This, of course, refers to classes—not throats.

We're all so busy with the library campaign that, ironically enough, we think we should be excused this week from spending time at the present libe—if you know what we mean!

One of the seminars in the Arts and Sciences Department has adopted for its general topic—"War." All the students are writing papers on some phase of it—the refugee problem, the moral, cultural, religious effects of war, or something like that. One of the enrolled, regardless of the topic, decided he would do his study on "The Slums." Obviously it had nothing to do with war. The professor was quite facetious. He suggested the paper be called "War on the Slums."

We hate to say anything, but a few students around the campus appear to have signmania (first cousin to Klepto) to such an extent that the poster department is getting all tired out. The pay-off came when the thirty-seven-foot Penny Carnival sign strung across the street in front of the bookstore "took a walk." We thought that was a dirty trick. Why don't people pick on things their own size? But, seriously, we thought college was the place for adults—not babies.

This really happened! A married woman of about fifty, looking her age, dropped into a small drug store near our house—a store where the salesmanship is something powerful. The woman picked up a magazine and started to pay the proprietor. "Why, Mrs. So-and-So," he said, "how do you retain your youth?" Mrs. So-and-So knew the owner. "After all, I'm only going to buy a magazine." We laughed—we don't get any compliments when we buy our five-cent ice cream cones.

Two more weeks to vacation. Ain't it wonderful?

Maurice H. Whitten and Lawrence Kelley have been elected presidents of Phi Eta Kappa and Phi Mu Delta social fraternities respectively. Whitten, a former Sophomore Owl, is a member of the varsity basketball and baseball squads and has participated extensively in other extracurricular activities. He succeeds Donald Smith as house president.

Kelley was treasurer of Intramural Athletic Association, chairman of Soph Hop, and is business manager of the Prism.

Bears Lose to Bates; Injuries, Travel Puts Team at Disadvantage

Bennett Sets Meet
Record; Smith High,
Winning Two Races

By Paul Ehrenfried

The Maine varsity track team lost to the Bates track team, 63 1/3 to 53 2/3, in a meet at Lewiston, Saturday, March 2. Extenuating circumstances similar to those causing the loss to New Hampshire were responsible for the defeat. Stan Phillips' injury and the poor condition of some of the men lessened the power of the Maine team.

Bob Bennett set a new meet record in the 35 pound weight throw with a toss of 56 feet 3 3/4 inches. Don Smith was high scorer for Maine, winning the mile and 1000 yard runs.

Atwood won the broad jump, Gilman won the 45 yard high hurdles, and Rich won the pole vault. Sigbee was high scorer for Bates, winning both the 16 pound shot put and the 40 yard dash. Atwood was also third in the 40 yard dash and second in the 300 yard dash.

Exams, rushing, the winter carnival, and the great number of other activities which have just recently taken place have prevented many of the men from getting a sufficient amount of practice.

David Astor Resigns Sports Editorship

David Astor, sports editor of the Campus, has resigned from this position due to the pressure of outside activities, according to an announcement by Charles A. Peirce, editor-in-chief.

Astor, a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, participated in freshman athletics and has played junior varsity football. He is a member of the Pale Blue Key and is sports editor of the forthcoming Prism.

Robert Willets has been named acting sports editor. Willets is a junior in the College of Agriculture

Pale Blue Ski Team Retains State Title

Curtis Men Continue
With Class A Rating

The University of Maine ski team has remained undefeated in all but national competition during the past season. A sixth place in the I.S.U. meet enabled the Pale Blue to retain their coveted class A rating which they gained last year. Also by defeating Bates, in a separate meet, and by successfully defending their State title in the Bridgton meet, Maine has continued to dominate the Intercollegiate ski events in this state.

In the I.S.U. meet, held February 23 and 24, Maine climbed in the second day from ninth place to sixth. In this meet the finest skiers from Canada and the United States competed. The Maine team as a whole did well, and John Bower in particular was acclaimed a star.

At Bridgton the Black Bears successfully defended their State Ski championship when they beat out their nearest contender, Bates, in the last day of the meet, February 17. The high point of this meet was when John Bower, Charlie Adams, Bill Chandler, and Walt Strang took the first four places in the Cross Country. This together with the other commendable performances gave Maine the first six places in the combined. This was the tenth consecutive year that Maine ski teams have been victorious in the meet.

In the Bates meet held in conjunction with the Bates Winter Carnival the Pale Blue swamped the Garnets, allowing them only four places out of a possible sixteen. The outstanding performance of this meet was when the Maine men turned in a perfect score in the slalom.

With the exception of the varsity and freshman track meets this weekend, the winter athletic season is over. And an interesting season it has been, too. The varsity basketball team lost games but is still a championship team; the freshmen lost a one-pointer to wreck a perfect season; the varsity track team lost a good dashman, much to the material benefit of the opposition; and once in awhile the frosh dropped a few points here and there.

On the other hand, this was Maine's turn on the vicious athletic circle to have mediocre seasons and to build. In the latter vein we may term this season successful and look with a confident eye to next year. In basketball, Wilson, Curtis, and Roberts will be lost. However, Small, Tracy, Arbor, Leger, Whitten, Crowley, and Downes will all be back. Besides these, there are the members of Coach Sam Szek's great frosh club, many of whom are expected to aid Coach Bill Kenyon considerably.

This year in track we will lose Don Smith, probably the greatest track man ever to wear the Pale Blue. This, of course, will make a big dent in the varsity track squad. Besides Smith, Atwood, Stan Johnson, and Rich will be among the missing. Johnson's sure points in the weights will be sorely missed, as will the consistent point collecting of Atwood and Rich. All this might herald the entrance of a funeral march—but there is a brighter side. Stan Phillips and Howie Ehrlbach have made the grade this year. Gilman, Ingraham, Graham, and Kelso will all be back, supplemented by the return of Blaisdell. In the weights we have Jake Serota, Herb Johnson, and Lefty Bennett. Serota has been improving each week in the hammer and is expected to fill Johnson's shoes. Herb Johnson and Bennett are record holders and anything said about them would be mere repetition. And, dear readers, do not forget that freshman team. Last but not least, as long as we have Coach Chester Jenkins, great trackmen will continue to be developed.

With the support and addition of the freshman teams supplementing the holdovers, we prophesy that next year will be a great year in varsity basketball and track.

This year has proved its worth and has done its service. As long as the teams have done their jobs to the best of their abilities, what more can we ask?

Things 'n' stuff... This week Things 'n' stuff will be different. We have been told many times that the most interesting part of this column has been the last paragraph. It has also been the most fun to write. Therefore it is fitting we believe, to write the following in this manner. All this year "we" has been the pronoun used when regarding this column. Today "we" will be changed to "I," for I have tendered my resignation as your sports editor. As much as I like the position and the pleasure of writing this column for you, pressure of other activities forces me to resign.

When I took office last spring, Bear Facts said that a policy of frankness and constructive criticism would be followed. In you measures the amount of the success attained. This column has tried to keep the students informed and to criticize, through writing or in unofficial visits to the athletic department, things that needed criticism. I want to thank the many of you who offered helpful hints and advice concerning the betterment of Bear Facts, and to the athletic department for its continual co-operation. To every one of you a big Bear Hug.

So, if you'll pardon the sentiment, this is Dave Astor with a sincere tear and a sigh bidding you all good luck and goodbye.

Thanks, Dave, for the fine sports page and column you have prepared so well this year. Although we are sorry to lose you now, we wish you the best of luck in your new undertaking. The Campus' loss is the Press Herald's gain.

Bennett Acclaimed Champion As He Annexes 35-Pound Weight Title In National IC4A Meet

Boxers Battle March 20

The pugilists of the University of Maine will hold the spotlight on the night of March 20, when they hold their Intramural bouts in the Memorial Gymnasium. These bouts are open to the public, and, as all the contenders are in good condition, they ought to put on a night full of good scraps.

Five weight divisions will be represented when the boxers throw their punches in the 126, 135, 147, 160, and 170 pound divisions. These fights, and there will be about 17 of them, consist of three two-minute rounds with a minute rest between rounds. All in all there will be nearly twenty-five fighters, with those who survive the eliminations coming back for more. At the fast rate at which the fights will be run off the onlooker will see new fighters every time he shifts in his seat.

Hardison and Wight represent the 126 pounders. In the 135 pound class the probable men will be Abbott, Crossland, Hancock, McLaughlin, Perry, and Larsen. The members of the 147 pound class are Ebbett, Ward, and Patterson.

Bacon, Martland, Viles, Dudley, and Hartley will fight in the 160 pound division; Ford and Gabrielian will hold down the heavyweight division.

There may be contenders in the 118 pound class (there are none so far) as well as additions to the other divisions, but as of this writing the foregoing fighters will be punching and ducking when the bell rings for the Intramural Boxing Meet.

Frosh Expected To Continue Victorious In Thornton Meet

Thornton Academy will be the last team to face the undefeated frosh in indoor track this season. Saturday night at 7 p.m. is the time of this attempt to inflict loss on the yearlings at the Field House.

Thornton is not expected to offer much resistance, although they may threaten in a few events like the broad jump, high jump, dashes, and the vault. This meet will give the coach a chance to shift a few men into new positions.

"The team will run about the same events, and unless someone catches cold, there will be no great changes," says Coach Chester Jenkins. He adds that in the 600 yard run he might try the record breaker of the 1000, Jack Creamer. Because of other important activities, Dick Martinez will probably do no more than try to place this week. Other than that the Coach does not know as yet what others he will shift. The end of the week will find his plans all set for another overpowering frosh victory.

As the changes are unknown, the present men in the events are the same as of old; Leonard, Radley, and Sinkinson in the dashes; Stewart, Estabrooke, and Creamer in the middle distances; and Moody, Martinez, and Hamm in the longer running events.

In the weights there are Weisman, Dodge, and Harding; Hadlock in the broad jump and high hurdles; Brady in the broad jump and high jump; and Gildersleeve working in the vaults.

Mrs. Mary Crandon, instructor in English, spoke on "Humor in Literature" at the meeting of the Women's Forum held February 28 at Balentine sun parlor. A discussion followed the talk. Mary Cooper, president of Women's Forum, was in charge of the meeting.

Maine Rifle Team Improves

Showing signs of recovery from their recent slump, the Maine trigger squeezers turned in an improved team score of 3692 for the past week. Ten men fired the following scores:

Jimmy McCain, 375; C. P. Dow, 373; McClure Day, 372; Paul Galentine, 370; C. B. Smith, 370; Harry Peavey, 369; Bob Dodge, 369; Harold Whitely, 367; Robert Norton, 366; and Eben Leavitt, 361. All these scores were out of a possible 400 and were made from four positions.

This score produced victories over Kansas State, University of Kansas, Missouri School of Mines and a loss to Ohio State. The varsity team scored a victory over the University of Wyoming, 1378 to 1356. Men on the team were McCain, Dow, Day, Peavey and Smith.

The frosh team of five (Dodge, Whitely, Norton, Leavitt, and Phil Plaisted) fired against the Louisiana State frosh. The Maine yearlings had not lost a meet this year and are expected to come through on this match when the scores come in.

The squad record to date is 55 matches, with 49 victories and 6 losses.

Kenyon Issues First Call for Baseball

Coach Bill Kenyon issued his first call for varsity batterymen last Wednesday and got a large turnout. According to Kenyon his major difficulty this year will probably be in finding suitable hurlers. "I'll find one even if I have to call out our co-eds to do it," he said.

The three men who did the bulk of the hurling last year, Bud Browne, Ken Clark, and Art Chick, have graduated. Al Mann was called upon to do some pitching at times and showed promise but lacked experience. Others who will bear watching are Lefty Holmes, Mac Roberts, Lefty Chase, and last year's frosh ace, Ed Dangler.

The leading backstop candidates are Hal Anderson, Fred Bucklin, and Al Adams. Several members of last year's freshman team also give indication of seeing service.

Maine Cindermen To Meet Northeastern

A strong Northeastern track team comes here to meet the Maine track team Saturday, March 9, in the field house. Northeastern has already beaten Bates, so it appears that the Maine team will have a battle on its hands.

Northeastern has at least one strong man in every event. It has two fast sprinters in Caswell and Chipkin, and a good hurdler in Shanker.

Mascianica, Massachusetts schoolboy champion in the 600, will be running in that event for Northeastern. Lockery and Drevitch are strong men in the 1000, while Gallant has turned in good performances in the mile. Prohudski and Carpenter are outstanding in the two mile event.

Field has done six feet in the high jump, and Coleman has done well in both the high jump and the pole vault. Wren is an all-round star, competing in the shot put, hammer, and broad jump.

Ten freshmen were chosen to serve on their class banquet and executive committees, Dean Lamert S. Corbett announced today. Those who are on the banquet committee are: Marie Rourke, chairman, Evelyn Tondreau, Talbot Crane, Millard Boss, and Albion Fenderson.

Those who were chosen for the executive committees are as follows: Charles Pfeiffer, chairman; Edward Robinson, Rita Cassidy, Margaret Church, and Frank Haines.

The Yanks are not coming.

Perkins Is 2nd As Johnson Scores Third

Husky Bob Bennett, ace University of Maine weight man, continued his record-breaking season by annexing the IC4A 35 pound weight crown on Saturday, March 2, at Madison Square Garden in New York City. Bennett, after several fine tosses, hurled the iron ball 57 ft. 4 1/2 ins. to better the throws of Niles Perkins, Bowdoin College, star and his teammate, Stan Johnson. In winning he came within inches of smashing the record distance for the event, 57 ft. 9 ins., held by Hank Dreyer, of Rhode Island State. Perkins' throw of 56 ft. 11 1/2 ins. barely nosed out Johnson, whose best effort was 56 ft. 10 3/4 ins.

The win for Bennett marked the second time that the Maine junior had swung himself into the national track spotlight. Last year the 190-pound athlete captured the A.A.U. hammer-throwing championship in nation-wide competition against the best men in the country. Bennett also made a throw of over 58 feet but fouled in doing so, while one of Johnson's best tries was also disqualified for the same reason.

The victory of these two Pale Blue luminaries is indeed pleasing to Maine track followers, as it presages strength in the approaching State Meet. Thus far the Bears have proven exceptionally strong in the weight events, especially the 35 pound event and the discus. Both Bennett and Johnson appear to be in top form this year, while Jake Serota is also a vastly improved performer in this event. Serota's showing in the Bates meet was very pleasing both to Coach Jenkins and the Maine fans, and Jake is expected to play an important part in future contests.

Coburn, Higgins Picked In Prep School Tilts

The annual Prep School basketball tournament will be held in the alumni gymnasium Friday night and Saturday afternoon. According to the records this should be an interesting tournament with Coburn and Higgins fighting it out for the top honors.

Friday Hebron and Coburn are slated to meet at 7:30 with Kents Hill and Higgins following at 8:30. The playoffs will consist of a consolation game at 1:00 and the finals at 2:00 Saturday afternoon.

Maine Well Drillers Hold Meeting Here

A meeting of the Maine Well Drillers' Association was held Saturday, March 2, on campus. R. E. Tracy, of Brewer, president of the association, presided.

Following Dean Paul Cloke's greetings, a lecture was given by Prof. E. F. Bennett on soils pertaining to well drilling. J. M. Trefethen discussed geological aspects of well drilling. There was an inspection tour of the soils mechanics and geology laboratories after the lectures.

Dinner was served to those attending the meeting in the north dining room of Hannibal Hamlin Hall. After dinner Mr. R. D. Bruder spoke on water systems and pumps.

Arrangements for the program have been carried out by Prof. Earl F. Bennett. The College of Technology sponsored the meeting.

NOTICE

All of those students who missed any of their Freshman Week tests, with the exception of the senior class, made up those tests this week. Those who took the tests included freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and transfer students.

The scores made by the students will give some definite measure of their ability, and thus will help to assure proper guidance through their college careers.

Examinations were given in the following subjects: French, Algebra, Social Studies, English, Reading, and American Council.

The College 4-H Club will broadcast a program over station WABI Saturday afternoon, March 9, at 1:30. This broadcast will be one in the series of programs that are being presented by the Penobscot County 4-H Clubs.

Those who participate from the College Club are J. Alice Smith '41, Miriam Brown '41, Stanley Gates '40, Edwin Potter '40, and Harlan Rowe '42.

know little of true joy and happiness. He is aided toward this end by his use of symbolism, something which is used to a great extent by contemporary dramatists, particularly Eugene O'Neill, who is a pioneer in this field of dramatic expression.

The play is both humorous and sad, and is especially scathing in its attack on the pettiness of human nature. As the reviewer for the New York Times said, "Mr. Wilder has transmuted the simple events of a human life into universal reverie. He has given it a profound, strange, unworldly significance—brimming over with compassion.... A hauntingly beautiful play."

Wetherbee Directs

The production is being directed by William H. Wetherbee, new instructor in the drama department this year, who also staged "Accent on Youth." He is taking the place of Prof. Herschel Bricker, regular Masque director, who is just recovering from a serious illness. The play "Our Town" is replacing the production of "Hamlet" which was postponed until next year because of Prof. Bricker's illness.

There is no doubt but that "Our Town" will add to the Maine Masque's already large list of notable productions. In presenting "Our Town," the Masque is trying, as usual, to bring to this section of Maine one of the finer bits of drama which are not

Student Pledges
