All To Sign Up For Maine Day

Faculty Skit, Games, 13 Projects Planned

Cleanup projects and a program of fun were lined up this week as the Maine Day committee announced plans for a gala Saturday on May 13. All students will have an opportunity in classes on Monday to sign up for the projects on which they would like to work.

This year's Maine Day will not be the Maine Day of old, but will nevertheless provide a full day of fun replete with picnic, games, and entertainment. Traditional Maine Day included a mayoralty campaign, by campus comics, fraternity electioneering and competition, parades, bonfires, the cleanup, and other events which are included this year.

The big feature of past Maine Days has been the faculty show in the evening. Another of these notable performances is now under rehearsal and rumor has it that such characters as Bricker and Hauck, Cassidy and Selwood, are cooking up a savory stew. Ruth Higgins is in charge of the student end of the evening.

Proceedings will start Saturday morning with a Parade to Projects. Assignment of workers to each job will be announced in next week's Campus. Students should select the projects they like best from the following list when they sign up in classes.

The projects and student leaders for each are: raking the campus, Elizabeth Furbish; sweeping roads, Joe Nadeau; hoeing shrub beds, Helen Clifford; dump and armory, Nicholas Dieninger; football field, Helen Stacy; cleaning grounds at cabins, Charles Piddicks; raking lawns—SAE to Lamba Chi—Roger Hanneman; Elms, Ruth Stearns; tree planting, Ben Romanow; seeding lawn corners, Bob Graves; picnic area behind Estabrooke, Sam Stuart; tree cutting, Roy Moore; tools, George Hansen.

It is expected that a picnic lunch at noon will wind up the work for the day. In the afternoon the University of Maine baseball team encounters New Hampshire on the varsity diamond. A softball game between boys and girls is also planned with Ruth Hansen in charge.

Repair Contract For Hannibal Awarded

The trustees of the University have awarded a contract to the T. W. Cunningham Company, Inc., for repairing the damage done in Hannibal Hamlin by fire. The north section of the building will not be rebuilt. The contract calls for facing the present north wall, installing smoke screens on the stairways, and fire doors.

The trustees of the University have also authorized the installation of sprinkler systems in Hannibal Hamlin Hall, Balentine Hall, Colvin Hall, the Elms, and North Hall.

Masque To Present New Show May 20

The Little Theatre is buzzing with activity preparing for the first legitimate play of the season, "There's Always Juliet." May 20th is the big day. At present the stage craft class (99% female) is putting up the set as its practical problem. This is something new for the Masque and is proving to be as successful as its other recent ventures along the entertainment line.

Doris Bell, president, Therese Dumais, vice president, Mary Frances Spangler, secretary, and Lala Jones, treasurer, are the new women's Student Government officers installed yesterday morning at the women's assembly. Mrs. Ethel Mary Wood, a prominent English woman connected with British wartime industry, was the guest speaker.

Prism Ready In May; Records War Change On U of M Campus

In spite of several handicaps, including a shortage of materials, the 1945 Prism will be ready for distribution some time next month, it was announced today.

The subscription list is high despite the smaller number of students on the campus. Many are from boys in the armed services, former students here, who mailed in their subscriptions from all parts of the country. Several members of the ASTU have also subscribed, so the Prism will find its way all over the land this year.

The content of the Prism will be much the same as in previous years, although on a smaller scale. The section on athletics is of necessity smaller, but it has been replaced by several pages of the Army Specialized Training Program at Maine. Class officers, departmental clubs, student organizations, honorary societies, and junior and senior class pictures will be included. The informal snapshot section includes ten pages of snapshots passed in by students or taken by the Prism photographers.

Of special interest will be pictures of the North Hannibal Hamlin fire, some of which were taken as the fire progressed.

The Prism staff believes that in spite of the difficulties under which its members worked, it was worth it. History is recorded at the University of Maine in its yearbooks, and the changes and innovations which have been made at the University during the past two or three years find themselves in pictorial review in the Prism. This year particularly has brought a continual succession of changes.

If there is anyone who has not yet ordered a Prism and would like to, please place your order with any member of the Prism staff, or mail your subscription to: Subscriptions Manager, Prism, Box 52, University of Maine. The cost is four dollars.

Higgins Business Manager In Campus Staff Elections

Barbara Higgins was elected business manager of the Campus at the annual staff elections held on Friday, April 28.

Other business staff members elected at the same time were Mary O'Connor, advertising manager; Nancy Chase, circulation manager; and Jeanne Staples, subscription manager.

Those elected to positions on the editorial staff were Charlene Lowe, makeup editor; Norma Herzing and Marie Haines, associate editors; Val Parkin, news editor; and Bob Krause, sports editor.

Miss Higgins is a junior home economics major, a member of Alpha Omicron Pi and Sigma Mu Sigma, and editor-in-chief of the Prism.

Miss O'Connor, who has held the same position on the business staff for the past year, is a junior zoology major, a dean's list student, a member of Deutscher Verein and Chi Omega sorority.

Miss Chase, a freshman in home economics and a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, has been serving as acting circulation manager.

Miss Staples, a junior psychology major and a Delta Delta Delta sorority member, has been serving as assistant manager on the business staff.

Miss Lowe, a sophomore in arts and

6 Seniors, 9 Juniors May Wear Seals

Six senior and nine junior women were honored last night by election to membership in the All-Maine Women Society, highest non-scholastic honor accorded to women students at the University of Maine. Elected to become an honorary member of the society was Mrs. Maybelle Brown of Waterville.

New students elected to membership are: seniors: Esther Holden, Arletta Thorpe, Arabelle Hodges, Isabel Ansell, Gwen Cushing, and Ruth Higgins; juniors: Connie Carter, Ruth Hansen, Barbara Higgins, Barbara Atherton, Betty Perkins, Doris Bell, Loraine Davis, Geraldine MacBurnie, and Florence Armstrong.

President Arthur A. Hauck was the guest speaker of the evening. His talk, "Impressions of Britain in Wartime," was based on his experiences in Great Britain last summer. Dean Edith G. Wilson gave the welcoming address, and Esther Randall, president of this year's All-Maine Women, acted as toastmistress. Student speakers on the program were Therese Dumais for the sophomores, Constance Carter for the juniors, and Gwen Cushing for the seniors. These girls built their talks around the theme of "The College in Transition."

Esther Holden, a psychology major, has served this year as president of Alpha Omicron Pi. Arletta Thorpe, also a psychology major, has served this year as president of Delta Delta Delta. Arabelle Hodges, a zoology

Burgman Speaker At Sigma Xi Banquet

Sigma Xi, an honorary research society, is having its annual banquet on Friday evening, May 12, in 15 Coburn Hall. Following the banquet, there will be a lecture to which students and public are invited.

Dr. Werner Burgman of the Chemistry Dept. at Yale will be the guest speaker, discussing the subject of "Chemolactic Substances." He will talk about recent discoveries in which chemical substances influence the movement of living organisms. One interesting discovery found was that when a fish became alarmed, it secreted a chemical substance which is a warning agent and causes alarm in other fish. This discovery has been made practicable in that the secreted substance can be used in life preservers to frighten sharks away.

Dr. Burgman was called to Yale in 1931 and has been there ever since. He has worked mainly on the chemistry of silk, the tuberculosis bacteria, and chemical products isolated from marine animals and insects.

Watie Akins To Play At Maine Hop, May 12

Tickets for the Maine Hop, semi-formal dance on Friday, May 12, went on sale this week, according to Bob Smyth, chairman of the Men's Senate committee.

Watie Akins and his orchestra will play for the dance, which will be held in Alumni Gymnasium.

Tickets may be secured from Bob Smyth, Bob Graves, John Dickerson, Joe Courtney, Irving Hamilton, Bud Nossiter, John Bragg, and Sam Collins.

Speed Up Courses For Tech Seniors

Because a number of Maine engineering students would not ordinarily graduate until September, 1944, the college of technology has made arrangements for them to take extra work during the spring term and an additional five weeks in June in order to comply with the recent Selective Service order, which states that male college students will no longer be deferred after July 1, 1944.

Upon completion of this concentrated program, the technology students will receive their degrees. Draft boards have been notified of this procedure so that these men will be given the greatest possible opportunity to graduate before being called in the draft.

Wright To Speak Recognition Day

Scholarship Recognition Day assembly will be held Thursday morning, May 11, in the Memorial Gym from 9:30 to 10:30, with Prof. Edwin M. Wright, head of the English department at Bates College, as the speaker, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Milton Ellis, program chairman.

President Hauck will preside at the assembly, announcing the honor students, scholarship awards, and prizes. The seniors will wear caps and gowns.

The committee for Scholarship Recognition Day will be Rena Ashman, Phi Kappa Phi; Samuel W. Collins, Jr., Phi Beta Kappa; Philip Cope, Tau Beta Pi; Arlene Royal, Kappa Delta Pi; and Esther Randall, Omicron Nu.

Wanted--Spring Cleaners...

May 13 will bring the dawn of Maine Day, one of the few traditional dates that the University of Maine can still observe this year. With it comes the chance for all of us to get together and have fun while we work to beautify the campus.

This is the time that work is turned into play for a day—when willing hands make light work of difficult and otherwise unpleasant tasks. The faculty climb into faded overalls and baggy slacks along with the students. President Hauck gets his usual assignment—the dump. Groups are gathered from the various dorms and houses all over campus in the Parade to Projects, and they go trudging off shouldering rakes, shovels, and hoes—ready to tackle any job that needs to be done.

In past years on Maine Day, the air has been filled with the soap-box orations of candidates for "Mayor of the Campus." Glee-filled onlookers followed the antics of the silk-hatted speakers. Remember our last Mayor, Don (Bucket) Taverner—the red-headed whirlwind with the big grin? This year there will be no election such as this, but there will be a rollicking good time in store for everyone.

Novel plans are under way for a big afternoon and evening of fun and frolic. A baseball game with New Hampshire, softball games between boys and girls, skits, dance numbers, variety shows, and a faculty skit with Prexy Hauck playing the lead role, promise a swell time for everyone.

Bud Leonard '43, in his recent letter to the gang on campus, sums up one of the major reasons for doing our bit to make the campus beautiful as only this campus can be: "Seriously, though, newcomers, I hope that when this fuss is over I'll be able to come back to Maine and see the campus as I left it. I know Carroll Dempsey was short of help last year, and those lawns will just have to take care of themselves, so take it easy because I'll be back." Bud speaks for the large number of alumni who will be returning to the campus after the war—who will want to see the campus as lovely as they left it.

Let's all pitch in next Saturday and make spring housecleaning at the University of Maine a really worthwhile project. Today is sign-up day. How about it?

Contributor's Club To Hold Initiation

Mrs. George W. Sanderlin was guest speaker and critic at a meeting of the Contributors' Club, Tuesday evening, May 2, in the Balentine Sun Parlor. A professional writer, Mrs. Sanderlin has had articles and stories published in such magazines as Parents' Magazine, Baby Talk, Jack and Jill, and others.

Following the regular business meeting, stories contributed by Helen Clifford, Doris Gooch, Frances Higgins and Ruth Troland were read and criticized.

The next meeting of the Contributors' Club will be held Tuesday, May 16, in the Balentine Sun Parlor. A social program will follow the initiation of new members.

Freshman Banquet To Be Held May 10

The annual Freshman-Sophomore Banquet will be held Wednesday, May 10, at 6 o'clock in Estabrooke Hall, when the new Eagles will be tapped and the ten new members of Neai Mathetai will be announced.

The charge to campus women is 30¢; to off-campus women, 85¢.

The Bangor Symphony Orchestra presented its annual program of concert music at the student assembly yesterday in the Memorial Gymnasium.

President Hauck introduced the program after a brief memorial tribute to the late Acting Dean Rising L. Morrow.

Now that spring is here, and May is here, and mayflowers are here, take notice! That charming spring flower, the trailing arbutus, commonly known as the mayflower, has been the corsage of many a Maine coed this week. Girls appear with bunches of the fragrant flowers, grasped roots and all, in a lovely fist. Here's the rub—flowers pulled out by the roots don't grow again for next year's coeds. Leave the roots on the cross country track, and bring the mayflowers home.

POLITICAL SCENE

By Elbridge Burton Davis

"Out here we are doing what we can with what we have." Thus wrote General Douglas MacArthur a short time ago in reply to a letter from a Nebraska Congressman who had attempted to smoke out the Hero of Bataan on his presidential intentions. The General had a number of other things to say, which at the time were construed by some to mean that he was receptive to a "draft" movement in his behalf.

However, last Sunday he issued another statement in which he stated that he was not seeking the G. O. P. presidential nomination and that he would not accept it if it were offered him. In this sweeping statement the General accused the persons who had hinted broadly that he was angling for the nomination of placing a "sinister interpretation" on his communications and indicated clearly that his present attitude is summed up by the terse sentence quoted at the beginning of this article.

Now that MacArthur has definitely eliminated himself from the race the political soothsayers are unanimous in pointing to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, as the next Republican nominee. And, as the weeks go by, the Dewey juggernaut rolls on adding more and more delegates to his ever growing list.

But, over on the Democratic side, rumors still persist that the President may not run again. This may be largely wishful and wishful thinking on the part of some of the old line Democratic warhorses who would literally give their eyeteeth to get rid of Mr. Roosevelt. Behind the scenes these gentlemen are organizing in hopes that some kind of a shift in popular sentiment might give them an opportunity to launch a third party with strength enough to carry three or four southern states, and syphon off enough regular Democratic votes in the border states to throw these into the Republican column.

James A. Farley, Chairman of the New York State Democratic Committee, and the bitterest and most effective foe that the President has within his own party, is now said to be gathering up all the old pieces of political driftwood he can find, with the intention of hauling them all into the Democratic National Convention and then starting an intraparty bonfire that will hopelessly cripple the New Deal elements backing Mr. Roosevelt. It is a known fact that the Farley forces are strong enough to cause a serious split if they really set about the task energetically.

The political humming bird was lucky enough the other day to pick up a very choice tidbit involving the nation's chief executive. It seems that the little creature changed by the open window of the President's office just as he was conferring with several high officials of the Democratic National Committee. The President, as usual, was puffing away on an unidentified brand of cigarette, and just as the tiny "hummer" flitted by, a strong draft swirled through the window and wafted the light smoke toward the ceiling where (and our feathered denizen is prepared to swear to this on the Gospel) it formed a perfect "F. D. 44."

The traditional Freshman May Day Breakfast will be held Sunday May 7, at Balentine. Joan Ambrose is the general chairman for the breakfast. Also on the committee are Janet Hobbs, table placement; Evie Foster, decorations; Barbara Mills, place cards; Arlene Cleven, entertainment; Priscilla Crosby, food; and Lois Ricker, Barbara McNeil, and Janice Brown, supporting committee.

Footlights And Ether

By Muriel Polley

GI was the order of the day for the Maine Masquers Saturday. An Army truck took them to Dow Field, where they were given their supper in traditional Army style—by standing in the chow line. When the meal was finished, the cast went to the hospital recreation room to present the show. Jim Moore's MC-ing, Jean McKinney's impersonations, Henry Santososso's band, Jim Dana's accordion, and the Maine Minstrels made a big hit with the soldiers, just as they had pleased the audience in the Little Theatre the night before.

Joe Courtney was the witty inter-locutor. The dark lassies were "shy" Cynthia Clark, Sal Phillips, Jean Harvey, Gay "Rugged but Right" Weaver, and Barbara Bond. The lads were Don Mathias, Nick Copadis, Lloyd Freese, and Nick Cherrick, Harlem's own Frank Sinatra. The monologue for the impersonations was written by Cecil Pavey, and the show was directed by Betty Lehman under Prof. Bricker's supervision.

Two scenes from Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness" will be presented Friday at 6:40 in the Little Theatre as the regular weekly show. They will be the barroom and beach scenes. The cast includes Pat O'Keefe as Richard Miller, Cecil Pavey as Muriel, Gloria Redman, Roger Hanneman, and Nat Bartholomaei.

MUSIC BOX CONCERT

Next Wednesday, May 10th, the Northern Conservatory Trio, composed of A. Stanley Cayting, violinist; Virginia Birnie, cellist; and Mary Hayford, pianist, will be the featured attraction of the Music Box Concert. James Selwood, tenor, accompanied by Winfield Richmond, will share the recital.

The program, which will also be given for the Arts Club on Monday, May 8th, includes Beethoven's Trio in E-flat Major, by the Trio; Landon Ronald's A Cycle of Life, by Mr. Selwood; Brahms' Trio in A Major, by the Trio. Mr. Selwood will sing Tosti's Serenade, Pierce's Silence, Edwards' Can This Be Summer, and Head's When I Think upon the Maidens.

The usual recorded concert will be given under the direction of the Music Box Student Committee, and there will be opportunity for requested, recorded numbers. Remember, Wednesday, May 10th, in North Stevens Hall, Room 17.

NOTICE

The Maine Radio Guild will broadcast Joan Greenwood's script, "Romance for a Nickel," over WLBZ Friday, May 5th, at 8:15.

Warm Days Bring Spring Posies And Cotton-Clad Coeds

By Val, Jr., and Val, Sr.

Tennis balls bob against the practice board. Daffodils gently wave toward the sun. Coeds cure their spring fever by lazing on the green, pretending to study through dark glasses. And cool crisp cottons cry "Suddenly it's spring!"

Seen basking on Colvin's front steps, this freshman wore a sherbert-white cotton peppered with red and green flowers. She claims she is encouraging the real gardens to bud in a hurry.

Checkerboard gingham frilled with lots and lots of white eyelets seem to have won the love of many a coed. One dress is tiny red and white checks with demure white lace clinging to its shoulders and down its sleeves.

Another cotton—strictly not classroom edition—is of brown checks with V neck, huge white collar, swingy skirt.

A joyful little miss cooled Sunday afternoon with a two-tone cotton dress. The blouse was creamy brown, the skirt lime green, the sleeves garnished with a mysterious monogram.

Dancing dreamily at Phi Gam a striking brunette scored a home-run all her own in a parsley printed peasant dress.

Jumpers have jumped into the front seat. They are riding high as spring's most practical outfits.

The sun has finally decided to come out of its hiding place, and with it spring in its true form has come, too. It's about time, because here it is the fourth of May. With the drying up of the fields and courts, due to said Old Man Sol, the Maine gals are out every day now perfecting tennis strokes; sharpening up their shooting eyes for archery classes; and socking a softball out in front of Balentine Hall.

The interclass Volleyball Tournament draws to a close this Friday with these few remaining games:

4:20 May 5 Sr.-Frosh
Jr.-Soph

On April 27 the frosh defeated the Sophs by a score of 46-22. The Seniors barely beat the Juniors by 43-42. April 28 saw the Juniors have the upper hand over the Sophs by piling up a score of 67-39. The Frosh were beaten by the Seniors on the same day by 57-51. The Frosh made a comeback by a one-point margin over the Juniors, 34-33. On April 29 the Seniors scamped the Sophs 48-28, and on May Day the ever-winning Seniors won by one point over the Sophs, 56-47. The Frosh again had a one-point margin over the unfortunate "jinxed" Juniors with a score of 45-44. I say unfortunate because this makes the third time the Juniors have lost a game by only one point. Tough luck!

More results of the badminton tournament are: Clifford-McHugh, McHugh, 2-11, 11-2, 11-8; Flagg-Dudley 11-6, 11-1; Bridges-Higgins, Higgins, 11-10, 11-11, 9-11.

There will be a tennis tournament for all girls interested in playing. Sign up posters announcing the date of drawing will be posted in dorms immediately.

Have a "Coke" = A thousand miles is not too far to come

... or being friendly with a Chinese cadet

Chinese flyers here in America for training have found that so simple a phrase as Have a "Coke" speaks friendship in any tongue. East, west, north, south, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the happy bond between people of good will.

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

BEAR FACTS

By Bob Krause

If, by some vague chance, you have saved any of your old Campus then it will not take me to remind you that a couple of pleasant afternoons are in store for May 6 and 10—this coming Saturday and Wednesday to be specific. At these times those of you who would rather do anything than study are cordially invited to watch your University of Maine baseball team play its first two home games against Colby and Bowdoin, respectively. The Saturday contest will start at 2:30 p.m. and the Wednesday tiff at 3:30 p.m. Both battles will be on the diamond behind the indoor field house. At the same time as the ball game, Maine's tennis squad will engage Bowdoin on the courts in back of the Gym.

Just in case you didn't already know, your Black Bear ball club opened its season last Saturday at Waterville in what, at times, resembled a baseball game. On other occasions the struggle looked like anything from a beachhead landing to a May-pole dance. At any rate the Black Bear chewed up the Mule to the tune of 15-6—two touchdowns and a field goal to one touchdown, since the thing also had the aspect of a football game, too. But, before you start betting your turban on the Pale Blue for this Saturday, just remember that the Bear hasn't digested the meal yet. And, it's just possible, Bromo Seltzer may be the order of the day.

Still, all things considered, Maine's "Opening Day" was quite a success. Save for a bad fourth inning, when he tired perceptibly, Johnny Gleason threw himself a very neat seven innings. He was a bit wild now and then, but he had an abundance of "stuff" which he used to excellent advantage when he got himself in trouble with men on base. In the eighth stanza George Doe, another left-hander, took over the mound duties and immediately George "Doe it." (Sorry.) He appeared to have enough speed to blow over the Colby batters, but, instead, he compromised and struck out three men in the last two frames.

Coach Bill Kenyon was pleased by the proceedings, but he was more interested in the opportunity he had to get a line on the players who made the trip. He really got a good look in the second inning, too. At this point George Millay, who spent the afternoon at first base, strode up to the plate, cocked his left foot in the air, and smashed a terrific drive over the center fielder's head. By dint of some running and a good deal of huffing and puffing, George made his way around the bases for the first home run of his own and the 1944 baseball team's career!!

Millay got two other hits, and Sam Stuart and Joe Nadeau also collected two apiece. Dick Ackley, Charlie Norton, and Dan Frazier played good games afield. Kenyon used all fourteen men that he took, but he stated that the battle for positions was still wide open. Those along were catchers Stuart and Frazier; pitchers Hal Parady, Gleason, and Doe; infielders Millay, Nadeau, Captain Norton, Doug Williamson, and Bob Krause; and outfielders Len Korobkin, Nick Johns, Don Fuller, and Ackley. The box score looked like this:

Maine—024 502 200—15
Colby—001 500 000—6

As things look now the return match with the Mule will not be so easy, and the Bear will make sure he doesn't turn his back on the animal. Colby has good men in pitcher Carl Wright, infielders Len Warshaver and Mal Foster, out-fielder Cloyd Aarseth, and last year's all-state first baseman Joe Crozier. Bowdoin, if past records are any judge, will definitely be a tough and growling Polar Bear. They have already had four contests under their belts, and will have had a fifth before coming to Orono. The Brunswickmen have dropped two to Bates, and have stopped Colby and the Brunswick Naval Air Station. Their attack is led by third baseman Bill Silsby and out-fielder Bill Clark, both of basketball fame, along with catcher Mort Page. Standout pitchers are Lloyd Knight and Holden Findlay. The Polar Bear seems to improve with age.

Elsewhere on the sporting scene

Ted Curtis has found himself a track man who appears worthy of the Maine tradition of good runners. He is half-miler Sam Zimmerman from Presque Isle, and Curtis says that Sam will very likely be Maine's sole representative in the N.E.I.C.A.A. meet at Boston on May 13. Concerning tennis it can be said that play for team position is now in progress, but that actual ranking is as indefinite as your next gallon of gas.

Approximately thirty students will take part in the MCA spring retreat at Camp Roosevelt, Eddington. The group will leave the MCA building at 1:00 p.m. Saturday, returning for Sunday Vespers.

Sigma Mu Sigma To Hold Banquet Friday, May 5

Sigma Mu Sigma, honorary psychology fraternity, will have its annual banquet at the Penobscot Country Club at 7 o'clock Friday, May 5.

The dinner will be followed by informal entertainment provided by several members of the group.

Trigger Stone

There's a character who's got a heart like his name. To him a Nip in the trees is a notch in his gun.

Me, I've got the hottest pin-up collection in the Pacific but does it get me anywhere with Trig? No!

Even when I try to mooch one of his Chesterfields I have to find him a whole nest of Nips to pick off.

But then... the Colonel says we make a swell Combination...
