Dr. Yen Commencement Speaker Next Sunday

REV. F. H. THOMPSON

SAMUEL W. COLLINS

DR. JAMES Y. C. YEN

The 75th Commencement Program of the University of Maine will include a two-day schedule of events Saturday, June 3, and Sunday, June 4. In accordance with the accelerated plans of wartime conditions, Saturday will be a combination of Alumni Day and Senior Class Day. Sunday will be given over to the Baccalaureate Service in the morning and Commencement Exercises in the afternoon.

Commencement speaker this year will be Dr. James Y. C. Yen, internationally known Chinese educator and leader. A native of China, Dr. Yen was graduated from Yale University in 1918 and received the M.A. from Princeton in 1920. In 1923 he became founder and general director of the Chinese Mass Education Movement through which a tremendous drive has been carried on to educate the Chinese masses. The dynamic leadership and vision of Dr. Yen have made him one of the recognized modern leaders of China. He serves as a counselor of the Chinese Supreme Council of National Defense and President of National People's Political Council, having the confidence and support in his great work of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The Reverend Frederick H. Thompson, minister of the Easthampton, Mass., Congregational Church, and a graduate of the University of Maine in 1928, will give the Baccalaureate Sermon of the Commencement Program at 10:30 Sunday morning.

During Saturday afternoon the Senior Class will present a program with speakers from the class giving the honor essays. Speakers include Sam Collins, Jr., Valedictorian; Mary Billings, Salutatorian; Hughene Phillips, Class Ode; Elizabeth Brackett and Arletta Thorpe, Class Gifts; and Esther Randall, Class Will.

The Alumni Association will again feature the noon luncheon at 12:30 p.m. in Estabrooke Hall and the Alumni Banquet at 6:00 in Memorial Gymnasium. Guests of honor at the luncheon will be members of the class of 1894, who will celebrate this year their fiftieth graduation anniversary.

The Alumni Banquet will feature a panel of speakers including the father and son combination of Sam Collins, Sr., of the class of 1919 and Sam Collins, Jr., of '44. Collins, Sr., as toastmaster for the Banquet will have the pleasure of introducing his own son as a speaker on behalf of the senior class. Speaking for the Alumnae, especially those in service, will be Ensign Natalie Nason '38 of the WAVES. Chief speaker from the armed forces will be Colonel Sumner Waite '11, Chief of Staff, 2nd Service Command, Governor's Island, New York.

An outstanding part of the year's Banquet Program will be the celebration of the 10th anniversary of the coming of President and Mrs. Hauck to the University. In celebration of this completion of their first ten years at Maine, Fred D. Knight '09 of Hartford, Conn., will pay tribute to President Hauck's leadership during the decade.

Presiding at the Banquet will be Alumni President Walter H. Burke '09, of New York City, who will also make the presentation of the 1908 Attendance Cup and the Alumni Service Emblem to that alumnus voted to have done the most for the Association and the University.

The Banquet program will be followed by the Alumni-Senior Hop.

The traditional Commencement Exercises in the Memorial Gymnasium at 3 p.m. Sunday will terminate the weekend program. Following the parade of seniors, the program will see the award of senior degrees, award of graduate degrees, and the presentation of several honorary degrees to outstanding persons.

Class of 1894 To Be Guests of Honor At Commencement

Members of the Class of 1894 of the University of Maine, then the Maine State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, will this year celebrate their fiftieth graduation anniversary at the seventy-fifth Commencement Program of the University, June 3 and 4. As guests of honor of the Alumni Association and the University they will participate in the program events of Alumni Day, Saturday.

The Alumni Luncheon at noon in Estabrooke Hall will be given in honor of the class and those members able to be present will be given Fifty-Year Certificates by Alumni President Walter H. Burke '06.

Summer Term Begins June 13; Features Education Workshop

Registration for the summer session was held Monday of this week, and new students will register on June 12. Classes will begin June 13 for the regular summer term. The program has been somewhat abridged, and the emphasis will be placed on the school of education. From July 5 to August 11 there will be the annual six-week summer session for teachers. The registration for both the students and the teachers is expected to be below normal. Approximately 15 seniors will graduate in September.

The new feature of the year is the post-session which will begin August 14 and end with the summer term on Sept. 1. This session will be known as the Workshop for Elementary Teachers and will be held in Alumni Gym. Dr. E. W. Burton of Harvard will be in charge of this work on special problems and will have eight or ten assistants from normal schools to help initiate this innovation on campus. Dr. Louis E. Hutto of the state department of health will give lectures on physical training education, besides the regular work.

Contributors' Club Holds Initiation

Eleanor Mundi was elected president of the Contributors' Club, honorary literary society, at a business meeting and initiation held Tuesday evening in the Balentine Sun Parlor. Other officers elected for next year were Joan Greenwood, vice president, and Ada Minott, secretary-treasurer.

Six new members were initiated into the society by Dr. Milton Ellis, faculty adviser, Frances Higgins, president, and contributing members. Elected to the Contributors' Club were Madge Campbell, junior psychology major, Jeanne Delano, home economics major, Pauline Forbus, junior theatre major, Joan Greenwood, sophomore arts student, Robert Krause, freshman chemical engineering major, and Dorothy Ward, sophomore arts student.

Rev. F. H. Thompson To Deliver Sermon At Baccalaureate

The Reverend Frederick H. Thompson, minister of the Easthampton, Mass., Congregational Church, and a graduate of the University of Maine in 1928, will give the Baccalaureate Sermon at the University on June 4, it was announced here today from the office of President Arthur A. Hauck.

A native of Nova Scotia, Mr. Thompson received the B.A. degree from the University of Maine in Economics in 1928 and later attended Hartford Theological Seminary where he was awarded the B.D. degree in 1934 and that of S.T.M. in 1936. While at the University he was active in the Maine Christian Association, serving as president, participated in varsity track, and was captain of the Relay Team. He was elected to membership in the Senior Skull society, and on graduation was awarded the Washington Alumni Watch as the senior who had done most for the University during his four years.

From 1928 to 1931 Mr. Thompson was a representative of the Maine-Turkey organization at Istanbul, Turkey. Returning to this country he entered Hartford Seminary. Since 1936 he has been the minister of the Easthampton Congregational Church.

Music Featured At Sunday Service

Sunday morning at the Little Theatre Worship service special music will be featured with students taking part in the service. Charles E. O'Connor, general secretary of the Maine Christian Association, will be the preacher at this closing Memorial Sunday observance. Mr. O'Connor is a graduate of the University of Maine, and during his years at Maine was an active member of the MCA, a well-known track star, and campus leader. John Dickerson and John Bragg will also participate in the service.

The anthem will be "Ave Maria" by Schubert with Mary Ann Young, '46, soprano soloist. The flute Quartet, made up of Beatrice Ross, '47, Hilda Haskell, '47, Marion Littlefield, '47, and Barbara Weick, '47, will play "On Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn. Another special feature of music will be Sylvia Smith, '44, singing "O Divine Redeemer," by Gounod.

Masque Show Hit As Audience Cheers Fine Performance

By Loraine Davis

The Maine Masque seemed like its old self last Saturday evening when a fully packed house laughed, loved, and sighed with the four stars of "There's Always Juliet." Fine acting stood out in the performances of the characters, and the excellent direction of Prof. Bricker made the show an entertaining production.

The performances of Ruth Higgins as Leonora and Alan Shulman as Capt. Dwight Houston are particularly noteworthy, and more than once the feminine majority in the audience well-nigh swooned during the love scenes. Jean McKinney as the maid turned a mediocre role into a humorous and effective added attraction. As Flight Commander Peter Walmsley, Nat Bartholomaei gave a fine performance of a rather inadequate but persistent suitor.

The play was not one of action, but instead portrayed sophisticated comedy. Much depended on the understanding and interpretation of lines, and a casual yet brisk tempo was necessary to get proper audience response to the general theme of the play.

Miss Higgins' role called for much personality and poise, and these characteristics plus her fine ability to interpret a role made hers an excellent performance.

The surprise of the evening came in the performance of Alan Shulman. With little previous acting experience, his presence on the stage was maintained with the ease and charm of a veteran. Throughout the production, he interpreted his role with naturalness, so necessary to fine acting. His facial expressions were good, and although his slight lack of gracefulness can be improved, this did not affect his portrayal.

Miss McKinney as the humorous maid was a natural. Although almost over-acting the part at first, she launched into a smooth performance during the remaining acts. One thing is notable about Miss McKinney's acting: she can project the seriousness of a situation across the footlights as well as the humour, when the mood calls for it.

The part of Peter "Rummy" Walmsley was portrayed as a warm-hearted but slightly stupid Englishman. Nat

Remember...

Four years ago, on a very rainy fall day, the class of 1944 arrived at the University of Maine. Cars filled with freshmen zoomed up the campus drive to disgorge students, suitcases, lamps, and an endless variety of stuff and junk while the infamous Bullet was rattling and lurching its way north from Bangor with a capacity load of frosh boys and girls.

Freshman Week was just that, not the two quick days of orientation that we know now. Assembling at the Oval, the freshmen hiked across the fields and through the woods to Piney Knoll for a sandwich and a coke.

Remember who the freshman class officers were? "Hutch" was president, Barbie Doore, secretary, Jack Buck, vice president, and "Squeak" Squires, treasurer. None of them will be here for graduation. "Hutch," "Squeak," and Jack are all in the service and Barbie was graduated with the accelerated program in December.

The Class of 1944 was a fortunate one. We had four years, short years if you count the friends that were made, the week-ends, the dances...long years, perhaps, if you count the stacks of books, the finals, the students who have graduated or have left. As freshmen our thoughts were of formal dances, football games, of Owls and Skulls and Eagles and All-Maine Women.

Remember how the coeds of 1944 first sang the Stein Song in Balentine, naively going up the scale when they should have been going down on "let every loyal Maine man sing"? Colvin had a dining hall then...chocolate doughnuts and hot toast for breakfast...Larry Emery and Howie...tablecloths, cloth napkins in the cubbyholes between meals with egg and lipstick marks preserved. Then, there were the impromptu Colvin vic dances and the bathtub that ran over on second floor. Remember Carol Irvine and her auto-graphed cast? Carol will be back to Maine next year as a five-year nurse.

Remember "Jolly Balentine"...sorority rushing with dates at the Chalet and the Cabin, chartered buses...Steve Keirstead's orchestra... "Camp" Thomas and his trumpet...Freddie Herbolzheimer and the drums...Count Basie for Commencement Ball 1941...Paddy Huddilston...the SAE "swap-off" party and Bowery Brawl...the Beta "Snuffy Smith" affair...Earle Rankin in Hamlet...Of Cabbages and Kings, the original musical comedy by Bea Besse and Frank Hanson which won the ASCAP award...and remember Charley Stickney's head?

In '41-'42 came sophomore slump and something else—Pearl Harbor. Maine coeds had chop suey for dinner December 8 then listened, ears glued to radios as President Roosevelt declared war on the axis nations. It was the beginning of a new way of life, a college life with room for drafting, home nursing, first aid, motor mechanics, and air raid drills.

Juniors! One more year to go! The accelerated program, summer school taken seriously. The draft, Signal Corps men on campus, ordnance courses and chemical warfare women in their blue uniforms. It was our junior year that the Wingate fire silenced the class bell one cold winter afternoon. Junior year...two-day Hell Week with ATO rattles and bows... "Bucket" Taverner, the campus Mayor...the foodless Panhellenic Banquet...war bonds and stamps...gas rationing...the first mid-winter graduation...O. B. Doore's Maine Bear...and Christmas vespers, marvelous every year.

At last, we are seniors, ready to step out into a world that has changed completely in four short years. We have witnessed the transition from peacetime laziness to wartime efficiency. May we carry out into the world what we have learned at Maine. The future is in our hands.

Frances Higgins

New England Coeds Guests At Play Day; Discuss WAA Work

The fifteenth annual play day weekend was held at Maine this year with WAA playing hostess to representatives from Colby, University of New Hampshire, and Nason. Ruth Hansen was general chairman of the weekend and her assistants were: housing, Hazel Nutt; meals, Phyllis White; program, Ruth Stearns; recreation, Gloria Lombard, Mary Libby.

Eleven guests arrived in time for registration at 7:30 Friday night at North Estabrooke and were assigned rooms shortly afterward. From 8:30 to 11:00 everyone enjoyed roller skating in the Women's Gym. On Saturday morning the girls and members of the Maine WAA council assembled in front of Balentine for a breakfast hike to the Stillwater picnic area. After breakfast discussions were held on the river bank. The discussions centered around the theme of WAA Functions of Today and Yesterday. The University of New Hampshire's topic for discussion was Recreation; Colby, Athletics; Maine, Health and Fitness; Nason, Developing WAA Interests. These discussion groups proved helpful to each college, as each one had a special problem that was fully analyzed and discussed. It made everyone realize that now, more than ever before, it is important to have an active WAA organization as a vital part of campus life.

Dr. Louis E. Hutto To Give P E Course At Summer Session

State Director of Physical Education, Health, and Recreation, Dr. Louis E. Hutto, will direct an intensive program of physical education instruction as a feature of the University of Maine summer program this year, it has been announced by Summer Session Director Roy M. Peterson. The Physical Education program will be given during the three-week post-session from August 14 to September 1, following the regular Summer Session.

The program to be offered is to be called "Physical Activity in Child Development," and will be concerned primarily with the place of physical activity in child development and procedures for making such activities effective educational tools in the school program. Intended primarily for the needs of superintendents, teachers, and supervisors of physical education, the content of the course will be organized to meet the specific needs of those in attendance.

A limited enrollment for the physical course will permit a laboratory type of practice in the techniques of instruction and supervision through the use of a group of children. The course will include a study of the social and emotional factors affecting the child, and specific standards of attainment for various grade levels will be studied.

POLITICAL SCENE

By Elbridge Burton Davis

This will be my last Column for the Campus. A week from Sunday I shall be graduating with my class of '44. Writing the Scene this year has been a pleasant and interesting task for me. Although I have strong political ties I have ever attempted to be impartial and to present both pro and con regardless of personal feelings. If, on a few occasions, I seemed, perhaps, to weigh the scales a little more heavily on one side, it was not that I wished to be unfair with anyone, but only that I sincerely felt that Truth was on that side.

* * * * *

Today, for the benefit of those in the Service who have not previously registered for voting, or who may be in doubt about absentee voting, I am going to give a brief digest of the statute enacted by the State Legislature on April 19 entitled: "An Act to Facilitate Voting by Members of the Armed Forces of the United States." This is one of the most liberal soldier vote bills to be passed by a legislative body anywhere in the nation.

Those covered by its provisions are "persons serving in the armed forces of the U. S., the Merchant Marine, the American Red Cross, the Society of Friends, the Women's Auxiliary Service Pilots, or the U. S. Service Organizations and attached to and serving with the armed forces of the U. S." Those who fall under any of the above classifications may register by contacting a parent, relative, guardian, or friend and requesting him to present to local registration officials legal certification of birth and proof that the applicant is a citizen of the U. S., and of Maine, and is at least 21 years of age. When this has been done the name will be entered on the lists.

Having duly registered, the prospective voter may cast a ballot in the June 19th Primary and the September 11th General State Election under the following provisions: "Any request, in writing, from a member of the armed forces, or from a former guardian, spouse, or an adult blood relative of such member shall be considered as a sufficient compliance with the existing statutes requiring the filing of an application for an absentee primary or a general election ballot. A request for a primary election ballot shall designate the party choice of the elector."

In voting for President on November 7th, any qualified voter as defined by this new act may mark and send to the Clerk of the city or town of his residence an "Official Federal War Ballot" together with a statement by him subscribed to the effect that prior to September 1, 1944, he had applied for a state printed absentee presidential ballot but as of Oct. 1, 1944, he had not received it. Procedure for securing the state ballot for the presidential contest is the same as that followed in the Primary and general state election.

The service man or woman must mark his ballot as provided by the general election laws of the state, privately, so that no one may see how he has voted. The provisions for an oath are waived, and it is only necessary to have the certification of an officer in rank not below sergeant. All ballots should be mailed so that they will be received by the city or town clerk on or prior to the day of election.

* * * * *

Maine civilians who may be eligible to vote for the first time in June, September, or November should go to the Board of Registration in their respective communities and have themselves enrolled.

Footlights And Ether

With two full-length shows, thirty-six short shows, and eight performances at Dow Field to its credit, the Maine Masque wound up a full and varied year. During the three terms, AST students and Masque members alike worked together to make the shows as successful as possible.

The short shows started with two performances a week. As the number of soldiers on campus increased, as well as the popularity of the shows, performances were increased to three weekly. The audiences were extremely large, and often it was necessary to turn away from twenty-five to one hundred students.

These short shows developed as a result of two facts: the sudden influx of superior talent brought in by the soldiers, and secondly, in order to use this talent it was necessary to work within a limited space of time.

Summer Weather Brings Forth Sun-Seeking Coeds

By Val, Jr., and Val, Sr.

Spring—or is it summer—fever brings out the Druid strain in Maine coeds. If passers-by casually glance at the lawns around the Balentine tennis courts, they are startled by the rows and rows of sun-worshippers. Not only near the courts but on the Estabrooke picnic grounds, Colvin's side lawn, the Elms' favorite tower, and even on Oak Hall's spacious green, members of the cult burn and tan—and burn and tan some more.

The time is right for swimming—as more than a few students have discovered. One sophomore, noted especially for her embarrassing moments at WAA banquets, wears a sun-yellow one-piece, sleek for down-to-water crawling and diving.

Those sun-back dresses that swoop to the ultra-violet rays have found a corner in the coed's heart. On Sunday afternoon we noticed a dark haired freshman tanning herself in a green and white polka dot bare-back dress, very neat.

Going to the opposite extreme—if the skies are cloudy and the winds cold, a popular senior holds all the answers to the weather problems. She wears her Maine seal-adorned navy blue blazer with a matching pair of tailored slacks. Her fellow raker on Maine Day wore gray flannel slacks with a camel hair jacket.

Something new under the sun is the three-piece playsuit with dirndl skirt and dirndl shorts. A Colvin freshman wears her beige chambray skirt with a short, short-sleeved, square-necked, and lace-trimmed blouse. When the sun is really hot, she takes off her skirt to reveal the copy-cat shorts—a miniature of the skirt. The fashion magazines call them Mexican style. We call them comfortable and cute!

Then there are the coeds who wear their favorite college or "prep" school sweat shirt. (U. of M. seems to hold first place.) One able contender for the tennis cup steps out to bat the breeze in pleated green shorts and the University Physical Education Department sweater. She certainly does have the right to wear it!

Masque has visited the hospital with eight shows of varied entertainment. Transportation, dinner, and refreshments have been furnished by the Red Cross and Dow Field.

The AST boys on campus at the present time have contributed much effort and time to make the shows of this term successful. Several of them were initiated into the Masque as full members last Sunday afternoon.

Thus the Masque has contributed much to helping the many readjustments the campus has had to make this year. Its active and full program has included two hundred AST men as members, representing forty-three schools, colleges, and universities, and coming from twenty-seven states in the Union. The variety and superior calibre of talent, plus the enthusiasm and energy of the students, have made the Masque program one which can be looked back on with pride.

The Women's Student Government Council has appointed Muriel Peterson as acting president of Student Government for the summer term.

Masque Show - -

Bartholomae received many laughs from the audience for his very-British sense of humour, and his understanding of the role was effective.

The costumes for "There's Always Juliet" cannot pass without comment. Leonora's gowns were well selected and attractive. The uniforms of both Peter Walmsley and Capt. Houston were impressive on the stage, and contributed to the timeliness of the play.

The campus appreciated the fact that the Masque staged another full-length production this year. With the shortage of male talent and the limitations on the time of faculty and students alike, the Masque is under the same handicap as other organizations on campus. These things must be considered in the choice of a play. "There's Always Juliet" was enjoyed for its timeliness and fine performance.

Transcripts of student records issued by Cornell in the 1942-43 fiscal year numbered 15,464, nearly double the previous year's number. (ACP)

BEAR FACTS

By Bob Krause

As time rolls on it is becoming increasingly clearer that the baseball game this coming Saturday between the University of Maine and Northeastern University is to be the last sports event of any size which will be seen at Orono for quite some time. This being the case we do not feel that we would be out of the way in advising you to snatch this last opportunity to indulge in what is known as one part of "college life." After all, it may be quite a while before you can give another "long way" cheer—or any other way.

All that may be advertising but, if you do drop around to the diamond behind Memorial Gym, we can virtually assure you of an extremely entertaining afternoon. You will see what promises to be an intriguing pitching duel between the Black Bear's "new" hurling discovery, Charlie Norton, and the Huskie's ambidextrous phenomenon, Frank Rosato. (Ambidextrous meaning he throws with both arms, Mabel—but not at the same time.) At any rate, the gigantic struggle will commence at 2:30 p.m.

We came, we saw, we conquered—well, once anyway. That's the inside story on the New England trip just completed by your Pale Blue baseball club. The first afternoon was spent at Brunswick engaging Bowdoin. Even with the roar of the planes from the nearby air field to add to the distraction, Kenyon's men enjoyed a comfortable 2 to 0 lead for five innings. But, in the fifth, the Polar Bears struck like one of the dive bombers overhead. In two frames they amassed six runs and went on from there to an 8 to 2 triumph. Findlay, who gave up but four hits, outlasted Johnny Gleason for the victory. All due credit to Findlay, but the infielders should have been provided with scythes to cut the hay in the infield when going after ground balls.

Next day there wasn't much time to find out whether Boston was a browsing town because of the Northeastern contest. This one was played in just about the same pattern as other similar Maine games. First everything is quiet. Then, all of a sudden, run for the hills, men!! The dam has burst!! This time it happened in the very first inning and six runs poured over the plate as pitcher George Doe was nearly drowned. But, right here, believe it or not, a note of joy was heard in the proceedings. Captain Charlie Norton came over from shortstop and entered the fray. From then on, for the last eight innings, the Huskies managed to garner only three runs off the Mouse's "stuff." But the Black Bears could do little with "Two-Hand" Rosato and the final count was 9 to 1. Due to the "ashes" which Northeastern uses on their field, most of us were black after the battle was over—and felt the same way inside.

The final day, which was spent in the green hills of Connecticut, was taken up with a double-header against the Nutmeggers. Johnny Gleason started on the hill and the UConns immediately started on him. They kept it up, too, and at the end the score was again 9 to 1. The Pale Blue hit the opposing hurler often and hard, but they never bunched their safeties. But the good news comes in the second game, and the final one of the excursion.

Personally, we feel that we were good and sick of losing, so we decided to win one for a change. But that isn't the whole story by any means. Coach Kenyon started Norton, who had done such a fine job the day before. To put it mildly, Charlie came through in sensational fashion. He had everything. Our only regret was: "Say, why didn't we find this out before?" Not until the very last inning did the UConns get even a semblance of a hit off the Mouse. Then, in that final frame, the no-hitter went out the window as the first batter dribbled a slow roller toward third. It was so slow that the man beat the ball by a country mile, but he got no further. Meantime Maine, paced by the slugging of Sam Stuart, smashed at Connecticut for seven runs and a 7 to 0 victory!! On the basis of all that we PREDICT that the Black Bear will do all right for itself this Saturday matinee. We'll bank on the "Man with the Nose."

Ted Curtis' tennis team, which may be operating again this summer, closed its spring season last Saturday with an 8 to 1 win over Wassookeag. This makes their record one and two, as they dropped their second match to Bowdoin by 6 to 3. And may we close our spring season with, till we see you again, so long and good luck—even to "8 o'clocks!!"

WAActions

By Lala Jones

Credit for the unusual success of the WAA banquet goes to Helen Stacy and her cooperative committee. Said banquet was one of the peppiest that we've had for quite a while and it reflects Stace and her committee's fine work on it. The banquet was truly a climax to the many and varied fields of WAA activities this year. Orchids go also to Jennie Manson for that hard job of getting the awards in order, to Suz Randall for one of the most entertaining talks we've heard in a long time (but she really is going to graduate!), and to Evie Foster for her excellent talk on the whole personality.

Florence Armstrong is now the proud owner of three cups for winning three badminton tournaments while here at Maine! Fran Higgins also has her share of archery cups. Suz Randall, Helen Clifford, Berna Burnette, Phyllis MacNeil, and Ruth Troland are also some of the seniors who will really be missed in WAA circles next year.

The new WAA council will be hostesses to this year's council at a picnic Friday afternoon near the Field House. Shirley Titcomb, next year's vice president, is in charge of the food and there will be a softball game between the old and new council. The council will discuss all final business, and reports of last week-end's play day will be given.
