MOC To Sponsor Snow Sculptures; Movies In Coburn

By Mary Elizabeth Marble

Frankly, I'm perplexed. What to do? What to say? Which item in the MOC plans shall I mention first? The snow sculpturing contest, which will be judged the day of the winter carnival? the moonlight ski party Friday night (consult your Dr. Miles' Almanac and you will see that the man in the moon is getting on the plump side)? the MOC's new vic? movies of skiing and skating to be shown on Thursday? or the fact that anyone can ride on the ski tow free, gratis, absolutely with no charge on this coming Sunday afternoon between two and three o'clock? Let's take them in chronological order.

SNOW PLUS ORIGINALITY

First comes the snow sculpturing contest, the rules of which are posted on your bulletin boards. The judging isn't until February 3, but it looks as though the competition were going to be pretty stiff, and since there is to be no sculpturing done between midnight and six a.m., you'd better get started. As a wartime measure, no snow or ice may be imported. In fact, the statues are to be entirely of snow and should depict some activity connected with either winter sports or the carnival. Originality-plus is what counts! President Arthur A. Hauck, Mr. James A. Gannett, Prof. Ted Curtis, Lt. Colonel Newton W. Alexander, Prof. F. H. Steinmetz, Mrs. Ernest Stoeckeler, Dr. Fred Martin, and Miss Marion Rogers will do the judging between nine and ten on the morning of the 3rd. That night between the halves of the Maine-Connecticut game, a silver cup will be awarded the winning dormitory. (It is rumored that the fellows from the SAE house are wondering just how they would like to have their

Boy! Look at that food. Yes, sir! The MCA lounge was turned into a dining hall last Friday night for the benefit of all off-campus men and women. All who attended the party surely did find it a big success, thanks to all the gals who brought the covered dishes and salads, and to our supper committee headed by Carol Jean Griffee, Connie Coyne, Irene Hamlin, and Edith Strout. What wonderful cooks we have! Special thanks to our new club adviser, Mrs. Fred Griffee, for those delicious hot rolls.

After supper, dance music was rendered by some GI's who did a grand job. Games were mixed in with dancing and much fun was had by all.

Chaperons for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Wallace.

P.S. Be on the look-out for our next big event, the Valentine Party!

'Patchwork Lives' Topic Of Sermon At Sunday Service

Rev. Charles Parkin, pastor of the Clark Memorial Methodist Church in Portland, will speak on "Patchwork Lives" at the Little Theatre Worship service on Sunday, Jan. 28.

Born and educated in England, Rev. Parkin came to the United States in 1922 and entered the ministry of the Methodist Church in Maine. He has held pastorates in Brunswick, Farmington, Old Town, Grace Church in Bangor, and Clark Memorial Church in Portland.

He is very active in youth work and is a past instructor and Dean of the Eastern Maine Youth Institute. He was also a member of the American delegation to the First World War Youth Peace Conference in 1928.

The music for the service will include the anthem "Praise Ye the Lord, the Almighty," Traditional, and "Lord, Let Me Live Today" by Moore, sung by Gayle McLaughlin, '46, soprano.

War Relief Fund Sends 'Campus' To Servicemen

"Keep the Campus coming! I enjoy it very much; and when I'm through (sometimes before), the other Maine fellows devour my copy."

The above is an excerpt from a letter to the Campus editor from Marshall Babb, '45, now in action with the Naval Air Corps in the Pacific. He is expressing the demands and thanks of Maine alumni in the service who are still receiving copies of their college newspaper.

An allotment from the Emergency War Relief Fund, for which there is a campus drive later in the year, makes it possible to send the Maine Campus to University men and women in the service all over the world.

Maine Bears To Meet NH Wildcats Here Sat.

The New Hampshire Wildcats quintet led by sharpshooters Therrian and White will invade the Memorial Gymnasium Saturday, Jan. 27, at 8 o'clock in an attempt to capture their win number two in the New England conference. The New Hampshire team has already rolled over an experienced Northeastern quintet a week ago.

Start Looking Now For Your Choices As Carnival Rulers

Get ready for a rollicking week-end—the Winter Carnival is about to break loose! And this means to start scheming about your snow sculptures and to slick up on ski and snowshoe antics.

Rusty Chute and Hastings Bartley, co-chairmen of the coronation committee, announce that one nomination for the Carnival King must be submitted from each women's house by Friday, Jan. 26. Likewise on the same day one nomination for Queen should be handed in from each men's house.

Skating — skiing — snowshoeing — sculpturing — it's Winter Carnival time!

Syracuse Defeats Maine Debate Team

Syracuse University men successfully opposed University of Maine women in a cross-questioning debate last Monday on the topic, "Resolved: That we should adopt a policy of peace-time military conscription for one year for all able-bodied citizens between the ages of 17-21."

The issue was defended in the affirmative by Ben Carroll and Bryan Sanders of Syracuse. Negative speakers were Barbara Smiley and Phyllis Corneal, representing the University of Maine Debating Society.

Terry Dumais was the debate chairman and Charles O'Connor the judge. Mr. O'Connor based his decision in favor of the affirmative debaters on their "superior maneuvering and skillful handling of issues." The progressive cumulative development of affirmative argument was said to outweigh the strong points raised by the negative contenders.

Colvinites Disprove Old Line About Frailty Of Weaker Sex

By Martha Leeman

Did you see those two huge snow statues in front of Colvin Hall last week? Well, one moonlit evening we looked out and saw them calmly riding off on the shoulders of a crowd of boys. Since it was 10:30, all we could do was watch and glare. And then we started plotting. Half a dozen plans were formed and quickly abandoned. The next day, however, when we found our lady in three pieces halfway down the road and our sailor on Phi Kap's porch, we really got on the ball.

That night just before dinner we went down after our snowman. The boys had posted a guard, so we had barely begun to pick at the sailor's iced feet when the fight began. Everyone used fists and fingers pretty freely, but miraculously no one was hurt. When this failed, they began to dump buckets of water on us—which made everyone pretty damp. And the pictures they took when the water was coming down, with some of the girls in a snowbank—'nuff said! What they could salvage of the snowman they dragged into the hall, but we managed to save the head which was put on the entry roof.

When we came back from dinner, we found the rest of the sailor in the vestibule and a good percentage of Phi Kap inside waiting for us. We jumped into slacks and ski suits and ran out for a wild snow fight with plenty of face washings included, stopping only when it was generally conceded that Colvin had won. The weaker sex? Ask Phi Kap! Then everyone came in to get warm and dry in front of the fireplace.

Monday the boys at Phi Kap sent us a comic strip showing Elmer being trounced by his girl friend for destroying her snowman. Is everybody happy?

Another battle that may show the strength of the New Hampshire five was staged between the Wildcats and Portsmouth Harbor Defense team. Although New Hampshire was defeated 75-60, a very good score was racked up by the Wildcats with White and Therrian leading in scoring for New Hampshire with 24 and 18 points respectively. The Harbor Defense team didn't clinch the victory until the last period, and with several games to their credit they proved to have the added experience needed to outclass New Hampshire.

Coach Hank Swasey has been drilling his squad diligently and regularly in an attempt to meet the fast coming Maine team. The Maine squad now has five battles tucked under their belts and have gained a lot of much-needed experience from these tilts. Due to the absence of Coach Bill Kenyon, Ted Curtis has been drilling the Maine Five.

The loss of JoJo Gordon, flashy Maine forward, has put a knot in the first string five. There are several men, namely, Don Ellis, Bill Farnsworth, Jack Whitmore, Bob MacDonald, and Doc Savage, who may be worked in to fill the gap left by JoJo. However, we will have to wait until Saturday night to see what change Coach Kenyon will make in the lineup. The feature contest will begin at 8 p.m. sharp. Let's all turn out and display that old Maine enthusiasm!

Montgomery-Ward Seizure Discussed At Women's Forum

Women's Forum met Thursday evening, January 18, at 7:30 in the Balentine sun parlor. After a short business meeting, Frances Moore and Phyllis Corneal discussed the Montgomery-Ward seizure. Frances Moore put forward her arguments against the seizure as a moral issue affecting us all directly. She pointed out that if the government was allowed to maintain authority over one company, it may in the future maintain authority over all private industry. She said that Montgomery-Ward was not opposing the War Labor Board and stated that the bill that created the W.L.B. did not give the President the authority to order seizure of a non-essential industry. Frances advocated a policy of friendship and cooperation between labor and government. As to Montgomery-Ward's labor policy, the President prefers a closed shop.

Phyllis Corneal discussed the issue from the point of view that the government was within its constitutional rights in seizing Montgomery-Ward. She began with a brief history of the labor movement within Montgomery-Ward since the CIO organized that company in 1930. By 1942 the CIO had a majority vote to be its bargaining agents, but Montgomery-Ward refused to recognize the Union. In return for a no-strike policy the government promised maintenance of membership; Montgomery-Ward also refused to recognize this policy.

The next meeting of the Women's Forum will be held Thursday, February 1, in the Balentine sun parlor, in accordance with the new plan of holding meetings once every two weeks.

Footlights And Ether

Having walked in on a rehearsal of this week's short show, the "Prison Scene" from "Of Cabbages and Kings," it was a surprise to discover that Sgt. Budz, as well as Campana, is in the scene too. Both sergeants play the roles of prisoners, as do Joe Issenberg and Jack Bowen. Among the many "clubwomen" in the show, Val Warren, Ruth Sailor, Jackie Dole, and Beth Clement have the major speaking roles. Carl Rush, Francis Murphy, and Nick Smith complete the cast. Pat Hutto is the director of tonight's show.

Specialties to be included with the "Prison Scene" include entertainment by Laurel Clements, Arlene Clevon, and the S.A.E. band. Both nights' performances should see full houses in the Little Theatre.

Last week's Radio Burlesque was good entertainment for all who saw it, judging from the laughs and surprises coming from the audience. The dialogue was clever, the music welcomed as always, and the variety of take-offs was well-chosen. Cee Pavey directed. Surprise "find" of the show was Johnny Goff, whom we would like to see more of on the stage. The all-girl quartet cannot go without mention either. The three numbers it sang on Friday night were much enjoyed by the audience, and we hope they are in line for a return engagement.

Rehearsals for the major Masque production, "The Imaginary Invalid," are in full swing now every evening in the Little Theatre. This show is scheduled for February 8, 9, 10, and tickets will be on sale for it soon. This is a show which seems to be shaping up for real entertainment and good acting. Mr. Hardy, who plays the masculine lead, is the one around whom the play centers. Jan Scales is reported to be doing a surprisingly good bit of acting as "Toinette," with the cooperation of all others in the cast.

Next week's short show is somewhat of a mystery. All information available is that it is to be a Western scene done in Chinese style. Gay Weaver will direct the scene.

B-1, B-3, B-4, HQ, B-2 Win Last Week's Intramural Battles

By Pvt. Jack Bowen

The Reserves won out over the ASTAP Saturday night, when the B-1 boys beat the CE-S's 34-31 in a fast, highly contested game. Bowman of the CE-S team stood out with 18 points, while Collis was high for B-1 with 13. B-1 came from behind to win the game that marked their second straight victory.

In the afternoon battles, B-3 took the measure of the Cubs, 31-18, in a game in which Lorranger and Woodbrey stood out for their respective teams as high scorers with 13 points each.

In another game, B-4 beat the Snafu's 47-33 with Teirney and Olsen starring for B-4 with 21 and 14 points respectively. Manback was high man for the Snafu's with 10.

The H.Q. platoon eked out a win over the Bares to the tune of 32 to 29. In this tight contest Jenest scored 15 points for the H.Q. wonders, while Davis and Bartley sank 5 baskets each for the Bares.

B-2 took the Tarfu's (where do they dig up these names?) in a high-scoring contest that showed Grant copping 38 points for the B-2's and Manecke 24 points for the Tarfu's.

This Saturday the schedule is: 2:30—B-3 vs. H.Q.'s, Cubs vs. Bares; 3:30—B-1 vs. Snafu's, Tarfu's vs. V.C. The preliminary game at 6:45 is being played by B-2 and B-4.

How about seeing a few more rooters out at these Saturday afternoon contests? The fellows could use a little feminine inspiration.

JUST SKATING

By Pvt. Ralph Fishman

Ever since Delilah surprised Sampson's beard with a Gillette blade and started a before-breakfast habit that has slit countless cheeks and sundry chins, men have been lathering up and lotioning down their handsome faces.

Now you have got to admit that shaving has thrown quite a lot of light on the five-o'clock shadow. But why hairy chests and legs still bristle on men the world over as evidence of their he-maninity, while slovenly faces serve only to advertise Treet razor blades, is a question.

A beard is a young man's ambition, a middle-aged man's pride, and an old man's bib. Beards have always camouflaged the chins of generals and admirals, and would probably still be clinging to the lower extremities of the faces of today's high-ranking officers were it not for the fact that the Schick people have put their heads together, and a four-headed electric for the price of one has been just too much of a bargain for any rational Army or Navy man to pass up. Of course, in present battle conditions, since the fox-holes are no longer supplied with hot and cold running water, the men have been forced to use an electric razor when they want a shave.

The Army has now seriously decided on a campaign to keep its men faithful to the girls they left behind on the last furlough. Not that the AST's have been as notorious as the traditional wolves in ship's clothing, but the dormitory walls have been stripped of pin-up girls, and only one framed picture is allowed on each man's desk. According to the latest census, the only two women left in the barracks are Imogene and Louise. Now you may wonder what two such modest young ladies would be doing in the otherwise dull environment of an Army dormitory. The truth is that they are over their heads in excitement—the excitement happens to be water—and Imogene and Louise are two lonely goldfish in a very lonely fish bowl.

'Some Of My Best Friends . . .'

Editor's note: The characters in this article are purely fictional. If they bear any resemblance to any person, living or dead, it's not the writer's fault.

Ladies and gentlemen—I would like to introduce to you certain friends of mine whom you must have noticed in your daily jaunts across campus, but whom you unquestionably never met till now.

In this corner, the young lady who always (with absolutely no exceptions) falls asleep in every eight o'clock class she has. Unfortunately for the professors' egos she always manages to have six first-hour classes in the week. Maybe you are one of those people in her class who sit and watch with fascination, waiting for the professor to call on her or for a large hunk of plaster to fall on her head. Just pity the friends on either side of her who never get any notes themselves, because they spend all their time kicking her under the table or nudging her when the pro isn't looking.

Out there in the snowbank, if you look quickly, you can see the pair of love-birds that escaped from someone's collection last fall. They've been roaming around campus ever since—oblivious of the weather. You can always tell them by the expressions on their blissful faces whenever they "happen" to meet between classes.

Next on the list is the character who, when asked a question in class, invariably looks first out the window, then at the ceiling, and after a long pause bursts out with the right answer. (The people who stumble around and finally have to admit that they don't know the answer are not exceptional characters in this neck of the woods.)

Over here we have the political enthusiast. Politics are fine. I'm not saying they aren't. But this bird definitely carries the whole thing too far. Every time you look in his direction, he has found something new wrong with "the administration." It's people like that who make you think of the good points of a dictatorship. (Guess I can stand it a while longer, though, for the chance to yell right back at him when I disagree.)

The girl with the skis over one shoulder and the skates over the other is the local Sonya Henie. You should see her in action on the ski slopes or the rink. Yep, she's cutting quite a figure out there; but it really takes a little practice to manipulate those things that way.

Well, I guess those are all the people you need to know this week. If there's anyone else you'd like an introduction to, just bring her over.

Allen Elected Pres. Of Congo Club Sun.

Barbara Allen was elected president of the Congregational Club at its first meeting of the winter term which was held last Sunday at the MCA. Other officers elected were Barbara Crowell, vice president; Betty Palmer, secretary; Sally Phillips, program chairman; Red Bartlett, worship chairman; Jane Longfellow, refreshments chairman; and Harriet Steinmetz, publicity chairman.

Red Bartlett led the worship service, after which plans for the remainder of the year were made under the direction of the Rev. Arlan Baillie of All Souls Church. A buffet supper was served after the meeting.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, at 5:00 p.m., in the Reading Room of the MCA.

It's For You, Soldier!

Soldiers, get your subscriptions to the Campus this week. Representatives of the subscription staff will be in the Bookstore Friday, Jan. 26, to take your orders. The fee will be 35 cents for the remainder of this term. This will entitle you to the next seven copies of the University's weekly student publication.

Keep up on the campus activities, and support the organizations. An easy way of keeping up to date on the news is to pay your 35 cents tomorrow. It's your paper, too!

Boston Pastor To Address '47 Frosh Club On Wed. Nite

Next Wednesday evening students and faculty members are having an opportunity to meet together to hear Dr. Carl Heath Kopf, pastor of the Mt. Vernon Congregational Church in Boston. Dinner will be served in the Recreation Room at the MCA building under the direction of the members of the class of '47, last year's Frosh Club. Dr. Kopf is a top-ranking embassy leader and is one of the outstanding ministers in the Congregational Church today. He will be one of the guest speakers at the Bangor Theological Seminary Convocations next week and the MCA is making it possible for both students and faculty to hear the stirring message which he will bring.

Tickets will be on sale Monday at a reduced price for students. This dinner meeting holds promise of being one of the highlights of the year in the religious program of the Christian Association, and is under the sponsorship of the Christian Faith Commission.

Gym Gab

By Lala Jones

Very few people around these parts, it seems, know much about women in the national sports world of today, so I thought I'd let you know a little about Ann Curtis. Hmmm, you say—Ann Curtis... seems to me I've heard of her before, but don't quite remember. Yes, you probably have; because Ann, who holds a national swimming record for each of her 18 years, was awarded the Sullivan Memorial Award for 1944. This award is given annually, is decided by the vote of 600 sports writers and broadcasters, and is given to the person judged to have done the most during the year to advance the cause of sportsmanship. Ann Curtis is the first woman ever to receive this award. Our congrats to the gal who hails from sunny (?) San Francisco. If we lived where there was an abundance of swimming pools and the like, Maine would probably produce just as many swimmers as California. All of us say that when we get old we will bestow upon Maine a grand and glorious pool... but all that will have to wait till this war is over. Until that happy day, I hope that the rumor of WAA being able to use the Y pool in Bangor during the spring term still holds true!

Now for some basketball news. The Inter-Dorm tournament has been in full swing for the past three weeks. The results and tournament standings have been turned in.

It looks as if Sigma Chi is leading the Blue League by a percentage rating of .70. They have lost one game to North Estabrooke, tied one with Balentine III (score 18-18), and have played five games. The scores of the Sigma Chi's games: 42-Colvin 11; 18-Elms, 17; 17-Bal. I, 12. Balentine III has played only three games so far, with a rate of 90%, because of the tie with Sigma Chi.

Balentine II is way ahead in the Blue League with a 100% rating; none of the four games played have been lost. Scores, 26-Elms A, 10; 28-South Estabrooke, 19; 30-Colvin I, 23; 30-OCW, 26. The runners-up can't be decided yet because all of the other dorms have played only three games, with the exception of the Elms A team, which has a 50% rating, having lost two and tied one out of five games

Maine Radio Guild Elects Officers, Outlines Program

Among the officers elected and appointed at a meeting of the Maine Radio Guild on Wednesday, January 17, were: Phyllis Eldridge, secretary; Kay Mills, chairman of scrapbook; Phyllis Corneal, in charge of scripts; Pat Hutto, chairman of sound effects committee. Bob Browne and Ray Clark were appointed to draw up a program schedule for the spring term. Anyone interested in writing scripts, including those outside the Guild, should contact Pat Hutto at once. The various organizations that are sponsoring programs will be notified as soon as possible as to the date of their broadcast.

The next meeting will be held in February. The program schedule for the next three weeks is as follows:

Jan. 26 Faculty group
Director: Mr. L. L. Pelletier
Announcer: Therese Dumais
Feb. 2 Drama
Director: Norma Quinn
Announcer: Barbara Mills
Feb. 9 Discussion: International Relations Club
Director: Mr. L. L. Pelletier
Announcer: Kay Mills

played. The Elms won the Inter-Dorm tournament last year, but have been hit by a little hard luck this year because the former strong team has been split up into two teams, and have lost a few of the star players through graduation and because of changes to other dorms. It looks like Balentine II will win the cup if the good teamwork of Chute, Jameson, McNealus, Lombard, Vaughn, Libby, and Young continues. But basketball is peculiar, you never can tell on which side the scores are gonna pile! Well, maybe we'll know next week.

Polar Bears Win Over Black Bears By 61 To 40 Score

By Eddie Woodbrey

After growling and snarling a 49 to 40 victory over the Colby Mules at Waterville, January 17, the Maine Black Bear was tamed to the tune of a 61 to 40 defeat by the Bowdoin Polar Bear in Memorial Gym Saturday night.

In the first game, the Maine team showed superior shooting and floor play to take the lead from Colby and never did they relinquish it during the game. Pressing home the victory all the way was "Little Joe Gordon" who tallied 15 valuable points. Other honors of the night went to Don Ellis and Verne Byers who displayed excellent floor play.

Last Saturday evening the Bowdoinites got off to a first-period lead of 25 to 9. The boys from Brunswick never slowed their pace as they clinched the victory. Maine, a little stunned and surprised at the lead the Bowdoin team piled up, finally started hitting the basket in the second half. Led by Verne Byers who tallied 16 points, the Maine team fought valiantly to overcome the Bowdoin lead. The Bowdoin quintet, however, had their eyes on the nets and they matched the Maine hoop five basket for basket. The outstanding star of this game was Packy McFarland, Bowdoin guard, who played a wonderful floor game and was high scorer for the night with 20 points.

Navy Recruiting College Students For Radar Training

Information has recently been received by the Navy Recruiting Station in Bangor that applicants for Navy Radar Training who are pursuing a course of study at an accredited college, who successfully pass the Eddy test, and who are enlisted for the radio technician program may be placed on inactive duty until the end of their current school term. This particular ruling applies to 17-year-olds and is subject to the enlistee's own request.

Radar training offers exceptional educational training opportunities and assures rapid advancement. The qualifying Eddy test may be taken at any time and at any Navy Recruiting Office.

Those desiring information about the Radar program are urged to get in touch with Chief Saindon, Post Office Building, Bangor.

Kiddie Korner A Hit; Sorority Families Tri-Delt Guests

The Tri-Delta Kiddie Korner, a party given by the Tri-Delta pledges, took place last Saturday afternoon. All sorority pledges, their mothers, sorority presidents, and Dean Wilson, Mrs. Doten, Mrs. Woolrich, Mrs. Hitchner, Mrs. Speicher, and Mrs. Dolloff were among the invited guests. The pledges in short dresses, hair ribbons, and carrying animals had a gay time playing Musical Chairs, Pin the Tail on the Donkey, and Farmer in the Dell. When all the little girls were tired from hunting peanuts and playing games, refreshments were served and the mothers took their babies home.

Jackie Dole was chairman of the party and the other committees were: decorations, Carol Denison and Rachel Jones; refreshments, Punky Perkins and Connie Adams; entertainment, Jay Maxwell, Lois Hovey, and Grace Rogge; invitations, Cynthia Tribeau.

LONG TOMS—blasting unseen targets—are directed by voices flashing through this artilleryman's radio telephone "switchboard." His FM set can operate on 120 crystal controlled channels, any ten selected instantly by push-buttons. Using its many channels, he connects the battalion commander with spotters up front and in planes; then with battery commanders who focus tremendous fire-power. He's helping soften the hard road ahead.

As the nation's largest producer of communications and electronic equipment, Western Electric turns out vast quantities of telephone, radio and detection devices for all branches of our armed forces. Many college graduates—men and women—are helping us put these weapons in our fighters' hands.
