Mary E. Soule Wins Fernald Scholarship

Mary E. Soule of Smyrna Mills, a junior at the University of Maine, was awarded the Merritt Caldwell Fernald Scholarship as the highest ranking student in the junior class at the University during the Scholarship Recognition Day program held in the Alumni Memorial Gymnasium this morning. Other junior students receiving such honors were Cecil Ann Pavey of Forest Hills, New York, awarded the James Stacy Stevens Scholarship as the highest ranking student in the junior class in the College of Arts and Sciences; Fern York Witham of Bangor, home economics major, the Leon Stephen Merrill Scholarship as the highest ranking student in the College of Agriculture; and Virginia M. Graham of Bangor, the Charles Davidson Scholarship as the highest ranking junior in the School of Education.

The Scholarship Recognition Day program featured Dean Ernest C. Marriner of Colby College as guest speaker, who addressed the assembly on the subject of "Scholarship Is Not Enough." Dean Marriner is professor of English and Dean of the Men's Division at Colby.

Announcement of scholarship awards was made by President Arthur A. Hauck. Six University scholarships were announced to the following: Judith M. Banton '46, Brewer, home economics major; Arlene M. Cleven '47 of Portland, Arts and Sciences; Florence L. Palmer '47 of Sabattus, College of Technology; Muriel E. Polley '47 of Portland, Arts and Sciences; Pauline W. True '48 of Hope, Agriculture; and Anne B. Woods '47 of Ellsworth, Arts and Sciences. The

At a candlelight service in the Little Chapel of the MCA, Harriet Steinmetz was installed as president of the Maine Christian Association Monday afternoon. Other officers installed were John Bragg, vice president; Margaret Spaulding, secretary; and Phyllis Pendleton, treasurer.

Ginny Tufts, past president, presided at the service. Reverend John C. Feaster, pastor of the Second Congregational Church of Bangor, was guest speaker. Sally Phillips was in charge of arrangements. A supper followed the service.

The complete service was as follows: Opening Thoughts, Ginny Tufts; Hymn, Jesus Calls Us; Challenge, Ginny Tufts; Installation of Officers; Remarks, Reverend John Feaster; Hymn, I Would Be True; Prayer, Harriet Steinmetz; Benediction, Harriet Steinmetz.

Off Campus Picnic Sunday, May 27

The Stillwater Picnic Grounds is to be the scene of the Off-Campus picnic Sunday, May 27. Those interested in attending may sign up at the MCA or see Fay Jones, chairman of the committee in charge. Refreshments will be provided for the twenty-five cent fee but drinks should be brought from home. The meeting time is 4:30 at the MCA and 5:00 at the Stillwater grounds.

'The Night Of January 16'

By Loraine Davis

Ready for production, the curtain goes up at 8:15 p.m. in the Little Theatre tomorrow and Saturday evenings on "Night of January 16th." Written by Ayn Rand, this popular comedy-drama is directed by Herschel L. Bricker.

"Night of January 16th" has its action in the courtroom of the Superior Court of New York. Members of the audience will serve as members of the jury, which will decide the fate of Karen Andre who is tried for murder. The role of Miss Andre will be played by Dorothy Salo.

Throughout the trial proceedings will come the suspense and excitement given by the witnesses in their respective testimonies. Several surprising incidents occur, which add to the entangling evidence brought forth. The role of Larry Regan, played by Mr. C. DeWitt Hardy, is concerned with one of these incidents.

Questions are phrased by the defense and prosecution which will bring out the most facts favorable to their respective cases. The role of Defense Attorney will be played by John Goff, and that of District Attorney by Charles Bagley.

Presiding at court will be Judge Heath, played by Bob Campana. Court personnel includes Connie Howe as stenographer, Una Jean MacDonald as Prison Matron, Perham Amsden as bailiff, and Toni Doescher and Clara Leeman as secretaries.

Featured in major roles also are Mr. Lawrence L. Pelletier, James Mollison, Mariana McLaughlin, Glendon Porter, Richard Gillespie, Jean Campbell, Gay Weaver, Roger Hannemann, Barbara Mills, and Irma Miller.

Stage manager for "Night of January 16th" is Jeanne Ross, assisted by Saralyn Phillips. Chairman of the backstage crew is Betty Lehman. Working also backstage on the three-act production are Beverley Pitman, Florence Sawyer, John Spearman, Bart Holm, Tom Hood, and Alice Fonseca. Phyllis Hammond and Jane Barnes are in charge of properties.

Tickets have been on sale for the production throughout the week in the bookstore and in all dormitories and fraternity houses. All seats are reserved. Chairman of the ticket sale is Beth Clement.

"Night of January 16th" was first produced at the Ambassador Theatre in New York in 1935.

Drawing For Rooms In Women's Dorms

Drawings for rooms in the women's dormitories for 1945-46 will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, May 30 and 31, beginning at 1 p.m. in 15 Co-burn Hall.

The present juniors and sophomores will draw on Wednesday and the present freshmen on Thursday.

Drawing for The Elms will be held at The Elms at 1 p.m. on Wednesday for all students.

As in the past years the women are asked to have at least one roommate present to draw for their room.

Eagle Banquet

The annual Freshman-Sophomore banquet will be held in the Estabrooke rec rooms, Wednesday, May 30, at six o'clock.

During the evening, this year's Sophomore Eagles will tap the new members of the society from the freshman class; and Muriel Polley, president of Neai Mathetai, will announce the names of the ten freshmen who have attained the highest scholastic average this year. Those girls will be the new members of Neai Mathetai.

Thirteen Upperclassmen Named All-Maine Women

Four senior and nine junior women were honored last night when they were tapped All-Maine Women by this year's members of the highest non-scholastic honorary society at the University of Maine. Elected to honorary membership, at the annual banquet, was Mrs. Joseph B. Murray, wife of the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and house director at North Estabrooke this year.

The students newly elected to membership are as follows: seniors: Dorothy Currier, Jennie Manson, Ada Minott, and Ruth Stearns; juniors: Therese Dumais, Joan Greenwood, Elizabeth Jameson, Mary Libby, Virginia Libby, Joan Potter, Mary Frances Spangler, Harriet Steinmetz, and Virginia Tufts.

Dr. Payson Smith was the guest speaker of the evening and addressed the group on the subject, "The Challenge of a Changing World." Dean Edith G. Wilson greeted the guests; and Florence Armstrong, president of the All-Maine Women this year, acted as toastmistress. Student speakers on the program were Joan Greenwood and Kathryn Mills, for the juniors and sophomores, respectively.

Dorothy Currier is a home economics major, president of the Modern Dance Club and North Estabrooke. She has served on the WAA, WSGA, and General Student Councils, and is treasurer of the senior class and a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Jennie Manson, a mathematics major, has served as secretary and vice president of WAA, senior class leader, and senior resident. She is a member of the "M" Club, MOC, Pack and Pine, MCA, Chi Omega, and WSGA Council, was a member of the All-Maine hockey team, and holds the University Seal award.

Ada Minott, an English major, has been active in MOC, MCA, the "M" Club, hockey, basketball, and volleyball, is the manager of badminton and tennis, a member of WAA Council and Pi Beta Phi, and secretary-treasurer of the Contributors' Club.

Ruth Stearns, a home ec, is president of The Elms, secretary of the General Senate, WAA treasurer, "M" Club president, has been Home Ec Club secretary, volleyball manager, and a member of the All-Maine basketball and hockey teams and Chi

Knowledge Goes Beyond...

Yesterday, May 23, the annual Scholarship Recognition Day was honored by an assembly at the Memorial Gymnasium. These scholarships, awarded to deserving students here at the University of Maine, are more than a mere monetary payment. They symbolize the whole process of education, its effects upon our daily life and the part such an education plays in the future.

The education that is derived from these scholarships serves to increase the recipients' field of learning. But education is not the only reward of college life, and there is much to be said for the other qualities which are gained during the years of learning. The social and business contacts which come about through more active college living prepare students for a richer future. College life should serve to broaden and expand the student's mind. It should serve as a sounding board for democratic opinions and thereby increase the scope of knowledge and understanding of the student until he is able to take his rightful place in the future of the community.

MAINE ECHOES

Dear Mainiac—

The Maine campus is ready and willing to give up. In other words, the whole thing's off; and Maine Day is now a might-have-been. Yep, the weather finally thoroughly discouraged the committee, and they decided it would be better to just drop the whole matter now than to have the clean-up in the middle of August. After all, that would involve transportation problems in that we would all have to trek back for the occasion.

The All-Maine Women have been tapped another year, and the list of members grows longer. Maybe it would be easier if everyone automatically became one what with all the difficulties of picking out just a few of the outstanding girls. Mrs. Murray got a double dose of pleasant surprises this week when Dean "Joe" Murray arrived back in this country and she was named an honorary All-Maine Woman.

Colby's Dean Marriner was the guest speaker at the Scholarship Recognition Day assembly and at the honorary societies' banquet. The assembly was the usual cap-and-gown affair and very impressive. It seemed good to be a senior, for a change!

Next on the list of banquets is the Frosh-Soph one next Wednesday night. The new Eagles and members of Neai Mathetai will be announced that evening. Gosh, life's exciting around here lately. Never saw so many banquets and meetings.

The Masque show is due to appear this week. Did you ever see "The Night of January 16"? I'll warn you, it's weird. The repeat performance of some of our favorite faculty members should relieve the nervous tension a little, though.

The WAA class leaders will be elected next week, and then it seems as though the elections should be just about over for the year. Some day we're going to run out of ballots up here!

The Memorial Service Sunday should be something very special. Dr. Wilson is speaking, and the whole affair is to pay tribute to the Maine men who have lost their lives in this war.

Joe Wedge has been on campus for the last week or so; and we hear rumors that Windy Work and Bud Lyford will be back to college in the fall.

Baby Maynard and Don Flanagan are the latest newly-engageds; and Steve and Issy Ansell Jacobs have a new son, Richard Warren.

As ever,
 Minnie Lou

MOC Notes

Maine Day projects have been canceled, but the ski slope still needs to be cleared and the lumber is all ready for the construction of tables at the MOC cabin. There will be a crew working on these things both Saturday and Sunday afternoons, so that we will be all set for an extensive fall program.

There is a possibility of a Sunday canoe trip on Lake Chemo. Those members with boating permissions will be informed concerning further developments.

Frosh Club

The program of the Freshman Club last night was in charge of the interfaith committee. The movie, "The World We Want to Live In," was shown. It was followed by a discussion of the purposes of interfaith study and the need for it in the world of today and tomorrow. Helen Noyes, chairman of the interfaith committee, led the discussion. Other members of the interfaith committee are Marit Anderson, Sona Averill, Jean Campbell, Joan Chellis, Ann Harmon, Mary Ann Hillson, Mary Hollingdale, Barbara Patten, Donna Welts, and Mary Weymouth.

Pensive Pete

The other day, in the Portland Press-Herald, a small news item (tucked away between the headlines) made the thought-provoking statement that a poll had been taken and that, though fifty-five per cent of the people hoped to see the Democrats hold the national government in 1948, fifty-four per cent expected that the Republicans would get in. Now such an attitude may be analyzed with various results, but the most obvious conclusion to be drawn is that there is a large group of people in this country who are afraid, who have lost faith in the democratic processes upon which the formation of our government rests. Though a majority of Americans (according to the poll) wish with all their hearts that, for the good of the country, the Democrats could remain in office, they distrust the judgment of their friends and neighbors in voting.

I hope it will never be said that I do not support the freedom of the press, but I qualify my support by requiring that the press give an intelligent coverage of the news.

I am a habitual reader of the New York Times, PM, The Christian Century, the Commonweal, and the New Republic. But I think that if I read only our large local paper, I would be very interested in the "WAR" at San Francisco. To quote: "Reds Lose San Francisco Test"; "Molotov Tosses a Cocktail"; "Molotov Leaves Frisco, Stettinius, Eden Quickly Huddle on Polish Problem"; "Stands Pat on Plan for 11 Power Security Council, Small Nations Lose"; "Yielding Russia Restores Peace to Parley."

I was made aware of the acute miscoverage of the San Francisco Conference when I asked several campusites whether they thought anything was being accomplished by the Conference. The general tone of their replies was that there was more haggling and petty quarreling than an international conference could stand. These people also stated, flatly, that Russia was an absolute bugaboo, and that we'd be at war in another twenty years.

Now, there is actually much more unison and agreement of thought and action at San Francisco than the newspapers, and especially our large local newspaper which is a member of but one national news service, are willing to admit. Why? Partly because they, like little children, are peeved that the Soviet Union blocked a lobby made recently which advocated freedom of the press within the borders of all nations. No matter how valuable such an international policy would be, the notion still stands that newspapers are not supposed to make the news.

That this peeve against the Soviet Union exists is fact; whether it is the cause of the apparent slanting of the news against Russia is by no means certain. However, in papers which are members of other news services (such as INS, UP, etc.) there is a much less prejudiced approach to the problems and news arising from San Francisco.

But we, in northern Maine, are isolated from many direct contacts and news sources. We find, often, that we must rely on a single source, a source which does not reflect the interests or feelings (except at election time) of its readers. And so we run into people who are quite upset about the "WAR" at San Francisco, people who have lost faith in their diplomatic leaders, people who may have such a distorted concept of an international organization that they will not support what our leaders propose. The most we can hope for is a new, intelligent editorial policy in our large local paper.

Footlights And Ether

By Pavey and Davis

Last Thursday night the Masque presented "Death Takes a Holiday" which was directed by Tom Hood. We've heard it whispered around campus that this production was the most enjoyed of all the short shows this year. It certainly was grand entertainment and a very good contrast from the comedy produced so far. Bart Holm did an exceptionally fine and convincing portrayal of Death. Mike White also showed that she can be as adept on the stage as she has always been in the costume room. "Death Takes a Holiday" also revealed the fact that the Masque can defy fate. Two days before the show, Lee Bausch, one of the leads, left for the Navy Air Corps, and things looked pretty black to Director Tom Hood. However, Al Dumais took over the part, and with only two days' rehearsal succeeded in doing a very good job. "Death Takes a Holiday" was really a very fine piece of theatre and all those who participated in it deserve hearty congratulations.

The next short show will be May 31st and will be a humorous talk by Franny Moore. Those who have already heard it say that we have a big treat in store for us so don't miss it. The week following that will be "Lilies of the Field," the second major production of the Masque this term. It is English comedy at its best and promises to be extremely humorous.

and entertaining. Many funny situations arise when the twin daughters of a country vicar decide to take London by storm. They succeed in doing it, too, but the manner in which they go about it is most amusing. The cast looks pretty good, too, with such favorites as Ginny Merchant, Lee Davis, Joan Greenwood, Roger Gould, Lala Jones, Pat Hutto, Beth Clement, Al Dumais, Irma Miller, Dick Pratt, and Cee Pavey. "Lilies of the Field" will be produced on June 8th and 9th.

The last short show of the year is "What a Life" which will be produced on June 14th. The favorite Henry Aldrich play is familiar to all as very amusing entertainment. Steve Kodias as Henry promises to be exceptionally good. This show is a cutting from the entire play so that none of the humorous situations will be missed. "What a Life" promises to be very worthwhile and is a good choice to wind up another successful year for the Masque. More about this later.

Chemistry Seminar Hears Max Carter About Dehydration

Max Carter, a returned veteran and a student in Chemical Engineering, gave a report on "Potato Dehydration" at the Chemistry Seminar last Friday. He diagrammed the potato dehydrator used here at the University and explained its process. He also discussed postwar use for dehydration. Dr. I. B. Douglass brought to the attention of seminar members a report from the American Chemical Society about the need for chemists in all branches of chemical research.

A party will be given Friday night, May 25, at eight o'clock in 362 Aubert Hall for all seminar members. The program will include some original games suggested by the faculty, vic dancing, and refreshments.

Off Campus Women Elect New Officers Edith Strout, Pres.

Off-Campus women met Wednesday to elect officers for the coming year. Edith Strout, a sophomore Arts student, was elected president. She has been active in the Off-Campus Club and has served as co-social chairman for the past year. As president of the club she will act as representative of the Off-Campus women in the Women's Student Government Association.

Other officers elected were: Fay Jones, vice president; Morna Kimball, secretary; Stella Borkowski, treasurer; Helen Buzzell and Ada Minott, co-social chairmen.

This group serves as an organization through which the members are drawn into extracurricular and social activities.

Contributors' Club Tuesday, May 22

At the meeting of the Contributors' Club held Tuesday, May 22, the following were named as new members of the club: Valerie Parkin, Geraldine Small, Jean Campbell, Barbara Andrews, Lala Jones, Elaine McManus, Patricia Whalen, Patricia Palmer, and Ripon Haskell.

These new members will be initiated at the next meeting, June 5, with Dr. Milton Ellis leading the initiation ceremonies. At this meeting, there will also be the election of officers for the coming year.

Congregational Club

"The First Year of Marriage" is the topic for next Sunday's meeting of the Congregational Club. Reverend John C. Feaster, pastor of the Second Congregational Church of Bangor, will lead the discussion. This is the third in the series based on the theme, "Marriages Are Not Made in Heaven."

All students are welcome to the meeting which will be held in the MCA reading room at 5:00. A buffet supper will be served.

MOC Spends Soft Week-end Visiting Cold Stream Pond

Dave Sykes is convinced that the MOC is getting soft after spending a week-end at Professor Sparrow's de luxe cabin at Cold Stream Pond. What a camp, complete with a beautiful view of Cold Stream and all the modern conveniences of home including electricity and running water.

The girls and chaperons left campus at ten o'clock Saturday morning and drove in style to camp via the back road in hope of seeing some wild life. A quiet afternoon of bridge was spent as we waited for the various other members to straggle in in groups of two's and three's. One member of our crew was thrown off the track by Professor Sparrow's two horses. After supper Enfield and the surrounding country was invaded by curious MOC-ers. Following an eventful snipe hunt, we collapsed in front of the fireplace to toast marshmallows, pop corn, and sing while Professor Sparrow played the organ.

Breakfast was served at 5:30, sun time, with everyone attending except Sykes who braved the elements by sleeping out under the stars. Fishing was a minor part of the week-end because of rough water. Only Pvt. Larry Johnson was fortunate enough to recruit a chauffeur to row him around the pond for four hours while he tried in vain to catch a fish so he would be admitted to barracks when he returned to campus. The 64-dollar question is—"Did Larry make the barracks or did he spend the night under the cannons?" In the meantime, while Larry fished, the gang took a three-mile hike to Morgan's Beach in search of some excitement. 'Nuff said.

Our stroll made lunch preparation a matter of seconds for the famished hikers. After lunch the fairer sex reclined under the pines while the pearl diver and his crew put the kitchen in order. At 4:30 the taxis arrived to bring to a close our perfect week-end.

Memorial Service Sunday Is Tribute To Maine's Dead

Dr. Arthur E. Wilson will be the guest speaker at the memorial service to be held at 10:45 a.m. in the Little Theatre this coming Sunday. This service is to be given in tribute to the 123 Maine men who have given their lives in World War II; and President Arthur A. Hauck will preside.

Dr. Wilson was president of the Class of '23 at the University, president of the Maine Christian Association, and a leading distance runner in track. He was graduated from Hartford Seminary and received his Doctor of Divinity degree from Piedmont College. At present he is pastor of the Beneficent Congregational Church in Providence, R. I., director of the Rhode Island Congregational Conference, and a member of the National Congregational Church Building Society.

Music will be the anthem, "God So Loved the World," by Stainer, and a duet, "Hark! Hark, My Soul," by Shelley, to be sung by Betty Jenkins and James G. Selwood.

Distinguished Unit Badge.

BEAR FACTS

By Ivan Crouse

Although making twelve hits off Bowdoin's ace hurler, the Maine Bears went down to a 9-1 defeat Wednesday, at Bowdoin.

It was Bowdoin all the way, getting away to an early seven-run lead. They tallied five times in the first inning, adding two more in the second, sending starter Ed Woodbrey to the showers. "Lefty" Ouillette took over in the third for Maine, holding Bowdoin to two runs in a fine relief job. Several times, Maine had scoring opportunities, but were kept from tallying by Russell's masterful flinging.

Johnny Goff, speedy catcher, was the leading hitter for Maine, getting three out of four. Perry, Johnston, and Kalnin also chipped in with timely bingles, only to have all efforts go without reward.

One of the outstanding hurlers in this young major league season is rookie Dave Ferris of the Boston Red Sox. Ferris, a medical dischargee because of an asthmatic condition, created much hubbub plus a new major league record by opening his major league pitching career with 22½ consecutive scoreless innings before being scored upon. This did not seem to faze the 23-year-old rookie who, upon his next time out against the league-leading White Sox, set them down with four hits and no runs.

Although delayed for over an hour, the return game of the Bowdoin-Maine baseball series went on as scheduled here at Orono, Saturday afternoon. Maine took an early 3-1 lead, only to blow up defensively in the fourth inning to allow five runs to cross the plate. The Bears came back strong, the lead changing several times, until going into the ninth inning the score was knotted at 8-all. In the top of the ninth, two Bowdoin players reached safety, one on an error, the other on a walk, and after being moved into scoring position both registered tallies by stealing home as Woodbrey went through his windup. These runs were the ones that hurt, because, despite all efforts, Maine could not come from behind to tie it up. The final score, Bowdoin 10, Maine 8.

Woodbrey pitched a good game despite the fact he was the losing pitcher.

He matched Russell's strikeout for strikeout, and held Bowdoin to fourteen hits while Maine was getting to Russell for 16 bingles. It was a case of all the breaks being against. "Woody" personally pounded out three hits, including two doubles, stole two bases, and drove in the first two runs of the game.

The 1945 major league baseball season has seen the return of several old timers to active playing. Among these old boys attempting to make a comeback is James Emory Foxx, the greatest home run slugger since Babe Ruth. To date, this season Jimmy has maintained a .300 clip at the plate and driven one out of the park. This one homer came in a game with the World's Champion St. Louis Cardinals, when Foxx appeared as a pinch hitter. Jimmy came through in fine order driving in three runs ahead of him. All was in vain, as the Cards came back with four in the ninth to salt away the game.

The Maine tennis team was again a victim of circumstance Saturday in a scheduled match with Bowdoin. Despite the cold weather, the team was ready to go, but Bowdoin refused to play except upon the clay courts. Because of the rain, the clay courts were in no condition to be used, necessitating a cancellation.

It was a tough break for the team, for this year they have the men that could beat Bowdoin. It has been several years since Bowdoin has been downed by Maine, and things were shaping up in such a way that it looked as if Bowdoin would take a good trouncing for a change.

To The Editor . . .

Dear Sir,

In the V-E Day Assembly of May 8, President Hauck referred to an earnest plea by a young American in a foxhole who hoped that if he could not get back to fight for the peace—as he has been fighting to end the war—he hoped that the people back home would take up the task. Evidently that sincere young man does not have much confidence in the people of his land—people unable to go off to the battle fronts, and yet incapable of fighting and planning and thinking of maintaining the peace this warrior is fighting for. Unfortunately one needs only to walk about the Maine campus to note that this is bitterly true.

Students of Maine, let this American soldier's message—and his hopes—be a challenge; a challenge to think earnestly of all issues and problems that face this country, nationally and internationally; a challenge to at least attempt to arrive at an intelligent opinion; a challenge to make use of the voice and the pen to do what little we can in forcing America's voice to be heard strong through the roar of power politics and totalitarian methods.

An Ivory Tower is a dangerous menace to peace. Let us use ours as a weapon for peace. Let us resolve to take up the challenge of the American soldier. Let us prove to him that we have been working for him, so that we need have no shame, so that we can be proud of a new world we have helped him to build.

Yes, Armstrong did it again! For the third consecutive time Florence Armstrong has captured the title of winner of the WAA badminton tournament. Over 50 girls participated in the tournament, so you can see that the competition was at a high level. As we look through the match scores we see that Flo's average can easily be estimated at 11-1 all of the way through. She defeated Marjorie Maxim to the tune of 11-0 11-0 in the final match. Marjorie had previously defeated Nora Chipman 11-7, 11-3 in the semi-finals, and Flo had defeated Jay Dennison. Congrats, Miss Armstrong, you have what your name implies, no doubt!

Jottings from everywhere: . . . Despite the small attendance the Square Dancers had a great time last Saturday night dancing to the strains of Madeline Duffy's music. Due to the efforts of these expert callers, Martha O'Brien, Mary Hubbard, Barbara McNeil, Ruth Haines, and Ken Hodson, the party was a success. . . .

WAA banquet posters will be on your bulletin board next Monday. All who expect to attend are urged to sign up. Everyone is invited, so take heed. You Frosh probably aren't sure exactly what goes on at this banquet:

All WAA awards for the year are given, which includes everything from health "M's" to the class Plaque. The class plaque is given to the class accumulating the highest number of points acquired by winning games, tournaments, and the like. The class of 1944 won the Plaque last year. . . .

An important message to the members of Modern Dance Club: All members who are interested in dancing for the Pop Concert are asked to be present at an important meeting in the Women's Gym at 1:05 next Monday. Come over from the Little Theatre after voting for your WAA class leaders. . . .

Speaking of class leaders, don't forget the compulsory meeting of all freshmen, sophomores, and juniors in the Little Theatre at 1:00 to choose your leaders. Each class leader is responsible for her class's WAA activities for the whole year.

In case you haven't heard, the class volleyball tournament decision was a very close one. The sophs won by a tight margin of a half of a game! Whew! . . .
