Outside Winter Sunbathing Is Assured By Tech Scientist

This lovely co-ed was spotted behind Estabrooke yesterday noontime, taking a sunbath in the mechanically controlled airzone created by Technology scientists in the first test of their new electronic geocalorator.

Developed by Dr. Darrence B. Clennett, author of Testaments In Outside Orbits, nationally-known specialist in elliptical energy, Professor of Exlaxial Physics at the University, the geocalorator promises to remove any possibility of wintertime showing up at the University of Maine.

Although this electronic device is now in operation only in the zone near Estabrooke, where unusual amounts of ice establish more than a casual challenge to the Technology students participating in the experiment, it will take only a few more days to perfect plans for University-wide airzone conditioning, according to uninformed sources.

All women are reminded of the University ruling on bathing-suits and sun-shorts.

Plans For The Winter Carnival Include Rafnell, Snow Contest

Lloyd Rafnell's band, a Carnival Ball complete with Queen, the snow sculpturing contest, and winter athletic events for all will go to make up the 1947 edition of Maine's Winter Carnival, February 21 and 22.

The semi-formal Carnival Ball will open festivities Friday evening, February 21, from 9 to 1 a.m., with Rafnell furnishing the music. Coronation of the Carnival Queen will highlight the affair.

She will be elected by popular vote from a list drawn up by a representative body of students. The dance is to be limited to 350 couples.

Saturday, the Queen will rule over athletic competition between men's dorms, fraternities, and women's dorms. She will also inspect the displays produced in the snow sculpturing contest, sponsored again this year by the MOC.

The MOC is offering a cup, to be retained by the winner for a period of one year. The following rules have been decided upon:

1. The sculpturing must be of either ice or snow, structural bases may be used, but they must be entirely concealed. Coloring may be used.
2. There shall be no work done on the sculptures after 8:00 a.m. Saturday, February 22.
3. Application forms have been sent to all houses and dorms, and these must be returned to box 143 by February 12.
4. The sculpturing must pertain to some activity connected with athletic or carnival activity.

The judging will start at 9:00 Saturday, Feb. 22, and the points that will be judged will be: 1. Appropriateness, 2. Originality, 3. General appearance,

Aggie Students Rank Their Teachers; Dean And Profs Pleased With Results

By LARRY DUNN

The College of Agriculture, pioneer of the Teacher Rating System here at Maine, has just completed the Fall Teacher Rating reports, written on a completely optional basis. From evidence available at press time, the plan is a success and well taken by all concerned. Those interviewed said that, on the whole, students did not misuse the program.

Brunswick Masque Gives 'Room Service' As First Theatre Production

The Maine Masque of the Brunswick annex presented its first play of the year on the stage of the Recreation Hall on the Brunswick campus Jan. 14, 15, 16. The play was "Room Service" directed by Frank Hansen, head of the speech department of the Brunswick annex.

Herschel Bricker, Maine Masque director on our campus, said that the play was extremely entertaining and that the actors were very promising. According to Hansen the play could have been cast over three times because of the widespread talent and interest among the Brunswick students.

Men's Senate Talks Of Theft, Furniture, And Constitution

At the semester's fourth meeting of the Men's Senate Thursday night, January 16, theft, North Dormitory furniture, and outdoor lighting at the Field House were discussed before the new constitution was presented.

Dean Wieman asked the Senate to aid in curbing petty thieving. Although stealing is not near the magnitude of this past Fall's fraternity theft, "lifting" is still being practiced, he said.

Representative Hal Jack asked the Dean about the removal of some furniture during the Christmas vacation. Exigencies of the coming Spring se-

Agriculture Opens An Essay Contest On Aggie Needs

To stimulate interest in the College of Agriculture and to obtain suggestions as to how it can be improved, the Agriculture Club announced today that it will hold a Prize Essay Contest on the subject, "The Needs of the College of Agriculture as I See Them."

This contest is open to any Aggie majors in either the 2 or the 4 year courses. The prizes range from $20 to $5 with all decisions left to the three judges, Dean Deering, Prof. Libby, and a student, Carol Richardson.

Rules for the essay are: (1) length not over 1000 words, (2) typewritten, double-spaced, on one side of paper only, (3) manuscripts must be turned in to Mr. Loring not later than February 12, 1947, and (5) name of author should not appear on manuscript but should be placed upon separate sheet of paper.

The essays will be judged 70% on content and 30% on presentation. The winner will be announced at the Agriculture Club Meeting, February 19th.

In an interview last Tuesday with Arthur Lowell Deering, Dean of the College of Agriculture, he announced that students in his college were filling out Teacher-Rating reports this week.

Dean Deering emphasized that the system in Agriculture is entirely voluntary on the part of the individual instructor, and that in no cases does the Dean or the Head of the Department find out the results.

"The object of this system is self-improvement on the part of the instructor; for that reason, the program is entirely voluntary, and in no cases are instructors required to make reports as to the results of these tests to the Departmental Heads or to the Dean.

When asked whether this system was used fairly by the students, the Dean replied:

"On the whole, the students have been fair in their grading of instructors. Of course, in some cases there are exceptions, but these are easily spotted when they are compared with the class average."

This system was first adopted by Dean Deering in the spring and fall semesters of 1938, during which 176

Dance Will Climax March Of Dimes Infantile Drive

By KAY BRIDGES

The annual campaign to combat infantile paralysis will be climaxed Monday evening, Feb. 10, at eight o'clock in the Memorial Gymnasium. At this time, Chi Omega sorority will sponsor the March of Dimes stag dance.

The proceeds from this benefit stag dance will all go to the March of Dimes fund, which is utilized to fight the dread disease, infantile paralysis, all over the nation. Half of Maine's contributions will remain within the state.

Chaperons for the affair will be Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jenkins, Dean and Mrs. Glenn Kendall, and Dr. and Mrs. Asa Adams. The guests will be President and Mrs. Arthur A. Hauck and Mr. and Mrs. George Nystrom.

For the benefit of those students and faculty members who do not plan to attend the dance and who would like to contribute to the March of Dimes fund, contribution boxes will be placed in the dormitories, the bookstore, and the M.C.A. building.

Hood Scholarships Go To Five Aggie Students

Five students in the College of Agriculture have been awarded Charles H. Hood Dairy Foundation Scholarships, according to Dean Arthur L. Deering.

Those receiving the awards were Jean M. Ritchie, Trenton, N. J.; Raymond L. Olmsted, Charleston; Holyoke P. Adams, Melrose, Mass.; Jasper C. Haggerty, Jr., West Hartford, Conn.; Robert E. Smith, Dixmont.

Spring Registration Will Take Place Next Mon., Tues.

Registration for the spring semester will take place in the Memorial Gymnasium on Monday and Tuesday, January 27 and 28. Students will register by alphabetical groups in the order determined by the drawing which was held recently. Jean Huftnagel, president of the General Senate, and Sandy Adams, editor of the Campus, officiated at the drawing.

The schedule for the next two weeks as announced by Mr. Gannett, registrar, is as follows. Following registration will be final exams from Wednesday, January 29, to Friday, February 7, inclusive. Freshman Week for new freshmen will be from Saturday, February 8, to Monday, February 10. New students and students returning

Union Main Lounge Will Be Built By Students Now Here

The classes of 1947, 1948, 1949, and 1950 will contribute to the building of the Main Lounge, central lounge of the Student Union Building, the Memorial to Maine's war dead, according to plans adopted by the Student Advisory Committee. This committee is made up of the presidents of some fifty student organizations, societies, and clubs.

The Main Lounge will be used by all the students at one time or another, since it is convertible. It can be used as a motion picture theater, as a lecture hall, as a dance hall. With the connecting Men's and Women's Lounges, the Main Lounge forms a ballroom. Adjacent to the Main Lounge is the Terrace, which will be used in pleasant weather.

The Main Lounge will cost $100,000, equaling the student share in construction of the Memorial. The other eight-ninths of the cost will be contributed by alumni, faculty members, and friends.

Richard Harkness Speaks At Brewer

Richard Harkness, Washington correspondent and news commentator for the National Broadcasting Company, will make a public appearance at the Brewer Auditorium next Monday night, January 27.

Tickets, at $1.20, are on sale at the Bookstore between 12 and 1 p.m. every day. The lecture will begin at 8 p.m.

Harkness was connected with the Philadelphia Inquirer as Washington correspondent during the time that Wayne Jordan, Professor of Journalism here, was Managing Editor of the same paper.

Now, Our Comment

The Maine Campus hopes that the faculty will feel free to present its views to the student body through this column.

In return, we hope the faculty won't mind us having our say on the matter.

Last week, an instructor suggested a plan whereby freshmen would be segregated in composition courses. He would place poorly-prepared students in one class, and well-prepared students in another. This plan has some flaws:

1. Students in the "backward" section would be given the same undergraduate credit as those doing college-level work in the "advanced" section.
2. Students in the "backward" section would not benefit from the competition and social contact of better-prepared students.
3. Screening several hundred freshmen at the beginning of each year would be an impossible task to assign the faculty, or administration, or whom-ever would be given the job. The University tried to do it, before the war, and was unsuccessful.

United, We Stand

Unsportsmanlike demonstrations at basketball games are rare at the University of Maine. That is why we were surprised, as well as disgusted, by the activity of several students during the Colby-Maine game last week.

They booed the coach.

We suspect that the reputation of the University fell because of the carelessness of these few. After all, it was the University's first loss on the home floor. To a visitor, it might look as if the University can't take its losses as well as its victories. We hope that the Colby students noticed that the majority of University students in the gym upheld the standards of sportsmanship set in years past.

Sparkling Parties Come First, Then Ball And Chain For Men

Balentine was the scene of a lively Saturday night party. The theme was "Gal in Calico." Chaperons were Dr. and Mrs. Crawford and Dr. and Mrs. Kirshen.

The Estabrooke girls held a "Morning After" party Saturday night in the downstairs "rec" room. The room was decorated with gala streamers, balloons, and caricatures of persons feeling the effects of the "morning after." Programs were pink elephants. Music was provided by the newly organized "Maine Cubs." Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Hartgen and Mr. and Mrs. Starr.

AOPi gave a pledge tea last Sunday from 3:30-5:00 at the Crossland home, Riverdale. This tea is given annually by one of the five sororities for all new pledges and their sorority mothers. This year it was a particularly lovely affair (Mrs. Hitchner's spice tea was a real hit).

We hear that the "Shipwreck Party" held at Phi Mu Delta last Friday night was a great success. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Cornell and "Ma" Yale chaperoned the party. ATO held an informal "ski clothes" party the same evening.

Delta Tau had a sleigh ride and vic party Saturday night—real informal (no one was allowed on the floor with shoes on). Mr. and Mrs. Munro and

Wants Teacher-Rating Given Trial; Disdains Student-Unmannerliness

To the Editor,

For the last few weeks you have been printing a lot of comments about teacher rating. Isn't it about time that someone did something about it?

Why doesn't the University establish a trial period during this next semester and see how it works out?

To the Editors,

It takes only a cursory glance at the student list to make it quite apparent that most of us are scions of the hills and hamlets of Maine. But is it not time we adopted the ways of civilized people? Should we make a wild dash from the assembly hall while the President of the University is still speaking? And is there anyone in this fair college who when coughing has sense enough to put a handkerchief over his mouth? What impression will Dr. Elliott take back to Harvard? The Governor of Maine says we must decide whether the University of Maine is to emphasize quantity or quality. It appears that we have given him our answer. Perhaps we should judge ourselves before we attempt to grade our Prof.

Join Up, Flunkie

The time has come for veterans of World War II who saw service in the kitchens of the Army to band together. The air force has their own organization. The P.T. Boaters have their group. The women vets have organized. And so, the K.P.'s of the war, the men who fought with pots and pans, the men who fed the men behind the guns should group together for their common interests.

During the latter part of the war and immediately following the termination of active hostilities, many undesirables were taken into the Army kitchens; they were men who had previously been engaged in such repulsive activities as shooting guns, drilling recruits, pounding typewriters, driving trucks, and a million other menial tasks which required little or no knowledge. In an effort to keep out these undesirables, the following restrictions have been set up on those desirous of joining:

- (1) Must have served as a K.P. for no shorter period than six months before the end of hostilities.
- (2) Must be a member of the student body of the U. of M.
- (3) Must attain a point average of no more than 1.5 on final exams, and get at least two "F's" or three "E's."

The organization insignia will be crossed bars of G.I. soap, representing the main tool with which the K.P.'s defeated Hitler's storm troopers.

Admittance will be gained by serving in the mess hall in Memorial Gym for one week. The line forms at the right.

Modern Manners

A battered, but bravely-persevering 1941 Ford club convert skidded to a stop before the bookstore. A boy got out and turned to assist a lovely girl companion. Now it is always fun to watch a well-built coed get out of a car, but this one showed promise, promised to show or something, since she was struggling with an armload of books.

As she slid out of the car, the hem of her skirt crept upward. She managed to free a hand to tug half-heartedly at the hem. But—the boy holding the door for her gallantly assured, "Don't worry, honey. My weakness is liquor."

Snowtime Fashions

Christmas came, went, and Santa seemed to be particularly kind to all the girls on the Maine campus. He gave out lots of winter sports clothes.

We've noticed quite a few new brightly colored ski sweaters. They are smartly decorated with reindeer, bears, trees, hearts, and a good many other figures. Along with the sweaters go matching mittens and socks, hand knit and attractively designed.

The ski clothes we've seen are tailored to catch anyone's eye. Trim gabardine and Botany wool ski pants stitched down the front are the choice of the season. Jackets in bright colors with hoods and plaid linings add a great deal to the beauty of the ski slopes. And to complete their outfits the girls have chosen fur-covered ear muffs, and wool head bands to keep their ears warm.

A number of the girls prefer those neat gabardine parkas to jackets, and heavy checked or plain flannel shirts. They're "Voguey" to say the least and we're all in favor of them.

Yes, indeed, Santa was an alright guy. He did quite a bit to make the Maine co-eds look like models for Mademoiselle.

Bear Facts

By FRED McDONALD

Spirit can mean the difference of quite a few points in a basketball game. Taking the recent Colby tilt as an example, we feel that by a simple mathematical process it is possible to figure that the fighting spirit of the Mules was worth 37 points! How did we come at that figure? Here is the formula.

Secret Formula

In the previous game with Colby, Maine won by a score of 77-57, a margin of 20 points. The game played last week was won by Colby with a 7 point difference. The latter tilt was on the Bears' floor and it is an axiom in basketball that the home team has a 10 point advantage. 20 plus seven plus 10 equals 37 points.

Remember Guilford?

Maybe it is far-fetched, but there seems to be no other logical way to explain it. The Mules were pointing for that chance to knock the high flying Bears from their perch atop the roost. And how they did it! It's an old saying that "a team that won't be beaten, can't be beaten." Perhaps this theory can be riddled, but nevertheless it furnishes thought.

Prestige Points

It is a bad situation when a team goes into a game with an opponent who is underdog by such a margin as Colby was on the eve of their contest. Bad business for the favored team! Colby had the spirit that seemed to say, "We have everything to win and nothing to lose." It was true. The Mules had not a single thing to lose in that game.

Fighting Mules

The aspect of the game that must have looked good to a neutral observer (if there was such a creature in the gym that night) was the fighting, never-say-die spirit that Colby showed. It is games such as this that gives the real sportsmen a tingle, and makes him glad to have had even the small role of spectator at the event.

"Nuff Said"

As a member of our staff who covered that game for the Campus noted, maybe the loss will do the Bears more good than if they had won. Let's hope so but meanwhile, hats off to that Colby team. Students of Colby College must have felt the same way because when they heard of the Mules' victory they turned out en masse in the driving rain to meet the team at the Waterville railroad station in the wee hours of the morning.

Every team has a night such as the Bears had against Colby. It seemed as though everything the Pale Blue did was wrong. It's out of their system now and maybe from here on in they will exhibit the brand of ball that we know they are capable of from their early season record. Potentially we feel that they are one of the best teams ever to represent the University. It is up to them to prove it.

Intramural Stretch Drive

Although there is no varsity basketball game for the campus this week, we feel it would be well worth your while if you could take in those final games in the intramural loop. It's been a great season for them with a very good brand of basketball having been played.

Wrong Guess

Of course you have been waiting for us to notify you that our predictions finally hit a snag (as if we hadn't heard of it). Our wrong guess in the Colby game plus our correct forecast of the Bates-Bowdoin clash gives us a standing of nine correct out of ten guesses

Hoop Play-Offs Are This Week

Maine Cindermen Take Eleven Firsts In Bowdoin Meet

Riding over the handicap of the loss of several key men, Coach Jenkins' pit and cinder club grabbed 11 firsts out of the 13 events staged at Brunswick last Saturday afternoon to accumulate 67 big points to Bowdoin's 50.

George Marsanskis was top man in the point-getting department for the Bears with firsts in every weight contest for an individual total of 15. Elmer Folsom captured the 1000 yard and mile jaunts, while Wally Brown walked off with blue ribbons in the 300 and 600 runs.

Bob Emerson went highest in the pole vault and farthest in the broad jump to take top honors in those two events.

Another first was registered by Les Cole in the 40 yard dash, as Martin Hagopian took second in the same event.

Others chalking up markers for the Bear cause were Libby in the discus, Beale in the high hurdles and high jump, Morton and Everett in the two-miler, Collins in the 16 pound shot, and Sam Silsby in the 600.

South Portland High School's track team will meet the Pale Blue Jayvees in a meet to be held Saturday at the local Field House.

Colby Is Outclassed By Curtis' Team

In a hastily scheduled winter sports meet, Coach Ted Curtis' ski team rolled to a perfect score victory over a hard trying but outclassed Colby College squad last Saturday at Orono.

The meet was arranged following the cancellation of the events slated for Bridgton and Lewiston last week end. All the Maine colleges were invited but only Colby was represented here Kim Stanwood of the Pale Blue copped the jump with a near record leap of 75 feet. Jan Willoch took the cross-country with a time of 31 minutes and 26 seconds for the new six-mile course. Benny Bernard and Willoch tied in the slalom at 26.2 seconds.

To Open Thursday, Final Is Saturday

The intramural basketball season drew to a close this week as the four league leaders prepare to battle it out for the intramural championship of 1946-1947.

The first round in the playoffs will take place tonight at 7 o'clock when building 16, champions of the Prexy Hauck League, meets West Oak, champs of the Dean Wieman League. Both these teams are unbeaten. At 8 o'clock powerful Phi Mu Delta plays the winner of the Beta Theta Pi-Kappa Sigma contest to decide the fraternity champion. The dormitory winner will play the fraternity victor at 2 o'clock Saturday for the championship.

Some of the highlights of last week's games included building 16's smashing victory over the "five old men" from the Trailer colony, 91-35. Oliver, Fish, and Clifford all scored freely for the winners, and the Trailers had to be satisfied with the fact that #16 did not reach 100.

Barracks 12-15 staged a great last period rally to nip building 18 by a 36-34 score. #12-15 was behind by 10 points as the last quarter started but played heads-up ball to take the decision. Busby of the winners chalked up 21 points to be high man for the game, while Joey Gordon of #18 played well in defeat.

Phi Mu Delta continued on its unbeaten way by rolling over a scrappy Phi Kappa Sigma quintet, 67-45. Bill Bonville of Phi Mu was impressive in the victory.

Last Thursday, buildings 7-9 squeezed by South Hannibal Hamlin, 27-25.

Jack Joyce Is Standout As Bates Downs Maine To Lead In State Series

Jack Joyce hit the nets for 37 points to lead the Bates Bobcats to a 68-60 win in their state series outing at Lewiston last night. Ted Boynton with 15 points paced the Pale Blue scorers.

Maine led at the half, 27-26, but was unable to stop the sensational scoring efforts of Joyce in the second half. The Maine Jayvees dropped their tilt to the Garnet juniors 78-74.

Intramural Hockey Omitted This Year

Stanley M. Wallace, director of intramural athletics, has announced that hockey will not be included in the intramural schedule.

Wally added, however, that any fraternity or dormitory desiring to play contact him; and he would schedule games for an unofficial league or reserve the rink for any two teams desiring to play. Equipment for one goalie may be obtained through his office.

The rink, located by the tennis courts, has a hockey rink and an area for general skating. It is flooded regularly and every effort is made to have snow removed as soon as possible after every storm. Lights have been installed for night skating.

Fighting Bears Take Bowdoin 50-47 Sat.

By MURPH LINEHAN

It was dogged determination that brought home the bacon for Coach "Eck" Allen's court quintet last Saturday night at Brunswick, when the Bears came from behind to pull out a 50-47 win over a hard-working Bowdoin five.

The first canto was played in a rather rough manner with more personal fouls than shots at the basket being recorded. The meager total of 18 points was registered by both teams in the very tightly played initial period.

"Shum" White, playing at the injured Al Burgess' position, gave a good account of himself in garnering rebounds off the Maine backboard, while Ted Boynton held the scoring spotlight for the half by virtue of his deadly accurate set-shots. The half ended with Maine ahead by the narrowest of margins, 21-20.

In the third frame, the Polar Bears took over the lead which they didn't relinquish until the final minutes of the fray, when Speirs tallied two quick net-stretchers.

Dancing Classes Will Start Soon

Social dancing classes for backward but ambitious and willing students will begin Thursday, February 13, sponsored by the MCA.

Miss Eileen Cassidy, of the Women's Physical Education department, will conduct the classes. Mary Anne Dineen will be the pianist.

The classes will be held in the Balentine Smoker, every Thursday, from 4:45 to 5:45 p.m. Both men and women are invited to come at that time.

Politics Club Plans Next Meeting On 'Negro Problem'

"The Negro Problem Today" will be the topic for discussion at the next meeting of the Politics Club. The meeting will be held Wednesday, February 12, at 7:30 o'clock in the Faculty Room of South Stevens.

At the last meeting, "Toleration" was discussed. The classical origins of toleration were discussed as were the subjects of economic and social toleration. Special emphasis was placed on the responsibility of the universities in the perpetuation of tolerance.

high scorer for the night with 17 points, and another contributing factor in Maine's conquest was the smooth ball-handling and all-round excellence of play by Ken Cosseboom.

One of the most exciting moments of the tussle came when there were 35 seconds of play remaining... Maine had just gone into the lead on White's two-pointer when Bowdoin's Packy McFarland was awarded two free tries on a foul, but Packy's obvious nervousness caused both attempts to bounce off the rim to climax the tense situation.

George O'Donnell nailed down the lid on the victory with a fast court-length dribble and lay-up shot.

MEN'S SENATE

mester necessitated the alterations, Wieman said. The need of lights to illuminate the north exit of the Field House Dining Hall was introduced by Don Spiller.

Discussing the Constitution became active when the question of membership to the Men's Senate was brought up. The campus will be divided into "residence groups." Each group will send a representative per forty men. A remainder of more than 26 men will authorize one more representative. The following will be considered "residence groups": Each dormitory with all wings, ells, or other appended structure shall be considered one residence group; each fraternity; the proctors; and off-campus men.

Among other things, Dean Wieman said he thought perhaps he was cramping the style of Men's Senate by attending, and that it might be a good idea if he stayed away. While talking to representatives after the meeting, the Dean of Men stated that he was better able to present the will of the Senate at faculty meetings if he had first hand information of the Senate's views which can best be gained by attending the meetings.

The Constitution is to be rewritten by the Constitution Committee to include suggested corrections made by the representatives, and then presented to the Men's Senate again at the next meeting.

PROF RATING

class periods containing 3,538 students participated.

As to the use of the College of Agriculture's Teacher Rating System in other colleges of the University, the Dean said, "Our 14-point rating includes the qualities we wish to stress in Agriculture. Any other college here might wish to stress different points. I believe that each individual college should decide upon its own individual system, if a Teacher Rating system were adopted for general use here at the University of Maine."

Wondering how the individual instructors in Agriculture felt about the system, The Maine Campus asked two of them for opinions.

In answer, Professor Maurice Jones answered: "I have used the program in the past and it has been very helpful to me. In most cases, the students used it very fairly."

Professor Howe W. Hall said, "This program has been very beneficial to me. It has been used very fairly by the students in my classes."
