Union Building Campaign Opens Monday Como Sings To Queen

R. H. Fogler Will Speak At Fund Assembly

The Union Building Fund campaign will be officially opened next Monday, February 24, with a special University Assembly at which Raymond H. Fogler '15 of New York, General Chairman of the Union Building Fund Committee, is to be the chief speaker. James F. Donovan '48, Chairman of the Student Campaign Committee, will preside.

Other speakers at the assembly will be President Hauck, Ralph Barnett, Donald Spiller, and Betty Jane Durgin. Chairman Donovan states that there will be several surprise announcements which will show that the campaign is off to a flying start.

President Hauck will speak briefly on what the Union Building will mean to the University. Two students have been chosen to give their version of what the Union Building will mean to Student and Alumni life at Maine.

Don Spiller, captain of the North Dorms team of 74 workers, is to speak for the men. Speaker for the women will be Betty Jane Durgin, President

World Prayer Day To Be Observed At Orono Friday

The World Day of Prayer will be observed by the Orono Protestant churches at the Methodist Church, Friday, February 21, at 3:30 p.m.

A universal program has been prepared by Mrs. Isabel Caleb. A native of India, Mrs. Caleb is on the staff at Ewing Christian College, Alhababad, India.

Heading a committee for the Orono observance are Mrs. Thomas Pedlow and Mrs. Fred Griffiee.

There will be nursery attendants to care for small children during the service.

Kimball Makes Plans For Penny Carnival Scheduled In April

Early plans for the annual Penny Carnival, this year to be held in April, are going steadily ahead, according to carnival chairman Morna Kimball.

Other committee chairmen are as follows: publicity, Doris Stanley; decorations, Pat Palmer; refreshments, Babe Bruce; program, Elaine Perkins and Helen Buzzell; admissions, Norma Drummond; concessions, Polly True and Mary Bachelder; and money, Clarice Easler.

The theme of the event will be "Merry Go Round Madness."

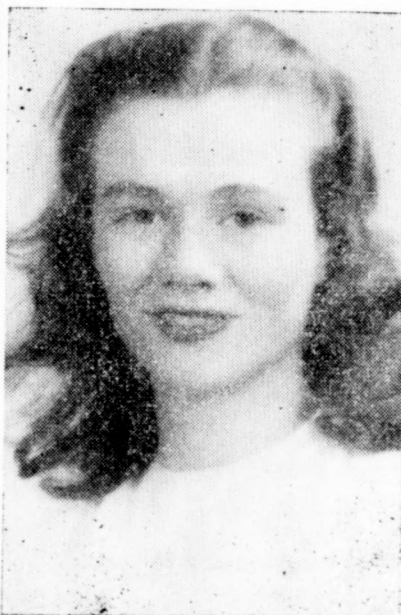

Aggie Contest Due Date Set Back To March 1

Aggie Club President Paul Dow has announced that due date for all entries in the Aggie Club Essay Contest has been extended until March 1.

Pat Hutto, Jim Haskell Get Leads

By JOE FLOYD

Miss Patricia Hutto and James Haskell have been chosen for the starring roles in Maxwell Anderson's "Joan of Lorraine," the March production of The Maine Masque, according to an announcement made by Director Herschel L. Bricker.

Miss Hutto, who will play the dual role of Joan and Mary Grey, has long been associated with the Masque, having appeared in several "Short Shows" and in supporting roles of some of the more ambitious productions.

Jim Haskell is a Masque veteran, as well as being a veteran of the last war. He will portray Director Jimmy Masters. Haskell took part in several shows before leaving for the Armed Forces.

Choosing the male and female leads was not an easy task for this is not a run-of-the-mill play. The whole plot

John Sealey Seeking Ex-Naval Aviators

Former naval aviation officers and enlisted men interested in continuing their flight experience are being sought by John Sealey, Alumni Secretary.

Such persons should sign a list in the Bookstore entrance or see Mr. Sealey at his office in the New Library.

HOLIDAY

Saturday, February 22, is a school holiday. It is Washington's birthday.

New students particularly should be mindful that cutting 24 hours before or after a holiday carries with it a severe penalty.

All Students Able To Hear First Release Over WLBZ

Maine's 1947 Winter Carnival Queen will learn of her destiny and be softly serenaded by Perry Como, nationally famous songster, on the Chesterfield Supper Club program, Friday evening, 7 p.m., over WLBZ.

Five Judges Named To Award New Cup For Snow Sculpture

Five judges of snow sculpturing will make their rounds to determine the winner of the MOC-sponsored contest next Saturday morning.

The five judges are: President Arthur A. Hauck, Dean Elton E. Wieman, Dr. Frederick Martin, Mr. Vincent Hartgen, and Miss Reba Bason.

Last year's winners, the Elms, took the old cup out of circulation, and this year will see the awarding of a new cup. Competition begins again on a five year basis, the cup going eventually to the house or dorm winning the greatest number of times in the next five years.

The MOC reports that all fraternities, all women's dorms, OCUMMO, and Off Campus Women have so far entered the competition.

The winner will be announced between the halves of the Maine-Rhode Island game, Saturday evening.

Koinonia To Meet Sunday At MCA

The Koinonia Club will meet at 7 p.m. Sunday, February 23, at the MCA Lounge. There will be a general discussion of questions brought up by the group. Mrs. Morla Timberlake will be group advisor.

For the past three weeks, Koinonia Club has had discussions on C. B. Lewis's book, Christian Behavior.

Everyone is welcome to the meetings.

The Como program will mark the first release of the Queen's name, and will allow every student to hear the big news at the same time.

Changing from accepted tradition, that of announcing the Queen at the Ball, the Intramural Athletic Association went along with THE MAINE CAMPUS in arranging this publicity stunt.

Actual plans for the announcement were made by Dana T. Whitman, Jr., Business Manager of The Campus, and local representative of the Campus Merchandising Agency. Sports Editor Fred McDonald originally conceived the idea for the nationwide announcement.

Dance Will Be Held Friday Evening In Women's Gym

A couples dance with music by the Maine Cubs has been arranged for this Friday night in the Women's Gym by the Maine Newman Club.

With no stag line, the dance committee asks that men wear suits, and the girls dresses. Tickets will be $1.50 per couple, and dancing will continue from 8 until midnight.

The dance was planned at the last minute to provide entertainment for students not able to attend the Carnival Ball. The Carnival Queen is expected to make an appearance at the dance after her coronation.

Maine Debaters Enter Tournament At U. Of Vermont

Four Maine debaters—Kay Kennedy, June Swanton, Royal Graves, and Larry Jenness—will leave with their coach, Dr. Runion, to participate in a debate tournament at the University of Vermont.

The tournament will extend over the entire weekend, and from fifty-two to sixty debate teams will be participating in each of the five rounds. The question to be debated is the national collegiate question: Resolved, That Labor Should Have a Direct Share in the Management of Industry.

Brewster Speaks Here Monday Will Discuss Problems Facing Congress

Owen Brewster, Maine's junior senator, will speak in the Little Theatre next Monday afternoon at 4:30. Brewster, on a quick trip through the state, will discuss current problems facing Congress, and will answer questions.

Senator Brewster's appearance is being sponsored by the International Relations Club.

With the Republican victory at the polls last fall, Senator Brewster has become one of the most important men in Washington. He served on the War Investigating Committee, popularly known as the Truman committee, and also in the Pearl Harbor investigation.

He is now chairman of the Senate Special Investigating committee.

Brewster is a graduate of Bowdoin College and Harvard Law School. He served in the state legislature and as Governor of Maine from 1925 to 1929. He was elected to represent the third district in Congress in 1935, moving to the Senate in 1941.

Senator Brewster is a shrewd lawyer and a forceful speaker.

Artist's Sketches Shown As Drive For Union Begins

Probable Location Is Planned For Spot Near Cannons

The artist's sketches for the Student Union Building, Memorial to the 175 Maine men who died in the Second World War, recreation and activities center for the University, have been completed in time for the beginning of the Student Union Drive which will start next week.

The Student Union, as planned by both students and alumni committees, has been applauded by many people who are connected with Union buildings at other colleges.

The Union will probably be located near the cannons, between College Avenue and Coburn Hall.

The proposed Student Union will include many much-needed facilities. A large non-profit cafeteria will be operated on the ground floor of the Union, and connected with the cafeteria will be a Snack Bar. Any profits made in the cafeteria will be set aside against the expense of running the Student Union; the student advisory board will be acquainted with the handling of accounts.

On this floor also will be eight bowling alleys, pool tables, ping-pong tables, and other game facilities. Off the recreation room will be a large terrace facing the river.

One flight up, on the main floor, will be the lounges, Dining Room, Memorial Room, and Union offices.

The lounges, when opened into each other through the use of moveable partitions, will form a ballroom with more floorspace than the Memorial Gymnasium can offer, and with ample room for chaperones.

On the second floor, a faculty lounge will be provided. Occasional visiting alumni will also use the lounge. Alumni offices, including those of the General Alumni Association and the Placement Bureau, will also be located on this floor.

On the third floor, student organizations and clubs will be provided with sizeable meeting-rooms. Sororities will each have a storage closet, and the use of one of the rooms apiece on Monday nights.

All sorts of service rooms, such as storage closets for furniture, kitchenettes, big kitchen, locker rooms, and other rooms, will be scattered throughout the building.

The building will cost $900,000.00, and the students have been asked to contribute $100,000.00 of it. The drive on campus will start this Monday, and will continue until Friday.

revolves around the clash of two philosophies of life. This is done without the usual trappings of the theatre as through the entire play the stage is set as one would find it at any rehearsal. There is no continuity of drama for action continually shifts from the scenes in rehearsal to the squabble between star and director.

Adding to the difficulties of the play itself are the lack of time for adequate rehearsal; there remain only three short weeks before the opening. Like Jack Horner who sat in the corner, Miss Hutto and Mr. Haskell have found the plum in the pie but can they like little Jack Horner pull out the plum and say "What a good boy am I!"?

Cast in the various supporting roles are Joyce Faulkner, Bill Brown, Richard Irwin, Marnel Abrams, Richard Dennison, and Al Ford of "Elizabeth the Queen" fame.

FRONT ELEVATION (above), facing eastward, shows the faculty-alumni terrace off to the left on the second floor, the modified colonial architecture of the proposed Union, similar to Stevens Hall, with the columns and careful window design, the beautiful entrance.

REAR ELEVATION (below), facing the river view, shows the large ground-level terrace off the Recreation Room and Snack Bar, and the long terrace off the three first-floor lounges. The large windows on the ground floor and the first floor were proposed in order to take advantage of the view.

Remembered from "State of the Union" are George Berger, John Balou, Lala Jones, and William Starbird.

Also in the cast are William Stone, Robert Preble, Edward Dennison, John Crooker, Calvin Friar, William Horner, Dorothea Butler, Rita Flynn, Saralyn Phillips, and Robert Patten.

Bill Brown is Assistant to the Director, and Beth Clement will be in charge of all backstage work.

Best O' Luck

On Monday, the student drive for the Student Union Building Fund will begin. By our next issue, the drive will be running at its climax.

This week, we have published some architect's sketches showing various views of the building.

There is a great need for such a building on the Orono campus. At the annex, in Brunswick, the Student Union is in constant use. (Theirs is a converted Officers' Recreation Hall.) With three or more times as many students at Orono as are now at Brunswick, the need for such a building can not very easily be overlooked.

And the plans of the Union do fill the need. The facilities which were asked for by the Student Union Advisory Committee (composed of the presidents of some fifty-odd student organizations, societies, and clubs) are all incorporated into the Union plans as published recently in the Campus.

Good luck, students, in the drive for the Union.

Here's How . . .

A howl of remorse went up from all quarters last week. There were only 350 tickets sold for the Winter Carnival Ball! And, of these, the Intramural Athletic Association membership received the vast majority.

Who is the I.A.A. membership? Dorm, House, and Off-Campus groups which send representatives to the Intramural Association's meetings. Yes, off-campus men are supposedly included, though they did not receive more than a handful of tickets for their whole number; that is because their representative never got around to I.A.A. meetings. And, yes, North Dorms received only sixty-or-so tickets, but they send only three (two who are active, and one who is dormant) representatives to the I.A.A. meetings.

First off, we feel that the I.A.A. was very short-sighted in its belief that only 450 tickets were desired by the students (from this figure, 100 was subtracted because a booth-filled floor can't hold more than 350 couples). Second, we feel that tickets should have been allotted to a blanket ten-percent of all students on campus and distributed equally to each group. The percentage pinches, but it's fair.

Out of tradition, the I.A.A. has always handled the Ball in this manner; could they have foreseen the day when they would have to stave off ticket-buyers? The members of the dance committee tell us that they have heard the complaints, and are sorry that this problem developed.

Now, let's not allow this to happen again. Let the General Senate handle all situations of this kind, in trust for various sponsoring organizations.

Phil Reveals Information Concerning Ticket Situation For Carnival Ball

To the Editor:

Since the Intramural Ball ticket sale, the undercurrent buzz of dissatisfaction has grown to the point where fair-minded students, members of the faculty and administration, would take notice and investigate the situation. The problem was not one of getting everyone in; we realize that is impossible due to our over-crowded conditions, but instead, the problem was to get the available tickets distributed equally and fairly.

Here is the situation roughly:

At the present time, the Intramural Council is composed of men from the fraternities, dormitories, off-campus, and the North Dorms. Each fraternity has one member, each dorm has one, and the North Dorms have three. By virtue of this lop-sided membership, the fraternities have a distinct advantage in the voting; and, more recently, in the ticket-distribution. Before tickets were put on sale, members estimated the number they would want. Each submitted his estimates and, by virtue of the physical impossibility of knowing the wishes of upwards of seven-hundred men, the representatives of the North Dorms presented a figure much smaller than actually was desirous of going.

As can be seen, this was unfair and should be corrected so that further injustices to this worthy group of men will not occur again.

To correct this situation, the Intramural Council should be enlarged to the point where each man on it will represent an equal proportion of the student body, and carry an equal load.

Once this is done, the representatives in the North Dorms will know the wishes of the men they represent, and will be able to present them at the Council meetings; in turn, these representatives will be able to convey information from the Council and its advisers back to their men in the Dorms. With this new arrangement, liaison will be effective and the problems can be reduced greatly.

It is time to modify our procedures from our tradition-worn set-up to those which meet present-day problems sincerely, effectively, and positively.

—PHIL CRAIG

Do The Bookstore Profits Really Go To Help Athletic Fund, Reader Asks

AN OPEN LETTER

To: The student body:—

According to all the advertisements and propaganda about the book store, excess profits go to the athletic fund. What is the athletic fund doing with it; saving up for a new field house?

Never before has the book store made so much money, yet the only expenditure for athletic equipment this writer has been able to find for the fall semester is the purchase of a new aluminum vaulting pole. How much did that cost us?

The locker rooms have never been dirtier. From personal observation, the locker room on the second floor of the west side of the building hasn't been cleaned in any manner since the middle of January. Even that last cleaning did not encompass in scope such activities as dusting the tops of lockers and other surfaces.

There is no manpower shortage. Mr. Chalmers has a list of boys who want to work in the mess halls. Certainly there are some among them who would just as soon clean up the locker rooms.

By the appearance of the line in the book store, there is no shortage of money in the athletic fund. There has been no reduction in prices and few improvements in the book store. Someone is being taken for a sleigh-ride. And, boys and girls, I think it's you.

(There is an unofficial anecdote: Joe College was leaning over the counter when a package of books was unpacked; on the flyleaf the retail price was marked plainly—too plainly, evidently, because the clerk erased it and marked it up twenty-five cents.—Ed.)

Hartgen Impressions

Vincent A. Hartgen's impressions of State of Maine landscapes in the fall and winter are now being shown in the Art Gallery. Mr. Hartgen, who drinks coffee and serves punch, as well as lectures, in the Art Gallery, is instructor of art at the University.

His show is the most recent of a series of exhibits being given in the Art Gallery.

Mr. Hartgen's technique in water colors is a new departure, possibly the answer to the challenge made by photography to modern artists. His method is to become aware of a certain scene in the moment of a single flash; he claims that some of his most successful paintings have been the result of a flashing view seen from the window of a railroad train.

Unusual Technique

By abstracting all the important features, and thus leaving out all the petty details, Vincent Hartgen captures the true character-impression of a view. The Art Gallery visitor finds himself fascinated by the crystalline perspective created in each one of the paintings.

The usual contemporary artist attempts, through the use of abstracted detail, to create in his finished work the movement characteristic of real landscapes; with the advent of photography, contemporary art has found a challenge to its concern over detail. Art, then, is moving toward simplification. Hartgen is one of the many artists who are bringing this trend into being; his radical technique is unusual and stimulating, and quite different from anything shown recently in New York. Very possibly, it is the first step into a new phase of art.

Pleasing Paintings

His water colors successfully capture the transparent qualities of the real landscape, although an occasional painting appears gross at a glance. This paradox seems to be universal with his work: though he paints what he sees in a flash, full appreciation of the delicacy and depth of his work comes only after viewing the picture for a minute or so.

Hartgen's work is pleasing, not disconcerting, and has been popular this week with students who have visited the Art Gallery. One coed was overheard to say, "I'd like to decorate my room with them. They're real art!"

Soldier Art Contest

Vincent Hartgen, for all his youth, a young wife, two children, and their South Apartment which he likes very much, is a recognized artist, having presented exhibits of his work in Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia, Reading, Chicago, and Newburg. While he was in the Army, he continued to paint, and several pieces of his work were placed on exhibit in the National Art Gallery in Washington, D. C., during the Army's Soldier Art Contest.

More than forty paintings have been completed by the artist during the past four months; he had previously made preliminary sketches in the State of Maine, and he worked from these sketches. He relies on much time to plot his work, to develop the composition and balance, "so the trees won't seem to be toppling over," and each work takes weeks to perfect.

Vincent Hartgen's present technique follows the result of much specialized study. A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Fine Arts, he sketched many scenes in Europe, and has completed paintings set in Belgium, France, Italy, England, and Scotland. He has received recognition for his work with the Cultural Olympics in Philadelphia and for his service on a nationwide tour of thirty leading American art centers as curator of the Anne Hyatt Huntington Exhibition of Sculpture.

Coffee And Punch?

The Hartgen show will remain at the University Art Gallery until February 28. Then it will be divided, part going to the Whyte Gallery in Washington, D. C., and part going to the Pennsylvania State Teachers College, for exhibition.

Coffee and punch? Coffee is almost always brewing in the kitchen-office. And when the faculty was invited to the opening last Sunday afternoon, punch was served. There was enough left over for the students in Vincent Hartgen's Monday class.

In the small gallery, a series of travelling exhibits is being shown. Every two or three weeks, the exhibit changes. Coming up soon is an exhibit by Dali.

Use Of Radios Is Ruled Out For Few Coeds

A ruling against the use of radios by frosh women students with a point average of less than 1.6 was made at a meeting of the women's house presidents and senior residents last Monday. The regulation that such students may not have radios in their rooms was made to aid women who desire less noise in their rooms during study hours.

For students who have roommates with an average of less than 1.6, no provisions have been made, as the room may not have a radio. Should students desire to move around within the dorms, hoping to find a more conscientious roommate, permission of the Dean of Women is required.

Cash Is Available For Book Review

Cash prizes totaling $300 for the best book review of "The Practical Brewer" have been announced by the Master Brewers Association of America. First prize will be $200.

A second award of $100 will be given, and all reviews must appear in a college newspaper or magazine. The publication in which the winning review appears will receive special recognition.

"The Practical Brewer," published by MBAA, is the first book ever written to explain in simple and readable terms the 6,000-year-old process of making beer. It is designed to serve as a practical manual for the brewing industry and as a source of accurate and authentic public information on brewing, its history and progress.

Jayvees To Wind Up Season Against Higgins Classical

The jayvee basketball squad will wind up their season on Saturday night when they meet a potent Higgins Classical Institute team in the preliminary to the Maine-Rhody tilt at Memorial Gymnasium. Action is slated to start at 6:30 and all wise sport fans who wish to sit in on this one will be firmly entrenched by that time.

The JV's have been playing spectacular basketball lately. The strong game that they put up against the Annex team did much to enhance their reputation. Higgins, meanwhile, is in the running for a berth in the Prep school tourney that will be held here at the University the first of next month.

Bob Kelly and Ed eKith will probably start at the forward posts for the jayvees; Chesley or Al Wing at center; Norwood and Morrill are likely candidates for the opening guard spots.

As has been the custom in the jayvee games the whole squad will probably see action. Cervone, Trainer, Hanson, Sinert, Beals, J. Kelley, Macdonald, Poulin, and Dombkowski will all be in there throughout the tilt.

Physics Club Hears Prof. Kimball On Math

A meeting of the Physics Club was held last night, with president Nick Johns presiding. Professor S. H. Kimball, head of the math department, was guest speaker and had for his subject, "What is Mathematics?"

All students interested in physics are invited to become members of the Physics Club.

Maine ROTC Quota Is Revised Upward

Upward revision of the Maine ROTC unit's quota was recently announced by General Courtney H. Hodges, CG, First Army, N. Y.

Maine will now be able to enroll 315 students in the elementary course, which is an increase of 59 over last fall's group. The advanced groups have also been enlarged.

The quotas apply to the remainder of the 1947 fiscal year. Over the country, ROTC will be offered 7091 college or university students at the elementary level, and 1877 students will participate in the advanced training.

Deutcher Verein Meets Wednesday At Gallery

Deutsche Verein, honorary German scholastic society, will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, February 26, in the Art Gallery. The speaker for the evening will be Vincent Hartgen of the art department. The topic will be German Art. At this meeting new members will be initiated.

CARNIVAL EVENTS

skating and hockey as ice conditions are too uncertain.

In Saturday morning's contests, Dorm and Frat men will compete separately. The Dorms will be first and will be followed by the Fraternities. In the afternoon events, heats will be timed or judged so that all the contestants will be able to compete together.

Entries for the coming snow carnival have been slow in coming in, but the ones received contain the names of such men as "Moose" Murdock of Beta house, who has signed up for all events, Dana Bunker and Bob Dutton of Phi Gamma Delta, Don Stebbins, former ski-trooper, and Malcolm Colby, SAE.

Phi Eta Kappa has been the outstanding leader in the past ski and skating events. Phi Eta took the crown consistently from 1939-42, before the war depleted the ranks of competing athletes. Again last year Phi Eta won the men's intramural winter sports championship and is a strong contender this year for the crown.

During the war period the carnival went on as usual, but it lacked the color of past performances. Events in these years consisted mainly of competition between A.S.T. units and the few remaining civilians.

Bears To Meet Bowdoin Skiers And Rhody Hoop Squad

Bear Facts

BY FRED McDONALD

Did you ever hear a lost calf calling for its mother? Well, that is what a lot of so-called sport fans have sounded like at recent Maine basketball games. The funny part of it is, half of the people that are booing their displeasure at the referees don't have the slightest idea of what they are booing at.

Nobody Is That Wrong

It isn't only the referees that are the target for this abuse but it seems to fall on everyone from the coaches down to the pop-corn vendors (Referee Wedge included). Rival players that are just as human as anyone have been booed at the slightest provocation. How do you suppose this jeering affects them? Why should they be made to feel that they are the contemptible beings that the attitude of our recent audiences would make apparent?

It's Uncalled For

There is no need of it and we should all feel glad that only a minority of the general public are admitted to our games. We should be thankful that our games are not being broadcast. The impression that this conduct would give to outsiders would certainly not be favorable—far from it. Would you care to have some person that you respect, such as your mother or father, as your guests at one of our home games? You bet you wouldn't!

Mistakes Are Inevitable, But...

The referees will make slips. Sure, they are only human (contrary to general opinion). But when a crowd cuts loose with those raucous boo's every time a ref calls one against the home team, regardless of the obviousness of the violation, it's a sorry situation. If you think a foul is called wrong it is your privilege to let him know about it, but is the boo necessary?

Here's What Happened—

At last week's Northeastern game, a technical foul was called on one of the Huskies. Before the next play got underway, the Northeastern coach got up off the bench and walked towards the referee. Immediately the boo's rained down out of the galleries. Everyone was convinced that the coach was raising a fuss over the decision. Would you really like to know what went on in that conversation?

A Coach's Privilege

The coach merely said, "Norby, what was it all about?" Dowd replied, "I warned him twice to give me the ball, then he tossed it away from me. I called a technical on him." The coach again, "Do you think that you used good judgment there?" "I certainly do," replied referee Dowd. "O.k.," said the coach, "you are calling them." That was all there was to it. Did this coach, an ex-GI, deserve the jeers he received for trying to find out what was going on?

He Thrives On It

Next time before you cut loose with those boo's think, just for a minute, first. How would you feel if you were on the receiving end instead of someone safely hidden in a crowd slinging that mud around? Against Rhody this Saturday night there is going to be plenty of opportunity to boo the antics of the Ram's colorful coach. Don't do it. He merely eats it up and likes it. He is a real showman and wants the attention of the crowd regardless of whether it is booing or cheering. Don't boo and he will feel slighted. I know that we will all feel better.

Remember the 175!

Snow Really Needed For Weekend Tilt With Polar Bears

Provided that the snow that we now have still is on the ground this week-end, Ted Curtis' skiers will meet teams from Bowdoin and possibly Bates. Colby was invited to take part in this week's meet but because of scheduled examinations, was forced to decline.

Bates is slated to compete in a meet with Tufts this week end but if snow conditions do not improve, that meet will have to be postponed, clearing the way for Bates to come to Orono.

The Maine skiers have been handicapped by a lack of competition and snow these past two weeks. Slim Broomhall did take part in the Olympic tryouts at Lake Placid last week-end, however, finishing 12th in the combined jumping-cross-country.

Little is known about the Polar Bears other than the fact that they are considered very strong in the down-hill and slalom events. Just how these men will make out on the fast Bald Mountain run is a matter of conjecture. Broomhall, Jan Willoch, Gil Leclair and Kim Stanwood should add up valuable points for Maine in the jumping and cross-country. Benny Bernard and Mike Roy can be depended upon in the down-hill and slalom.

Coach Jenkins Requests Students Use Bleachers At New Hampshire Meet

Coach Chester Jenkins said that bleachers would be set up in the field house for Saturday's track meet with New Hampshire. The campus has been asked to request all students to make use of these bleachers and not to come down on the track. Events will be run off much smoother and quickly if you will cooperate and remain in the stands.

Maine Track Squad Meets Powerful Wildcats Saturday

Two undefeated teams will meet in the Maine Field House Saturday afternoon when New Hampshire stacks up against Coach Chet Jenkins' tracksters in what should be one of the standout meets of the indoor-season.

Highlight of the meet should be the appearance of the Wildcat's "Boo" Morcom who is considered one of the best pole vaulters in the country. Morcom came out on top in the recent B.A.A. games in Boston with a vault of 14 feet in his specialty. During his brilliant career he has cleared 14 feet on 13 different occasions in competition. His highest mark was set in the IC4A, 1942, when he set a new record indoor-leap for that meet—14 ft. 4 1/2 inches.

Morcom is not a one-event-man. He has done 6 ft. 7 1/2 in. in the high jump (a New England record), and 23 ft. 10 in. in the running broad jump.

Maine's George Mansanskis will have

Broomhall In Leap

CHARLIE BROOMHALL, one of our better skiers, placed twelfth in the Olympic try-outs at Lake Placid. This shot was taken during the State Meet at Rumford, his home town.

Cross-country will be held on the Maine course, starting out in back of Memorial Gymnasium, while the jump will take place on the ski slope, Saturday afternoon. Curtis said that undoubtedly it would be necessary to haul in snow for the jump area to insure proper coverage.

Pale Blue Quintet Takes On R. I. Rams Saturday Night

BY MURPH LINEHAN

"Pop" Keaney's rip-roaring Rhode Island Rams will move into Memorial Gym next Saturday night to take on a rejuvenated University of Maine court quintet. As of late the Bears have shown a lot of their old fight and fire by virtue of their upset win over a strong New Hampshire club 70-69 and an 80-60 walloping handed to Northeastern.

Maine staged a "Frank Merriwell" finish in the N. H. fray, with Al Burgess in the person of Frank... for with but a minute of play remaining, and the visitors hanging on to a one point advantage, Al arched a beautiful set-shot, swishing the net for the 70th and winning point.

Against Northeastern, Burgess and Ted Boynton both led the scoring parade amassing 43 points between them. Maine's floor play and all-round alertness in the encounter with the Boston club had all the flavor of a championship club.

Sporting a record of 13 victories as against a single reverse, Rhode Island comes to Maine with all the color and zest that is their tradition. The small-staters can't afford a loss at this stage of the season what with a bid to the national tournament to be held in Madison Square Garden most certainly headed their way.

Coach "Eck" Allen's Bears on the other hand have a glorious opportunity to turn an otherwise mediocre season into a banner one by knocking-off the Rams, a feat which would probably send blustering Frank Keaney into hysterics.

Probable Starting Lineups

Maine	Rhode Island
Burgess	RF Blount
Boynton	LF Goodwin

Goddard	C	Allen
Curtis	RG	Nichols
O'Donnell	LG	Scalfani

Officials: Charles Wotton (Rockland), John Fortunato (Lewiston).

Top Scorers Led By Boynton, Burgess

Ted Boynton, Al Burgess and Charlie Goddard were the big guns of the Bear's scoring attack last week, as three of the Pale Blue advanced their totals into three-figure marks. In three games Boynton chalked up 54 points, Goddard hit the nets for 37, while Burgess collected 36.

Leading varsity scorers:

The prospect of matrimony has recently taken several popular co-eds from our midst—among them are Lancy Carter, Beverly Boyd, and Sylvia Peterson.

Maine's loss was Manhattenville, New York's, gain—in the person of Laurel Clements. Laurel's many friends are going to miss her, but they are pleased that she has been offered such a wonderful opportunity for furthering her career in music.

The ATO boys gave their mid-winter houseparty last week end with the Valentine's Day theme carried throughout the week end's activities. At the semi-formal which started things off on Friday night the entire house was filled with the atmosphere of hearts and flowers—both literally and figuratively. Music was provided by "Nat" Diamond and his orchestra. Chaperons were Mrs. Ruth Whitney, Dr. and Mrs. Robert York, Mr. and Mrs. William Sezak, and C. C. Devereaux. Saturday a buffet supper was served, and after the game a vic dance was held. The party festivities were climaxed Sunday noon when the boys entertained their guests at dinner. The ATO social committee was headed by Ralph Gould.

Sigma Nu and Theta Chi entertained at vic dances last Friday night. Sigma Nu had about thirty couples attending. Chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. Benjamin Kent, and Mr. and Mrs. Baxter. Twenty-two couples attended Theta's party. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith.

Allen And Healy Will Debate Conscription At Politics Club

An informal panel discussion of "Peacetime Military Conscription," with Miss Marjory Allen, New England Youth Secretary of the American Friends Service Committee, pitted against Major Rickard Healy, is scheduled for the next Politics Club meeting.

The meeting, to be held in the upstairs lounge of the MCA, will be at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, February 25. Light refreshments will be served after the discussion.

Miss Allen, coming here to recruit interested students for Friends' work projects in the summer, herself requested to be able to present her views against conscription before a political discussion group.

A graduate of Southern Methodist College, Miss Allen received her master's degree from the University of Texas.

Members and other interested persons are invited to be present.

The work Miss Allen is recruiting for includes such projects as interning in mental hospitals, taking part in peace caravans, and creating recreational and community settlements.

Students interested in speaking personally with Miss Allen should contact MCA General Secretary Charles O'Connor.

Sororities At Maine Begin Spring Rush For New Members

Open sorority rushing for non-sorority women of all classes was begun Monday, February 17, according to word received from Panhellenic President Jan Brown. Open rushing means that girls in whom sororities are interested will be contacted directly. Rushes must have made a two-point grade at the end of last semester in order to be considered by any sorority.

Bid preferences will be sent out and signed on Tuesday, Mar. 14, from 12:30 to 3:45. Preferences will be signed in the Faculty room in South Stevens Basement. Bids will come out Wednesday morning, March 5, between 9:30 to 12:00, and bow-pinning will take place in the various sorority rooms from 5:30 to 6:00 in the afternoon.

Perlberg To Speak To Wesley Group On Races Of Man

Mr. Josef Perlberg, Director of the Bangor Hebrew Community Center, will speak this Sunday to the Wesley Foundation in the Orono Methodist Church vestry. The meeting will begin at 7:00 p.m. and last until 9:00 p.m.

Mr. Perlberg will give an illustrated talk on "The Races of Mankind." The Wesley Foundation urges all students to attend its meetings.

At the last meeting, a business meeting was held at which the members made plans for an Easter play, decided to publish a regular newspaper, arranged for Sunday night suppers, proposed that the vestry be opened on Saturday nights so that ping-pong and other games could be played, and discussed various topics which could be included in the Forum programs.

of the Women's Student Government, who is one of the women members of the Student Campaign Committee. Ralph Barnett, Chairman of the Organization Committee, will outline campaign plans.

The final speaker will be Mr. Fogler, who will tell something of the campaign plans and objectives. Jim Donovan and other chairmen will then announce the results of their activities.

Mr. Fogler, President of W. T. Grant Company, is a native of Hope, Maine.

He was graduated from the University in 1915, having worked his way through college. He also holds a master's degree from Princeton University. As an undergraduate he was a Senior Skull, and also elected to Phi Kappa Phi. He is a member of Sigma Chi.

As an alumnus, he has a conspicuous record of service to the University and to the General Alumni Association of which he is a past president. He is past president of the New York Alumni Association, is president of his class and president of the University of Maine Foundation.

His first position was executive secretary of the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture. He then became a trainee with the Grant Company and advanced rapidly to a responsible executive position. For about five years, he served as President of Montgomery Ward Company, which position he resigned to return to the Grant Company as President. He is a director or trustee of many fraternal, civic or educational institutions including the chairmanship of the Board of Trustees of Oak Grove Seminary in Vassalboro. In recognition of his achievements and service, the University conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws upon him in 1939.

Five of his children have attended the University.
