SCHOOL REPORT.

Our school year of thirty-seven weeks is drawing toward its close. It has been a thoroughly successful year, with a corps of teachers unusually efficient, and a student body of which we feel proud. We often hear of the superiority of the old times and the old schools, but at least we believe that in the present generation, children go to school more willingly and eagerly than they used to do, and that their general attitude is thus more receptive to the good influences of school life. A healthy child should not "creep unwillingly to school" in these days.

We have suffered more than usual from sickness in our schools this year, and in three districts there are still some weeks to be made up, if the time can be found at the end of the spring term. That explains some of our unexpended balance.

The largest items of expense under the repair fund have been for supplying new seats and a hard wood floor at the Harbor schoolhouse and for the building of the belfry at North Fryeburg. In the latter district the pupils and teachers deserve great credit for their public spirit. Their own funds paid for the bell and a substantial sum toward the belfry. The changes planned for East Fryeburg were not made, as there was a preference in the neighborhood for the present arrangement of rooms. Next year that schoolhouse should have the new floor and seats. The West Fryeburg schoolhouse, too, is in great need of a new floor. When the seats were changed there last year, we were not able to afford the new floor. That is one of our largest schools now, and for the sake of warmth and cleanliness, it should have this improvement.

There are few changes to report in regard to books. Our policy has been, as we are obliged to renew our books, to buy those which are up-to-date, without making the radical move of changing text-books in an entire subject at once. We have been able this year to supply physiologies, which are thoroughly modern, to all the ninth grade pupils. The new Civics readers, too, which have been put in the hands of the older scholars have given general satisfaction and will help them, we hope, on leaving school, to understand some of the ideals of good citizenship. Almost every school this winter has had at least one class using for supplementary reading, a story teaching kindness to animals. For children living in the country it seems reasonable to place more emphasis on love for animals and humanity in the treatment of them, than on the usual nature study.

Last year, through a mistake, the extra money asked for, under the book fund to use for maps, was not appropriated. Geography, as it has been taught, has been one of our weakest subjects, largely because we have so few maps. We need them greatly and we ask this year for an appropriation of three hundred dollars to cover books and supplies and maps.

We also ask an appropriation of three hundred dollars for repairs and improvements.

Under the general fund we ask an appropriation of twenty-two hundred dollars.

The financial statement for the year follows:

AUDITOR'S REPORT.

I hereby certify that I have examined the accounts of the town officers of the town of Fryeburg for the year ending Feb. 17, 1911.

I find that itemized bills have been rendered, all of which are properly receipted and approved by the head of each department and are now on file to be examined by any one desiring to do so. The collector has made his collections and settled with the treasurer and it seems to me that the officials of Fryeburg in all of the different departments have performed their duties in a creditable and businesslike manner.
