'Yankee' Is Poor Play, Well Done

BY BILL BRENNAN

The Maine Masque Theatre opened its 42nd season last night, and was most impressive as far as acting, costuming, lighting, and sets were concerned. However, to this unaesthetic mind, the play itself was poorly chosen.

"The Magnificent Yankee" is a vehicle which requires thought. It has a definite message—just what isn't too clear, unless it's keep "fighting long after the race is over." But for a play here at the University, there is too much history involved.

It is indeed fortunate that Arnold Colbath and Lydia Backer were given the leads in the play. Both Colbath and Backer did magnificently well, growing old in a very nice and very convincing manner. Miss Backer was especially good, and to this writer she carried the play.

Outstanding in the supporting cast of 21 persons, was Harlan Witham, as Henry Adams, and Joanne Mayo as Mary, the housekeeper. Witham, an alarmist deathly afraid of each successive President of the United States that passed through the play, was perfect for the part. His actions, voice inflection, and stage manner were identical. (Continued on Page Eight)

Class Primaries Coming Tuesday

Final Elections Will Follow On Monday

Primary elections for all class officers will be held Tuesday, November 18, with final elections coming Monday, November 24. Polls for Tuesday's election will be located in the Administration building, open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Each student, in voting, will write in his choice for each of the four officers in his class. Nominees with the greatest number of votes will then be advanced to the final election, with their names appearing on a printed ballot for general voting.

The Senate continued to grind out business in an efficient manner at the Tuesday meeting, acting upon:

(1) The need for unified effort in relief work in disaster areas. Louis Bouchard, Lorraine Littlefield, and Bruce Folsom were appointed as a committee to accept monies and handle immediate details of some kind of campus-wide drive.

(2) The need for adequate light in the Field House parking area to prevent theft. Louis Bouchard was appointed to bring this matter to the attention of the proper authorities.

(3) The appointing of student members to the University Social Committee. Students appointed were: Al Savignano, Ken Vennett, Phil Catir, Jean Cunningham, Olive Coffin, and Betty Baker.

(4) The appointing of student members to the Student Publications Committee. Members named were: Barbara Andrews, Mary Ann Dineen, Bryce Lambert, and John Grant.

(5) Rules and regulations governing lounges in the old library, expected to open after Thanksgiving. The Senate decided to have the lounges open as much as possible during early days of operation, and then judge future hours by student demand.

Debate Tourney Continues

The Maine intramural debating tournament is in the second round of activity this week, with eight debates being held. Debating on the losing side of the bracket will begin next week, when 16 teams each having one defeat will meet.

Results of the first round of debating are as follows: Rideout and Russell (N) defeated Logan and McLaughlin (Aff); Berger and Abrams (Aff) won over Foote and Moriarty (N); Brewer and Jordan (Aff) defeated Whitney and Partridge (N); and Miller and Levinson (N) bested Snyder and Stimson (Aff).

Varsity debaters and members of the speech department are acting as judges.

THE WINNER

SAE, with the display pictured below, took first place for fraternities in last week's decoration competition. Other firsts went to North Estabrooke and North Dorms.

Honorable mention went to Delta Tau Delta, Colvin Hall, and Oak Hall.

The homecoming committee wishes to thank participants for their enthusiasm, and states that awards will be made in the very near future. —Newhall Photo

Dorms Named Corbett, Dunn

The two new men's dormitories at the University of Maine have been named for the late Lamert S. Corbett, dean of men from 1929 to 1945, and the late Charles J. Dunn, chief justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine and treasurer of the University from 1909 to 1923.

Constructed at a cost of over one million dollars, Corbett Hall and Dunn Hall house about 500 men students.

Dean Corbett

Before becoming dean of men at the University in 1929, the late Lamert S. Corbett served as professor of animal industry and head of that department from 1913 to 1939. He died February 8, 1945.

Born in Jamaica Plain, Mass., the late dean had attended Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst, receiving the B.S. degree. In 1909, he was awarded his B.S.A. degree from Boston University, and in 1913 his M.S. degree from the University of Kentucky.

ROTC Asks Return Of Fire Shoes

Lt. Colonel Glassen of the ROTC Unit asks for the return of the 232 pairs of shoes issued to personnel fighting fires in the recent disaster.

All shoes are to be returned to the ROTC Supply Room as soon as possible. Each individual will be held accountable for the pair lent to him. Colonel Glassen states that those persons who lost or damaged their shoes while fighting the fire must present a statement to that effect to the ROTC Supply Room. A survey will be presented to higher headquarters and, if it is approved, individuals who lost or damaged their shoes will not be required to pay for them.

Canada Tops Union Drive

By exceeding their Union Building Fund quota, Canada has become the first of 61 areas to achieve that distinction, Raymond H. Fogler, New York, general chairman, announced today.

News In A Nutshell

By TRAPPER

DEMOCRATS WERE HAPPY last week when the results of local U. S. elections rolled in. . . The Republican Party was defeated in a number of cases. The most significant defeat was in Kentucky, where a Republican Governor, state and municipal office candidates were replaced by Democrats. . . The Republican Congressional majority begins to show signs of nervousness, and many of them are wondering if their opposition to the European Relief Program has not been a political boomerang. . . There is some indication that the G.O.P. may call a halt to political ballrolling until the next election. . . At any rate, they have postponed the Tax Reduction Bill until the regular session.

A FOUR YEAR PROGRAM of aid to Europe under the Marshall Plan, to cost between 12 and 17 billions, was recommended to President Truman by his Committee on Foreign Aid, headed by Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

THE DEPUTIES of the Council of Foreign Ministers held their second meeting in London on the German peace treaty, but failed to achieve an agreement on a single issue put before them. . . Most of the disagreement was, of course, between the U. S. and Russia.

IN PARIS, strikes by municipal workers crippled all public services except transportation. Premier Ramadier offered a wage compromise in an effort to induce strikers to return to work.

CHINA: Last week 30,000 Communists were attacking Shihchiachuang, key communications center in central Hopeh Province.

WASHINGTON: Howard Hughes brought forward witnesses, in the reopened investigation, to commend his work and to accuse his Senate inquisitors of unfairness to him and of over-tenderness toward the alleged contributions of the Army to his production difficulties.

Phi Mu Holds Warm Razzo For Four Indiscreet Pilgrims

By SAM JONES

Phi Mu Delta was an unexpected host last Friday evening when they held a small Razzo for a few of the visiting firemen. These four hapless pilgrims from the South made one of the greatest of intercollegiate social errors: tearing down Phi Mu's Homecoming decorations.

Pity they who had spent the chilly afternoon hours erecting their house display. Pity, too, the Phi Mus and others who spent the even chillier hours of the late evening supervising the replacement of said decorations. But never pity Bowdoin!

Nearly everyone was feeling in fine spirits—including, of course, the willing workers. Dark as it was they soon saw the light and eagerly responded with mind and muscle. The small mob, which was drawn by the resounding cheers issuing from scrawny Bowdoin throats, soon got into the swing of things!

Laboring long and well, the sons of Beata completed their mission. Once more the effigy of the Walshman was hanging from the goal post and the Maine team crouched in charging position.

Four dejected but much enlightened Bowdoinites were seen slinking off wearily in the false dawn of the wee hours. A gracious invitation has been extended to these four jolly fellows for their speedy return. A warm welcome is certain to await them should they ever tread our campus again.

Tearfully it must be related that wind did what Bowdoin couldn't—for by mid-morning, a figure clad in a black and white jersey lay sprawled across shattered goalpost.

The New Look

New Fashions Score High

By TONI & HELEN

The big weekend brought out old grads and new fashions that score in so many ways. Making some clever plays at the Beta house Saturday night was Jan Scales' black crepe dress with the long pencil slim silhouette. The round neckline, worn without benefit of jewelry, was highlighted by a tapering slash in the center front. We detected a T-formation in the black moire taffeta peplum which stood stiff and pert at the hipline and ran off-side at the hemline.

Everybody loves a fullback! Jo Chellis shows her approval in the generously cut full flare back coat, very striking in a grey herringbone stripe with just a mere suggestion of maroon running through it. Scoring that extra point, she sports a hood to match which she buttons on or off to suit her whim. Despite stiff competition in the field, Kay Kennedy is holding her own. Kay's coat is on the same idea as to style but in a perfect green for her beautiful red hair. The wide full collar adds a slight touch of the Pilgrim-look.

Incidentally, don't ignore the touch-back to the Gibson era. There's no controversy over the decision that you're sure to be a winner in the cotton or crepe "shirtwaist." But don't forget the strategic accessory—you have to have a tie.

Signals from the line point to the fact that men's ties are here to stay! Phil Cabot makes a double goal 'cause his two-toned knit tie is reversible. Grey and wine mixed half 'n half on one side—but that's not all.

Pat McGuigan brought spectators to their feet at Delta Tau this eventful weekend when she appeared in an extremely smart gray velveteen date dress with cap sleeves and a draped neckline. The flared skirt of the much-talked-about long length was as smooth as a 50 yard pass with its wide scalloped hemline interlined with bright red.

How About The Movies?

Someday, if we are lucky, the motion picture will be ready for college. Right now we don't know where the motion picture is. "Smugness," you may say. I wonder?

If you saw "Forever Amber," you may be more inclined to agree. Amber, without her bed, was nothing but another beautiful trollop without a bed.

Someday, if we are lucky, college will be ready for the motion picture. Few colleges teach the student anything about the procedures of motion picture production, fewer still pass any opinion upon the place of the motion picture in the educational field. How many students shop for a movie? How many students see a movie because the previews were good, or because the advance "raves" put out by the studio through the advertising medium were good? It really pays to advertise!

Russia has established technical schools and courses in film-making in regular schools for a twofold purpose: (1) to develop new masters of cinema production, and (2) to develop intelligent audiences. But Russia is under State control...

France has a new Institute of Advanced Film Studies where eager students learn the theory and practice of picture making art. France realizes that new talent must be developed to meet the industry's need for renewal and expansion.

Is Hollywood loathe to experiment with new ideas because of a fear, decrease in box office returns? Whenever I remember Amber, I wonder!

Editor's Notes

What true-blue Maine man isn't happy on this Monday morning when editorials are written?

A winning football team, a sharp mayor, a good band, plenty of alumni, a rally, and all kinds of dances made for a great week end.

Mayor Merchant was more than just "on display" during the festivities, and the old hat goes off to him for the showmanship that kept everybody in stitches. Hope he keeps it up. Having been around here for the last 23 years, this corner can honestly say that Friday's rally was the best ever.

And while we're on the subject of "best ever," the University band certainly deserves that moniker. Under the able direction of Evan Johnson, this year's group of musicians sounds as good as did any of Maine's pre-war state champion aggregations. If only they could all look alike.

Among those who should stand up and take their bows are the Pandas (former Maine Annex dance band), the cheering squad, and every last man on the football team.

By the way, that was some hand Joe got Friday night, eh what?

Into all that hot jive Disney shoved a poor hapless individual decked out in a sharp (pre-moth) racoon coat and carrying a strummer. He got about two 1918 be-boop's out before the kids got wise and jetted him from the premises.

Maybe our kids will jet us come the age of the increased girth, but we were hep this weekend. Everyone had a woman, imported or homegrown. They came by choo-choo, automobile, and out of the woodwork. They had the new look, the old look, and Ye-gods! Sprits were carried on high.

Friday night's rally started things off with a bang. It's a wonder that they didn't blow the Field House up. All the lads and lassies were there. We even had a polar-bear that was

University Society

It certainly was wonderful to see so many beaming faces last week end. Everyone—the alumni, students, and faculty had a grand time during Homecoming.

The houses and dorms were decorated with the utmost of care and taste. Congrats to SAE with their winning display of Bananas working the guillotine on a Bowdoin "football player."

Alpha Gamma Rho entertained over 30 couples for their semi-formal houseparty Friday night. The house has been newly renovated this summer and many people have remarked how nice it looks. The Bowdoin Polar Bears gave out with the music for the evening.

Phi Gamma Delta reports they had the biggest Homecoming ever with over 200 guests served at a buffet supper after the game Saturday. The boys were hosts to over 75 couples Saturday night at an informal dance. The Polar Bears played.

Twenty Bowdoin boys were guests at the Kappa Sigma house over the week end. A buffet supper including lobster salad was served Saturday after the game.

Many alums and their wives dropped in to the SAE house after the game Saturday for coffee and doughnuts. In the evening the boys gave an informal vic dance and on Sunday were hosts to many other alums for dinner.

Sigma Nu had Open House Saturday with about 150 guest present at a buffet supper. In the evening an informal vic dance was held. Fifty couples attended. The members attended church Sunday morning to honor their war dead.

Lambda Chi also held a buffet supper and vic dance Saturday.

I'm Usually Wrong But

By BILL BRENNAN

FIRE—This tired old mind got a quick lift recently, when it was learned that several groups of students joined together in the common interest of starting a relief drive for forest fire victims.

According to available reports, the groups' ideas have been heard by a General Senate co-ordinator who made his report at a student-faculty meeting last week. Now, we are told, the idea of having a voluntary contribution or a benefit program, or some such thing, will go before the student senate sometime this week.

From past experience, we are wondering if action by the student senate will be fast enough to suit the purpose. Something should be done right away, we believe, as do others here on campus.

BUTTS—Being president of an institution such as the University of Maine apparently is no easy job. We learned recently that President Hauck is in a tough spot as far as campus cleanliness is concerned. His board, it is said, is quite concerned about papers, cigarette butts, etc., around the area, and are not against applying a little pressure. Just looking after a bunch of students is tough enough without having to pick up their debris too. Use the butt cans.

JUDGING—The dorms and frat houses did quite well in decorating for Homecoming Day, but we hear that the judging committee didn't do quite as good. In fact, we are told, they completely forgot to look at the signs, etc., on the Elms.

BAND—There probably wasn't a person at the Bowdoin-Maine football game that didn't notice the lack of uniforms on the band members. We understand that there is a fund for uniforms, now totaling about seven whole dollars. A lot of uniforms can be purchased with that.

Don't Shoot!

The hunting ban has been lifted. Rain has come into our lives. Once again miniature sham battles send reverberating echoes through the Maine woodlands. Will your hunting trip this year be a pleasant one, or will it be marked by tragedy? Here are a few don'ts:

1. Don't shoot at moving brush—be sure you are shooting at a deer and not at another hunter.

2. Don't dress carelessly—Wearing the proper attire when hunting can save you much discomfort. Proper color in hunting dress may save your life.

3. Don't handle firearms carelessly—know your gun, know its safety precautions, know the safety rules commonly practiced by the expert hunter.

4. Don't forget to carry a compass—getting lost in the Maine woods is a serious matter.

5. Don't forget your game laws—they're important.

Good hunting! Here's hoping you have the best hunting season you've ever had!

—CLAIR CHAMBERLAIN

Monty Higgins Says:

Those of us unfortunate enough to live off campus and not having sufficient cash to run a jalopy or even a motor scooter must ride the stagecoach—you know, every half hour on the hour and half hour, bump your way to Bangor. The tariff is gold-rush style too.

To make things more convenient, classes are over at thirty-five past the hour, five minutes after aforementioned stagecoach has allegedly left. You now have all of twenty-five minutes to waggle your thumb at patricians snoring past in their chariots, or you may sit on the curb and look at the top of the heating plant stack.

Oh well, I guess there isn't enough business to run coaches more often. The high rates? We all have to eat, don't we?

I do wish they had built Bangor and Old Town closer to the University. Somebody slipped up there.

Confused indeed was I when upon meeting my old friend Joey after the last game he told me that since graduation he had just let things slide, yet he had been successful. His wife explained that he was sideman with a name band—playing trombone. Oh!

Wally Honored By Alumni For 25 Years Of Service

By KENNY ZWICKER

Professor Stanley M. Wallace, affectionately known as "Wally" to all hands, was honored at the Alumni Homecoming Luncheon Saturday for having contributed 25 years of faithful service to the University of Maine.

Arriving on the Maine campus on October 14, 1922, Wally has, since that time, been the backbone of the University's physical education program. Besides training Maine's athletic teams, Wally teaches classes in physical education, and has been largely responsible for building the extensive intramural sports program at Maine. He now holds the title of Director of Physical Education for men.

Wally, who is a native of Waterville, was graduated from Arnold college in 1917. He enlisted in the Army four days prior to his graduation and served in France, where he was in motorcycle dispatch work, during World War I. After his discharge in 1919 he was the director of physical education in schools in Roslyn, N. Y., until he came to Maine in 1922.

Now a grandfather, Wally makes his home in Orono. He has two sons, Edward, and Bob, and a daughter, Jean, who is a senior horticulture major here at the University. Bob, the younger son, attends Orono High School where he is active in athletics.

Down through the years Wally has done a swell job at keeping thousands of Maine athletes in good physical condition, and is liked and respected by everyone who has been fortunate enough to come in contact with him.

His friends, who are many in number, sincerely wish Wally the best on his silver anniversary, and hope to see him around for many years to come.

Hat Game Tops Women's Sports

Freshman hats were still the style at Maine, after the Sophomores' 6-1 victory over the Frosh in the annual "Hats Off" field hockey game held last Saturday as part of Homecoming festivities. The hats were removed at half time of the Maine-Bowdoin game by courtesy of the Eagles.

Freshman team members Joan Pray, Maxine Tuttle, Joyce Chipman, Rena Butler, Edith Curtis, Rita Conti, Carolyn Maxwell, Bertha Clark, Betty Zaitlin, Carolyn Rowell, Rena Thorndike, Jean Marriner and Mary Littlefield.

Although urged on by a miscellaneous group of offspring, the Alumni were defeated by an undergraduate team, 5-1. Members of the Alumni team were Peggy Stackpole, Evie Foster, Frances Drew Moody, Betty Rae, Nora Chipman, Mildred Willard, Ester Randall, Barbara McNeil, Ada Minott Haggett, Cecil Johnson Griffin, Alberta Haines, Miss Cassidy, Miss Rogers, and Miss Shelden.

Tennis Tournament Is On

All but one match of the first round of the women's tennis tournament have been played off. First round winners were: Jean Dennison 6-2, 6-4 over Gerry Bellefleur; Frances Parsons 8-6, 6-1 over Dot Stanley; Helen Buzzell 6-2, 0-6, 6-4 over Betty Freidler; Polly True 6-1, 6-3 over Joyce Chipman; Marie Perry 6-4, 6-3 over Edith Curtis; Nancy Hubbard 6-1, 7-5 over Helen Noyes, and Sue Dartnell 7-5, 6-3 over Jane Walker.

Polly True defeated Marie Perry 6-1, 6-2 in a second round match.

The tournament is set up this year so that the losers will meet each other, in addition to the contests between the winners.

BEAR FACTS

By MURPH LINEHAN

The climactic battle for the State Series crown is at hand. Win or lose at Lewiston, with the latter the remotest of possibilities, Coach Eck Allen has done a superb job of directing the 1947 Bears. The club's spirit and cooperation has been the best for many a year, and it certainly has paid off. The Bowdoin game is the proof of the pudding...the Polar Bears were pointing for the Maine club, and the offensive might that they displayed in the first half was founded by a grim determination to upset their traditional rivals. It took the Orono team a little time to assert themselves, but after Rabbit Dombkowski's dazzling touch-down dash, the visitor's attack bogged down considerably, and Maine was off to its fifth triumph of the year.

...And the Worm Turns
Some folks say that a miracle took place at Waterville last Saturday, and we're inclined to believe them...Colby's 12-7 victory over the "University of Blanchard" will be talked about in many a bull session to come. Without saying we told you so, when the star boarder on any team has an off day, the team as a whole has about as much chance for success as a snowball in you-know-where. This is not to detract from the fact that the Mules, an underdog team from way back last year, built themselves up to the occasion and dominated the play all the way...the score and the statistics prove that the win wasn't a fluke.

Good Job, Fellers!

Coach Jenkins' cross country runners did very well in the New England at Boston last Monday, by finishing fourth in team competition. It was the fourth consecutive win for Rhode Island, whose Bob Black led the pack all the way and came on to win by one hundred yards over the Tufts much-publicized track star Ted Vogel. Maine's Elmer Folsom finished in the ninth spot, and this is quite an accomplishment considering that Folsom was running against near-professional marathoners. Josh Tobey of Brown came in sixth, and Silas Dunklee, the New Hampshire dandy, ended up fourth. This was the last cross country meet for the Bears outside of the IC4A at New York on the 17th of this month. Coach Jenkins has not yet (at this writing) made any announcement with regards as to who will make the trip to the big city, but the Oronians should do all right there also.

Feeling Rugged???

Professor Stan Wallace, the gentleman who has just celebrated the 25th anniversary of his connection with the University, has issued a call for lacrosse players. Lacrosse is a combination of football and field hockey, and one definitely has to be in condition to be able to stay up with the game. Oftentimes in colleges where the sport is a major athletic event, players are drafted from the lacrosse squad to the football team in time of need. How about it, guys, want a little "exercise"...

Choice Bits

Reggie Lord put on a splendid exhibition of kicking in the clutch last Saturday...punting into the wind is tricky, and on more than one occasion Lord booted the Bears out of what would have been dangerous situations...Bates tickets are very scarce...Bowdoin has now a healthy respect for Colby as per last week end...And here is the choicest bit of all...Maine 20-Bates 7.

Maine Battles For Clear Title At Lewiston

Bears Take Fourth Place In Track Meet

With Elmer Folsom finishing ninth in a field of 112, Maine's state harrier champs placed fourth in the thirty-fifth New England Intercollegiate meet held last Monday over the four and one-half mile course at Franklin Park, Boston.

Rhode Island State College won the team title for the fourth consecutive year, with Bob Black of the Rams winning his second successive individual title, despite a recent illness. Ted Vogel of Tufts, national AAU marathon champion, finished second behind Black just as he did last year.

Maine finished only three points behind third place Springfield, and would very likely have moved up a place in the final standings if Doug Morton had not been sidelined with an injured leg.

Maine men who placed in scoring position were, besides Folsom: Wallace (21), Hanson (26), Lane (44), and Everett (47).

Although Brown was the only Rhode Island runner who finished in the first ten, the Rams finished far ahead of the other teams with only 63 points.

With Irving Smith of the Brunswick Annex finishing sixth, the Maine freshman harriers took third place in the frosh division, behind Boston University and Connecticut who were tied for first. Rhode Island finished fourth in this division.

Other Maine entrants scoring were Bob Eastman (14), Bob Bradford (22), Clifton Tripp (29), and Bob Bailey (32).

Next Monday the harriers will participate in the IC4A meet to be held in Van Courtland Park in New York City.

Dorm Basketball To Begin Monday

Monday evening will usher in another season of intramural basketball at the Memorial Gymnasium. A record number of teams will be competing for individual honors and play will be in the form of a round robin tournament, whereby the team with the best winning percentage will be the league champion.

In the fraternity division each team will get a chance to play all other frats at least once. A good brand of ball is expected to be displayed among the fraternities this year as several teams have many outstanding men. Kappa Sigma, last year's defending fraternity champion, should be especially strong. Playing for them this year will be two members of last year's West Oak team, which beat Kappa Sigma for the 1946 tournament title. These men are Paul Sferes and Bob Watson. Phi Eta Kappa with its Jim Beaudry and Fred MacDonald also should be top contenders, while Phi Mu Delta with Bill Bonville and Ed Woodbrey can't be counted out. Phi Gamma Delta is another quintet which is reported to be strong.

The dormitory section will be very large and will include many fine players just up from the Annex. Whether these men will wait to go out for varsity play or not will determine the success of many of these teams.

All in all this should be one of the top years for intramural sports here at the University, and the basketball program should start things off with a bang.

Basketball Practice Will Begin Monday

Head basketball coach George "Eck" Allen has announced that basketball practice will begin Monday, November 17, following the completion of the football season. All players are requested to report to Coach Allen at 3:30 Monday afternoon.

Maine Wins Over Polar Bears With Third Period Explosion

By CLIFF WHITTEN

After the Maine Bears had been pushed around for most of the first three periods by a surprisingly strong Bowdoin eleven, they exploded suddenly late in the third period of last Saturday's game, and shook Henry Dombkowski loose on a 48-yard touch-down run that proved to be the required margin of victory for the Maine team to clinch at least a tie for the state championship.

Dombkowski's victory jaunt was the result of an off-tackle slant, followed by one of the Rabbit's best exhibitions of open field running this season. He was tackled on the goal line by Jim Pierce, Bowdoin safety man, but the tackle came too late to prevent the score. Phil Coulombe added an insurance touchdown in the fourth period, and Dombkowski converted to make the final score 13-0.

With Maine still refusing to show anything the Bates scouts might be able to use to their advantage, the Polar Bears threw a slight scare into Maine fans as they took the offensive from the beginning and held it until just before Dombkowski broke the stalemate.

After recovering a Maine fumble on the 49-yard line early in the game, Bowdoin kicked out of bounds on the Maine 14, taking care to keep the ball away from Dombkowski. Maine

Maine Frosh Team Downs Kents Hill

The Maine freshman football team got the Homecoming program off on the right foot Saturday morning as they downed Kents Hill 34-0. Scoring touchdowns once in the first quarter and twice each in the third and fourth plus a fourth period field goal, the frosh had no trouble in toppling the Kents Hill eleven for their first win of the season after having dropped their first two starts.

Pale Blue Is Assured Of A Tie; Both Clubs Are In Top Shape

Saturday, November 15, will find the State Series coming to a delayed end when the Black Bears travel to Lewiston to tangle with the defending champions of Bates in a game postponed from October 25 because of the forest fire emergency. Already assured of at least a tie for the state championship, the Maine eleven will be out to gain undisputed claim to the title, their first since 1934, by defeating the Bobcats.

The game, boomed as a natural, has lost some of its glamour because of the 12-7 upset pinned on Bates by the Colby Mules at Waterville last week. The defeat, however, should serve as an incentive to the Bobcats as they must now register a win over Maine in order to regain their prestige and a part hold on the Governor Barrows Trophy which they have held for the past year.

By pounding out their 13-0 decision over Bowdoin, before the Homecoming Day crowd, the Bears served notice that they will be ready to shoot the works when they meet the "Ducky" Pond coached eleven come Saturday. The game was an exhibition of straight football featured by the fancy punting of Reggie Lord and "Rabbit" Dombkowski's swift breakaways. All the tricks were kept stored safely away in the bag by the Bears' quarterback, Hal Parady, who banked on his straight T-plays and Lord's long range punts to eat up yardage against the Polar Bears.

The season's finale at Lewiston will be the last college game for eight members of the Maine squad, including six starters. The first-string men playing their last game for the Pale Blue are Bob Emerson, George Marsanskis, "Moose" Murdock, "Flash" Gordon, Norm Benson, and Hal Parady. Reserve backs Steve McPherson and Pete Tsacalots will also see service for the last time in the Maine uniform. All of these seniors have given a good account of themselves during the past season and their presence in the lineup on Saturday will be sorely felt by the Bobcats.

The entire coaching staff, headed by "Eck" Allen, has been working hard this week grooming the squad for a wide open attack against Bates and devising a defense to stop Art Blanchard, the Bobcat's hard-running sophomore back. Maine's success on Saturday depends largely on how well they can shackle Blanchard, who is undoubtedly one of the best backs in New England.

We can only hope that Asst. Coach Joe Zabalski, who is gaining quite a reputation as a scouting wizard, discovered Colby's secret of tying the fleet halfback down, thereby setting the stage for the biggest upset of the season. With this information, the Black Bears might well be on the way to their first state championship in 13 years.

Annex Grid Team Downs MMA 6-0

The Maine Annex defeated the Maine Military Academy, 6-0, last Saturday, with Les Leggett plunging over from the three-yard line, climaxing a 58-yard drive.

The Middies threatened several times during the game but were unable to push over a score against the strong Annex line.

This is the same Middle team that defeated the Maine Jayvees, 13-6, a few weeks ago. The Annex was also scheduled to play the Jayvees, but the game was cancelled because of the forest fire danger.

Mayor, Wedge Go To Ohio

"Mayor" Bob Merchant and Joe Wedge will represent the University of Maine at the National Convention of Scabbard and Blade, the national collegiate military honorary society, being held in Cincinnati, Ohio, this week.

Prior to boarding the train last Tuesday in Bangor, His Honor held a press conference in which he informed newspaper reporters that "the office at the Delt house has been put into capable hands during my week's absence from the campus. During this trip I expect to drop in for informal visits at various colleges to pay my respects to the campus mayors... and also to bring back new ideas for the Maine student body!"

Wedge, who serves as publicity director for Mayor Merchant, will also confer with other college students to bring back innovations to Maine.

Photos Show Early History

A collection of photographs and documents concerning early history of the University is now on display in the glass showcases of the New Library Building. Gathered and displayed in connection with the dedication of the building during Homecoming week end, this material will remain on display through November 18.

In one showcase are diplomas of the first class ever to graduate from Maine—class of 1872. In another are issues of early University of Maine Bulletins, copies of early student publications, old Maine Masque pictures and programs. There are old photos of students. Letters from General Chamberlain concerning establishment of ROTC at Maine and an antique cadet's uniform are displayed. There are collections of manuscripts of Mary Ellen Chase, manuscripts of other Maine authors, and other works of many noteworthy Maine Alumni.

This display was gathered by a committee including Mr. Keyo, Mr. Brockway, Mr. Gannett, Mr. Ibbotson, Mr. Crossland, Mr. John Seeley, Miss Alice Stewart, and Mr. Vincent A. Hartgen. Mr. Hartgen arranged the exhibits.

Order Of Temple Meets

There will be a meeting of the Maine Chapter of the Order of the Temple tonight, November 13, at 7 o'clock, in the Orono Masonic Hall. The initiation degree will be worked

Library Dedicated Six Years After Laying Of Cornerstone

The new library was dedicated Saturday morning, just six years to the day after the cornerstone for the building was laid on November 8, 1941. The services featured addresses by Governor Horace Hildreth, Dr. Edward Chase, and Dr. Kenneth Sills of Bowdoin. Dr. Hauck, president, presided.

Johnson, Capen Represent Students On Committee

Douglas Johnson, North Dormitories, and Lloyd Capen, OCUMMO, were named representatives to the Assembly Committee at the meeting of the Men's Senate, Thursday, in 15 Coburn Hall.

A committee to work on the Senate constitution was also elected, consisting of Richard F. Edes and Robert G. Nisbet, New Dorms; William R. Powers and Paul L. Guilmette, North Dorms; William M. Larrabee and Louis O. Ouellette, Oak and Hamlin Halls; Alfred Savignano and Kenneth F. Vennett, Fraternities; William S. Skolfield and Perham L. Amsden, OCUMMO; and Elmer J. Smallwood, South Apartments and Trailers.

Beginning with November 17, Men's Senate meetings will be held every other Tuesday, 7:00 p.m., in 15 Coburn Hall.

"A library is the basic element of an educational institution," Governor Hildreth declared. He mentioned the annual Bowdoin-Maine football battle and said that for the "hundreds of veterans... now trying to catch up on education, the library means more than cheering crowds. After the echoes of cheering have died away it is quite probable that the thirst for knowledge acquired even on this day... will be working miracles in the minds of men all over the world."

Edward Chase, president of the board of trustees, reviewed the history of state support of the University, comparing the financial status of the college plant 40 years ago with that of today. Up to 1929 the total value was estimated at about $1,750,000. This year the University counts its basic assets up to $9,000,000 including all new construction. Maine will have permanent housing and teaching facilities, upon completion of buildings now underway, for some 2500 to 3000 students. Dr. Chase foresees a difficulty in supporting an enrollment of that size.

Dr. Kenneth Sills, president of Bowdoin College, conveyed the congratulations of other Maine and New England colleges to the University and the State on the dedication of the building. "An institution of higher learning can rightly and rigidly be judged by its library and by the use made of it by undergraduates and faculty... There students may read and study all kinds of opinion. There is no censorship, and so in a very real sense, the library is the essential factor in education."

Raymond Fogler, of New York, represented the alumni. He paid tribute to the beauty and usefulness of the new library and commended Dr. Hauck and the trustees.

Louis T. Ibbotson, librarian, spoke for the faculty. "This is the day we have been waiting for... To the men and women of Maine, the faculty and friends who had rallied to build this beautiful structure, I repeat the message of the day: In the thoughts and labors of generations to come your memory will remain ever green."

Designer W. H. Lee was unable to be present at the services; however, Parker Crowell, superintending architect, was introduced to the group.

The students were represented by June Swanton who told how grateful the undergraduates were to those who had made the building possible. Reverend Charles O'Connor of the Maine Christian Association gave the invocation.

Building new telephone lines for you takes well planned teamwork by these two »

Behind this giant plow train, burying a new transcontinental telephone cable, there's a story of typical teamwork by Western Electric in helping the Bell Telephone Companies to give you faster, even better service.

As the supply member of the Bell Telephone team, Western Electric is producing the coaxial cable which can carry 1800 telephone messages at once—can transmit television network programs, too. Complex machines—designed by Western Electric engineers—are turning out this cable mile after mile to keep the plow trains pushing forward on schedule.

Ever since 1882, Western Electric has been an integral part of Bell Telephone service—helping to make it the world's best at the lowest possible cost.

MCA Drive Seeks Off-Campus Aid

The MCA membership drive in its final week is concentrating on the off-campus students, of whom only 153 out of 1500 have joined. Those who have not yet signed up can do so at the MCA office.

One thousand four hundred thirty-five students have enrolled in the MCA to date. Although this is 35 more members than last year's membership, we are still 565 short of our goal of 2000.

Among the fraternities Phi Eta Kappa heads the list with 90% of its members belonging to the MCA.

WSGA To Have Tea For New Faculty

An event of this coming week end will be a tea given by the Women's Student Government Association for new faculty members. The tea will be held on November 16 from 3 to 5 p.m., in Estabrooke Hall. All girls are cordially invited.

President and Mrs. Hauck, Dean Wilson, and the four officers of W.S.G.A., Donna Welts, Nancy Carter, Betty Arnold, and Janice Crane, will be in the receiving line.

Marit Andersen is in charge of the Social Committee.

tical to those alarmists one sees every day.

Miss Mayo rates the distinction, in this writer's opinion, of growing old as graciously and as realistically as anyone. But in her case, as in the case of all the others, the makeup didn't seem heavy enough.

There were other faults, foremost of which was the depressing music played during the pause between most of the scenes. Paul Palmer at the organ played well, but set the wrong mood. I suggest something lighter.

Another criticism comes on the projection and the waits for laughs. In both cases, there wasn't enough.

But again a warning. Don't misconstrue this to say that the play wasn't enjoyable. It was, if only to see the fine acting by all the members of the cast, the lesser supporting members as well as those mentioned above. By all means see "The Magnificent Yankee," if only to see what can be done to a play that otherwise would be exceedingly sleep-provoking.
