Coeds May Milk Cows At Aggie Fair

By DEE VOLLMER

Co-eds will get their first opportunity to milk a cow, as raccoon coated fraternity men race with potatoes on spoons, and faculty members battle each other in a potato picking contest at the Farmers' Fair beginning at 10:00 a.m. on December 6 in the Field House.

The Agriculture Club, under the auspices of Professor Roland Struchtemeyer and Paul Dow, offer a full day of contests and exhibitions, culminated by a dance featuring Randy Brooks and his orchestra.

"A date to remember, the 6th of December," is their slogan, and a day to remember it will be, beginning with a cattle fitting and showing contest by the Aggie students. At 1:00, student judges will pick the most attractive Elsie in the cattle show.

The Future Farmers of America, a high school organization, will sponsor a poultry judging and dairy products show from 1:30 until 2:00. This event will be followed by a three man potato race. The potatoes will be carried on spoons and any team of three men may enter. The fraternities and dormitories are encouraged to practice now and enter a team.

At 2:30, the co-ed potato picking race will be open to any daring damsel who wishes to enter. The baby show at 3:00 is followed by a faculty potato picking contest. The co-ed milking tournament at 3:30 ends the series of daytime events.

The fair will offer numerous concessions, and exhibitions of every variety. Apples, flowers, hot dogs, pop corn, cider and doughnuts will be abundant.

Prizes for the contests will include such things as table lamps, floor lamps, records, $6 worth of theater tickets, two permanent waves, a table radio, pen and pencil sets, an oil and grease job plus five gallons of gas, a sweater, wallet, and a Mallory hat, a wrist watch for the queen, a baby dress and slip for the most beautiful infant.

Dancing from 7:30 to 11:30 will be subject to an admission charge of $2 per person. The prizes will be awarded and the queen chosen at that time. Dress for the occasion is informal indeed, calico dresses and dungarees.

Sorority Open House Will Be Held Saturday

Sorority open house for Freshmen and transfers will be held Saturday, November 22, in Estabrooke and Balentine between 1:30 and 4:30 p.m.

Sorority pins, posters, and phases of social service work will be exhibited. All Freshmen are urged to attend.

Marilyn Hoyt, George Berger Have Leads In Angel Street

Marilyn Hoyt and George Berger will have the leads in the Maine Masque production of "Angel Street" to be presented December 10, 11, 12, and 13. Other members of the cast are: Jo Anne Childs, Marjorie Malloy and Richard Lovas.

"Angel Street," written by Patrick Hamilton, is a "Victorian Thriller" in three acts. It was first presented by Gardner Davies under the title "Gaslight" in 1938.

"Angel Street" will be the initial

Masque performance of Marilyn Hoyt, a freshman from Fort Fairfield. George Berger, president of the Maine Masque, is a veteran actor. He appeared in "State of the Union" last year.

December 7 Program To Honor War Dead

"The University Hour of Remembrance" will be held on Sunday afternoon, December 7, at 2 o'clock, in accordance with the recent proclamation issued by Governor Horace Hildreth. The governor requests that December 7 be a statewide day of mourning for World War II dead.

The special assembly was postponed October 30 because of the Maine disaster.

President Arthur A. Hauck will preside. Dr. G. William Small is chairman of the special student-faculty committee of veterans which is arranging the program scheduled to be held in Memorial Gymnasium.

All University functions will be suspended during this hour.

Final Class Elections To Be Held Monday

The sad total of 554 Maine students went to the polls Tuesday to cast their ballots for class officers in the second "open primary" held at this university.

The final election will be held Monday, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., with the polls being located in the Administration building. All students are eligible to vote.

In Tuesday's election, the Freshman class was probably the worst offender, with only 25 of their 1200 members voting. The seniors counted 156 students participating, about 35 percent of their numbers.

As a result of the primaries, nominations for the class officers are as follows:

SENIOR

President: Alan C. Burgess, Frank W. Haines, Jr., Neal B. Kelley, George Marsanskis, Jr., Willard R. Moulton.

Vice President: Robert L. Browne, Charles J. Clark, Martin F. Kinney, J. Roland LeClair, Edward F. Snyder, Roger F. Thurrell.

Treasurer: Nicholas P. Brountas, Florence C. Bruce, Sherwood F. Gordon, Ripon W. Haskell, Margaret E. Watson.

Secretary: Marit W. Andersen, Barbara L. Day, Alice E. Fonseca, Pauline R. Marcous, Janice F. Scales, Pauline W. True, Barbara A. Whalen.

JUNIOR

President: Ralph E. Barnett, Donald F. Collins, Henry J. Dombkowski, Irving G. Marsden, Philip J. Murdoch, Jr., Robinson Speirs.

Vice President: Robert S. Capers, Jr., James H. Firmin, Frederic C. Libby, Donald H. Spear, Alton L. Sproul, Jr., John P. Zollo, Jr.

Treasurer: John W. Ballou, Richard L. Banton, Robert P. Bouchard, Ralph E. Flynn, Alfred N. Savignano.

Secretary: L. Muriel Applebee, Thelma E. Crossland, Jane K. Hanson, Cynthia J. Hayden, Barbara E. Hines, Kathleen R. Kennedy, Patricia McGuigan.

SOPHOMORE

President: Donald P. Barron, Robert L. Beals, Philip A. Coulombe, Richard G. Hancy, Robert D. Hannigan, Harold M. Peasley.

Vice President: Charles R. Barr, David C. Cates, Reginald G. Lord.

100 Attend Meeting For Veterans' Wives

Over 100 girls attended the first meeting of the club for veterans' wives, recently organized by the Extension Service.

The sewing class will meet every Tuesday and Thursday evening in the sewing lab at Merrill Hall. Various handicraft will be displayed at the general meeting to be held next Tuesday. General meetings will be held every two weeks.

A baby clinic for pre-school children will open early in December.

Mrs. Charles Moran is in charge of the organization. Veterans' wives interested in the club may get in touch with her at Merrill Hall.

Senate Seeks Christmas Toys For Fire Areas

The General Student Senate and its sub-committee on relief have decided that university help to people of the fire-stricken areas can best be directed towards making sure that children enjoy a "Merry Christmas."

The three-member sub-committee will accept donations of suitable gifts or money, and see that they reach a reliable distributing agency. After the Thanksgiving recess, a central depot will be established where contributions may be made.

No concerted "drive" will be made. The committee hopes that the November holidays will give students and faculty an opportunity to bring toys or gifts from home. Each person desiring to give must see that his donation reaches the campus collection point.

Students serving on the sub-committee include Louis Bouchard, North Dorms 17, campus telephone 418; Lorraine Littlefield, 33 Grove Street, Orono, telephone 2037; and Bruce Folsom, Lambda Chi Alpha, telephone 947. The members are seeking suggestions as well as donations.

The General Senate decided to concentrate on children's needs after hearing reports that other organizations were making adequate provisions for food, clothing, housing, and local schooling.

Prism Nears Goal As Drive Continues

A goal of 2500 Prisms still faces University of Maine students as the yearbook drive for pledges enters its final week.

Although returns on pledges for the 1949 Prism are not yet complete, according to business manager Martin Rissel, there are still a number of students who have not yet made their pledges for the yearbook scheduled for distribution in May.

A concerted drive, centering in the University bookstore, will be carried out for the last three days of this week.

Off-campus and South Apartments students have proved the most difficult to contact thus far, members of the Prism circulation staff say. The staff has asked that students in both categories pledge for their Prism at the Bookstore this week.

Sewall To Address Clubs

Sumner Sewall, former governor of Maine, will speak to a joint meeting of Politics Club and the International Relations Club Dec. 3 at 8:30 p.m.

Veterans Take Advantage Of G.I. Bill To Study Music

The unusual noises coming from Stevens North in recent weeks aren't the roars of the Maine Bear, celebrating his recent state series victories. It's just one of the many veterans taking advantage of the GI Bill to study singing under the watchful eye of James Selwood.

At the latest count, a total of 76 veterans were using the GI Bill to study one or more of the courses in Applied Music now being offered by the Music Department, under Professor Adelbert Sprague, head of the department.

Of these 76 students, 52 are taking piano lessons, nine are studying brass, three the violin, one the cello, and 11 are studying voice.

The majority of these students are just beginning their study of music, most of them having been prevented from taking lessons in the past, either by the lack of suitable instruction or by financial reasons, and now they are making the most of the latest ruling by the Veterans' Administration which allows one-half hour courses to be carried in music.

Not all, however, are beginners. Joseph Cooper is an extremely accomplished pianist, specializing in classical interpretations. John Chapter has been studying piano for over 15 years, while Gordon Beattie and Stanley Catell are accomplished performers on the cello and clarinet respectively.

Other somewhat more advanced students include Herbert Ingraham on the tuba, Kenneth Frost on the violin, and Stanley Davis on the piano. Helen Cummings, one of eight women who are studying piano under the bill, is also included in the more advanced group.

News In A Nutshell

By TRAPPER

LAST MONDAY at 1:30 p.m. President Truman spoke to the special session of Congress. In his speech he asked that: (1) Congress provide interim aid for Europe, stressing that long term aid will eventually be necessary; (2) Authorize consumer rationing and price control on products in short supply which basically affect the cost of living; (3) Export, rent, and consumer credit controls be extended and/or restored; (4) Speculative trading on the commodity exchanges be regulated. (This does not comprise a summary of the whole of the President's speech. Lack of space allows only a general condensation).... The President's proposals were put forth in a logical and convincing manner, but the echoes had hardly died before Senator "Too little and too late" Taft began an obviously political rebuttal. Taft, who proposes the reduction of income taxes as the way to stop inflation, gave vent to hideous moans. The President, he said, is trying to gain dictatorial powers.... The G.O.P. spokesman further declaimed that any system of Price Control would not work.... He forgets that during the war OPA kept prices down, and it was during a period of increased production which has never been equaled in the history of the U. S.

THE SENATE War Investigation committee has dropped the Hughes affair, and it has now become the Meyers affair. The retired General Meyers, it developed, owned stocks in aircraft companies with which he had dealings as an Air Force representative...not only is this illegal, but General Meyers gave the sub-committee false information when he was on the witness stand.... Hughes accused Senator Ferguson of withholding further evidence that top Pentagon Brass was involved in the scandal.... The Senator neither denied nor affirmed the accusation, but postponed comment until the investigation proceeds.... It is said that many former high ranking Army Officers are quivering in their respective boots.

IN FRANCE, strikes and riots have gained new violence with police battling communists.... Premier Ramadier is still bitterly opposed to the RPF of General Charles De Gaulle but he informed Communist leaders that the government would "Go the limit" in protecting the Republic

THE FRIENDSHIP train was expected in N. Y. City last Tuesday with more than 200 cars in tow.... The foodstuff aboard was donated by citizens along the way.... Obviously, the voters do not all agree with Senator Taft's isolation stand.

ENGLAND: Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of The Exchequer who "leaked" the contents of the new budget to a reporter friend, confessed his indiscretion, apologized to the House, and resigned.... Sir Stafford Cripps, Minister of Economic Affairs was named to succeed him.

The New Look

Splatter Duds Merit Praise

By TONI AND HELEN

Our short period of rainy weather deserves credit for bringing out very attractive and practical splatter apparel. Our attention was immediately drawn to little Red Ridinghood, who, upon closer inspection, turned out to be Margie Watson in a bright red raincoat with full back flaring out from the shoulder yoke. Margie topped it off with a hood of the same color.

Our searching eyes next spied Jackie Howell in a very striking coat with fairly straight lines although slightly flared in the back. The outstanding feature is the material of Tatersall Check. Very attractive!

Val Estes certainly looked chic as she braved the drops in a gray raincoat with gracefully flared back and belted front. Add a pair of shiny black Russian boots, toss your bookbag over your shoulder, Val, and paddle off to class.

Proving the versatility of pin stripes, Pussy Howard defied the elements in a brown and white striped raincoat that is guaranteed to shed showers. It has a full back and full sleeves cuffed tightly at the wrists. With a detachable hood and an optional belt, Pussy finds it very convenient to wear, with or without either, depending upon her mood of the moment. Gracie Tibbetts also shows her approval of pin stripes in her gray and white raincoat.

The Spirit's Here

Saturday's state series victory was a glorious event. Examining it deeper, a miniature portrait of the "Maine" way of doing things can be seen.

Spirit—that's what it was. Spirit and cooperation and the desire to achieve something "for Maine."

And there you have it. Even with our post-war swollen enrollment, we are still a closely knit, interdependent community. That state champion football team was working, not for themselves, but "for Maine." And so work the Campus, the Masque, the Aggie Club, Scabbard and Blade, and all the others.

Even campus religious groups pull together when it comes to furthering the well-being of our college.

We have material things to show for this. An excellent gymnasium, a new Library, a Union building on its way.

When further improvements are to come—a campus-wide chapel, a swimming pool, added educational facilities—they will come because of this same display of cooperation and spirit.

We are strong because of the bonds between freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior; fraternity and sorority; Catholic, Jew, and Protestant; off-campus and on-campus.

Let's be thankful for it.

Let's keep it that way.

Good Luck . . .

News comes this week of the opening of the Newman club's drive for a Catholic chapel near the campus.

It is a worthy project, and this corner wishes that organization all the success in the world.

We wonder how much more than $12,000 a small campus chapel would cost. We wonder whether all religious groups, working together, could achieve such a goal. We wonder if it wouldn't be better to keep all Maine students under one chapel roof, even if attending different services.

But wonderings don't build chapels, and so nothing is left for us but to extend to the Newman Club a sincere expression of "good luck."

We Liked Them

The battle over the success of the Masque's presentation of "Magnificent Yankee" seems to have resolved itself at last.

One side holds that while the play is excellent, it should never have been presented before a relatively "un-theatre conscious" group of students and faculty.

The opposite opinion says that a little "theatre education" is good for anybody now and then.

Fight it out, people, but don't overlook the fact that Arnold Colbath and Lydia Backer gave two of the finest performances seen on the Little Theatre stage for many a year.

JOE LIKES TO SAY 'HELLO' TO AN OWL

SCOTCH AND SODA

By BIFF SHALEK

The man with the Lincolnian face was tired. All that he had hoped for from the people seemed to have gone down the spout. Somehow the people had balled up their principles. They couldn't quite make up their minds what they wanted for their golden rule; 'I can get it for you cheaper,' or 'Do do unto you.' They had filled Friendship Trains with food and then let it go at that. The will of the people is the way of the government. Yet, he reasoned, do the people know their own will. And is this ostrich-like motion they are going through their indication of their will? Is the pursuit of the all-mighty dollar such a tiring pace that all forms of social endeavor must bear the cross for it? Does an eight-to-five existence so task the people that their minds refuse to accept the responsibilities of a world divided between hunger-pains and the price of blue-mist mink? What manner of reasoning is that, he thought, that as a whole, the people will call for war—and as mothers and fathers, weep over the dead.

And these people that do the calling? They all agree on a standing army, but they all sit down. Who decries the wisdom of a militant airforce? Yet who offers to man the planes? The people want to live out their lives in peaceful endeavor—that's the answer, but not the solution.

These people, they talk as if the atom-bomb had the potency of a five-inch salute. Perhaps at the onset of the atomic-age they had a vague idea of its potentialities, but now with the passage of time individual rights have again overshadowed. They talk of war in terms of lances and drawbridges.

Yes, the man with the Lincolnian face was tired. For all across the world men were cursing the faith that is the essence of their existence. So he climbed up the stairs of his house and closed himself in his room. And the next day the world learned that the former ambassador to England had shot himself with a .38 revolver. Why he did this they left to conjecture.

University Society

By ANDREWS AND LOOK

Women's Student Government Association entertained at a tea Sunday afternoon in the South Estabrooke livingroom. New faculty members were guests of honor. Nearly 300 women students attended.

In the receiving line were President and Mrs. Arthur A. Hauck, Dean Edith Wilson, and officers of WSGA, Donna Welts, Nancy Carter, Betty Arnold, and Janice Crane.

Marit Andersen was in charge of the tea. The theme of autumn was beautified by the addition of chrysanthemums about the room.

The ATO's Wives Club, of 24 active members, is, at the present time, busy with plans for helping to make Thanksgiving a happy season for a number of needy Orono families. The group which devotes part of its time

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

University students are alive to the vital issues of the day, and the most vital of these is the Marshall Plan. This week Congress convenes. In its place begins a great debate. Upon the outcome of that debate may depend the future of the world.

We ask: "Will the money spent in Europe be wasted? Why don't Europeans go to work and solve their own problems? How about our own economy? What does Europe mean to us anyway? Will we be supporting Socialist governments?"

According to the record made in Europe thus far, the countries of western Europe have made a better recovery than was made after the first two years of World War I. U. S. aid has made this possible. A buffer has already been constructed against future discontent and against future wars in Europe, a buffer set up by American dollars and American goods that we cannot afford to lose.

The devastation of war has crippled Europe. Its machinery and its factories have been destroyed and damaged. Under the world's present economic system, hand labor cannot maintain life in Europe. New factories, new machinery, must be built. Food, clothing, coal, ore will have to be supplied.

Can we afford not to give aid? If we do not, our own well being will be imperiled.

The U. S. depends upon Europe for export trade. Many products we could not get along without come from European countries and their colonies.

Even England is socialistic in outlook. Chaos would result should we refuse economic aid. It can't be overlooked.

The University students of today are the leaders of tomorrow. What do you think?

—CLAIR CHAMBERLAIN

I'm Usually Wrong But

By BILL BRENNAN

Although it's against our nature to criticize or find fault with any one person or organization, as anyone who follows this column knows, we do feel that there is, without a doubt, something wrong with our "governing body," the General Student Senate.

Consider the request made by the boys in North Dorms. Quite some time ago they asked that lights be put in the parking area to prevent valuables from being taken from their cars.

They took this request, we are told, through channels to the proper authorities. Nothing happened. Being somewhat naive, the North Dormers then took their problem to the Senate. If you read last week's Campus, you know that the Senate appointed a man to bring the matter to the attention of "proper authorities," who already knew about it.

That's definitely not getting things done, and neither is throwing a dance for the relief of fire victims, when one knows almost certainly that only a few dollars will be made. We have it on good authority that expenses of the relief dance were barely met. We have said before, and repeat now, the only way to get money or material goods for those people who have been burned out, be it in Bar Harbor or Cherryfield, or anyplace else—the only way to get funds to help these people is through a canvass of the campus, with voluntary contributions being accepted.

The University is getting repetitious, we fear. Last year, about this time, letters poured into the Campus about the lack of a celebration on Armistice Day. If we remember correctly, it was said that next year would be different. Well, this is the next year mentioned, and the story is the same. It's a crummy shame. Those men that died in the first war tried for world peace just as hard as those who died in the last war. And, there is absolutely no reason why a state university should neglect to honor them. Even a minute of silence would be better than what we had. It makes one ashamed of the University of Maine.

Well, for the first time in 13 years, we've won a State Series football championship. This writer is of the belief that something over and above the regular athletic banquet and the presentation of gold or silver footballs should be done. The ball players worked hours winning the championship, and deserve recognition of the highest sort. But for once, we don't have a bright idea concerning what should be done. Imagine that!

Monty Higgins Says:

What is this we read in Time? In the Education section of the November 17 issue is a quote from the book For Men Lonely, a guide for boys dating inmates of women's colleges. I was most interested in the item about Bennington, "Bennington: '...The rules for progressive education clearly state that girls can party all night...'"

Well, knock me over with a prayer book! Happened in New England, too.

I suppose it will be many many years before the Puritan mother and dad who send little daughter to Maine will allow such a rule here. Victorians—hah!

I have just learned to blow bubbles with bubble gum. Now, I am right proud of that. More proud than I am of most of my college career.

After seeing nearly every kid around wearing a pink bubble in front of his face, I wondered what was in it. My wife showed me how to blow bubbles, and I went around blowing bubbles and chewing gum until my jaws ached, my head ached, and my tongue was sprained.

Gum chewing develops powerful jaw muscles, though. Why, I can go through a steak like a beaver through a log. When I have steak, of course. Most of the time I can afford only bubble gum.

"College: a fountain of knowledge where all go to drink."

Drink what? Must mean water. Orono water is strongly chlorine, but that way we know it's safe. Sure, must mean water. Everybody drinks water.

We hope all on campus are giving sincere support to the save food plan of President Truman and Mr. Luckman. If we don't, rationing will return. Rationing is terrible—just one banned thing after another.

Newman Club Launches Drive For Funds For Catholic Chapel

A campaign to raise $12,000 to provide a combination chapel and auditorium for Catholic students has been launched by the Newman Club. Tentative plans for the drive were announced at a recent meeting of the organization.

The Rev. Father Francis E. Le-Tourneau, chaplain of the Newman Club, has stressed the need of a new chapel and auditorium near the campus to accommodate the large enrollment of Catholic students.

Present plans call for the purchasing of the building from the War Assets Administration. The structure will then be moved in sections to a site near the campus.

Catholic students on and off campus are being asked to subscribe ten dollars toward the fund for the new chapel. A committee is also being formed to contact Catholic alumni of the University and others interested in the building of a new chapel near the campus.

Collegiate Digest Asks For Photos

Snapshots for publication in the Collegiate Digest, weekly rotogravure section distributed with The Maine Campus, are urgently needed by the editors, who are willing to pay $3 for each student picture published.

Entries should be addressed to Collegiate Digest, 18 Journalism Building, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 14, Minnesota.

Carnegie Library Being Renovated

The old, graystone library presented to the University of Maine by Andrew Carnegie is undergoing a complete renovation.

According to current plans, there will be lounging rooms and a snack bar in the basement, and the top floors will be used for classes in art and music.

It is expected that the lounges, which will relieve the strain on the MCA building, will be ready for use by the end of the Thanksgiving recess.

The snack bar, however, presents a much greater problem, since all the old stacks must be taken out by blowtorch before it can be installed. According to Dean Wieman, the bar will be completed sometime between Christmas and the Spring semester.

Debate Tourney Enters Third Round

The intramural debating tournament, sponsored by the Maine Debating Society, is now in its third round of matches, with four each scheduled for the winning and losing brackets.

In competition up until Tuesday, the following results have occurred:

Rideout and Russell (Aff) defeated Harris and Wood; Gorham and Mollison (Aff) defeated Vardamis and Stimpson; Parent and Johnson (N) defeated Barron and Kelleher; Berger and Abrams (N) defeated Phelps and Deering; Hempstead and Vollmer (Aff) defeated Jordan and Brewer; and Moran and Demeritt (N) defeated Goyner and Smith.

The above winners will meet each other for the third round this week.

Extra Toys Wanted

The Home Economics Club requests its members to bring small toys or articles suitable for Christmas boxes on returning from Thanksgiving vacation. One article from each member will give this project a good start.

Reporters Named

Norma Drummond and Barby Vaughn will act as reporters for the Sportlight, a monthly publication of the American Federation of College Women.

MacDonald Elected

Fred McDonald was elected president of the University Press Club on Wednesday. Other officers named were: Len Harlow, vice president; Jo Look, secretary; Ted Gridley, treasurer; Jayne Hanson, social chairman.

The club is composed of students majoring in Journalism and those interested in the various phases of newspaper work.

White Asks Consideration

A request for more student consideration for University property in campus dining halls has been sounded by Earl White, president of the Men's Student Senate.

White cited cases of loss of silverware and destruction of drinking cups. Coat hooks have also been "appropriated" by thoughtless students, he said.

Any loss of property due to carelessness, misappropriation, he cautioned, reduces the ability of the University to make any necessary improvements, for lost equipment must be replaced first.

Such action, White added, weakens the position of student governing bodies in carrying suggestions to University authorities.

Ocummo Holds Wiener Roast

By W. J. TURNER

OCUMMO's wiener roast at the MOC cabin last Friday evening was an entertaining affair. The off-campus men's organization invited the off-campus women, and there was a good crowd considering the size of the cabin.

Chaperons for the event were Dr. and Mrs. Carl M. Flynn and Prof. and Mrs. Richard C. Hill.

BEAR FACTS

BY MURPH LINEHAN

State Champions! The 1947 University of Maine football team will go down in the annals of this college as one of the best gridiron clubs ever to represent the school of the Pale Blue and the Stein Song. This fall has seen Maine emerge from the unknown-quantity classification, to one of the powers of New England's small colleges. The Bears' record of six victories and but a solitary defeat, that administered by New Hampshire, "the" power of the six states, will stand as a mark to shoot at by succeeding Maine elevens. To single out an individual personality upon whom to heap the glory would be a hopeless and thankless chore. This year's squad will be evidence, prima facie, of the worth of cooperation, and honest spirit in a football team. . . . May it never leave, now that it has come.

Battle of the Giants . . .

The "Lewiston Story" is well known by now . . . the Bears met almost their match, but not quite. It was very obvious that Bates had been waiting for Maine all year, and when the Bobcats started that second half, thirteen points in arrears, the rally that ensued almost brought the walls of Jericho tumblin' about the Orono Bear's ears. One wonders just how Maine stopped the Ducky-Ponders from scoring their third TD in the waning moments of the half. . . . Perhaps those thirteen title-less years for Maine was the piece de resistance that Bates could not overcome.

No Rest for the Weary

It would be logical to assume that now that the pigskin season is over, Coach "Eck" Allen might be in for a small vacation, but it isn't that way at all. Early this week the call went out for all basketball artisans to assemble in Memorial Gym to exhibit their wares, and to make ready for the coming court schedule. Coach Allen, Bill Kenyon, Sam Sezak, et al., will be right on tap to put the candidates through their paces, and inside word has it that the Bears have plenty of classy material from which to draw. As per usual, one round of State Series play will be contested before the Christmas holidays, with the first home game slated for December 6 with Colby. Yes, things are looking up for the Bears in the basketball world this season!

Re: Post-Season Games

Once again that time of the year rolls around when bowl games are all the vogue. In recent years the taint of commercialism has touched just about every one of these off-season contests. Promoters have turned bowl affairs into tremendous money-making ventures, and it's understandable why they are such. Pit two teams against each other, each having excellent records for the preceding season, and an awful lot of people are going to want to see them play. Sometime last fall it was suggested that Maine organize a Lobster Bowl, but the idea was soon discarded. That was before the fire disaster, however, the situation is very much changed now. With a Bowl at say Portland, and teams of the small college calibre of outstanding record the competitors, the resulting "take" will go a long way towards fire relief. . . . It's at least food for thought. . . .

Bears Down Bobcats To Take State Series

Season Opens For Basketball As 49 Report

Forty-nine candidates for the 1947 edition of the University of Maine basketball team reported for the first practice on Monday afternoon to Coach Eck Allen and assistants Rome Rankin, and Sam Sezak.

Less than three weeks remain before Maine's opening game on December 6.

Monday's practice was held within the locked gymnasium for most of the afternoon, before spectators were allowed to watch from the balconies. The squad was divided into two and three groups of players.

Under the guidance of Rome Rankin and Sam Sezak, a group of new men worked out together on fundamental passing and shooting plays during the session.

A second group composed principally of former Annex men and some JV players worked as a unit, and the third group practiced quick passes and more advanced exercises under the supervision of Coach Allen.

The men in the latter group included George O'Donnell and Bob Kelley, members of last year's varsity squad; John Kelley, Lynch, Chesley, and Wing of the JV's; and the scoring star of the 1945-46 Maine quintet, Bob Gates, who holds the season's record for points scored by a Maine player, established in his freshman year; and two six-footers, McCormick and Hopkins.

Notable absentees from Monday's practice included Ted Boynton, Frank Danforth, and Ken Cosseboom.

Bowl Game 'Feeler' Is Refused

The latest indication of the spreading fame of the Maine football team is the statement released by Dean Wieman's office to the effect that the University has been approached concerning the possibility of the team participating in a post-season bowl game.

However, Dean Wieman has stated that it is against University policy to consider post-season games. The state collegiate athletic associations are also opposed to these games. There is no rule as yet in effect in the Yankee Conference that prevents a team from accepting a bowl bid. Such a rule was proposed at a Conference meeting last spring, and was agreed to by all the Conference members. The rule cannot become effective however, until each college in the conference has approved of it. So far this has not been done. As a result, the University of New Hampshire, which is undefeated and untied, is free to accept any bowl bid which it may receive. At present the Wildcats are being considered for the Glass Bowl, although it is quite possible that with their record they may be invited to participate in a more important game.

Dean Wieman further stated that the feeler did not come from the Glass Bowl, the scene of last year's game between Toledo and Bates. The feeler does not constitute an invitation to a bowl game. Instead, it is merely a request as to the school's attitude concerning post-season games, and an attempt to find out if the school would participate if invited.

Blue Stages Last Period Drive For First Title Since 1934

By BOB WINSHIP

The Black Bears won their first state championship in thirteen years by staging a brilliant fourth period comeback to pin a 19-13 defeat on the defending champion Bates Bobcats in a hard-fought game at Lewiston on Saturday. Sparked by Henry "Rabbit" Dombkowski, the Bears overpowered the Bobcats to take undisputed possession of their first title since 1934.

Bears Are 15th In IC4A Meet

With Elmer Folsom placing 24th among more than 180 runners, Maine's state harrier champs placed 15th with 415 points in the IC4A cross country meet at Van Courtland Park last Monday.

Robert Black of Rhode Island State finished 60 yards in front of Horace Ashenfelter of Penn State, to win the individual championship of the IC4A. These two pace-setters, who ran side by side for the first four miles, were followed by Jack Milne of North Carolina.

Because the course has been lengthened to five miles, Black's time of 25:37:10 is put on the books as a new record. Thirty-six colleges sent varsity teams to participate in the meet.

Pale Blue Sees Movies

The Pale Blue Key Society will hold its first meeting of the year at 7:15, Thursday, November 20, in the Memorial Gymnasium Trophy Room.

After a short business meeting, Coach "Eck" Allen will show the movies of this year's State Series.

On the first play from scrimmage Dombkowski reeled through the Bates line for 26 yards, but the offensive was stopped by a bad lateral three plays later.

First Score

The Pale Blue broke the deadlock early in the second period when Dombkowski drove over from the one-yard line, after the Bears had rolled 74 yards in 12 plays. The drive was featured by Phil Coulombe's 15 yard run with fourth down and two to go on the Maine 49. Besides scoring the touchdown, the "Rabbit" contributed 40 yards to the drive. His attempted conversion was blocked and Maine led 6-0.

A few minutes later a Bates punt went out of bounds on the Maine 47. Dombkowski carried the ball to the Bates 49, then Hal Parady threw a perfect pass to Bob Emerson on the 25 and the lanky end outraced two Garnet defenders to the end zone for the second Maine touchdown. Dombkowski's conversion was good, and the Bears led at halftime, 13-0.

Bates Comeback

Bates was far from defeated when they took the field after intermission. Led by Art Blanchard, who carried the opening kickoff 21 yards to the Bates 26, the Bobcats opened a sustained drive climaxed by Castanias' 15 yard sprint around right end for the first Bates touchdown. Thomas added the extra point, and Maine led 13-7. During the drive, Blanchard completed two aerials to Bill Cunnane and Dick Scott, good for 58 yards.

Late in the same period, Blanchard scampered through the Maine secondary 21 yards to the 10, where he lateraled to Howlett who raced into the end zone with the tying score. The all-important extra point was stopped on a beautiful block by Al Wing, outstanding right end for the Bears.

The Pale Blue proved their right to the championship when they took the offensive and drove 71 yards for the winning touchdown, with Dombkowski diving over from the five to score his second touchdown. "Rabbit" missed the conversion and the score remained Maine 19, Bates 13.

Last Gasp

With time running out in the final period, the Bobcats fought desperately to get back into the game. Nick Valoras took over the passing duties and pitched Bates to the Maine 29 as the game ended. On the final play, Valoras completed a pass to Cunnane who almost broke loose to tie the score, but Reggie Lord finally pulled him down to give Maine the game and the championship.

Dombkowski added 13 points to his total to win the state scoring race, but it was strictly a team victory with both the line and the backfield turning in a magnificent game.

The Bears finished one of their finest seasons in recent years, losing only to an unbeaten New Hampshire outfit that is rated as one of the best small college teams in the East. They have earned the title of "State Champs" and have accredited themselves to their coaches and to the University.

Ex-Governor Barrows Presents Trophy To Football Team At Award Dinner

The trophy emblematic of State Series football championship was presented to the varsity football team last night by former governor Lewis O. Barrows at the annual fall athletic award dinner.

With President Arthur A. Hauck, Dean Elton E. Wieman, and the coaches taking part in the ceremonies, 134 letter and numeral awards were made.

The state series trophy, originally presented by former governor Barrows in 1940, has been rededicated to the memory of his son, the late Edward Barrows, killed in action at St. Lo, France, in 1944. Eddie Barrows was a member of Maine's varsity football teams in 1939, '40, and '41, serving as captain his senior year.

The following men received awards:

Dr. E. Stanley Jones To Speak On India To Special Assembly

Dr. E. Stanley Jones, known throughout the United States for his missionary work in India for the past 35 years, will address a University assembly of students and faculty next Tuesday, November 25, at 9:45 a.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Dr. Jones will discuss the topic, "After India's Independence, What?" and it is expected that he will be able to give an extensive survey of the conditions which will result from the recently gained independence of the Indian nation.

Almost a half of a century of missionary work, beginning in 1907, has made it possible for Dr. Jones to become keenly aware of the immediate problems of the Indian people and has earned him widespread fame and respect throughout India.

He is the author of fourteen books, the most noted of which, "The Christ of the Indian Road," was translated into twenty foreign languages. He has been a frequent contributor to several publications in which he has discussed various phases of India and its problems.

Dr. Jones was born in Baltimore, Maryland. He graduated from Asbury College in Kentucky in 1906 and is the recipient of honorary degrees.

Urann Donates Cranberries

A truckload of cranberry preserves have been donated to married veteran students by Marcus L. Urann '97, president of the National Cranberry Association of Hanson, Massachusetts.

Married veterans are eligible for an allotment of the preserves. These allotments must be picked up at the following distribution points prior to the Thanksgiving recess:

1. South Apartment veterans from Mr. Richard Lees.
2. Trailer and Cabin Colony veterans from Mr. Shelton White.
3. All other off-campus veterans from Central Sales Room, Horticulture Building, Campus.

Gertrud Ebbeson Holds Exhibition

A showing of water colors by Gertrud Ebbeson, Bangor artist, is now "Exhibition of the Week" in the Maine Art Gallery atop Stevens South. Subject matter for these original paintings is taken from the local scene.

Titles for some of her paintings: "Tug," "At Anchor," "Navy Surplus," and "First Christian Church of Bangor."

Gertrud Ebbeson taught some of the first courses in architecture offered at the University of Maine. At present, she is doing work for a Bangor firm of architects.

MCA Drive Rolls On To Final Lap

The Maine Christian Association has signed up 1583 students, as its membership drive rolls on the final lap.

Although the off-campus enrollment has greatly increased during the past week, only 214 out of 1500 have signed up.

Among the fraternities, Tau Epsilon Phi heads the list with 100% of its members belonging to the MCA. Phi Eta Kappa is a close second with 98%. North Dorm #5 also has a 100% membership. In the women's dorm group, West Hall and South Estabrooke are tied with 85% membership.

First Varsity Debate To Be At Bowdoin

The first varsity debate of the season for the Maine Debating Society will be held Friday, November 21, with Bowdoin college at Brunswick.

These are non-decision debates; one is to be held at the Bowdoin Campus and one at the Brunswick Annex of this University.

The topic for the debates is "Resolved: That a federal world government should be established." Representing Maine will be Larry Jenness and Royal Graves, affirmative; and Donald Waring and Edwin Cormier, negative.

In the telephone business, much of the knowledge of "where we are" and guidance as to "where we are headed" comes from the analysis of statistics.

Telephone statisticians and engineers are constantly studying trends and figures. They assemble the facts, analyze them, correlate them, discover their significance, draw guidance from them.

The work of these men is vital to our never-ending task of improving telephone service. In such work many college-trained men have found satisfying and rewarding careers.

And this is but one of the many interesting phases of the telephone business.

There's opportunity and adventure in telephony.
