Some Vets Must Apply For Raise

Student Veterans with more than one dependent who wish to qualify for the subsistence increase recently signed by President Truman should notify the VA by completing a form letter at the Office of Veterans Education, 109 East Annex.

This form will be available on or after Monday, March 8, and should be completed whether proof of dependency has been submitted or not.

Sit Tight

Eligible veterans now in school, entitled to $75 or $105 under the new rates, will not have to apply for the increased allowances, as existing records give the VA enough information.

An official VA news release had the following to say about the new bill:

"Only veterans in schools, colleges and universities pursuing full-time courses of education will be entitled to increased subsistence allowances. Part-time students, on-the-job trainees and others will not be entitled to the increases.

"The Bill signed into law, S. 1394, amends the Servicemen's Readjustment Act (GI Bill) and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (Public Law 16) for the disabled.

"The new payments will be at the monthly rate of $75 for a veteran without dependents, $105 for a veteran with one dependent, and $120 for a veteran with more than one dependent.

"The higher rates are applicable to periods of training on and after April 1. However, since subsistence allowance checks are not due until the end of the month in which the veteran is in training, most of the eligible veteran-students will receive their first checks at the higher rates on or shortly after May 1.

"Graduate training under a fellowship requiring a reduced credit course-load because of services rendered under provisions of the fellowship, and part-time institutional training do not come in for the increases.

Need Photostats

"In the case of dependent children, photostats or certified copies of their birth certificates will be necessary.

"If veterans now in training submit evidence of dependency prior to July 1, 1948, they will receive retroactive payments at the new rates back to April 1, 1948."

Radio Guild Airs Story Of Masque Production

An inside slant on the writing and production of "Again It's Yesterday," current Masque show, will be aired by the Radio Guild on opening night, Wednesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m., over WLBZ.

Besides the "story behind the story," the radio program, entitled "Opening Night," will feature two of the play's original songs. The numbers, "Springtime" and "Priscilla," were especially recorded at the Little Theatre.

Margaret Hanks and Rita Graham authored the Guild show.

Relief Board To Be Set Up By Senate

Recommendations for a permanent welfare organization for the University of Maine were presented at the General Senate meeting Tuesday night by a committee consisting of Lou Bouchard, Bruce Folsom, and Lorraine Littlefield.

The committee recommended that a board of governors be appointed each year to run this organization. The board would be composed of one member from each of the major student residential groups, one each from the MCA, the Newman Club, Hillel, the Maine Campus and the General Senate, and two each from the administration and faculty.

This organization would carry on a welfare drive each spring to raise all funds for charity. The board would determine the recipients of the fund and the percentage of distribution.

$1.50 Each Is Goal

It was recommended that the fund each year be raised by an individual solicitation, with a goal of $1.50 per student, faculty and administration member.

The General Senate approved the recommendations, but decided that, in view of the limited time left this spring, a temporary group would be selected to carry out the drive this year. This temporary committee will consist of two members each from the General Senate and MCA, and one each from the Newman Club, Hillel, the Campus, the administration, and faculty.

Pauline True and David Hamlin were elected as Senate members on the committee, to serve as co-chairmen. The other organizations will be contacted later this week.

Mardi Gras To Be Friday

This year's Penny Carnival, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, will be held Friday night, March 5, in the Administration building. The affair will be along a "Mardi Gras" theme, including costumes and masks.

Any type of costume will be suitable for the dance, but a mask and some sort of costume must be worn. Prizes will be awarded to the boy and girl who present the best costume.

Music for the dance, from 8 to 11:30, will be provided by Ray Downs' orchestra.

The price of admission to the carnival is $.59. Tickets will be on sale in the book store Wednesday and Thursday, and masks may be bought at the same time.

Dr. and Mrs. Hitchner and Dr. and Mrs. Highland will be chaperons for the evening.

Martha Bond is chairman of the Penny Carnival. Other committee heads include: Morna Kimball, Entertainment; Sue Dartnell, Invitations; Tanny Small, Decorations; Terry Garcelon, Publicity; Margaret Mollison, Posters; Julie Shores and Jerry Bellefleur, Tickets; Helen Buzzell, Cloak room; Bonnie Andrews, Clean-up; Thelma Crossland, Finances; Mary Zelenkewich, Concessions; Connie Howe, Costumes; and Elaine McNichol, Lights.

Bernhards Will Arrive Today; Russia Topic Of Friday Talk

Andrew Bernhard editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, and his war correspondent wife, Marjorie Avery, will arrive in Bangor this afternoon for their visit to the University of Maine.

Tomorrow, at 10:45 a.m., Bernhard will speak on "Russia and the United States" before the University Assembly. In part the talk will be based on Bernhard's observations as one of the American newspapermen who attended the 1947 Foreign Ministers' Conference in Moscow.

Another Friday event will be a Press Club Luncheon in North Estabrooke at 1 p.m., at which Mrs. Bernhard will speak on "A Woman Reporter's Most Exciting Day." She met the Russians on the famous first day on the Elbe and was in Rheims for the signing of the German surrender.

While in Maine, the Bernhards will be guests at the home of a University of Maine alumnus, John M. O'Connell, Jr., managing editor of the Bangor Daily News.

ANDREW BERNHARD

A musical extravaganza with over 15 new and original songs, many dance routines, "Again It's Yesterday" has an engrossing story which could be effectively produced without music.

Four-Day Run

Opening Wednesday for a four-day run through Saturday, "Again It's Yesterday" is the biggest production to hit the University in several years. It is the result of co-operative work among students of theatre, music, physical education and art, with instructors in three of those subjects working together.

Vincent Hartgen, instructor in art, has been working on the sets for several weeks, he and his art students, headed by Pat Palmer, painting the dozens of striking sets. Eileen Cassidy of the Women's Physical Education department has been directing both the men's and women's dancing routines, and Herschel L. Briker, director of the Masque and head of the Theatre department, has been directing the actual play.

Second Try

"Again It's Yesterday" is the second musical written by Dumais and Preble. Last year, the pair teamed up in Lewiston to present a production which reportedly met with great success. Several of the songs used in that show have been transplanted to "Again It's Yesterday."

The cast of over 60 persons is headed by Paul Payson, Dick Buck, Dwight Frye, Marian Keith, Priscilla Goggins, and Harriette Watson, all either experienced in Masque work or possessing unusually fine voices.

Tickets for "Again It's Yesterday" are now on sale at 330 Stevens Hall. According to Prof. Briker, there are plenty of tickets available for the production, scheduled to run March 10, 11, 12, and 13, Wednesday through Saturday.

Editor Donald Stuart Addresses News Class

Donald Stuart, editor of the weekly Ellsworth American, will address the class on the Newspaper and the Community, Thursday, March 11, at 9:45 a.m.

All interested students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Mr. Stuart is president of the Maine Publishers Association, an organization comprised of the weekly newspapers in the state.

Phi Mu Holds Banquet

Phi Mu fraternity will hold its annual Founder's Day banquet this evening at the Bangor House. Phi Mu week is also being observed with the annual spring formal at the Penobscot Valley Country Club Saturday evening, and initiation last Monday.

Union Fund Drive On Way To Top

With only one and one-half days of campaigning completed, the 1948 Union Building Drive is well on its way towards the goal of $25,000.

Tuesday reports had 236 students pledging $7,257—an average of $30.87 per contributor.

The present drive, proceeds of which will go into the main lounge, will continue through this week.

Leading teams on Tuesday were: Corbett Hall, 84%, $337; East Hall, 70%, $376; Oak Hall, 53%, $164; Balentine Hall, 45%, $385; and South Estabrooke, 38%, $150.

North Dorms, with the largest quota of $5,510, has already turned in $2,019. Team captains have reported that the general attitude towards the campaign has been very encouraging.

Handicraft Room Opens

The Handicraft Room on the second floor of the MCA building will be open again tomorrow from 1 to 5 p.m. There are a number of projects open in creative design for all students interested in handicrafts.

Delta Tau Delta Holds Wedding Party

Pat McQuigan and Don Collins were married Saturday afternoon in a single ring ceremony at the Fellowship House in Orono. Charlotte Pressey and Sam Collins stood up with them. Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the Delta Tau Delta House of which Don is a member. Decorations were pink and white. Many out-of-town guests and campus friends of the couple attended. After a wedding trip to Boston the couple will be at home in Bangor.

A Home Ec Open House was held Saturday afternoon in MerriH Hall. Demonstrations in foods lab, clothing instruction, and fashions were the highlights of the afternoon. "Pets" of the fashion show were six children modelling clothes made for them by the Home Ec girls. Freshman Home Ec students were hostesses. The affair was sponsored by the Home Ec Club President, Betty Flint, and Drs. Louise Stedman and Katherine Miles of the faculty.

ATO held its Mid-Winter Formal last Friday evening. The house was decorated in the fraternity colors of blue and white. Ray Downs and His Orchestra played. On Saturday night the Wives Club put on a surprise Leap Year Party with special skits and games. An evening of vic dancing followed.

Tau Epsilon Phi held a vic dance and buffet supper at the Penobscot Valley Country Club after the Maine-Rhody game. More than 100 couples attended the affair. The chaperons were Dr. and Mrs. Franz Hohn, Dr. and Mrs. Leo Lapidus, and Dr. Leonard Silk.

On Wednesday the 25th the house-mothers held an afternoon party for the house directors at the Delta Tau Delta House. Everyone had a lot of fun coming in costume for the magazine and book cover guessing game. Refreshments were served.

Last Saturday the All-Maine Women sponsored an all-University Bridge Party in the Estabrooke recreation room. About thirty tables played.

Bears To Play For Soph Hop

The Sophomore Hop will be held March 19 in the Memorial Gym with the Maine Bears providing the music. The Bears have expanded to sixteen pieces and have signed with a new vocalist.

Tickets for the dance, which will center around an Easter theme, will be on sale Monday, March 8, in the Administration Building at $2.00 per couple. Due to the limited number, tickets will be sold to sophomores only during the first week of sale.

Non-sophomore men taking sophomore girls to the hop are urged to make arrangements for their dates to buy the tickets, since a check list must be kept. If any tickets remain unsold after the first week, the sale will be opened to all classes.

The Hop will be semi-formal with no corsages. Dancing will last from nine until two, and refreshments will be served.

President and Mrs. Arthur A. Hauck, Dean and Mrs. Arthur Deering, Dean and Mrs. Mark Shibles, and the Sophomore class officers will be in the reception line. Chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sezak and Dr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Meyers.

There were door prizes and refreshments.

"Ma" Staples of the Theta Chi house was pinned last Friday at a birthday party held in her honor. The pin is the Theta Chi "Sweetheart's Pin." Mrs. Staples is known and loved by all who knew her at Phi Eta Kappa and Colvin where she acted as house-mother.

For One World

Every American student is confronted by a lost horizon. It is always in view, but many of us never see it. That horizon is our attitude towards foreign peoples, gained from our text-books, from the movies, from the radio, from the magazines and newspapers, and even from the comic strips we read. We gain an impression from our reading—and stop thinking. The mind becomes locked. There is more than one side to every question. The thinking processes of the people make the world a divided world.

A text, a movie, a magazine, a newspaper, a radio broadcast cannot hope to be complete in itself. Most of these media are partly right, but they do not go far enough—hence, the lost horizon. A near approach to the Truth takes unlimited research. Perhaps, the only sure way to understand foreigners better is to live among them, to study their languages and habits firsthand.

New York University became the center of a national conference recently. Nothing was held sacred in the evaluation of our text-books, no holds were barred when the problems of our educational system were attacked.

Wilbur Murra, National Education Association. Washington, D. C., summed our problems up as follows: "The trouble is," he said, "that we try to get our students to evaluate the peoples and traditions of other countries—and stop right there. That's perfectly all right as far as it goes, but it would be much better if we asked the students also to evaluate what the peoples of those foreign nations think about the United States. The United States is not a separate entity. It is a part of the one world."

If you've seen a part of this lost horizon lately, if you've met questions that left blanks in your thinking, part of the fault lies in the unwillingness of the student to look for the right answers, part of the fault lies in the composition of the text-books we use. School systems instill the student with "nationalistic bias." Both sides of the question are important. Otherwise, we must substitute "an apology for our American foreign policy."

SCOTCH AND SODA

BY BIFF SHALEK

Okay you wise guys down in Washington, this is election year. Make the most of it. Lock yourselves in your plush hotel rooms, stuff a big, fat, black cigar into your filibuster, and plan your campaign. Take a good, juicy subject like the anti-lynching bill and kick it around for votes. To hell with the people or their welfare—just squeeze the blood and sweat out of the issue—anything that'll assure your beefy hams their annual layer of fat... You Southern Senators, secede. You've got the honor of the South to think of... you play in your cotton fields and we'll play in our factories...

I've got a good idea, boys. Get your candidate down to the nearest Veteran's Hospital, pronto. Take a picture of him giving a pinochle deck to a legless Veteran. That'll go good with the mother's vote, and there's nothing like a good game of pinochle to pass away your life...

But, boys, whatever you do, DON'T do anything. Table it. Don't let men like Marshall and Vandenberg fool you. After all, what do they know about ward heelers, the foreign vote, the corn bloc, and chicken in every pot. Those guys that walked into Czechoslovakia carrying machine guns were only going deer hunting. They belong to the Stalin Club for the protection and Edification of the Masses. They only want Peace. A piece here and a piece there...

You fill up your room with cigar smoke and pass around the Scotch and Soda, but wouldn't it be funny, boys, if there wasn't any country to be President of, because some one had blown it off the map while you were in conference?

News In A Nutshell

BY TRAPPER

One of the most important events which will take place during 1948 is the election of the President of the U. S.... From the three important political parties, two may be dropped as practically out of the running. These parties are: The Democratic Party, and Henry Wallace's new Third Party. This leaves, of course, only the G.O.P. from which to choose the next president. At present, within the Republican Party, disorder is the order of the day, with every GOP senator, representative, and state governor considering himself as potential timbre... The most likely candidates from this whole noisy lot are as follows: Taft, Dewey, Martin, Stassen, and Vandenburg. It will be necessary to eliminate the most unlikely first, and, at the last, name the prophecy.

Number one man to be discarded is Dewey, for the GOP has an unwritten law against nominating a candidate who has been beaten before.... The second to feel the axe is Taft. His part in the Taft-Hartley Bill would be reason enough if his overbearing mouth had not already alienated Republican leaders.... Next, out goes Warren, who is not well known enough to gather many votes... Then, we come to Stassen who is a little more difficult to put aside, but he is, essentially, a lone wolf within the Party, and the GOP does not like men it cannot control easily. As for Martin, he is being held in reserve, and will not become prominent unless there should be a deadlock between Taft and Dewey, who have been previously thrown out in this prophecy. And now we have left, the man of the hour, our next president, Senator Vandenburg. Vandenburg has displeased no one. In fact, he stands out as the only congressman who has managed to keep friendly relations, and to earn the respect of both major parties.

There lies the prophecy, but it is ten law against nominating a candidate qualified by a great big 'if'. Vandenburg will be our next president, if he doesn't refuse the candidacy again.

A scene from the proposed Union Building

I'm Usually Wrong But

BY BILL BRENNAN

I'm disgusted. Not only is the general senate being good for a few weeks, thus depriving me of copy for this column, but now I'm told that there is nothing men can do that women can't do better.

Yes, that's just what is being said these days. According to Dean Mildred C. Thompson of Vassar College all men are frustrated because women have caught up with them in all lines.

Dean Mildred, I must take you to task. When you got up before the assorted group of feminine pulchritude at the National Conference of Women's Organizations in Washington and said that the day of equal rights for women is here, you went just a bit too far. Did you ever raise a mustache, Dean?

You have overlooked a few things when you claim that women can do anything a man can do, but better. Did you ever walk along a beach like I have, in shorts and nothing else but my manly beauty? What sort of pipe tobacco do you prefer?

Dean Mildred said that we men had lost sole rights to the symbols, meaning pants, of our maleness, that we'd been forced out of the privacy of our barber shops, and that we couldn't even escape women in the corner saloon.

My dear woman, trip lightly into the horseshoe bar at the Chateau in Bangor, and see what happens while you're lapping up a beer.

Don't misunderstand me, now. I love women, I think they're wonderful. There's something about them that is so different from men. What if their lips come off when they take a drink; what if they wear short skirts one year and long ones the next; what if they stumble around in silly shoes and have trouble holding up their socks? They're still fine.

But get this. If I'm a frustrated male, a member of the lost sex, and a menace to myself, then I certainly can't be expected to stand up every time a woman comes in the room, or rush to open doors for her, or tie her shoe if the lacing becomes loose and she can't bend down and fix it herself.

And never, never forget who's footing the bills for all the beauties in the student bodies at Vassar, Maine, or anywhere else. Their ever-loving pops. Males, every one, and how can you blame them if they're frustrated at this point.

A Note From Ike

To see a horse and buggy in these days is an oddity, so I stopped the other day in front of one of the downtown establishments to look over an oddity that was parked by the curb. An old man was having quite a time with his team. Seems that he had dropped a nickel into the parking meter and was waiting for the last three minutes to pass so that he could git home to Esmeraldy with the bought'n goods.

Time came for him to leave with the erection of that little red flag that says so plaintively VIOLATION. Well, that blamed horse wouldn't move. The wagon was boxed in by a car to the rear and another car to the front. The old man hemmed and the old horse hawed. And between the hemming and the hawing there was quite a bit of excitement.

He tried to make the horse back up, but it was no go. No sir; that old horse, he wasn't made to go backwards and he wasn't going to either. Then the old man got mad. He walked around front and hit the horse in the face as hard as he could, then he got back up in the driver's seat and tried to get the horse to back up. No go.

So back around front he walks, and this time he took out his knife and cut one of the horse's eyes right out! Yessir! that's just what he did; and then he walked around behind the horse and hung it on the horse's tail—so's he could see going backwards. Good old Esmeraldy got the goods in time.

Monty Higgins Says:

I always get to the movies right in the middle of the feature. Never fails. I see all the closing action of the picture without knowing what the characters are yammering about. Most of the time I just sit, yawn, and wait for the moment when I can poke my wife and say, "This is where we came in. Let's get out of here."

Dowling Speaks On Foreign Service

Mr. Walter Dowling of the State Department was guest speaker at a meeting of the International Relations Club in South Estabrooke last night. His topic was "U. S. Foreign Policy."

In the morning he lectured on the foreign service to the class in American Diplomatic History, and talked on the American policy in Southern Europe before the combined classes in International Relations and Russian History.

In the afternoon he was available to interested students who wished to discuss the foreign service as a career.

Scabbard and Blade Hears Major Vatort

There will be a Scabbard and Blade meeting on Thursday evening, March 4, at 7 o'clock, in the Oakes Room of the New Library.

The first half of the meeting will be an important business meeting conducted by Capt. Harry Crowell. At eight o'clock, Major Francis Vetort, jet pilot from Dow Field, will talk on "Jet-Propelled Aircraft and New Advances in the Air Force." Major Vetort is recognized as one of the best Air Force lecturers in the New England area.

Intramural Basketball Play-off Will Be Held In Two Weeks

Intramural basketball moves into its last two weeks of the season this week and attention is now turned to the possible winners who will meet in the playoff.

In the Gold Division of the Central Dorm League, coach Dave Dexter's first floor Dunn Hall Minutemen jumped into the league lead Monday night by handily defeating the fourth floor Corbett Eagles 69-41. Paced by Burt Goddard, star of Joe Zabalski's Brunswick Annex five of last year and Paul Chantal, the Minutemen had little difficulty in downing their only rivals to the crown. Other members of the team which should give their tournament rivals plenty of trouble are Ernie Lowell, Art Panarese, and Bob Burt.

In the Green Division of the Central Dorm League, West Oak paced by "Big Dick" Fish and Dick Whitmore are ruling the roost, but the highly publicized and once defeated Freshman team coached by Sam Sezak are right on their heels. Either team will offer its opponents plenty of trouble.

Phi Gam is at present on top of the heap in the Fraternity League, but Kappa Sig and Beta are only one game off the pace. All three teams have been defeated once, but Phi Gam has two more wins. One of the teams will be eliminated on March 9, however, when Beta and Kappa Sig tangle at 7 o'clock.

Chuck Loranger's Building 16 quintet is the only undefeated team in all three leagues and appears a cinch to take the White Division of the North Dorm League. They have another game with Bud Pressley's Ocummo team, however, and anything can happen in basketball.

North Dorm 1 is having its own way in the Blue Division

Junior And Senior Teams Tie 26-26

Bear Facts

BY MURPH LINEHAN

Another State Series trophy has been won by the University of Maine! Last Friday evening the Bears subdued its ancient adversary, Bowdoin, 57-43, to clinch the title. This gives Maine a final standing in Series competition of seven wins and two losses. Ironically enough, the pair of defeats came at the hands of Colby... the same club that was knocked-off thrice by Bates, which in turn was licked by Maine three times. It only goes to prove the old saying, that you can never tell what's going to happen when it comes to the State Series. How about it, Bill Kenyon, gonna make it a clean sweep??

Medal For George

Everyone knows by this time that Maine's George Marsanskis threw the 35-pound weight 56 feet 11 inches to victory in the IC4A annual meet at New York City last week end. In their columns before the meet, a few Boston sports scribes generously placed George in third or fourth position in their predictions. And on paper they were generous, for Marsanskis rated no more against the prevailing opposition, but the proof of the pudding etc., and so "Big George" defeated the favorite, Harvard's Sam Felton, on his eighth and last throw. Current gossip has Marsanskis destined for the Olympics, but more on that later.

Springtime and Baseball

This week marks the beginning of big time baseball spring training. Each year major league clubs journey to the summer climes of the South to Though it's a little early to start looking for pennant winners, certain teams are almost sure to be in the running for the top spots. Among these in the American League, the Boston Red Sox seem to be running fastest right now judging from the strength they've added by trades during the off-season, and by the acquisition of Joe McCarthy to fill the managerial role. The National League situation appears more wide open, with the Durocher Dodgers, St. Louis Cards, and the Boston Braves looking like potential champions.

And In This Corner...

Today, the high schoolers take over Memorial Gym for this year's large school tournament. Eight teams are entered, including Bangor, 1947 victors, Presque Isle, Fort Fairfield, Stearns, Brewer, Ellsworth, Conny, and Waterville. Bangor is the favored club, and during the regular season under the guidance of Red Barry, former Bates court star, the Rams compiled an impressive record. But this is a tournament, and past records don't mean an awful lot. Opinion: We like Waterville...

Open Letter

Gentlemen of the Yankee Conference Board:

It has been undoubtedly called to your attention by this time... Yes, we're speaking of the Maine-R. I. "game" of February 21, in which one Frank Keaney of Kingston perpetrated a fraud and a farce by directing his basketball team in a manner unbecoming to the sport, and himself to a like manner to the coaching profession. We at Maine have heard of the vaunted power of this Board, and now we await tangible evidence of its authority. This is your opportunity to assert yourselves, gentlemen... as the old Yankee Conference did not do. Your decision, gentlemen.

Marsanskis Wins IC4A Weight Championship

Northeastern To Be Last Foe For Track Team

One lone track meet stands between Maine's indoor track squad and an undefeated season in dual competition. This last obstacle will be faced this Saturday when the Pale Blue team faces Northeastern's crew in the field house. With their third straight triumph an easy 81-36 win over Colby, now past history, the Bears rate an edge over the visiting Huskies.

Last year the Huskies gave the local runners a bitter tussle before going down to defeat and this year's squad carries quite a few members of the same team. However, they have been trounced by M.I.T., among other teams, and are not regarded as being powerful.

The meet will have its share of interesting events and quite a bit of attention will be paid to the visitors' Payson Kenyon, who last year gave Elmer Folsom his most grueling duel in the 1000 yd. run before going down to defeat, his only loss of the season in that event. Johnnie Wallace, winner of both the mile and 1000 against Colby, is a powerful runner and a closely contested race is due to result in this meeting. Folsom was sidelined with a bad cold against Colby and his condition at present is not certain.

In the weight events, the Maine crew should not be troubled too much. George Marsanskis, IC4A 35 lb. weight Champion, is the heavy favorite to win his event, while Vaughn Totman and John Collins turned in winning tosses in the discus and shot put respectively last week.

The distance events are very much in doubt as the Maine men have not lived up to record of last year and have not hit their stride as yet this season. Maine's dash men have been turning in fine performances and their power may swing the meet in their favor. Another outstanding event is slated in the 45-yd high hurdles when Maine's hurdling trio of Leclair, Beal, and Humes will match their form against Ed MacFarland, Danny Danforth, surprise scorer in the Bowdoin game, played his last game for Maine Saturday.

Stanton Leads Marksmen To Win Over Bowdoin

The University of Maine Varsity Rifle Team defeated Bowdoin Friday night by a score of 1347 to 1197. This was the first shoulder to shoulder match fired by the Black Bears since pre-war days, with a collegiate team. Don Stanton was high man for the Bears with a score of 282. Griffin, Wight, Rand, Catheron, Meade, Buckley and Pendleton made up the team which journeyed to Brunswick with the basketballers Friday night for the match. Captain S. E. Andrews of the ROTC staff officiated.

High man for Bowdoin was Reeves with a 261.

A badminton ladder tournament is set up for inter-dorm competition. Participants have until Easter vacation to work to the top. Top players will then play off in an elimination tournament for the championship.

Maine Senior Outshines Field With Toss Of 56 Feet 11 Inches

BY BOB WINSHIP

George Marsanskis, ace weight man of the University of Maine track team, soared to national prominence Saturday by capturing the 35-pound weight title in the twenty-seventh annual IC4A indoor track and field championships held in New York City. After trailing Harvard's favored Sam Felton by more than a foot in the final round, Marsanskis came up with a heave of 56 feet 11 inches on his last toss to clinch the title in his initial appearance in IC4A competition.

Marsanskis' winning effort, surpassing all his previous performances, was the longest throw in the IC4A championships since the 57 feet 4 1/8 inches reached in 1940 by Bob Bennett, who at that time was a member of the Maine track team.

In winning the event, Marsanskis surpassed the efforts of a star-studded field including Felton; Jim Scholtz, Army; Bob Miller, Rhode Island State; and Scott Johnson, Yale. On the basis of past performances, Marsanskis was rated behind Felton and Scholtz by New York sports writers. Following the meet these same writers acclaimed his surprising victory the outstanding feature of the meet and named the Maine star a likely candidate for a berth on the 1948 Olympic squad.

A senior, Marsanskis began his track career under the able tutelage of Coach Chester A. Jenkins during the season of 1945-6 and quickly developed into one of the top weight men in New England. In addition to the hammer events, he is a consistent point-getter for Maine in the 16-pound shot and the discus.

He will compete in the last indoor meet of his college career this Saturday when the Maine squad tangles with the Northeastern track team in the fieldhouse to wind up the current indoor season. When the Bears move outdoors in the Spring to christen the new track plant, Marsanskis will attempt to continue his mastery in the weight events and gain recognition for the Olympics in the 16-pound hammer throw.

Maine Takes State Series

The Maine Bears ended their 1947-48 basketball season last week end by splitting two games, with a decisive win over Bowdoin to clinch the State Series crown, and a loss to New Hampshire, at Durham, to finish the season with an 11-7 record.

Bob Gates was the scoring leader, and Ted Boynton was the playmaker at Brunswick last Friday as Maine wound up the State Series play with 57-43 victory over Bowdoin's stubborn Polar Bears. The triumph gave Maine a 7-2 Series record, and a lead of one full game over second-place Bates, which had already ended its season with a 6-3 record.

Danforth Surprises

Gates scored after a few seconds of the second half to put the champs into a lead which they never relinquished. Danforth, surprising Bowdoin on the offensive, began to roll in the second period, and Maine started to pull away.

With Connolly and Schoenthaler hitting the hoop fairly consistently, Bowdoin gained ground on the Bears, and they were only five points behind 45-40, late in the game. At this point, Maine cinched the game with two layups, and the Bears coasted until the game's end.

Gates scored 19, and Danforth made 15 for the winners, and Connolly and Schoenthaler led the home team, with 13 and 10 points respectively.

New Hampshire

Maine closed the season away from home at Durham with a loss to New Hampshire's Wildcats, 68-57, in a loosely played game. The Bears suffered an off-night, and never recovered the lead that they lost in the early minutes of the first half.

The Wildcats solved Maine's floating zone in the opening period and took the lead at the five-minute mark. The Bears switched to a man-to-man defense, but the home team was not to be denied, and New Hampshire led at halftime, 30-23.

Bob Gates led the Maine scorers with seven field goals and seven fouls for a 21 point total. Peasley tallied 15 and Boynton netted 13, the only other double-figure scorers for the Bears.

Each school brought a varsity team, and a total of 12 debates were held.

The tourney was arranged and conducted by Wofford Gardner, director of debate.

Maine students participating in the tourney included Bob Moran, Dwight Demeritt, Mary Linn, Jean Brewer, Margaret Gorham, Margaret Molli-son, Francis Bean, Henry Wentworth, Everett Keach, Bob Russell, John Crooker, and John LaPointe.

During March, April and May a series of informal Sunday night parties are being planned in faculty homes. Some of them will be supper parties. Entertainment possibilities include records, movies, taffy-pulling or supper-making in the kitchen, games, or bull sessions. A student host and hostess will assist with each party.

All interested Maine students may sign up for these parties at the MCA office in person or by telephone. The first parties will take place Sunday night, March 14.

In charge of arrangements are Esther Comegys, Henry Casavant, Franz Hohn, and John Romanynshyn of the faculty, and Grace Griffin, Mary Ann Hillson, Miriam Kochakian, and Alan Plaisted of the student committee.

Miss Winnifred Wygal and Rev. Clark W. Hunt are two of the speakers coming for Embassy Week, March 14-18. Miss Wygal, a free lance lecturer and discussion leader in the field of theology and the Christian faith, has traveled throughout the world and has written many books. She will participate in Embassy Week activities and will be the leader of the worship service which will close the week on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre. Rev. How many operators will we need NEXT YEAR?

This is but one of the many questions telephone men are called upon to answer.

Part of their work has always been to anticipate demands for personnel . . . to determine what additional equipment must be provided, what new construction will be necessary to handle the constantly increasing demands for service.

Careful planning in every phase of telephone work requires the services of many qualified men. For them, this growing business offers the opportunity for active, interesting careers.

There's a future in telephony.

Student Meetings Scheduled For Embassy Week

Special programs for students of particular interest groups will be held as a part of Embassy Week. The general outline of these seminars will be a short introductory speech by the guest Embassy leader, after which the floor will be thrown open.

What It Means To Be a Social Worker

If you are interested in sociology, welfare work, casework, or any field dealing with helping people, this opportunity to listen to and question a speaker who has a wide knowledge and experience in the field of social work will be one of the highlights of Embassy Week for you. Kay Kennedy is student chairman.

The Approach of Liberal Christianity

This program is designed for those who feel that the scientific method of free, objective inquiry is as valid in the field of religion as in the purely physical sciences. Engineering students, as well as majors in government, economics, and sociology, should find this seminar extremely profitable. Above all, this seminar will strive for realism. John Wentworth is student chairman.

The Nature of God

Does man have an inherent religious nature, and if so how does God fit into that nature? Is God a psychological leaning post, or is he the supreme being of the universe? What kind of God do we worship? These and other similar questions will be raised and discussed at this seminar. June Swanton is student chairman.

The Way of Salvation

Some of you are dissatisfied with the abstract nature of the churches

you have attended seeking an answer to questions of vital importance to you concerning salvation, and of the love of God for you personally.

Somewhere inside you is an empty void that leaves you uneasy and makes you envy at times the seeming peace of those who will humble themselves in a way you are unwilling to do. This seminar is for you. Wayne Thurston is student chairman.

Psychology and Religion

This is a seminar especially for psychology majors and those students who are interested in the problems and questions that arise from knowledge gained in analyzing in an objective manner the thoughts and processes of human activities. Lois Nicholson is student chairman.

Economics of Christianity

Perhaps you've been wondering how business administration, economics, and law fit into a religion that is in essence spiritual. Perhaps you're wondering how you can live on ninety a month and believe in ideals of giving to others who need. This seminar will be full of objections. Come and find out what others think. John La Point is student chairman.

The Skeptic's Hour

This seminar will be of interest to all students who doubt religious dogma. We are looking for doubts, disbeliefs, and information through open question and answer. John La Point is student chairman.

WHY I smoke Chesterfield

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"Liggett & Myers buy as fine tobacco as there is grown. They buy only mild, sweet cigarette tobacco."

"I smoke only Chesterfield cigarettes and I have smoked them right from the start."
