McConnell Will Speak At Assembly

Embassy Week, with its theme "What Can We Believe," will get underway Sunday and Monday with worship services and seminars, and will be highlighted Tuesday at 9:45 a.m. with an all-university assembly at which Dr. Charles M. McConnell, of the Boston University School of Theology, will speak.

Dr. McConnell will have as his subject "This I deeply believe." Dr. McConnell holds a D.D. from Cornell, is the author of the book, The Rural Billion, and has long been active in college religious work.

Worship Services

Protestant worship services will be held throughout Embassy week. Rev. Clark Hunt will lead the Sunday morning service at 11 in the Little Theatre. Sunday at 7 p.m. there will be a worship service and a movie, "The Kindled Flame," also at the Theatre. Vespers will be held every afternoon, Monday through Thursday, from 4:45 to 5:15 in the Theatre.

Catholic Mission devotions will be held at 8 every evening, Monday through Thursday, in the Theatre. These devotions will be led by Father John F. Conoley. Mass will be held daily at 6:45 and 7:30 a.m., in the Theatre.

Hillel Foundation will hold their meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday in the MCA reading room. Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld, National Director of Hillel Foundation, will lead the meeting.

Interfaith Panel

America's three great faiths will be discussed Thursday afternoon at 3:45 in an Interfaith Panel. The panel, on the topic "What we Believe," will be led by Father Conoley, Rabbi Lelyveld, and Rev. Prentiss Pemberton.

Two new seminars have been added. "Preparation for family life" is planned for married students and those who are planning to be married. Wives of married students are invited. "One World, But How?" will deal with religion and the seriousness of today's world situation.

Seminars which should be of special interest to certain groups include: psychology majors, "Psychology and Religion"; sociology majors, "What it Means to be a Social Worker"; and economic majors, "The Economics of Christianity."

Three faculty seminars have been planned as luncheons at Merrill Hall at noon on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. They include Dr. Jaul Johnson speaking on "The Psychology of Religion," Dr. McConnell on "The Church and Social Justice," and Sunder Raj Raichur on "An Inside View of the Indian Political Situation."

Throughout the week there will also be nightly bull sessions, classroom appointments. Personal conferences can be arranged through interview request forms obtained at the seminars, at the MCA office, or from Sue Beisel, at Colvin Hall.

Student-Written Musical Play Makes Opening Night Success

By LARRY JENNESS

Al Dumais and Peg Preble are happy this afternoon. Tonight, with their original musical play going on the boards for the second time, they have a success on their hands. The applause of an opening night audience left no doubt of that in anyone's mind.

"Again It's Yesterday," a musical play with stars Paul Payson and Harriette Watson and a huge supporting cast, opened last night in the Maine Masque theatre.

The play dealt with a young couple, opening with their college-blooming love in 1916, and following them through to parenthood. An epilogue pointed out the folly of mankind—that of making the same mistakes over again.

The play itself was long, but the audience was rewarded with plenty of good music and clever dialogue. Original songs "I Knew At Once," "Keep Right On Walking," "Shy Moon," "Springtime," and "Priscilla" were high in the favor of the audience.

The most ear-catching tune was a number on army life, "Hurry Up and Wait," sung by a chorus of World War I soldiers.

Payson's voice alone was worth the price of admission. Added to Miss Watson, who did nicely on her own, too, the result was extra pleasing. Dick Buck, Priscilla Goggin, and Marion Keith also turned in good performances.

Of the many character parts, John Ballou and Bob Warren deserve first mention. John brought the house down with his portrayal of the bartender who only turned to drink after marriage. Warren was a tired "man with the poster" who never bothered to read his own signs.

Also deserving of credit are George Garland, as a saloon-owner, Marny Abrams as a bolshevik, Carol Carr as Ruby, Toni Doescher as an old lady, and George Gonyar as a World War

Chemistry Will Hold Open House

The chemistry department will hold an open house for science students of the Maine high schools, especially those in Bangor, Brewer, Old Town, Orono, and John Baptist High School, Wednesday evening, March 24, Professor Irwin Douglass, head of the chemistry department, has announced.

The program will be under the direction of the chemistry professors and students of the American Chemical Society.

The high school students will be taken on a tour of the classrooms and laboratories of the Chemistry department and they will have an opportunity to hear lectures and see demonstrations involving chemistry.

Professor Robert T. Hart, chairman of the program committee, says, "The purpose of the open house is to impress upon high school pupils the promising future that chemical technology holds."

A good part of the work involved in carrying out the program will be handled by the students of the American Chemical Society, under the direction of its president, Hubert Ranger.

Chapel Drive Goal Set At $100,000

Announcement has been made of a nation-wide $100,000 drive among Catholic alumni and friends to build a chapel for Catholic students here.

Speaking before 125 alumni at the Penobscot Hotel Tuesday night, the Most Reverend Daniel J. Feeney, auxiliary bishop of the Diocese of Portland, termed the chapel "another fortress erected in the line of defense against the ever-growing spirit of secularism."

The chapel is to be located on Grove Street. Other speakers called the proposed building "a fountain of true Americanism," and "an oasis of refreshment to the Catholic students."

Temple To Meet

Four candidates will be initiated at the regular meeting of the Order of the Temple, to be held tonight in the Orono Lodge Hall at 7 o'clock.

Scabbard and Blade Initiates Challenge Students To 'Capture The Cannon'

Student groups or organizations are challenged to "capture the cannon" during Scabbard and Blade initiation ceremonies, said Dick Standley, initiation committee chairman.

Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military society, will initiate 18 new members in this traditional manner next Wednesday and Thursday, March 17 and 18, from 7:45 a.m. until 4:45 p.m. both days.

Pledges will be divided into three-man groups to guard the cannon, which will be in the vicinity of the Bookstore. Each group will stand a one hour watch.

If the cannon is successfully captured, and the guard cannot recover it, Scabbard and Blade asks that it be returned at the end of the hour to be set up for the next watch.

Pledges will carry wooden rifles and will be required to present arms to all members of the company.

Senator Taft To Speak Here

Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, will speak at a general assembly, Monday, March 15, at 9:45 a.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium. The assembly will be open to the public.

Dr. Authur A. Hauck will preside at the assembly, which is sponsored by the Politics Club, International Relations Club, and the Political Breakfast Club.

Senator Taft will be introduced by Senator Owen Brewster, of Dexter.

All Students Welcome At SAE Bowery Brawl

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will play host to Maine students Saturday night, March 13, at the annual SAE Bowery Brawl.

A swinging door saloon, old fashioned cuspidors, and a honky-tonk band will only be a part of the evening's atmosphere.

SCOTCH AND SODA

By BIFF SHALEK

In the old days when the breezes blew you were chilled to the bone. You twisted and turned, hunched up your knees to your chin, and tucked your blanket around your shoulders. This went on until about three in the morning and then you started thinking; Now if I were married I wouldn't be laying here freezing. I'd be warm, happy, and content.

During this era of frigidity the Maine Girl came into her own. She organized prayer groups to ask for sub-zero temperatures. She recruited cohorts to secretly open the windows in the Men's Dorms on the coldest nights. Frat men started to pin busts left and right, rather than face the icy sheets alone. The poor Dorm men, having no pin, made Day's Jewelry store what it is today. Mothers, quick to take advantage of the situation, shipped their daughters to Maine. The Campus men were broken into two factions. Those who were drawn into the vortex of matrimony, and those who valiantly braved the icy perils of the midnight breezes.

Then, from out of the West came the greatest boon to mankind. General Electric, oh yes, quite on to the dastardly deeds of the Maine Women, invented the ELECTRIC BLANKET. "Aha!" shouted the men of Maine. No more were they to suffer of cold feet.

They didn't need a wife. They had thermostatic control. If there was a short circuit or a run down battery, they rewired or recharged. This you cannot do with a wife.

And so harmony returned to the Campus and life went on, warm happy, and content.

Andrew Bernhard Speaks At Assembly On U. S. World Power Responsibilities

Speaking at a University Assembly last Friday, Andrew Bernhard, editor-in-chief of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, asserted that the United States must live up to its responsibilities as a world power if it is to continue to hold the respect of the smaller nations of the world.

Drawing from his experiences as a newspaperman covering the Foreign Ministers' Conference in Moscow last year, Mr. Bernhard explained that there are three points we must keep in mind when considering the Russians and their actions.

Russians Low

He said that we must realize that the Russian standard of living is extremely low in comparison with that of Western Europe. Secondly, that the Russians believe that they alone brought about the defeat of Germany and Japan and, finally, that the members of the Russian government as Communists believe that a worldwide spread of communism is inevitable.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernhard were guests of honor at the Press Club luncheon held Friday in the North Estabrooke dining hall. About 70 students and faculty members attended.

Mrs. Bernhard, the former Miss Marjorie Avery, entertained the gathering with an account of what she termed "the most exciting day in a woman reporter's life," the meeting of the American and Russian forces on the Elbe River, in April 1945.

Some Picnic

She described the union on the Elbe as resembling a combination American Legion meeting, picnic, and circus, and said that it was "not marred by a single dignified moment."

Mrs. Bernhard, as a feature writer for the Knight newspaper chain, was with the 69th Division at the time of the historic meeting. She now lectures in journalism at the University of Pittsburgh.

The Treasure Is There

This is an important week in your life! A flying carpet that goes everywhere and touches every human heart, your religious belief, will be examined. We want to find out the Truth about its color, see what properties are in the dye, what it is worth to you. The following fragment may give you a better idea of what we are trying to do.

When Ali Baba was an old man, he went to the door of his cave one day and said, "Open, Sesame!" The Door swung on its rusty hinges. Slowly, it opened. Ali peered into the gloom, waiting patiently until his eyes could pierce the darkness. Long had he waited for this moment! Long had he waited to see again the multiple wonders strewn upon the earthen floor! There would be jewels, wrought silver and precious gold, a thousand and one bright stars from the far corners of the Earth.

"Strange," he thought, "I see nothing—nothing at all." Surely, forty decrepit thieves suffering from malnutrition, freezing in their tattered rags, could not have moved the treasure. "Strange—I see nothing at all!" Had it been a dream? "No," he convinced himself, "a dream is not the answer."

How else account for the magic words that still worked their miracle? How else account for the Door? The cave seemed smaller, now, and the darkness and silence were stronger than any fierce gust of wind he had ever felt upon the mountain's face. "Tomorrow," he vowed, "I will come back and bring the youngest son. Ali is getting old. His eyes play strange tricks."

The next day Ali returned with his youngest son. "Open, Sesame!" he said. The Door opened.

"Sire, the treasure is there. Can you not see it?"

"No, Son," said Ali, peering long into the darkness.

"Sire, it is not the eyes that fail. It may be something in your heart. Let us go to Baghdad. The Wise Men will tell you how to see the treasure again."

And so it was that Ali Baba journeyed to Baghdad.

This is Embassy Week. Join the discussion groups. Bring a friend. If you are a skeptic bring your questions. If you are a gentle heart, strengthen your Faith!

Mardi Gras Highlights Week End, Monte Carlo Party, Banquets Follow

The WAA sponsored Mardi Gras Pi Beta Phi gave a tea for their visiting officer last Thursday afternoon in the South Estabrooke livingroom. Everyone came in costume and had a marvelous time trying his luck at the various game booths. The Modern Dance Club put on a side show. Music for dancing was provided by Ray Downs. During intermission the Tumbling Club presented an act followed by a series of "living pictures" of Dutch, Irish, and American Colonial Days in which eight fellows participated with the WAA girls. Chap-Banquet last Saturday evening at the Highlands, Dr. and Mrs. E. Reeve Hitchner, and Miss Helen Lengyel.

On Saturday night Theta Chi held a Monte Carlo Party. Thirty-four couples joined in playing roulette, stud poker, blackjack, and dice games. Each couple had 3,500 "dollars" to play with as they pleased. Discovery of a marked deck of cards resulted in the one mishap of the evening—a "shoot-ing." The dining room was arranged in a candlelight cafe where the couples could eat and dance. Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle were chaperons.

Dick Coffin and Nancy McKay were married February 28 at the Wellesley Hills Congregational Church. A reception followed at the Wellesley Hills County Club. Many SAE brothers and college friends went down to the wedding.

Evelyn Shur is now wearing the Alpha Rho Upsilon pin of Bob Rudy of Bowdoin.

Mr. and Mrs. "Rod" McKusick are very proud of their baby boy. Michael Stewart was born on March 3.

WHY VOTE ANYHOW?

News Item. "In 1896, 80 per cent of qualified voters went to the polls. In 1946, 39 per cent of qualified voters went to the polls."

I wonder what those fools were so hopped up about fifty years ago? Of course they had a big fuss about free silver then, while today all we've got is the Marshall Plan, inflation, intolerance, housing, taxes, and a million other petty squabbles.

That reminds me, I'm pretty fed up with all these people who keep telling me it's my privilege and duty to vote. Sure, I'd squawk if I couldn't vote. But it's a lot of trouble to walk down to the city clerk's office to register, and then walk down to vote in the primary, and then in the election. Besides, I don't know any of the candidates, and I haven't got time to read the papers, except Dick Tracy; I'm busy learning more important things in school. On top of that, my vote wouldn't make much difference anyhow.

I did vote once. A couple of years ago, my congressman asked me, "Had enough?" I said, "Sure," and voted for him. He told me that free, private enterprise would take care of inflation, and that sounded pretty reasonable. Funny, but it seems like prices have gone up since then.

Another thing, I can't see sending all this money to Europe and China. What we need right now is about a $6 billion tax reduction.

Sure, I know we used to talk a lot about how Things Were Going To Be Different When We Got Back. I'd still like a change, but they tell me the only way to change things is to vote, and I'm too busy.

The University of Maine Chapter of AVC hopes that the above character is not a typical Joe College. In the belief that there are still some stubborn individuals who think that voting produces results, AVC will present candidates' records and details of registering in a future issue of the Campus.

I'm Usually Wrong But

By BILL BRENNAN

Pardon us if we become intellectual this week, but with the MCA's Embassy Week rapidly approaching, it seems like a good time to talk about brotherhood.

Just what does brotherhood mean? It's made up of two insignificant words, which, when welded together, form something which stands a good chance of being the road to world peace.

Brotherhood doesn't mean tolerance, but is partially composed of tolerance and ingredients much stronger. Brotherhood is those well-worn phrases, "Love thy neighbor..." and "Do unto others..." and more besides.

But what is the "more besides" that helps make up this thing called brotherhood? To us, it's realizing that everyone isn't as fortunate as we are, regardless if it's the fellow in the next room who has a new car, or the girl across the hall with plenty of dresses, or the guy working in town making good dough. To us, it's doing something about the people who aren't as fortunate as we are, and nobody is that fortunate. We have something that they don't. And everyone has something that everyone else lacks.

Look about you. Sure, Ed's old man sends him a big check every week; Mary's aunt is always buying her new cosmetics. But you know that you still have something Mary and Ed don't have. Maybe it's just happiness, or self satisfaction, or perhaps it's something material. Usually, however, it seems to us that it's just a feeling of goodness.

Brotherhood, to us, means allowing everyone to have that same feeling of goodness that you have. Share your happiness with those who are less fortunate. In turn, they will share theirs with you.

Think it over. You're not so bad off. When you get right down to it, you're better off than the next guy. And if everyone figures it this way, and shares it, we've got it made.

Shall We Affiliate?

A new issue of interest to students has come to our campus. The question of whether we shall or shall not affiliate with the NSA will be decided by the student body in the near future.

The National Student Association is a nationwide organization of college students. No organizations, other than the student governments of the various colleges, have a voice in the affairs of the association.

The NSA was first discussed by several American students at the International Student Union Conference at Prague, Czechoslovakia in the Summer of 1946. Upon seeing the way other countries had national student organizations, they decided that the United States could also benefit by a student association. Upon returning to the United States, these delegates sounded out student opinion on forming a national student association at many of our colleges.

Wide support of the idea led to a conference held at the University of Chicago in December, 1946.

The New Look

Spring ain't sprung, the grass ain't riz, But a new print dress makes you think it is!

We haven't seen a robin yet, but we haven't given up hope for at the Pi Phi tea Saturday afternoon we spotted many signs of an early spring. That's right we mean the bright print dresses that were so outstanding.

Jackie Howell looked refreshingly different in a flowered print of rose and lime on a black background. The black was accented by the rayon taffeta draping over the hips which met in a bustle bow at the back.

Rating a prominent spot in the March tableau of fashion was Jean Wallace wearing an aqua fan print. The stiff cutaway peplum will get that second look because of its saucy flare.

Seen during rehearsal of the Masque Musical Play was Harriette Watson wearing a black moire gathered skirt scalloped at the drawstring waist and around the bottom. A dancing step informed us that it was lined with purple to be worn reversible with the horizontally striped blouse of purple, green, and aqua.

Looks like a gay spring this year from all indications!

Union Building Fund Hits Halfway Mark

The 1948 Union Building Fund Drive was reported well over the halfway mark of its $25,000 goal as of Wednesday morning, according to Drive chairman James F. Donovan.

To that date, a sum of $15,617 had been pledged by 609 students, with 183 contacts still unmade.

Donovan was very pleased with contributions of the freshman class. Over 70 per cent of the frosh have been contacted and have contributed.

The present drive, the second student campaign in two years, is part of an over-all effort to raise $900,000 for a Union Building. Nearly two-thirds of that total has been subscribed to date.

Meal Tickets For Commons To Be Partially Transferable

As a direct result of action taken by the Men's Senate, meal tickets for the Commons will be partially transferable hereafter. Senate committee Paul Clark, Maurice Shaughnessy, and Richard Edes reported that Mr. Wells has agreed to allow students to transfer their tickets twice a month. Holes will be punched in the tickets at presentation in case of transfer. The committee quoted Mr. Wells as saying that more transferring couldn't be allowed unless prices were raised. This is because the budget of the mess hall is estimated in advance. 20 per cent of the total is then deducted to allow for missed breakfasts and fewer meals served on weekends.

The Senate also voted to recommend to the General Senate a revision of election procedure. It is recommended that voting take place by colleges, with ballot boxes being placed in Stevens, Aubert, and Winslow for greater convenience and publicity.

Richard Briggs, Robert Bleakney, and Dewey Gray volunteered as a committee to approach faculty members regarding formulating a definite policy in holding and passing back exam papers.

Lighting and scenery were as well handled as this "critic" has ever seen them. Very effective sets were designed and painted by the Art Department, and constructed by stagecraft classes. Most of the time the stage was a brilliant array of color.

The tap dance routine and the modern dances, which Miss Cassidy assisted in directing, added much to the show.

Peg Preble and Douglas Johnson accompanied at the piano. The play was directed by Herschel Bricker. Make-up was by Henri Casavant, Larry Dunn was technical director, and Clayton Briggs was chief electrician.

Bear Facts

By MURPH LINEHAN

According to the calendar, spring is just around the corner, but the landscape tells a different story, and so the outdoor track squad and Bill Kenyon's baseball club will jointly hold workouts in the indoor fieldhouse. Prospects look very bright for Coach Chester Jenkins' hopefuls...this year's crop of indoor tracksters will merely change uniforms and sharpen up for a couple of new events....Going undefeated through the regular indoor schedule should provide plenty of momentum in the direction of a successful outdoor campaign. Events such as the javelin and the hammer will undoubtedly be difficult to practice within the confines of the fieldhouse, and their participants will suffer a disadvantage considering that southern New England colleges will see green grass earlier than we of the ice region, but the fact that we have a coach named Jenkins balances the scale.

East Meets West

At Portland this week end, the champions of eastern Maine, Bangor High, will tangle with the western victors, Cheverus of Portland, in a do-or-die battle to the end. Last Saturday night, Bangor tipped over Waterville in convincing fashion, and Cheverus swept over Biddeford. The two champs will come to grips in Portland's Exposition Building, and the crowd that is expected to swarm through the portals of this edifice will be diminutive compared to the number of those anxious to be spectators. Bangor's Rams represent the inner desire of every new coach (or old coach, for that matter)...Red Barry came to the helm at Bangor directly following his graduation from Bates, and a title in his first year is an accomplishment not many can boast. Red will no doubt "shoot the works" this Saturday night, and right now it looks as if Bangor is the name that will again be engraved on the State trophy.

Our Hat's Off!

Colby College basketballers paid Ted Boynton a very nice compliment early this week when they named him to their all-opponent team. Boynton's superb play and good sportsmanship is a mark for future Maine players to shoot at. Consistency is Ted's trademark...he played with a certain dignity, and even his presence on the floor served to integrate the quintet as a whole. So good luck in whatever you do, or wherever you may go, Ted, and do it the same way you did it at Maine.

First Call

In answer to Coach Bill Kenyon's call for battery aspirants, a dozen pitchers and three catchers showed up at the indoor fieldhouse last Monday. In a way this is unusual, for the number of backstops-to-be almost always has been equal to the number of pitching hopefuls. These men will workout in the fieldhouse where pitchers are likely to be confused by the effect of the fieldhouse's still air on their fastball and curve. This effect varies with the particular thrower, depending upon the characteristic spin the pitcher gives the ball...it could be discouraging, or it could give the player a false idea of his own prowess. Incidentally, lack of conditioning and sore arms go hand-in-hand, and Coach Kenyon is well aware of this...looks like that adjacent cinder path is going to be in continuous use.

Boynton, Gates Named On All-Star Team

Spring And Baseball Are Coming!

The first real sign of Spring was experienced here on campus Monday when fifteen men answered Coach Bill Kenyon's call for battery candidates for the 1948 baseball season. Included in the number of aspirants were twelve pitchers and three catchers.

Four veteran twirlers from last year's varsity and Jayvee squads were on hand for the opening session. The experienced moundsmen reporting were: Will Braley, Fred Thurlow, Dick Preble, and Norm Parrot. The remaining candidates for mound duty included Buck Barrett, Phil Archibald, Walt Borkowski, Mike Fleming, Ralph Hazelton, Dave Ramsey, Norm Shaw, and George Stoeber.

Those reporting for catching duty were: Mike Cherneski, Ray Lord, and Ed Turmelle. Cherneski saw service with last year's varsity nine while Lord was the leading backstop on the Annex squad.

Daily indoor practice for outfielders and infielders will begin at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the fieldhouse, with a workout scheduled to take place following an indoctrination meeting of candidates.

The varsity nine will open its season in the middle of April although the first opponent has not yet been named.

Six Maine Skiers Take Golden Meet

University of Maine skiers monopolized the men's and women's divisions of the Golden Ski competition held at Bald Mountain last Sunday.

The 35 entrants in the meet started the events in ideal weather, and the high point men were Benny Bernard, Maine, with 194.6 points, followed by Dave Newton, Maine, with 190.6. Maine men also took the third, fourth, and fifth places. Edith Curtis, Maine, won the women's division with a score of 200.0.

Maine placed four men in the top ten, with Ted Boynton finishing sixth, Charlie Goddard ninth, and George O'Donnell tenth.

Bates was next with three men in the select list, while Colby had two and Bowdoin brought up the rear with one.

Bates also topped the list for total scoring honors, with Maine close behind. The Bobcats took first place despite having dropped three games to Maine.

WAA Joins Region Group

The Women's Athletic Association of the University of Maine has become a member of a newly-formed New England Conference of Women's Athletic Associations, according to an announcement made this week by WAA President, Bonnie Andrews.

Final plans were formulated, and a constitution drawn up and ratified at a meeting held at Wheaton College on February 28th and 29th. Representing Maine at this meeting were students Thelma Crossland, Bonnie Andrews, and WAA Faculty Advisor, Miss Marian Rogers.

The organization will be known as the "Five-State New England Sectional Conference of the AFCW." The purpose of this conference, as stated in its constitution, is to further athletic interests and activity for women according to the highest and soundest standards of sports and recreation; and to afford opportunity for the interchange of ideas and the discussion of problems.

Other colleges represented at Wheaton were the University of Massachusetts, Smith, Mt. Holyoke, Radcliffe, Bates, Pembroke, Sargent, Wellesley, Boston University, Rhode Island State and Wheaton. Forty-four other New England colleges and normal schools will be asked to join the 13 original member colleges of this conference.

The WAA of Farmington State Normal School has extended an invitation to women students of Maine to attend a "sports day" at that school on March 20. Maine's WAA has accepted, and is planning to send a group of from twenty to thirty girls for the all-day affairs which will feature basketball and organized games. Private bus accommodations and meals will be provided free of charge.

The 1948 Women's badminton tourney is now underway. The 1st matches were played off on Monday, March 8, and games will continue through April 2nd.

The competition began with a ladder tournament in each dorm, and will end up in a straight elimination contest in which the dorm winners will play off for the championship.

The 1945 per capita income in Maine was $1,051.

Maine Places Four Others On Series Team

The University of Maine's state championship basketball squad placed a total of six men on this year's all-state squad, with Ted Boynton and Bob Gates being named to the first string and Charlie Goddard, George O'Donnell, Al Hopkins, and Danny Danforth all being nominated to the second string.

Bill Simpson and Ace Bailey of Bates and Gene Hunter and Russ Washburn of Colby were the other players named to the first string. The naming of six players for the first string was the result of 2 ties in the voting.

Simpson and Hunter were unanimous choices, while the other four received two of a possible three votes.

Charlie Goddard, George O'Donnell, Sid Connolly of Bowdoin and Russ Burns of Bates were named outright to the second string, and Danforth, Hopkins, Pandora and Speirs of Bowdoin, and Clark of Colby tied for the fifth position.

Of the six players making the first string, only Gene Hunter of Colby failed to finish in the first six high scorers in series competition.

Maine's six players topped the squad, as each of the other three teams placed three men.

Track Team Season Closes Undefeated

The University of Maine indoor track team closed its season with an undefeated record by overwhelming Northeastern's Huskies, 72%-44%, at the Maine field house last Saturday.

The Bears won seven of the thirteen events, but sweeps of the weight and shot put events, and first and second places in the pole vault and the 280 yard run piled up the Maine advantage. IC4A 35 pound hammer champion George Marsanskis won two firsts to pace the home team, but his toss of 54 feet, 2 1/4 inches was short of his winning throw at New York last week. Individual standout of the meet, however, was Northeastern's Ed MacFarland, 27 year old father of two children, who clinched three firsts in the 65 yard low hurdles, the 60 yard dash, and the 60 yard high hurdles. His time for the last event was 7.7 seconds, a new meet record.

Elmer Folsom's string of victories in the mile run was broken by Payson Kenyon, who also won the 1000 yard run. Kenyon's time for the mile was 4 min. 28.2 sec.

Basketball Practice Will Start Monday

Spring basketball practice will start Monday, March 15, Coach Eck Allen announced today. Practice sessions will last from 3:30 until 5 p.m.

Allen invites the following players to participate; varsity hoopmen who will return next season; JV and freshmen squad members, and outstanding intramural athletes who would like a crack at varsity ball.

Allen explained this move by saying, "Our mistakes are still clear in our minds, and this is the time to correct them. This may also give us a chance to make up for time we usually lose in the fall."

Senior ROTC To Have 75 Advanced Course Vacancies

Approximately 75 Advanced Course vacancies in Maine's Senior ROTC will be available to selected students when the Military Department begins its third post-war class next Fall, it was announced by Colonel Francis R. Fuller, Professor of Military Science and Tactics.

Leading to a Reserve commission in the Army of the United States, the Advanced Course requires two academic years of work at the University plus one six-week summer camp at an Army training area. In addition to approximately $540 received while taking the course, the student is provided with an officer-type uniform.

Wide Variety

The University of Maine Military Department offers courses leading to commissions in the Artillery, Signal Corps, and Infantry. For students taking appropriate technical courses, commissions in the specialized arms and services can also be obtained. Emphasizing the importance of the Post-War Reserve Officers Training Corps, the Department of the Army recently announced that the ROTC is now considered to be one of the chief courses of Regular Army officer personnel on a voluntary and selective basis, as well as the main source of supply for the Reserve and National Guard Components.

Entrance requirements include unconditioned* scholastic standing, two years of college still to be completed (the course is not open to Freshmen), excellent physical condition, and basic leadership qualities. At present, the Advanced Course has nearly one hundred students, of whom approximately fifty-five will receive commissions in June.

Colonel Fuller invited interested students to apply either by mail or in person to the Armory on the Orono Campus.

Schedule

The following women's Prism pictures will be taken Saturday morning at the Women's Gym:

10:15, Officials group; 10:20, Tumbling club; 10:30, Seal winners.
