Maine Day Will Feature Recreation

The athletic program for the afternoon of Maine Day has been completed by Jack Zollo. The faculty will field a team headed by Capt. A. A. Hauck who boasts of a strong team both in fielding and hitting. Capt. Hauck has not disclosed his complete line-up, and rumor has it that he may have brought some talent up from the minor league to give his team extra punch.

Word is circulating via the grapevine that Bill Sezak is one of the young hopefuls who is scheduled to start for the faultless faculty. Capt. Hauck, at a recent press conference, let it be known that E. E. Wieman would be starting at first and that the starting pitcher will be that speed ball artist, Prof. Watson.

The team that will represent the students is still a mystery, but it is a sure bet that the student team will make up in spirit what they lack in experience.

In another top notch game Artie Clark will lead his Trailer Colony team of husbands and wives against the girls from East and West Halls and their dates for the afternoon. If the husbands and wives can agree for a long enough period this should be another closely contested game.

At 2:30 Bill Kenyon's varsity baseball team will take over in a state series baseball game with Bates. The competition in the state series this year is tough and this should be another good game.

In Case of Rain

Willard Moulton, General Chairman of Maine Day, has announced the following schedule which will be in effect in case of rain on May 12, Maine Day.

If it rains the announcement of the new mayor will be made in Memorial Gym instead of on the steps of the new library at the same time, 8 a.m. In the event that the rain is light the work on the outside projects will proceed as scheduled, so workers should wear raincoats.

If the rain should be too heavy to work outside, workers will be shifted to inside projects. In case such a shift is necessary the announcement of the changes will be made after the new mayor has officially opened the Maine Day proceedings.

Rain or shine Maine Day will go on as planned, and events get underway at 8 a.m. sharp with the announcement of the new mayor.

The Schedule

Eight Senior ROTC Members Receive High Military Awards

Dr Lippitt Will Speak Here May 8

Dr. Rosemary Lippitt of Boston, Consulting Psychologist to the Camp Fire Girls of America, will present a lecture and demonstration of psychodrama Saturday, May 8, at 2 p.m. in the Oakes Room of the library.

Dr. Lippitt's demonstration of psychodrama will be a part of the Conference on Understanding the Exceptional Child sponsored by the Central Maine Guidance Council and the International Council for Exceptional Children, Eastern Maine Chapter.

The conference is free to students and is open to others at fifty cents. Registration will take place at 9:30. At ten Dr. Howard Runion, head of the department of speech, will speak on Speech Problems. At 11:30 a Canadian motion picture dealing with the feeling of rejection in children will be shown. Dr. Payson Smith will speak on Classroom Problems.

Colonel Francis R. Fuller, Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University, announced the names of eight members of the University of Maine Senior ROTC who have received the coveted designation of Distinguished Military Student.

The list of those awarded this high undergraduate military honor includes Cadet Lt. Colonel Donald C. Mead, Jr., Cadet Major Harrison P. Crowell, Cadet Captain Mark H. Lane, Cadet Captain Philip W. Stackpole, Cadet Captain Charles E. St. Thomas, Cadet 1st Lieutenant St. Amand, Cadet Captain Robert Merchant, and former Cadet Captain Calvin Friar. Friar graduated at the conclusion of the Fall Semester in February of this year. Students attaining this honor are eligible to apply for direct commissions.

Department of the Army standards for the award require that the cadet possess outstanding qualities of military leadership, high moral character and a definite aptitude for military service.

Three of the students have applied for a direct appointment as a commissioned officer in the Regular Army.

A Letter

The spirit of Maine Day, with all the fun that goes with it, is the spirit of constructive accomplishment. In a university, as in all enduring and worthwhile enterprises, the work of building, mending, and improving must go on year after year.

As you participate in this day of useful work and recreation, I hope you will feel that this annual occasion has greater significance than just the carrying out of a program of activities. You are really helping to build a better and stronger University. I know that you will wish to do your part.

Let us make this Maine Day a real highlight in the history of the University.

Research Program Produces Technique for Tapering Molten Nylon Bristles

Difficult mechanical problems solved by Du Pont chemists and engineers to make nylon paintbrushes practicable

Nylon bristles used in toothbrushes and hairbrushes are uniform in diameter—that is, they are "level." But paintbrushes made from such bristles did not paint well. Studies of the best natural bristles showed that they were tapered, so a research program to produce tapered nylon bristles was started.

Some difficult mechanical problems were encountered. Level brush bristles were being made by extruding molten nylon through spinneret openings designed to produce filaments of perfectly uniform diameter. A new technique had to be found to make tapered ones. Since it was not practical to taper the filament after cooling and drawing, a precise taper had to be put in just as the nylon emerged molten from the spinneret. And it had to survive the drawing operation, in which nylon is stretched to several times its original length!

Techniques originated in laboratory

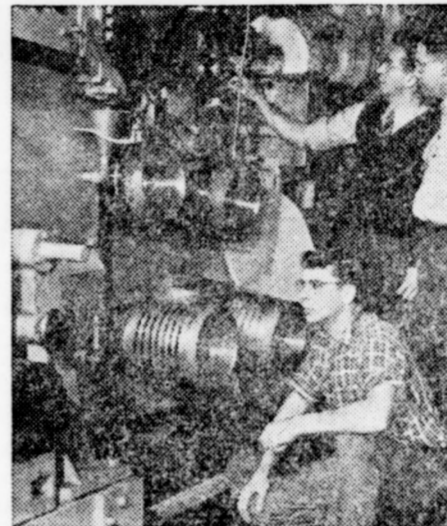

The original idea for solving this problem came from Du Pont chemists, who worked out the techniques in the laboratory, in the somewhat crude form represented in the accompanying diagram. It being largely a mechanical problem, chemical and mechanical engineers were called in to cooperate soon after the studies got under way. After further laboratory development, the engineers put the operation on a production basis.

The final result was a highly efficient process for tapering nylon bristles. As the molten filament emerges from the spinneret, pinch-rolls driven by a series of gears pull it slowly, then quickly. The size of the filament varies with the speed of pulling—thick diameters resulting at slow speeds and thin diameters at fast. Next the nylon goes to the drawing operation, where it is stretched by rollers to give it strength and resiliency.

Engineers designed special machines

Following spinning and drawing, in which many filaments are handled simultaneously, the nylon is "set." Then it goes to a special machine, designed by Du Pont engineers, which "feels out" the crests and troughs and cuts the bristle at these points. This type of design was necessary because of the unavoidable small variations in the length of individual bristles. Sorting the bris-istles and sandpapering their ends completes the process.

Many techniques contributed to the development of the optimum properties of nylon in tapered bristles. At the laboratory stage, x-ray studies were made to learn the effect of various degrees of crystallization on bristle drawing and setting. Numerous devices were designed to test the bristles—for example, a machine that simulates the abrasive effect on a brush swept back and forth over a surface. Even after manufacture was established, high-speed stroboscopic photography and other stroboscopic studies were employed to improve coordination in the various operations and make a more uniform product.

The development of these bristles furnishes another striking example of the great variety of problems, often intricate, that may arise out of the discovery of a new substance like nylon.

Questions College Men ask about working with Du Pont

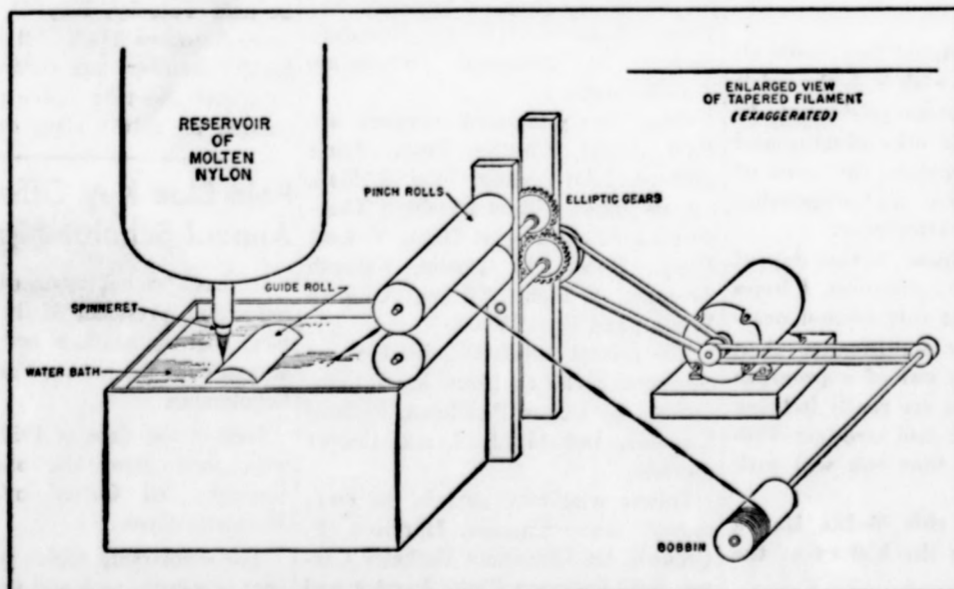

What are the opportunities in development work?

The conception of an idea in a research laboratory is merely the starting point at Du Pont. Men with training in mechanical, electrical, metallurgical, and chemical engineering are required to demonstrate the practicality of the laboratory findings, including small-scale operation of the new process. Even after the full-scale plant is operating, development work is continued to improve efficiency. Write for booklet, "The Du Pont Company and the College Graduate," 2518-A Nemours Building, Wilmington 98, Delaware.

Consider The Constitution

The long awaited constitution of the Men's Student Senate has finally made its appearance. Work was begun on it a year ago last fall, and a copy was nearly ready to be presented to the student body last spring. It was thrown out and a new start made when a majority of the Senate expressed the belief that it was certain to be turned down.

The final model, which will be presented for a vote next Tuesday, has had most of the controversial subjects removed.

The strongest opposition was made last year on the grounds that it would give the Senate too much power. The latest version can never be condemned on those grounds.

The jurisdiction of the Senate now includes all "campus sponsored men's organizations." The organizations covered by this definition are negligible if taken literally.

The term "campus sponsored" immediately eliminates all fraternities. The frats and all activities within them are definitely beyond the scope of Senate rule.

Limiting their control to men's organizations, which they must do, means that any organization which has women members is taboo to the Men's Senate. Any organization which is represented by both sexes can only be approached by the General Student Senate, if at all.

The number of organizations on campus which limit themselves entirely to male members is extremely small.

The only other point which might bring protest, and probably should, is the manner in which officers will be elected. Under the draft that was drawn up last year, the officers would be elected by all men students. Under the new constitution the officers will be elected by the members of the Senate.

The Senate feels that they can pick a president from their own ranks with a chance of making a better selection than might be made in an election.

It seems reasonable to believe that most of the men would like to have something to say about who is to lead their governing body.

Whatever the decision, every male student may some time be affected by it. Whether the constitution is approved or rejected, the action should be taken by enough men that there will be no doubt of the sentiment.

No constitution should be approved and put into use by vote of less than ten per cent of those concerned, as was the case with the present constitution of the General Senate.

Black Death has struck the campus! Delta Tau and Pi Phi, however, foresaw the possibility of such a disaster.

Removing the crepe from the door, the Delts entertained those who were able to sit up and take nourishment. Nourishment, in the form of a buffet supper, was served to the pledges and their dates, after which the house was thrown open to the campus for vic dancing and refreshments. 150 couples enjoyed the open house.

The Pi Phi's, forsaking the germ infested campus for the Country Club, had their annual Founders Day banquet, Saturday night. Later in the evening they were joined by their escorts for a semi-formal dance. The co-chairmen of arrangements were Germaine Bellefleur and Lois Ann Small.

Conditions in Los Angeles were reported favorable as Josette Morin and George Cooper were married last week.

New engagements are: Polly Curtis and Earl Clifford, Joan Harvey and Roy Bither, Jr.

In spite of the plague the following brave souls hung their pins: Ernest Larson, Sigma Chi, on Betty Harri-man; Ray Chittick, Sigma Chi, on Alice Adams of Farmington; Fred Andrews, Theta Chi, on Verna Wallace.

It is our sincere hope that next weekend these horrible conditions will not prevail, and the campus will be its usual busy self. After all, Society reporters must eat.

P.S. It's rumored that Beta Upsilon of Alpha Tau Omega will hold an open house this Saturday evening, May 8, at their annual Daisy Mae Party. Everyone is invited to attend the festivities which will begin at about 8:15. Dog Patch costume is suggested, but not necessary for a good time.

All Future Teachers Take Warning; The Profession Has Its Disadvantages

One of my instructors told me once upon a time, when I was new to the fold of higher education, that he would "pay the University to let him teach, if he could afford to do so." It seemed a remarkable statement, verging on the ridiculous and the sublime, and worth remembering. I think he really meant what he said. And it was because of his remark, Dear Reader, that I began to wonder about the man. What would it be like to be in his shoes? What happens to the instructor who merits the heartfelt thanks of his disciples? What do the passing years hold in store for the conscientious teacher who puts his Soul into his work?

The following conclusions are largely my own:

1. Education is a bloody stump. It beats the educator, who has good intentions about his future, over the head and leaves him by the wayside gasping for life.
2. A teacher must live. He must foot the bills. He must dress reasonably well. He is not the ascetic. Coin is important.

3. Many college teachers enter the academic world with stars in their eyes and reach the emeritus stage droopy-lidded. The good life is a sad financial status.

4. It is as easy for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle as it is for an instructor to become a professor. The meek do not inherit the Earth.

If you are planning to do graduate work, consider:

1. the value of Time, the nemesis,
 2. the Inquisition, the three-hour, third-degree oral examination, by the "experts" who pose the crucial test,
 3. the added responsibility of a family,
 4. the financial bracket—an assistantship pays $1200 to $1800 a year, and
 5. how will writing an unreadable book on an unthinkable subject help in teaching freshmen to think clearly and write readably?
- Then, if you can face the issues, do your graduate work. Your steel must have a good temper!

Politicians Have Their Say Hal Jack Plans

The Maine Party, if voted into office, will appoint ten commissioners: Accommodations, Activities, Athletics, Campus Safety and security, Fraternities and Sororities, Education, Governments, Publications, Religions, and Veterans Affairs. They will be chosen from various campus areas: North Dorms, Elms, So. Apts, etc.

The commission would be a sounding-board for campus feeling making suggestions to the Student Governments for legal and lawful action by campus representatives.

I'm Usually Wrong But

By BILL BRENNAN

Next Tuesday we are expected to go to the polls and vote for a mayor of the campus. How we will make our selection from among the six candidates depends largely upon how we are impressed during their respective campaigns.

By tradition and expectancy the campaigns by these zestful candidates will be, and should be, undignified. That's perfectly right, as it adds to the color and spirit of an election of this sort.

But once a mayor is chosen, should he continue to conduct himself as he did during the campaign? Once a candidate has attained office, we believe that he should forget the senseless promises he made while running for election, and should try to use his power as most benefits the students.

A mayor has a moral obligation which he must fulfill. He has been put into office by the students, and owes certain things to those students. He should attend all University activities, not merely athletic, but assemblies, etc. He should keep an eye on the student government, and should automatically be made a member of that group, with full voting powers, upon election.

In the two other campaigns which we have witnessed, we have watched mayor candidates jump off bridges, swim rivers, milk cows, ride bicycles along the roof of the gym, strum guitars, and yodel. We have heard promises of later hours for women, fewer and shorter classes, beer in every bubbler, and a babe in every bed.

Once the mayors were elected, however, they did not actually work for the students. Both Johnny Goff and Bob Merchant were good mayors in that they attended University functions religiously and acted as models for the students as far as school spirit is concerned. But did they try to attain better conditions for the people who put them into office?

Mayor, don't forget that you can do something for the students besides providing them with entertainment. By using your title to advantage you can gain entrance to places where lowly mortals such as us are barred. And once inside those places, make yourself heard by speaking for those who are behind you. Make the position of mayor one which involves respect as well as laughter, one which provides as well as entertains.

Scotch And Soda

Now let us talk about the male physique. The one that waddles around on the Maine campus. It seems that when the poor veteran came back from over-there someone thought that the poor little darling needed a rest. He's been living off the fat, not of the land, ever since.

His elbows are muscular, he bends them often. His hind-end is well cushioned, protective maturation. And his tummy, his little tummy, laps over his belt like a Japanese judo-star.

I'm not going into that well known refrain about physical health. Everyone knows the tune. But the fact that nothing is being done about it, that, is what we shall discuss.

Dombkowski runs eighty yards for a touch-down, gets a good workout, and 2500 to 3000 students sit on their fannies and cheer him on. Boynton dumps one in from the corner, 2800 bleary eyed, almost choked from inhaling everyone else's exhale, back their approval. The Book Store Olympic Coliseum! Inhale, and get a free smoke!

"Now look, Biff, you know that your little tummy isn't any smaller than the rest of them." Sure. "And you don't want Wally to sweat it off you, do you?" No. "And with your creaky knees that Bates Line would make like pretzels." Uh huh. So what you want to go ahead and stir up trouble for—huh? Why don't you leave well enough alone?"

Look!! I'm not talking about commando courses or extreme gymnastics. I'm just saying that, physically, we veterans, Bless us, have let our bodies go to "the land of shoveled coal." It was okay the first few months home, as everybody needed a rest, but now that we've been back in the grind for two, three years it's about time that we started thinking about keeping ourselves in better physical condition. Left to our own devices it will always be the day after tomorrow. I think that it is about time the Physical Education Department clamped down again on the rules against excess poundage on us inmates. That's all boys

Senior Skulls Visit Brunswick Annex

The Senior Skulls, accompanied by Ed McDermott, Bryce Lambert, Larry Jenness, Harrison Crowell, Niel Kelly, Ken Vennett, and Hank Peasley, were at the Brunswick Annex yesterday.

A brief assembly of the entire student body was held, followed by a panel session in which activities here at Maine were discussed.

The purpose of the meeting was to orient the Brunswick students to life at the University.

The Skulls recently published a pictorial magazine of the campus for distribution to the Brunswick students.

Maine Day Workers To Build Playgrounds

The Maine Day projects of the South Apartments and the Trailer Colony include the construction of playgrounds in both areas. These play areas are definitely needed because of the number of children in these two sections of the campus.

President Hauck has made funds available to make the construction of these play areas possible. They will be equipped with sand boxes, slides, and other equipment and be enclosed by fences. The men and women from these two sections of campus will work in their own areas on Maine Day in order to complete the work on the play areas for the children.

Margaret Preble Wins Music Award

Miss Margaret A. Preble received the Mu Alpha Epsilon Senior Award at the annual Music Night, sponsored by Mu Alpha Epsilon, Friday night. The award is given to the senior who has contributed most to musical activities on the campus.

Miss Preble was co-author of the musical play Again It's Yesterday. She has been a member of Mu Alpha Epsilon during her junior and senior years, and has been historian for this year. A music major, she won the Mu Alpha Epsilon applied music scholarship in her senior year. She has taken applied music as follows: violin four years, piano four years, organ and chamber music one year, chapel choir organist, two years, accompanist for modern dance group four years.

New members of Mu Alpha Epsilon announced during the program were Robert Smith, Cynthia Hayden, George Ainsworth, Marion Keith, and Lois Nicholson.

Lydia Backer looks on with tolerant distaste as John Ballou and Marney Abrams let confinement get the better of them, in a scene from The Hasty Heart. —Newhall photo

BY LARRY JENNESS

Excellent performances by a well-balanced nine-student cast made the Maine Masque's last production of the year, "The Hasty Heart," an opening night success. The show will run tonight, Friday, and Saturday, with tickets on sale at the box office.

Bob Preble and John Ballou, as the doughty Scotsman and bully Englishman respectively, carried the burden of drama and comedy with veteran ease.

Stuttering Isn't Funny

George Gonyar, playing the Yank, did a good job despite being burdened by a stage stutter which might just as well have been omitted.

The sole girl in the plot, Lydia Backer, put exactly the right measure of human kindness and professional mannerisms into the part of the nurse.

The role of the colonel, which could have been easily ruined, was well carried off by David Simonton, and second-night audiences will hang on the every word, few as they may be, of Al Dumais, who portrays one of King George's South African subjects. Martin Needham, Marnel Abrams, and Irving Marsden completed the cast.

The story concerned five Allied soldiers hospitalized somewhere in the South Pacific and their attempts to win the friendship of a sixth man doomed to die within a short time. How the men arrive at their goal, plus finding out what a Scotchman wears under his kilts, makes a very interesting evening's entertainment.

Good Scenery

The simple but effective scenery depicted the inside of a typical hospital hut with a few glimpses of tropical vegetation visible through the windows. The set was designed by Larry Dunn and Palmer Libby.

The technical cast included: Larry Dunn, technical director; Clayton Briggs, chief electrician; Dwight Frye, stage manager; Henri Casavant and Betty Flint, make-up; Muriel Kenderdine, costumes.

The play was written by John Patrick and directed by Herschel Bricker.

ABC—For Two Weeks

All you chain smokers have a chance to pick up a couple packs of butts for free some time during the next two weeks—if you happen to smoke Chesterfields.

Not to be outdone by other companies who have been handing out the weeds lately, the makers of Chesterfields will have an agent on campus one day during each of the next two weeks.

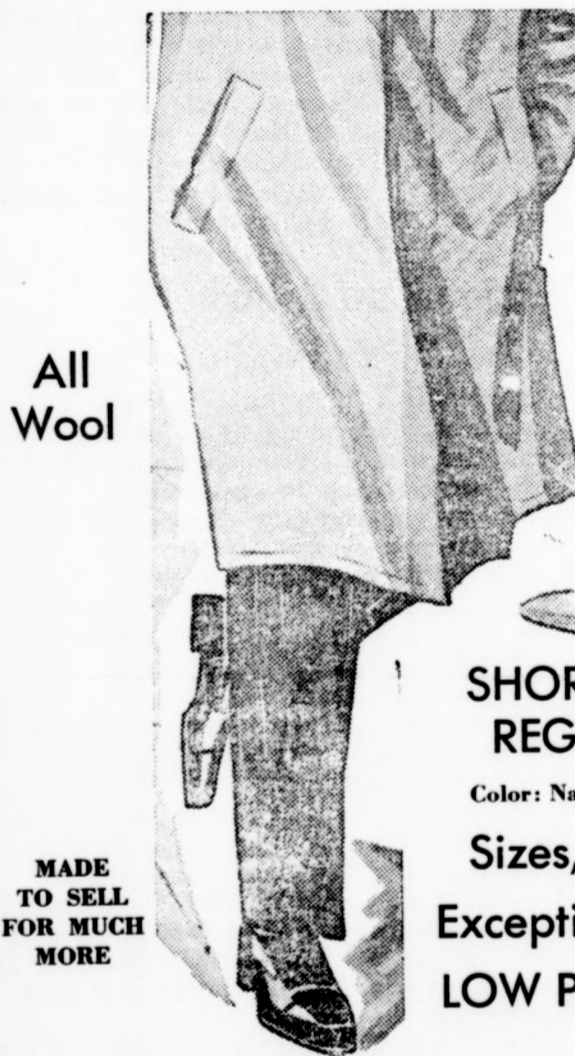

He will stop students at random and ask what kind of cigarettes they smoke. A pack of Chesterfields is the prize for the correct answer. If his victim happens to be smoking a Perry Como special when stopped, the prize is doubled.

Graduation is June 20.

While the faculty and students are working on the many projects the refreshment committee will be busy serving refreshments to all project workers. The two way radio communication system which the equipment committee will have in operation will facilitate the distribution of equipment where it is needed and keep the refreshment committee informed about the distribution of doughnuts and soft drinks.

The mayoralty committee has arranged for the mayor candidates to campaign actively from May 7 through May 10 and make their final speeches on Monday night, May 10. The interfraternity sing will be held on the night of May 11 and all arrangements for this annual affair and the vic dance following the sing have been completed. The student faculty skits will be presented on the night of May 12 and a dance will follow the presentation of these skits.

Following the completion of work on the projects, baseball games have been arranged between some of the students and faculty and between men and women students. The varsity baseball team plays the afternoon of Maine Day. The events leading up to Maine Day and the events of that day provide fun for everyone. The campus is cleaned up, the new mayor cleans up the political situation, and the University as a whole has a good time. Maine Day begins at 8:00 a. m.—May 12, on the steps of the new library.

Assignments For Maine Day Completed

The task of assigning students and faculty to the various projects is a long and difficult job. Many of the projects, naturally, are more popular than others. Many men students would rather work around the Elms than rake leaves, and many women would rather do anything except work at the women's gym. But Maine day is clean-up day, and all of the projects must have workers. The ideal solution would be to have Lana Turner raking leaves and Charles Boyer in charge of the work group at the women's gym, but due to normal circumstances this could not be arranged.

However, the projects committee has solved the problem of assign-ing workers to projects in the only possible way. In all cases first choices could not be arranged be-cause so many people desired cer-tain jobs, so workers were assign-ed to the projects of their second or third choice. In a few cases students and faculty were assign-ed projects they had not request-ed, but it was the only solution possible, for the projects committee had to have enough workers on every project to accomplish the planned program.

Within a few days the project assignment cards will be returned so that every member of the fac-ulty and student body will know where he or she is to work on Maine Day. The date is May 12 and there is lots of work to do. Maine Day starts with a bang at 8:00 a.m. when the new Mayor will be announced on the new library steps. Be there at 8:00 sharp and spend the rest of the day taking part in Maine Day activities.

Bear Facts

By Jerry Rogovin

The State Series atmosphere is in the air once again this week. Title play started in baseball on Wednesday against once-beaten Bowdoin, and the state track meet will be held this Saturday.

Bowdoin was the top favorite in the baseball series, but their hopes were deflated by underrated Bates on Monday, 4-3. (Yesterday's game with the Bobcats proved — appropriate sentence —.) Walks and errors by Bowdoin caused the loss of their opener despite a perfect day at bat for Burke, who drove in all three runs.

The Bears went into the Bowdoin game with one victory in five starts on the record. The Maine team may pick up this week when the weather is better. The hitting has generally been few and far between. Although Woodbrey, Dieffenbach, Coombs, and Cherneski have maintained high averages so far, the base hits have not been bunched enough to produce many tallies. The pitching has been fairly good for the Maine men, but the fielding support has been rather ragged.

Ragged fielding paid off for Maine's JV's last Friday. Higgins booted the ball around enough in the first inning of that game, and before three outs had been made, Maine had five runs without a ball going out of the infield. The Junior Bears went on to paste a 12-3 defeat on Higgins.

Norm Shaw's neat pitching on Monday against Coburn pleased Sam Szak. Sam was all smiles for a change, as the ninth inning rolled around. The JV's now boast a 2-0 record, and the opposition has been limited to a total of eleven hits in 15 innings. That's not bad at all.

Barndollar, Styryna, Tupper, and Dunklee personally led New Hampshire to a decisive win over the Maine tracksters last Saturday. Barndollar took three firsts and a second for top honors of the meet, and Tupper and Styryna took two firsts. The Wildcats are considered among the best in New England, behind Brown and Harvard, but Maine was expected to close the margin more than the 32 points difference. New Hampshire's supremacy in the weights apparently was the crusher in the meet. Marsanskis won one second place, and a third, and Phillips finished second in his specialty, the javelin.

The mile proved to be one of the best events of the afternoon.

Spring football has been going on for more than a week, but one would never know it. Less than 40 men are out with Eck Allen in preparation for next fall's season.

One of the best sources for argument in intramural softball is the "rocker" pitch. The pitch is completed after the hurler winds up and rocks his arm back and forth several times, then throws the ball. According to IMAA rules, the pitch is illegal. The pitcher is entitled to only two wind-ups, which must start from the chest. Still another thorn in the side of IMAA umps: The pitcher cannot exceed a limit of six inches in the distance between his body and the forearm of his pitching arm.

The intramural softball this year, thanks to Hal Woodbury, has been proceeding wonderfully. The schedule has been planned so that games are not played every night of the week. This gives the winning teams an opportunity to practice on the field for coming games, and does not make a great rush for playing space so inevitable.

Baseball, Golf, Tennis, Track, On Week-End Sports Program

Plenty of action will be in store this week end for campus sports fans as all the University's athletic teams swing into action on Friday and Saturday at Orono.

Bill Kenyon's varsity Baseballmen hope to get the weekend off on the right foot Friday when they meet Rhode Island here. The Bears have already dropped one game to the Rams and will be out for revenge Friday. On Saturday they travel to Bates for the second State Series game. Bates got off to a good start on Monday by downing Bowdoin, the State Series favorite.

Bowdoin will furnish the opposition Saturday for the tennis and golf teams. Both Coach Small's netmen and Charlie Emery's golf squad have gotten away to slow starts and will find the competition rough against the Polar Bears. Bowdoin took the State golf title last year, but will miss their ace Ray Lebel, who is no longer at school.

Maine entertains the other State schools in the Series Track Meet. Coach Jenkins' men, still smarting from the New Hampshire reversal, will be favored to take the meet. An added attraction will be the long awaited meeting of Maine and Bowdoin. Saturday's action should forever quiet the controversy over which is the better team, and who can call themselves State Champs.

Late Sports

Maine dropped their State series opener to Bowdoin yesterday, 4-2.

The tennis team dropped a close one to Bates, 5-4.

Charlie Emery's golf team salvaged a little glory as they defeated Bates, 8½ to ½.

Women's Sports

The volleyball dorm tournament ended this week with the Elms the undisputed champs. The Elms team received 100% rating by winning all their games. North Estabrooke was second, winning 75% of their games. Balentine, West Hall, and East Hall were tied for third.

Jane (Chippy) Moulton has been appointed Softball Manager by the WAA executive council. The dorm tournament schedule will be drawn up next week. The following managers have been selected in each dorm to assist the head manager: Jeanne De Roza, Balentine; Elizabeth Marden, Elms; Florice Pratt, N. Estabrooke; Jean Miller, S. Estabrooke; Caroline Randlett, Colvin; Phyllis Osgood, East Hall; and Carlene Hoyt, West Hall.

Tennis Manager Dot Stanley has drawn up the schedule for the women's singles tennis tournament. It will be posted in the Women's Gym. Entrants should locate their opponents and arrange playoffs as soon as possible. The first round should be completed by Wednesday, May twelfth.

Barbara Vaughn will act as chairman for the committee in charge of the Annual WAA Recognition Banquet, to be held June 2. Women's athletic awards will be given out and the Seal Wearers will be announced at the banquet.

Caroline Beckler, a member of the class of '51 from West Hall, defeated Barbara Packard, a sophomore from Balentine, in the finals of the badminton tournament, in an exhibition game for the high school students who attended the Annual Play Day last Saturday. By strange coincidence both girls hail from LaTuque, Quebec, Canada. Badminton is notably a Canadian game. The experience and skill of both was evidenced by the way they won all of their previous games and by the closeness of the final contest.

The six high schools of Old Town, Orono, Bangor, John Baptist, Brewer, and Hampden Academy were represented at the Annual Play Day held on Saturday, May 1st from 9:30 to 4 in the Women's Gym. Mary Zelenkewich, '49, acted as chairman for the overall program. She was assisted by Helen Buzzell, Caroline Strong, and Flo Greenleaf on programs; Ann Dibblee and Florice Pratt on registration; Rena Thorndike on equipment; and Betty Arnold on luncheon.

Bears Favored In Series, Beaten By New Hampshire

The Bears received one of their worst beatings in years at the hands of the New Hampshire Wildcats Saturday. The Cats, led by Frank Barndollar, Ed Styryna, Norton Tupper, Dick Lopes, and Si Dunklee, had little difficulty in piling up an 83½ to 51½ margin over the home team.

Barndollar was top man for the day, winning the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the 220-yard low hurdles, and placing second in the 120-yard high hurdles. Styryna won the hammer and javelin, while Tupper led the field in the discus and shot-put.

New Hampshire won 13 of the 15 events, losing only the pole vault and high hurdles. Blaine Beal's victory over Barndollar in the high hurdles was about all that Maine had to cheer about for the day.

The summary:

Jayvees Top Coburn For Second Win

The Maine Jayvees won their second straight baseball game here on Monday as they trounced Coburn Classical by a score of 11-6 in a loosely played contest. Norm Shaw set the Coburn club down with four hits and struck out seven men in his seven inning stint, while Ernie Martikainen, who relieved him in the eighth inning, was almost as effective.

The Jayvees scored five times in the first inning on two walks by Coburn hurler Dick DiBiase, four Coburn errors, and Reggie Lord's single. The visitors scored four in the third but the Junior Bears matched that in the sixth when George Grav clubbed a long triple to deep left field with the bases loaded and then scored on Emery's single. Both clubs scored twice in the seventh.

Grav's triple and Hank Emery's three hits were the standout offensive contributions while Reggie Lord came up with the fielding play of the afternoon with a abekhand stop of Bill Clark's line drive to short stop.

The Maine track squad will attempt to defend its state title Saturday on Alumni Field against the other three Maine colleges. The Bears won the title easily last year, scoring 67 points to Bowdoin's 45 and Bates' 23, with Colby going scoreless. Maine supposedly goes into the meet as the favorite, but there's little room for optimism on the basis of the showing against New Hampshire Saturday.

Bowdoin has a strong team and has been planning for the meet since early last winter. The Polar Bears couldn't meet Maine in indoor track, supposedly because of schedule difficulties.

If planning and scouting do any good, Johnny Magee's squad should win the title going away. Magee's secret tactics this spring would do justice to Notre Dame's football scouting.

In a meet with Colby a few weeks ago he arranged to have all distances changed so that none of the running events were made over standard distances. This apparently keeps Chet Jenkins from finding out how good the team is.

In an out-of-state meet he even managed to have the summary kept out of the papers.

At the Maine-New Hampshire meet, Bowdoin scouts armed with pencils, paper, and stop watches hovered around every event. If there's anything they missed it wasn't worth seeing.

Unfortunately for Magee, however, knowing the speed of a Maine man isn't going to make his men any faster. The final decision must still be settled on the track, and Maine is still the state champ until Bowdoin proves otherwise.

Bishop Advocates Revised Tax System

"Plank 'number 8' in my platform is the complete revision, from the ground up, of the State's tax system!" republican gubernatorial candidate Neil Bishop of Bowdoinham told a joint meeting of the Politics and Young Republicans clubs here Monday.

Bishop declared that a committee composed of farmers, fishermen, laborers, and industrialists should be organized to study the tax systems that have been successful in other states, and work out a new system for Maine that would be based upon the individual's earning power. Such a system, Bishop said, might well put a ceiling on real estate, and embrace a homestead exemption clause.

Discussing the State's highway program, Bishop, who has been a member of the state legislature for 8 years, pointed out that the roads in Maine are in need of sound engineering and planning, and declared that the 15 million dollars spent annually on highways should be more carefully expended.

Commenting upon water power in Maine, Bishop contended that the present power rates are so high that industries cannot be established here, and asserted that the State has enough undeveloped natural power to heat and light every home in Maine. He further stated that, if the Marshall Plan can allot 500 million dollars to develop power in France, it should be possible to spend one or two million for the same thing in Maine.

AVC Meets Tuesday

The American Veterans Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 11, in the Carnegie Hall Lounge.

Art Exhibit To Be Displayed May 5

An exhibit of non-objective water color paintings will be held in the Art Gallery from May 5 to 29, simultaneously with the exhibit by the Eastern Maine Professional Photographers' Association. There will be 25 paintings on display from 9 to 5 weekdays.

The paintings are by the nationally known husband and wife team, Alice and Jack Garver. The Garvers were formerly residents of Bangor. He is now attending the University of New Mexico. They attained an outstanding reputation for non-objective painting in national and regional art shows.

McDermott Chosen Newman Prexy

Ed McDermott was elected to the presidency of the Newman Club at their election meeting on April 27.

Peg Millington was voted the vice presidency. Tom Coughlin received the corresponding secretary's office and Joan Heselson was elected recording secretary. Victor Pooler won the election for the treasurer's office.

MOC Will Go To Bar Harbor

On Sunday, May 9, the Maine Outing Club will sponsor a trip to Bar Harbor, Maine. Highlights of the trip will be to inspect the damage done by last fall's forest fires and to view the remaining coastal beauty. All students that went on the Cadillac trip the first of last fall will no doubt be anxious to return to the spot to witness the changes.

The full day will be utilized and the bus (plenty of room) will leave the bookstore at 9:30 a.m. and will return by 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The noon meal will be provided by members of the Pack and Pine.

All students and faculty members that are interested in making the trip are urged to sign up in the bookstore in the usual way before 4:30 p.m. on Friday. The cost of food and transportation will be $1.50 and this amount is to be placed in the sign-up envelope and then placed in the MOC reservation box.

The outing club wishes to be sure that all interested members understand that it is important to sign up by the deadline.

Good Will Drive Ends With Dance

The Good Will Drive will be wound up Saturday night by a WSGA-sponsored show and dance, from 8 to 11:30 in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Bob Merchant, former mayor will be emcee of the show.

Included in the entertainment will be an exhibition of magic by John Kelly.

Cynthia "Babs" Hayden will play the piano and sing and Bill Rogers, Phil Stackpole, and Phil Catir will dance. Vic "Believe it or Not" Pooler will put on his famous whistling act.

The show will begin at 9:30 and will last about an hour, the rest of the evening being devoted to dancing.

The price of admission will be given out by the Good Will Drive workers as evidence of donations to the Chest.

Appropriate dress will be dungarees for the boys and cotton dresses for the girls.

Kay Kennedy Is WSGA President

WHY...I smoke Chesterfield

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

Liggett & Myers buy top quality cigarette tobacco and pay top prices for it... nobody will average paying more than they do year in and year out.

I've been smoking Chesterfields ever since I've been smoking. I just like them... they have real tobacco flavor.
