At 9:45 in the morning, she will address the class in the Newspaper and the Community, in 208 East Annex.

Mrs. Craig has covered Washington and the world for the Guy Gannett newspapers of Maine for 25 years.

During the war she was an accredited war correspondent and was decorated for service as a war correspondent by the War Department. She was in London during the V-bomb raids, covered the Normandy campaign and the liberation of Paris, and the German campaign.

The Little Man Was Biggest At The Polls

Richard Huff of Oak Hall was elected Mayor of Maine, Tuesday, by an overwhelming majority, as a record number of voters went to the polls. Huff more than doubled the vote over Charlie Cook, his nearest competitor, and polled more votes than his five opponents combined.

Huff had entered the final speeches period in Memorial Gymnasium a decided underdog, with Cook favored to win the election.

The crowd, decidedly pro-Cook at the beginning of the evening, was almost completely captivated by Huff's speech, his ultimate election being a foregone conclusion by the time he finished speaking.

Charlie Cook, speaking last, was unable to recover the support of the crowd which he had lost to Huff.

Hal Jack, supported by a sizeable contingent of the Bangor motorcycle club, put on the most spectacular show and received considerable, but spasmodic, support from the crowd.

Vaughan Franchetti, who had figured highly in early predictions, failed to appeal to the audience as he tried to present a serious platform. In fact, the audience, not too well-mannered, gave him little chance to speak.

Ken Marden, campaigning as a gambler, and Les Ray, advocating the overthrow of everything, received very little support. It was later reported that Ray had requested his supporters to switch their allegiance to Huff, when he realized he had no chance of winning.

A total of 2429 votes were cast, divided as follows: Huff, 1305; Cook, 596; Jack, 244; Franchetti, 148; Marden, 104; Ray, 32.

Student crews have been organized including nearly all forestry major students. Twenty-one men, who gained valuable experience in last fall's forest fires, are listed at present as crew bosses. Each has organized a crew of nine additional men, whom he will direct in case of a fire. Many of them have also had training as sector bosses, pump operators, and radio men.

This Is College Humor

Spirits of Sweet Adeline

Once upon a time, in the dear dead days not beyond recall, a student wandered listlessly into a lecture and heard the same story again. He wondered where it had originated and what the poor professor had been drinking the night before the chorus. In revenge, he drew a remarkable likeness of Smoe (big nose and bulging eye) upon the blackboard and went home to write a letter.

Dear Professor:

There is a definite need for a liverlier humor in your classes. Give us a better diet. Add onions for flavor. We need, most of all, a touch of originality, a pinch of spontaneity, a dash of pepper, in your lectures.

Your humor makes me cry!

Your critic,

(signed) A. Student

P.S. Why did you tell that story, "Take your hand off my knee!" said the Duchess'?

The professor was nonplussed for ten seconds. A firm believer in R.S.V.P., he was brief and concise:

Dear Critic:

I know how you feel. Peel your own onions. How about your campus newspaper and your humor mag?

Garlic lingers on your breath.

Your critic,

(signed) A. Professor

P.S. Better you should read The Police Gazette and Captain Billy's Whiz-Bang.

Eventually, the student and the professor met on more equal terms. They drew up a set of resolutions and signed them in blood.

"Better preparation for my lectures," said the professor.

"No more Old Grad jokes," said the student.

"A better cognizance of the times in which we live," said the professor.

"Less dependence upon other college humor magazines," said the student.

"Less dependence upon the New Yorker," said the professor.

"There is always a demand for a good story," they both decided.

Having come to this momentous stage of life, the student and the professor called the waitress. She brought two glasses of milk, and waited patiently for the money. The two cronies finished Sweet Adeline, paid the waitress, and went home, where they lived happily ever after.

SCOTCH AND SODA

By BIFF SHALEK

Last night I saw one of the finest examples of the Maine spirit that I've seen in a long time. Of course in most cases it wasn't the pre-war juvenile rah-rah, but the spirit of people relaxing from the pressure of classes and having one hell of a good time for themselves.

I'm not going into an Elsie Robinson spiel about getting in there and fight, keeping your head up, and that tripe, but I saw in last night's rally a healthy attitude toward life that hasn't made itself evident on this campus in a long time.

It wasn't a question of looking around to see what everyone else was doing. It was rather each person getting a great kick out of the proceedings and showing it by his applause, laughter and God bless it, heckling.

I've never seen a fight started between intelligent people unless it was because they take themselves too seriously. I think that applies on this campus. For a long time we've been too close to classes, making both ends meet, and the urge to get started on delayed careers. I think that most of us had forgotten how to relax and have a good laugh. There were several people at the Mayor's Rally who had done just that, but before the evening was out they had certainly made up for lost time.

Now that the ball is rolling, in the last few remaining months let's keep it going at top speed. There are some of you, I know, to whom college spirit is a farce. You're here to learn how to make dough and then get out as fast as the sheepskin comes your way. That's okay if that's the way that you feel, but I think you'll be missing something very vital if you don't let yourself go to the extent of taking part in the activities that the campus life affords.

Annex Students Begin 5-Day Campaign To Raise $20,000 For Union Building

Students on the Brunswick campus open a five day campaign next Monday, May 17, seeking to raise $20,000 for the Memorial Union Building Fund. The Student Senate is officially sponsoring the campaign. Burton DeFrees, of Glen Ridge, N. J., president of the Senate is chairman of the committee which is to conduct the drive.

For weeks, campaign committees have been at work preparing for the campaign. They aim to exceed the excellent results achieved last year when 86 per cent of the Brunswick students subscribed $20,188, which was nearly 96 per cent of their campaign goal. Donald Barbour of Portland is chairman of the preliminary gifts committee and Alvan Mersky also of Portland is publicity committee chairman.

Fogler To Speak

Raymond H. Fogler '15 of New York, chairman of the Union Building Fund campaign committee, is to be the chief speaker at the assembly which opens the campaign on May 17. Mr. Fogler will also speak at the workers' Kick-off dinner the preceding night.

Ralph Barnett '49 and Bill Hopkins '50 are to speak at the Assembly. Barnett has served as Organization Committee Chairman of both Student Union Building Fund campaigns on the Orono campus.

Five teams have been organized one for each of the dormitories and one for off campus students. About 75 students have signed up as workers. Daily team reports will be published, campaign buttons are to be used and the results of the week's drive will be announced at a big campus week end party which is to be held in the Union Building and the Gymnasium.

North Dorms Plan Annual Week End; Program Includes Two Dances, Picnic

The North Dorm Week End will officially open with a semi-formal dance from 9 to 1 p.m. in Memorial Gym on Friday night. Bob Percival's orchestra of Portland will play and Jeannette Lund and Eddie Arsenault will be the featured vocalists. The committee working on the affair plans to decorate the gymnasium with an "Anchors Aweigh" design.

A picnic will be held at the picnic grounds in Great Works on Saturday afternoon. Various athletic events are scheduled for entertainment during the stay at Great Works. Army trucks will supply transportation for those who have none available.

Sammy Saliba and orchestra will play for the informal dance on Saturday night from 8 to 11:30 p.m. This will bring the two-day affair to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Bricker and Dr. and Mrs. Brush will be the chaperons for the semi-formal dance on Friday night.

Plans have been made to house the off-campus guests of North Dormers in one of the unused dorms in that area of the campus. Anyone desiring to use these facilities should contact Al Packard, North Dorm 11, as soon as possible.

Requests for tickets and transportation facilities for the Saturday afternoon picnic may be handled through any member of the general committee or any North Dorm Councilman.

I'm Usually Wrong But

By BILL BRENNAN

Don't anyone ever try to tell us that there is a democracy here at the University of Maine, we certainly learned different Friday afternoon at the Maine-Rhode Island baseball game.

One of the most honored rights of American citizens, the right of freedom of speech, was curtailed at that time by a member of the administration. Something sacred to the game of baseball, the right to ride and jeer anyone connected with the teams playing, was taken away, and we don't like it a little bit.

There's a reason for it, of course, but to us the reason is hardly strong enough to warrant the action taken. And, by taking such action the University of Maine puts itself into a most unenviable position, that of a spineless institution.

Everyone on campus remembers what happened the last time a Rhode Island athletic squad visited the University, and everyone knows how Frank Keaney attempted to make the University and the basketball squad look stupid and silly in the eyes of any newspaper reader. It was only good fortune that he did not succeed.

But now, after taking such abuse at the hands of Keaney, the University turns around and soft-soaps him and Rhode Island State, trying to get back into their good graces. If we have any knowledge of what is right and what is wrong, and we think we do, then it seems to us that the tables should be just reversed, with Rhode Island attempting to patch up relations with us.

We students haven't heard anything of the conference which must have been held, and the decisions which must have been made, but we certainly heard of what happened Friday. Maine baseball fans, no more or no less avid than baseball fans anywhere else, were denied the privilege of freely jeering and riding Frank Keaney. That must have looked good to an outsider attending the game, to see us, grown men and women, held down like little children.

We believe that an apology is due the students for the action taken by Dean Wieman at the baseball game. Any time a section of students began riding Keaney, Dean Wieman trotted over to that section, plunked himself in the middle of it, and sat there until the students unwillingly quieted down. From the looks of things, Dean Wieman covered more ground during the game than any two base runners.

Often, Dean Wieman has told us that he would have liked us to talk with him before writing something which appeared in one of the local newspapers fortunate enough to have us on the payroll. Now, however, just the opposite is true. We wish Dean Wieman had spoken to us before taking the liberties which he did Friday. It would have saved him a great deal of lost respect.

It is very seldom that we are ashamed of the University or of its actions, but this is one time that we definitely are not proud of our institution.

He's Not Always Wrong

Bill's approach to the subject doesn't seem very diplomatic, but I agree with his sentiments entirely.

Keaney has presented the most disgusting spectacle of poor sportsmanship one is likely to ever encounter. True, his teams win games, but is winning a game worth the price of self-respect and human decency.

If Maine students are going to have to sit on their hands and look pretty whenever we play Rhode Island, for fear of offending the GREAT ONE, it's about time we considered changing our schedule.

A Note From Ike

There are several types of jokes that I would like to mull over this week. First off, let's look at the case of mistaken identity of such. Willie is speaking to the Parson.

"Won't you pray for my father's floating kidney?"

"My son, I can't pray for any one thing like that!"

"Why not? Last Sunday you prayed for all the loose livers." See what I mean? For those in the back row, substitute rib for kidney.

And then there is the typical baseball joke.

"Waw-waw-waw-waw!" wailed the baby.

"Four bawls and I walk," muttered the ball-player daddy, feeling for his slippers.

Diamond Squad Plays At Lewiston Today

Coach Bill Kenyon's University of Maine varsity baseball team will travel to Lewiston today to face Bates College in a game that has been postponed twice.

Kenyon is still undecided on his pitching choice with Dick Preble, Phil Archibald, Norm Parrott, and Fred Thurlow, all available for mound duty. Either Ray Lord or Mike Cherneski, will do the catching for the Bears.

On Saturday the Maine nine will meet Danny McFadden's Bowdoin Polar Bears at Brunswick in the third State Series contest for the Blues this week.

The Junior Varsity team, under the direction of Coach Sam Sezak, will play its fourth home game of the season on Saturday when it faces the Maine Maritime Academy at 2 p.m.

Bear Facts

By JERRY ROGOVIN

Hats off to Bowdoin's Matt Branche for his fine performance in the State Meet on Saturday. He scored three firsts and a second to pile up 13 points, and lead the Polar Bears to their 29th championship in the event's 49-year history.

The meet was the scene of long and disconcerting argument over the hammer throw. Marsanskis and Parsons made throws which were almost identical. Parsons was finally awarded first place, but after a great deal of dispute. The morning trials' measurements were made in 10ths of inches and the finals were measured in inches; hence a great deal of confusion among the judges.

Will Braley pitched a neat game against Bowdoin last week and he deserved a better fate. He whiffed a total of 14 men, 10 in the first five frames, but first inning jitters combined with fluky bounces gave Bowdoin three runs, and the ball game. A fluke bounce caused one of the players to remark about the condition of the field. It's certainly not in top shape now!

Along baseball lines, it was noted that Dean Wieman's efforts to protect Frank Keany were not missed. Nevertheless, a few catcalls were directed at the Rhode coach, but the man thrives on boohs and jeers. His group of yes-men on the Rhode Island bench served to make him unaware of the remarks.

Intramural tennis started last week, but one would never know it. Only one match had been played off as of Monday night, and several had been scheduled. The courts are in tough shape, so perhaps there is a reason.

First Bates and then Colby have knocked off Bowdoin's baseball team this season. And Maine could have won its game last Wednesday but for a few lapses. Perhaps Danny MacFayden's nine has been slightly overrated this year. Time will tell.

Coach Charlie Emery's golf team is about the only sports representatives for Maine to do any winning this spring. The loopers have won their last two matches against Bates and Bowdoin. Things look good for the state championships at Augusta on the 17th of this month.

This weekend will be a big one for Maine's athletic forces. The track squad travels to Durham, N. H., for the Yankee Conference championships. Top-notch talent from Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and Connecticut will provide the opposition there. The golfers go to the Bay State where they tee off in the Conference and New England tourneys against the same teams, and the tennis team will be at Storrs, Conn., to play those four teams for another Conference title. The baseball team will journey to Brunswick to do battle with Bowdoin.

The school ought to permit more of these mayor campaigns. They improve the spirit at athletic events. The crowd at the Rhode Island baseball game was quiet, and even hostile until one of the candidates came and reawakened them.

Grand Marshal Sam Sezak did a fine job at the State Meet last week. Not only did he serve well in the capacity of marshal, but his kind and courteous help to the managers, officials, photographers and correspondents was sincerely appreciated.

Joe Coombs continues to hit as consistently as ever.

Bowdoin Wins Outdoor Track Championship

Yankee Meet Will Be Held At Durham

Coach Chester Jenkins announced Monday afternoon that sixteen and possibly seventeen men will be taken to Durham, New Hampshire, to compete in the 1st Annual Yankee Conference Collegiate Track Meet next Saturday, May 15. Schools competing for the title are: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut. The following men will compete for Maine: Beal (120 yd. H.H. and 220 yd. L.H.), Simmons (100 yd. dash and 220 yd. dash)

Folsom (1 Mile Run and 880 yd. run) Wallace (1 Mile Run and 880 yd. Run) Brown (440 yd. Run) Silsby (440 yd. Run) Johnston (2 Mile Run) O'Brien (2 Mile Run) Taylor (100 yd. Dash and 220 yd. Dash) Marsanskis (16-lb. Shot Put and 16-lb. Hammer and Discus) Orach (16-lb. Hammer) Totman (Discus) Phillips (Javelin) Higgins (High Jump and Pole Vault) Haynes (Broad Jump) Emerson (Broad Jump and Pole Vault) LeClair (possibly) (120 yd. H.H.)

Golf Team Wins, 6-3 Over Polar Bear Squad

Charlie Emery's potent golf team defeated Bowdoin at the PVCC Saturday, 6-3. The Maine golfers had to go all out to beat the Polar Bears. The match wasn't decided until the last hole. McNabb of Maine had the best score of the day—nine holes at a 39.

Golf Summary: McNabb (M) defeated Dole (B) 87 6-5. Johnston (B) 81 defeated Sturtevant (M) 84 4-2. Maine won best ball 4-3. Smith (M) 88 defeated Haskell (B) 92 5-2. Marshall (B) 85 defeated Bickford (M) 87 3-2. Maine won best ball 1 up. Wilson (M) 84 defeated Franck (B) 95 7-6. Walker (B) 84 defeated Hammond (M) 89 5-4. Maine won best ball 1 up.

Women's Sports

Fifteen girls have been chosen by the Modern Dance Club to serve as apprentices in the club for the rest of this semester. If these girls pass the tryouts, they will be voted in as members next fall. Those from the Freshman Class are Janet Bannister, Mary Linn, Joan F. Littlefield, Gennette MacNair, Nancy Jane Ryan, Betty Russell, Phyllis Osgood, Emily Smaha, Jean Tourtilotte, and Jane Walker. The Sophomores include Betty Arnold, Edith Hayford, Betty Pennell, and Janet Pettie. Jean Harding, a transfer, is a new Junior apprentice.

Representatives from the Modern Dance Club performed at the Inter-Fraternity Sing Tuesday night. A new kind of rhythm, called the Cucaboogie, formed the background for dancers Mary Bachelor, Ruth Holland, Elaine Lockhart, and Peg Millington. Jean Harding, who was remembered from the recent Masque Musical, again scored a hit with a new acrobatic dance. Morna Kimball, Dance Club President, also in the musical, this time teamed up with Bob

Shown above are Fortin, Marsanskis, and Parsons, innocent victims of violent controversy between Maine and Bowdoin at last Saturday's state track meet. Parsons won the hammer with a throw of 152 feet 7 3/4 inches. Marsanskis was second with 152 feet 7 1/2 inches. Reason for the confusion: Marsanskis' throw of 152.625 feet (on an engineer's tape) was recorded as 152 6/4 inches by a non-engineering measurer. When the error was discovered Bowdoin threatened to withdraw from the meet if it were changed. So George loses even though he gets off the best throw. —Newhall photo

BY NORMA DRUMMOND

Edith Curtis vs. Jane Walker.

The first basketball officials' examination ever to be presented in Eastern Maine took place last Saturday in the Women's Gym. Miss Theresa Shelton of the Gym Department was one of the three women from this area who successfully passed both the written and floor exams, which were conducted by Miss Catherine Foland of Colby College, judge for the National Board of Women's Basketball Officials, assisted by examiners Miss Rogers of the University Gym Department and Miss Amy Thompson of Waterville High School.

Two University students, Morna Kimball and Florence Greenleaf, passed the local examinations, and Betty Freidler, the intramural. Formerly the national ratings were given only in Boston; then exams were later moved to Portland, only this year coming to Bangor. Physical education majors and anyone wishing to obtain ratings which may be used anywhere in the United States now have a greater opportunity to do so.

Branche Leads Polar Bears To Victory

Bowdoin College proved Saturday what they really thought they could do—that they could beat Maine. As it was the powerful Polar Bears from Brunswick swept the field in the 49th annual Maine Intercollegiate State Track Meet. The official tabulation was as follows: Bowdoin—61; Maine—48; Bates—20; and Colby—6.

It was big Mat Branche who led the winners to victory as he scored first place in the high jump, 120 High Hurdles and the 220 low hurdles. Holmes of Bowdoin also scored two first place—in the broad jump and in the 100 yd. dash.

For Maine, it was a tough pill to take in losing the track title. Leading all the way right up to the 12th event and believing that they had won it again, they suddenly found themselves behind with Bowdoin's clean sweep in the 220 yd. low hurdles. With Branche's victory in the high jump, victory for the balanced Polar Bears was assured.

But Maine did not take it lying down. Phillips' javelin throw of 179 ft. 1/4 in., Emerson's 1st place in the pole vault with a height of 12 ft. 1 in., and Silsby's 1st place in the 440 clocked at 50.8 (state record is 49.2) kept Maine in the running.

The highlight of the day was the two mile run in which Johnston, O'Brien, and Davis all of Maine finished in that order. Also in the 880 yd. run, little Red Horne of Bates came from last place to beat Gould of Bowdoin in a photo-finish.

SAE Keeps Sing Trophy

Sigma Alpha Epsilon retired the five-year trophy offered the winner of the annual Interfraternity Sing, Tuesday night, when they won the contest for the third time.

The trophy, presented by the Cleveland Alumni Association, was destined to become the permanent property of the fraternity which won it the greatest number of times in a five-year period.

Tuesday night's contest was only the fourth in the series, Sigma Nu having won it once, but SAE's third victory makes further competition unnecessary.

Other fraternities competing were: Alpha Tau Omega, Delta Tau Delta, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Eta Kappa, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Sigma, Phi Mu Delta, Sigma Chi, and Sigma Nu.

President Hauck was chairman of the board of judges, aided by Dean Wieman and James A. Gannett, all three acting without voting power. Voting judges were Royce P. Allen, Raymond Floyd, Dr. Erwin Douglass, Everett S. Hurd, and Professor Matthew McNeary.

The Modern Dance Group, under the direction of Miss Eileen Cassidy, presented several numbers while waiting for the judges to make their decision.

Maine Day Ends With Student, Faculty Skits

Traditional Maine Day was brought to a close, Wednesday night, with the presentation of separate faculty and student skits and the holding of a dance in the Memorial Gymnasium.

The hilarious skits were presented twice during the evening, at 6:30 and 8:15, in order to accommodate the record throngs who were anxious to see the student and faculty shows, which have established a record for side-splitting humor over the past few years.

The student skit was entitled "The Beowulf Case," with Alfred Dumis, chairman, and John Ballou.

Canterbury Club Talks Over Fall Plans

Discussion of the program schedule for next fall will be the topic of the next Canterbury Club meeting. It will be held May 16 in the MCA lounge.

At the last meeting Richard Schonland was elected to represent the club at vestry meetings of St. James' parish. Proposed amendments to the constitution were discussed.

Elements Of Design Is New Art Feature

The Art Department has acquired a new asset, a series of twenty-four cardboard panels on the Elements of Design. These panels represent much more than paper and color—they tell a graphic story, packed with useful, vital information about the world in which we live. The panels seem to reach out to the observer and say, "Here are the elements of design. See what happens in your everyday life! Some of these things you have seen a thousand times and never understood."

The panels were designed and planned by Robert J. Wolff in collaboration with Elodie Courter, Victor E. D'Amico, and Alice Otis, names that mean little to the casual observer but names that rank high in design. "The panels tend to shake the dust from the prejudiced mind, enabling the observer to see the world in which we live in a new light," says Vincent Hartgen, Head of the Art Department. The impact of his statement is more fully realized when the student grasps the significance of the work more clearly.

Why not show this exhibition every year, Mr. Hartgen?

New Book Published

A new 250-page book called The History of Secondary Education in Penobscot County in Maine, written by Philip E. Keith, of Charleston, has just been published by the University Press.

Written by Mr. Keith, now an instructor at Higgins Classical Institute, in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a master's degree, the purpose of the publication is to trace the development of secondary education in Penobscot County from its earliest beginnings to the present time.

Merchant Gives Last Interview

By JOE WEDGE

Tears were in Bob Merchant's eyes as he prepared to close office at the Delta Shelta after a long year's service in the Mayoralty chair.

"Dr. Cornell has ordered me to Florida for a long rest," said the Mayor in a trembling voice, shaken at spells with sobs, during his last press conference interview. "It seems that I've developed 'mayoritis,' a disease that affects nearly all leading public servants after a long and strenuous year of service."

He paused for a second, rose from his chair, and looked out over the backyard where some of his staff were burning important confidential papers and cleaning out his files.

"I wish to extend my best wishes to my successor," he slowly remarked as he turned back to the reporters again. "It's a tough job and he will need all the luck in the world."

His voice trembled more and more as he retraced the past year's activities.

"We sold 18,121 copies of the Bob Merchant Song Book, made 207 per-

Deutscher Verein Will Hold Picnic

The Deutscher Verein, honorary German scholastic society, held its last regular meeting for the year Wednesday in the Art Gallery. Program consisted in the recital by Wuellner of the Hexenlied by Ernst von Wildenbruch with musical accompaniment by Max von Schillings, the singing of German folk songs, and parlor games in German.

A picnic is planned for Sunday, May 23. The club intends to continue its custom of making an excursion to Lamoine where a hamburger lunch will be prepared on the grounds of the U. of M. Marine Station. All members having cars which they will put at the disposal of the club are asked to get in touch with the president, Paul Ford, or the sponsor, Professor Klein, in 320 Stevens.

Besides lolling on the beach, fishing and soft ball, the officers are planning to shoot a movie.

Fernald Requests Free Education

"The State of Maine has the economic wealth to establish a system of free education from the kindergarten through the State University," Roy L. Fernald of Winterport, Republican gubernatorial candidate, told a joint meeting of the Politics and Young Republicans clubs here Monday.

He declared, however, that the citizens of the State must themselves be educated, because they lack the will and intestinal fortitude to organize an adequate program of education.

Fernald asserted that, "If we are to apply democratic principles in our public education, we must begin with the elementary grades," and declared that it is unfair for the State to help the university when children of elementary school age are badly in need of assistance.

"What we label education in Maine is not education," Fernald said, "because we cannot get it with a system that is a half century behind the times."

Commenting briefly upon the matter of bringing displaced persons from Europe to Maine, Fernald declared that it is foolish to think of bringing more people into the State when there are not enough jobs for the people already here.
