Bears Oppose Bowdoin In Fight For Tie

—Newhall photo

Maine Masque Opens With Shaw Comedy

By Bob Snowman

The Maine Masque's first production of the year, "Arms and the Man," a three act comedy by George Bernard Shaw, opened last night.

A near capacity audience proved enthusiastic. The play was stylized by Prof. Herschel L. Bricker, the director, so that exaggerated gestures and movements prevailed.

Capable performances were presented by Al Dumais as the young Swiss officer, Captain Bluntchli; Marnel Abrams as Major Sergius Saranoff, his Bulgarian rival; and Newcomer Nancy Hyde as Catherine Petkoff, the fiancée's mother.

Credit is also due Elaine Lockhart as the serving girl, Louka, and Marjory Malloy for her characterization of Raina Petkoff.

John Ballou deserves mention for his portrayal of the blustering father, Major Paul Petkoff, while Bill Horner and Bill Robertson turned in creditable performances to round out the cast.

Unusual scenery designed by Larry Dunn, and exceptional lighting effects by Clayton Briggs, added greatly to a performance good for an enjoyable evening.

BULLETIN

Insufficient interest in the Bowdoin Train has forced its cancellation. Train ticket holders will be transported by busses leaving from campus.

For time schedule, see Bulletin Board.

Eight Co-eds Vie For Honors; Winner Becomes Calico Queen

By Sam Jones

Eight pretty girls on a farmyard fence and each one a queen. Out of our eight charming candidates, one will be selected as the Calico Queen. The lucky girl will reign over the second annual Farmers' Fair, Saturday, November 13. Each of the women's dorms has elected a candidate.

The candidates include Eva Stinson of Balentine who is majoring in business administration and calls Prospect Harbor her home. Coming down from the north country, Dorrine McMahon of Houlton, a home-ec major, represents North Estabrooke.

Jo Josslyn of Portland and the Elms aims to be a psychologist.

Pam Shattuck of Fort Preble and East Hall ponders over international relations.

Connie Green of Lewiston carries the colors of West Hall into the contest and studies over in Stevens in the arts and sciences department.

Mary Marsden, a phys ed major, hails from Colvin during school sessions but takes the high road to Lewiston come vacations.

Betty Leard commutes daily from Hampden to study physical education and represents the Off Campus Women.

Air Force Names Wells

William C. Wells, manager of dormitories, has been designated liaison officer between the U. S. Air Force and the University of Maine. Information on Reserve activities may be obtained from his office.

Gerschefski To Give Concert Here Tuesday

Edwin Gerschefski, American pianist, composer, and dean of the Converse College School of Music, will give a formal concert at the University of Maine next Tuesday in the Little Theatre, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

During his two-day visit he will

James H. Firmin Is Selected As Rhodes Scholar Candidate

James H. Firmin '49, an English major from Metropolis, Ill., has been named as the candidate from the University of Maine for a Rhodes Scholarship, it has been announced by Prof.

Cecil J. Reynolds, secretary of the Maine committee for the selection of Rhodes scholars.

Mr. Firmin will be interviewed and have his records examined along with William Stringfellow and William Senseney, Bates seniors, and James D. Draper, senior, and Richard A. Wiley, graduate student, from Bowdoin, at Augusta on December 9. Of these five three will be selected to go to Boston and compete with candidates from the five other New England states. In all, four will be sent from New England to enter Oxford in October of 1949.

There have been two Rhodes scholars from the University of Maine. They are Ballard F. Keith '08 of Bangor, and Arthur A. Brown '33.

Frosh Tip Hats To Sophs

A large crowd saw the sophomore field hockey team edge the frosh 2-1, in the traditional Homecoming Day hat game at the girls' athletic field.

The Eagles removed the rule at half-time of the Colby game, and the frosh removed their hats.

Maine Will Converge On Brunswick

Saturday's Contest Will Decide Series

By Jerry Rogovin

The mighty Bowdoin Polar Bear will play host Saturday to the supposedly battered and broken Black Bear of Maine in the season's finale for both teams.

Bowdoin is undefeated in State Series competition, and must hurdle Maine to clinch the 1948 title. The Bears can squeeze into a two or three way tie for the championship, depending upon the outcome of the Colby-Bates game, by defeating Bowdoin.

Over 1800 Have Tickets

The more than 1800 students who have purchased tickets for the game will see the biggest college line in Maine face the Pale Blue forward wall. The Polar Bear line has been one of the features of Bowdoin's strong ground attack all season.

Their 4-2-0 seasonal record is ample proof that the team is strong on offense as well as defense when it is remembered that their two losses came at the hands of once-beaten Amherst and a Wesleyan team that has gone undefeated through 16 successive games.

Standouts in the Bowdoin line are the ends, Marty Lee and Paul Zdanowicz. It was Lee who knocked down the sprawling Art Blanchard as he attempted to rush the tying extra point for Bates. Zdanowicz played for the Maine Annex in his freshman year.

Maine, Colby, Bates Hillel Members To Meet

A joint meeting of representatives of the Hillel Foundations of Colby College, Bates College, and the University of Maine will be held in Waterville Sunday, November 6, to discuss policies.

Hilda Livingston and Leonard Minsky will represent the University group as delegates. Other Maine students who will attend are Elizabeth Zaitlin, Sheldon Sokol, Melvin Levine.

Dance Classes Held At Balentine Smoker

The Balentine smoker is the scene of a weekly class in dance instruction.

Every Monday afternoon at 4, students interested in learning social dancing gather under the instruction of Miss Eileen Cassidy to practice waltzing and other Arthur Murray techniques.

Alice Purdue is the accompanist for the group.

Social Science Group To Meet At University

Maine Social Scientists will hold their annual conference at the University of Maine Friday and Saturday, Nov. 19-20, according to Professor Henry C. Hawley, president of the group.

Professor Robert M. York of the University department of history and government is secretary.

Delegates to the conference, faculty members of the department of economics, sociology, history and government at the four Maine colleges, will register at the Louis Oakes room in the library between 4 and 5 p.m. Friday.

State Senator Robert N. Haskell of Bangor will speak during the evening program in the Oakes room. His subject will be "Fiscal Problems of Maine."

Lunch will be served at Balentine Hall at 11:45.

Entries Sought For Intramural Debate Tourney

Entrants in the 1948 intramural debating tourney may file applications at the regular meeting of the Debating Council tonight at 7:15 in 6 South Stevens.

The tournament is open only to debaters with no intercollegiate experience. Students may enter individually or as a team. Competition will get under way Thursday, November 11.

At the meeting of the council, varsity debaters will engage in practice debates.

Bridge Group Elects

The Bridge club has elected the following officers: Elliot Lamb, president; Robert Stetson, secretary-treasurer; and Mervin Curtis, tournament director.

Brewster Suggests More Aid To China

More aid for China was the theme of Senator Owen R. Brewster's address to students and faculty members in the Little Theatre on Monday afternoon.

Speaking under the auspices of the Politics Club, Senator Brewster referred frequently to the pressing need for increased aid to China if she is to maintain her independence against the growing Communist pressure.

"Should Chiang Kai-shek be able to stave off the present Communist drive to overcome China, he may well become one of the greatest heroes of the age," Brewster stated.

As a result of a recent trip to Europe, he believes that Europe's economy is slowly reviving. Britain's recovery from the war, Brewster said, is amazing.

The Senator said that he felt Russia did not contemplate a war. He declared that a war at this time, with the use of atomic energy, would prove disastrous to civilization.

Money Awards Offered For Best Writing

Students are offered money and scholarships for their creative writing ability in two newly announced contests.

Awards amounting to $100,000 will be given in the fields of the play, short story, short short, radio script, music, and motion picture synopsis by the National Five Arts Award, Inc., 715 Fifth Ave., New York.

The contest, which will run until January 31, 1949, has a $2,000 first prize, a $1,000 second prize, four prizes of $500 each, and 140 scholarships worth $500 each.

The magazine Tomorrow, 11 East 44th St., New York, offers $500 for the best short story by a college writer, with a second prize of $250.

The magazine will consider all entries for publication at the regular rate of $125.

The contest ends December 31, 1948.

Miss Pearl Greene Is Honored Guest At Farewell Tea

Miss Pearl Greene, retired head of the Department of Home Economics, was honored Sunday at a farewell tea from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Fern Witham, instructor in textiles and clothing. Members of the Home Economics staff, Extension Service, and Research Department attended the tea. Mrs. Mary McLintock, former member of the Department of Home Economics, poured.

An examination for student dietitian appointments in Veterans Administration hospitals in four cities has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Competitors for the $1,470 per year jobs must have the bachelor's degree and be between 18 and 35. Courses last 12 months.

Miss Ebbeson Has Exhibit In Art Gallery

The theme of Gertrud Ebbeson's watercolor exhibition in the Art Gallery seems to be "Bangor in Transition." Views of elaborately decorated mansions of Victorian days, with shining new parking meters taking the place of the old hitching posts, or of a network of telephone and light wires converging on a swayed covered bridge, accentuates the passing of the old order.

There are 20 views in all, the majority being of architectural subjects that show something of the lives and habits of the inhabitants. One does not have to be a native of Bangor to recognize the scenes, Miss Ebbeson having chosen to paint familiar areas. The use of bright colors and an eye for details make for realism.

Melting Pot In Student Exchange

If you are wondering about the student who sits next to you, who is obviously from a foreign country because of accent or mannerism, who could be a Communist in disguise, you may rest your case. This country's educational policy now permits the Russian-born or the Russian-dominated student to sit beside you in the classrooms throughout the Nation.

It all came about because, earlier this year, Congress approved the Smith-Mundt bill which broadened our student exchange program. An appropriation of $5,000,000 will allow over 20,000 students to study in American colleges and universities this year. Chancellor Harvie Branscomb of Vanderbilt University, chairman of the present student exchange setup, and an advisory commission appointed by President Truman, have mapped out a long-range program to utilize the act to best advantage.

One of the most amazing angles in the bill is that only those Russian and Communist students who adhere strictly to Soviet policy are to be allowed to study in this Country. It is unlikely, however, that Russia will permit any of its students to study in any American university.

Russia is a little bit afraid of the possible outcome. Books, school supplies, and the multiple indications of prosperity prevalent in this country are weapons in the Communist eye. A Soviet student might pick up a few ideas that are not healthy to Russia, according to Russia.

Dr. Karl T. Compton, now chairman of the nation's Research and Development Board, offers the following argument:

"I have enough confidence in the American system to think that we can win out," he says. "Show the people behind the Iron Curtain how we live. That is the best argument in favor of democracy."

Every country except the Soviet seeks to send its scholars here. Already China, Greece, the Philippines, Burma, Great Britain, New Zealand, and Belgium have joined the program. Last Friday, an agreement was signed with France. Other nations will follow shortly.

Under the Fulbright act, which permits other nations to pay in scholarships for the surplus property they bought from us, twenty-four countries will have $24,000,000 available for student exchange. On the other side of the ledger, the United States feels that the rest of the world, too, has much to offer us in the way of cultural benefits.

Senator H. A. Smith, New Jersey, co-author of the Information and Educational Exchange Act under which the Smith-Mundt program operates, cites as an outstanding example of the student exchange program the situation in Belgium. The many Belgian citizens, who are now in high government positions and who formerly studied in this country, have given us a better understanding with that country than with any other country on the Continent.

Yes, the lid is off the melting pot. There seems to be no indication that it will boil over, or that it will scald the hand that, thus far, has stirred the contents.

CLAIR H. CHAMBERLAIN

The accuracy of the Gallup Polls should be a hint to the self-styles "intelligentsia" of this country. Those people who believe the masses are not qualified as accurate thinkers should throw this idea with yesterday's razor blades. The poll, taken from a good cross section of America, has proved the public right on many serious national problems.

I'm Usually Wrong, But

BY BILL BRENNAN

In a few weeks, class elections will be coming up. We wonder, however, if it's even worth the trouble to vote in this election. The positions—president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer—are merely honorary ones, carrying no power what-so-ever. But, of course, it's good practicing of democratic principles, they say.

Ha ha. Maine beat Colby. But that still doesn't change the picture one iota. (What is an "iota," anyhow?) One of the best reasons why we have such a fouled up athletic system is that we have too little cooperation between the administration and the athletic department.

We have coaches, trainers, managers, players, and equipment; but all these are a waste if we don't have time for team practice. No squad, not even Frank Leahy's Notre Dame eleven, can be any good if it can't practice as a unit. Individual practice is fine, and is essential, but nothing can replace team practice.

Now, everyone knows by this time, or should anyhow, that the Maine squad gets darn little chance for practice as a unit. This is nothing new; it's been going on for twenty years, and some observers say that the situation is better this year than it has been for a long time, in that the members of the football team were pre-registered, and theoretically given every break possible.

But getting every break possible doesn't make much difference, we guess. If we want a topnotch football squad, or any athletic squad for that matter, the administration will have to change a policy reached many years ago—that the primary reason for coming to school was for an education, and that athletics are secondary.

So, on election day it might be a good idea to have a question on the ballot which reads: "Shall the class schedules be re-arranged so that members of athletic squads will be able to practice every week-day afternoon?" Then, there would be a good reason for voting.

SCOTCH AND SODA

BY BIFF SHALEK

The tremendous ovation Prexy Hauck received at the Homecoming rally prompts me to urge the General Senate to carry through, as soon as possible, some sort of day honoring him. I tried to point out last week some of the reasons why Dr. Hauck is Mr. Campus himself. I spoke of buildings. Who knows how many speeches, conferences, sleepless nights, he had to go through before the money and support was forthcoming? ...Who, but a blind man hasn't seen him time and time again, even though he was out on his feet from overwork, come through with a cheerful smile and a sincere hello? With the duties of running this multi-million dollar college pressing on him, has anyone had him refuse to chaperone a houseparty or to give a little time for the discussion of a private problem? What can we do to honor him?

Instead of Fraternity for Fraternity, Dorm for Dorm, Aggie for Aggie, etc., why can't we really get together and establish a Campus Wide spirit!!! The correction of this would be the main part of the President's Day proposed last week. Each section to hold Open House and offer any orientation lectures or exhibits needed to clarify its position on the college curricula. At night, under the joint work of the interfraternity and inter-dorm councils a mammoth Open House party, with Dr. Hauck as the guest of honor, could be held at Memorial Gym.

Bottleneck Cited In Required Reading

To the Editor: There probably isn't a student on campus who has not at some time during his cruise here taken a course in which there were outside reading assignments. I am not bellyaching about outside reading, believe me. The library reading is extremely helpful.

My sole complaint is against compelling 50 to 100 students to read material in books of which the library has only five or six copies.

In the past, when I was commuting more than 80 miles a day to and from school, I have had to stay in the library until closing time (10:00 p.m.) in order to read an assignment in a text that was "OUT" during every spare period that I had through the day.

As I see it, the alternatives are about as follows:

(1) Restrict outside reading to texts that are plentiful.

(2) Restrict outside reading to small classes.

(3) If Joe Blow's dissertation—IN THE LIBRARY—on the sex life of a head of cabbage is superior to what Sam Squibb has to say about the same subject, then WHY IN BLUE BLAZES DON'T WE USE JOE BLOW FOR A TEXT?

Old-fashioned Rally Not Up To Par

To the Editor: Last Friday night there was advertised an old fashioned rally. Now I have never been to an old fashioned rally, but my impression of one is that there is a great deal of cheering and singing of school songs. However, that rally was not a rally in the true sense of the word.

Certainly there was nothing wrong with the various skits but the fact is that they were too long and too many. Only the minimum time was spent on cheering and in general getting the crowd warmed up for the game the next day. A cheer was given once and that was all. Some of the cheers were unfamiliar; yet they were given once only. The result was that the crowd left Memorial Gym the same as they went in.

Now the cheerleaders look like a healthy bunch whom a few minutes of intensive shouting will not hurt, and I suggest that at the next rally (if there is one) that more time be spent on teaching the students the cheers and less time put on the skits. Then maybe we will find what happened to the lost Maine spirit.

Co-ed Says Lassies Need Style Column

To the Editor: Often recently I've heard the question "Why doesn't the Campus run the style column it had last year?"

I've asked several of the girls in the dorms if they were really interested in Helen and Toni's New Look articles and everyone seemed to feel that with the exception of the social news, the paper had no outlet for campus chit-chat.

With limited space available, it might be impossible to have another weekly column, but I think among our co-ed population it would be very popular.

Bear Facts

BY JERRY ROGOVIN

Maine's State Series football hopes depend on the final game of the season with Bowdoin at Brunswick. The Polar Bears just did nip Bates last week, and the strain of that game may aid the Maine eleven November 6. Maine must present a stronger offense than we have shown all season against Adam Walsh's men, and we must, in any case, present a stronger pass defense than that which Colby's George Wales riddled with accurate chucks last week.

Rhode Island State's basketball team, out for practice more than two weeks already, received a setback last week when star Bruce Blount suffered a fractured hand in a scrimmage. He may not appear in the Ram lineup in the first few games, and Maine journeys to Kingston early in the season.

Fraternity and dormitory touch football wound up this past weekend. One of the more interesting sidelights on the intramural sport is that Nordorm #18 played through to the dorm finals before losing to Hannibal Hamlin, 12-0, as a team although that barracks has been closed for more than two weeks, and the teammates are dispersed all over the North Dorm area.

Jack Zollo will be playing his last intercollegiate game against Bowdoin this week end. The former Little All-America choice has been playing the 1948 seven-game schedule mainly on guts. Students who watch the type of competitive spirit which Jack displays ought to be mighty proud of their football team and players when they are like Jack Zollo.

To hear the discussion over at Memorial Gymnasium one would think that the basketball floor is a skating rink. An extra washing on Sunday afternoon might spare a lot of ankle sprains and bone bruises on fellows who might be out to get in shape to play on school teams. Meanwhile Doc Cornell applies liniment and bandages for the victims of unnecessary laxities.

Russ Noyes' punting average of 39.1 yards per kick for 41 boots ranks well in the nation. In small college circles he is up with the top 15, and the varsity ace has a better average than some of the stars of the more prominent football mills of collegiate circles. The great Doak Walker of Southern Methodist University has an average of 38 yards.

Coach Chester Jenkins' well-balanced cross country varsity journeyed to Augusta Monday to clinch the thirteenth state title made under his leadership since he came to the University in 1929.

The matter of school spirit certainly wasn't decided at the Colby game. The cheers were there, but they were not so abundant. As one spectator said, "we have nothing against poor Colby," so why expect too much of the crowd. Perhaps there is more interest in the Bates and Bowdoin games, and the Colby contest was not the most thrilling game of the season. A big crowd of students will be at Brunswick for the Bowdoin game, and I feel sure that we'll all be rooting for Maine to knock hell out of the Polar Bears and cop a tie for State Series leadership. Meanwhile the critics can squawk, but let's see them down at Brunswick for Maine's upset fight. Win or lose the Maine fans will be heard.

Maine Can Gain Title Tie By Bowdoin Win

Bears Blank
Colby, 21-0,
In Comeback

Maine's Black Bears bounced back into State Series contention Saturday by decisively whipping Colby, 21-0 before a homecoming crowd of 6500.

The Bears confined all their scoring to the middle periods of the game, and in scoring, showed more offensive plays, than they had previously this season.

The first touchdown of the afternoon climaxed a 53-yard drive which featured Dombkowski and Coulombe hitting the tackles, and a 23-yard pass play from Sproul to Lord.

Reggie Lord took a Dick Grant punt on his own 40, and raced 60-yards for the second Maine TD, displaying some brilliant open-field running to go with good blocking. Dombkowski converted the extra point.

The Bears continued to press the Mules mainly with a defensive measure. Russ Noyes punted beautifully all day to keep Colby deep in their own territory. A bad pass from center rolled into the Colby end zone, and Gabriel just fell on it before Sproul to give Maine two points on a safety.

The final scoring of the day came after Phil Coulombe bulled his way through right tackle from the Colby 39 down to the two, before being caught from behind, and Dombkowski bucked over.

Hannibal Meets
Phi Kappa Sig
In Title Game

Phi Kappa Sigma and Hannibal Hamlin Hall took the intramural football championships of the fraternity and dormitory leagues. More than 400 spectators witnessed two colorful and fast games to the accompaniment of the Phi Kappa Sigma band which entertained throughout the contests.

Phi Kappa Sigma edged Kappa Sigma, 2-0, in a hard-fought, see-saw battle. The score came with but two seconds remaining in the first half. A Phi Kap pass was intercepted only a few yards from the Kappa Sig goal line a minute before intermission. One play failed to gain ground, and on the next one, Ed Walden broke through and tagged Bit Stebbins behind the line for a safety, and the margin of victory.

In the dormitory final Hannibal Hamlin blanked Nordorm #18, 12-0, with the accurate pitching of Vic Maria, and the fine running of "Mouse" Tevanian. Tevanian romped 30-yards for the first touchdown, and he scored the second on a long end zone pass from Maria.

Jayvees Lose First

The Maine Jayvees lost their first game of the season Friday afternoon as they were downed 33-0 by a strong Maine Maritime academy team.

Scoring: Descoutreaux, Scrontas (2), Erickson, Schuyler. Extra Points: Scrontas (3) placement.

Women's Sports

Women's field hockey shared the limelight with football in the past Homecoming week end as a large crowd of students and returned Alumni watched the annual Freshman-Sophomore Hat Game on the Women's Athletic Field Saturday morning at eight-thirty. The Sophomores won over the Freshmen by a narrow score of two to one. According to tradition, because of losing the game, the Freshman women could not take off their blue hats until they were told to by the Sophomore Eagles. Another traditional game was played off the same morning, when a group of alums from several years back challenged the upperclassmen. The Junior-Senior combination won also by a score of two to one. One feature of the game that attracted everyone's attention was the small baby sitting on the sidelines cheering her mother on to victory.

The Juniors at present are leading the hockey tournament with a one-point margin over the Sophomores. In last Thursday's game the Juniors beat the Seniors decisively by a seven to nothing score. There are two games scheduled for next week—Sr.-Soph. game Friday and the same teams again on Tuesday, the latter game being the last of the season. Hockey season draws officially to a close with the annual Recognition Supper December seventh.

Polar Bears
Are Favored
By 12 Points

The starting tackles are two Massachusetts boys who tower over the six-foot mark, and tip the scales at 200, and 220 respectively. They are Jim Sibson and John Raussig.

The pivot man is Jim Draper, also a six-footer and 200-pounder. A Rhodes scholarship candidate, he is a fine line-backer for the Bowdoin defense.

Fife and Sweet are the probable starters for the guard positions. Both heavy men, they have seen plenty of action for the Polar Bears this season.

The team's T-formation mastermind is quarterback Dave Burke. He is the passer for Bowdoin, and both he and the air attack for the team were lightly regarded before the State Series action began.

However, he completed 10 of 19 aeriels against the Bobcats Saturday, and his completion percentage against Colby was as high. The Brunswick team gained 164-yards through the air to combine with a 207-yards total on the ground against Bates.

Bowdoin is blessed with good material in the halfback positions. Tom Leone and Jules Siroy are the probable starters, but they are backed up by Dick Rosse, Thornburn, and Beckler. Bob McAvoy packs 181-pounds into a potent pile-driving fullback game.

Maine will face the Polar Bears in a homecoming atmosphere before Bowdoin grads who expect a State Series title.

Maine students taking advantage of the student holiday (which, incidentally, means no cuts on Friday, November 5, and Monday, November 8) will leave Orono at 9 a.m. by train, or will go by auto. A large contingent of students are expected to appear at the Bowdoin rally Friday evening.

Harriers Romp
To State Win

Maine's harriers continued their state cross country supremacy for the second successive year, by defeating Bates and Bowdoin. Colby did not participate.

The Bears placed six runners in the positions from second to seventh. Maine star John Wallace had to be content with second spot behind Nelson "Red" Horne of Bates. The Bobcat distance man completed the 4 1/4-mile course in 19 minutes, 4.4 seconds. Wallace crossed the line two yards behind after a stirring finish in which it appeared that Wallace would overtake the winner. His time was 19:4.6.

Maine made a point total of 20 with Bates far behind 51 points and Bowdoin bringing up the rear with a 67 total.

The other Maine finishers were Harland Harndon (3), Gene O'Brien (4), George Reed (5), Clinton Tripp (6), Dick Packard (7), and Irv Smith (10).

The Maine team will journey to Boston November 8 to participate in the New England Intercollegiate meet at Franklin Field with such stand-out teams as Rhode Island State, New Hampshire, Springfield, Brown, and M.I.T.

The hunting season is now open. This doesn't mean there's an open season on hunters too.

Fort Fairfield Findlens Aid Our Enrollment

In part, at least, the upsurge in enrollment at the University may be attributed to the Findlens of Fort Fairfield.

By June, 1951, when John Findlen completes his work in agronomy, eight of the ten children of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Findlen will have received degrees from Maine.

William, majoring in agriculture, is in the class of 1950.

Paul Findlen, '31, who went on to Cornell for his doctorate, is now an economist with the Department of Agriculture in Washington.

Herbert is doing graduate work at Cornell, and Marian, Joseph, George, Jr., and Thomas are growing and shipping potatoes for the George P. Findlen and Sons Farm.

Nearly 1500 Come Home

BY JOHN CONNERS

Homecoming Celebration of 1948 lived up to its name, with nearly 1500 alumni returning to their alma mater to renew old friendships, inspect the New Look of the campus, and watch the Maine Bears lumber to an impressive win over the Mules of Colby, 21-0.

Festivities were scheduled to start on a high note Friday afternoon with the Maine JV's opposing the Maine Maritime Academy on Alumni Field. The Middies flatted the note somewhat by thumping the JV's 33-0.

Swallowing their shagrin, Maine rooters gathered early Friday evening for a torchlight parade that ended with 3000 men, women, and children jamming the Memorial Gym.

Rally Highlights Friday's Celebration

Ken Vennett, master of ceremonies at the rally, extended a warm and hearty welcome to the "Joes and Jills of former years." Raymond Fogler, member of the 1913 football champions, spoke of long-ago rallies.

Between bursts of music from the University band and cheers and songs from the audience, students under the direction of the Maine Masque (with the notable exception of the Tiny Tim heckler of M. C. Vennett) entertained students and alumni.

James Furman and Philip Catir pantomimed a football skit. East Hall co-eds led by Marguerite Floyd, Ida Moreshead, and Lillian Sargeant repeated their musical request to the boys in New Dorm 3 to please pull their window shades. Mayor Huff's Mayoralty Report suggested that Utopia is in the offing.

tributed their bits toward restoring harmony.

New Machine is Demonstrated

In the midst of the turmoil President Hauck and Dean Edith Wilson appeared to announce that scientific history had been made by the unveiling of Dr. Hauck's atom machine for mending the broken bones and curing the twisted knees of Maine footballers. Henry Dombkowski, Donald Barron, Charles Loranger, and John Ballou aided in demonstrating this machine, while Trainer Stan Wallace presented a beautiful solo in the soprano of Priscilla Goggin.

Ayer Toastmaster at Luncheon

The great football team of 1913 was honored at a Saturday luncheon meeting in Memorial Gym following the yearling game. Four members of that team—which beat Boston College, tied Yale, and won the state series—were able to attend: N. S. Donahue '15, Raymond Fogler '15, Edward Getchell '14, and Louis Kriger '16.

Toastmaster was Hazen H. Ayer '24, president of the General Alumni Association. Other speakers were President J. Seelye Bixler of Colby, Governor-elect Fredrick Payne, and President Arthur A. Hauck.

During the half of the Maine-Colby encounter, the winners of the Decoration contest were announced. SAE won fraternity honors with a Maine Bear dragging a bedraggled Colby Mule into the lair of Bananas.

West Hall picked up honors among women's dorms with the Mules being carried on a stretcher.

President and Mrs. Hauck presided at an informal tea in the University's new Music and Art Center, Carnegie Hall, following the game. Fraternities and dormitories held Open House.

Publication Is Launched By Wesley Group

A new publication, the Christian Student, has appeared on the Maine campus.

The first issue of the new weekly, which is published by the Wesley Foundation, a student organization affiliated with the Methodist Church, appeared October 27 with two mimeographed pages.

The paper is edited by Wayne Thurston, John Wentworth, and Janice Minott. The circulation manager is Norman Barnes.

Among the articles in the first issue are "Parable For An Atomic Age" and "Boy Meets Girl? But How?"

According to an editorial, the purpose is "to stir up controversial issues and to present them from both sides."

Sociologist Will Speak On "That First Year"

"That First Year" will be Mr. John M. Romanyshyn's topic in the Friendship and Marriage series. He will speak next Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Louis Oakes room of the Library.

Mr. Romanyshyn, an instructor in sociology, will discuss the economic and social adjustments facing newlyweds.

Stan Miller, president of the Hillel Foundation State Board, will conduct the meeting.

Some 329 guests and members showed up at Theta Chi to celebrate the big homecoming week end. The house was appropriately decorated with pumpkins and cornstalks. Black crepe designs of pink elephants and witches were plastered surrealistically on every wall—several other witches were realistically plastered on the floor.

Everyone danced. For the most part the mob continually weaved back and forth across the floor in rhythm with the vic music which could be heard occasionally above the over-all roar of mass panic and confusion. At intermission Al Dumais and Priscilla Goggin did several duets which pleased everyone.

Next on the program came the actual eruption of the Theta Chi volcano which had been constructed as the Homecoming display. First the wind was tested and it was found to be blowing in the right direction—towards Beta house. Fire extinguishers were concealed and matches were applied with anticipation. But the wind shifted, and as a result, only the volcano was burned.

We think the above unique—what do you think? Congrats to Bob Ford and Dave Winchester whom we are considering for assistants.

Opening nite of the production by nervous Ralph Paradis and Jim Firmin was held at Delta Shelta Saturday evening. Swami Whodunit and his assistant, Ididit, as well as the rest of the show were enthusiastically received by the 125 couples.

The homecoming week end at Phi Kappa Sigma was a gala occasion from start to finish. There was a good representation of "Old Grads" present during the course of the activities to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Maine chapter of Phi Kappa Sigma. Saturday night there was a vic dance featuring hallowe'en decorations complete with hats, horns, and jack-o-lanterns. About 75 couples attended. There was an apple eating contest won by Vic Pooler and Ann Mehlhorn and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foster. Cider, doughnuts, and apples were served to top off a swell evening.

With bulging sides and vibrating floors the SAE house romped to the tune of the Old Grads meet the Undergrads. Friends, Romans, and brothers blended their talents to make a rousing time for all. Cider was served for those interested.

Open Houses and buffet suppers were also held at Phi Mu Delta, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Nu, and Alpha Tau Omega in honor of visiting Colby men and Alumni.

One returning alumnus, Jim Claffie of Sigma Nu, distinguished himself by hanging his pin on Barbara Richardson of South Estabrooke. Keeping up with the Claffies were Jo Burton and Guy Rowe, Phi Mu Delta; Gerry Lamb and Ray Kenneally, Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Norma Moers and William Warren, Sigma Nu.

Only one engagement this week and that was Lucille Stitham, Bucksport, to Clyde Hayward, ATO.

Ah-Ha!! This week we get a chance to use our afore-established Birth Department... Born to Pat McGuigan Collins and husband, Don, was Kathy Collins.

Home Ec Club Packs Overseas Yule Packages

The Home Economics Club, working in conjunction with other home economics groups throughout the country, has filled more than 250 Christmas packages with clothing and toys for children overseas.

The packages are being distributed by the "World Friendship for Children" agency.

The club work was directed by Verna M. Wallace, project chairman, who was assisted by Kathryn L. Bennett and Jane L. Libby, upperclassmen. Freshman girls assisting were: Carolyn and Marilyn Harmon, Cynthia Lever, Maxine Gray, Mary Jean McIntyre, Carolyn Noyes, Harriett McKeil, Eleanor Mahoney, Jean Winter, and Helen Sutton.

Materials for the packages were donated by students, faculty, and nursery school.

Spanish Group Will Hear Talk By Prof. Gross

Prof. Stuart M. Gross's talk on his experiences in Guatemala will feature the Spanish Club's program at the November 10 meeting in Room C, North Estabrooke. Group singing and informal discussions will be conducted entirely in Spanish.

Wesley C. Panunzio, faculty advisor, has announced that a business meeting will be held after the social program. Joan Violette, Albert Libby, and Joan Gallo, members of the nominating committee, will present a slate for election of club officers.

Ramona McLaughlin, Marilyn Boyer, Emma Ingraham, Joan Violette, and Mrs. Harry Siegel are arranging for the showing of the Spanish movie "Castillos en el Aire" on November 16. The public is invited to attend either the 4 p.m. or the 7:30 p.m. showing of this film in the Louis Oakes Room.

Admission will be 40 cents, including tax.

Government Students Hear Police Officer

Sgt. John DeWinter of the Maine State Police spoke on the work of his organization at a meeting of the Maine government students last Thursday afternoon, telling the history of the force and explaining its organization and duties.

Dr. Edward F. Dow, head of the department of history and government, arranged the talk as one in a series which will acquaint students with the work of various state departments.

New Co-eds Hear Talks On Rushing And Sorority Role

Freshman women and transfer students heard explanatory talks on sororities and rushing Monday evening sponsored by the Panhellenic Council at the Oakes room of the library.

Cynthia Hayden spoke on the activities of nonsorority girls on campus. Emily Smaha explained the actual rushing procedure here on campus. Pat Simmons gave a resume of sorority life on campus while Jean Cunningham spoke about the national scope of sororities and Panhellenic Councils.

As an alumna, Miss Theresa Dumais told of the benefits she had received from sorority membership.

The meeting was held in an attempt to give new students a clearer view of sorority standards and their place in campus life.

Cloke Heads Committee

Dean Paul Cloke, head of the College of Technology, has been appointed chairman of the national committee on engineering curriculums of the American Society for Engineering Education.

National Tie Is Considered By Physics Club

The possibility of affiliating with Sigma Pi Sigma, national undergraduate honor society of physics, is being discussed by members of the Physics Club.

Professor Edward Kelly, who joined the staff of the physics department this fall, outlined to the club last Saturday the role played by Sigma Pi Sigma at Penn State while he was an undergraduate there.

At Saturday's meeting physics majors of the class of '51 were welcomed.

Fernand Daigle, head of the new executive committee, urges all physics majors to attend the next meeting of the club, Nov. 10.

Temple Initiates 17

Seventeen candidates were initiated at the first regular meeting of the Order of the Temple last Thursday evening in the Orono Masonic Hall.

Sorority Open House Program Is Completed

Virginia Littlefield, committee chairman, has announced completion of Panhellenic plans for the sorority open house program scheduled for the afternoon of November 14.

All freshman girls and transfer students are invited to visit each of the sorority rooms.

Members of the open house committee include Phyllis Burrill, Eva Burgess, Mary Whitcomb, Jackie Howell, Gloria Noyes, and Joyce Henderson.

Girls' Skits Highlight Balentine Hall Party

The girls of Balentine Hall staged a party last Thursday night at 10:30 under the leadership of Ethel Stone and Eleanor Murray, social chairmen.

The entertainment included a dance number by Jeanne Day and Gloria Noyes, a duet by Marilyn Kobrin and Jeanne Day, and Eleanor Shima sang several Hawaiian songs.

Interviews Held For Job Seekers By Larger Firms

Although commencement seems a long way off to the average senior, a program of interviews by representatives of the larger firms is now under way at the Placement Bureau, under the direction of Philip J. Brockway.

First in the series was held Nov. 1-2, when Robert J. Doland, representing the Monsanto Chemical Company, talked with several chemical and mechanical engineering upperclassmen.

J. A. Clark of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company will interview seniors and graduate students in chemical engineering Thursday, Nov. 11. Both Monsanto and du Pont are recruiting graduates for their training programs, Brockway said.

On Friday, Nov. 12, senior men in the College of Arts and Sciences will be interviewed for jobs as claims adjusters with the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company by Ruel Whitcomb, a Maine alumnus.
