New Chapel Dedication This Sunday

Bishop Daniel J. Feeney D.D., of the diocese of Portland will officiate at the dedication ceremonies for Our Lady of Wisdom Chapel Sunday, December 5.

The ceremonies will begin at 10:30 a.m. followed by a low Mass. Bishop Feeney will be assisted during the services by local priests.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the ceremony will proceed with the blessing of the statue of Our Lady of Wisdom, the blessing of the Bell, and the erection of the Stations of the Cross. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament will conclude the ceremonies.

Among the features of the Chapel are the stained glass windows, made in Milan, Italy, over 100 years ago, and formerly in the Old St. Mary's church of Biddeford.

The altar is of Travertine marble and the gift of the Maine Council of Catholic Women.

The chapel bell, cast in 1886, is a gift of Mr. Phillip Peterson of Caribou.

Other presentations include the Minshall-Estey organ, the stations of the Cross, the statues, and the alter-railing.

Newman Hall, which is to be the center for Newman Club activities, has been redecorated and will be dedicated to the Maine State Council, Knights of Columbus.

The new hall, which is under the auspices of the Newman Club, will be open to all students.

Trustees O.K. New Dept. Of Journalism

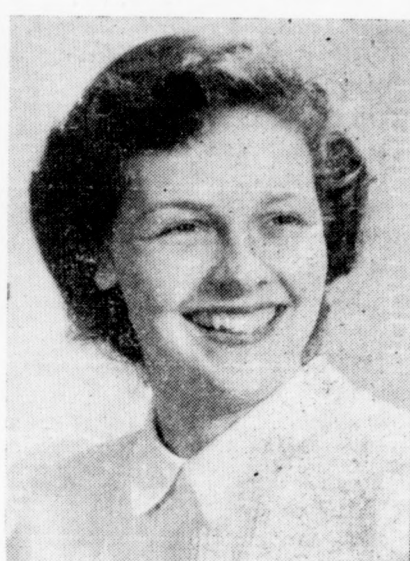

President Arthur A. Hauck announced today that the Board of Trustees had approved the establishment of a Department of Journalism.

"The Trustees' action," President Hauck said, "reflects not only present-day student interest in courses in that field but also a friendly interest which many editors and publishers of Maine have shown in the University journalism program."

According to Dean Joseph M. Murray of the College of Arts and Sciences, the new department will offer "professional guidance, within the liberal arts curriculum, for juniors and seniors who plan careers as reporters and editors."

The department will be headed by Wayne Jordan, professor of journalism, who was senior news editor of Business Week when he joined the University teaching staff in 1946.

Instruction in journalism at the University of Maine dates from 1914, when courses intended to prepare students for practical newspaper work were introduced in the Department of English.

Scabbard and Blade Picks Beauties For Military Ball

Five pretty coeds have been chosen by the Scabbard and Blade Society as candidates for Honorary Lieutenant Colonel of the Battalion, it has been announced. One will be commissioned during intermission at the Military Ball, Dec. 10.

Elaine Lockhart, Virginia Littlefield, Ruth Holland, Louise Litchfield, and Dorothea Butler, all juniors, are the hopeful candidates for the honorary position, being vacated by Muriel Applebee, "Miss Maine" for 1948.

It has also been announced that Freddie Guerra and his orchestra will be featured at the Military Ball, with guest vocalist Colby Dean.

Guerra has what is reported as one of the coming bands of the nation, and will be playing at Maine after a tour of mid-Western colleges.

Colby Dean, who sang with Bob Crosby's Club 15 this summer, is not Guerra's regular vocalist, but is coming to Maine as a side attraction. She will sing several novelty numbers during intermission.

Tickets for the Military Ball are $5 per couple, and can be obtained from any Scabbard and Blade member or at the Bookstore on Monday, Dec. 6. The dance is formal.

Women's "M" Club Sponsors New Plan For Co-recreation

The Women's gymnasium will be open Friday evening from 8 to 10:30 o'clock for the use of men and women students in a new co-recreational program under the sponsorship of the women's "M" Club.

The program, directed by Sparky Richardson, Betty Friedler, and Thelma Crossland, is designed to give students not wanting to attend dances or house parties recreational facilities over the week end.

In the Women's gym, badminton, ping pong, volleyball, and shuffleboard equipment will be available.

New Voting System Set For Election

Aiming at a 50% student vote in Tuesday's final class elections, the election committee, headed by Hal Marden, has announced restrictions in campaigning procedure for the more than 50 candidates who will be voted upon for class offices and Sophomore representatives to the athletic board.

Heeding complaints following the primary elections, Marden and his committee have decreed that candidates will be prohibited from any form of campaigning in the lobby and the Oakes room of the Library, where the polls will again be set up.

According to the committee, voting irregularities were noticed during the primaries, and the charges made by the committee included the influencing of students at the polls by both poll-tenders and loiterers, students voting for officers other than in their own class, and the illegal marking of ballots.

Marden announced at a General Senate meeting that a more perfect system has been set for the final elections, to be held Dec. 7.

Voters will have their names checked off when they receive ballots in the lobby of the library, and will again be checked on leaving the polls in the Louis Oakes room.

Campaigning may be carried on anywhere outside the lobby and the Oakes room, Marden said. Requests have been made by librarian Louis T. Ibbotson that no posters be hung on the library.

In addition to restricting the nominees and representatives from campaigning in the immediate balloting area, Marden said that representatives of the Senior Skulls and the All-Maine Women will be present

Coach Allen Takes Leave For Two Weeks

Mrs. George E. Allen stated Monday that her husband, Coach Eck Allen, entered the Lahey Clinic, Boston, that day for a series of tests to determine his condition.

Mrs. Allen said that Maine's varsity football and basketball head coach did not know much about his health, but would know definitely by tomorrow.

Allen left for Boston Saturday and attended a basketball coaching clinic last week. He was forced to leave practice the Tuesday before Thanksgiving in the final pre-recess session.

If nothing further develops in the diagnoses conducted by the clinic, Mrs. Allen expects her husband to return in two weeks.

University Trustees Approve Bowdoin Plan For Maine

By JIM WHEELER

The initiation of the Bowdoin Plan or a similar method of securing financial means to aid foreign students to study in the United States has been approved by the University Board of Trustees.

As a solution to the problem of living and tuition expenses, the Plan calls for the provision of room and board for a foreign student by some recognized college organization and the waiving of payment of tuition and fees by the university.

At present the Board has consented to furnish tuition and fees for ten foreign scholarships provided a sufficient number of organizations agree to pay the cost of the students' room and board.

The Plan provides three major benefits to the groups who sponsor the foreign student as well as financial advantages to the beneficiary. These benefits, as set forth by the International Activities Committee of the Student Council of Bowdoin College, are:

1. It provides ample opportunity for international understanding through the exchange of ideas with youths from all over the world. Each foreign student is an informal ambassador of his country and has been selected by edu-

Maine Co-Ed Wins Spot On Mademoiselle

Marilyn Wyman '51 has been named a member of the college board of Mademoiselle as the result of her story on the University of Maine's pioneer course in descriptive physics.

Marilyn, who intends to major in pre-law, will do stories on fashions, fads and other activities on the Maine campus of interest to readers of this young woman's magazine.

On the basis of her work, she will be in line for possible selection by the magazine of 20 of the 35 members of the board to go to New York in August and help make up an edition of the publication, with all expenses paid.

In addition to being a reporter on the Maine Campus, Marilyn is secretary of the Canterbury Club and a Phi Mu sorority member.

RC Director To Talk On College Courses

Mrs. Hulda Hubbell, director of the college activities for the North Atlantic area of the American Red Cross, will address the University students, faculty, and student wives who are interested in Red Cross organization and training courses at a meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Louis Oakes Room, Library. Randolph Adams, well-known varsity football player, will preside.

Arrangements for the meeting are being made by the following seven students who have already received certificates in one or more Red Cross courses.

Marvin Adams, Randolph Adams, Ann Dibbles, Roy E. Joyce, Mark Shedd, Caroline Strong, and Rena Thorndyke.

Mrs. Verna Buschena of Orono, president of the Student Wives Club, is also a member of the committee.

Car-Pool Is Successful For Thumbers

The Campus plans to continue its policy, which was started for the Thanksgiving recess, of setting up riders' pools. The plans received wide acclaim after the November holiday, and it should be appreciated at Christmas, too.

Students who plan to drive home for Christmas and who have space for riders who will share expenses may contact the Campus office and leave information regarding the number of seats available, and the ultimate destination of the driver.

The newspaper will publish a partial list of those drivers in the Dec. 9 issue, and a complete list in the issue of Dec. 16.

Those students who are interested in the idea may call at the Campus office at 202 East Annex, or telephone extension 52.

1870 Student Used Pennies As Cartwheels

Two cents was worth a good deal more back in the 1870s, if the expense accounts of student Edmund Abbott, class of 1878, are any indication.

Abbott, whose personal accounting is on display in a show case at the University library, spent his two cents on "Lemons for Daisy."

Some other notations which show how times have changed for the college student were "Stage fare, 25 cents," and "Lamp chimney, 20 cents."

Abbott, who later became a physician and surgeon and practiced in Winterport, and Providence, R. I., reversed the usual procedure of finances in relation to parents, judging by the item, "Lent Mother 11 cents."

The papers, along with other interesting records, were donated to the Library by the family of Dr. Abbott, who died in 1933 at 77 years of age.

ROTC Names 2 Senior Cadets As Outstanding

Colonel Francis R. Fuller, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, has announced the designation of Henry J. Dombkowski and John F. G. Eichorn as distinguished military students for the 1948-1949 academic year.

Under the Army plan of distinguished military students, cadets Dombkowski and Eichorn are eligible to obtain commissions as officers in the Regular Army immediately after graduation. This plan, which was announced by the Department of the Army in June of this year, was established to augment the procurement of Regular Army officer personnel from West Point and the officer candidate schools.

The requirements for an appointment include the possession of outstanding qualities of military leadership, high moral character, definite aptitude for military service, academic distinction, or demonstration of leadership through participation in recognized campus activities. In addition the cadet must stand in the upper third of his advanced ROTC class.

One of its unique features is the provision for designating the qualified students at the beginning of their second year of the advanced course so that they may apply for their Regular Army commissions and be notified of their acceptance by January of the graduation year. In this way the students are made aware of their status with regard to Army careers in advance of graduation.

Civil Service Lists Exams

Philip J. Brockway, University placement director, has announced plans for examinations for Junior Professional Assistants in the U. S. Civil Service.

A general announcement will be made later this month by the Civil Service Commission for an assembled examination for various JPA options. Positions are open in the New England and the Washington, D. C. areas.

In the new England area positions include: bacteriologist, chemist, economist, psychologist, statistician, and textile technologist. In the Washington area: astronomer, bacteriologist, chemist, trade mark examiner, budget assistant, geographer, technical editor, textile technologist, general administrative assistant, and personnel assistant.

The test will be given in January. Those taking it will be notified as to its time and place.

Examinations for JPA positions not involving written tests will be announced at the same time. Positions open are engineer P-1, in options of civil, electrical, mechanical, marine, electronic, and naval architecture; Physicist, P-1, mathematician, P-1, and Metallurgist, P-1.

MCA Drive Falls Short Of 1700 Membership

The MCA membership drive is officially over, and although the final results are not complete, over 1,500 students have signed up.

Theta Chi and Tau Epsilon Phi with 100 percent lead the fraternities. The girl's dormitories, Coburn Hall, the Home Management House, and West Hall have achieved their goals. Dunn Hall and New Dorm #3 with 68 percent and 61 percent respectively lead the men's dormitories.

'Campus' Policies Defended

Several years before the war, perhaps before some of you readers can even remember, there used to be a fad going the rounds featuring the intelligent sayings of Confucius, allegedly an old Chinese philosopher.

Perhaps it was Confucius who said that no man can ever hope to please all the people all the time, but truthfully that sounds more like something P. T. Barnum might say.

Regardless of the source, it's a fact, you just can't please all of the people all of the time. You can, however, please some of them some of the time. That is what the editors of the Maine Campus are trying to do.

Campus Fights Back

There are some people here on campus that we can never please. We realize that, and as a result expect to hear some criticism of our endeavors with the Campus.

It has long been our opinion, however, that one person, doing a lot of talking, can cause more trouble than a lot of people doing just a little talking. To counteract this, it is on occasion necessary to lower the boom on the individual doing the lot of talking. This then, is the lowering of the boom.

According to rumor, better than half the sports staff of the Campus has resigned, unhappy with the goings-on. According to Reggie Hall, what this paper needs, among other things, is a new sports editor. An investigation reveals that, at the time of writing, the only person to resign from any staff within the Campus has been the aforementioned Mr. Hall, a cub reporter on the sports staff, whose efforts, though valiant, were hardly in keeping even with the journalistic standards of this paper.

Another rumor, not yet tracked down, has it that the Campus is not a "student paper." Our mayor, His Honor Richard Huff, is accredited with being one of those asserting this statement.

Still a Student Paper

People in the journalism classes are running the Campus, is one of Mayor Huff's charges. The fact that people taking courses in journalism are generally assumed to be students has nothing to do with the question, of course. They are not students in the sense that the Campus should be a "student paper." Frankly, we can't see the distinction between students in journalism and students in home economics, or business administration, or electrical engineering.

Let's get this straight now. The Maine Campus is under the direction of students. The news is dug up by students, written by students, edited by students. The pages are made up by students, folded by students, and distributed by students. In short, this is a student operated newspaper.

Perhaps our self-appointed critics have a different meaning when they say the Campus isn't a student newspaper. Maybe they mean that Joe Doakes, a junior in animal husbandry, can't walk over from the cow barn, climb the stairs to 202 East Annex and tell the editors that by God there had better be a story about how to propagate the sheep race next week, and then next week see a long story on just that.

Editor Defends Prerogative

A newspaper doesn't run that way. One person has to have the right to say what shall or shall not be printed. What is news or is not news. What he thinks will be interesting to the readers or will not. It is impractical to even suppose that four thousand students could all have that right. What would you have in the paper? Nothing.

Perhaps it might be wise to re-locate the Campus office, this time in 305 Aubert, the big amphitheater. Then students could sit and pass judgment upon all that is printed. But you readers wouldn't like that, and neither would we.

There has been a little trouble within the Campus, admittedly. All misunderstandings have been straightened out, and things are now flowing smoothly and happily. The staff is happy, the editors are happy, this writer is happy. We're just one big happy family.

The paper is run by this writer and his associate editors. As long as this writer's name appears on the masthead of the Campus, the paper is a "student paper."

SCOTCH AND SODA

by Biff Shalek

On December 18, from 7:45 a.m. to 11:45 a.m., approximately 4,661 students will be forced to pay lip service to the regulations of the administration.

In order for the University of Maine students to receive credit for their work they must attend classes a certain number of hours. In order for the University to remain an accredited college, its schedule must contain a certain minimum hour level. This is the reason why there will be classes held Saturday, December 18.

Those are the bald facts. Now let's look at the human side. Practically no one will receive benefit from these classes. Their money for that day will be wasted. Last minute plans for attaining rides, packing grips for a two weeks' stay, last minute shopping plans, the thoughts of bucking heavy holiday traffic (plus the Saturday jam), are definitely not conducive to concentrating on lectures. The lack of an early start means, for many, night driving. Students trying to get in all the daylight driving possible will be prone to speed it up—an uncalculated accident could be the end result.

What does it all mean? For some it will mean missed rides and money spent for Saturday train fare that they cannot afford. It means totally lackluster classes. It means heavy and perhaps reckless driving. And it means the accredited schedule will be served.

PETTICOAT ANGLES

by Marilyn Wyman

The Mind Digest, a psychology magazine, may not appeal to students, other than majors in this field, as interesting literature; but recently an issue carried an article about which Maine students may wish to hear.

Discussing music as an anesthetic, a list of musical compositions suitable for overcoming dental pain includes 'The Stein Song.' The list includes several other songs such as the Toreador Song from Carmen, but the importance of the article for us is the inclusion of the Stein Song.

No longer is The Stein Song merely a call to recognition of our almighty mother, the University of Maine, but now, like Dr. Bennett, has become a milestone in the progress of science.

The Stein Song has been proved to have more power than all the aspirin Dr. Cornell has administered during his reign. Even the effect of Miss Crawford's hypodermic needle to infirmity inmates seems insignificant beside the healing power of the ringing echoes of The Stein Song.

Our duty towards The Stein Song has become twofold. Every student must know and sing our anthem as the symbol of school spirit. In addition, each loyal son and daughter will be capable of rendering great service to humanity in any emergency involving aching molars.

The question now is, will scientific efforts allow the application of the same music to relieving headaches the morning after Homecoming?

Jones Out On Limb Criticizes Baldwin

To the Editor: I think attention, and strong objection, should be pointed to the last appearance of the Kaleidoscope. Hardly kaleidoscopic—look at it from any angle and it's always confused rationalization. I even hesitate to use the word "rationalization." Mr. Jones is way out on the ole limb and I just want to twitch it a bit.

Realism Is Immature

I quote, "Fraternalities are exclusive. So is all of life."

Such sophomoric "realism" belies the past sacrifices made by this nation during 1941-45. Surely this nation didn't say, "Hitler is wrong. So are a lot of other people." The democracies did hesitate a little with that type of reasoning. But they soon saw the light and did something about it—which involved the sacrifice of life and living. To give up the philosophy quoted above "So is all of life" might involve the sacrifice of a little popularity and sleep. I grant that—it would also mean that you couldn't slip into the easy, comfortable complacency where everything is rosy. Is that too much to give?

Race Problem Needs Attention

I quote again, "It is our contention that the race problem here at Maine is slight. That, too, is as it should be."

We at Maine are the potential leaders of this country and the world if we but feel the obligation and realize our worth. If we expect to be leaders, as we should, we must lead by example and inspiration. Is it inspiring to see a man ignore a defect because it is only slight? The college infirmity does better than that. No matter how slight the cut, bruise, or wound, bring it in. Any prejudice is a wound on civilization. No matter how slight, let's treat it.

Realism vs. Idealism

Farther on, the author makes this statement, "True, two wrongs do not make a right. But none of us are gilded."

To me that denotes moral cowardice or mental laziness. Maybe we are not gilded. But let us try. I agree it is necessary to be realistic in this world. But we cannot progress, we cannot see some sort of "peace of mind" ahead without idealism. It seems to me that this world could use a touch of idealism. Meanwhile, let us not employ our realism to make our lives easy and rosy—let us use it to make it better. Realism used wrongly can be as harmful as idealism used unwisely. This harmful type of realism is summed up in the last three words of Mr. Jones' article—"So be it."

I don't claim to be perfect. I still have the defects that my culture, training, and experience have given me. But God grant me power of insight into those defects and the strength to face them honestly. I don't propose an easy solution because I don't have one. But I will not, I hope, slip back into slothful realism.

Bear Facts

BY JERRY ROGOVIN

Rabbit Dombkowski and Jack Zollo were chosen by North team coaches to the squad for the annual blue-grey classic in the South. Both men are senior footballers.

Next Monday more than half of the 50 men who will be tested by the Eastern Maine Central Board as certified basketball officials will be University of Maine students. The examination will be held in the team room of the field house.

It's a terrible thing when fraternity rivalries are allowed to interfere with such honorary functions as the election of captain of the varsity football by the lettermen. The honorary captain is usually the most deserving senior on the squad in the eyes of the lettermen; it doesn't seem fair to vote AGAINST a man instead of for him.

Production-line football has been under constant fire this season by coaches throughout the nation. The unlimited substitution rule, which will probably be altered at the January rules session by football coaches, makes such teams as Notre Dame and Michigan hard to stop. Maine does not have the manpower to consider such a system as Army's, or that of Michigan—two separate teams for defense and offense. But Coach Eck Allen kept a steady stream of players flowing from the bench against Bowdoin. The present rule seems to take the fun out of the game. The coaches take the place of the quarterback and players are reduced to specialists. Some players never play defense, or offense, on some teams.

The varsity basketball team, which opens on the home court Saturday against the Bates Bobcats, has disappointed many spectators in the drill sessions so far. The team looks slow as a unit. Red Norwood and Lowell Osgood, two newcomers, will add speed to the quintet, but on the whole, they lack the speed necessary to their type of attack.

The varsity will exhibit flashy new uniforms in the season's lid-lifter. Navy blue numbers on a pale blue background will brighten up the Orono court in 1948-49.

Jim McBrady, starting center on this season's football eleven until he received a broken leg in the Connecticut game, was chosen to an all-opponents team by Coaches Fred Ellis, Tufts; Frank Eck, University of Massachusetts; and Joe Zabalski, Northeastern.

The Junior Varsity basketball team will not play Colby this year. The Waterville school will have only a freshman outfit in addition to their varsity.

Intramural basketball, now in the third set of games for the three leagues, has produced some fine basketball already. Attendance at the games is usually limited to individual house members and dormitory enthusiasts, but more students are witnessing the contest in the more important fraternity games. The games are worth seeing in many cases. Plenty of good basketball is available gratis.

Christmas Vespers, as important traditionally to the campus holiday spirit as they are, seem to be a bit cheating; why must the sing take the Memorial Gymnasium some Sunday afternoon from those basketball enthusiasts who have no other day on which they can get out. Isn't the women's gym suitable for the purpose?

Hockey Interest Receives Boost

Professor Stanley Wallace of the Men's Physical Education department said that interest in intramural hockey has apparently grown since the first notice of a new season in the Campus two weeks ago. December 10 is the deadline for signing up. More than 35 men had registered their willingness to play in the proposed games. The contests will be run in round-robin style.

The skating rink for hockey and general use will be set up before Christmas vacation.

Women's Sports

The dormitory basketball tournament begins Friday on the regulation court.

Winter Sports Goes Big Time

The Maine winter sports program for 1948-49 indicates that Coach Ted Curtis's ski team will have plenty of action prior to the important meets. In addition to the regular state meet, another four-team competition will be held at Orono before the Series.

The varsity will compete in the Intercollegiate Ski Union meets this season.

Jayvees Start With Subs

Sam Sezak reported that the bottom half of the 30 men now with the varsity will compose the J.V. basketball squad. It is not definite which men will be used as J.V. material, but Sezak said that those who probably will see action against Ricker, December 4 are: Victor Woodbrey, Charlie Small, John Royal, Ralph Jewett, Harold Higgins, John Barnard, John Leet, and Larry Mahaney.

Coach Sezak said that the freshman squad has not been fully developed yet, and a schedule has not been formed. The frosh are playing intramural games, however.

Those men who have shown well on the frosh squad are: Parady, Martin, Oullette, and Trenholm of Old Town; Homans and Smith of Bangor; Mahaney of John Baptist; and Leathers of Guilford.

Allen-less Five Opens Here With Bobcats

The University of Maine Black Bears will be out to defend their 1947-48 state series basketball crown Saturday evening when they entertain the Bates Bobcats in Memorial Gym. It will be the opening game of the season for the Pale Blue who are playing without the services of their head coach.

Acting head coach Sam Sezak has had the varsity squad working hard this week in preparation for the opener, but as yet declined to name any starting team.

With only two starters from last year's championship quintet Sezak has had to find men to fill the shoes of Ted Boynton, George O'Donnell, Bob Gates, and Danny Danforth. Boynton, a three time All-Mainer, was the play maker on last year's starting five.

Returning as almost sure starters are Charlie Goddard and Al Hopkins. Goddard will probably be at center while Hopkins will be at his old guard position. Another letterman who has looked good in practice and will undoubtedly start is Hank Peasley.

The remaining two starters will be chosen by Sezak and his two aides, Rankin and Kenyon, from the other 13 men who are competing for starting berths. Likely candidates include Buzz Feeney, Jerry Begert, Lowell Osgood, Fran McCormack, Jim O'Toole, Paul Lynch, and "Red" Norwood.

The 1948 deer kill, which was announced this week, exceeds the record total of more than 37,000 set in 1946. It does not, however, measure up to expectations. State officials considered 45,000 the probable figure. The final count of hunters showed 18 deaths in the season.

Coach Ed Petro of Bates has already named his starting five. Leading the Bobcats are two of the highest scoring forwards in the state last season, Bill Simpson and "Ace" Bailey. Maine fans will remember Simpson and his fiery outbursts that have highlighted Maine-Bates games for the last two years.

Bangor's Bob Carpenter will start at the pivot post for Petro. Although only a sophomore and without much experience in college ball, Carpenter was chosen All-Maine while playing for Bangor High.

Among the three candidates for the guard positions is "Slim" Somerville who starred on the unbeaten 1946-47 Brunswick Annex quintet. Either veteran Dick Scott of football fame or Bob Strong will work with Somerville at the other guard.

The Maine Jayvees will face Ted Boynton's Ricker quintet in the preliminary game which will get underway about 6:30. The

Art Lovers Given Opportunity To Purchase Works On Exhibit

By JOHN CONNERS

The present exhibits of prints in Carnegie Hall, and the Louis Oakes Room of the Library were especially chosen for their suitability as Christmas presents, according to Professor Vincent A. Hartgen.

Unlike a great deal of the cheap and shoddy gifts exchanged during the Yule season, these lithographs, etchings, and woodcuts are enduring in value and everlasting in appeal, he asserted.

Forty etchings by John Taylor Arms are presented in the Art Gallery. Arms is one of the most distinguished of American print makers, having received the highest awards in this country and in Europe. He is especially known for his cathedral studies and the minute detail of his workmanship.

Honore Daumier, great French satirist of the 18th Century, is represented by 30 original lithographs in the Print and Lecture Room of Carnegie Hall. These prints place a shrewd and discerning finger on the frailties and foibles of Parisian life of more than 100 years ago. The 30 shown actually appeared as full page illustrations in French journals of the last century.

A native Maine artist, Carroll T. Berry of Rockport, has forty black and white woodcuts in the Louis Oakes Room of the Library. His prints capture the rough and rugged character of the Maine coast as few other block prints do. Most of his studies are of Rockport and vicinity and are of weatherbeaten hulks, trim schooners, and the ocean-pounded shoreline.

Any of these prints may be purchased at very reasonable rates, according to Hartgen. Artists or dealers usually show their appreciation by presenting the University with prints or reproductions to be added to the permanent collection.

YOUR TELEPHONE must take hard knocks as they come—and go on working.

To make sure it can, we test samples of each day's production and put telephones through the equivalent of years of service in a few hours or days. For example: we drop handsets into their cradles 22,000 times—equal to 4 years' normal use. And not just once, but from 16 different positions, we drop sample telephones from desk-top height onto a hardwood surface. We even check their feet to be certain they won't scratch your table.

Here at Western Electric, we've been making Bell telephones since 1882. But telephones themselves are only about 6% of the equipment used in your service. The other 94% includes wire, cable, switchboards, trucks, poles, tools, office equipment. With the exception of buildings, we make or supply almost everything Bell telephone people use—and test it with utmost care.

Guarding the quality of things used in your Bell telephone service is one way that Western Electric helps to make it the world's best.

Holiday Greetings from Petecarr! It's a little late to wish you all a filling Thanksgiving din-din, but is it our fault that there wasn't any Campus last week? ... Now for news while it was news. On the week end of November 19-20—House-parties:

Phi Kappa Sigma held its annual semi-formal Monte Carlo Party, Friday, Nov. 19. About fifty couples arrived at the house to find the uniformed doorman, Dick Bleakney, waiting to usher them into the hands of Dave Anderton, the suave front man. After acquiring their stack of bogus money from Paul "Cash-drawer" Turner, the cashier, they were ushered into the gambling room, where many devices for taking their money were arranged. A crap table, poker, black jack, a roulette wheel, a horse racing game, and a bird cage allowed the gamblers plenty of diversified activity.

Having decided that there is nothing new to say about formal dances ... we tell you ...

Lambda Chi Alpha had a formal Friday night with Ray Downs and his orchestra providing the music. Saturday morning despite ghastly weather conditions, Lambdas and their dates took off for the Camden Sno Bowl. There wasn't any snow but June Smith and Lee Porter went tobogganing anyway! Ah yes ... Splinter-seat Smith, we call her.

Ugh! Braves and squaws make heap big whoopee at Phi Eta tepee Friday evening last. Zowie! The costumes really got into the spirit of the thing. A real honest-to-goodness snake dance was led by Chief Bluebird (as in Happiness) and Princess Wabuhum of Old Town who were all decked out in Injun head-dresses and beaded costumes.

Clever thing, that mural created by Bud Crimp and Barb Bickford for Sigma Chi's formal dance. Dance music was provided by the Pandas while the downstairs concessions were handled by Ray Chittick. An Indian "raid" from next door added zest to the evening and prompted a retaliating visit before the Sweetheart Song ended the evening.

Tau Epsilon Phi's houseparties started out with a formal din din! About fifty couples enjoyed the bountiful feast after which the Collegians played for the formal dance. Saturday night's festivities broke out in full bloom to the music of Charlie Leach and his "group." A barn dance! and what a rowdy-dow time was had by all!! Jerry Rogovin tried to kiss all the girls ... guess he succeeded too—cuz where else could he have received all that stiplick all over his lil' pink face?

Sigma Phi Epsilon held a post-football vic dance in South Estabrooke basement last Saturday nite.

Phi Gamma Delta played host to 70 couples at a semi-formal dance Friday evening. Music was by Bob Wood and his orchestra. Thanksgiving was the theme of the decorations, with a hint of Christmas in the spruce boughs. Small steins (estimated by Dick Buck to hold about two shots) were presented to the girls.

Incidentally, the wives on campus are organizing! The newest chapter of the Wives Club was instituted at Phi Eta Kappa last week. Mary Sawyer was elected permanent chairman of the club.

Loads of University people gathered at the Chestnut St. Church in Portland Saturday where June Swanton and Evan Johnson were married. A dinner party was held at the Swanton home Friday evening for the wedding party, which included Jan Seales, Bill Bodwell, John Folsom, Bruce Folsom, William A. Newdick and Bill Cummings, all of the University.

Pin Points
Margaret Henderson, Augusta, to Leon Brown, Phi Gam.

Holly McCuin, Danforth, to John Parker, Phi Gam.

Lorraine Littlefield to Lewis Wyman, Lambda Chi Alpha.

Anna Briggs to David Pierce, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

And last summer's pinning:
Louise Kulas to Chuck Preble, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Glasgow University Alumna Says No One Flunks Exams

By MARILYN WYMAN

"College is a serious business in Scotland," according to Mrs. Roger Nelson who is employed in the statistics department of Winslow Hall.

The wife of veteran Roger Nelson, an electrical engineering student, Mrs. Nelson attended Glasgow University where she majored in statistics.

After visiting several classes and listening to the talk of students in the South Apartments, where she now lives, Mrs. Nelson concludes that the college system at Maine allows many more laughs and is far less strict than the college life she knew at Glasgow.

Mrs. Nelson said that college years at Scottish universities depend entirely upon ability with no defined length of time to be spent on preparation for a diploma. Most of the subjects we know as "required" in our freshman and sophomore years are taken care of in the last two years of high school in Scotland.

A student entering a university there may begin majoring in his first year, because all language, science, and psychology requirements have been fulfilled in secondary schools. For this reason, Mrs. Nelson pointed out, there are no class divisions at Scottish universities.

The marking system, which Mrs. Nelson considers "much fairer" than ours is based entirely upon ability rather than upon competitive marks as we know them. No one flunks an exam—the student knows the material, or he doesn't. There are grades of excellent, very good, good, fairly good, fair, and poor, based upon how much is known about the subject.

Mrs. Nelson explained that there are elective courses given, but added that most students concentrate upon their major courses in order to complete their college careers in the shortest possible time.

Visiting lecturers address only classes studying their specific topics, and occasional talks are given in the evening for which admission is charged.

To further emphasize the seriousness of classes, Mrs. Nelson declared that four absences from class, regardless of the reason, necessitates taking an examination for continuance in the class. Long absences, such as those caused by illness, mean taking a special make-up course during spare periods.

Commenting upon extracurricular activities, Mrs. Nelson explained that such activities do not exist at Glasgow. Although there are no physical education requirements, the Scots enjoy a great many sports such as hockey, cricket, basketball, swimming, tennis, and gymnastics.

—Newhall Photo
MRS. ROGER NELSON

Glasgow does not have a school paper, so all announcements are made via the bulletin board. There is a University Choir and orchestra, and plays are presented during the school year by drama and Shakespeare students.

Although fraternities and sororities are non-existent at Glasgow, Mrs. Nelson believes that they would be a welcomed addition.

Mrs. Nelson said that the year's expenses at Glasgow are 398 pounds, or about $1592, and the only holidays are Armistice Day, Easter, and a recess from Christmas Eve to New Year's Day.

Student Wives Announce Christmas Party Plans

The Student Wives' Christmas party committee, headed by Mrs. Marion Lawnsbury, announced plans for the party to be held in the Women's Gym December 16 from 2:30 to 4 p.m. at the club's last meeting.

The Student Wives have issued an invitation to all faculty members and students to bring their children to see Santa and share in the refreshments and gifts.

Tentative arrangements were made to start a day nursery in the South Apartments.

Campus Reporter Conducts Survey On "Lack Of Spirit"

By SIMON SNLAR

This week the Campus asked the following questions from members of the student body, picked at random:

"What do you think is the cause for the lack of a close-knit spirit on campus?"

Franklyn Dufour '49, Phi Mu Delta—
"I think that the major cause for lack of spirit is that the students lack an active voice in determining school policies."

Melvin S. Lavine '50, Corbett Hall—
"I think Maine will return to its pre-war days just as soon as it graduates its large veteran body. For better or worse, Maine, like most U. S. colleges, is wedded to the rah-rah spirit."

Lawrence Ouelette '50, Hannibal Hamlin—

"I believe it is a three-in-one affair with poor cooperation between the Alumni, student-body, and faculty."

C. Stinson '49, North Dorms—
"Being a State University with many students with different interests accounts, I think, for much of the difference between, say, the spirit of this college and that of Bates."

W. J. Barron '49, North Dorms—
"Lack of a coordinated school social program."

Bea Young '49, So. Estabrooke—

"There is too great a discrepancy in the ages of the veterans and other students."

Jean Brewer '50, Balentine—

"The student body is so large that it is almost impossible for people to get to know each other. Maybe this could be helped by having more get-togethers such as the faculty parties."

R. S. Ingraham '49, Phi Gamma Delta—

"The student body is too large for the social facilities that exist."

Xi Sigma Initiates Four

Four new members, Philip Archibald, Robert Buck, Robert Clawson, and Ralph McCurdy, were initiated into Xi Sigma Pi, forestry national honor society, at informal initiation ceremonies Thursday, Nov. 18.

Forester Fred Knight presided at the initiation. He was assisted by Charles Horner, Secretary-Fiscal Agent, at the business meeting which followed.

Formal initiation will be held at the Penobscot Valley Country Club, Dec. 7.

MOC Sponsors First Aid-Ski Patrol Course

The Maine Outing Club is sponsoring a Red Cross first aid and ski patrol course, under the leadership of a Red Cross instructor. The course is open to faculty and students who may sign up at tonight's 6:45 meeting in 11 Co-burn Hall. Handbooks will be issued.

The MOC warmup cabin at the skating rink is nearing completion, according to club president John Stimpson. Week-end crews will start work at 9 a.m. Saturday and Sunday. He has issued a call for volunteers to complete construction by the start of the skating season.

cational boards in his own country on the basis of character, intellectual capacity, seriousness of purpose, maturity, qualities of leadership, and other favorable personal attributes.

2. The sponsoring groups have the opportunity of gaining added publicity and prestige by participation in the project. The Plan, as in operation at Bowdoin, has received very favorable comment from Dr. Edgar Fisher, Assistant Director of the Institute of International Education, the National Student Association, and many Maine newspapers.

3. A feeling of unity may be built up within the group.

At Bowdoin, the sponsoring groups are the fraternities who are providing board and lodging for six foreign students. However, the plan emphasizes that the group does not necessarily need to be within this category.

Applications for support of a foreign student at Maine should be turned into the General Student Senate.

Dunn Hall was named in honor of Charles John Dunn, formerly chief justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine and treasurer of the University from 1909 to 1923.

Canterburians Will Hold "Meet And Dine"

All students of the Episcopal faith are invited to a supper meeting of the Canterbury Club Sunday, December 5, at 6 p.m. in the upstairs lounge of the MCA.

At the last meeting of the group, Marilyn Wyman and Richard Edes were designated to represent the Canterbury Club at the Churchmanship Conference in Boston December 3-5.

The group also heard the final reports on the Friendship and Marriage series. Ray Gross, social chairman, will have charge of the meeting programs.

Physics Club Has Exhibit In Aubert

The Physics Club, in accordance with its policy of presenting a basic understanding of physics to the general public, is maintaining an exhibition window on the first floor of South Aubert. Plans are also being made to hold an open house program.

Plans for the affiliation of the Physics Club with Sigma Pi Sigma are taking shape.

A complete progress report will be given at the next meeting on Dec. 7.

Vacation Alterations Brighten Campus Look

J. Carroll Dempsey, superintendent of buildings and grounds, has announced that the new eight-inch steam main between Carnegie Hall and the President's House was completed during Thanksgiving recess and is now in use.

He also announced that, because of a delay in obtaining equipment from the Westinghouse Electric Company, temporary wooden street lamps have been constructed and installed at the northern end of the campus, between Dunn and Corbett Halls.

Masque Sets Wednesday For 'Winslow Boy' Debut

"The Winslow Boy," a three act drama by Terence Rattigan, will open for a four day run Wednesday evening at the Little Theatre as the second Maine Masque Theatre production of the season.

Co-starring Bob Arnold and Barbara Stewart as Arthur and Catherine Winslow, a father and his daughter who fight the British admiralty and the British government in an effort to clear the son and brother of theft charges.

Ann Cutts portrays flighty Mrs. Winslow, while Wendell Hodgkins enacts the part of the Winslow boy.

The play, most successful on London and New York stages, is the adaptation of an actual court case. Paul Payson plays the part of the defense attorney.

Others in the cast are Dwight Frye, Harlan Witham, Al Dumais, Beatrice Towne, Marion Keith, and George Sherman.

"The Winslow Boy" will be presented Wednesday through Saturday, Dec. 8, 9, 10, 11 at 8:15 p.m. in the Little Theatre. Tickets for the production are available at 330 Stevens Hall and at the door.

Hillel Group Sees Movie

The members of the Hillel Foundation were shown movies on Palestine.

The next meeting will be Sunday evening at 7 p.m. in Carnegie lounge.

Sheldon Sokol, social chairman for the group announces that plans for the Dec. 12 party with the Colby chapter are nearly complete.

Debates Tonight End First Round Of Council Tourney

The first round of the Maine Debating Council's intramural tournament will be completed tonight, with five debates scheduled for 7 and 8 p.m. in South Stevens Hall.

Each of the nine teams entered in the tourney have debated twice so far. After each team has debated four times, the remainder of the tourney will be conducted on an elimination basis.

Prizes will be awarded the winners. Council members will be judges.

Varsity Debate Team Scores Even Split

Maine varsity debaters travelled to the University of Vermont Invitation Debate Tournament Nov. 19-20 and came away with a record of eight victories and eight defeats.

Debating coach, Wofford G. Gardner, who accompanied the four Maine teams on the trip, considered this a good showing for a first tournament.

Maine defeated Rensselaer, Springfield, Navy, American International, Bowdoin, Vermont, Amherst, and Suffolk.

On the other side of the ledger, Maine lost to Magill, Hamilton, St. Michael's, Dartmouth, Army, Wesleyan, Syracuse, and Colby.

One of Maine's affirmative teams, made up of Robert Moran and Francis Bean, was among ten undefeated teams in the tournament.

The other three teams from the University were: George Brountas and Donald Warren, affirmative; Margaret Mollison and George Vardamis, negative; and Ramona McLaughlin and Doris Vollmer, negative.

Hess At Boston Meeting

Mr. Russell Hess of the History and Government Department attended the National Conference on Government recently sponsored by the National Municipal League in Boston. He observed the panel discussions on the Council-Manager form of government, the Patch Work of Local Government, and the Financing of Local Government.
