Yule Vespers Recorded and Broadcast

Maine Glee Club, Orchestra Featured

The annual University Christmas Vespers, held last Sunday in the Memorial Gymnasium, was recorded, and broadcast Sunday at 6:30 p.m. over Station WGUY with a running descriptive commentary by Cliff Reynolds.

The program, which was opened to the general public, featured the University Glee Club of 105 voices under the direction of James Selwood, and the Symphony Orchestra, directed by Stanley A. Cayting.

The program opened with several Carols played by a brass ensemble and was followed by a candle-light procession which was received with enthusiasm.

The Glee Club entered the auditorium from the main lobby carrying lighted candles and singing "O Come, All Ye Faithful" as they filed past the Orchestra to their seats at the end of the Gymnasium.

The Orchestra's first number was "Evening Prayer" by Humperdinck and was followed by "The Prophecy from Isaiah," which was read by John W. Bodey, a student from Bristol, England. The Glee Club then sang the loud and majestic "Great and Glorious" by Haydn.

Mr. Bodey read "The Story of Christmas," and the chorus sang four short carols.

Another number was played by the Orchestra which then joined the Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. Lewis Niven, to present the "Hallelujah" from the Mount of Olives.

The congregation joined the two groups to sing two Carols, and the program closed with the Glee Club singing "Silent Night" to the hushed spectators in a semi-darkened auditorium. This was the most impressive part of the service.

Bookstore Tree Gets New Look

More than 300 colored light bulbs, considerable derring-do and an idea conceived by members of the Forestry Club have been combined to provide the largest Christmas tree...well, in Maine, anyway.

Inaugurating what they hope will be an annual event on the Maine campus, the foresters decorated the tall spruce near the bookstore last weekend.

In fact, several students have been seen first looking at the tree from a distance, then walking to its base to see if it were moved there for the express purpose of providing an appropriate place to hang lights come Christmastime.

A committee composed of Leo Lamond, Dwight Smith, and Richard Sawyer planned the project and were assisted in the actual work by Phil Gardner, Steve Orach, Harold Whitney, Jean P. Loranger, Donald Larabee, Darryl Beisel, Richard Arsenault, and Gifford Merchant.

Two Maine Fraternities Adopt Bowdoin Plan; One Year Trial Basis

Phi Mu Delta and Sigma Nu To Accept
Students Seeking American Education

Phi Mu Delta and Sigma Nu fraternities have each voted to accept a foreign student under the Bowdoin Plan for one year, on a trial basis.

FINANCIAL AID

The Bowdoin Plan was first brought up at a General Senate meeting. The plan consists of securing financial means to aid foreign students to study in the United States.

The University Board of Trustees has consented to furnish tuition and fees for ten foreign scholarships provided a sufficient number of organizations will pay the cost of the students' room and board.

The Bowdoin Plan was brought up at an Interfraternity Council meeting last Wednesday, by president Sproul. Some houses have not yet considered the question at their regular meetings.

PLAN JOINT MOVE

Several houses are planning to accept the responsibility jointly. One fraternity has voted to give financial assistance to its residents when they need it.

Members of Sigma Nu and Phi Mu Delta fraternities have decided to make their houses, not merely a dormitory, but a home for these students while they are on campus. They will have all house privileges enjoyed by regular members and pledges, with the prospects of becoming members.

VA Warns GI's Not To Break Subsistence

Veterans enrolled in colleges under the GI Bill may not elect to have their subsistence allowances interrupted—in order to conserve entitlement for additional instruction—until they reach the end of a period of enrollment certified by the college, the Veterans Administration announced this week.

The period ordinarily is a school year. However, it may be a quarter, or semester, if the veteran does not expect to attend school for a longer period.

Interruptions of training may not be recognized between quarters or semesters which are included in his period of certified enrollment, nor for holidays occurring within terms or semesters.

In cases where veterans do not wish to draw subsistence allowances beyond the certified periods of enrollment, they must notify the VA at least 30 days before the end of such periods.

Unless they inform the VA in advance, they will be granted up to 15 days leave automatically and paid full subsistence during that time.

The normal leave policy assures unbroken subsistence payments to all veteran-students.

Under the plan, a veteran receives payment for the full enrollment period certified to VA by the college he attends, providing there are no more than 15 days between terms.

Former Mayor Commissioned

Robert W. Merchant, Camden, a graduate of the University in the class of 1948, has received a commission as second lieutenant in the U. S. Army, the R.O.T.C.

He was one of a small number in a class of several hundred candidates to be accepted by the Army.

Merchant, a member of Delta Tau Delta, was campus mayor, 1947 and '48. He majored in Chemical Engineering and received a B.S. Degree last June.

He entered the University in 1941 and joined the armed forces in 1943. While in the service he attended Alabama Polytechnical Institute under the A.S.T.P., returning to Maine in 1946.

A second lieutenant in the advanced R.O.T.C. and O.R.C., he was a Distinguished Military Graduate at commencement last spring.

Merchant is now attending military school at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Dr. Whitney, Class Of '41, Finds Campus Changed On Return As Head Of University Health Service

After waiting some time for Doctor Whitney to dispense with a stream of patients who had climbed the stairs to the clinic, we were able to have a few words with the man who has been appointed director of the University health service to fill the position left vacant by Dr. Cornell's resignation.

The University is by no means unfamiliar ground to Dr. Byron V. Whitney. As a member of the class of 1941, Dr. Whitney lived and studied on the pre-war campus of the University.

Several of the doctor's remarks concerned the expansion of the facilities of the University since his undergraduate days.

Stating that he had had a couple of occasions to call upon the University Health Service during his college days, Dr. Whitney feels that the clinic and infirmary are far better equipped than before.

As a student, Dr. Whitney was active in such campus organizations as Der Deutsche Verein and the Maine Masque. He was also a member of Phi Mu Delta fraternity.

After graduating from Tufts medical school in 1941 and serving his internship at Boston City Hospital, Dr. Whitney became a U. S. Naval physician. He joined the staff at St. Albans Naval Hospital, Long Island, and later served on the U. S. S. Vincennes in the Pacific area.

Dr. Whitney's duties are not confined to U. of M. campus alone. In addition to his services at the University and his practice in Bangor, he holds a clinic every Sunday at Winn, at Maine, a town which has no resident doctors.

Maine Entertains Colby Hillel Group At Chanukah Party

The members of the Maine Hillel Foundation entertained students from the Colby group at their chanukah party in Bangor last Sunday. The Colby Hillel members joined the Maine students for an afternoon of dancing and games.

The ladies of the Bangor B'nai B'rith prepared and served supper for the group. Sheldon Sokol was in charge of the entertainment for the afternoon while Elizabeth Zaitlin and Hilda Livingston were responsible for the decorations and identification tags. The party was well attended by members of both the Colby and Maine groups. Plans were made for more joint meetings.

Elaine Lockhart Commissioned Honorary Lieutenant Colonel

Elaine Lockhart, a junior from Belmont, Mass., was commissioned Honorary Lieutenant Colonel of the ROTC cadet corps at the annual Military Ball last Friday night.

Miss Lockhart was elected by popular vote from a field of five co-eds and will reign over the cadet corps for the coming year. Colonel Francis R. Fuller made the presentation in the presence of Muriel Applebee, last year's Honorary Lieutenant Colonel.

The dance was a success, as approximately 200 couples enjoyed the music. Chaperons for the Ball were Col. and Mrs. Chester Glassen, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crossland. The reception committee consisted of Colonel and Mrs. Francis Fuller, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doten.

New Secretary For Press Club

Marilyn Wyman, a member of the Campus staff, was elected secretary, completing a slate which includes Joseph Cobb, president; Clifton Whitten, vice president; Kenneth Zwicker, treasurer, and James Beaudry, social chairman.

Members discussed the possibilities of re-activating the chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalistic fraternity.

Preliminary plans were made for a Press Club luncheon to coincide with a meeting of the Maine Press Association to be held at the University.

Membership in the Press Club is open to all students in the department of journalism and to others who have a definite interest or actively participate in some form of newspaper work.

Professor Wayne Jordan is the group's advisor.

Courses Given New System Of Numbers

A new system of numbering courses will go into effect with the Summer Session Bulletin of 1949.

At present the system has the following range of numbers:

a. Courses for Undergraduates only, 1-50.

b. Upperclassmen and Graduates, 51-100.

c. Graduates, 101 and above.

The new system states that courses for undergraduates be numbered 1-99 and courses primarily for graduates 200 and above.

Thus, if a student, with approval of the graduate faculty, takes a course numbered under 100 for graduate credit he shall register for the course by adding 100 to the catalog number. (Eh 75 becomes Eh 175).

Number 99 will be used for an undergraduate thesis and 299 for a graduate thesis.

Full courses will be given an odd number for fall courses and an even number for spring semester. (Eh 1 and Eh 2)

For a course given both fall and spring one number will be used. (AS 10)

For a course given once during the year, an odd number shall be used for the fall semester and an even one for the spring. (Eh 41 Fall)

The Spirit Of Give And Take

It's hardly necessary to mention the fact that in a couple of days we will be starting a Christmas vacation which lasts until the fourth of January. However, it is a matter of custom to have a Christmas editorial in the final issue before the vacation period, and who are we to break with tradition.

Unfortunately, we're not too deeply instilled with the Christmas spirit at the present time, classes having treated us rather harshly and left us battered and worn out. But, that's what vacations are for, and perhaps all of us will be filled with renewed vigor, vitality, etc., upon our return to Maine.

This is all beside the point, however. Christmas is supposed to be a time of giving and receiving, with everyone expected to get just as much, if not more, out of the giving and of the deal.

That's a difficult thing to do, we suppose. There are many people in the world who get no pleasure out of giving—who would much rather have everything given to them. But we hope and believe that the students here on the campus of the University of Maine don't have that attitude.

This "giving" business could tie in very nicely with the column Marilyn Wyman has written on Christmas spirit, and it could tie in very nicely in all of our actions all year long. None of us are perfect, none are without faults. Perhaps one of the best Christmas presents we could give to anyone would be the self realization of that.

Christmas time is also close to the time we make our New Year's resolutions. Usually, these resolutions we make—I shan't drink except on weekends, I'll cut down on cigarettes, I'll stop beating my wife, etc., etc., are made to be broken. But how about making a couple with the intention of having them stick all year long.

How about resolving that we will try to more fully understand the other fellow's problems before giving him a kick in the stomach? Why not resolve that we'll try to find the good side of everyone before we condemn his bad side?

There are darn few of us that wouldn't profit immensely if we all make these two resolutions, and really try to keep them.

Now, with our happy thought for the week out of the way, the staff of the Maine Campus wishes to every one of you a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year. And if we work together hard enough and long enough, who knows, we might have just that.

* * * * *

Getting out a newspaper is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly. If we don't, they say we are too serious. If we stick to the office all day, we ought to be out hunting material. If we go out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office. If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate genius; and if we do print them the paper is filled with junk!

If we edit the other fellow's write-up, we're too critical; if we don't we're asleep. If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves. If we don't we are stuck on our own stuff.

Now, like as not some guy will say we swiped this from some newspaper. We did.

From the Miami Hurricane, who swiped it from the U. of Houston Cougar, who swiped it from the Daily Texan, who swiped it from the SMU Campus, who swiped it from the Texas A & M Battalion, who swiped it from someone else.

SCOTCH AND SODA

by Biff Shalek

How are your ideals this morning? At the beginning of the semester I wrote a little piece about the teaching methods practiced here and elsewhere. I didn't like the idea of graduating as a robot, a mimeograph machine, or an up-and-coming go-getter with a cash register for a brain and a tax exemption blank for a heart.

I'd been called idealistically unbalanced for suggesting that perhaps this world would be better if men did services for their fellowman and were paid rather than being paid for their services. I say again that any system that stresses monetary gain instead of service to one's neighbor, is wrong.

I have been accused of becoming too serious in this column. I've been told the student body likes jokes, and jokes, and more jokes.

Fortunately that is not true. I've received many fine letters both pro and con, showing that this Campus is composed of much more than jokers.

Actually this method of education is an individual one. A liaison between professor and student each giving and receiving. In these times of mass education when a BA degree is equal to the high school diploma of yesterday, it is not a step to a higher paycheck, but rather an opportunity to do a better job of the same work you've been doing.

Speaking specifically to my fellow A & S students, because of our purely mechanistic endeavor wherein we have tried to compete with our brother Technology on his own ground, we have fallen miserably behind, and now unjustly accuse him of cursing us with an Atomic bomb which we are unprepared for.

PETTICOAT ANGLES

by Marilyn Wyman

The spirit of Christmas has gradually pervaded the University of Maine campus. With the Forestry Club's lighted tree outside the Bookstore, last Sunday's Christmas vespers, the last-minute prelims before vacation, everyone buying gifts and humming Christmas carols—the campus in general has been caught up in the Yuletide season and spirit.

The age-old phrase "Peace on earth, good will to men" is being repeated again in carols and greetings as has been the tradition of ages.

How sad it is that "peace on earth, good will to men" has been set aside specifically for the holidays. How much better it would be if everyone of us would remember that "good will" would go a long way any day of the 365.

Even here on campus, the benefits of good will could be collected with interest. If we stopped to think of "peace on earth, good will to men," we might reconsider before we began a tirade of criticism against the institutions and customs of our alma mater. Love and/or pride in our school makes each and everyone of us desire improvements; yet, too many of us wound our school with destructive criticism. Some of us seem to find no alternative but to tear down every side of the University with no provisions for rebuilding. Every day or so some student complains "Can't the Campus staff put out a paper that is any good?" Yet, if asked what he thinks the policy should be, the answer is, "I'm not on the staff. Let those who are decide how to put out the paper."

Such criticism is not confined to journalism alone; the Bookstore, the Administration, the ranking system, the library rules—all come into the picture.

As we enjoy this holiday season, with its peace and good will, let us try to conserve some of the spirit to lead us through the next term. Let good will be your will.

Thots In Passing

Christmas Thrift

The Scotchman who went out doors on Christmas eve fired two shots out of a double-barreled shotgun and then came in and told his kids that Santa had committed suicide.

A Pome

'Twas the nite before Christmas when all thru the house
Not a creature was stirring
Everybody was soused
The stockings were hung by the window with care
They'd been worn since July and they needed the air.

I hung my stocking up on Christmas eve and the Board of Health condemned them. He's lovely, he's engaged, he uses air wick.

Decorations

Someone sed that when they passed our house they thot that our tree was beautifully lit up. They were wrong, that was me.

My Landlady

I had a notice from her the other day to cut my toenails I was tearing the sheets. Disarmament begins at home.

She is a good woman tho and changes the sheets every week. From one bed to another.

I have a room with a lovely view. On a clear day I can see the light bulb, running water—thru the roof. Hot and cold running chambermaids.

Recipe for Cooking a Goose at Christmas

Place goose in the pan and along side of the goose put a large stone. Cook goose until the stone is tender. Then throw goose away and then eat the stone. I had a recipe for a pumpkin dish but I am afraid that you might not like it. You might even hiss at it.

One I Picked Up at Alpha Gamma Rho

All the Rams were out banging their heads into cement walls because they all heard Sinatra singing "There'll never be another ewe." Or as the ram sed as he dove off the cliff, "I didn't see that ewe turn."

Well, kids, have a good vacation. Nothing to do but six term papers, four book reports, and one or two specially assigned problems. Outside of that your time is your own.

New Year's Eve

An ATO man told me that on New Year's eve all he was going to do was drink Canada dry. A mighty big job and I hope he can do it.

For The Military Ball

"This is a little thing that I threw on for the dance," sed she.
"You almost missed," sed he.

Dietitian: No seconds on fishcakes until 12:50 as we may not have enough.

Student: Why don't you cook enough to go around?

Dietitian: We made enough for two fishcakes per person, the total representing the number of students who ate dinner here last night.

Student: Do you call two fishcakes a meal? Why not have potatoes with the meal also?

Dietitian: Potatoes are mixed with the fishcakes.

Student: Do you think that two fishcakes are enough to last a fellow until dinner?

Dietitian: No comment.

Student: I wonder who is making all the money around here.

No BeBop-But Corn Cat Complains

To the Editor: The Military Ball last Friday night was a success from the viewpoint of some of the dancers.

Freddie Guerra's group of Glenn Miller-styled musicians played exactly the type of music that most people expect to hear at a formal party. They played soft, sweet, dance music. Everyone who went only to dance was pleased; however, anyone who wanted to mix his dancing with hearing a little good jazz or bop was greatly disappointed.

There was absolutely nothing on the bandstand (including Colby Dean) to arouse the least bit of interest in the customers.

Prefers Donahue's Style

The party was very different from the one two years ago featuring Sam Donahue and his great band. That Military Ball was the perfect one; the dancers were happy because the music was very danceable, and the cats were knocked-out because there were many kicks in the band. A band like Sam's is the kind that makes a dance.

Not Worth the Price

Knowing that $900 was paid to Freddie Guerra's crew is nauseating to me. Imagine that a band like Donahue's came up here for $800 two years ago! Of course, prices have gone up, but I bet it wouldn't take much more than $900 to hire a band such as Sam's.

Knowing that Guerra's band is not an organized outfit is disturbing also. When a guy can go get a job for $900 and then go pick up some musicians from around Boston just to come up here for about $25 apiece, something is wrong.

Break Promises

No pick-up band is worth $900. Especially when that band promises to have 14 men plus a vocalist, and it shows up with only 12 men and a vocalist (?) Or when that band promises to have a floor show, and when intermission comes, nothing happens. Or when that band promises to have a renowned vocalist (who is Colby Dean?), and it shows up with something we don't see around here often (thank heavens!).

If organizations on campus are going to spend such large amounts of money for music, why don't they get something worthwhile?

Bear Facts

By JERRY ROGOVIN

Last week's Colby game, which marked Maine's first basketball defeat of the season, was a disappointment to many fans who journeyed down to Waterville. The score and the general play of the team was a disappointment, but the work of arbiters Charley Wotton and Sam McCall left plenty to be desired. Both men, who will probably be seen on the Orono court this home season, are old-timers, yet they called fouls and offside, traveling violations and double-dribbles like two blind men.

Saturday night's cold wave furnished the University skating rink with two inches of ice, and Sunday skaters and hockey enthusiasts report that the ice was in good shape.

Bates whipped Colby in overtime, 66-60, Saturday, to take the State Series lead after the first round. From what we've seen of Maine's first two opponents, they ought to provide most of the fireworks in the state action. Bates has a good starting five, and the best player in Maine in Bill Simpson, with only Somerville and Strong in reserve. Colby, on the other hand, has a good starting five plus a reserve strength which tops the state. They are fast and accurate, and a good passing team.

It's almost the season and yet no handball schedule has been discussed or posted for intramurals. It will be too bad to remove the game from the program. With the exception of adding football last fall, the IMMA has dropped more and more sports every year. I hope that the closing of one handball court is not holding up the works.

Maine's boxing champs, who won their titles last Thursday for the Bangor area division, are scheduled to compete next in Portland. The winners of the trials there will represent the state at Lowell, Mass., later on this winter in the New England try-outs, and the final stop is at the national Golden Gloves bouts.

Russ Washburn of Colby, one of the starting five for the Mules this season, is the top individual record-holder at the Waterville college in basketball. He owns 11 of the 14 individual marks. Bill Mitchell is the only other undergrad to make the list. Maine holds three of the records set by teams against Colby. The Bears scored 77 points in one game, 31 field goals, and 21 completed free throws in the same contest.

The high point of intramural athletics is probably reached on the basketball court. It is easily the most interesting and popular sport on the program. Because of the interest more attention ought to be paid to basketball in intramurals. Two suggestions come to my mind. Why not have a third referee for every game? His job would be to sit at the scoring table and act as timekeeper. At the same time he could supervise the scoring as recorded by a representative of each team. As it now stands, one person from each team works at the table doing both jobs. Nerves, ulcers, and tempers would certainly be preserved a lot longer this way. The extra cost of providing a third referee would be more than repaid by the results and the better officiating.

The winter sports team goes into action Dec. 29 at Lake Placid. Charlie Broomhall will be defending the Foch Trophy on which he took a leg in the jump.

GOLDEN GLOVES CHAMPS—Bill Frost, Paul Flaig, Coach Ralph Piscopo, Art McDermott, John Barbour.

Seven Teams Form Ice Hockey League After Xmas Recess

The intramural ice hockey league has been officially formed. League play will begin after vacation. The schedule will be announced in the Jan. 6 Campus.

Teams will consist of 12 active men. The contests will be regulated by IMMA rules and official hockey regulations. Professor Stan Wallace has announced the following teams:

Charlie Brown will captain the Independents. They are Smith, Wilson, Campbell, Branscombe, Stulpin, Cohen, Davis, Morin, Estes, Murphy, Welch.

The Phi Gamis, captained by Nick Gardner, include Williamson, Lawson, Hunter, Charles, Squires, Rogers, Bacon, Dunham, Robbins, Henderickson, Whiting.

Bob Davidson leads the Bruins, who are made up of Dagdigian, LePage, Breton, Coughlin, Savage, Parady, Stewart, Potter, Anderson, Wagner. Skip Hart is the captain of the Cyclones. His teammates are Hale, Flagg, Brady, McDermott, Reilly, Reed, Lindgen, Gordon, Violette, Cochrane.

Beta, captained by Don Black, consists of Jones, Lockhart, Turmelle, J. and G. Shipley, Herman, Flynt, Hammon, Carbonneau, Dawley.

The Maple Leafs are captained by Art Clark. His teammates are Cares, Hersom, Miller, Dumas, Brackett, King, Sherwood, Paradis, Pullen, Odell.

Ralph Barnett leads the Black Bears, who are made up of Hays, Dow, Graham, Lord, J. and B. Dineen, Hale, Currie, Hammond, Naas.

Maine will play the University of Mass. at Orono Jan. 1. The Freshman team will play the preliminary game. The first contest of the new year will be the only one of the season open to the public. Admission prices are available at Ted Curtis's office.

Intramural basketball extends to March 17, 1949. This marks the longest period devoted to the sport since the IMMA program was instituted.

For Men Only

Professor R. U. Musclebound of De-mented state says that we are not getting bald we are just getting a surplus of skin.

Maine Boxers Sweep Crowns

Five University boxers, under the direction of student coach Ralph Piscopo, heavyweight titleholder, are champions of their respective weight divisions in the Golden Gloves tournament for the area.

Maine students won five of the six division crowns, entering men in all divisions except the flyweight class.

Piscopo won the heavy title in one match, decisioning a 255-pound giant. Bill Frost won the lightweight title with two decisions.

John Barber left no doubt of his superiority in the lightweight class. He knocked out three opponents to win all before the third round. Paul Flaig took the middleweight crown via the K.O. route in one match. Art McDermott won three bouts, two by knockouts, to cop the welterweight championship.

The winners are sectional champions and may go to the New England trials for the Golden Gloves competition.

Jenkins Is Gloomy Over Prospects For Indoor Track

Candidates for the indoor track squad have been working out under the direction of Coach Chester Jenkins, who has painted a gloomy picture of the future.

The intramural meet of Jan. 15 will serve as a warmup for the team. The Knights of Columbus Meet at Boston Garden a week later will be the first competition for the mile and two-mile relay teams, and other outstanding squad members. The first dual meet of the season will be against New Hampshire Feb. 19.

Pessimism is the keynote of Coach Jenkins' forecast for the season. Graduation has claimed last year's top point-getters, weight man George Marsanskis, pole vaulter Bob Emerson, and Maine's outstanding miler, Elmer Folsom.

The 1948-49 team will be bolstered by the return of 12 lettermen. Will Hammond, Ed Simmons, and Carroll Taylor will form the nucleus in the dashes. Sam Silsby, Wally Brown, and Ken Vennett are out for berths in the 440-yard run. John Wallace, a standout in cross country last fall, will compete in the mile. Merle Weber and George Higgins are the pole vaulters. In the weights, Steve Orach will toss the hammer, and Vaughn Totman is top man in the shot put.

Coach Jenkins is still searching for 880-yard runners.

Bates, Simpson Roll Far Ahead Of State Field

The first third of the Maine inter-collegiate season went into the record books this week with Bates and Colby tied for the lead, and Bowdoin and Maine deadlocked for the second spot.

Of the first six series games, two have been decided by a single point, and two more have been forced into overtime before the winner emerged.

The Bobcats won a thriller from Colby in overtime, 66-60, at Lewiston to tie for the top rung. Bill Simpson and Bob Carpenter lead the way as Bates finished strongly in regulation time, and scored seven points in the extra period.

By downing Maine, Bowdoin won for itself at least a temporary tie for runner-up spot in the standings. The Polar Bears nearly upset Colby before bowing by a point, then lost to Bates, and came back to trounce Maine.

The Black Bears started off in great fashion by upsetting Bates in overtime, 60-59, but they apparently have lost the opening game spark, having been soundly whipped by Colby and Bowdoin in the last two starts.

Bates mentor, Ed Petro, moved high scoring Bill Simpson from forward to center, and young Bob Carpenter to the front court from the guard position. The move has proved successful in Bates' style of play.

Colby has played well in its three games. Veterans Tubby Washburn and Bill Mitchell have teamed with sophomore Teddy Shiro to give the team poise and speed.

Bowdoin's combination of Prentiss, Connolly, and Speirs have racked up 95 points in three games.

Noyes Tops N.E. Punters With 39.2 Average

Russell "Butch" Noyes, Maine's star punter last fall, was the top kicker in New England in the small college group, according to National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics.

The NCAB reports that Noyes, in his first year of varsity competition averaged 39.2 yards for 47 punts. The mark ranks 14th in the nation in the small college division. Noyes saw action only as a punter in the seven games except for the Colby game.

Berry's Woodcuts Capture Charm Of Rough Maine Coast

More than a hint of the bleak harshness of the Maine coast and of the hard-bitten character of the men and women who live on it may be found in Carroll T. Berry's black and white woodcuts now on exhibition in the Louis Oakes Room of the Library.

There is no glorification of the picturesque in this exhibit. It portrays, instead, the staccato pound of cold grey sea against cold grey rock, weather-beaten houses huddled together in little coves, and rotting hulks on lonely beaches. It is only in the graceful lines of a trim schooner or in a glimpse of distant fields that the artist allows us to sense the romance and charm that is Maine.

The Elms will be the scene tomorrow of the marriage of Miss Betty Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Arnold of Orland, to Carlton Smith, son of Mrs. Pauline Smith of Holden, Mass. The ceremony, the first to take place at the Elms, will be performed by Dr. Milton M. McGorrell of Orono.

Mrs. Earl Eames of Prospect will be her sister's matron of honor, while Alben Smith, brother of the bridegroom, will be best man.

A reception will be held at the Elms following the ceremony. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Arnold will assist the bridal party in the receiving line. Hope Bigney of the Elms is in charge of the arrangements for the reception.

Decorating for the wedding and reception will be handled by Kay Snow and Mary Zelenkewich.

The Christmas spirit crept into Lambda Chi Saturday night as couples gravitated from one chandelier to another... in the manner of moths. Seems like there was some significance to those lil' green branches.

Congrats to the Wives Club on the really swell decorations. A big snowman huddled by the fireplace-boughs and ribbons completed the scheme, along with the traditional Christmas tree. After refreshments of sandwiches, hot chocolate, and cornballs, Santa Brown arrived with a large parcel of useful little gifts.

Everyone was terribly pleased, especially Uncle John Folsom, better known as "the Inspector"... and if you want to know the secret of success, just ask Lee "get rich quick" Porter.

Ernie "Santa" Lowell ho! ho! ho! his way through Sigma Nu's Christmas party Saturday night. After the gifts were presented to each and all present, Carols were sung, with Scotty Webster at the piano.

Had a rippin' good time!

Last week was not our week. Maybe it was too early in the morning, or something.

Seems we've been playing justice-of-the-peace lately, and it turns out to be illegal. (It was so much fun, too.) Accordingly, we'd like to unmarry SAE's Don Barbour, and reinstate him as an engaged man.

It also seems that Phi Eta Kappa's Wives Club has a prerequisite for membership—marriage! We'd like you to know that Joan Frye has complied with this regulation—and as a matter of fact, she's been Mrs. Dick Meserve for quite some time now.

And while we're eating 'umble pie, Doc Biggers of Phi Eta is pinned, but not to Ruth Thomaston. Rather, to Ruth Miller who lives in Thomaston! Yep, guess we were really sleepy last Tuesday morning.

Informal Inspection Of Local ROTC Unit Conducted Recently

An informal inspection of the ROTC unit here at the University was conducted recently under the direction of the First Service Command, with headquarters in Boston.

The inspecting team was composed of Col. Jacoby, head of Organized Reserve activities of the First Service Command, Lt. Col. Jeffers and Lt. Col. Bullock.

Although the inspection was all-inclusive in its scope, particular attention was paid to administration, training, and maintenance.

According to Major Myron D. Smith, assistant professor of military science and tactics, the inspecting officers were "fairly well pleased" although the formal inspection report in writing hasn't been rendered as yet.

The inspecting team also visited the ROTC branch at the Brunswick Annex. They were accompanied by Col. Francis R. Fuller, professor of military science and tactics at the University.

Santa Claus

Batson was in charge of decorations.

The entrance of Dorothy "Santa Claus" McCann proved to be the beginning of a hilarious half hour. While there she distributed gifts to the guests with appropriate remarks and witticisms. Her ad-lib humor installed a holiday spirit in the gathering.

Entertainment included singing by Libby Melzar, followed by a Hawaiian dance by Eleanor Shima. Theresa O'Reilly, Helen Carlin, Elizabeth Judkins, and Roberta Packard were the cast of a pantomime built around the girls' point of view of a stag dance.

The committee which worked out the plans for this party included Patricia Murphy, Yvonne McCarthy, Marie Johnson, Theresa O'Reilly, and Caroline Beckler. Plans have been completed for a coed party to be held at 10:30 tonight in Balentine.

Junior Red Cross Offers Language Majors Chance

During the past year, college students have been assisting Junior Red Cross by translating correspondence albums and letters of thanks from young people in many different countries. Thanks to the assistance of these students, young people all over the world are helping to improve international relations.

Language majors can increase their knowledge of favorite foreign languages and do the Red Cross an invaluable service. Home economics majors can prepare cookies and candy for nearby military, veteran, and civilian institutions, while psychology and sociology majors can lend a helping hand to the social workers in home service. Have you thought of how you can help? Think it over. This is your opportunity of serving the Junior Red Cross.

Final Debate

Members of the Debating Council and the speech faculty have served as judges. The administration of the tourney has been handled by Council President Larry Jenness and Director of Debate Wofford Gardner.
