Full Program Of Institute Is Announced

Lie, Hinton Head List Of Speakers

BY LARRY PINKHAM

Final plans for the Institute of International Affairs to be held on campus Mar. 14-15 were announced this week by James M. Whitten, chairman of the faculty committee planning the affair.

Including an address by Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, the Institute will offer a varied program.

Hinton Is Keynoter

Wilfred J. Hinton, director of studies to the Institute of Bankers, London, will give the opening address of the two-day affair, which is designed to acquaint students with some of the major problems of peace and security.

Mr. Hinton will speak at 8 p.m., Monday, Mar. 14, in the Women's Gym, and will be introduced by Dr. Edward F. Dow, head of the department of history and government. Mr. Hinton is a widely known economist and expert on international relations.

Lie Speaks Tuesday

Mr. Lie's address is scheduled for Tuesday, Mar. 15, at 10:45 a.m. He will speak before a general assembly at the Memorial Gym. A native of Oslo, Norway, Mr. Lie has held several important positions in the Norwegian government. In 1940 he escaped to England with that government, and was named foreign minister in 1941. He was chairman of the Norwegian delegation to the U.N. conference in San Francisco in 1945.

Seven discussion panels will be held Tuesday afternoon and evening, the complete schedule for which is listed below.

Two Committees Listed

Besides Mr. Whitten, the faculty committee on arrangements includes Prof. Robert I. Ashman, Mr. Clarence Baier, Mr. Frank W. Beyer, Dr.

Stage Is Set For Embassy Week Events

Discussions Slated By Religious Leaders

BY MARILYN WYMAN

Embassy Week, with its theme "Is Religion Relevant?" will get underway Monday at 9:45 a.m. with an assembly at which Dr. Frederick Meek of Boston will address the student body on "Religion, Never More Relevant Than Now."

The week-long (Mar. 7-10) program of worship services, seminars, and discussions is sponsored by the Maine Christian Association. Besides Dr. Meek the schedule includes Dr. Paul T. McClurkin of Hadley, Mass., Prentiss Pemberton, secretary of the New England Student Christian Movement, and Mrs. Corilla Williams, formerly assistant dean of vocational guidance at Wells College, New York.

Panels For All Faiths

The Hillel Foundation, the Newman Club, the Canterbury Club, and several Protestant organizations will have representatives and leaders on campus to conduct a variety of discussions.

Interfaith seminars on Judaism, Catholicism, and Protestantism are slated every afternoon, Monday through Thursday, at 1:45 p.m. in Carnegie Lounge. The Skeptics Hour, scheduled at 3:45 daily, will feature the principal speakers of the Embassy Week program.

Dr. Frederick Meek, who is the pastor of the Old South Church in Boston, has previously served in Congregational Churches in Bangor, and Biddeford, Maine, and Des Moines, Iowa. He was the second youngest man in the history of Bowdoin College to receive the degree of Doctor of Divinity, which he was awarded in 1939.

Dr. Meek has written articles for several well-known religious periodicals.

Men's Student Senate Has Hot Debate On Owls-Skulls Popular Election Issue

The Men's Student Senate, after a heated two and one half hour debate Tuesday night, referred back to the committee a recommendation that Sophomore Owls and Senior Skulls be elected by popular election.

Apparently receiving that section of the recommendation referring to election with distaste, the Senate cautioned chairman Robert Moran and his committee to forget personal animosities and preconceived beliefs concerning the Skulls.

Moran heads the committee which several weeks ago was formed by the Men's Senate to study the feasibility of having the Owls and the Skulls elected by popular vote rather than by inter-organizational voting.

In his report, Moran recommended that the purposes of the organizations be more clearly outlined, that the membership criteria be put into writing, and that special consideration be given individuals not meeting two of the now existing three qualifying paragraphs.

Under the present system, Skulls and Owls must be of good character and signify that they will strive to accomplish the purposes of the groups; must have better than 2.0 grade average; and must have participated actively in at least two campus-sponsored extracurricular activities. Moran recommends that in exceptional cases a majority of the incumbent Skulls or Owls may waive the stipulations of the second and third requirements.

The biggest change in the present organizational set-up recommended by Moran, however, is that membership in the group shall be determined by a vote of the duly registered male members of the junior class for Skulls and of the freshman class for Owls.

Moran would have such elections carried on according to the Hare plan of proportional representation, under the joint supervision of the incumbent members of the Skulls, Owls, and Men's Senate, who are not candidates for election to either of the two groups. In his report he further stipulates that the election should take

New Committee On Old Problem

A committee of nine personnel men from key Maine industries was named at Augusta this week to work with placement directors of the four colleges in finding jobs in the state for Maine college graduates.

Representatives from nearly 40 Maine industries discussed employment problems at the meeting with placement officials from Colby, Bates, Bowdoin, and the University.

Named to the committee were Robert Bass, G. H. Bass Co., Wilton; H. G. Noyes, Oxford Paper Co., Rumford; A. E. Winslow, Hollingsworth and Whitney Co., Waterville; Charles F. Taylor, Saco-Lowell Shops, Biddeford; Maurice C. E. Roux, Pepperell Manufacturing Co., Biddeford; J. C. Kern, John C. Kern Co., Portland; B. L. Edwin, Lawrence Portland Cement Co., Rockland; and T. A. Record, Baker Refrigeration Co., South Windham.

The committee will meet with college officials within two weeks, a spokesman said.

Two Dollars A Student Is Goal For This Year's Good Will Drive

Students whose financial condition depends on the time of the month will be given a chance to contribute to the Good Will Chest drive this year, even though they may be insolvent when contacted by the Chest's representative.

While cash donations are preferred, pledges will be accepted whenever desired. Pledge payments will be collected after the spring vacation.

The committee has set two dollars per student as a desirable contribution, but will of course appreciate larger donations.

Fred Loring, assistant to Dean Deering of the College of Agriculture, is treasurer of the Chest. Other faculty advisers are Charles Crossland, Rev. Charles O'Connor, and Dr. Frank Foster of the School of Education.

The World Student Service Fund,

Save the Children Federation, Salvation Army, Cancer Society, Crippled Children's Society, and United Negro College Fund will be recipients of the proceeds from this year's drive.

A movie will be shown on campus during the week of March 10-17, describing the work of the WSSF. The movie schedule will be announced later.

Save the Children Federation provides an excellent opportunity for those who believe charity should begin at home to do their part. The federation provides clothing and shoes for 150,000 children and sends food packages to 2000 children in Europe each year.

It also has a wide program in this country, furnishing school supplies, mobile libraries, and Christmas gifts to thousands of children throughout

Maine Debaters In 3-Way Tie At MIT Tourney

Maine debaters finished in a triple tie for fifth place among the 17 New England schools competing in the fourth annual MIT tournament last weekend.

In the seeding rounds Maine's affirmative team, Kay Kennedy and Larry Smith, defeated Vermont and Mt. Holyoke. Leon Gray and Larry Jenness, negative, lost to Bates and defeated Dartmouth. Maine was eliminated in the quarter-finals when the negative team lost to Vermont.

The tournament was won by Vermont, with its negative team defeating Tufts College. Other teams finishing ahead of Maine were Bates and MIT. The Vermont negative suffered its only loss to the Maine affirmative.

The debaters were accompanied by Wofford Gardner, director of debate.

E.E. Majors Offered Experience In Radio

Sophomore and junior electrical engineering majors planning to enter the field of radio may have the opportunity to accumulate practical experience in the technical end of radio productions, Mrs. Phyllis Williamson of the Speech Department said today.

Mrs. Williamson, head of the Maine Radio Guild, explained that sophomore and junior E.E. majors working with the Radio Guild in the control room, helping broadcast the performances, can get practical knowledge in the technical branch of the field.

Interested students should contact Mrs. Williamson at 240 Stevens Hall for further information.

Government Students Hear State Official

Varsity, ROTC Rifle Teams Win 35 Matches

University of Maine Varsity and ROTC rifle teams have won 35 and lost 11 postal matches to representative rifle teams around the country, according to Major Myron D. Smith, assistant professor of military science and tactics. The Varsity team also won from Bowdoin in a shoulder to shoulder match fired at Brunswick.

The Varsity has been paced by Don Stanton, lost by graduation last month, Vernon Bond, Bill Derby, Leroy Rand, and Wesley Wight, all capable to shoot 380 out of 400. With the loss of Stanton, fifth man honors now alternate between Al Catheron, Charles Varnum, Dana Small and Alex Leidy.

Postal matches will continue until April 15, with such outstanding colleges as New Hampshire, M.I.T., Fordham, Cornell, and Purdue still to be met.

The Varsity, with a record of 14 victories and 5 defeats, holds victories over Winconsin, Oregon State, Missouri, and Rhode Island. The ROTC, with a 21 and 6 record, has posted wins over Harvard, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and Syracuse.

Home Ec Club Invites Public To Open House

Members of the Home Economics Club will hold open house in Merrill Hall Saturday, Mar. 5, from 2 to 4 p.m. when all laboratories and classrooms will be open for inspection by visitors.

Hostesses will be on hand to escort guests through the building.

Elizabeth Shaw, general chairman of the affair, will be assisted by Jeannette Shaw.

Other chairmen are: Elizabeth Littlefield, general publicity; Priscilla Thomas, the house laboratory; Margaret McDonnell, design laboratory; Patricia Ward, clothing laboratory; Mary Putnam, extension laboratory; Martha Coles, teacher training; Winifred Hilton, foods laboratory; Dorrine McMahon, research laboratory; Evelyn Pratt, equipment laboratory; Bernice Sutton, nursery school; Beatrice Wilbur, institutional foods.

Plans for the coming Farm and Home week were discussed at a recent meeting of the club in Merrill Hall. Mary Hatt, filling the vacancy left by President Lois Deering, who is away from the University receiving her teaching training, presided.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. William Lamprell, assistant supervisor in the Nursery School, Mrs. Virginia Lizotte, and Elaine Stratton, all former students of the Merrill-Palmer School in Detroit, specializing in nursery school training, spoke on its educational and cultural aspects.

Martha Fogler was in charge of refreshments.

Exhibit Features French Masters

The works of French impressionists and other masters are featured in a new exhibition opening today in the Carnegie art Gallery and running through Mar. 25.

The show consists of 40 signed, original etchings, lithographs, and color prints of such masters as Pierre Bonnard, Paul Cezanne, Marc Chagold, Raoul Dufy, Marie Laurencin, Henri Matisse, Edouard Malet, Georges Rouault, Pablo Picasso, Vlaminck, and others.

According to Professor Vincent A. Hartgen of the Art department, the prints represent "the complete background of all modern art as it occurs in this country and in Europe."

"All of these," he continued, "are collector's items and are much sought after in this country." The works can be purchased at extremely low prices through the art department, he stated.

"This is probably the first opportunity for many of our Maine students to see original works by the giants of modern art. I would urge all students, no matter what their courses of study, to take advantage of this opportunity."

Tri-Delta Offers Co-ed Scholarships

University of Maine co-eds may compete for a number of scholarships currently offered by Delta Delta Delta, the national organization announced this week.

Applicants may or may not be members of the sorority, but should be "well-qualified students, working toward degrees, who show promise of becoming valuable citizens in their future communities."

Applications may be obtained Mar. 6-13 from Priscilla Thomas, 4 East Hall.

DR. FREDERICK M. MEEK, pastor of the Old South Church, Boston, will address a University assembly Monday morning at the opening of Embassy Week. His subject is "Religion, Never More Relevant Than Now."

Guild To Air Tolerance Play

"In Place of the Melting Pot," with a theme dedicated to Embassy and Brotherhood Weeks, is the title of the next production of the Radio Guild, to be presented next Wednesday March 9, at 7:30 p.m. over WLWZ.

Emphasizing America's failure to practice its belief in the equality of man, "In Place of the Melting Pot" urges Americans to judge a man by his intellect, abilities and accomplishments, respecting traditions, languages, and customs which spring from foreign countries and cultures.

The script by Sidney Vincent was sent to the Maine Radio Guild through the National Conference of Christians and Jews which initiated Brotherhood Week.

Tryouts, which are open to all students, are held Thursday afternoons at 3:45.

Questors Club Prints Monthly News

The Questors Club this month published the first edition of a new monthly publication entitled Questors Quill.

The Quill, printed at 36 Myrtle St., Orono, is a four-page paper containing a variety of interesting news and comments relating, generally, to the activities of the club. It is designed to serve as a medium of expression for the liberal views of club members.

The staff of the Quill includes Sylvia K. Jordan, editor; Arolyn "Bobby" Johnson, assistant editor; Wray Simpson, business manager; and Albert L. Andrews, circulation manager. The next issue is slated to appear Mar. 23.

It will take two million dollars this year to carry out the World Student Service program of furnishing food, books, study grants, medical care, and housing to thousands of foreign students.

Many Speakers Join Plea For Brotherhood

The final observance of Brotherhood Week took place Sunday with Irving Rivner speaking at the MCA worship service, and Rabbi Milton Elefant addressing a meeting of Koinonia. Previous speakers for the week had been Judge Max L. Pinansky at an open meeting of the Newman Club Wednesday and Dr. Milton McGorill as guest speaker at the Hillel service Friday evening.

Judge Pinansky, in a stirring talk before a large gathering at Newman Hall, illustrated the purpose of brotherhood from a rich store of personal experiences. As the leader of the first racial and religious cooperation group in Maine, now the Maine Council of Christians and Jews, Judge Pinansky is well qualified to bring the topic of brotherhood to his listeners. Judge Arnold LeBlanc of Westbrook assisted at this program.

Dr. McGorill, at the regular Hillel services, spoke further on the brotherhood of man and the cooperation of members of all faiths for world living.

"Living Together" was the theme of Irving Rivner's address at the Sunday morning worship in the Little Theatre. Mr. Rivner is the director of the Bangor Hebrew Community Center.

Rabbi Elefant, Hillel chaplain, built his speech around the topic of anti-Semitism and Christianity at the Sunday evening meeting of Koinonia.

The library exhibit, which featured a valuable antique Hebrew scroll, Roman Catholic missals and rosaries, and Protestant literature, attracted the attention of all visitors.

Where's Our Sportsmanship?

Sportsmanship is a funny word, and whenever one speaks it, many chuckle inside, saying to themselves, "That's for suckers, not for me." But, inside, even while they are saying this, these same people know that they're wrong, that sportsmanship is for them, and that they're guilty of not having had it at one time or another.

Although blanket condemnations are not wise, there arises on occasion the desirability of making one. And we feel that such an occasion has arisen now. So here it is: the Maine fans are guilty of conduct which is far from being sportsmanlike.

It's hardly necessary to go into detail about the when's, where's, how's, and why's. Anyone who attended the Rhode Island basketball game knows all about it. And everyone who was there will privately admit that the conduct of the Maine fans was certainly not in accordance with the code of a sportsman.

It seems that the Rhode Island basketball game always brings out the worst in the Maine fans. Remember what happened last year? See what almost happened this year?

We'll admit that occasionally there is justification for riding a referee or a player, but this justification arises only once in a great while, definitely not as frequently as the attitude of the Maine fans seems to indicate.

While watching an athletic event, it is wise to bear in mind what you would do if you were in the other guy's shoes. When you were in trouble, would you have frozen the ball? When you saw a foul, would you have called it as you saw it, without a second thought about the thousands of fans waiting to jump you for it?

Let's face it, Maine has received a bad name because of the fans' conduct. It's our fault.

—BILL BRENNAN

A Step In The Right Direction

In the January 13 issue of the Campus a plea was made for business men of the state to make some effort to alleviate conditions under which a majority of Maine college graduates each year are forced to seek out-of-state employment.

A step in the right direction has already been taken to overcome this difficulty.

In the very near future, as the result of a meeting in Augusta this week, a nine-man committee representing the key industries of the state and officials from each of the four Maine colleges will meet to discuss employment problems.

Already the future looks brighter. Now, at least, we know that the business men of our state are interested in the young people of Maine. With youth interested in the welfare of the state, and we hope we are, the help of the business men will make a team that will be hard to beat.

—MILLARD H. WHITAKER

An article in a recent publication comments upon a new throttle device that can be purchased for $6 and attached to the steering wheel of an automobile for more convenient driving.

It seems to us that such devices were standard equipment 20 years ago, and everyone complained because the throttle wasn't on the floor.

... Which brings to mind the lady who bought one of the first cars that boasted a starter on the dash. She told the salesman she wasn't satisfied with the new automobile, because she had trouble getting her foot up that high.

Time

A farmer was seen holding a pig up in his arms so he could get some apples off a tree.

"Won't it take a long time to fatten a pig that way?" I asked.

"I suppose so," sed the farmer, "but what's time to a pig?"

Quarrel About Money

He: "I was, but I didn't know it."

English Class

Teacher: "Give me a sentence with the word 'archaic' in it?"

Student: "We can't have archaic and eat it too."

New Inventions

Baldness: A new drug which shrinks your head to a size where what hair you have will fit it better.

Spot Remover: For removing the spot that is left by other spot removers.

Cow Milking: A sort of jumping bean fed to the cow before milking. You just hang on to the spigots and the cow jumps up and down. Of course, there is always the hazard of getting a sleeve full of milk.

Television

There has been some discussion that television will eventually replace the daily newspaper. No need to worry tho. How would you ever get a television set into the bottom of a bird cage?

Flare Up

There was a powder explosion at my house last nite. My wife found some powder on my coat and exploded.

Sorry, Wrong Number

At 1 a.m. the telephone rang.

"It this 1-1-1-1?"

"Nope, this is eleven-eleven."

"Sorry to have disturbed you."

"No bother, I had to get up to answer the phone anyway."

As for my hair

I'm glad it's all there

I'll be awfully sad when it goes.

MAINE-LY MUSIC

By Bob Slosser

Special to prom and formal dance committees: There is available in Bangor now a great combo, piano and guitar, for only $15 a night. The guitar man will come alone for $10.

The Colby winter carnival, featuring the music of Charlie Barnet and his band, was a great success. Barnet charged over $1200, and the carnival committee lost about $25. How much was made on Jack Darvil?

A concert in Boston Sunday by Woody Herman and his great new bop band, along with the King Cole Trio, brought to mind an idea that I would like to see some campus organization grab onto. Woody has been on a concert tour for the last couple of months, playing engagements at various colleges and concert halls. He has one of the best bands in the country, and it's great of him to show the people what today's music is like.

I would like to see someone sponsor a two-hour concert here at Maine, featuring music by someone like Herman. In order to meet the expenses of a concert such as this, it would be necessary to hold it in the evening, charging $1 admission. Since the gym will seat over 3,000 people, it is feasible that some money could be made, at the same time furnishing the students with enlightening entertainment.

It has been the policy of the University to bring in as much talent as possible in order to provide the students with information about what's going on in the world in the way of literature, classical music, and politics. Why would it not be desirable to bring in some talent to inform students on what's happening in the world in the way of jazz?

Jazz, which includes dixie, swing, bop, etc., originated in this country, and we should learn to appreciate our own things before we turn elsewhere.

Ticket Holders Pay: Fail To Get Seats

To the Editor: Last week at the Rhode Island game it was estimated that there were over 200 season ticket holders who were refused admittance to the game.

If this is true, and I can testify that it is, there's something that is all fouled up. When it comes to pass that a person who has paid cold hard cash in return for a ducat that supposedly will insure admittance to an athletic event has to skulk around like a common thief in the hopes of gaining entrance through an open window or a forced door, then it is time something was done.

From the situation, it seems to me that tickets have been sold for seats that never existed. And if this is true, I certainly think that a refund of money is due to all those persons who do not have the number of last week's game punched on their ticket. And I think there is a law against selling tickets for seats that do not exist.

This is the second year that this same situation has developed. This is the second year I went in through a window, although I had a ticket in my shiny trousers. I think it is time for a change.

The ticket people are more than glad to see you when you offer up the fifteen bucks, but they turn their backs when you show up with the ticket.

This letter is not the protest of one who has been slighted. It is the protest of one who feels that many have been cheated. As the corny little boy said, "It's not the school, it's the principle of the thing."

Men Like Sandburg Solve Gym Problem

To the Editor: The Carl Sandburg assembly last week knocks some of the past Campus editorials into a cocked hat.

At fairly regular intervals the Campus has wailed that there have been too many empty seats in the gym at General Assemblies. The columns have shouted that the speakers were internationally famous, and well-qualified to give us the straight dope. It has pointed out that such persons cannot be obtained at the convenience of the students, and has declared that the least we should do is offer these persons audiences such as would be expected from the State's largest institution of higher learning. I have finally concluded that, regardless of quiz-seasons, it would seem that the responsibility for a full house at assemblies must necessarily rest with the student body.

Carl Sandburg showed us the light. Last week's assembly was scheduled for 10:45 a.m. At 10:35 a.m. the sidewalks and roads leading to the gym looked like a wartime shift-changing at Lockheed. At 10:45 a.m. the Memorial Gymnasium was packed. Every seat was occupied, and students stood up for an hour and a half to see and hear Carl Sandburg. Throughout the program the gym was as quiet as a Congregational church on Saturday night.

Everyone was there. There were no empty seats.

It looks like persons of the Carl Sandburg variety are the answer to the empty-seats-at-assembly question.

Bear Facts

By Jerry Rogovin

Athletic relations between Maine and Rhode Island State need not be broken as many have suggested after last week's game. With the graduation of Rhody's senior players, only Hopkins and Charlie Goddard of Maine, and the Rams' Blount will be left of the members of the original affair. The two principal antagonists, Keaney and Eck Allen, have already departed from the local scene.

Kappa Sigma's surprising 20-point win over Phi Mu Delta, in a game which was supposed to be close, extended the Kappa Sig win streak to 27 straight. That must be a top figure for intramural records.

Last week's meet with the Springfield tracksters was marred by injuries to two visiting hurdlers. What makes the situation even worse is the fact that the University doctor kept Potts, the first man injured, waiting in the training room more than 30 minutes. Suppose the athlete's leg was broken? Who would be held responsible?

Freshman sports are apparently out after scholastic records were published last week. The frosh basketball squad lost nine of its ten men because of grade deficiencies.

New Coaches Dave Nelson and Rome Rankin in football and basketball should give Maine an excellent start for 1949 athletics. Both men are smart operators, wise in the ways of their respective fields, and Maine's returnees in both sports promise top-flight teams next year.

The intermission program at the Rhody game ran too long and cut off a band number, which promised to be the best orchestration of the year.

The action of both teams and the coaches in the Colby game, at Waterville, indicates what could happen when the referees officiate poorly, and allow their control of the contest to slip. McCall and Bodnarik did almost as poor a job as did Zamborski and McDonough in the second Maine-New Hampshire bout, at Durham.

Although many of us may be unaware of it, Athletic Director Tad Wieman won an honor in 1935. The Coaches Association of America voted an all-American coaching staff in football. Howard Jones, USC, head coach; Wallace Wade, Duke, Backfield; Fritz Crisler, ends; Bob Zuppke, punting; and Wieman, line coach; making up the selections.

It's neither fair to intramural teams or to the school to allow so many of our intramural basketball players to participate in outside competition for town teams or semi-pro clubs. If they are permitted to do so, why should University regulations bar varsity men from playing outside ball?

Boxers K.O.'ed In Semis Of Golden Gloves Bouts

Maine's entry in the New England Golden Gloves tournament at Lowell, Mass., came to an abrupt halt in the semi-finals of competition.

John Barber, sporting a record of five decisions via the knockout route, ran into trouble in the first round against Tony Martin of New Bedford, Mass. Martin was awarded a technical knockout after 33 seconds of round one.

Heavyweight Ralph Piscopo met the tourney favorite, Pete Fuller of Lowell, and was K.O.'ed in 52 seconds of the third canto.

No entry from the state advanced beyond the semi-finals.

Nelson Coached In Crisler Type Of Top Football

The University of Maine has been engulfed with the second section of the wave of University of Michigan football pupils of H. O. (Fritz) Crisler. David M. Nelson, the new varsity gridiron mentor, played halfback for three years under Crisler while at the Western Conference school, which has turned out undefeated elevens for the past two seasons.

Nelson, who went to Harvard in 1948 as backfield and assistant coach under Arthur Valpey, another Crisler pupil, is a veteran of Michigan athletics. He played baseball as well as football, and as a graduate in physical education at the Ann Arbor school, he wrote his thesis for a master's degree on the Michigan system of football, the single wing.

Coached at Hillsdale

The 29-year-old successor to George E. (Eck) Allen served as athletic director and head coach of football at Hillsdale College, Michigan, after receiving his master's degree. While there, his teams won two conference championships with a record of 14 wins, one loss and two ties.

At Harvard he was the chief scout of Crimson opponents in addition to his coaching duties.

He will be at the University Mar. 11 to meet next year's footballers. Harvard will officially release him Apr. 1.

Rankin Basketball Coach

Dr. Rome Rankin, who has been at Maine since 1947 as Supervisor of Professional Training in physical education and athletics in the school of education, takes over his basketball coaching duties with an enviable record.

He coached Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College for 12 years, and emerged with a win total of better than 80%. The college is a member of the fast Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, which includes Western Kentucky, Murray, Louisville, and Morehead, ranking national teams this season.

Wieman Praises New Coaches

Dean Elton E. Wieman, director of athletics, issued the following statement:

"Our search for the best man available to put in charge of football has been nationwide. In Dave Nelson I think we have found exactly the man we want... His professional preparation has been painstaking and thorough and he has amply demonstrated his capacity to get from players all the ability they possess. He comes to us with the highest of recommendations from some of the country's foremost football men."

With reference to Rankin, Dean Wieman said, "His long and successful career in a fast league leaves no doubt of his ability, and in his short stay on our campus he has won a host of friends."

"Nelson and Rankin will make a great team, and I am delighted to have men of their caliber in charge of football and basketball at Maine."

The University library contains an estimated 221,000 volumes and pamphlets, and receives currently about 1,250 periodicals. It is estimated that the present stacks will accommodate 250,000 volumes, with additional space for 450,000.

Northeastern Track Meet Promises Close Competition

Northeastern's Huskies, who will be the varsity track team's third opponent of the season this Saturday in the fieldhouse, look strong on the basis of previous meets.

The visitors crushed Massachusetts, on the latter's track, 72-41, and broke three cage records in doing it.

Kenyon, Simon, Funkhouser, and Willette are the standouts for the Boston team. Kenyon broke the Massachusetts record for the 880-yd. run, and his ability in the mile run, demonstrated on our track for the past two years, has improved. Simon is a distance runner to be reckoned with.

Willette is the jumping star of the team. He leaped 21 ft. 2 in. in the broad jump, and 6 ft. 2 in. in the high to win both events. Funkhouser can be counted on to collect some points for the Huskies.

Maine's performance against Springfield was much improved over the first meet. Tom Johnston shaved off nine seconds in the mile, doing the distance in 4 min. 30 sec. plus. John Wallace broke the ten-minute mark in the two mile. He was timed in 9:56.6.

Rankin's 1949 Team Has 24 Lettermen

Sam Sezak's Pale Blue quintet closed its season Saturday, after dropping two tough games to New Hampshire and Colby. Although the record of four wins and 14 losses is not impressive, Maine's chance to redeem itself next year looks good.

The 1948-49 squad worked under great difficulties. For the first few weeks there was considerable indecision about the head coach. Two men handled the team. But the students and the University had a team which it could be proud of. Coach Sam Sezak said, "I'm proud of my boys. They showed plenty of spirit out there..."

Next year's coach will have plenty of material to work with. Only one of the 24 men on the squad is graduating.

Bert Goddard and Kelsey Boost Team

The Bears suddenly took a turn for the better at the start of the spring semester. After 11 straight losses, following an opening overtime victory over Bates, they won three straight, and nearly upset Rhode Island State in the final home game.

High-Scoring Jayvees Win 10 Out of 11

This year's junior varsity had one of the best records in the school's history of basketball. A one point defeat at the hands of the Bates junior team marred the team's perfect record.

The Kenyonmen averaged 73.9 points per game playing the best prep school and jayvee opposition in the state.

Student passes and faculty tickets will admit bearers to the prep school tourney Friday and Saturday afternoons.

Skiers Beat State, Point For Eastern Champion Events

Taking all but one first place, the Pale Blue skiers captured the state winter sports title last Saturday with a score of 580.5. Colby trailed with 510.5, and Bates was third with 419.1. Bowdoin did not enter the competition.

Dave Newton won three events to lead the team. Maine made a perfect score in the cross country and the combined cross country and jump.

Ted Curtis's team closes its season in two groups this week. The top jump and cross country men journey to Laconia, N. H., for the Eastern Championships, and the remainder of the squad goes to Bald Mountain for the Golden Ski events.

Dave Newton, Chuck Barr, Dick Dwelley, and Chuck Broomhall will compete in the eastern cross country.

Bill Cummings, winner of the Dartmouth and the state jumps, Dwelley, Broomhall, and Charlie McDonald will form the jump quartet. In a recent meet they averaged 206 feet on their jumps.

Hockey Loop Tied At Top With Playoff Openings

The first intramural informal hockey loop closed its season with three teams locked in a first place tie.

No playoffs have been scheduled as yet. The Cyclones have been awarded first spot temporarily because their offensive total is the highest.

Band Plans Concerts At Home, Away

At a business meeting of the band last week, plans were made for concerts at the University and in Portland and Augusta.

The Orono concert is scheduled for April 8 in the Memorial Gym and will be followed by a dance. Tentative plans call for the presentation of the same program in Portland and Augusta the following week end.

Committee chairmen named at the meeting were: Stephen Hopkinson, tickets; Harold Harmon, programs; Richard Schonland, housing; Charlotte Hillman, transportation, and Steve Riley, publicity.

IRC Schedule Change

Members of the International Relations Club will hold future meetings every other Tuesday in the Carnegie lounge at 4 p.m. Students are invited to attend any meeting.

The only time Maine went Democrat was in 1912.

Summer Work In Youth Camps Is Forum Topic

Opportunities for summer work in boys' and girls' camps will be discussed at a forum meeting, to which all students are invited March 11, at 4:40 p.m. in the Louis Oakes Room.

The program will be under the direction of Philip J. Brockway, placement director, as part of the activities of the Placement Bureau in promoting summer employment for students.

Four representatives of local group agencies will participate in the discussion. They are: Miss Gladys Russell, YWCA; Miss Maude Adams, Girl Scouts of America; Robert Sproul, Boy Scouts of America; and William T. Bennett, YMCA.

Emphasis will be placed on values the student derives from camp experiences in teaching, social work, psychology, physical education, and home economics.

Approximately forty couples attended an informal dance which was held at Theta Chi last Friday evening. The affair, although not a dressy one, was extremely well received and paved the way for the big Apache Set-To which will explode this coming Friday night. Refreshments were served and Monsieur Suarez, now firmly established as a cub reporter on the Boston Herald, carefully chaperoned the litty affair. Entertainment was presented in the form of several hop-skip-and-a-jump piano selections by Neil Martin.

The Tri-Delts and the Chi O's invaded fraternity houses this week end for their annual semi-formals, as the Delta Taus and Kappa Sigs opened their doors to make way for two very special parties.

At Delta Tau, the Tri Delt pledges were the guests of honor. They were presented with corsages, and, in addition, a special dance was dedicated to each one of them. Music was provided by a segment of the Maine Bears. The house was attractively decorated.

Next door at Kappa Sigma (one night later) the Chi O Carousel was in full swing. The theme was cleverly carried out right down to the tiny cupcakes, topped with animal crackers.

The Collegians furnished the music, with a little assistance from "Coke" Marshall on the drums... all in all, a very enjoyable time.

Farmers Plead For Animal Lab

A large group of farmers and members of Maine agricultural organizations was at Augusta Tuesday to appear before the House committee on appropriations at a hearing on a bill asking $135,000 for an animal pathology laboratory at the University of Maine.

Present facilities of this type at the University are "completely inadequate," according to Rep. Clarence W. Parker of Sebec, sponsor of the bill.

Parker, president of the Maine Federation of Agricultural Associations, said that the state's poultrymen and livestock raisers are handicapped by delays in the diagnosis of diseases which affect farm animals and flocks from time to time.

"We are also depending," he said, "on the small laboratory at the University for pullorum testing and for the manufacture of vaccine for bronchitis in poultry, to which it is not adapted."

Group Weighs $3 Assessment For Senior Ball

The executive committee of the Senior Class is considering a proposed $3 assessment of class members to increase funds for the Commencement Ball. The proposal was included on the Senior Class ballot at spring registration. The results were recently announced by the Commencement Ball Committee.

A 94% vote was cast, and 390 favored an assessment and 290 did not. The $3 assessment will be payable before the close of the spring semester if it receives executive committee sanction. Should the majority vote rule, all members of the class will be compelled to meet the assessment, since the poll constitutes a class vote.

The committee planning the ball intends to hire a name band if there is one available in this area.

The committee proposed an alternative of ticket selling, but favored an assessment "which would enable the Committee to know beforehand how much they would have to spend, and would also eliminate the payment of the 20% amusement tax."

The committee members are Bruce Folsom, Jayne Hanson, Theron Carter and John Schmidlin. Any suggestions concerning the dance should be conveyed to a member of the committee.

Lost Car Stickers To Bring Penalty

"All student-operated vehicles must be registered with the Campus Police department, and must display on their windshields the Campus registration 'sticker,'" Chief Frank Cowan stated today.

Student car-owners who have lost their stickers must report to the Campus Police department immediately for re-registration or reissue of their old registration number. "Offenders who do not abide by this ruling will lose the use of their vehicle on Campus grounds," Chief Cowan stated.

CARL SANDBURG AND MARILYN WYMAN

Maine Students Feel Warmth Kindled By Great Personality

By WOODY BIGELOW

He ate his peas with a spoon, he sat down at the table with his overcoat on, and at times he flatly refused to answer questions that were directed toward him—yet Carl Sandburg held the respect and admiration of everyone who had lunch with him.

As he sat there with his straight shock of snow-white hair standing out sharply in contrast with others in the group, the 71-year-old author, poet, biographer, and newspaperman said very little. But when he did have something to say, he said it as only Carl Sandburg could have. Mixing his Sandburg humor with other remarks that were subtle yet piercing, this friend of the common people and biographer of the great was a perfect personification of the American individualist.

Displaying a wit that was impossible to counter, Mr. Sandburg has an uncanny way of not being drawn out by questions that were fired at him by Press Club members. Some of the impromptu answers he did give were as rare and unexpected as those found in his works. And when he did not wish to answer a question, he simply went on eating.

One of the group asked the author's opinion of Robert Frost. Mr. Sandburg shot back, "It doesn't mean a damn what other people think. Go and read all of Robert Frost and make up your own mind!"

Mr. Sandburg made it very clear that he believes the youth of today are too busy finding out what others think about certain subjects, rather than forming their own opinions.

Seemingly sometimes bitter and stubborn, this man may well be misunderstood by some—but probably not for long.

Those who saw and met him could not help but see that beneath a certain aloofness there was the warmth and brilliance of a man who has traveled far, who knows and loves the people of the America that he has immortalized in writing.

Typical of Sandburg was his toast: "Here's to Hell; may our stay there be as pleasant as the way there."

Visit By Sandburg Boosts His Works

Inspired—no doubt—by Carl Sandburg's visit to the campus, Maine students have taken an added interest in his works, a library official reports. An exhibit of his books was quickly reduced to two volumes.

The official pointed out, however, that "The People Yes," quoted extensively in his talk, is on reserve for the English classes and that the demand for Sandburg's works on Lincoln has always been steady.

Tractor Clinic Conducted For 4-H Club Men

Men and boy representatives of 4-H Clubs throughout Maine attended the annual state 4-H club Tractor Maintenance clinic last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday on the campus. The group represented clubs from every county in the state.

Sponsored by the American Oil Co., the clinic featured a banquet Friday evening with motion pictures and organized entertainment, in addition to lectures and laboratories.

Charles R. Lund, director of rural youth activities for the sponsoring company, conducted the lecture classes. Edward W. Foss, agricultural engineer for the Extension service, was in charge of the laboratory work.

The 4-H members and leaders studied maintenance work with tractors provided by dealers in Maine. The dealers also furnished assistant instructors for the laboratories.

Kenneth C. Lovejoy, state 4-H club leader for the Agricultural Extension service of the University, was in charge of arrangements.

FFA Chapter To Meet

Dr. Merchant Says Wives Buy Small Potatoes

Dr. Charles H. Merchant of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station learned, in a recent study of consumers' buying habits, that Portland housewives will buy small potatoes to save money, even though they prefer medium-sized ones.

Dr. Merchant's experiment, which is one of a series being conducted by the Experiment Station, consisted of sizing five and a half carloads of potatoes and displaying them in peck (15-pound) bags in ten super markets, where consumer preference was observed.

Although Dr. Merchant points out that a single series of experiments does not always give dependable conclusions, the purchases of most housewives showed that they did not care for large potatoes. These are usually sold to potato chip manufacturers, restaurants, and hotels.

Maine Engineers Elect Watson To Presidency

Slight Drop-Off Reflected In Registration

BY MILLARD WHITAKER

Latest figures released by Registrar James A. Gannett reveal 3,864 students registered at the University and an additional 606 at the Brunswick Annex. These figures do not include three-year nursing students who have not yet completed registration.

A slight downward trend from the fall registration is noted. Registration for the fall semester at the Orono and Brunswick campuses totalled 4,661.

Once again the junior class leads in number of students, with 1,449. The sophomore class numbers 1,065 and the senior class, 790. Freshmen at the University campus number 334, and at Brunswick, 606. Special students number 48, two-year agriculture students 53, and graduate students, 125.

The College of Arts and Sciences leads other college departments in number of students with a total of 1,603, compared with 1,064 for the College of Technology, 842 for the College of Agriculture, and 230 for the School of Education.

In specialized study, mechanical engineering students outnumber students of all other groups with 377 men enrolled. Civil engineering students total 238.

The department of business administration claims the largest group in the College of Arts and Sciences with 303. Nearest competitors are zoology majors who number 71. English and physical education majors follow close behind with 68 in each of these groups.

The largest single group in the College of Agriculture is home economics, with 186 majors. Forestry students number 168.

Skull Election Issue Returned To Moran's Group For Study

place "during the semester preceding the semester in which the newly elected Skulls (and Owls) will begin their terms."

According to Moran's report, the purposes of the Skulls should be:

"1. To advance the interests of the University of Maine in every way possible.

"2. To preserve and continue all old customs sacred to the graduates, and adopt any new customs which seem to be for the best interests of the University.

"3. To assist the Student Council in their work by means of student sentiment in harmony with their rulings.

"4. To entertain visitors whenever an opportunity presents itself. This shall include all students who come to our campus as representatives of their school, college or university.

"5. To maintain a strong college spirit, and to keep alive the best interest of the college activities.

"6. To interest 'Prep' and high school students in the work of the University, and to invite such students to visit the University on special occasions."

The Sophomore Owls, under Moran's standards, would strive to:

"1. Promote the purposes of the Senior Skulls as they apply to the two lower classes.

"2. To increase college spirit in all its phases among the two lower classes, and to urge the freshmen to enter college activities.

"3. To promote harmony among the two lower classes by maintaining a friendly attitude toward the freshmen at all times.

"4. To counsel and guide the freshmen in the right direction at all times."
