Bookstore Is Head of Five Smaller Units

Carnegie Snack Bar Is Newest In Chain

A graduate of the Class of 1911, coming back to the University of Maine for the first time since receiving his sheepskin, might very well be expected to get somewhat of a surprise. Not the least of these would be the changes which have taken place in the Bookstore.

At the time of his graduation, the University Store Company was composed of one store. Now, however, the present organization is made up of six units, the first being the parent store in Fernald Hall, with the barber shop adjoining it.

Brunswick Next Largest

The next largest unit, in the point of sales, is the Brunswick Store, unique in that it has room enough so that business can be done, and yet there is still space for breathing.

This store has one end devoted to student supplies and a barber shop, while the other end has a large dining room and kitchen, with facilities to handle food, soft drinks, and other fountain services.

The Dunn Hall Canteen, located in the basement of Dunn Hall, is the third unit in the University Store Company's chain of stores. This branch offers luncheon facilities, smokes, and limited student supplies and various other student needs.

Closed because of lack of patronage at the present time, the G.I. Canteen in Building 15, North Dorms gives the same sort of service and has the same type of merchandise as Dunn Hall. It will reopen at the beginning of the fall semester, when, it is ex-

Dunn Hall Canteen Is One Of Newest Bookstore Additions

One of the newest branches of the University Store Company is the Dunn Hall Canteen, located in a corner section of the new Dunn Hall.

Opened last year, the canteen makes an easily accessible and convenient place for the students in Oak, Hannibal, Dunn, and Corbett Halls to get a bite to eat, their smokes, and other necessities.

Since the store in Fernald closes daily at 5 o'clock, and is closed all day Sunday, Dunn Hall Canteen, like all the other canteens, stays open until 10 or 10:30 p.m. This gives the members of the student body an opportunity to get a snack without having to go off campus.

In the Dunn branch, stationery, banners, jewelry, tobacco, and cigarettes, as well as pastries and other foods, are sold by student clerks.

Although the canteen is located in a basement room in the new dormitory, the quarters create a neat, attractive store, easily accessible to the student body.

Same Carnegie Hall Despite New Snack Bar

Post war conversion has seen many changes in the University of Maine, with new buildings being erected, departments being expanded and shifted, and new instructors being added. However, there is one place which in effect has changed but little.

Where but two years ago students sat and looked across the table at fair young co-eds, a fellow can still do the same, with nourishment being added in the form of coffee and doughnuts instead of heavy tomes of required reading.

Conversation Unlimited

Carnegie Hall, until two years ago a place of diligent study, wandering thoughts, and quick naps, still enables students to sit across tables from each other. Now, however, conversation between them does not have to be at a whisper level.

Upon the completion of the new library, books and furnishings were moved from Carnegie Hall to the new building and Carnegie was remodeled as a music and art center. The front part of the basement was converted into a lounge for general student use, taking much of the pressure off the walls of the bulging MCA Building. Then the addition of some sort of snack bar was requested by the students.

Following a conference between the administration and the University Store Company, work was started on the Carnegie Snack Bar, located in the rear of the basement.

The University Store Company spared no expense to make this requested snack bar the most modern and attractive installation on the campus. Modern booths, soda fountain, and decorations were built. Fluorescent lighting was installed, and this once dreary storeroom soon was a bright warm spot in which students could relax over coffee, doughnuts, sandwiches, ice cream, etc., and still keep an eye on the co-eds.

Bookstore Stockholders Taken From Three Campus Groups

In most organizations, the stockholders and board of directors usually remain in office for a relatively long period, with only minor changes being made throughout the years. Such, however, is not the case of the University Store Company, which has a fairly rapid turn-over.

Originally, the stock holders were

1911 Year Of First Store At University

By BILL BRENNAN

To the most of us, history, as we studied it in school, was full of dry statistical material such as dates, names of presidents, generals, laws, etc., with here and there an interesting account of either a verbal or military battle to change the monotony.

A historical sketch of a business organization must, of necessity, be written principally from material of cold business statistics, with the battles left out. This history of the University Store Company is such an article.

Started in 1911

According to the records, sometime in the early part of 1911, a group of interested people connected with the University decided to organize a company, the purposes of which are taken from the records of the certificate of organization and are as follows:

"To carry on a retail store at some suitable location on the Campus of the University of Maine at Orono. To buy, sell and deal in merchandise

University Store Company Offers Support To Large Number Of Campus Organizations

Although original records of the University Store Company state that any profits remaining after the necessary capital reserves are satisfied should go toward the benefit of athletics, varying conditions have resulted in contributions being made to other organizations.

The original purposes of the University Store Company, according to the Certificate of Organization, are: "The purposes of said corporation are to carry on a retail store at some suitable location on the campus of the University of Maine at Orono. To buy, sell, and deal in merchandise usually carried in a general retail store. To do all things which may be found necessary or convenient in carrying on any or all of the aforesaid purposes, and to have and to exercise all the rights, powers, and privileges pertaining to corporations of a similar nature, under the laws of the State of Maine, but not, however, to have or to exercise any rights, powers, or privileges for any purposes for which corporations are not permitted to be formed under the general laws as provided in Section 6, Chapter 47, Revised Statutes of Maine, or acts amendatory thereof or additional thereto."

Although not stated in the purposes quoted above, the records definitely state that any profits remaining after the necessary capital reserves were satisfied was to go toward the benefit of athletics.

usually carried in a general retail store. With the above purposes in mind, and with the idea that any profits would be used to help athletics, the newly formed Board of Directors hired Frank L. Manwaring to manage the new enterprise. He remained with the company until 1930, when he was retired after a long and faithful period of service.

Located in Coburn

The Directors then purchased from the previous owner all usable merchandise and took over the location in Coburn Hall where the store had been previously. The University Store Company remained there until sometime in 1915 when it was moved down to Fernald Hall, its present location.

The records over a period of years give only the routine procedure with here and there a few details that are interesting in that they show progress over the years. On July 22, 1912, a roll top desk was bought for the store. On August 19, 1913, the manager was authorized to hire a boy to help in the store. On July 12, 1915, the Directors authorized the expenditures of $1,000 for soda fountain and fixtures.

July 10, 1916, marks the date of the first action taken to give "M" sweaters to athletes as the store does today. A building fund was started for the purpose of erecting a building for housing a store in 1918. A site was decided upon between Lord Hall and Alumni Hall. This idea was later dropped as

Bookstore Had Only $500 Capital When Organized In 1911

The University Store Company, which this year had a capital turn over of about $494,000, was started in 1911 with the initial financing of the fantastically low sum of $500.

In comparison to this, when the company started the North Dorm Canteen, the cost of preparing the site, exclusive of stock and fixtures, was between $1,700 and $1,800.

When the University Store Company was first started, six of the original organizers bought a total of 100 shares at $5.00 a share, totaling $500. This sum went toward setting the store up in business, and for a period it operated on what today would be considered a fantastically low sum.

As money was needed for additional equipment and supplies, more shares of stock were sold, and when the store had built up enough reserve capital to finance its own business expenses, these stocks were called, along with the original 100 shares, and all future earnings were turned into the business or given to the Athletic Department.

This procedure continued until several years ago when the University Store Company began donating some of its profits to other organizations besides the Athletic Department.

The Bookstore

it would interfere with the future plans of the University.

The records show that in the early history, besides a fixed regular sum which the athletic department depended upon each year the University Store Company either donated or financed many other activities of the Athletic Association. From time to time money was given the Maine Campus, the Maine Christian Association and others. Students who suffered losses at the Kappa Sigma, Oak Hall, and Hannibal Hamlin fires received generous aid from the Store Company.

Barber Shop Started

In 1938 the barber shop in Coburn Hall was bought and transferred to a room adjoining the store in Fernald Hall. This started out as a two chair shop, but now gives the services of four trained barbers.

In 1940, at the request of the University authorities, a small store was opened in the basement of Oak Hall. This store was transferred to Dunn Hall in the spring of 1948.

In 1947 another similar store was installed in Building 15 in North Dorms. This was recently closed but will reopen the opening of the fall semester.

In the fall of 1946, the bookstore took over the ships store at the Naval Base in Brunswick, to supply the University students there with the same necessary merchandise that were sold to the students in Orono. Cost of labor, utilities, and general upkeep have been extremely high.

The important facts as listed above seem to cover all the major items of interest. Certain items in the above are elaborated upon in other columns of this supplement.

Fernald Hall Bookstore Home Since 1915; Had Many Changes

Romance has started, feuds have begun and ended, tears have been shed over final examinations, and University history has been made within the confines of the Bookstore in vine-covered Fernald Hall.

Since 1915, the Bookstore has been located in Fernald Hall, and has been the center of much of the social life on the campus of the University.

Former Phys. Ed. Office

In its early history, when the "Bulldog"—the electric trolley which ran from Bangor to Old Town—was being stolen every other weekend, this center of student activity occupied only the front end of the first floor. In the back of the building the Women's Physical Education director thought up new exercises where men students now get their hair cut, and the Alumni Secretary pored over his records across the hall.

Then, as facilities in Alumni Hall were made available, the Women's Phys Ed group moved out and the Placement Bureau took over the vacated quarters. When the University of Maine became publicly conscious, new duties were added to those of the Placement Director, at whose office thousands of students now engaged in industry or a profession have filed application blanks for jobs.

Expansion Begins

In 1946 the new library was completed, the Placement Bureau and the Alumni Secretary set up offices in the new building.

After extensive remodeling, the barber shop moved to its present location; business offices for the store took over a portion of the area used by the Alumni Secretary, and the rest of the space was made available as a selling area by removing partitions and walls. At the same time, a new soda fountain was installed, a new sandwich counter was put into operation; and an inlaid floor was put down.

Despite the many changes since 1915, however, the Bookstore in Fernald Hall has remained much the same. Fellows still buy their favorite co-ed a coke, girls still gossip over a cup of coffee, and college life moves about the Bookstore, unmindful of the changes.

Oak Hall Canteen First Store Expansion Move

The first expansion move of the University Store Company, which at this time is composed of six branches, was to start a canteen in Oak Hall. This move was made at the request of the University because of various problems arising in dormitory supervision and management.

This step was taken in 1940, shortly before ASTP units were brought to the campus during World War II.

Last year, upon completion of Dunn and Corbett Halls, equipment from the Oak Hall unit was moved to Dunn Hall, and the Oak canteen was closed, with all service for this area being handled by the Dunn Hall Canteen.

Bookstore One Of Six Stores In Organization

pected, the North Dorm area will be full of students.

Refreshment Stands Included

Carnegie Snack Bar, the latest addition to the University Store Company's chain, was opened this fall, and has been servicing much of the south end of the campus during the day and evening.

Also included in the company's tables of organization are the lunch stands at either end of the grandstand where refreshments are served during football games.

All these branches have been started at the request of the University, and have been installed with the first thought in mind of giving the student body more convenient service. This type of expansion has proven expensive, as there has necessarily been a duplication of equipment and labor which cannot be handled with the maximum efficiency.

40 On Payroll

On the payroll of the University Store Company at the present time with one store closed and the number of employees reduced as much as practical, are 40 persons, whose pay amounts to close to $1,000 weekly. This does not include several employees who are on a monthly payroll basis.

On occasion during the year, the number of employees has been as high as 69.

Many of the employees, including clerks, barbers, secretaries, and stockroom men, have been with the organization for many years, and are above average in efficiency, courtesy, and character.

Bookstore Has 11 Stockholders

made up of one student, three members of the administration, and three members of the Alumni Association.

In the late '30's, however, the board feeling it advisable to have a large student representation, decided to increase the number of stockholders by four, and by this means give representation of two additional students on the board. This increased the number of stockholders from seven to eleven.

Of the present eleven stockholders, four are chosen by the President of the University to represent the administration, four are chosen by the alumni body to represent the Alumni Association, and three are chosen from the student body.

The stockholders meet once a year and may, on call, meet more often. At the annual meeting, five directors are chosen from the board of stockholders. The directors' duties are to decide the immediate policies and to supervise the business activities.

At the present time, the Board of Directors is composed of Jack Zollo, Dr. Benjamin Speicher, Wallace Elliot, James Freeland, and Raymond Atherton.

Stockholders each receive one share of stock upon appointment. This stock is held by the treasurer of the company until such time as a new stockholder is elected, at which time the previous holder turns it over to his successor.

This stock carries no dividends or any other form of remuneration to its holders. Stockholders and directors give their services to the University Store Company and the student body "gratis."

May Election Preparations Being Made

Senate Will Handle Balloting Procedure

By LARRY PINKHAM

Arrangements for general elections to be held Tuesday, May 10, are being completed this week by the general election committee. The committee, headed by Martha Coles, has announced that all campus organizations interested in having their elections at this time may do so.

As an improvement over the general confusion experienced during last year's elections, it has been decided that the voting will be done by classes. Separate tables for the different classes will be set up on the Mall in front of Stevens Hall, and students in those classes will receive their respective ballots there. The ballots will be all-inclusive, another improvement over last year's system.

On May 10, students will vote for campus mayor, general senate officers, officers of the women's student government, Prism editor and business manager, senior class parts, senior alumni watch award—both men and women—Athletic Board members, and on the class constitutions and amendments to the general senate constitution.

The Men's Senate and the Women's Student Government members, with selected volunteers, will work at the election tables during the day, with about eight students being present during each period.

Money Awards For Speakers

The annual John M. Oak Scholarship Prize Contest in public speaking, open to any University student in regular standing, will be held Apr. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Oakes room of the Library. A preliminary contest will be held Apr. 12 in South Stevens Hall, at 7:30 p.m.

The awards this year will be a first prize of $20, a second prize of $15, a third prize of $10, and a fourth prize of $5.

Prizes for the public speaking contest are derived from the income from a fund of $1,500, established in 1935 by the estate of John M. Oak, a graduate of the class of 1873 and a trustee of the University from 1908 to 1915.

Condition Is Improving

Friends of Dave Simpson, who was forced to leave school several weeks ago because of ill health, will be glad to know that he may receive visitors at his home at 151 13th Street, Bangor.

The staff of the Maine Campus will meet Friday, Apr. 8, at 3:45 p.m. in East Annex for an important business meeting. All members are urged to attend.

STUDENT'S DEBATORS—Pictured above is the Orono High School Debate Club, coached by Lawrence Jenness, a senior at the University of Maine. ## Leaders Report Good Will Drive Exceeds $2,700

Additional subscriptions have raised total gifts and pledges to the University Good Will Chest to $2,756.25, with a few teams yet to make final report, according to organization co-chairmen Emily Smaha and James Beaudry.

Four units reported 100 per cent subscribers as follows: Home Management House, Jean Cunningham, Captain; Kappa Sigma, Edward McDermott, Captain; North Dormitory #8, Kelson Seward, Building Captain, and Bradley, Ray Trabold, Captain, Dunn Hall, under the leadership of Robert Gascoigne as Captain, stood first in amount subscribed.

Reports to date show that 1,697 students subscribed $2,230.25; 122 faculty, $319.50; two friends, $60; and 17 organizations, $146.50. The following organizations have reported gifts to date: All Maine Women, Alpha Omicron Pi, American Society of Agricultural Engineers, Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, General Student Senate, Glee Club, Intramural Athletic Association, Maine Outing Club, Math Club, Newman Club, Phi Mu, Sigma Nu, Sigma Pi, Sophomore Eagles Society, Tau Epsilon Phi, and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Last year the total amount subscribed to the Good Will Chest was about $2,100.

Committee Plans Rules For Mayoralty Election

Joe Murray, Jr., chairman of the mayoralty campaign in the Maine Day program, has announced that he and his committee are now ready to meet and discuss proposed regulations for the annual mayoralty campaign.

Persons planning to become candidates for the position of campus mayor and their campaign managers should notify Murray at the earliest possible date.

Religious Film In Newman Club Hall

The Newman Club will sponsor the showing of the film, "The Eternal Gift" at Newman Hall on Monday and Tuesday, Apr. 11-12, at 7:30 p.m. as a part of Catholic Holy Week ceremonies on campus.

The "epicinema" shows the drama and majestic beauty of the Catholic Solemn Mass. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen explains the full meaning of all the Latin prayers, ancient signs and symbols.

The showing is open to all University students and members of the faculty and administration. There is no admission charge.

Masque Play This Month

Professor Herschel Bricker has announced that the next play of the season will be "The Importance of Being Earnest" written by Oscar Wilde. Try-outs for the play will be held in the Little Theatre Thursday and Friday nights at 7:15. The play is scheduled to be staged the last of this month.

Fossil In Library Drinking Fountain—'S' Marks The Spot

By BILL BROWNE

The University library, beside housing many volumes, is the home of fossils.

One such, a gastropod, can be seen in the bowl of the drinking fountain on the first floor, and forms the letter "S." Because this fossil is lodged in limestone, according to Professor Shainin of the Geology Department, it probably dates back to the paleozoic era.

Professor Shainin says no one knows who first located the fossil, but it is the only one that is distinct out of the approximately two hundred found in the limestone used in the construction of the library. A gastropod is a mollusk, and is similar to a clam.

The rumor that any geology student who finds a fossil will receive an "A" for the course is partially false. Only the student who finds a fossil in ledge will get the coveted alpha.

The "A" promised by Professor Trefethen, head of the Geology Department, has been won by only one student. Last year Bob Grotteford found a worm trail in ledge in Stillwater. This trail probably dates back about 350 million years.

Some years back, a fossil was found imbedded in the steps of one of the dormitories at Columbia University, but only after it had been stepped on many times.

Student Survey Is Completed In Vacation

Students of Maine's School of Education have conducted a survey on teacher-community relations during the spring vacation.

Purpose of the survey was to "find out the relations between the community and the beginning teacher."

The survey was carried out by students in a course called the Community School, conducted by Dr. Frank Foster, Professor of Education.

The University students asked teachers in their home communities such questions as:

"Is there a PTA in the town where you are now teaching? Are the members active and what do you think they actually accomplish?"

"Does the community treat you as an individual or as 'one of many' they have known before?"

"Does your community hire teachers from its own locality in preference to outsiders?"

"What outside work was given you in regard to extracurricular activities?"

"How do the older teachers on the faculty accept beginning teachers? Are they cooperative?"

"What information would you advise a beginning teacher to know about the community before accepting a position?"

"What type of a picture was painted by the school officials before you accepted the job?"

"On what basis did you accept your position (Money? Nearness to home? Locality?)

"Does the community in which you are now teaching dislike or prohibit the drinking of liquor in public?"

"Are your actions in public under constant surveillance by the people of the town?"

The committee members, appointed to the survey, and their assignments:

Leonard Whittier, chairman, "What Conduct Does the Community Expect of Teachers"; Lois Avery, "The PTA"; Martha Fogler, "The Relations of Teachers to Other Community Organizations"; Mary Bradley, "What Can Be Done to Help Teachers from Falling into Mixed Patterns"; Emmett Stevens, "What Each Teacher Should Know About the Community."

PREVENTATIVE MEASURE—The old Orono fire engine, replaced by a new one recently, will be stationed at the University until the completion of the bridge over the Stillwater River. This measure was taken so that a ladder truck would be on this side of the river in case of fire.

Giant Dramatic Production Remains Shrouded In Secrecy

By JIM FIRMIN

The Maine Mast, a University dramatic organization, this year celebrating its one-hundredth year on the campus, disclosed plans yesterday for its first annual production to be held May 11th, in conjunction with Maine Day.

A coast-to-coast search for a suitable play was conducted under the direction of the organization's Vice-President in Charge of Searching Coast-to-Coast for Suitable Plays, Philip S. Catir.

Finding no play which could meet the rigid dramatic requirements of such an intrepid dramatic group as the Mast, the society's founder and president, James H. Firmin, decided, with the assistance of Vice-presidents in Charge of Deciding, John ? Ballou and Raymond ? Rideout, that only an original vehicle would suffice.

Rejecting three Model A's and two Buick Convertibles offered by young hopefuls at the University of Maine, the group sent notices to George Bernard Shaw, Tennessee Williams, William Soybean, and several other internationally known playwrights, for original scripts. None were considered acceptable.

One interesting idea submitted by a Miss Gypsy Rose Lee was considered until it developed that the notice sent to her had requested an "original strip." Our readers will be gratified to know that our secretary Edith Wilson has been replaced.

With no script available and time for rehearsal approaching, Mr. Firmin set up a committee consisting of Messrs. Catir, Ballou, Rideout, and T. Russell Woolley to conduct a contest for original scripts written by college students all over the world. After lengthy deliberation the committee decided on a play which very well may be acclaimed the outstanding dramatic achievement of the century. The script was submitted by James H. Firmin, Philip Catir, John Ballou, Raymond Rideout, Russell Woolley. Their check for $250,000 has been mailed, the committee spokesman announced.

The Campus was unable to learn the name of the play as the Mast, for security purposes, chooses to keep it secret until the casting has been completed. Tryouts are now being held in the Mast's offices in the music room at Farnsworth's Cafe.

We hope, in the next edition, to be able to disclose more detailed information concerning this presentation, the cast, and obtaining tickets. We feel sure, knowing of the tremendous ability and "know-how" the Mast has accumulated in its glorious past, that every student and every member of the faculty will be indeed anxious to see the production.

Students To Participate In Religious Play In Orono

Many University students and faculty members will take part in the presentation of "The Brother," written by Dr. Dorothy Clarke Wilson of Orono and directed by William J. Brennan of the University.

A three-act religious play, it will be presented three times: a dress rehearsal Wednesday evening Apr. 13, for children, and a regular performance Friday evening, both in the Orono Methodist Church, and on Easter Sunday night at the Grace Methodist Church in Bangor.

The Senior Skulls were organized in 1906.

Trustees Okay Washers, Driers For Dormitories

Maine's Board of Trustees has approved the installation of $3,500 worth of automatic washing machines and driers in the dormitories.

President Arthur A. Hauck announced the installation is to be made as soon as the equipment is available and the work can be done—possibly before the close of the present college year.

Present plans contemplate machines will be installed as follows: Dunn or Corbett Halls, also to serve North Dorms, two washers and one drier; in Oak Hall, also for Hannibal Hamlin Hall, one washer and one drier; in locations yet to be determined, three washers and one drier, to serve Colvin, Estabrooke, and Balentine Halls; in Dormitory Number 3, one washer and one drier.

Canterbury Club Series

The third discussion in the "Know Your Prayerbook" series is scheduled for Sunday evening under the title "Our Difficulties as Christians." An informal talk and a question-and-answer period will be held under the guidance of Canterbury chaplain Rev. Hobart J. Gary.

The Canterbury Club, which is sponsoring the series, meets at 7:15 p.m. on Sunday at the MCA.

All students are invited.

Works Of Arthur W. Heintzelman To Be On Exhibit At Carnegie

One of America's greatest etchers, Arthur W. Heintzelman, will have 40 of his works exhibited in the print room of Carnegie Hall until April 23.

The show has been arranged by Professor Vincent A. Hartgen of the art department, through the cooperation of the print department of the Boston Public Library.

The artist, who studied at the Rhode Island School of Design as well as abroad, has won membership in practically all the leading print and etching societies. He has held exhibitions at Paris, Milan, Rome, Geneva, London, and many other art centers, and has been winning prizes for the past 20 years at national print shows. Not only are his works famous in this country, but his etchings may be found in many foreign collections.

Professor Hartgen says of Heintzelman's works, "Since an exhibition of etchings by Rembrandt, perhaps the greatest of all graphic artists, is impossible at this time, this show of the works of Heintzelman is next best. This is not to imply that Heintzelman's work is influenced by this Dutch master, but rather to state the greatness and skill of our living American.

"Arthur Heintzelman is, without question, a master of the effects of light, of delicate rendering within the reflected light areas, a skill known to very few masters of the past."

Heintzelman, who is keeper of prints of the Boston Public Library, is also a member of the National Academy, Royal Society of Artists in London, Societe Nationale des Beaux-arts, Society of Engravers in Paris, and of the Society of American Etchers.

Brennan's Swan Song

Next week, with the grace of God, fair winds, and good sails, the Campus will be under the guiding hand of a new editor, elected at a Publications Board meeting this afternoon. This, then, is Brennan's Swan Song, his final editorial, and, in all probability, the last time he will express himself editorially in the Campus.

Amid the sighs of relief which cause the campus to surge like a stormy sea, perhaps it is appropriate to offer thanks at this time, thanks to those individuals who have worked hard and long on the Campus, and who are more deserving of praise and remuneration than is the editor himself.

It is because of these people that the Campus has been possible. In a newspaper, the spirit of co-operation is a great necessity, and co-operation is what we have had on the Campus during the past five months. Sports writers have written straight news; society writers have helped out with other news; copy editors have turned reporter at a moment's notice; and reporters have switched to the copy desk without hesitation.

Only through working together in this manner has it been possible to put out what we believe has been a good newspaper. But the benefits of this co-operation will far exceed just getting out a good newspaper. In almost every phase of life, being able to work with and for other people is extremely important. And we like to feel that perhaps those on the outgoing staffs will be able to better co-operate with their fellow workers because of having worked on this little tabloid.

We could go down through the roll of those who have been knocking themselves out. Ken Zwicker, Millard Whitaker, Biff Shalek, Woody Bigelow, Don King, Larry Pinkham—but a look at the masthead tells the story.

When we talk about a "good newspaper," we don't mean perfect. The Campus has had errors in it, and will probably have more. But we expect it, for those of us who work on the Campus are learning, just as are those who are in the Radio Guild or the Masque or any of a dozen organizations.

It has been work getting out a Campus each week, but it has also been fun. We've had people cuss us, praise us, and ignore us. But the important thing is that each week we have published a newspaper which, we feel, has accurately recorded the life of the University of Maine.

Next week, the Campus will be published with a new staff at the helm. To them, the best of luck with the best of newspapers.

—BILL BRENNAN

The Story Is All There

Your attention is called to the special supplement of this week's Campus, prepared by staff members and members of the University Store Company.

This supplement, which is an honest effort on the part of the store company to present an accurate picture of the running of the organization, was prepared at the expense, in both money and labor, of the University Store Company.

The student here at the University should read this supplement carefully. The information for better understanding is all there, waiting for you. It's clear, it's concise, and it's accurate.

IT HAPPENED--HEAR

BY MARILYN HOYT

"So you're going up to the County?" That question has been heard frequently around campus. Students who don't live there regard the place as something which compels them to don a bored or scornful expression the moment it is mentioned. "Why is it," they ask, "that everybody up there knows everybody else? Why are they always boasting about the place? It isn't that beautiful!"

I kept remembering all those questions as I rode up there on my last vacation. No, it certainly wasn't beautiful. As a matter of fact, I've never seen a more desolate looking place than Aroostook County in March. The snow had started melting, and what was left was black and dirty. The roads were muddy and full of ruts. Whoever called it "God's country," forgot to add that even God deserts it in March.

Ask any of the 260 "County" kids who go to Maine where they are from. Nine chances out of ten they reply "Aroostook County." This is what differentiates them from other students, and causes the petty feelings that seem to exist. When you ask a person from Penobscot county where they're from, they answer "Bangor," or whatever the town may be. The students from "Aroostook" don't have a "home-town" in the same sense that others do. They have a home county... namely Aroostook.

If you've ever driven up there, you probably noticed that the instant the car reaches the County line, the driver, or one of his passengers give a spine-chilling war whoop, which would never leave any visitor in doubts about his ancestry, and announces that he is in Aroostook. Invariably someone starts singing, "Glory glory to Aroostook"...the visitor gives a last faint moan (especially if it happens to be his car) and the vehicle goes bouncing over a fresh batch of ruts and mud—(Aroostook mud that is...they say it's different).

Aroostook is ugly at times; its roads are terrible; it doesn't offer much to the tourist; it has only one industry...but none the less it's their county, as it was their fathers', and as it will be their sons'. It belongs to the "Aroostocrats."

Librarian Presents Solution To Problem

To the Editor: I am sorry that Ken Zwicker (Campus, March 24) is having such a time getting reserved books. He writes a good letter, and what he says may be 100% true. He may be "out in left field," or he may be sliding for the plate. The only way to find out is to get down to cases. His facts can be specific, such as: "March 23rd at 2 P.M. I was unable to get a copy of — on closed reserve for — course." Our records may indicate that this case was unusual or that a shortage of books exists in the course. In the latter case the librarian and the instructor may take action to see that the shortage is remedied. This may involve purchasing more copies, adding titles to the list, or changing some books from 3-day to closed reserve.

I hope that Ken Zwicker will not consider this an alibi. It is an honest attempt to get at the facts, and a suggested way to get action. I hope that any student having difficulty in getting books, will see me promptly, Room 110. This is intended more as a plea for that kind of cooperation than it is an answer to a friendly critic.

LOUIS T. IBBOTSON

There's Still A Cry For Big Name Bands

To the editor: Just a few weeks ago Bob Slosser's "Maine-ly Music" column was asking about the winter carnival band. The campus was crying over the fact that we never get name bands on this campus. The organizations that hire bands on campus begged off with the vague excuse that perhaps it doesn't pay to bring a name band here.

The Intramural Athletic Association, to which every fraternity and dormitory belongs, has run a dance. How much did it clear on it? Someone made a killing on the deal, or someone didn't.

Either way, the band was very ordinary and the gymnasium was filled. Those who wish to promote such an event as having a big band here should be able to learn what happened so that they could apply IMAA's experience to the situation. If the facts are known there might be less hollering, or there might be more.

Bear Facts

BY JERRY ROGOVIN

While most of the students of this University were enjoying the pleasures of vacation, many others worked in the field of athletics. Notable among those were the members of Maine's tennis team, who toured the South, in a series of matches with small college quads around Washington, D. C., Maryland, and Virginia.

The results of the tennis team are good, considering the amount of practice the players had before they left. It's too bad the baseball team cannot make such a trip to the southern states before the regular season opens.

Colby's pre-season campaign down South over vacation has proved successful for the second straight year. With such a trip the coaches would have a better chance to view the different players. Colleges in southern New England vary in this plan. Harvard takes a trip, but Boston College does not. The Eagles have been outside for three weeks, and their first cut was made Monday.

Colorful Frank Keaney, formerly the basketball and baseball coach for Rhode Island State, and now athletic director of that institution, has been mentioned as the most likely successor to Ken Loeffler as head coach of the Providence Steamrollers of the professional basketball loop. Keaney's experience as an athletic clown would be appreciated by the pros.

The Kappa Sigma-NorDorms 11&13 campus championship game, which demonstrated that top teams can have off-nights, might have been played for naught, and the entire intramural program may have proved a farce, if the physical education department had finally decided to have the dorm team forfeit its schedule of games. Only a last-minute reversal of an earlier attitude on the affair saved intramural basketball's excellent season.

Jack Ryder, the nationally-known track coach of Boston College, which meets Maine at Newton this month, does not expect to provide the Jenkinsmen with too much opposition. The Eagles have no "super athletes" this year, according to Ryder.

Basketball's rules makers met at Seattle last week and made several major and minor changes which will alter the game next season. In the future each foul in the final 120 seconds will be charged to the offending player as a personal, but will be treated as a technical foul. That will make the ball dead after a free throw attempt, and the team that has been fouled will take it out of bounds at center court.

A minor change the committee made will be welcome news to Maine fans. Glass backboards are made mandatory for collegiate teams. Such an innovation will provide better vision for the spectators seated at the northern and southern ends.

Six-foot, five-inch Joe Fulks of the Philadelphia Warriors of the Basketball Association of America, set a professional scoring record of 63 points for a single game. In a playoff against the Washington Capitols last week, he played only 90 seconds because of an injury, and for the first time in the three-year history of the league Fulks failed to attempt a field goal.

The New York dailies, in commenting on Fordham's 1949 grid team, with whom Eck Allen is coaching the backfield, expects no changes in the lineup. That news dampens the rumors that Fordham was going into big-time football once more.

Over 3,500 Maine men served in the armed forces in World War Two.

Colby Mules Again Seen As Favorites For Diamond Title

Colby's Mules assumed the favorites role as all four Maine colleges got set for the opening of the State Series in two weeks. Coach Eddie Roundy's club, which has lost only two men from last year's championship cluster, displayed no lack of hitting power in four games played below the Mason-Dixon line last week.

The Mules showed up well against fast competition although they won only one game in four. They dropped a 12-2 decision to the Middies from Annapolis, and lost close games to the Quantico Marines and Hampton-Sydney, and defeated Randolph-Macon in an 8-6 thriller.

Colby's infield picture is very bright in regard to hitting. First baseman Spinner, either Shiro or Gaudet at second, shortstop Gene Billings, and Pierce, at the keystone sack, present a formidable array of batters.

Sophomores Harrington and Wales and Tubby Washburn and Miller are the top candidates in the outfield. Wales also has performed at short and behind the plate this season.

Frank Gavel, Roy Leaf, Bob Russell, and three-year veteran Burt Silberstein top the pitching list. White, one of the top sluggers in the state last season, is the Mules' first line receiver.

Although Bowdoin and Bates have yet to play a game, they are known not to have lost heavily from last year's aggregations, both of which went undefeated against Maine.

The Polar Bears are especially strong in battery material. Bill Silsby, Bernie Johnson, and Lloyd McDonald combine to form a classy mound staff for Coach Danny MacFayden's current edition.

John R. Cobb drove his racing car 403.135 miles per hour at Bonneville, Utah, Sept. 16, 1947, for the fastest run man has ever made on land.

Netmen Enjoy Southern Trip

Maine's southern invasion of collegiate tennis circles proved to be the most beneficial of any of the annual pre-season trips, according to Coach G. William Small.

The varsity netmen split even in four matches. They dropped the first two matches after considerable travel, and won the third and fourth, showing better balance than last year's team.

George Washington University defeated Maine, 7-2, and the Bears were whitewashed by the Annapolis Middies, 8-0, before they broke into the win column. Randolph-Macon College of Richmond, Va., bowed 7-0, and American University lost to Maine, 7-2.

Coach Small stated that the varsity team is in better condition at this stage of the season than any previous squad. He expects Maine to be strong in Yankee Conference and state matches this year.

Grid Sessions Start This Week Under New Staff

Spring football practice begins Monday, when Coach Davey Nelson will meet all grid hopefuls at 7 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium team room. Further instructions for practices will be given there.

Uniforms and lockers will be issued Monday afternoon.

Blackboard work and demonstrations plus conditioning are planned for the first week. Meetings will be held in the evening to avoid interference with baseball and track workouts in the field house.

Regular squad members who are out for spring sports are not expected to attend these spring drills, but all others should attend regularly.

Coach Nelson plans plenty of work this spring. He feels it is imperative to reach the organizational level of Maine's opponents by fall practice time.

The new coaching personnel and their system will require more work than usual during spring practice.

Nelson plans to accomplish three things this spring:

- (1) An introduction to, and an indoctrination in the new "Michigan" system.
- (2) An appraisal of the candidates.
- (3) Instruction and drills in fundamentals.

Coach Nelson and his aides have conducted practice at the Brunswick annex the past week.

Nundi Romano led the fraternity team to the win with nine points. The contest closed the 1948-49 intramural basketball season.

The sport will run from Apr. 7-20 and it will be played in round-robin style.

Three divisions will make up the league. They include the Southern, Central, and Northern divisions.

Alpha Tau Omega meets Alpha Gamma Rho and Phi Gamma Delta tests Phi Mu at 6:30. Lambda Chi faces Sigma Chi on one court and Phi Eta Kappa plays Sigma Phi Ep on the other at 7:15. The final pair of games starting at 8 p.m. match Sigma Nu and Theta Chi, and SAE and Beta.

Diamond Prospects Look Good-Kenyon

With warm sunshine and clear skies greeting them on their return from vacation, Bill Kenyon sent his baseball candidates outdoors for the first time Tuesday marking one of the earliest dates that the team has been able to move out of the field house.

Kenyon is very optimistic about his team's chances this year. With the added outdoor work and some of the men looking good in early drills, the cagey Maine mentor believes that the Bears will go places this spring.
