Maine Day Will Honor President Hauck

750 Seniors To Graduate In Two Shifts

Outdoor Program Costly Weather Risk

Approximately 740 seniors will receive their diplomas in shifts next June 12, according to a plan approved this week by the faculty and administration.

Officers of the record-breaking senior class, in an effort to assure each member up to eight tickets and avoid gambling on the weather in the event of an outdoor ceremony, submitted the suggestion after exhausting all possible alternatives.

Morning and Afternoon

Present plans call for College of Agriculture and College of Technology exercises in the morning at the Memorial Gymnasium, with seniors from the College of Arts and Sciences, School of Education, and graduate students receiving degrees in the afternoon.

Conferring of honorary degrees will be divided equally between the two ceremonies. Graduation order among the colleges was decided by the flip of a coin.

Why Action Was Taken

Investigation by senior class officers during the past few weeks revealed that out-of-door exercises on the library steps or at the athletic field would be impracticable. The expense of renting thousands of chairs for seniors, guests, and faculty members would be prohibitive, as would be the cost of building a platform if the athletic field were used. The possibility of rain would remain in either case.

A proposal that exercises be held at the field house was immediately rejected because of the large building's drabness and dust.

Senior officers said that it was unfortunate that available facilities required this solution. But the two-shift plan "looks best," according to a report submitted by Cynthia Hayden, class secretary.

Annex Union Drive Nets $13,087 In Day

Students on the Brunswick campus added $13,087 to the Memorial Union Building pledges in little more than 24 hours this week.

The figure was reported at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, in a $16,000 drive that had opened only the day before.

The drive, which lasts five days, is sponsored by the Student Senate. Arthur M. Bowker, Jr., of Bath, is chairman of the campaign committee.

Raymond H. Fogler, general chairman of the Union Building drive, spoke at the assembly which launched the Annex campaign.

Annex pledges in 1948 were $18,250.

He will hold the position until Maine Day, 1950.

Washington and Portland Alumni Association Watch Award winners will also be decided in the vote.

Campaign Speeches Friday

The mayoralty campaign, under the direction of chairman Joseph M. Murray, Jr., swings into high gear Friday when Robertson and Harrington begin making campaign speeches and promises. Robertson is expected to promise, among other things, an elimination of lectures for women students, with assistant professors assigned to mumble all material to the co-eds.

For men students, Robertson has promised assistant professorship certificates, and liberal doses of sleeping tablets "for unfortunate insomniacs in early morning lectures." Roberson has also promised numerous propositions for the faculty.

At press time, Jim Demetriou, campaign manager for Harrington, said his party did not wish to divulge any

Masque's "John Loves Mary" Caps Year's Theatre Season

BY BOB SNOWMAN

The Maine Masque opened with its final production of the season, "John Loves Mary," last night at the Little Theatre. The play, a light comedy in three acts directed by Herschel Bricker, was well received by a large audience.

Paul Payson and Elaine Lockhart in the starring roles present very capable and realistic performances as the newly returned sergeant and his sweetheart. Clayton Briggs does exceptionally well as Fred, the overseas buddy of John.

The perennial Masque favorite, John Ballou, runs true to form as the brusque senator, the father of Mary.

Fine performances by the rest of the cast round out the production.

The set, a modern hotel apartment, was conceived and constructed by Larry Dunn, who also has a part in the play. Marnel Abrams is the stage manager, and George Morse the technical director. Makeup is by Henri Casavant.

The rest of the cast is as follows: Oscar, Dwight Frye; Mrs. McKinley, Jeanne Day; General, Arnold Colbath; Lilly, Carol Carr; Lieut. O'Leary, Bill Robertson; Red Cross representative, Larry Dunn.

"John Loves Mary" is a gay, fast-moving comedy, and the Masque may be proud of the finished performances of everyone connected with the play. Don't miss it.

Clean Sweep Is Scheduled For Holiday

Prexy To Be Guest At Special Event

By WOODY BIGELOW

Brooms, rakes, scrub buckets, and a battle cry of "a thousand trees and shrubs" will be the order of the day come Wednesday, when students and faculty celebrate the biggest Maine Day since the founding of the event 14 years ago.

Only a favorable nod from the weatherman is needed to get the annual holiday under way, which will include everything from the naming of the new mayor to an evening of festivities.

More Than Planting

This year, however, will see more than just the planting of shrubs and trees and the cleaning up of buildings. Maine Day, 1949, will be in special honor of Dr. Arthur A. Hauck, originator of the event, who this year completes his 15th year as President of the University.

Dr. Hauck will be the guest of honor at a special presentation to be held in the field house between the student-faculty skits.

How Crowd Will Move

Following the presentation, those who have just seen the skit can leave through the field house, while those who have not attended the entertainment may move into the gymnasium, thus relieving the congestion that attended last year's show.

One feature of the day's activities will be a mammoth Open House. This will give students the opportunity to visit the various departments, in order to gain an appreciation of the work being carried on in departments other than their own. This open house will run from 1 to 5 p.m.

Inauguration Is First

The big day will begin with the inauguration of the mayor in front of the Library, or in the event of rain, in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Past years have revealed that anything can happen at this time, including attempted assassinations and up-

Tuesday Voting On Changes In Constitutions

By MARILYN WYMAN

Students who get to the polls Tuesday will be confronted with a ballot affecting both the proposed class constitution and amendments to the General Senate Constitution.

Voters will indicate their preference for or against the class constitution and also their view of the amendments on two points:

The addition of class presidents as members of the General Senate.

The clarification of the membership of two Senate committees.

Quorum Requirements Unchanged

The class constitution committee, which is composed of the four class presidents and the adviser, Mr. Charles E. Crossland, have made the final revisions.

The committee voted unanimously not to change the percentage required for a class quorum, in view of the fact that so few students take part in the elections.

The committee further feels that any existing difficulties can be ironed out after the constitution has been in effect for awhile. Since at the present time class activities are carried out entirely by unwritten law, the adoption of this proposed constitution is recommended to strengthen class leadership by the provision of established methods of procedure.

Revisions Reviewed

The complete text of the class constitution appeared in the Mar. 17 issue of the Campus. Revisions since that time include:

Article IV, Section 2, (on elections): "The election shall be held annually on a date set by the General Student Senate."

Article VIII, Section 1, (on the yearbook): "It shall be the function of the class, in its junior year, to publish a yearbook. Section 2, The executive committee shall, at the April meeting of its freshman year, accept and approve applications for positions of sophomore apprentice editors of the yearbook."

Amendments Proposed

One of the General Senate constitutional changes proposed is an addition to Article IV (on membership), Section 2, which would include class presidents as ex-officio members.

Included would be the provision: "Until the fall elections take place, the class presidents of the preceding year shall continue as members."

For greater clarity several other sections have been reworded as follows:

Article IV, section 2, parenthetical statement to read: "(If the president of any such organization [Ex: WSGA, Men's Senate, OCUMMO] has been elected an officer of the Senate, or if a class president is otherwise a member, another shall be elected by the organization as its representative)."

Article VI, Section 1: "The executive committee shall be composed of the four officers and two other members of the Senate, elected by ballot vote of the Senate."

Article VI, Section 2: "The Campus Citizenship Committee shall be composed of the vice-president and four others elected from the campus at large by ballot vote of the Senate. Two of these shall be men and two shall be women."

President Hauck Reviews His Maine Years, Says Most Fun Has Come From Student Contacts

By DON GROSS

"My most fun," Dr. Arthur A. Hauck said his week in reviewing his 15 years as president of the University, "has been gained from my rather limited contacts with the students."

Dr. Hauck took up his duties here in 1934 amid a lull caused by the 1929 depression, and his career has bridged the era between that period and the present educational boom.

Financial problems and other administrative tasks take up so much of the president's time that he cannot go to student functions as often as he would like.

A university president's career consists of making many speeches at public functions. Dr. Hauck said, "I don't like to make speeches. I'm always sorry for my audience."

"I'd like to sit out in the audience in an assembly," he declared.

There were about 1,400 students in the entire University when Dr. Hauck came here in 1934 from his position as dean at Lafayette College.

During 15 years, the complexion of the University has been changed with the addition of the new library, Estabrooke Hall, Dunn, Corbett, and the new dormitories, the Agricultural Engineering Building, and a new wing to Aubert Hall. Under construction at present are the Plant Science and engineering buildings.

One of the qualifications of a university president, according to Dr. Hauck, is developing the fine art of saying "no."

information on the campaign at this time.

Voting for the 24 positions and awards which must be filled will be done by classes, and polls will be located on the main path crossing the Mall, in front of Stevens Hall. The polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Joe Murray, chairman of the Mayor campaign, said, "I feel that this year's campaign will be a good, funny campaign. I am disappointed, however, that more interest was not shown."

All students will be eligible to vote on officers for the General Senate, proposed class constitutions, and proposed amendments to the General Senate constitution.

Sophomore, Junior, and Senior men may vote on the Washington Alumni Association Watch Award, while women members of the same three classes will be allowed voting privileges on the similar Portland Alumnae Association Watch Award. All women may vote for Women's Athletic Association officers and WSGA officers.

Mayor Write-Ins Assured

Men are allowed to cast ballots for president of the Men's Athletic Association, while Sophomore men will elect the Junior member, and Junior men elect the Senior member.

The only ballot which will contain space for write-ins will be that used for the mayoralty election, it has been announced.

Here's To You, Prexy

It couldn't happen to a finer guy!

After serving as President of the University for fifteen years, Dr. Arthur A. Hauck will receive a tribute he richly deserves—a day in his honor, in conjunction with Maine Day, next Wednesday. Dr. Hauck will be the guest of honor at a special ceremony in the field house that evening.

It seems only fitting that Maine Day should also be the day set aside as President's Day, inasmuch as it was Dr. Hauck who, fourteen years ago, originated the event which has become an important and much-awaited occasion in the University's yearly activities.

It is one of the reasons why our campus has been recognized as one of the most beautiful in New England, despite post-war construction.

Most students doubtless recall how, upon entering the University, they expected the head of the institution to display the aloofness that is sometimes synonymous with high office. They remember, however, that after Dr. Hauck had addressed them for the first time, they had an entirely different idea.

They recognized ability and plenty of it. But there was also a warmth and sincerity that left no doubt that here was a man who understood the student and his problems.

He made us feel at home.

Despite the heavy responsibilities of his position, Dr. Hauck, or "Prexy" as he is more likely to be called, always finds time to talk to a student, whether the problem be personal or one which concerns the whole campus.

In addition, he is probably as active as any university president you will ever see. There is no greater proof of this than on Maine Day itself. Dressed in old clothes and wearing a battered old hat, he can always be seen armed with a rake or broom doing more than his share in making the campus more presentable.

As for being a real sport, "Prexy" can't be beaten. Few of us will ever forget the night when he and Professor Wallace put on their graceful and sophisticated ballet performance before a packed audience in the Memorial Gym, or the time he personally conducted the orchestra.

No tribute that is given him can come close to repaying the good that he has done for this University and its students. We can, however, show our deep appreciation of his able and courageous leadership.

He's a regular fellow. Let's all turn out and give him a real Maine Day!

A Step In The Right Direction

The Department of Modern Languages has an admirable display of Latin American publications on exhibit in the Library. It includes more than 250 different magazines.

The display itself is dwarfed only by the effort of Professor Stuart M. Gross and the Spanish Club in making it possible.

The whole thing rings an even louder bell than that, however.

Professor Gross mailed some 200 letters to Latin American publishers and was immediately swamped with copies of their publications.

If it was that easy for the University of Maine, it doesn't seem unreasonable to suspect that a comparable achievement might be engineered on a much larger scale. As a nation, we don't know our neighbors as well as we should.

The magazines can have no particular propaganda motive, because they are duplicates of those sold on news stands all over South America.

It is just possible that international exchanges on an educational plane such as this might be the answer to a great many world problems.

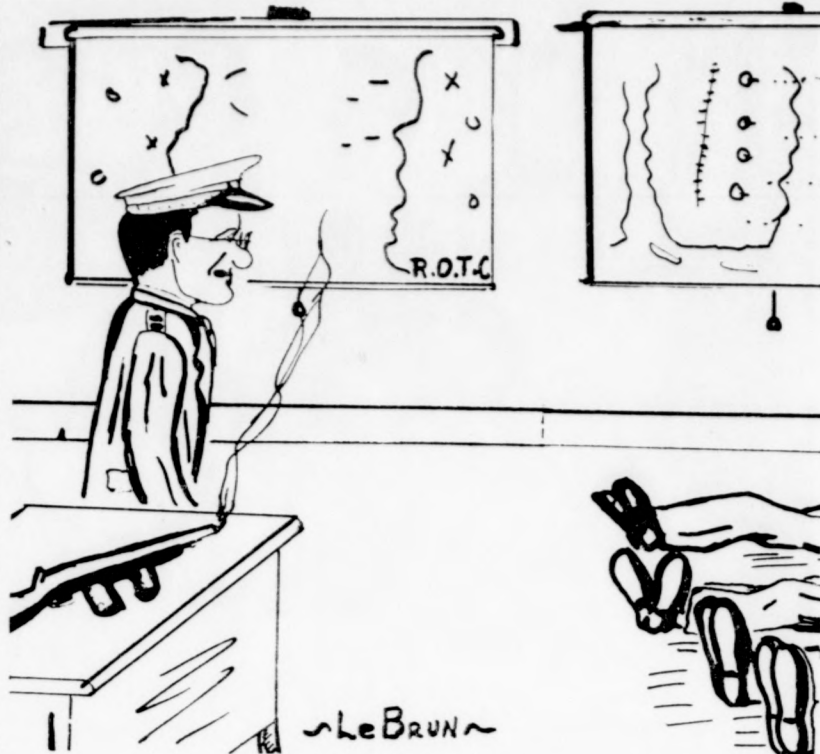

Language is obviously the initial barrier, and we have been pounding away at it for many years. But things like the current display in the Library should be an incentive for us to stay with it.

According To St. James

By Dick St. James

Within the last two weeks several developments have taken place concerning our student governmental organizations. They are all quite distressing from the point of view of the student who cares about how our part of the school is run.

The first of these developments is a controversy with the Men's Senate in one corner and the Senior Skulls in the other. It seems that the Men's Senate has recently rejected the Skulls' proposed new constitution and, adding insult to injury, has revoked their old one. The net result of these goings on, says the Senate, is that the Skulls do not exist as a campus organization in the eyes of said legislative unit. There are other details of the controversy, but we are concerned mainly with the fact that no one seems to know just what the Skulls' constitution should be.

The second tiff deals with the higher finances of our three governing bodies, the General Senate, the WSGA, and the aforementioned Men's Senate, which seems to be celebrating "Stick Your Neck Out" Week. The financial details of this case are a little too complicated for repetition in this column, but the basic argument is that the WSGA is angry with the other two Senates because it has to operate on dues collected from coeds, only while the Men's Senate gets appropriations from the General Senate which are collected from the students as a whole. I would hate to see the women break with the men on this campus. That would be catastrophic. Here, again, we are chiefly concerned with the fact that no one seems to know who is right.

The mayoralty campaign is the object of the third and last development. As far as I know at this writing only two candidates have pitched their panamas into the annual race for the office of mayor of the campus. The question is not one of scarcity of eligible clowns and speechmakers. Each one of us can think readily of one or two "naturals" who would make excellent mayors.

Right now, the Senior Skulls are in charge of the rallies which are presented during football season. They plan these rallies and invite the mayor to help out with them. Why not make the mayor the head of the rallies since he always takes part anyway? This would give the office a little more prestige, and would make it a more desirable position.

So the implications of these three developments boil down to a question of "Button, button, who's got all the power around here?" The simple answer is, "No one has all of it." Obviously, in order to eliminate the pitfalls and controversies of student affairs, reorganization of our government should take place with the idea of putting all important powers in the hands of one unit.

There are two possible solutions to the problem. One of them is silly, but offers some interesting ramifications just the same. That is the idea of giving one man all the power. Picture if you can some power-mad student majoring in paper-hanging. He takes over the campus and organizes secret police called the Purple Shirts. The women's auxiliary would probably wear an off-beige color. The Mall would be filled all day with (if you'll pardon the expression) goose-stepping soldiers. And how would you like to be eating ersatz food instead of what you are getting now in the messhalls? Don't answer that.

But enough of that stuff. The second of these solutions seems to be just what should have been done in the first place. Why not just authorize one governing body with all the important powers and give a few compensatory powers to the mayor for his trouble?

Move over, Brennan.

Hinds Questions Skulls' Tactics

To the Editor: May I infringe upon your reading time devoted to more professional wits and make a few remarks about the Men's Senate—Skull controversy.

It is my sincere belief that the position I maintain against the Skulls Organization is definitely in the interest of the student body. There is nothing personal involved, the original and present purposes of the aforementioned unit is my issue.

I detest the provision for a "black-ball" in an organization where many, many good men should be allowed to work for the interest of the campus. There is no room in my book for backhanded toleration—sending ballots to "lesser" organizations from which a preferential list of "Skull material" may be compiled and later disregarded in favor of the more sure-fire successor appointment system.

If the Skulls Organization is so diversified in interest, why does it have such a narrow membership? Seven men from three fraternity houses appear to be a mighty formidable barrier to the one non-frat member "allowed" last month.

I ask anyone and everyone how eleven persons can perform the duties which the Skulls take upon themselves to perform.

I guess someone will tell me that no one is overlooked who can do the spirit of the campus any good! Well the Senate doesn't have the power to abolish (Miss Wyman, please note), but the expressed provision to alter is there, and sister, brother, friend of mine, alteration is in order.

—JIM HINDS

Keep Maine Green Booster Sounds Off

To the Editor: Ah, yes! It's a wonderful thing, this spring weather. Look out any time of day and you see happy couples strolling along, practically oblivious to everything going on around them. So oblivious, in fact, that all too often they wander off the beaten paths, striking out fearlessly, or unconsciously across our nice soon-to-be-green-we-hope-lawns.

Here at Maine we have a beautiful campus. Green grass more than any other single factor helps make it that way. Now that we have it, let's keep it!

No one wants to see dirty, brown paths destroying the beauty of our lawns. Keep off the grass and it won't happen. Both the Buildings and Ground crew and the grass will be appreciative.

In addition to having the distinction of being born in Brooklyn, Charles E. O'Connor, Secretary of the MCA, has the reputation of being a talented athlete in his college days, U. of M. '30. For about 15 years he held the state intercollegiate broad jump record at over 23 feet, until it was broken a few years back by John Daggett of Colby. The records also show that he placed first in the high jump in a meet with Bates at 6 ft. 1 in.

Those who know track events know it is doubtful that there are any young men among current contenders in the state who can equal these marks. Don't ask Charley to do any jumping now; like Sampson, his strength departed with his hair.

Bear Facts

BY JOHN MURPHY

Sports at the University this week end will really be jumping.

Yankee Conference track, Yankee Conference golf, a baseball game, two tennis matches and the Southern Aroostook County Chess Players League will all be on the scene.

The campus will be jammed with visiting athletes come Friday, so let's all make them feel at home. The lending of Stutz Bearcats, dates and other sundry conveniences will undoubtedly be appreciated by these visiting players.

The Yankee Conference track meet Saturday shapes up as one of the best athletic events that has ever reached the University of Maine.

Although there may be little doubt as to the outcome of the meet, the individual performances should be something to watch.

Perhaps the outstanding performer in the meet will be Rhode Island's Thin Man, Bob Black, in the mile and two-mile races.

Black was undefeated last fall during the cross country season and reached his peak when he took the national cross country championship. He won the two mile race in the first YC meet last spring and is favored to repeat this year.

Coach Chester Jenkins is not too hopeful of his squad's chances against Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and Connecticut. He says that the powerful Rams may well score more points than the three other teams combined.

New Hampshire is rated next to the Rhody outfit and third place should be a battle between the host Bears and the Connecticut outfit.

The Maine team has been hampered all season by a lack of individual stars. Second and third places gave the Boston College meet to Maine but were not enough to defeat New Hampshire last Saturday.

According to Coach Jenkins, seven or eight of his point-getters have not even reported for the outdoor season. Vickery and Phillips, rated by Jenkins as the best one-two javelin combination in New England, are ineligible. This factor plus the lack of interest by other men is hurting Maine's track squad.

Godron in the hammer and Totman in the discus should do well in the conference battle, according to the veteran coach. Aside from these two, there are actually no real first place men.

Joe Orpen, who starts the IC4A meets, will be the starter for Saturday's meet. Faculty members have once again volunteered to help at the meet as officials.

Next Thursday, the Junior Varsity baseball team will entertain the Higgins nine in a 3:30 game. Last week, the Junior Bears downed Husson behind the pitching of Breton and Currie. These two men fanned 17 of the batters from the Bangor school. Ashton Dunham will probably be on the mound against Higgins.

Beta Theta Pi won the interfraternity volleyball crown by defeating Phi Mu Delta and Phi Eta Kappa in a round robin playoff.

Previous to the playoffs, PMD and PEK had been leaders in the tourney's southern and central divisions while Beta won the crown in the northern division.

Jim DeLois, Maine second baseman who received a bad dislocation in the Bowdoin exhibition game, seems to have lost a good summer job as a result of his injury. Jim was all set to lay in Canada this summer.

Taking first place in only four events, the University outdoor track squad received its first defeat of the season to New Hampshire, 75-60, last Saturday at Durham.

The summary:

RI, NH Oppose Pale Blue Nine

Warm weather has combined the past week with improved performances at practice for the varsity baseball team to provide an optimistic outlook for Maine's next four contests.

Yesterday's tilt with Colby launched the Bears' home season. The second home game features the Rhody Rams tomorrow afternoon.

The Rams will present a strong nine to Maine fans. They soundly defeated the Bears at Kingston two weeks ago, 9-2. Rhody recently split two games with the strong Connecticut team, and dropped close decisions to Brown and Providence College.

Maine meets New Hampshire next Wednesday in the Maine Day athletic attraction. The Wildcats have retained many of last year's veterans to repeat an almost identical lineup with that of 1948.

Sandwiched between the two home games are state series games with Bates and Colby away.

Golfers Host To Five Colleges In Yankee Conference Matches

The Yankee Conference golf championship is the issue at stake as the University of Maine varsity golfers play host to linksmen from the five other New England states Friday at the Penobscot Valley Country Club.

This year's tourney is the first in which all six of the conference squads have been entered, and the first time it has not been held in conjunction with the New England Intercollegiate matches.

Rhode Island State, a well-balanced squad with the best record to date of any of the schools entered, has been allotted the favorite's role. Maine, by virtue of their 8-1 victory over the UConn's, is looked on to give the Rams the most trouble.

However, none of the other clubs, Connecticut, University of Massachusetts, Vermont, and New Hampshire, can be counted on to give up a chance at undisputed possession of the conference diadem without a stiff fight.

The dark horse of the tourney is New Hampshire. The wildcat squad is newly formed of recent intramural luminaries and has yet to compete in match play.

Saturday will bring no rest for Charlie Emery's men as they entertain Bates on the Orono links.

The Bears' final match before leaving for the N. E. Intercollegiates at Watertown, Mass., May 13-15 will be with Colby on Maine Day.

Shorten Spring Football Drills

In an attempt to arrange practice sessions for the convenience of his players, Coach Dave Nelson announced this week that he will hold practice drills for only one-half hour daily from now until the end of the spring drills May 14.

Coach Nelson, forced to handle the team alone since his assistant, Harold Westerman, has returned to Hillsdale College in Michigan to finish his year there, plans to concentrate on team drills for the next two weeks.

With finals only four weeks away, Nelson hopes to get more men to practice with the shorter drills rather than having only a handful for a two-hour practice.

Nelson said that the shortening of practice sessions was planned originally and is no new idea.

Rhody Favored Over NH, Conn. And Host Team

Rhode Island's Rams will be favorites over Maine, New Hampshire, and Connecticut to retain their title in the second annual Yankee Conference track meet here Saturday.

Finals in the shot put and discus will begin at 9:30 a.m. Semi-finals in the dashes and hurdles will also be held in the morning.

Last year at Durham, N. H., Rhode Island took the inaugural meet with 79 points. New Hampshire, Maine, and Connecticut trailed the Rams with 43 1/2, 23 1/2, and 19 points, respectively.

National Champ To Run

Only four of last year's first-place winners will be back for this year's meet. Among them is Bob Black, Rhode Island's outstanding distance runner who was national cross country champ last fall. Black won the two-mile race in 1948 in 9 minutes, 38.1 seconds.

Frank Barndollar, who was a double winner last year in the 100 and 200 yard dashes, will also be back in action as will be the Ram's Don Cashman, who won the 880 and placed second in the mile.

Arthur Sherman of Rhode Island will be returning for the pole vault. He tied for first with Maine's Bob Emerson last year at 12 feet.

UConn Hurdler Back

Bob Kennedy of Connecticut, second place winner in both hurdle events, will receive stiff competition from Barndollar, who was third in the 220 lows last spring. Bob Corb of the Rams and Blaine Beal of Maine, third and fourth place finishers in the high hurdles, are also in the running.

Wally Brown and Sam Silsby, both of the host Bears, and Elliott Roberts of Rhody finished behind Hall of Rhode Island in that order last year in the 440.

Cashman, the 880 titlist, should receive stiff competition from the steadily improving Rob Webb of New Hampshire, who finished fourth. Cashman and Black are favorites in the mile.

Two-Mile Feature

The two mile race should provide some of the best running in the meet. The first four men in last year's event are all back. Norm Monks of Rhode Island, Si Dunklee of New Hampshire, and Johnny Wallace of the host team finished behind Black in that order.

Sherman will receive competition in the pole vault from George Higgins of Maine and Tom Miller of Rhody, who tied for third last season.

Nort Tupper of New Hampshire, Al Bernstein of the Rams and Archie Macdonald of Connecticut all of whom finished behind the winner in the shotput last year, will also be returning.

Frankie Frisch played in 50 world series games; 26 with New York and 24 with St. Louis.

Theodore S. Curtis, Faculty Manager of Athletics, has announced that passes issued to students at registration this spring for athletic events will be good for home baseball games and also for the Yankee Conference track meet.

Faculty season tickets are also good for the events.

MCA Conferees Of Six Schools Hold Discussion

"What is Christian Association Work?" and "How is One a Leader in Christian Association Work?" will be the two general themes of the Northern Maine Leadership Conference to be held on the campus May 7-8.

According to Bob Rendall, general chairman, students from six institutions of learning in the state will take part in the various discussions which will be led by University delegates.

Included in the program for the two days will be the regular Protestant worship service Sunday morning in the Little Theatre at 11 a.m. Rev. Kenneth Lloyd Garrison, First Baptist Church, Waterville, will be the main speaker.

The conference will close Sunday with a general assembly at 1:30 p.m., in the Louis Oakes Room.

Summer Session Faculty Includes Columbia Dean

Dr. Hollis L. Caswell, Dean of Teachers College, Columbia University, will be one of 16 Summer Session specialists who will work with teachers enrolled in the Workshop in Elementary Education, Dean Mark R. Shibles has announced.

Dr. Caswell has been a consultant on a variety of state curriculum programs including Virginia, Florida, and Kansas.

Before becoming Dean at Teachers College, Columbia, he was associated with the George Peabody College for Teachers.

Evan Johnson Wins MAE Award At Annual Music Night Program

Evan Raymond Johnson was presented the Mu Alpha Epsilon Senior Award by Professor Adelbert W. Sprague at the Music Night program last Friday evening.

Members of the glee club, band, orchestra, and faculty chose Johnson from a group of five candidates as the senior who has done the most for music during four years at college.

Johnson, a music major, has been a member of the Mu Alpha Epsilon music society for the last two years, and he won the MAE Applied Music Scholarship this past year. In each of his four years, he has been a member of the band and the orchestra, and he has been a soloist in most of the major concerts. He has also taken applied music courses for four years.

In his last two years, Johnson has conducted the fraternity chorus for the Inter-Fraternity Sing, and he has been the director of the brass group for Christmas Vespers.

Also during the Music Night Program, Dr. Sprague announced that the following people had been selected as new members of Mu Alpha Epsilon, an honorary music society: Bill Bod-

Throng Responds to Maine Day Call

Nearly 1500 Have Signed For Projects

Persons Not Listed Will Be Given Jobs

Nearly 1500 students and faculty members signed for Maine Day projects prior to the April 19 deadline, according to John Stimpson and Nancy Carter, project committee co-chairmen.

"We found it necessary to set such an early date," Stimpson said, "in order that the committee would have some idea of the number of workers that would be available for the projects. The response has been most gratifying."

"We realize that many, for one reason or another, may have missed the deadline. In that case those who did not turn in cards may still join the group. They need only be on hand Maine Day at the mayoral inaugural."

It was necessary in a few instances to reassign people to projects other than those they had requested. For instance 180 signed for the Elms project. Only 30 were needed.

Work projects and assigned workers are:

Observation of Maine Day Old Custom

Present Tradition Originated In 1935

By MARILYN WYMAN

1935 saw the beginning of another fine campus tradition—Maine Day. On May first of that year, under Carl Witham's chairmanship, the students at Maine worked on thirty assorted projects. That morning the lawns were raked, trees planted, chemistry equipment overhauled, a hammer and discus throw constructed, and other cleanup tasks accomplished.

In the afternoon of that first Maine Day, competitive teams ran relay races which the Campus stressed as not "too strenuous." The evening, as is still the custom, was taken over for entertainment. President Hauck starred in a burlesque opera, "The Lamentable Tragedy of Julius Caesar." The students presented skits by classes.

This first Maine Day also saw the first campus mayor elected from a slate of nine candidates.

The success of the first Maine Day entrenched the tradition which is still followed. In 1937 the evening entertainment was increased by a skit presented by the janitors.

Sunday was chosen to be Maine Day in 1938. A special edition of the Campus listed the projects and mayor platforms of what was termed as the "cleanest Maine Day and dirtiest mayor campaign." The afternoon featured a mock olympics with the student body divided into 20 teams representing different countries.

Maine Day, 1940, was limited to a treeplanting ceremony and sports events. A Clean Work Clothes dance was the order of the day in 1941 when four mayoralty candidates clamored

Playgrounds To Be Groomed

The South Apartment Council has completed plans for extensive Maine Day work projects.

The program has been broken down into three phases which will include:

- (1) General clean-up of the area,
- (2) Planting of trees and shrubs, and
- (3) General carpentry work.

Much of the work drawn up is aimed at improving the children's play grounds. Fences and gates will be repaired. New sand boxes will be constructed and swings will be erected in the play areas.

More than 45 residents of the South Apartments have signed for projects, Jesse Fogg, chairman of the project committee, reports.

Statement By President Hauck On Observance Of Maine Day

Commenting on the significance of Maine Day in the life of the University, President Arthur A. Hauck this week issued the following statement:

"We celebrate Maine Day with both work and play, knowing the good that comes from both.

"The planting that we do symbolizes our regard for tomorrow. And, along with the cleaning, raking, and digging that we do, it shows what we can accomplish by working together.

"Through our united efforts, the campus will be transformed in a day's time into something finer than it was—something in which we can take greater pride.

"We have a right to think, perhaps, that our Maine Day typifies, in a small way, something the world needs much more of—united effort toward better living.

"I know that everyone in the University will respond with the same fine spirit that has always been shown."

—ARTHUR A. HAUCK
President

"Artie Get Your Gun," Musical Extravaganza Highlights Festivities Of Evening Program

A few minutes before going to press the Campus was able to learn the details of the gigantic production planned by the Maine Mast for May 11. Until now the Mast's founder and president, James H. Firmin, and his executive committee, Philip S. Catir, John W. Ballou, and Raymond Rideout, have declined to give out any factual information concerning this production.

The Campus received the following letter from Mr. Firmin's office today: Gentlemen:

Now it can be told. The Maine Mast is presenting May 11, in conjunction with the annual Maine Day celebration, a musical extravaganza, "Artie Get Your Gun." This is an original, three-act, musical comedy written expressly for this presentation. We feel that the unusual dramatic appeal of this production has warranted the long weeks of strict secrecy. We wish to thank the Campus for co-operating with our program.

Now, to turn to details of "Artie Get Your Gun." After many long and tedious months of try-outs and rehearsals, the Mast selected for the starring role, because of his honest face and big brown eyes, a relatively unknown young actor, Arthur A. Hauck.

Mr. Hauck has come along remarkably well since rehearsals began, and we have every confidence that he will give an outstanding performance in spite of his lack of professional experience. This is indeed a compliment to his ability, for among the internationally renowned stars considered for the part were: John Smith, Henry Jones, and William Brown.

The supporting cast, technicians, and directing staff were chosen with the same extreme care and patience. Many lengthy volumes could well be devoted to the ability of each personality. But this is neither the time nor place to introduce them to the people of Maine. We feel forced to hold these details until the night of the performance when all details will be made public—in the programs which we will distribute in the lobby just before curtain time, for twenty-five cents each.

This much may be said at this time, however: the theme of "Artie Get Your Gun" is such as has never been conceived in any other dramatic vehicle. This we can say without fear of contradiction. Laid in the golden west of the past century, the action involves "Good Guys," "Bad Guys," Indians, and a realistic and romantic portrayal of life on the great American plains. Such a unique story has been embellished with the addition of sparkling western music. To describe the play itself at greater length would only detract from the enjoyment the first-night audience will derive from seeing this spectacle for itself.

At this time I wish to express my appreciation for the marvellous jobs Mr. Hal Moulton, our musical director, and Mr. Robert Campana, our choral director, have done. Also, I wish to thank Mr. Al Dumais for the splendid musical score he has written for the play. Last, but indeed far from least, my gratitude is extended to co-authors Philip Catir, John Ballou, Raymond Rideout, and Russell Woolley, whose creative minds have contributed immeasurably in making "Artie Get Your Gun" a play which will most assuredly be recorded in the annals of dramatic history as a milestone in the art.

Commending the Campus for its enlightened brand of journalism, I remain,

James H. Firmin, President
Maine Mast

The Campus has been requested to ask all those who will attend "Artie Get Your Gun" to bring a sufficient supply of pennies. Also, it is requested that as many as possible plan to attend the first showing. Doors will be open at 6:30 p.m.

Refreshments Served

Barbara Haney, chairman of the refreshment committee, has announced that the Bookstore will furnish refreshments to all project workers during the work period May 11.

Maine Day Cancelled Once

Only once since its inception in 1935 has the Maine Day activities been cancelled. In 1942, because of the war, no program was carried out.

Maine Day Activities

There will be so many things going on in so many places on Maine Day that a single individual cannot hope to take in everything.

Thirty-two outdoor projects plus many departmental projects will keep everyone busy during the morning hours. In the afternoon, the Open House exhibits and displays from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. offer unlimited opportunity for everyone to become better acquainted with the work of many of the departments.

Highlights of the three-day period, May 9-May 11 are:

MONDAY, MAY 9

7:00-9:00 p.m.—Mayoralty Speeches, Memorial Gym.

TUESDAY, MAY 10

7:30-10:30 p.m.—Interfraternity Sing, Memorial Gym.

10:15 p.m.—Bonfire—Back of Memorial Gym

WEDNESDAY, MAY 11

8:00 a.m.—Mayoral Inaugural, Library or Memorial Gym.

8:20-11:30 a.m.—Work Projects.

11:30 a.m.—Memorial Tree Planting, Rogers Hall.

1:00-5:00 p.m.—University Open House, All Buildings.

3:00 p.m.—Baseball: U. of N. H.

7:00-8:15 p.m.—Student-Faculty Skit, Memorial Gym.

8:15-8:30 p.m.—Presentation Ceremony, Field House.

8:45-10:00 p.m.—Student-Faculty Skit, Memorial Gym.

Sigma Chi Completes New Memorial Room

In honor of the chapter's dead of World War II, a memorial room has been completed at the Sigma Chi house.

Formerly the room was the game room, but now it will house a library and the chapter's trophies. A plaque containing the names of the war dead has been placed on one wall.

The room, finished in polished knotty pine, will be dedicated at a service in the near future.
