October, 2023 Campus IT Newsletter

Classroom Room Description Types

With the various types of classroom and event spaces at our campuses, it has become important to identify and standardize our reference to these spaces and the equipment to aid us in speaking consistently about this technology.

Repaving MaineStreet Update!

Be sure to check for ongoing important dates.

Setup printing on a personal device

You can print to a University owned Xerox device from a personally owned device.

Which storage locations are appropriate for my data?

Learn the proper place to store your University data.

How can I better protect my personal information?

Multi Factor Authentication provides an enhanced level of login security for your UMS account that adds a layer of protection to your digital identity by verifying that the person attempting to access your account is really you!
