Chi Omega Barred from Rushing Freshmen; Retains Bidding Privileges

Sorority Penalized by Pan-Hellenic Society When One of Its Members Gives Freshman Co-eds Rides to Orono

Chi Omega is forbidden to rush freshman women until next Wednesday—thus runs the verdict of the Pan-Hellenic jury upon answer to the complaint petitioned by several sororities. It was the unanimous opinion of these sororities, and all others, that Chi Omega be penalized for the violation of rule 11 of article I in the rushing code. The offense was the offering to freshmen of rides from campus to Orono two different times by a member of the accused sorority.

The penalty has been duly posted in sufficiently conspicuous places so that no freshmen will accept further rushing from any Chi Omega. However, the fraternity in question still retains its bidding privileges, and though barred from further rushing, will extend bids as will the other sororities next Monday at Orono.

New Issue of Maine Spring Will Appear First of Next Week

The new issue of the Maine-Spring will be on sale the first of next week. Copies may be purchased at the Bookstore, the Orono Waiting Room, or from your house agent. The number is full, varied, and of general interest. Among the contents are humorous stories, tales of adventure, a ghost story, and tales of romance and sentiment. For a little laughter try "Hot Water for Shaving", "Mrs. Wangle Steps Off", or "Clarence"; there is excitement and adventure in "Candy" or "Revenge"; for a more serious touch read "The Blue Flower" or "Peace".

A Freshman Woman Discusses Rushing

Of late we freshmen have been somewhat like people driving in heavy holiday traffic with too many people eager and willing to guide us. We have been tremendously busy, much confused and not quite sure of where we were going or why. Great and impressive changes have taken place in our social life—once almost outcasts now of even greater importance than seniors. This in itself is enough to confuse anyone. What results are evolving or likely to evolve from the present way of rushing?

I may be a pessimist, but I have a strong feeling that among the results will be that of deficiency both in physical and (Continued on Page Four)

University of Maine Librarians Injured

Three people were injured and a car badly damaged in an automobile accident last Thursday morning. A car, driven by Miss Geneva McGary of Bangor, assistant librarian at the University of Maine library, met in a head-on collision with a car going in the opposite direction. Miss McGary was accompanied in the car by the Misses Arlene Kane and Frances Palmer, librarians, and both of Bangor. Miss Kane suffered only minor scratches while Miss Palmer and Miss McGary were rushed to a Bangor Hospital. Miss McGary was at first thought to have a broken nose, but both she and Miss Palmer are now recovering rapidly and will soon be back on duty, although they will not soon forget the shock of the accident.

BASEBALL MENTOR CALLS FIRST PRACTICE

FRED BRICE

Twelve pitchers and six catchers reported at battery practice Monday afternoon at the indoor field at Orono in answer to Fred Brice's call for candidates. Nutting, star twirler on the freshman team last year, and Taft, who has had varsity experience as a pitcher, are the outstanding candidates at present. Solander, perhaps the best bet Brice has available for pitcher, is on the injured list. It was at first thought that he would not be able to play this season but he was on the field Monday and it now appears that he will be in shape when the season opens. The other candidates for pitcher are Spurling, Gray, Perkins, Kisonak, Foster and Bangs. Wells, regular back stop on last year's varsity team, is the most outstanding for the job behind the bat. "Groucho" Ward, a former South Portland High man and catcher on last year's freshman team, is running a close second for the berth. The other candidates are Ingals, Palmer, Eaton and Sezak. Practice will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at the indoor field. In the session Monday, Brice put the men through a few warming up exercises and they had some practice in throwing the ball around.

Maine Students Hurt When Car Overturns

Four University of Maine students, Elsie Crowell, Doris Ballard, Harriet Porter and Merton Flanders, overturned in their car near Carmel, last Saturday morning. They were going through to Corinna. Early Saturday morning Miss Crowell received a phone call from her mother, stating that her brother was seriously ill. Miss Porter volunteered to take her home by car, so they started about 5:45 o'clock. Near Carmel the car overturned on a very bad stretch of road. The occupants crawled out from the wreck, and were given first aid at a nearby house. All escaped with a few scratches and bruises except Miss Ballard, who received severe cuts about the head and left eye. Miss Crowell's brother, Elliott, died on Tuesday.

SMITH TO SPEAK ON PROHIBITION

The speaker at Assembly Monday morning will be Frederick W. Smith, of Waterville, secretary of the Christian Civic League of Maine. Mr. Smith will deal with conditions as they were in this county prior to the passing of the prohibition law.

Frosh Hoopsters Defeat Powerful New Hampshire Club

Work of Pike for Maine Frosh Feature of Game

By playing superior basketball the Maine Freshmen won their most important game of the year by winning over the New Hampshire Freshmen, 25 to 22, in the Armory last Saturday afternoon. Maine was never headed although the young Wildcats tied the score in the beginning of the fourth period. Maine displayed a superior offensive game although the defensive work of both clubs was outstanding.

Maine jumped into the lead at the start from Captain Halgren's two neat baskets from the side of the floor. At the end of the first quarter the score was 8 to 4 in favor of Maine. Neither team could penetrate the defense of the other with any degree of certainty. Perlmutter and Romanski were given a chance to show their line in the second period which ended 17 to 10 in Maine's favor.

President Boardman And Alumni Secretary To Address Alumni

Plans for a series of meetings of University of Maine alumni to be attended by Dr. Harold S. Boardman, president of the University, and Charles E. Crossland, alumni secretary, have just been announced.

The first meeting is to be at Portland, February 28, which Mr. Crossland is to attend. Saturday night Dr. and Mrs. Boardman and Mr. Crossland are to be present at a big meeting of Boston alumni, Dr. Boardman being one of the speakers. Prof. Charles P. Weston, head of the department of mechanics at the university, is also to speak. During the following week the alumni secretary is to address groups in Providence, Schenectady, and Buffalo.

Dr. Boardman is to spend the week of March 10 speaking to alumni at meetings in Worcester, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Pa., Philadelphia and New York. Mrs. Boardman is to accompany the president on the trip. Mr. Crossland during that week expects to meet with alumni in Detroit, Cleveland, Allentown, Pa., Philadelphia and New York.

Harry E. Sutton '09 of Boston, a native of Orono, is to be the chief speaker at Providence. He is an ex-president of the General Alumni Association and a member of the Alumni Council.

At the meeting of northeastern New York alumni in Schenectady Raymond H. Fogler '15, of New York City, a native of Rockport is to give the principal address. Mr. Fogler is president of the General Alumni Association.

PROFESSOR SMALL'S TREATISE ESTABLISHES DATIVE CASE USED AFTER COMPARATIVES

The Linguistic Society of America has just published as its fourth volume of studies on language a treatise by Dr. George W. Small of the U. of M. English staff. The title of the book is "The Germanic Case of Comparison: with a Special Study of English."

The books that appear in this series must embody a fresh contribution to the knowledge of language. The present work by Professor Small establishes the existence of a dative case used after comparatives in all the Germanic languages. It is demonstrated that this usage is genuine, native Germanic and not an adaptation of the Latin Ablative. By tracing this construction through the historic periods of English, the author has made clear its influence on our modern speech. Louise Campbell, Miss Elsie Brickett, Herschel Bricker, Frederick Fassett and Captain Hugh Wear.

So get busy, fraternities, on your acts. Make them clever, peppy, and interesting.

Maine Girls' Smoking Becomes Pertinent Debating Question

Interviews by Campus Discloses Prominence of Girls' Smoking

To smoke or not to smoke—that is the question that a great many Maine co-eds have been debating lately; the question need hardly be asked, however, as it is known that the majority of co-eds do smoke. How, when, and where is a matter which the letter columns and the authorities have discussed; but it is interesting to note a few characteristics of the co-eds' smoking.

Present day customs have decreed that women may smoke and derive as much enjoyment from it as men. If that is the case, the Maine women are right there when it comes to the weed, according to the results of a series of interviews conducted by the Campus during the past week. Despite their love of tobacco the co-eds take it rolled in thin white paper, and as yet pipes have not been introduced among the feminine students in the university.

The co-eds smoke, as a steady diet, the cheaper brands of cigarettes, although the expensive ones are sometimes purchased, especially if a check from home has just been received.

Cigarette holders are not used to any great extent it was found. Although now and then some very attractive ones are displayed. The investigation brought out the fact that there is nothing quite so fascinating to the women smoker as a gift of a holder, a cigarette case, or a lighter. Some of the girls were found to have long thin holders of jade or bright scarlet—purely feminine smoking accessories; others boast short squat amber and black ones such as one might discover in the pocket of some Joe College-boy. There are attractive modernistic cigarette cases owned by the co-eds, and both envy and admiration are evident when one of the girls displays a lighter.

Intra-Mural Hoop Competition Gets Keen As Finals Approach

The Intra-Mural Hoop League held some of the fastest, classiest exhibitions staged on the court this season since the last battle between Beta House and Delta Tau Delta in which the latter came so near pulling the unexpected and winning from the powerful Beta quintet. With the score 17-15 at the half Beta broke away, however, in a fast scoring exhibition that netted them another victory 23-15. Alpha Tau Omega trounced Phi Kappa Sigma to pile up another victory toward the southern League victory.

One of the most keenly contested battles of the court took place Thursday night when the hitherto doomed bevy of hoopsters from Kappa Sigma gave the campus a surprise by upsetting Theta Chi 32-26, one of the ringleaders, in a furious forty minutes of hard fighting. Theta Chi fought hard but was unable to over- (Continued on Page Four)

PLANS WELL UNDERWAY FOR VODVIL NITE

If one were to ask most anybody on the Maine campus what Charlie Hardy is most famous for, they'd probably say "for his line." His line sure is immense and you'll never see him in any better form than he'll be in on Vodvil Nite. He's going to be the center of attraction, the focal point of interest. As an announcer, let me tell you, he's going to be a knockout. He's going to tell you all about the acts as they come.

The judges have been selected with several points in mind; they must be young, with a student's point of view and sense of humor, they must have no fraternity or sorority affiliations on this campus, they must be well known and well liked among the students. They all fill these conditions. It is with pride that the judges are announced. Miss

Forty-Two Rounds of Boxing Feature Tonight's Tourney in First of Elimination Series for Championships of the University of Maine in Four Divisions

The Memorial Gymnasium will be converted temporarily into a real boxing arena this evening when Bill Daley's battling group of leatherpushers mingle in the first tourney of the elimination series. Plenty of real, clever action is assured to the university fight fans by the fourteen bout card of forty-two rounds that has been arranged for this evening's preliminaries. Competition, as in the past, will be held in four classes—featherweight, lightweight, light heavyweight, and heavyweight.

Frosh Tracksters Bury Hebron Acad. In Surprise Victory

The frosh tracksters buried Hebron Academy 65-24 Saturday in an Indoor track meet in which the Big Green could succeed in gaining only three first places and maintain such little balance that they were nosed out of some events completely. The freshmen scored every first place except in three events; Wardwell of Hebron took a first in the 1000 yd. run, Brown of Hebron in the hurdles, and Eynan in the broad jump. Phil Havey was high man of the meet with eleven points, winning the pole vault, high jump, and taking a third in the broad jump. McKinery won both the 300 yd. run and the 600 to score ten points and Means won the 100 yd. dash and took a third in the (Continued on Page Four)

MAINE MASQUE DRAWS LARGE AUDIENCE TO PRESENTATION OF "THE SWAN"

Wednesday evening the Maine Masque presented Miss Sylvia Gould in Ferenc Molnar's romantic comedy, The Swan, supported by a fine versatile cast, including Atwood Levensaler, Raymond Bradstreet, John Barry, Anna Lyon, Myrilla Guilfoil, and Eunice Copeland. The production, under the personal direction of Prof. Mark Bailey, was the outstanding campus production of the season.

Raymond Bradstreet as the Father Hyacinth, the kindly sympathetic brother of the haughty princess, outshone all his past performances in Masque plays. He gave the venerable monk the air of chastity and foresight that Molnar poured forth into the role.

Atwood Levensaler of Rockland gave one of the finest characterizations of his dramatic career as the unfortunate Dr. Nicholas Agi, who loved someone that he might never have, a princess.

Two freshmen who made their dramatic debuts Wednesday evening were Miss Dorothy Blair of Cumberland Mills and Clarence Q. Berger. Miss Blair, whose past experiences on the professional stage seemed to make her feel quite at ease, portrayed the little chambermaid, while Mr. Berger was seen as one of the hussars.

DEAN L. S. CORBETT

Bill Daley, present champ of the heavyweight division and instructor of boxing, will not compete in the tourney it was definitely ascertained today. With Daley, a likely repeater for the heavy crown out of the competition, it appears that Frank Rufo, Ray Smith, or Red Avery may be considered as the most logical aspirants to the title of the group of contenders in the heavyweight field. Rufo, runnerup last year, is always a dangerous man in the ring, and can be depended on to carry the fight to his opponent all the time. Smith carries a young load of dynamite in either hand in addition to plenty of skill in sending the hooks and crosses where they count most. Red Avery looks particularly good, possessing plenty of speed, combined with accuracy and a strong punch. The writer expects this division to furnish most of the fireworks in the show although many of the boys in the lighter classes will please with the skill acquired in the manly art under the tutelage of Daley and Bill Kenyon since last November.

In the light heavy division, Louis Asali, last year's winner, appears to be the strongest contender though he will meet considerable opposition in Gibby Robichaud who has rapidly forged to the front.

Plenty of fast stepping and keen competition can be looked for in the lightweight class with such contenders as Steve Kosciolk, Butler, and Vernon, last year's champ. Kosciolk was kept out of the tourney last year by illness, but is in excellent shape at present and looks like a winner in the opinion of the writer. Butler and Vernon have had plenty of (Continued on Page Four)

VARSITY GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM DEFEATS ALUMNAE

The varsity co-ed basketball team experienced an unusual innovation Saturday night when they were allowed to use the Armory for their game with the alumnae. An additional novelty was that of finding the former Maine co-eds in excellent form and for some time during the game faster than their younger opponents.

For the first time in four years the alumnae have been able to make up a team with sufficient speed and skill to threaten the varsity with defeat. In other years the latter was obliged to replace the first team with poorer material in order to give the alums a sporting chance. Saturday night however, conditions were decidedly altered. The alumnae had as strong a team as the varsity and had fortified themselves with one or two substitutes.

MORE TROUBLE WITH RUSHING

The barring of Chi Omega Sorority from rushing for the remainder of the rushing is undoubtedly just under the present laws of the Pan-Hellenic Society, but the situation in which the women of this sorority find themselves as a result of breaking the rule is just another illustration of the foolishness and inefficiency of the whole women's rushing system at Maine.

It is indeed tragic when college women who are, at least, supposed to be intelligent will make a rule that prevents one woman from giving another a ride in an automobile from the town of Orono to the campus.

Yet such is the case, and that is just what the whole fight is about.

It seems that a certain freshman co-ed living in Orono has been riding back and forth to the campus in an automobile with an upper class woman who happened to belong to Chi Omega. This is a perfectly natural thing to do, and the reasonable person with average intelligence would see no harm in giving a fellow being a lift. The sisters of the three sororities that complained to the Pan-Hellenic Society, however, evidently thought that their feet were being trodden upon, and so like brave women with the interests of society at heart came to the front and entered the complaint that resulted in Chi Omega being penalized.

These organizations had a perfect right according to law to make this complaint, and no one can condemn them for doing so, but one can hardly condemn a sorority for disobeying or overlooking a law as unreasonable as this one.

The fault does not lie with the Pan-Hellenic society or the sororities. They both acted within their rights. The real trouble is with the rushing system as a whole. It is inefficient, foolish and decidedly not conducive to good fellowship among the co-eds of the university, and it is the duty of Pan-Hellenic or some other influential women's organization on the campus to, at least, try to make an improvement.

An open rushing system similar to that employed by the men at Maine, while not perfect would, it seems, be much more workable and satisfactory than the present system used by the women.

A UNION BUILDING FOR MAINE

Among other things that are conspicuously absent on the Maine campus is a building offering good social and recreational facilities for the students. A building of this type might provide better quarters for the M.C.A. conference rooms. It might have pool-tables, card-rooms, smoking rooms, and possibly a dining hall suitable for the giving of banquets. Incidentally, the much-discussed problem of suitable places for athletic trophies would be solved naturally by a building of this type. Other colleges in the state have such buildings, and there are favorite spots on the campus.

At present, students who have a spare hour between classes, find that the time goes very slowly. Men who do not live on the campus, as well as many who do, are rather at a loss as to how to pass the time. True, the M.C.A. building offers facilities of a sort, but of a poor sort. The M.C.A. building is little short of an eyesore—it is antiquated and in not too good a state of repair.

The building advocated need not be a massive structure, but it should be of ample size to allow for future expansion.

BOOK REVIEW

Arundel

By Kenneth Roberts

If you would care for a novel in which the plot is gripping melodrama—the melo-drama of history—in which the vivid local color is the local color of early Maine, in which the characters are as real and lifelike as our friends, characters who "can scarce drink a gallon of small beer without thickening the tongue"—if you would care to meet the people who settled Maine and who were the ancestors of her famous sons, get hold of a copy of "Arundel" by Kenneth Roberts and prepare to do no studying until you have finished it.

The story starts at Arundel where Steven Nason sets out to find his youthful sweetheart who has been stolen by Northern Indians. The Revolutionary War breaks out and he joins Benedict Arnold's tragic expedition to Quebec. The siege of the city was fruitless, but Steven slinks thru the enemy lines to find Mary. What he does find—well, read it yourself!

The secret of the book is the author's style. You don't read this book, you live it. You suffer in the cold, struggle thru the swamps, live in old Quebec. If you want a story that is different read "Arundel."

SEVERAL CHANGES MADE IN CAMPUS STAFF

The Campus has adopted the policy of reviewing one or more outstanding books each week in a column that will be headed Book Reviews. This has been tried several times this year, and it has received so much favorable comment that it has been decided to make the Book Review a weekly column.

Miss Margaret Hammel, who is prominent in literary circles on the campus will edit the new column.

Watch the Campus Book Reviews, they may aid you in the selection of books that you will enjoy reading.

Two other changes made in the editorial staff of the Campus during the past week are the appointment of Miss Henrietta Findlen as women's sports editor and Miss Beryl Bryant as humorist editor. The position of fraternity editor has been dropped, it being found that the material in this department could be handled with the general news.

CAMPUS BOARD NOTICE

All reporters and editors who do not attend the regular weekly meetings of the Campus Board held at the M.C.A. Building Fridays at one o'clock P.M. are liable to dismissal from the board.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor, The Maine Campus,
Campus.

Dear Sir:

I shall appreciate the publication of this explanatory note.

Misunderstanding has developed among the students concerning a research project in progress under the direction of the Department of Bacteriology.

The aim of this study is to determine by means of a suitable blood test the incidence of infection in humans with the organism causing a disease known as undulant or intermittent fever.

Realizing that the presence of students at the university, coming from all parts of the state, afforded an opportunity to gain some information as to the possible incidence of undulant fever in Maine, the Department of Bacteriology desires to solicit the cooperation of the student body and would appreciate volunteers, who would be willing to give a small amount of blood for the test. The blood is taken from an arm vein under aseptic conditions so that little discomfort is felt. The blood serum of an individual, who has been or is infected with this micro organism, gives a specific positive reaction when subjected to a suitable laboratory test. However, a positive test does not necessarily mean that this person has had or may develop a clinical case of undulant fever, but does indicate that, at some time, this organism has invaded and multiplied in the body to such a degree as to cause a specific response from the body cells. The intensity of these responses may be determined by the laboratory blood test. In tests conducted on one hundred students, seven have shown positive laboratory reactions, but, in no case has a clinical evidence of undulant fever been found.

It is hoped that the students who are willing to cooperate in this project will come to the Bacteriological laboratories in Winslow Hall any afternoon to make arrangements for the test.

Very truly yours,

E. R. Hitchner,

Professor of Bacteriology

To the Editor-in-Chief,
Dear Sir:

This present rushing system for sororities is rather a serious affair. Its greatest fault, however, is that the time of rushing is too limited. Freshmen cannot possibly become acquainted with upperclass women in so short a time. Also it may happen that one sorority monopolizes a girl so much that others do not get any time to meet and know her. Why doesn't "Pan-Hell" make a rule enabling each sorority to have an equal chance?

Rushing is bad economically for the freshmen. They are invited to lunches and dinners. If they refuse the sorority women are angry, but they should consider that every time a freshman stays to lunch it means paying out unnecessary money. She has to pay her board at home and a lot extra for all these rushing meals.

The most difficult thing to do is to find time for "studying". Every free minute a freshman owns is taken until seven-thirty. Then she is so wearied from being "gushed" upon that studying is impossible.

I do think that the present two point rule for rushing is an excellent idea. Although it is hard for the women who have tried and failed, it gives them all a goal to work for. The statements going about campus are that the freshmen women are terribly "dumb". I wonder if those who have made these remarks have considered that in previous years several women have had to prolong their initiation until they made two points?

Yours truly,
A. B. C.

Editor Maine Campus

Dear Sir:

It seems that some students have misconstrued the purpose of the Technology Personnel Department. The fact that several of the men whom we have been interviewing have been dropped has led to the belief that our purpose is to secure information which will serve as evidence for cause of dropping students. Also some of the students seem to think that only men whose ranks are low come to our office.

We wish to make it known through the columns of the Campus that such is not the case. This department has been established to aid the students in all kinds of problems whether they be financial, vocational, or concerning an adequate plan of study. We have had as many interviews with Technology students as it has been possible for us to arrange. Our purposes are to see that each man gets a square deal and that he in return gives his best efforts to his college work, both for his own good and for the good of the University of Maine. If attending the movies six nights a week is good for all concerned we are for it; but if such slavery to off-campus activities is clearly leading to a premature expenditure of train fare back home, we will try to make such cause and effect clear to the participant. We would like to know each and every student as he knows himself. Point-average means nothing to us

A.T.O. HOLDS PARTY

Alpha Tau Omega entertained at their house Saturday evening at a houseparty, and Sunday evening at a dinner. About thirty couples were present at the houseparty, and it proved to be a delightful evening. Major and Mrs. E. J. Oliver were chaperones at both affairs.

At intermission, refreshments of ice cream, cake, and punch were served. The Crescent Troubadours furnished music. The dance orders, which were very attractive, were of printed parchment, and in addition to the cover design, bore the A.T.O. seal. The committee for the dance was composed of "Dick" Loring, "Art" Lufkin, "Ran" Young, "Don" Marble, and "Mal" Long.

The dinner of which "Mal" Long, steward of the house, was in charge, consisted of an elaborate menu of six courses.

Pi Beta Phi opened fraternity party week with an entertainment for her rushees at the log cabin Sunday evening.

Mrs. Howard Spurl, Mrs. Cecil G. Garland, Miss Catherine Buck, Miss Bernice Purinton, Miss Ruth Daggett, Miss Louise Pendell and Miss Rena Campbell were the alumnae guests.

An original, comic pantomime was part of the entertainment, and the party favors, chiffon handkerchiefs, were given by the ushers instead of programs.

Arrow cake and coffee were served as finishing touches to the party which ended at 9:00 o'clock.

MATRONS ENTERTAINED AT TEA

Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Witherlee and Miss Webster entertained the other matrons on the campus at a tea Wednesday afternoon at the University Inn.

The teas, which this year have become a custom, are given frequently. Mrs. McDonough and Mrs. McCollum were hostesses at the last one, which took place at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house.

CONTRIBUTORS' CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

The members of the Contributors' Club will meet this evening at the home of Dr. Milton Ellis at 7:30 o'clock.

except as it indicates individual problems. If any student will bring his problems to us we will do our best to help him solve them.

We feel that each student admitted to the University should feel a duty to give the best he has to (1) The University of Maine, (2) to his parents, and (3) to his own future success. The main purpose of the Technology Personnel Department is to help each student to accomplish the purpose for which he came to the University.

Rose Smith Ramsey

Asst. Director of Personnel

Editor of the Campus:

Maine has neglected for a long time a certain phase of its University life, and it is about time something was said about it. By bringing this matter before the student body it is hoped that this lack will be remedied.

There is a Literary magazine that has been limping around this campus for a number of years and it is called the "Maine-Spring". It is an off-shoot of the old "Blue Book" first started by Lincoln Colcord. Since then, the magazine has been buried, revived, killed, brought to life, and at present, the old thing is on its last legs and horribly in need of help.

Throughout Maine and in a number of the New England States, the U. of M. has been and is noted (quite justly) for its fame in the Track world. In the State, the football teams of Maine are glorified. Baseball has its share of glories, and debating is beginning to show signs of life.

The results of all this fame has brought to Maine the name of being a rugged, excellent sport, but on the other hand, has the name of being unpolished and crude. Some may say that it is far better to be athletic etc. without acquiring polish. This is all very well—BUT WHY NOT BE BOTH???

By polish I mean that luster that comes from other things besides sport. I mean Literary things.

Bowdoin has a Literary Magazine that makes the Maine-Spring look like the last howl for help. Bates has a Literary Magazine that is more than an equal of ours, and as far as the rest of the colleges in New England are concerned our Maine-Spring looks like the Funny Papers in comparison with the Harper's Weekly.

Why? WHY???

Because the Maine-Spring Board hasn't enough money to buy a two cent stamp, that is why!—because the student body is too indifferent to do anything but a few things, and even these are neglected somewhat.

If you'd give the Board a few buckets of sympathy and a few iron shovels, it

METHODIST CHURCH PRESENTS "THE CHARITY BAZAAR"

The musical comedy, "The Charity Bazaar," to be given in the Town Hall at 8 o'clock tonight by the choir of the Methodist Church will be of interest to students because of its large and well trained cast which includes several students and instructors, as well as Mrs. Carrie Newman, well-known soloist. The many feature numbers and excellent chorus promise an evening of laughs and entertainment.

MRS. BOARDMAN ENTERTAINS AT TEA

Mrs. Harold S. Boardman entertained three tables of bridge Tuesday evening. Those present were, Professor and Mrs. Shibles, Professor and Mrs. Jordan, Professor and Mrs. Fassett, Professor and Mrs. Gilbert Stewart and Professor and Mrs. Dunham.

Phi Kappa Sigma will hold an informal house party March 8. Lieutenant and Mrs. Richard McKee will be the chaperones for the affair. Music will be furnished by the Troubadours.

KAPPA PSI RUSHING PARTY

The Kappa Psi rushing party was held Tuesday evening at the Penobscot Valley Country Club in Orono. It was a formal party carried out in cabaret style; the tables were decorated with balloons representing the colors of Kappa Delta and Kappa Psi. The guests ate and danced between the acts of the program creating the atmosphere of a cabaret. Among the guests present were Louise Campbell and Katherine Long of Kappa Delta. The place was made gay and lively with balloons, paper hats, and noise-makers. The program began with dances and songs by three dainty misses from Old Town. A sketch, "Salade a la Kappa Psi," presented by Kappa Psi members, produced in the mixing, the spirit of the sorority in the form of its creed. The history of Kappa Psi was told by Mary Quinn, president, and Louise Campbell spoke on the history of Kappa Delta.

might be able to produce a Literary Magazine worth twenty-five cents a copy!

Oh, yes, I know the trick. You watch your friend buy a copy and then you read it. Smart? You bet. Saves money? Sure. But the Board doesn't feel smart nor exactly wealthy, and the result is that the next issue looks like the morning after the night before.

We have a good Newspaper only because the Powers put the price on our term bills. I wonder how long that paper would last if it attempted to subsist the way Maine-Spring does. Live, did I say? Yeah, crawl on its stomach!

We have a good Prism because the price is taxed by cornering the Juniors and forcing them to pay. I wonder, I wonder how long the Prism would last if it had to live chop-stick to mouth fashion after the manner of the Maine-Spring?

I trust that at least a few students will glance this over and endeavor to help us out by subscribing to a copy of OUR Literary Magazine.

Thanks.

M.C.A. FRESHMAN CABINET ELECTIONS MARCH 4

A meeting for the election of the freshman cabinet of the men's organization of the M.C.A. for the second semester will be held Tuesday, March 4th, at 6:45 P.M. in the M.C.A. building. Those whose names have been submitted for the vote of the freshmen are Henry Conklin, president; Richard Pomfret and Edward Milne, vice-presidents; Carroll Works, secretary. The nominating committee, consisting of Whiteley Ackroyd, Paul Robinson, and Tyler Whitmore, has recommended that the officers for the first semester be continued for the remainder of the school year. Only for the office of vice-president has any change been suggested. Pomfret and Milne have been nominated for this position which was recently vacated by William Atkinson who found it necessary to resign because of the pressure of other duties.

Every freshman on and off the campus is urged to be present and have a voice in the election.

BANANAS WAS RIGHT

Bananas prophesied an early spring, and the ground-hog six more weeks of winter.

At first it seemed that the ground-hog was the fitter weather prophet, but the last week, with its blue skies, melting snow, and balmy weather seems to favor Bananas.

DEAN BEAN RETURNS FROM CONFERENCE

Dean Bean returned late Tuesday afternoon from Atlantic City, where she has been attending the convention of the National Association of Deans of Women.

MAINE AGRICULTURAL LEADERS ATTEND BOSTON CONFERENCE

Dr. Leon S. Merrill, Director Extension Service; A. L. Deering, Assistant Director; Therese Wood, Nutrition Specialist and H. L. Richardson, Poultry Specialist, are attending the Eastern States Extension conference in Boston February 25, 26, 27.

Mr. Deering is general chairman of the conference and he has announced that the central theme will be "The Use of Economic and Social Facts in the Determination of Extension Problems and Their Satisfactory Solution." R. H. Fogler, an executive of the W. T. Grant Company, New York City, and a former University of Maine graduate, is to speak on "The Selection, Training and Supervision of Personnel."

Dean J. S. Stevens gave a lecture on Robert Browning Tuesday in Dr. A. M. Turner's Browning class.

Dean Paul Cloke has arranged for men, representing industries from all parts of the east, to speak in the General Lecture Course.

An invitation is now extended to all Tech men to attend these lectures and even more than that, an opportunity is offered to meet the speaker and have conferences with them in the M.C.A. between 3:00 and 4:15 on Thursday afternoon. Arrangements may be made at the Personnel Department of the College of Technology.

The speakers who have been selected are in most cases men who will be able to discuss the employment question with but little hesitation even though it is not their duty.

The speaker for Feb. 27 is Hon. Benj. F. Cleaves who will speak on "The World as we Find It."

Francis L. Keane, head of the Human Engineering Department of the General Electric, will speak on March 6. His topic is one which should be of interest—"Human Engineering".

PLAY PRODUCTION CLASS TO PRESENT "TWEEDLES"

The Play Production class has chosen "Tweedles" by Booth Tarkington for their next play. It is a three-act comedy laid in Mrs. Alburgane's antique shop.

The cast is as follows: Mrs. Alburgane, Thelma Gibbs; Ninsara, Mary Crowley; Julian, Ray Holmes; Mrs. Castlebury, Eleanor Meacham; Mr. Castlebury, Charles O'Connor; Adam Tweedle, Asa Wasgatt; Ambrose, Donald McCormick; Phileman, Edward Berry.

BATES WINTER TRACK MEET POSTPONED TO MARCH 1

Due to the pre-season thaw last weekend the winter carnival at Bates College scheduled for last week was postponed until Saturday, March 1. Coach Thompson, Bates' winter sports mentor, wired that snow conditions in Lewiston were such that another snowfall will be necessary before the carnival can take place.

Because of this shifting of the carnival date, a serious complication arises for the M.O.C. team. Clayton Hardison, Maine's star snowshoer, will be unable to attend the meet, due to the fact that he will then be initiated into the Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Hardison was rated as a sure winner of the 150-yard snowshoe dash, and the five points which would otherwise be awarded Maine will now go to Bates. The Outing Club team, however, is still confident that it can bring back the state championship, provided the weather gods are all favorable.

FRESHMEN DEFEAT BANGOR

The freshman co-ed basketball team defeated Bangor High 22-13 Friday afternoon, Feb. 21, in Bangor. Miss Rogers' sextette worked well together but the defeat was not an altogether easy one. From the end of the first quarter the freshmen had a double lead over Bangor. This, however, was not an indication of much shooting. The guarding on both teams was outstanding and better work was done in this back section than in either the center or the forward positions. An exceptional guard was Crane of Bangor while Henry and Smith kept Bangor's forwards well in hand.

FENCING ABOLISHED

S. M. Wallace officially announced Monday afternoon the death of fencing at the University for the remainder of the semester. Plans are already in formulation, however, for the revival of the sport next year when it is hoped to have the official backing of the Intra-Murals.

A committee composed of B. C. Kent, S. M. Wallace, and Bernard Schneider, student fencing instructor, who were appointed to investigate the advisability of continuing fencing instruction at the University reported adversely, and upon their recommendation the continental game was dropped. Men who were reporting for fencing instruction should report to "Wally" for further instruction as to their Physical Training.

It is planned to have the Intra-Mural Athletic Association sponsor fencing at the University next year much as it has backed boxing during the last two years. A team would also be formed to meet in competition with neighboring colleges such as Bowdoin, Norwich, Harvard, etc. Baldwin and Schneider, both of whom are expert foilsmen, will return next year and should form the nucleus for a fairly good team which could easily be formed out of the score or so of men who reported for fencing instruction during the first semester.

GRANT REPRESENTATIVE TO INTERVIEW SENIORS

E. A. Dick, of the personnel department of the W. T. Grant Company, extensive chain store organization is to be on the campus Monday, March 10 to interview members of the senior class who are interested in chain store management.

The W. T. Grant Company is one of the youngest and fastest growing of the so called larger chain store systems. Many Maine men are in the employ of the company, several holding responsible positions.

Seniors who desire to have an interview with Mr. Dick are urged to make an appointment either with Dr. Ashworth, head of the economics department, or at the alumni office, Room 13, Fernald Hall, at which time they will be given a copy of the booklet "Training for Retail Merchants", which is to be read prior to the interview. Mr. Dick will hold his interviews in Room 11, Fernald.

SCREEN

"Show of Shows", Warner Bros. and Vitaphone super-revue in natural color will show at Strand Theatre, Friday and Saturday.

This extravaganza, the most stupendous yet screened, has scores upon scores of the famous stars of stage and screen, many musical and dancing units and people numbering over half a thousand. There is such a variety in the numbers that every moment is filled with laughter and suspense.

John Barrymore does the superb soliloquy from Shakespeare's "King Henry VI." Irene Bordoni and Georges Carpentier have separate numbers with large companies—and each give performances which do credit to their Parisian background. Winnie Lightner is there with her antics, and Bull Montana, and many of the younger lights, such as Grant Withers, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Myrna Loy, Patsy Ruth Miller, Richard Barthelmess and Nick Lucas. John Adolph directed the "Show of Shows" and those international geniuses of dance creation and execution, Larry Ceballos and Jack Haskell, directed stage presentations. This glittering and melodious picture is the crowning success of Warner Bros.—which is another way of saying that it is the most spectacular production in the talking screen world.

Don't forget, "SUNNY SIDE UP" is coming to the STRAND, March 14 and 15th.

If Hazel Adams, '32 and Fred Sylvester '30, will present this page at the box-office they will receive a free pass to any performance.

At a special meeting of Phi Sigma, honorary biological fraternity, last Thursday Kenneth A. Keeney and Arthur M. Gillespie were elected to membership.

The initiation and banquet will be held on March 11 and 12, respectively.

ENTRIES IN ORATORICAL CONTEST CLOSE MARCH 25

The Sixth Annual Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest which was announced last week has submitted its dates for entrance and closing. Entries will be received until March 25, and representatives must be chosen prior to April 15. Eighty-one universities and colleges have already made entries in this nation-wide contest which deals with subjects pertaining to the Constitution of the United States.

Seven awards totalling five thousand dollars will be made at the final contest to be held at Los Angeles on June 19. Undergraduates of colleges and universities in the United States are eligible contestants. A letter from either the college or the student is sufficient for entrance.

The complete data regarding the contest have been sent to the University of Maine and are in the hands of Prof. Herschel Bricker. Further information may be procured at his office.

WOMEN'S HONORARY CHEMICAL SOCIETY FORMED

A woman's honorary chemical society, Kappa Chi Sigma, has been organized with Dean Achsa Bean as faculty adviser. For membership, one must have completed at least 16 hours of B work or above in the chemistry department.

The first meeting was held at the home of Irene Otto recently when the following officers were elected: president, Irene Otto; vice president, Marjorie D. Stevens; secretary, Beulah Starrett.

CHRISTIAN LEAGUE ANNOUNCES ESSAY CONTEST

The Christian Civic League of Maine announces an essay contest for students in colleges and normal schools within the state of Maine. The first prize will be $100.00, the second, $50.00, for the best essays on: "Ten Years of Prohibition."

Rules of the contest:

1. The contest is open to all regularly enrolled students in the above named institutions.
2. The essay must discuss the benefits and the accomplishments of prohibition.
3. The essay must be limited to not more than two thousand (2000) words.
4. Essays must be in the office of the Christian Civic League not later than June 1, 1930.
5. The contestant's name must not appear upon the manuscript submitted, but must be placed in a sealed envelope and enclosed with the essay.

For further information and lists of reference books and articles on Prohibition write to: The Christian Civic League, 301 Savings Bank Building, Waterville, Maine.

Maine Girls' Smoking Becomes Pertinent Debating Question

Some of the co-eds said that they are inveterate smokers—have smoked for years and will probably continue to do so. Others say that they indulge now and then, mostly as an experiment; and still others, not especially fond of it, "drag" only when among a crowd of smokers and they do not wish to appear conspicuous as non-smokers.

One of the co-eds, an athletic woman, full of "vim and vigor," and a Dean's List student into the bargain, when asked her opinion of the habit, stated that she had smoked for a long time; that she considered it a luxury, like a box of chocolates, and as long as it afforded her such great pleasure, saw no reason why, as it harmed neither her health nor her mentality, she should not continue. "As for smoking becoming an unbreakable habit," she said, "I believe there is no such thing—I could stop if I wanted to."

Another co-ed stated that she believed smoking was enjoyed most among the girls as a means of sociability. She said also that many of them enjoyed a cigarette after a meal, and as a solitary companion while passing a quiet hour in reading or in writing letters.

come the scoring threat of McCann and Sutherland. This victory put Kappa Sigma back in the running once more. Tau Epsilon Pi forfeited a game to them on Monday night which ceded them another point towards the coveted first place.

Beta Kappa forfeited to Phi Kappa Monday noon.

Two of the strongest quintets on the campus lined up Tuesday night for a "fight to the finish," the fast aggregation of hoopers from Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the dreaded Beta Theta Pi combination of courtmen. Both teams played a give and take battle thruout. Beta took the lead at the half and quarter, but S. A. E. rallied in the last half and at no time were their opponents more than two baskets in the lead. In the concluding quarter the S. A. E. courtmen outplayed Beta but were unable to cut down a lead and conceded another victory to Beta 24-26 after one of the fastest and exciting games of the season.

CHENEY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF INTRAMURAL

Lon Cheney was elected president of the Intra-Mural Association Wednesday night to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of President Berenson. It was decided by the Association that the three year cup system would be abolished and that one year shields will be offered from now on in the basketball, relay, and track leagues for both second and first places.

It was also decided that the annual Intra-Mural Relay will be held the Monday indoor meet with the addition of the hammer, javelin, and discus throw. These three events will be run off Friday afternoon at 4:30 in the indoor field. The track meet will start Saturday afternoon at 2:00 P.M. Three places will count for the Charlie Rice Cup and four for the Intra-Mural cup. The finals of the Intra-Mural Relay will be held the Monday following the track meet at 4:00 P.M.

Southern League 21-26 after a close contest in which A.T.O. threatened to score a win. Phi Mu Delta stole a victory from Lambda Chi Alpha.

Phi Gamma Delta shot baskets at the expense of Sigma Chi Wednesday night to run up a large tally over their opponents, 59-13. Phi Gam has definitely clinched the championship of the Southern League having won every game of the season. The Dormitory Council upset Sigma Nu by the small margin of 23-19 in a nip and tuck battle.

One of the decisive games of the season concluded the evening's mixup when Phi Eta Kappa tackled Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the team that Beta downed by only a scant two points, in which the green and white were able to overtally their opponents 30-17. Beta and Phi Eta now lead the Northern League.

Tonight's card in all looks like the feature of any boxing holiday, and although there are no grudges to be settled it is apparent from the rigid training during the past few weeks that there will be plenty of "naturals" as the fight followers are in the custom of terming a real scrap. Intercollegiate rules will be adhered to with each bout consisting of three two minute rounds.

Bill Kenyon, freshman coach, will be the third man in the ring tonight, while Fred Brier, varsity coach; Dean Corbett; Prof. Hall, and Prof. Dorsey will act as judges making decisions in conjunction with Kenyon.

A Freshman Woman Discusses

mental aptitude. The rushing system here at Maine could easily be compared to a wall of which the second layer of bricks projects outward and the layer above that projects still more, so that the bottom layer no longer supports the others. The principle on which rushing is based is undoubtedly defeated; prerushing is evident and scholastic grades are lowered. The girls themselves, in having so little time in which to accomplish their purpose, overdo and in doing so give a wrong impression to the freshmen.

A transition from the old to the new is often a move toward development in the right direction, but in this case I think it can not be stated thus.

NOTICE

All eligible women who have received any rushing attention whatsoever are asked to come to Coburn Hall on Tuesday, March 4, at 12:45 P.M. to write out preferences.

YOU'LL GIVE IN, ALL RIGHT . . .

Even if you've firmly decided you have enough dance records (or that there's nothing new to hear in steps)—you'll find this record under your arm soon after you've heard it!

For Guy Lombardo gives you two fine new foxes, trapped in the same insidious smoothness that he dispenses nightly at New York's Hotel Roosevelt.

Face this music today, and try this other pep-packed pair while you're about it . . .
