John Moore Elected President of Senate By Unanimous Vote

Dickson and Smith Elected to Other Offices. Shingles Awarded at Close of Meeting

John R. Moore, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was elected president of the Student Senate for the coming year at a meeting of the Student Senate held Tuesday evening. The vote was unanimous, as no other candidate was nominated.

John D. Dickson, Kappa Sigma, and Albert J. Smith, Phi Kappa Sigma, as vice-president and secretary, respectively, will complete the list of officers for the new Senate.

No other business was acted upon at this session, although several suggestions were made.

Dean Corbett read a letter from the national interfraternity council, warning local chapters against the activities of a certain L. L. Johnson, otherwise known as "Johnny" Johnson, who has been going about from college to college, posing as a jewelry salesman, and organizing minor honorary fraternities and attempting to revive other fraternities under false pretenses.

Dean Corbett also stated that President Boardman had been informed by members of the state police that numerous University students were disregarding the law against hitch-hiking, and that many complaints about this had been received by the department. Students were warned against this practice.

As this was the last meeting for the retiring members, shingles were awarded to the men at the close of the meeting.

Work Begun On Freshman Bible, To Be Published Latter Part of August

Work on the Nineteen Thirty-five Freshman Bible was started about two weeks ago under the supervision of Edward DeCourcy, Editor-in-Chief.

The little book, which is so valuable to every Freshman, will be printed in the latter part of August by the University Press. In general, it will be very similar to this year's book, although a few new features will be introduced. As it is now planned, there will be several more cuts of University Officials. New organizations, such as the Liberal Club, Tennis Club, and Freshman Paper will receive due mention and it is hoped that cuts of the sorority pins may be printed. A new cover in the same material and color, though with a large blocked "M" in the center, is being planned.

The members of the Editorial Board are Edward DeCourcy, Editor, Ruth Walenta, Irene Sanders, Hazel Scully, Fern Allen, Frederick Jones, and Harold Seigal. Roger Heffer and Stanwood Searles serve as Business Manager and Assistant Business Manager respectively.

At present there seems to be but one thing lacking, and that is a supply of Freshman men to help with the writings.

Yale Professor Fools Clever Students on Exams

A Yale professor turned the tables on one of his classes last month when they thought they had solved the problem of true and false tests. A brilliant blind student in the class did all his writing in class with a typewriter. The members of the class soon discovered that when he wrote "yes" he struck three keys, and when he wrote "no" only two, so they wrote their own tests accordingly. Upon finding what was going on, the professor privately told the blind student to write "yes" for the false questions and "no" for the true questions on the next test. The student did so. Every other student in the class had all the answers wrong.

Quarantine Removed From Phi Mu Delta

Twenty-eight Members Return to Classes Monday. No Cases Reported on Campus

Phi Mu Delta House was released from quarantine restrictions on Monday and the twenty-eight students who live there were able to resume their studies at the University again. The fraternity had been isolated by order of Dr. Jackson since April 10 as a result of a case of scarlet fever in the house.

George Jellison, who, because he was the only student known to have scarlet fever, was taken to his home in North Sullivan on the same day that the restriction went into effect, is getting along well, although he will not be free from quarantine for several weeks yet. It is not expected that Jellison will be able to return to college until the middle of May.

The diphtheria patient, Charles Prim, is able to leave the isolation house now to walk about, but he must stay there nights and still remain under observation until more negative tests are shown.

Debating Team Defeats Bates By 2 to 1 Decision

Local Speakers Uphold Affirmative Side

Maine was favored by a two to one decision at the debate with Bates College in Alumni Chapel on Thursday evening, April 16, upon the question: "Resolved, That the Soviet Government of Russia should be recognized by the United States."

Maine upheld the affirmative side of the argument and the speakers were Eva Bisbee and Caroline Cousins. Speakers for the negative were Rebecca N. Carter and Edith M. Lerrigo of Bates. Dr. Ruth Crosby of the English department acted as chairman and the judges were Mr. Myer Epstein, Mr. Wayne Robinson, and Mr. John Quinn, all of Bangor. Timekeepers were Dorothy Blair and Dolly Dunphy.

EXTRA WEEK ADDED TO SUMMER VACATION

The University will open about six days later next year than it did this year for upperclassmen.

Freshmen will come here for Freshman Week on September 17, and the upperclassmen will come back on the 22nd. Last fall the University opened on September 16th. This will make it more convenient for those who are planning to work this summer as they will be able to work another week. For those who are not going to work this summer, this extra week of vacation ought to come in handy.

Miss Elizabeth Foster, of the English department, will act as Dean of Women next year in place of Dean Achsa Bean, who is taking a year's leave of absence.

Intends to study mammalian physiology under Dr. Cannon in the Department of Physiology at Harvard Medical School. The Dean expects to begin her studies this July, and to return a year from September.

Miss Foster, who will be acting Dean, is well known to most of the girls.

Aggie Department Rallies To Own Defense Regarding Recent Cow Judging Affair

Tech Students Good Judges of Weight but not of Merit States Following Letter

That University of Maine engineers are good judges of weight and not of merit was brought out in the results of the cattle judging contest at the university during Farm and Home Week. A report in the Campus of last week emphasized the ability of technology students in the placing of bovines in the contest, stating that they even seemed superior to their brother aggies in the art of cattle judging.

The truth of the matter was that the eight cows in the contest were to be judged upon their production records and contestants were also given an opportunity to estimate the weight of the animals.

In the weight end of the contest the engineers seemed to register well, but when it came to production they fell slightly below par.

Following are the results of the contests giving the placing of the animals as recorded on blanks by the engineers and the correct placing of the cows:

Engineer No. 1 placed 10th
His placings were E-D-A-C-G-B-H-F
Correct D-C-G-E-B-F-H-A

English Dep't Members Attend Bates Conference

Teaching Plans and Relevant Subjects Discussed. Conference Meets Here Next Year

The English faculty of the University of Maine attended the annual conference of College English teachers held at Bates College, Lewiston, last Saturday. Representatives from Maine, Colby, Bowdoin and Bates were present for the all-day conference. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss teaching methods, exchange experiences, and lay plans that tend to improve the presentation of the subject matter.

At the conclusion of the meeting an invitation was extended by Professor Milton Ellis, head of the department here, for the teachers to meet at Orono next year. The invitation was accepted.

Following adjournment of the morning session an excellent dinner was served to the visitors by the Bates hosts and this was followed by a tour of inspection.

Dean Chase Explains Why Stamp Collecting Is A Fascinating Hobby

By Ann Rosenstein

Stamp collecting has proved a very fascinating hobby for one of our most prominent professors. Dean Chase of the Latin department spends much of his leisure time in securing data on the subject of postage stamps, and in adding to his already large and varied collection. He is especially interested in the first three cent postage stamp, which was made in 1851, and is at present making a detailed study of it.

In a recent interview, Dean Chase stated that he considers stamp collecting both an interesting and a worthwhile avocation.

"There is a certain appeal about collecting stamps that makes it a most interesting hobby. This is true not only for young boys of grammar or high school age who delight in an accumulation of foreign postage marks, but for people of all ages and in all walks of life. King George of England is an enthusiast on the subject."

"Quite often, even those people who are really interested in stamp collecting fail to realize quite how worthwhile and enlightening this may actually become. An expert, upon making a highly-specialized study of the postage stamps of a nation can obtain a fairly detailed history of that country."

"The designs on the stamps yield a great deal of information. They range from warnings such as, 'Prevent Forest Fires', notices of expositions and fairs, Red Cross markings, and war-time notices, to stamps commemorating birth and death anniversaries of prominent

Maine Debaters Close Season With Dual Win Over Colby College Team

Question: "Resolved That Talking Movies Are Detrimental to Stage Drama"

The University of Maine women debaters closed their season with a double win last Tuesday evening when they met Colby College in a dual debate, gaining the decision unanimously at Orono and two to one at Waterville.

The Maine debaters at Orono were Ethel Thomas and Clarine Coffin. These girls returned recently from a very successful trip through Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Myrilla Guilfoil and Florence Ward participated in the Waterville debate. Miss Ward is a veteran debater but this is the first time that Miss Guilfoil has participated in an intercollegiate debate, although she has been very prominent in dramatics.

Colby was represented by Muriel McDougal and Tina Thompson at Orono. The question was, Resolved: That talking movies are detrimental to stage drama. Maine upheld the negative at Orono and the affirmative of the same question at Waterville.

The debate at Orono was judged by Professor Charles G. Cummings of Bangor Theological Seminary, Judge A. G. Averill of Old Town and Mr. James G. O'Connor of Bangor.

Orono Puppeteers To Give Performance Here Saturday

Beta Pi Theta Backs Entertainment Featuring Rudy Vallee and the Stein Song

The Orono Puppeteers are at last to be seen on campus after a successful season in Bangor, Old Town, and other places. They will appear under the auspices of Beta Pi Theta, the French honorary society, in Room 275 Arts and Sciences at 3 P.M. on Saturday, April 25. Tickets are being sold by members of Beta Pi Theta and will be on sale at the door. As the seating capacity of the room is sixty persons, it would be wise to procure tickets in advance.

The Puppeteers will present a varied program of dances, oriental and Spanish, circus stunts, and other novelties. Hamlet has been brought up to date to address the puppets in the style of 1931. The play is The Romanians, a comedy by Edmond Rostand. The last time it was shown, Dean Stevens presented a

High Hat Swains Take Balentine Janes Along Shady Lanes

At two-thirty o'clock last Sunday afternoon a stampede was caused at Balentine when a strange looking vehicle, drawn by two very noble steeds, and containing two worthy gentlemen dressed in their "Sunday-go-to-meeting" clothes, which included high silk hats, drew up in front of the dormitorial mansion.

Two dainty little ladies tripped out in answer to a call and—away they went.

Bells jingled and the old-fashioned coach rattled around the campus. Every Balentinian who was not otherwise engaged or about to be engaged, rushed out to see it.

Darn funny isn't it, if a couple of fellows can't take their girls riding on a nice Sunday afternoon without having the whole college out to watch them?

"Honor Society Day" Will Be Held In May

Dean Nixon of Bowdoin Will Be Speaker; Announcements of Awards Will Be Made

May 11, will be "Honor Society Day," at the University of Maine, according to announcement made today by President H. S. Boardman.

Dean Paul Nixon of Bowdoin College will be the speaker for the occasion. President Boardman and the presidents of the four honor societies, Alpha Zeta, Phi Beta Kappa, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Phi, will occupy the platform, and sections of seats will be assigned to the student members of the various societies.

Announcements of honors and prizes for the year will be made at this time. The announcement of May 11, as the day for particular emphasis on honor societies did not mention the exact time the program would be given but said that further announcement would be made in the near future covering this point.

Pres. Boardman Presides At M.C.A. Installation

Impressive Ceremony for New Officers Held Sunday Night

The installation of the new officers of the M.C.A. cabinets was held Sunday evening, April 19, at 6:30 in Alumni Hall.

The officers for the coming year are: President, Hildreth Montgomery; vice-president, Grace Quarrington; secretary, Francella Deane, and treasurer, Margaret Davis.

President Boardman presided at the meeting and the following program was carried out: Piano solo, Eva Bisbee; vocal solo, "The Old Refrain," Carleton Hayes; Scripture reading, Lucille Nason, and Prayer, Mr. Cecil Fielder.

The service closed with the singing of the University Hymn.

BOXING CHAMP INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Louis Asali, light heavyweight boxing champion of the University of Maine and Leo Bernard, both of Phi Kappa, were knocked down and painfully injured early Monday morning when they were struck by an automobile while crossing the road in front of Lambda Chi.

Asali was the more seriously injured of the two, suffering from cuts and bruises on the legs and arms, with two teeth knocked out, severe head injuries, and shock. Bernard suffered bruises on the right ankle, chin, and forehead. Both are under the care of Dr. Hall at the Phi Kappa House.

In the April 18, 1931 issue of the Saturday Evening Post on page 18 there is an article entitled "The Things of A Child", by Paul Jones, which should be of interest to University students, since it concerns coaches and professors and their responsibilities and authority.

Colby Is Presented With Deeds Of Land For New Location

Colby College was presented with deeds to six hundred acres of land last Friday, on which buildings worth $3,500,000 will be constructed. Many hundreds of townspeople crowded into the local theater where the presentation took place. The deeds were presented by Mayor F. Harold Dubord and accepted by Herbert E. Wadsworth of Winthrop, chairman of the board of trustees, who turned them over to President Franklin W. Johnson.

A celebration banquet was held in the evening at the Elmwood at which some of the most prominent men of Maine spoke. President Johnson told of the deep esteem and affection in which the College is held by the citizens of Waterville. Hon. Charles E. Gurney of Portland said that it was the greatest day in the history of Colby and one of the greatest in the history of Waterville.

Dr. Julius D. Taylor of the Colby faculty reviewed the work of the committee from the beginning. Dr. Augustus Thomas, president of the International Education Federation, believed that it was a wise thing to move but would have been a very unwise thing to move out of the city.

Justice Pattangall, Chief of the Supreme Court of Maine, spoke of the men whom Colby had sent to the bench in Maine and said that no college had ever produced a finer, more useful citizen than Professor Taylor.

Dr. J. Fred Hill, chairman of the Citizen's Committee, spoke of the splendid work done by Professor Herbert C. Libby. President Boardman of the University of Maine, spoke of the other Maine colleges. Randall J. Condon, former superintendent of schools in Cincinnati, spoke for the graduates.

The citizens of Waterville raised the necessary money by subscriptions. As the largest single contribution was only $5000 it took time and patience on the part of the townspeople to realize the large sum.

The Dickens Club met on Wednesday evening, April 15, at the home of J. A. Harlow, in Old Town. The program consisted of an account of a Dickens play in Boston, by J. A. Maxwell, County Attorney; a character sketch of Micawber, from David Copperfield, given by Mrs. S. B. Gray; a character sketch of Steerforth, from the same novel, given by A. B. Larchar; and violin solos by Mrs. Gordon Noyes.

THE PRISM

Judging from the appearance of proofs now to be seen around the print shop, the 1932 Prism will equal if not surpass the yearbooks which have been previously offered to the classes at Maine. But as always, an announcement in last week's issue of the Campus indicated that there are still some copies of this book available for anyone who cares to purchase one.

And although most people appear to consider that by acquiring one of these in their Junior year they are well supplied for life, nevertheless, those who do invest in one each year find themselves amply repaid. The price of a Prism is a small investment for a permanent record of the year at Maine. Practically everyone in the student body, or at least in the three upper classes is included in the pictures of at least one group, and the leaders in life on the campus and their activities are recorded in full.

Maine history and matters of interest are faithfully pictured year by year in the Prism, and no finer way of keeping alive the undergraduate activities for future years can be found than by buying each year during the college days a copy of the Prism.

SCHOLARSHIP VS. OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES

(From the Stamford (Conn.) Advocate)

There is a quaint old American tradition that the college student who makes his mark in scholarship never amounts to much afterward; that the really admirable product of our colleges is the glad-hander who is president of things, plays tackle on the football team, and never lets his studies interfere with his college work; that for every routine job awaiting the student "grind" there are ten big corporations clamoring for the services at a fancy salary of the high hurdle champion who was president of his fraternity.

Enter President Walter S. Gifford of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company with disillusionment. Gifford reports that men who graduate in the first tenth of their class have four times as many chances of getting into the higher-salaried groups as those who graduate in the lowest third. Generally speaking, the men with the highest scholastic records get the most responsible jobs and the best salaries afterward. A number of large corporations have standing offers open with various colleges to give good jobs to the leading scholars in every class.

And don't think the college students haven't waked up to that fact, long ahead of the public in general. At Amherst recently 80 per cent of the senior class indicated that they prized Phi Beta Kappa (scholarship society) ahead of any other college distinction. Yale students have often indicated a similar preference.

The college students who get mixed up in booze parties and the like get the publicity. The ones who work at their studies get the jobs.

HITCH-HIKING

In spite of the fact that a law was passed several years ago which made hitch-hiking in Maine illegal, the practice among college students seems to be as common as ever. College Avenue, from the campus to Orono, always has its line of "thumbers" on a warm afternoon.

So far, very few cases have occurred where these students got into any trouble from these activities. For the most part the police and state officers have conveniently "looked the other way". But others are complaining, and these complaints all reflect upon the officers. To protect themselves, these officers will soon be forced to take steps toward curbing these activities, however much they may be in sympathy with the students.

CONCEIT

Nobody wants people to think that he is conceited, that he thinks that in some manner, in some sport, or in some art he is superior to all other persons or at least as good as the best. It seems to be universal that this trait is disappearing. As personal conceit it is disappearing, but it is returning as group and organization conceit.

Fraternities publish journals telling what marvelous achievements have been accomplished by their fraternity brothers. Students on their vacations from college, when they are with students from other colleges, tell of the wonderful feats of their own institution, never mentioning the bad features. Perhaps our most outstanding example of this group conceit is advertising in which the advertiser states that his product or his service is the best there is.

What would a person think if one of his friends met him and began to tell him of all the wonderful things he had done and was doing, and was capable of doing, most of it probably fiction? In effect that is what we are doing when we tell of the superiority of our team, our fraternity, our college, or our product. So it seems to us that conceit is not disappearing, but is being transferred into another channel, probably for the best since it stimulates better organizations, better teams, and more efficiency in industry.

Intercollegiates

Several vital changes have been made in the curriculum of Yale. The most important one is the abolishing of mid-year exams.

Fifty cents is the fee charged for all cuts at the University of North Carolina.

At the University of Colorado, the undergraduates can be insured against being called on in class. Rates vary with professors. If a student who is insured is called upon, he receives double premium.

Jim Thorpe, one of the greatest college football figures of all times, is working with pick and shovel in Los Angeles for $4 a day.

Women seem to be experiencing a hard time in making themselves popular at Oxford. The male element is protesting vigorously against the invasion of the campus by the weaker sex, stating that the august founders of the University never intended Oxford to be a place of "lost hairpins and impossible hats."

A few enterprising men students at the University of Arizona recently conducted a census of their own. The result of their census was that 26 out of every 41 co-eds entering the library were stockingless.

Notre Dame recently established 77 as the lowest grade on which a student can graduate.

MANY YEARS AGO ON THIS CAMPUS

We are pleased to announce the election of Lincoln R. Colcord to the Campus board.

The weekly Campus has at last become a reality and the next issue of the paper will be the opening number of the change which is to be an experiment.

First visible signs of our new Carnegie library are beginning to appear on campus. Work has been commenced on the foundation.

Bible study groups have been formed at several of the fraternities, and active work will commence within a few days.

The first issue of "The Blue Book of the University of Maine", the new literary magazine, will in all probability appear in the course of the present week. It will be an attractive little booklet of sixty odd pages of a size that will fit the pocket nicely.

The peanut scrap is expected any night now. Both the sophomores and upper classmen are waiting for the freshmen to produce the peanuts.

The English work of the sophomore and freshman years will constitute three hours a week the first term and two hours the second term of the Freshman year, and two hours the first term and one hour the second term of the Sophomore year.

Mr. Bertram E. Packard, State Commissioner of Education, will be the chapel speaker on Monday morning, April 27. His subject is "Why Education?" The Assembly will be held at 9:45.

All students who are interested in securing a certificate to teach should come to the School of Education office and fill out an application blank at once. These applications must be in on May 1, at the latest if the certificates are to be ready by Commencement.

Book Review

"THE GREEN PASTURES"

A play by Marc Connelly

Perhaps the most talked of play at the present time in New York City is The Green Pastures. Many of the Maine students who have not been fortunate enough to see the play itself have enjoyed the book, which is certainly worth reading.

The play is a startling one. It sets out to give the negro conception of God and Heaven. Everything is very informal in the negro's Paradise but it is one easy to understand and God is sympathetic. The author depicts him as a tall, calm negro whose right-hand man is familiarly called "Gabe".

In the beginning of the play, the minister, Mr. Deshee, is explaining to a group of negro children, the significance of God and Heaven. What he says forms the rest of the play. The play proper is begun with all the angels gathered at a fish fry. God appears and enjoys a "ten cent seegar." Shortly afterward, he performs a miracle which turns out to be the creation of the world.

We have an interesting Adam and Eve scene, although most of us are not accustomed to think of those two as being dusky-skinned. The play is the tracing of Biblical history down through Noah and the Ark, Moses and his leading of God's chosen to the Land of Canaan, and the prophets.

The play has an astoundingly impressive conclusion, with God declaring that even he must learn by suffering. The last few lines are in regard to the crucifixion.

The play is entirely in negro dialect and, as one of the seniors who saw it said, "funny as a crutch." The characters are well-drawn and the scenes are all effective. One feels in several places, however, that the humor of the situation is a bit overdone and the thing verges so much on the incongruous that it is ridiculous.

A Note in Music

By Rosamund Lehmann

The author of that charming novel, "Dusty Answer," has recently written another novel of English life. While the former is a tale of people of the upper classes and the nobility, the latter is a plain story of the bourgeoisie. Like most English novelists however, she has brought into the plot several of God's chosen.

A Note in Music lacks the effervescence of its predecessor; it possesses the hopelessness of "Dusty Answer," but lacks the whimsicality which made the elder tale a favorite.

It delves into the life stories of mediocre people, none of whom are finally lifted out of the rut into which they have fallen. Hugh Miller is a breath of fresh air which invigorates the lives of stogy Grace Fairfax, of family-bound Norah MacKay, and of the little street girl, Pansy. Hugh's ritzy sister, Clare, causes staid Gerald, Norah's husband, to be slightly giddy for a time; and cumbersome, self-satisfied Tom Fairfax lumbers through the story. After the pathological storm of the Miller's visit, the world seems a little brighter to the two strange families.

Read the book if you get the chance; even if it isn't as good as "Dusty Answer," it is worth a good reading if for no reason other than its author.

John (sarcastically): "Do you believe everything every sap tells you?"
Joan (sweetly): "No, darling, but you do sound so convincing."

Did you know that:
Some men use mighty poor material when they make up their minds.

There was once a girl declared she didn't believe it was a truck farm—she was sure trucks came from factories.

Some motorists think that the whistle of a locomotive approaching a grade crossing is the signal to start a race.

Summoning a Ghost to your bidding

The chemist Van Helmont in 1609 discovered an invisible substance, an emanation from coal, that he named "geist," meaning ghost, shortened in English to gas.

Only now do its miraculous possibilities begin to be glimpsed. Only now can modern industry, like a latter-day Aladdin rubbing his lamp to summon a vaporous genii, turn a valve and order this Ghost to any one of a hundred tasks.

From the beginning, the problem was one of piping. When Crane Co., a half century ago, set itself to develop and produce the right materials for every gas and oil purpose, it began an incalculably valuable contribution to the solution of problems that had held back the gas industry since the Chinese used hollow bamboo.

So in the development of the natural and manufactured gas industry, as in practically every other industry, the Crane line of valves, fittings, fabricated piping, and specialties have played an important part. No matter what branch of industry you enter, you will find Crane materials playing a similarly important part.

"Will Sally's Children Be One-eyed" Is Question Puzzling Oak Hall Frosh

By Duke W. L. Vollrath

They had planned it as a fishing trip. All winter they had been looking forward to it and making preparations for it, never dreaming what great scientific developments would come from it. It was to take place last Sunday. On Saturday night they went out to catch their bait, namely "night-walkers", the west bank of the Beta tennis court being their hunting ground.

Sunday morning they started out bright and early, these two freshmen, and from then until their return soon after dark there was much apprehension among their class-mates back home as to the outcome of their venture. On their return home with no fish they explained that after they had hiked fifteen miles to the scene of their operations, they were informed by a game warden that after May 1 and not before they would be allowed to fish there.

But here is the international importance of their seemingly insignificant venture. In a mud puddle along the way they found a spotted Salamander, which they captured and brought home, just for the curiosity of the thing, never dreaming that anything colossal would be the result. When they exhibited their catch to their friends in the dorm, it was discovered that he had but one eye, and that one on the left side of his head. Thinking that the other eye had been lost through injury they made a minute examination of Sally's head to discover that he had never had another. So he was saved and put in an improvised cage somewhat like his natural surroundings, so that he could be taken over to the biology department for an analysis.

But when he was visited on Monday morning, it was discovered, much to the surprise of his captors, that he was not a he but a SHE for the miniature pond in the cage was filled with Salamander Eggs. At press time today the eggs had developed but little, but it is hoped that by the middle of next week the lads will know whether each of the young Sallies will have but one eye, or whether Mother Sally is a freak.

A Benefit Bridge Tea was given by the Y.W.C.A. at the home of Mrs. Julian Merrill on Main Street, Orono, Thursday, April 16. The proceeds from this bridge will go towards the Maqua fund.

This fund is being raised to send students to the Y.W.C.A. camp at Poland, Maine, where a one week conference is held during the middle of June to which delegates are sent from twenty schools in New England. Excellent religious leaders and professional women lead discussion groups in the morning, and the afternoons are devoted entirely to recreation, diving, swimming, and boating.

Miss Marion Rogers is to be in charge of the recreation at Maqua this year.

The informal dinner for the Y.W.C.A. cabinets, which was to have been held April 22, has been postponed to Monday evening, April 27. The cabinet members will be the guests of Miss Campbell.

MAINE CO-EDS ATTENDING STUDENT GOVERNMENT CONVENTION

Five Maine co-eds left Wednesday for the annual Student Government Convention to be held this year at Jackson College April 23, 24, 25.

Those girls representing the University of Maine are "Spud" Churchill, "Marnie" Smith, "Marge" Moulton, "Frankie" Dean, and "Al" Dyer.

The purpose of the convention is to discuss problems which confront the various associations and to solve problems which seem to be producing particular difficulties at the colleges concerned. There are round-table discussions and a variety of conferences which give the various attendants a clearer understanding of how to meet and solve particular situations.

INJURED AUTO CRASH VICTIMS WILL RECOVER

Paul F. Jarrett and Frank Carbone, former students at the University, who were injured in an automobile accident last week, are reported as recovering. Jarrett when he attended the University was a member of Delta Tau Delta, while Carbone was a member of Theta Chi. They are now both students at the Harvard Dental School. It is expected that Carbone will be able to leave the hospital within two weeks. Jarrett, however, due to considerable loss of blood, will have to remain at least another month.

MAINE MASQUE WORKING ON JUNIOR WEEK PLAY

The cast of "Broken Dishes", the Junior Week play, is rapidly working itself into shape for the presentation of the play on May 7. Rehearsals are being held regularly. The author of this play, which is considered an exceptionally good farce, is also the author of "The Criminal Code", one of the outstanding motion pictures today, which is starring Walter Huston. Tickets will be on sale at the book store in the near future.

The cast was announced in last week's Campus.

FELINE FLEEING FEARFUL FATE FINDS FRIENDS

The inmates of the Big House are becoming quite humanitarian. Their latest idea is receiving fugitives. A cat fleeing from the horrors of Coburn Hall chose Balentine to hide in. She is receiving a warm welcome and much attention. She is guarded carefully and no biologists are allowed even to look at her. In recompense for her protection, kitty sits in front of the fireplace while the girls knit, and thus adds her bit to the old maidish vic parties.

U. OF UTAH STUDENTS HARD ON TELEPHONES

Salt Lake City—(IP)—Telephone authorities here have threatened to remove pay stations from the University of Utah campus unless students desist from tearing the receivers from the phones and mutilating the booths.

FROSH RIFLE TEAM DEFEATS BANGOR HIGH

Taking the honor of being the first Maine freshman rifle team to beat the Bangor High musketeers and making a record of five wins and only one loss, the Frosh riflemen closed their season when they beat the M. I. T. crew 1377 to 1290. Captain Walter Ludden proved himself worthy of his position by leading his team mates in the average for the season, and took the first prize of $15.00 in cash. The second prize for high average, a desk pen set, went to Assistant Coach Kenneth E. Jones, and the University of Maine ring, the third prize, was won by Manager Harry A. Crowley. Charles Mosher and George Hodson took fourth and fifth prizes respectively.

The Maine team beat Bangor High, Penn State, University of Cincinnati, Johns Hopkins, M. I. T., and was beaten by the University of Iowa team by a score of 1769 to 1748. Much credit is due Sergeant Charles R. Strother for his work in molding what was, with a few exceptions, a group of green men into a team of real marksmen.

English Dept. Members Attend Bates Conference

Those attending the conference from Maine were: Professors Ellis, Turner, Ashby, Scamman, Small, and Crosby, and instructors McCreary, Foster, Cook, and Moreland, and Messrs. Grindell and Leland.

SCREEN

Versatility should be an actor's greatest asset, but unfortunately, in this age of dramatic specialization it sometimes is not. When a thespian establishes himself popularly in roles of a certain type, the public expects that he will keep on playing the same sort of part. The result is that when he does attempt an impersonation outside his usual routine, there is considerable speculation as to just how acceptable he will be.

Jack Holt, one of the popular stars in the screen world, will play the role of a wisecracking gangster in "The Last Parade," the Columbia picture which comes to the Strand Theatre on Mon. and Tues. As everyone who has followed pictures knows, Holt established a reputation for roles of the reserved, dignified type.

It is therefore a decided innovation for this star to transform himself into a fast talking, impulsive, hardboiled racketeer. But reports from Hollywood have it that he has been extremely successful in creating a character different from those he has portrayed in the past.

Tom Moore supports Holt in "The Last Parade," and Constance Cummings will supply the feminine interest. Other well known screen performers are in the cast. Erle C. Kenton directed the production.

These placings were earned not by the engineers' ability to place the animals in the correct order, but by their keenness at guessing the weight of the cattle. Where they obtained this information is not exactly known. They may have worked in a slaughter house at some time in their careers, or it is just possible that some benevolent fraternity brother who had a part in weighing the animals for the contest may have got talkative and dropped a tip that proved to be a real help.

VARSITY BASEBALL TEAM LOSES FIRST TWO GAMES OF SEASON

One Big Inning Gives Colby a 4-3 Decision in the Opening Game Of Week's Trip

Looming as a formidable threat to retain the 1931 Maine State Baseball Championship, Maine met defeat in its first attempt against Colby at Waterville Monday afternoon.

Colby, considered the weakest in the state series, surprised the Maine outfit with their strong defense and timely hitting. Colby scored enough runs in one big inning to defeat the Maine Squad 4-3 in the first game of the State Series.

Maine started things off in the first inning when Abbott hit a two bagger to left field and then a pass and a couple of sacrifices brought in two runs before Colby cut it short with a quick double play.

In the second inning the Davan, Ferguson, Plummer combination executed another double play to stop a second Maine rally. Then Colby started a rally in the fourth inning scoring enough runs to sew up the game.

It looked rosy in the ninth for Maine when "scoop 'em up" Smith hit the ball over the left field fence for a home run. The next few plays found the bases full for Maine and one out and a good chance for the game, but a squeeze play went wrong and McCabe was caught in an attempt to steal home and the final strikeout by Lewis took the game for Colby.

Given Second Defeat by Rhode Island State. Kisonak Con- tributes Fielding Gem

Kingston, R. I., April 21—Coach Brice's squad again met defeat in their second game of the trip against the Rhode Island State nine, when they were given a 5 to 2 setback before the hurling of Micky Martynick.

The Maine batters smashed out eight solid hits against Martynick during the game, but were unable to crash through when it was needed mostly. In every inning but the fifth and seventh the Bricemen managed to put men on the bases but to no avail.

Maine's first run in the first inning was squeezed over via a walk, double, and sacrifice fly. A pass and fielder's choice, followed by a line drive by Perkins pushed over the other score in the fourth.

Solander pitched the first three innings giving only two hits and "Munny" Romansky, star of last year's frosh, gave two hits in five innings striking out four R. I. men. Perkins batted for Solander in the fourth.

Emil Kisonak executed the best play of the afternoon at the start of the seventh inning when he came tearing in along the left field foul line to make a one-hand catch of Crangan's Texas Leaguer.

A copy of the draw sheet and the results of the matches as played will be kept in Mr. Curtis's office in Alumni Hall. The tournament will be run off as quickly as possible, so that there will be time to organize and practice a team to meet Bates at Lewiston on May 2.

The tournament draw is as follows: Farrar vs. Reid, Earle vs. winner, Howes vs. Sargent, Lovell vs. Lull, Clem vs. winner, Parlin vs. Palmer, Bradbury vs. Garland, Davis vs. winner, Twombly vs. Small, Burr vs. Cope, Armstrong vs. winner, Cushman vs. Adams, Colby vs. Ashworth, Weiner vs. winner, Griffin vs. Stone, Jarrett vs. Parsons, Mayers vs. winner, Coggin vs. Lord, Reichert vs. Hinckley, Barret vs. winner, Teague vs. Johnson, Moors vs. Field, Pressey vs. winner, Brunn vs. Morrison.

Freshman Ball Players Meet Kents Hill Friday

Coach Bill Kenyon is priming his freshman ball players for the opening game which takes place here Friday afternoon with Kents Hill. From the indications of practice, there is a lively tussle going on for all positions. Ring, Aldrich, and Blanchard are waging a battle for the backstop position, with Aldrich slightly favored. At the initial sack, Rice seems certain of starting. At second and short, Kenyon has tried various combinations, and he will choose his two players probably from Pascarelli, "Swank" Osgood, Wilbur, and Wichenbaugh. Pete Karalekas, "Red" Osgood, and Wessel are battling for the hot corner, and they are all capable of handling the job well. The outstanding outfielders to date are Bartlett, MacCusker, Pearson, and Topolosky.

Who will draw the pitching assignment for the opener is hard to predict, but he will probably be chosen from Grodinsky, Hields, Gray, and Searles.

The meeting of Maine College Teachers of English was held at Bates College Lewiston, Saturday, April 18.

Varsity Team Whitewashes Frosh In Practice Game

The varsity baseball team easily trounced the freshman ball tossers at Alumni Field last Saturday afternoon by a score which totaled about 20-0. Captain Bill Wells and his team mates proved a much too experienced combination for the frosh, who were able to secure only two hits from the varsity pitchers.

Coach Fred Brice inserted all his pitching material during the fray, and the team worked with perfect smoothness throughout. Many of the varsity runs were the result of ragged support behind the freshman pitchers, and numerous errors were committed by both the infield and the outfield.

The varsity hitting spree was climaxed in the eighth when Hal Hall batted out a homer with the bases loaded. Frost, playing left field for the varsity, provided the fielding gem of the afternoon by pulling in a shoestring catch of a hard hit ball that seemed destined for a sure single.

Coach Kenyon used nearly his entire squad during the game in order to get a line on his charges, who had never played together in a regular game. The freshman pitchers who showed up well were Gridinsky, Gray, and Hields.

Frosh Tracksters Defeat Both Brewer And Old Town High

Garnering a total of 59 points to Old Town's 36 and Brewer's 13, the frosh tracksters easily beat both Old Town and Brewer in the triangular meet held at Alumni Field last Saturday afternoon.
