FEAR OF A DIPHTHERIA OUTBREAK RESULTS IN EMERGENCY INFIRMARY

Girls Removed from Maples, and Sigma Chi Quarantined
When Five Students Show Signs of Disease and Epidemic of Sore Throats Sweeps Campus

By SHERWIN STANLEY

Although there are no clinical cases of diphtheria at the University at the present time, five students have been placed under isolation at the Maples and the Sigma Chi Fraternity House has been put under quarantine until negative reports are received from tests of all the inmates.

On Monday morning Harry Davis of Sigma Chi and James Attridge who rooms at 210 Hannibal Hamlin were placed at the Maples for observation, while on Wednesday afternoon three more students, Doris Dumphrey and Francis Deane, both of Balentine, and Philip Weymouth of Sigma Chi were sent there until further tests could be made.

For the time being the Maples is being used by the Health Department as an infirmary because of more suitable conditions there than elsewhere. The girls living at the Maples moved to Balentine in order to bring this change about.

For the space of one hour Monday morning Phi Kappa Sigma House was placed under observation through a mistake, but this fraternity has not been under quarantine at any time, contrary to rumors going about the campus.

The Health Service has examined a large number of students, but only the five mentioned have shown symptoms thus far. All those who have sore throats should report to the Health Service for examination at once. By careful treatment, an outbreak of diphtheria should be prevented at this time.

There are thirty-six students and help who are affected by the Sigma Chi quarantine, but it is thought that in a short time the restriction can be lifted.

The health authorities do not consider that there is any connection between the present trouble and that of the two freshmen, Prinn and Jordan, a month ago.

Dr. Whitman H. Jordan Dies After Long Illness

Was Former Director of Agricultural Experiment Station.
Would Have Been 80 Years Old on Next Birthday

Dr. Whitman Howard Jordan, director of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station from 1885 to 1896, died Friday noon after a long illness. He would have been 80 years old on his birthday, October 27.

The death of Dr. Jordan marked the passing of two directors of the Experiment Station within as many months. Dr. Morse, the director until his death, recently died here.

Dr. Jordan was born in Raymond, Maine, in 1851. He entered Maine State College where he received his B.S. degree in 1875. The year following graduation he taught in Cornell University and received his master's degree from that institution in 1878. He was an instructor at Maine State College from 1879 to 1880 and from 1881 to 1885 he was professor of Agricultural Chemistry in Pennsylvania State College. From this position he returned to Maine as director of the experiment station which position he held until 1896, going from here to the directorship of the New York State Experiment Station at Geneva where he was employed until 1921, when he retired from active service. All of his last years he spent in Orono.

He leaves a widow who before her marriage to Dr. Jordan in 1880 was Miss Emma Wilson. There are no children.

Professor Israeli Has Plan for Radio Education With Lecture Series Backed By Government

By ROSAMOND COLE

Why not establish a Radio College League? That is the question asked by Prof. Nathan Israeli of the Psychology department at the University of Maine during a recent interview. Mr. Israeli has an elaborate plan for the education of the people—a college education—via radio.

According to Prof. Israeli, the radio is not yielding half the beneficial results that it might. There are a few good program hours but at the present time the general public is not educated to them, with the exception of speeches on the economic depression for the business men and talks on agriculture for the farmers, there are practically no instructive radio programs. Prof. Israeli's idea is to have a program broadcast each day with the speakers being college professors or men that are before the public eye. Mr. Israeli says that these speakers would be instrumental in raising the gen-

Maine To Have a Marine Laboratory at Lamoine

Will Be One of Few Colleges in United States With a Marine Station for the Study of Biology

The University of Maine will open a Marine Biological Laboratory at Lamoine this summer. The old Coaling Station has been turned over to the University by the state for this purpose. While Dr. Little was president, the University had a Biological Laboratory at Bar Harbor but this is the first time a marine station has been attempted.

The University of New Hampshire has a marine station at the Isles of Shoals, but there are only a very few marine stations conducted by colleges or universities in the United States.

The Marine Laboratory at Lamoine will be conducted as part of the University Summer School, and for the first season one course is to be given, Marine Invertebrate Zoology. From the standpoint of high school teaching this course offers admirable opportunity for collecting and preserving marine forms.

Lamoine is situated on the upper end of Frenchman's Bay and approximately eight miles from Ellsworth. Directly across the bay, on Mount Desert Island, is the Salisbury Cove Laboratory, one of the most important marine laboratories on the Atlantic coast. A series of lectures given at this laboratory will be open to students of the Marine Laboratory.

eral knowledge and culture of the people. "There should be a conscious direction of radio broadcasting policy," says the professor of psychology.

The University of Maine psychology instructor believes that the speakers via the radio have a more sympathetic audience than when speaking in person. Unpleasant mannerisms are unseen and the listener is better able to concentrate on the subject material.

Professor Israeli declares that half of the material broadcast at the present time is dilute material which should never be offered to the public. His proposed policy of the college broadcasting hour would offer to the public topics of present day interest as well as material of a more purely scholastic nature. "That the radio will sooner or later work in cooperation with the colleges" is the strong belief of Israeli.

Trails". 18 Compete

The Griffin Writing Prize, awarded annually to the freshman submitting the best theme in a writing contest, has this year been won by Bruce Spruance Longfellow of Machias. Francis Lord received honorable mention in the competition in which eighteen took part. The subject of Longfellow's essay was "Blazed Trails."

Those taking part were: Bruce Longfellow, Francis Lord, Rita Lanco, Eva Bisbee, Hazel Scully, Doris Varnam, Ruth Lord, Alyce Swett, Hope Clark, Frederick Jones, Martha Tuomi, Edmund Field, Ralph Dougherty, Waldon Hastings, Richard Buckley, Mabel Robinson, John Crosson, and Rachel Adams. Inez Gary was seriously injured, Tuesday afternoon, May 5, while taking track on the Girls Athletic Field. An x-ray revealed that both bones in her lower left arm were broken, one bone having a compound fracture. She was taken immediately to the Eastern Maine General Hospital where Dr. Woodcock of Bangor attended her.

Miss Gary was going over the low hurdles when the accident happened. An x-ray on Monday showed that the bones were not knitting properly, necessitating an operation which was performed Wednesday morning.

Dr. Little To Speak at Banquet Here on June 6

Will Be Heard by General Alumni Association During Commencement Week

Dr. Clarence Cook Little of Bar Harbor, former president of the University of Maine and the University of Michigan, is to be the chief speaker at the annual banquet of the General Alumni Association at the University of Maine, June 6, Edward H. Kelley, chairman of the Commencement committee, has just announced. Dr. Harold S. Boardman, president of the University, will be toastmaster.

In making this announcement Mr. Kelley pointed out that Dr. Little was president of the University when members of five of the classes holding reunions this year were undergraduates. These classes are 1923-24-25-26 and 1929.

The alumni banquet has come to be one of the big events on the Commencement program at the University being attended by approximately 600 each year. A special sub-committee has been appointed to arrange for the banquet. Members of the committee are: George Lord '24 of Orono, county agent leader, Extension Service, College of Agriculture; Robert Haskell '25 of Bangor, vice-president of the Bangor Hydro Electric Company; Edward H. Kelley '90, chairman of the Commencement committee and Charles E. Crossland '17, Alumni Secretary of the University.

Whitney Speaks at Junior Week Chapel

"Are You a Trained Flea?" Is Subject of Address by English Professor.

Walter R. Whitney of the English department was the special speaker for Junior Chapel on Friday. The exercises were opened by the Chaplain, John D. Dickson, followed by the Salutatory address given by the class president, Walter E. Riley. He spoke of the accomplishments of the class of 1932, and the hopeful future of that class. At the close of his speech, he announced the speaker for the hour.

Mr. Whitney chose as his subject the question "Are you a trained flea?" He spoke of his observance of a trained flea circus and the method of training described by the flea trainer. "Each undomesticated flea was placed under a glass bell. The flea would jump, crash headlong into the invisible partition, and fall back, stunned and bewildered. Finally, quite overcome, he would settle down on his haunches, and from that moment his spirit was broken. He learned to be quite submissive even to the point of pushing baby carriages. Life for him became simple—and totally unexciting."

"Most of us when we came to college had certain flea-like tendencies. Above all else we wanted to express ourselves. The first seventeen years or so of life had been years under glass—and we had been put under glass, not to have our spirits broken, but to have our energies directed, a plant under glass rather than a flea."

"The average student misses the whole point of a course. He reads the assignment through laboriously and goes to class with a feeling of resentment. He listens in a form of academic coma while the instructor comments on the excellence of the material. The average man misses the point, doesn't want to risk cramping the course by asking the instructor to make himself clearer, and leaves the classroom with the gloomy knowledge that he has put into his notebook a few pages of scribble that must be gone over before examination time. In failing to assimilate it, he has failed to see how it could have any relation to him; and in failing to see its relation to him, he has failed in one of the detailed steps of enriching his mind. The average man realizes that the process of expansion can be a mighty dull task instead of an adventure. He has found that he has paid for a mighty good suit of clothes and has come away with only the vest and the trousers—and even the trousers don't fit."

"The purpose of education is to stimulate."

Primed for a stiff battle, a well-balanced and powerful cluster of Maine tracksters will clash with the three other Maine colleges in the 35th annual state intercollegiate cinder classic on Alumni Field next Saturday afternoon. The four schools will be represented by an imposing array of about 150 competitors who will strive to drag down honors for their alma mater. If Old Sol smiles, with the track in as good condition as it is, the afternoon should yield several new names on the list of the record holders.

Maine, title holder for the past three successive years, is conceded a slight edge, but will be forced to the limit by a strong garnet crew from Lewiston, which has improved much in the field events since its defeat by a close margin in the dual indoor meet here two months ago.

The century will be a sharp duel between Ray White, Maine speedster, and Knox of Bates, both of whom have repeatedly checked off the course in ten seconds flat. Mel Means will battle with Hayde, Colby, and Johnson, Bowdoin, for third honors in the event.

In the low and high hurdles Bowdoin possesses a pair of experts in Stanwood and McLaughlin, who will probably place in both, with Wheeler competing for Colby, and Eaton and Lufkin taking sides for Bates and Maine.

The 220 will furnish another sprint that will bear watching with White running against Knox again, and with Means pitted against Adams, another star performer for Bates, Wheeler for Colby, and McLaughlin for Bowdoin.

Adams, Bates, looks like a winner in the 440, having bettered the M.I.T. & F.A. record of 49½ with 48½ in competition with Northeastern last week. Williams, Colby, and Wendell, Maine,

NINE JUNIORS TAPPED FOR MEMBERSHIP IN SENIOR SKULLS FOR COMING YEAR

Outstanding Men Chosen Have Taken Part in Many Important Campus Activities; Present Group Will Elect President at Commencement Time

Nine members of the Class of '32 were tapped for membership in the Senior Skull Society on leaving Junior Chapel Friday morning. During the past year there have been eleven members, which is the limit according to the constitution of the organization, but the rules merely limit the number to eleven not requiring that many every year. The new members who will be initiated on the night of commencement when they will choose their officers are:

Lovell C. Chase, Kappa Sigma, who has been outstanding in athletic circles since his freshman year. He has been a member of the track team for three years having been awarded his letter twice. He is also a member of the varsity relay team, and was on the freshman basketball and football teams. He was a Sophomore Owl last year, and has served as a proctor in Oak Hall this year.

Everett A. Gunning, Alpha Tau Omega, another man who has served as a proctor, was captain of the freshman cross country team two years ago and has been awarded his letter in cross country in his sophomore and junior year. He was a member of the freshman track team and earned a letter in track last year. In his freshman year he was vice-president of the class, and last year he was president of the Sophomore Owls, in addition to being secretary of the Athletic Association. He is co-captain of cross country this year, and the winner of the Track Club Scholarship, in addition to having been a member of the Campus board.

INACTIVE ORGANIZATIONS

A movement recently started at Bowdoin, and later followed at Colby, which aims at the numerous and inactive honor societies in those colleges, seems to be equally appropriate at conditions at Maine.

In the issue of the Prism which recently appeared no less than forty-three groups were given space in the section under organizations. Some of these, of course justify their own existence. The rigid requirements for membership in such societies as Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi make enrollment in these organizations sufficient honor in itself. Other groups are almost entirely for some active purpose, with little regard for the so-called "honor". These groups include the Student Senate, the M.C.A. Cabinets, the Prism Board, and several others.

But there are numerous other societies to which membership is elective, and in which membership is supposed to be distinctly an honor, yet which apparently serve no useful purpose other than to supply its members with one more shingle, perhaps a key, and occasionally a banquet. The members who are elected also gain the privilege of appearing in the group picture printed in the Prism.

Apparently these privileges are the only purpose of many of these societies. Meetings are held occasionally, and sometimes a few of the members attend. It is not infrequent to find organizations who carry on their rolls names of members who have never attended after they once received their shingle. Apparently the sole object of this type of person is to acquire an imposing array of shingles over his desk, and nonchalantly proclaim himself a big shot on the campus.

One instance will help to illustrate the situation. An honorary journalistic fraternity on this campus has listed in the Prism sixteen members. Of these, two are members of the faculty. Of the remainder, at least six have taken no active part in the publication of any of the college papers or periodicals during the past year. Only six of the eighteen members appeared for the Prism picture. During the year the only activity of this group has been the sponsoring of an annual journalistic conference for secondary schools. No part at all has been taken in the journalistic activities within the University itself.

This is not an unusual case. There is an honorary society for members in the department of Education, Chemistry, Economics, French, Biology, and practically every other subject taught at Maine. The requirements for membership are not sufficiently high, nor are most of these societies well enough known to make membership much of an honor. And apparently most of these societies do nothing of great value to justify their existence.

When these clubs were organized, most of them were created with a definite purpose, and probably were desirable additions to the University. But with the passing of time the founders of most of these groups have departed, and many of them are left without anything but a custom of annually electing a few new members—and presenting them with an attractively designed shingle. Many of them have now descended to a stage of worse than uselessness; even to a condition of being regarded as an out and out joke by the members themselves.

Probably the supporters of many of these groups will be able to bring forth many arguments in their defense. If so, we would be very glad to hear them. If not, the University would be better off if these dormant societies either developed some useful purpose or ceased to exist altogether.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor of the Campus,
Dear Sir:

I read with a great deal of satisfaction the new Student Council rules which are to go into effect next year. According to this, girls whose rank is 1.5 or under will not be allowed to go out after 7:30 on week nights while girls whose ranks are above that will be permitted to sign out until 10:30 each night. Then, on week-end nights the limit would be twelve for everybody.

I think that this is an excellent system as those girls who do not get at least 1.6 will be able to have an opportunity to do their studying conscientiously during the week nights and still be able to have the week-end privilege of 12 o'clock.

I further believe that it will furnish the girls a real incentive to study in order to get higher rank so that they may enjoy these generous privileges.

The Student Council is to be heartily congratulated for the splendid rules and regulations they have had in the past year and especially for this new Rank Plan Privilege.

Calling the co-eds was the favorite pastime for the members of a fraternity at the University of Pittsburgh while they were quarantined for scarlet fever. One member secured a large supply of ickels and sold them four for a quarter to his fraternity brothers.

Spring recess has been cancelled at Clark College following a convention of ten days duration, during which the representative of Clark and representatives of other institutions vehemently opposed the continuance of this most absurd custom as they call it.

Co-eds at Ohio State wearing fraternity pins must return them to their original owners before August 15, 1931, under penalty of the law. There is a law on the statute books of Ohio which states that "Whoever, not being entitled so to do under the rules and regulations thereof, wears the badge or button of a society or organization of ten years' standing in this state shall be fined not more than $20, or imprisonment of more than thirty days, or both."

The North Carolina Collegiate Press Association meeting at Raleigh, North Carolina, was told by Joseph Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy under President Wilson and editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, that "the only crime in journalism which will not be forgiven is dullness."

In order to cut down the escorts' expenses, corsages have been forbidden at U. S. C. proms. Western State College weekly at Gunnison, Colorado, suggests that paper flowers could be rented to settle this problem.

Scientists at Calgary, Alberta, recently produced purple and green chickens. It was just a matter of serum. They injected the serum into eggs by means of a hypodermic needle on the nineteenth day of incubation.

In order to create better fellowship and build up a higher degree of cultural and social life, fraternities have been eliminated at the California Institute of Technology. It has been recommended that after dinner coffee should be served in the lounges in order to teach men in the Tech how to "loaf gracefully."

From the "Ohio State Lantern" we learn that Norman Sper, nationally known newspaper man, will try letting the football men themselves, in the various colleges, choose an All-American team. Twenty men on the leading university teams will be given cards to fill out with the names of the men they believe best qualified for the eleven positions. "The quality of sportsmanship will be the ruling factor in each selection."

Bryce Wood, of Reed College, won the first prize of $50 offered by the National Student Federation of America in the best editorial favoring the entrance of the United States into the World Court.

An egg-fight is to be held between Greek societies on the campus of the University of Utah May 15.

An unusual feature of the annual Kansas relays will be a golf-driving contest on the last day of the program. More than a dozen leading professionals of the Kansas City district have signified their intention of competing. Only five will take part in the finals.

Professor Crawford was one of the speakers at the Conference for Principals of Secondary Schools held at the House of Representatives. He spoke on The Competitors Testing Project.

Dean Lutes spoke at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club held at the Penobscot Exchange, Wednesday, May 13. His subject was "The Profession of Teaching."

The Y.W.C.A. conducted a successful sale of carnations for Mother's Day. The organization wishes to thank all those who helped in any way for the co-operation which made this sale a success.

Capturers Of Sally Bring Back Trophies Of Big Game Hunt

By Duke W. L. Vollrath

Having made one fishing expedition which resulted in the capture of a one-eyed Salamander and not even a story about "the big one that got away", the Oak Hall fishing team sallied forth again one afternoon last week in an effort to vindicate themselves for their poor work in their initial trip. Instead of taking only two men the team this time took along five, so that there would be a better chance of catching something, and if they failed to land any of the finny drove the blame and ridicule would be divided among five instead of two victims.

Upon reaching their destination the lads put their apparatus into shape and went to work in earnest. Back home in the dormitory the boys were gathered around awaiting either news from the fisherfolk or their actual arrival. Darkness came and still no word was received. Anxiety ran high as the lads wondered whether the fishing was so good that the team had not left the scene, or whether misfortune had befallen them.

Then the long awaited staccato rattle of the team's car was heard as the automobile drove in to park behind Oak Hall and a crowd assembled to greet the heroes. After being carried to their rooms on the shoulders of the mob, the followers of Ike Walton, having no fish to account for their late homecoming, told their tale of woe.

When they had been comfortably casting into the seething stream for about a half hour and had until then observed no indications of the presence of fish, they suddenly heard something approaching them from behind. They turned to look into the face of a large and ferocious looking bear, which was advancing slowly but surely towards them.

Fear seized the little group of freshmen, and being desperate they grasped rocks and hurled them at the man-eating creature before them. With the strength born of fright it did not take long before a number of small boulders had hit the bear and crippled him. The lads then grabbed clubs, and completely killed their dangerous enemy. For proof of the adventure they cut the feet from the bear to bring them back to the dorm. This work took time, and by the time that the bear had been properly disposed of, the lads found darkness creeping down on them, so they started for home.

After they had told their tale to their comrades in the dormitory they exhibited the feet they had brought back. But that was where they made their mistake, for when the feet were shown it was discovered that the lads had stoned a poor innocent porcupine to death.

Dean Paul Nixon of Bowdoin College was the speaker of the morning. Dean Nixon has been at Bowdoin for 22 years, and previous to that time has been at Dartmouth, Princeton, and Chicago University. In a most interesting and inspiring talk, Dean Nixon took up the three main complaints against the American college students, namely, that they are snobbish, vicious, and standardized.

In refuting these assertions Dean Nixon stated that students are discovering that snobbishness is inexpedient and vulgar, that although there may be some viciousness, the colleges are a cross section of American life, and moreover sex-relationships and prohibition are not the only two elements in morality, and that although bad manners and unfortunate eccentricities may be suppressed, real individuality is not affected.

Said Dean Nixon, "We cannot please everyone, although we have been willing to try almost everything. One of the experiments, of the wisdom of which I am in grave doubt, is the segregating of our able and eager students from the main student body. I believe that we will do these students more social and spiritual harm than we can make up for by any amount of intellectual good."

"Training the mind is not enough to make life stable, serene and satisfying. The spirit must be illumined by an event which is real, amazing, and transforming. I am profoundly convinced that the happiness, progress, and serenity of mankind are far more dependent on higher morality and wider love, based on and interacting with a constant and humble search for God, than on any degree of education, that we can take no other road but this one to make the world safe and happy; and that the greatest discoveries in store for the human race are spiritual discoveries."

The student members and initiates of the four honor societies marched in and occupied reserved seats in the chapel.

Prof. Bailey's Play Class Presents "Adam and Eva"

A three act comedy, "Adam and Eva", will be presented in Alumni Hall next Wednesday evening at 7:30 by the Play Production Class under the direction of Prof. Mark Bailey. The play will be sponsored by the M.C.A., and tickets may be procured from the bookstore or from members of the M.C.A.

The cast of the play, which follows, includes a number of Masque players: Mr. King, John Barry; Corinthia, Kathryn Small; Miss Eva King, Ethel Thomas; Mrs. Clinton Dewitt, Ernestine Merrill; Mr. Clinton Merrill, Jack McGowan; Lord Andrew, William Fahey; Aunt Abby, Dorothea Greene; Horace Pilgrim, Stanley J. Protas; Dr. Delemater, Milton Sims; and Adam Smith, Atwood Levensaler.

The plot of the play is the story of a man, who is a genius in matters of business and making money, but who lacks any skill at handling his family. His family even arranges with the family doctor to have him sent on a long trip so that they will be able to run up long bills more easily. When his young business manager suggests that he would love to have a home of his own, the wealthy man immediately offers to swap places with him, the business manager handling the family, and the wealthy man handling the business. This plan is tried for a time, but the young manager finds himself confronted with the same bills and troubles that vexed the older man. To put a stop to the steady flow of bills he tells the family that the business has been ruined, and that the family income is cut off.

The humor and fun of the play come in the methods and manners which are employed by the family in meeting the emergency of the ruined business.

CORRECTION

Through an error it was stated in the last issue of the Campus that the Phi Mu Delta informal dance was held at Dreamwood Saturday evening. This was later found to be untrue, the dance being held at the Phi Mu Delta house.

for the radio symposium is as follows: subject, "The Economic Depression"; the speakers being Professors Salegman and Mitchell of Columbia University and Professor Ripley of Harvard University.

The idea of the symposium is to enlarge upon the present Sunday morning broadcasts from London. Among the other speakers whom he suggested for various topics of great interest at the present time are John Galsworthy; Eugene O'Neill; D. A. Myerson, eminent psychologist; Alfred Adler, originator of the phrase "inferiority complex"; Sinclair Lewis; H. G. Wells; G. K. Chesterton; J. P. Morgan; Mussolini; and Albert Einstein. According to Israeli's plan, the colleges would invite the speakers, and the government, in conjunction with the schools, would finance the programs.

Politics would be entirely kept out of the schedule, and the speeches would be delivered from whatever part of the world the speaker happened to be in at that time.

Among the suggested topics are: Modern Art, The Orient, Drama, Psychology of the Nervous Housewife, Relativity, Navies of the World, Probing of the Star Depths, Latest Trends in Fiction Writing, Future of Wars, Communism.

ulate the question What does this information mean to me? A liberal education encourages growth. It is all a matter of what use one makes of the university or the dome—a matter of what is placed under it. It stimulates the plant; it discourages the flea. If a liberal education beats a man's mind into passivity, it were better not had at all. Such a man has discovered that he has turned out to be a flea—and a trained flea at that.

"A few minutes ago I asked the question: 'Are you a trained flea?' Obviously, the answer is No, and still, one can never be sure whether he has stopped wanting to jump."

The University Hymn and the Stein Song were sung by the class of 1932 as the closing exercises of Junior Chapel.

Osborne and Bearce To Be Marshals for Alumni Day

Edwin N. Osborne of Saint Paul, Minn., and Winfield D. Bearce of Erie, Penna., have been chosen honorary marshal and marshal, respectively, for alumni day events at the University of Maine, June 6, according to an announcement today by Edward H. Kelley, chairman of the Commencement committee.

In accordance with a custom re-established last year, the honorary marshal is selected from the class observing its fiftieth anniversary. Mr. Osborne, a native of Pembroke, where he still spends his summers, was graduated from the University, then Maine State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, in 1881. The following year he went with the Northern Pacific Railroad in St. Paul, Minn., by which company he was employed in many executive positions until May, 1929, when he was retired from active service.

Winfield D. Bearce, was graduated from the University in 1906, the class which is observing its twenty-fifth reunion this Commencement. He is a native of Auburn. In college Mr. Bearce was active in sports and class affairs. Since graduation he has been with the General Electric Company, being located at different plants. He is now at Erie, Penna., previously he was at Schenectady for many years. He has been a successful engineer, working on problems involving electric engines and transportation equipment.

FOUR TEAMS REMAIN IN INTRAMURAL BASEBALL LEAGUE

Thursday, May 7, Sigma Nu and Kappa Sigma met in a baseball game to conclude the semi-final round of the Northern League. The game started with strong pitching by both Austin and Battles, but finished up in a collection of hits and more errors with Sigma Nu on top of a 10 to 6 score. The final for the league was played Tuesday, May 12, between S.A.E. and Sigma Nu. The game went scoreless for three innings, then the S.A.E. boys nicked Austin for two runs. Nunn held the Sigma Nu's in check in their half of the fourth. Then the S.A.E. lineup came to bat three times around in the fifth to shove twelve runs across the plate. Sigma Nu failed to get a man as far as first base in their half of the fifth and the game ended 14 to 0 for S.A.E. The pitching, with the exception of the fifth inning, was the only outstanding feature of the Sigma Nu playing. S.A.E. played fine defense ball behind Nunn's hooks and slow balls.

In the Southern League, Phi Kappa lost to Lambda Chi 4 to 2, May 7. Lambda Chi will meet the winner of the Beta Kappa-Alfa Gam game, which was postponed to some further date, before May 20 when the Champs of the Northern and Southern Leagues meet for the play-off.

Teams remaining in run for Championship to date are:

Lambda Chi Alpha	1.000
Beta Kappa	1.000
Alpha Gamma Rho	1.000

Taken to Bangor Hospital Thursday. Will Be Lost to Team for Rest of Season

CAPTAIN BILL WELLS

Bill Wells, Captain of the Baseball Team and Cadet Colonel of the Military Corps was taken to the Eastern Maine General Hospital on Thursday of last week with a seriously infected foot. He was at first, compelled to remain in his room because of a blister which had developed on his foot, and prevented him from walking. Later, however, the infection spread to the sciatic nerve on his hip and he was ordered to the hospital.

His condition was at first reported as serious. But he is now on the road to recovery. It is expected that he will be able to leave the hospital within a week.

His temporary loss to the Baseball Team has been extremely unfortunate, coming as it did in the middle of the season when so many of the most important games are being played. Wells, besides being Captain of the Baseball Team and Cadet Colonel of Military is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, a Dean's List man, a Senior Skull,

Out of loss... ...a gain

When the great war placed an embargo on imports from the Central Powers, American industry found itself deprived of many necessary products. Among them the standard asbestos sheet packing then in general use.

A substitute had to be found. Accordingly Crane Co. procured every sheet packing that could be obtained. Using the old one as a basis of comparison, not one was found which could equal its tensile strength, compressive strength, or heat resistance.

So the best American sheet was chosen and its manufacturer called in. Experiment after experiment was made until a sheet was produced that not only equalled but surpassed the imported product. It was named Cranite.

The story of Cranite is typical. For 76 years Crane Co. has striven unceasingly to produce and sell only materials of the highest quality. When progress calls for entirely new materials, our engineers are never satisfied until they have made that product or that substitute surpassingly fine. When in practicing the branch of engineering you are now studying, some piping problem arises, bring it to Crane Co. You will find just such co-operation.

Maine Track Team Swamps M.I.T. By Score Of 82-53 In Dual Meet

White, Mank, Webber, and Chase Shine as Bears Show Superiority on Track and Weakness in Field

The Maine varsity track team handed the M.I.T. tracksters a decisive defeat last Saturday afternoon at Alumni Field. The final score for the dual meet was 82-53. Coach Jenkins' charges excelled on the track, taking five first places to their opponents' three, while the visitors garnered four field events to Maine's three.

The best race of the afternoon was the 880 yd. run in which Steve Mank nosed out McKay of Tech by a scant yard. Going around the 2nd lap, McKay took the lead, but about 200 yards from the finish, Mank put up a beautiful sprint and forged ahead of his opponent at the tape.

"Ev" Gunning lost a hard fought race

SPORTITUDES

By HAROLD SEIGAL

THE WEEK-END SPORT spotlight is focused on the quadrangular track meet to be held here Saturday, which promises to be one of the tightest state struggles of recent years, Bates' strength about equalling Maine's and Bowdoin and Colby on a near par. The Bates squad is rather top-sided being excessively strong on the cinders, but exceptionally weak in the weights; in contrast the Maine team is very well balanced, having good men in both divisions.

ACCORDING to a mean of the dope sheets floating around the campus and the results of numerous ball-sessions, Maine will secure 44 points, Bates 40, Bowdoin 35, and Colby 16. A paper margin of only four points, however, leaves plenty of leeway for an upset, and unless Coach Jenkins' men are on their toes, trouble is likely to brew. It is not at all improbable that the duel between the Bates and Maine forces will be settled only by the last event. How and where Bowdoin and Colby gather their places will bear much influence on the final standing.

THE DASHES, with White and Knox, the two mile, with Gunning, Brooks and Whitten-Jones, will be the features to watch for. There is good possibility that Russ Chapman will break the 880 record, and Webb the pole vault.

THE OLDEST RECORD which has not yet been erased and replaced on the M.I.T. & F.A. books is that made by Cloudman of Bowdoin in 1899. Cloudman ran the century in 9 4-5 seconds. Rice of Maine in the 1916 games was the only man who ever equalled Cloudman's record, but his time was not allowed to stand on account of the wind.

LAST FRIDAY AND SATURDAY brought one of the most successful sports week-ends of the year to Maine. The freshman ball team took Kents Hill Friday, the varsity took Bates Saturday, the frosh tracksters defeated the Aroostook team, and the varsity cindermen took M.I.T.

According to Ted Curtis, Bill Wells is the last man to hold the post of Captain of baseball through the year he plays. Following the precedent set in other sports, an honorary captain is to be elected in the future at the close of the season. A temporary captain will be appointed before each game during the season.

"Mac" McCabe procured a shave and haircut from the University Barber Shop and a pair of gloves from Benny Sklar with his first homer of the season on Alumni Field two weeks ago. It's almost as good as winning a beauty contest.

to Gilman in the two mile, and Wendell was nosed out of first place in the 440 by Jewett.

Captain Ray White showed too much class for the visitors and breezed into easy victories in the 220 and the 100 yd. dashes.

The Pale Blue cleaned up all places in the discus event with "Norm" Webber showing the way.

In the running broad jump, which Lovell Chase won, there was but one inch interval between 1st and 2nd place, and 2nd and 3rd.

By virtue of its fine showing in the meet, Maine is expected to be one of the favorites in the State Meet to be held here next Saturday afternoon.

Varsity Track Team Will Defend Title in Annual Meet Saturday

will probably battle for the remaining scoring positions.

Russ Chapman will undoubtedly take the half-mile, trailed by Thistlewait, Bowdoin, and Mank, Maine. Chapman equalled his state record of 1:56 last week, and it is probable that he will better that mark on the cinders Saturday.

The mile will find the Viles-Chapman combination, co-captains of the Bates trackmen, pushing Harry Booth the limit. Comparative ratings show them all to be able to run the course in good time, and the race should be a feature of the afternoon.

The two mile stretch will be another struggle between the garnet and the pale blue with Whitten and Jones forcing Gunning and Brooks hard throughout the eight laps for the hard-earned points.

Maine will probably outshine their opponents in the field events to tighten up the meet, and it is probable that in these events the outcome of the meet lies. Much depends on how Colby and Bowdoin edge in to take several of the scattered and uncertain points. Webber will undoubtedly take the initial place in the

Freshman Baseball Team Gets Even Break on Trip

Lose Game to Hebron on Thursday 9-0, but Retaliate by Trouncing Kents Hill 12-3

The Freshman baseball team returned from their trip with an even break in the two games played. Humbled by the Big Green of Hebron on Thursday 9-0, they made the trip somewhat of a success by trouncing Kents Hill, Friday 12-3.

Gaw, Hebron mound artist, had the Frosh batters at his mercy at all times, limiting them to eight widely scattered hits. Topolosky, the Maine hurler, gave a creditable performance on the mound, but his support faltered at crucial moments and six unearned runs besides three scored in a first inning uprising were the result. Harlow of Hebron and Pascarella, Frosh second baseman, were the fielding stars of the game, Topolosky was the only visitor to find Gaw's delivery for two hits.

Friday, however, was another day and the Frosh went to Kents Hill to prove it. Their batting attack sadly lacking the day before burst forth on two Kents Hill mound aspirants for twelve hits and an equal number of runs, their rivals made it easier with five very costly errors. While his teammates were fattening their batting averages at the expense of rival pitching, Gray, Kenyon's ace, baffled the Kents Hill stick-men with a nice assortment of curves and a bewildering change of pace. Two hits, a pass, and a Frosh error combined to give them three runs. Pascarella continued his brilliant fielding by accepting eight chances without an error, while Blanchard led the batting attack with three safeties in four attempts.

shot put, while Alley will be in a scramble for second and third with Larson, Bowdoin, Pollard, Colby, and Fogleman, who saved the day for Bates with a second last Saturday.

Maine and Bates will probably share honors in the javelin. Jensen, Maine, and Treworgy, Colby, appear to be the favorites in the event, and third likely to go to Stinchfield, Colby, Goody, Bates, or Olsen, Bowdoin.

Webber's work in the discus seems to warrant another victory for him there, with Pollard of Colby slated for second, and third again likely to fall to any of the other competitors.

Though there are no outstanding performers in the high jump in any of the schools, Robinson of Colby appears to be the logical victor, with Chase and Branch of Maine and Kimball and Glazier of Colby taking the remaining places.

Knox will probably again show his mettle in the broad jump taking what may well be Bates' only first from the field events, in the broad jump. Chase will have a hard fight on his hands to pull second from Robinson, Colby, and Briggs, Bowdoin.

Webb's work in the pole vault places him at the head of the list, while Bates' freshman star, Meagher, will probably come second, and Dill, another Bates man, third.

The hammer positions seem to be definitely going to Galbraith, Bowdoin, Sprague, Colby, and Gonzals or Douglas, Bates, in the order named.

The Bates aggregation is unquestionably the strongest on the track while Maine shows more strength on the field. With points so equally divided there is much chance of either pulling out ahead by a small margin, and the afternoon's menu, with two pitched battles for first and third, and plenty of thrillers, should provide enough excitement to keep the fans on their toes throughout the festivities.

Varsity Baseball Team Beats Bates Saturday In Third Successive Win

Victory Gives Maine a Tie for First Place in State Series Standing. McCabe Is Heavy Hitter for Blue Lewiston, May 9th—The Pale Blue defeated the Bates squad in one of the best games of the season by the count of 6-2. Now, Maine and Colby are tied for first place, each with three wins and two defeats.

It was a pitcher's duel until the seventh inning both teams going scoreless, until "Irish" McCabe, who was walked by Marston, Bates Southpaw, went to second, when the Bates pitcher was unable to pick up Kisonak's bunt in time to get either man. Marston, evidently riled, walked Abbott to fill the bases.

Then Swen Hallgren sacrificed to right field on which McCabe sailed home, only to be followed by Kisonak from second when Millet's line throw bounced over Brown's head and past Marston who had gone to back up his catcher. On the next play, Abbott scored on Lewis's sacrifice into deep center.

The Bricemen scored three more runs in the ninth when Abbott, whose accurate spearing of foul flies was one of the fielding features, slammed a double into center. Marston, still disturbed, walked Hallgren and booted Lewis's easy bunt filling the bases. Solander, Maine pitcher, pounded one at Berry, whose throw home beat Abbott for the first out. Hall, pinch hitting for Frost, drove a single through short to score Hallgren. Lewis scored on Hineck's sacrifice fly to center, and when Smith drove out a clean single, Solander crossed home plate for the sixth run.

Solander allowed only seven hits, walked none and except for the seventh inning held complete mastery of the situation. "Irish" McCabe led the batters, getting three hits.
