FORESTERS TO LEAVE FOR CAMP

Senior Group To Spend Eight Weeks Gaining Experience Under the Direction of Prof. Adams

Seniors in the Forestry School at the University of Maine will begin their winter duties at a camp located in Indian Township, Washington County, on November 23 and continuing for eight weeks, it was announced today by Professor J. M. Briscoe, head of the Forestry Department, who has the general supervision of the camp duties.

Professor R. I. Ashman, assistant professor of Forestry, will accompany the students to the camp and will have direct charge of the work during the eight weeks. He will be assisted by M. Austin Wilkins of the Maine Forestry Service, Augusta. Chief among the duties which students will have are the following: running survey lines, timber cruising, timber estimating, scaling, and observations on actual logging operations for pulp and lumber. This camp has been established through a cooperative agreement with the State of Maine to carry on instructional work.

Students eligible for the trip must have completed all scheduled work up to date. Names of those scheduled to attend are: Edward D. Abbott, Freeport; Allen Bratton, Williamstown, Mass.; Donald E. Mechanic Falls; William M. Dunlap, Canonsburg, Penna.; Virgil T. Gross, (Continued on Page Five)

TRYOUTS TO BE HELD FOR ORATORICAL CONTEST

Bricker Announces That Contest Will Be Underway by Middle of December. Prizes Will Be Awarded

The annual Oratorical Contest sponsored by the Intercollegiate Peace Association has just been announced. Herschel Bricker of the Public Speaking Department, state chairman of the association, is already outlining the try-out periods. Mr. Bricker announced Monday that the local contest would be under way within a month

There will be try-outs held in Room at 4:15 P.M. The try-outs will consist of speeches five minutes in length. From the group trying out, there will be chosen five who will receive special coaching on their delivery and then will deliver another talk at a later contest. The winners of the first and second prizes in this second contest will be awarded prizes of the several teams. The schedule will be $15 and $10.

FOOLS STEP IN WHERE ANGELS FEAR TO TREAD

Never realizing the extreme danger of what they were doing two fraternity initiates sent out on their "mission" kidnapped the University's stag stallion from the barns last Tuesday night and tied him to the front door at Colvin Hall. Being, like all persons in their condition dumb lucky and innocent they succeeded in leading the ferocious beast to his destination without mishap, but the next morning when he was discovered there was a lack of volunteers to lead the animal back to his stall. After searching in vain for brave men the authorities finally located four huskies from the power house who took old Man-o-war back to the barns. When those lads heard what they had done they dropped to their knees in fervent prayers of thanks that they were still alive.

The debating season for men is progres- the maid. sing rapidly under the coaching of Professor Delyte Morris. Meetings are usually held Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 4.15 in room 275 Arts and Sciences building.

About twenty men have reported for debating. As yet, no definite team has been picked and there is a good chance for any interested to try to make one of varied, containing debates at home, thru Maine and into the New England states The first prize winner will represent as far as, and including, New York state.

The candidates are learning from Prodebating, and with this as a background, tative and personal side of debating.

Work on the annual production of the Spanish Club, Cielito Lindo, is progressing rapidly under the direction of Senor Louis Cabrera, who has arranged to use several new dances this year.

Miss Natalie Anderson of Bangor will assist in the production, and Miss Marcia Alkeman, Miss Tillia Bell, Miss Dorothea Green, and Miss Helen Findlay in conjunction with John Stinchfield will have dancing specialties. Miss Ruth Hamor, Carleton Hayes, Charles Striffen, Luthan Crosby, Frances Pascarelli, and Lewellyn Stearns have been chosen soloists. Miss Dorothy Sawyer will take a leading part in the dancing.

Native costumes have been ordered by Senor Cabrera for use in the entertainment, and details of dress and scenery have received more attention this year than they have in former years. Unfortunately the story does not end here, but for the sake of accuracy it must be added that Mike and his craft foundered some 170 miles off Nantucket Island, and had to be rescued by a passing steamer. Perhaps a mascot and not consolation is what Mike should have taken on his trin.

NORTHERN OR SOUTHERN?

The annual class elections will get underway again during the coming week. Will the ridiculous alignment of a Northern League against a Southern persist? For some years past there has been a growing tendency to vote according to the geographical location of the houses. The Maine's own Jeanne D'Arc is ready for the campus on other occasions. experience resulting from last year's elections should indicate that this is the reviewing stand, the Maine Studio, a cause of much trouble.

In the senior class elections, a year ago, it appears that the Southern group gained a temporary advantage over the men from the Northern khakis, bulging Tux shirts, and menacing end of the campus, and immediately proceeded to nominate only candidates from its own section for the class offices. The result was that the Cream of the Crop is duly dubbed Queen trophy cabinet, as in increasing numbers Northern side, awakened to the situation, refused to vote according to the official nominations and carried the election by a sticker campaign. onel. Thus, my children, Military Sci-The fact that this method was subsequently declared illegal and a new ence and Tickle tacks goes over with a election ordered by the Student Senate is of little importance, since the grand whoop-la for another year. same group which had run on the Northern League ticket won the offices again in the second election.

The point is, that no matter which side finally triumphed, all class offices would be held by candidates from one section of the campus. It is doubtful if even the most ardent supporter of either league would refuse to admit that there are good men in both leagues. The fact that a man joins a fraternity with a house located either at the northern or southern ends of the campus does not alter his ability to hold a class office, nor make him any more or any less deserving of the honor.

Perhaps the ideal way would be to vote simply on the candidate who at the Penny Carnival? is believed to be most deserving of the office. As the University grows larger, however, it is increasingly difficult to do this. It is almost a physical impossibility for a student to know all of his classmates in a University of this size. It is inevitable that some votes will be cast on slender evidence as to the qualifications of the candidate for the office.

But even though this may be true, to vote for a man simply because of the location of the house in which he lives is absurd. Until candidates for class offices at Maine run on platforms, or there is some other basis for voting for a man other than his personal popularity, the matter of leagues had better be left to intramural sports. There may be some object zations Everybody is anxious to do his in electing a man to the presidency of his class because he is a good football player, because he is personally popular, or because he has done something else for which he deserves to be honored; there is no fairness nor wisdom in voting for a candidate simply because he belongs to a fraternity which plays basketball in the same leagues as that to which the Bowdoin enrolled 78 per cent of its stuvoter belongs.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

In the correspondence columns of the Campus this week there is printed a letter from an alumnus of the University, commentating upon the editorial "Dusty Fame" which appeared in this column several weeks ago. The editorial was written from the viewpoint of the present generation of students; the letter by a man who helped to win trophies for Maine twenty years ago. But both editorial and letter set forth much the same views. As yet, however, nothing has been done about the matter, and the reminders of past triumphs remain as dusty and disorderly cost of a package of cigarettes, the sum

In one particular the letter went a step farther than the editorial. It suggested a way of improvement. The increasing number of sons and daughters of Maine alumni which come to the University each fall apparently never function as a group after they gather to have their picture taken during freshman week. With something more than sixty-five of these students now attending the University, there is opportunity for sacrifice. No hardship is intended, but the establishment of a very active club, and an opening for that club to perform valuable services in promoting the traditions founded and reverenced by their parents.

Even though such a club might find little to occupy its attention after the matter of providing a suitable place to display Maine trophies had been cared for, it would, nevertheless, have accomplished a worthwhile purpose if it succeeded in doing this task. The suggestion embodied in the letter written by Mr. Stevens is well worth considering, and, if fol- all admire is to be continued this year as lowed, a solution of the unhappy condition of Maine trophies should re- in the past. Editor of the Campus,

The American Red Cross is facing a situation which is almost equal to wartime emergency. During the past year 2,000,000 drought sufferers were kept from starvation, a task which has exhausted the Disaster Fund of the organishare in helping this great organization, for, after all, the people of the United States make up the American Red Cross.

The Universities of the State of Maine in past years have contributed largely, dents last year; Bates and Colby had an equally creditable showing. The students of the University of Maine have not been given a chance to indicate that they, too, have a patriotism and loyalty equivalent to that of other students. With the consent and help of the proper authorities, such an opportunity is hereby offered. We do not intend to make a personal membership canvass, but will you, as a group, make a contribution to the Red Cross? It is most gratifying to all thinking students to read in the recent issue of the Campus that a fine old Maine custom we rassed students are being curtailed in so many liberties and parking spaces, we welcome the continuance of these sterling customs. Four years ago bells rang, whistles blew, and all the campus rejoiced as the Maine R.O.T.C. chose their first proud we all were of her, and how proud she must have been! And soon this symbolical ceremony will take place again. To any thinking person, the value and patriotic appeal of this annual choice of est honors, needs no proof. The R.O.T.C. is important; it makes men of our Freshmen and Sophomores-brave heroes who and die for a Cause. # A formula to end "Mother Hubbard buying"

Bare "cupboards" or overstocked ones -are costly in any industry. In the Bell System a safe margin of telephone supplies must always be on hand to assure continuous, efficient service.

Telephone men attacked this problem of distribution in a scientific spirit studied every angle of purchasing, shipping, warehousing, costs, methods. There emerged a mathematical formula. From this, tables have been developed showing just how much of any item should be stocked to meet requirements most economically. Result: investment in stock is kept low-turnover is speeded-up-99.25% of orders are filled without delay!

The working out of this formula is typical of the thought Bell System men give to improving the telephone art in all its phases.

Let's all go to Turkey! Come on everymosques-the land of sultans and harems. Let us observe this grotesque land where ancient Mohammedans raise skunk cabpage of the finest quality in the world. Skunk cabbage that does not need toasting. Skunk cabbage that is good because t has to be good. Skunk cabbage that is pure. Your eyes may fool you but your taste tells the truth. Who could mistake this skunk cabbage for the ordinary American skunk cabbage? So let's all go to Turkey, especially since we'll need Turkey at the end of next month, and while on our way here's something to keep the old bull session habit from dving.

Oh that Maine were the farthest western rather than the farthest eastern college in the United States! What opportunities would be knocking at our doors. Down in Georgia when Lillian Roth, screen comedienne, appeared in person two Emory College lads posing as reporter's for the "Emory Wheel," student newspaper there, secured an interview with her. She received them in lounging pajamas and after listening to them and talking to them for twenty minutes told them that she wished to continue her game of solitaire. Let it be understood right here and now that when Garbo appears in person at the Strand in Orono, Duke Vollrath will represent the "Campus" in interviewing her. We are taking the matter up with M-G-M now, but we're having a little trouble in getting a picture to send for identification that looks enough like the Duke to identify him without being so utterly homely that Greta will refuse an interview.

Utter destruction threatened one of the fraternity houses at M. I. T. not long ago when fire broke out in one of the rooms of that building. A yell of "Fire" brought all the brothers to the scene, each eager to do his bit. College education showed through when someone got the idea that calling the fire department would be an intelligent move. But, alas, the tele-phone, like most of those at Maine was a toll affair, requiring a nickel before it would work. Nobody had a nickel. What to do? What to do? Flames were growing higher, smoke was getting denser, and the heat was becoming unbearable Thirty-three engineers flashed slide rules to see what could be done. Suddenly the value of a college education was proven again when one of the group announced that he had solved the problem. "She'll work on a dime," was the announcement, and in no time at all the dime was produced, fire company called, and fire ex-

She comes from a royal family. yet despite the fact that she does not smoke, swear, own a car, dress flashily, or neck, she has never been seen when she wasn't absolutely embalmed. Her name's Nasi-Khonsou-Pa-Khrodou, in case you care to write, and she's a mummy in the Archaeological Museum there.

. . . . . Don't take any stock in these "lie detectors." Propoganda has made the public believe in them and fear them. That's the only reason people tell the truth when subjected to the now famous devices. Here's the proof: out at the University of Chicago five valuable books disappeared from the library so they announced that unless the books were returned within twenty-four hours every student would be subjected to the lie detector. The next day the five books were back and in addition there were five more, which had disappeared the year before. The students merely thought that they would be found out.

And now that little voice inside of you, known as "conscience," is saying, "Big Boy, put down that paper and see if you can borrow a clean shirt to wear on that date tonight," we'll shoot the final gun while the band plays the Nemisis of "The Stein Song" entitled "A Booze Hound is Nowadays an Embryonic Jailbird Incognito."

Maine Colleges Rank in Top Fourth of American Colleges

President Franklin W. Johnson of Colby College in a recent radio address pointed body, let's go to the land of minarets and out that the four Maine institutions Bowdoin, Bates, Colby, and Maine have contributed a notable group of men and women to the service of our county and their particular field.

colleges and universities listed Bowdoin stood in 34th place, Colby in 81st, Bates in 91st and the University of Maine in 105th place, all in the top quarter.

Speaking of the University of Maine President Johnson said: "The Univer- pulsory military training. sity of Maine is the youngest institution of the four (in Maine), but it has rendered outstanding service. Among its more notable graduates we find Wallace R. Farrington, Governor of Hawaii; Edwin ents were enrolled at Ohio State. F. Ladd, U. S.
