PHI KAPPA SIGMA IS WINNER OF RICE CUP SCORING 60 POINTS

Also Takes Intramural Meet
With Phi Gam Second,
Lambda Chi Third

Phi Kappa Sigma scored sixty points, nearly four times as many as its nearest competitor, to win the Charles Rice trophy Saturday afternoon at the indoor field in the annual intramural track meet. Phi Kappa Sigma also took the intramural trophy, collecting 31½ points to Phi Gamma Delta's 26.

The feature of the meet was the shot-putting of Alton Alley, who made a heave of 44 feet, 4 inches to set up a new track record. The former record was 43 feet, 4½ inches, made by Sam Thompson in 1928.

Erney Black, Maurice Goddard, and Don Favor, all of Phi Kappa Sigma, were high scorers of the meet. Black turned in a total of 26 points for his team, making 15 in the intramural competition, and 11 for the Rice award. Goddard took first in both the high and low hurdles and a second in the 40 yard dash to score 13 more points, while Favor added 12 by winning the hammer throw, and taking second places in the javelin, low hurdles, and high hurdles.

Freeman Webb, representing Theta Chi, garnered 10 points as he easily picked up first in the pole vault and the high jump.

The scores of the teams competing for the Charles Rice cup are as follows: Phi Kappa Sigma 60, Lambda Chi Alpha 16, Phi Mu Delta 12, Theta Chi 10, Dorm A 7, Phi Eta Kappa and Phi Gamma Delta 6, Dorm B 5, Off-Campus 4, Sigma Nu 3, Oak Hall and Kappa Sigma 2, and Delta Tau Delta 1.

The intramural scores were: Phi Kappa Sigma 31½, Phi Gamma Delta 26, Lambda Chi Alpha 20, Dorm B 17½, Oak Hall and Off-Campus 16, Alpha Tau Omega and Dorm A 8, Phi Mu Delta 6, Delta Tau Delta 5, Phi Eta Kappa 4, Kappa Sigma 2, and Beta Theta Pi 1.

Senior Co-eds Get Basketball Crown

The championship game in the inter-class tournament was played off between frosh and seniors Tuesday night in Alumni gym.

The game was a very even affair from the start, the senior squad of six, five of whom have played together for four years, against the pick of the large first year squad.

The score crept up point by point to a tally of 8-9 favoring the freshmen at the end of the first quarter. During the second period Dixie and Marje added five points to make the score 13-9.

Louise Adams opened the third quarter with a quick basket closely followed by scores by Dickson and Moulton. For a long period the ball flashed back and forth until Dixie edged in another counter. At the three-quarter mark the score stood 19-13 seniors.

Carpenter made the last freshman basket to start the last period and two by Dixie and a foul shot by Marje left the score 29-15 and once again the class of '33 is champion.

Dickson scored 19 points for the Seniors and Kittrick was high scorer for the Frosh with 9 points.

Maples and Sigma Nu Are Winners In Annual Vaudeville Nite Display

By Bettina Sullivan

"Step right up everybody and witness the best talent the University has had for many a year." Why didn't some barker of old advertise his wares, I wonder, for where, oh where, has all that talent been hiding? The large audience which gathered last Friday evening in Alumni Hall to see the annual Vodvil Night sponsored by the M.C.A. certainly got a treat.

The actors displayed enough talent with their clever ideas, to make several Broadway shows "rattle."

With Ken Foster acting as master of ceremonies, the evening program ran smoothly. He introduced each act with a bit of wit.

The queens of the evening were the Maples girls (they still can't be downed!) They brought the house and the first prize down with their clever presentation of "Little Nell." No one could possibly have portrayed the title role with a more pleasing (?) voice. And why doesn't Helen Buker enter dramatics? She does excel in enter dramatics? She does excel in enter dramatics? PROFESSOR SCOTT TALKS AT CHAPEL

Describes Present Period as
One of Power; Outlines
Epochs of Past

Dr. Charles Felton Scott, professor of Electrical Engineering at Yale University, who is noted for his work in the field of engineering and education, was the speaker at assembly yesterday morning.

Dr. Scott's address given on "The Social Significance of the Power Epoch" gave the student body many enlightening facts on the modern epoch of power and machinery.

"The world is in a sad way from local unemployment and national complications," said Dr. Scott. He then proceeded to give a perspective view of the world's situation in the past in order to determine some underlying factors which would throw light on the present situation of affairs. He showed that the world has passed through stages or epochs, each epoch being brought about by some material factor. A new epoch with a new capacity is now present, the power epoch. This epoch has given us rapid transportation beyond all expectations of the past, has brought people of all races in contact with each other, has dispelled many of the superstitions of the past; in other words the power epoch has made human life a single great whole, in which change is the most important factor.

In conclusion Dr. Scott urged his audience to find out what the permanent and enduring factors of life are which should be preserved, and what things should be passed away or discarded. "Knowledge as to how to do it, but more than this, the determination to do it, will bring the world through its present state of distress."

Senior English Majors To Take Written Exams

The written major examinations for seniors in English will be held in 165 Stevens Hall during the forenoon of Saturday, March 4. The examination on the History of English Literature will begin at eight o'clock and that on the Mechanics of Composition at ten o'clock.

Students carrying a minor curriculum in English and students in the School of Education whose field of concentration is English are not under obligation to take the examinations but may do so if they desire. For students who wish to be officially recommended by the Department as teachers of English in high school, it is advised to take the examination on the Mechanics of Composition, since a creditable performance in that test will give the department assurance for making such recommendation.

DEBATERS ENGAGE UNIV. OF N.H. TEAM

Issue Debated Is Cancellation
Of War Debts. Copeland,
Brown for Maine

The University of Maine Debating Team was host to the University of New Hampshire in a non-decision debate, held last Friday evening in Coburn Hall.

The Maine speakers, Ralph Copeland and David Brown, argued the negative of the proposition, Resolved that the United States should agree to the cancellation of all inter-allied war debts. Nathaniel Eisman and Donald Kimball were the New Hampshire representatives.

The question under discussion was peculiarly appropriate at a time when the problem of war debts is an extremely important phase of international relations. The affirmative speakers from New Hampshire contended that America, because of her moral obligation to Europe during the war and because Europe is at present unable to pay, should be willing to cancel the war debt. In refutation, the Maine debaters presented Europe as prosperous even during the depression and well able to advance war debt payments.

Woodbury Named Honorary Captain

Harold M. Woodbury, ex-Deering athlete and one of Coach Bill Kenyon's most brilliant performers was elected honorary captain of the Maine freshman basketball squad following the completion of the Aroostook trip.

Besides leading the team in scoring with 175 points, Woodbury was a capable defensive man and always played his position with merit. In two games, against Higgins Classical Institute and M.C.I. the freshman flash rolled up nineteen points, while in the 24-23 victory over John Baptist he personally conducted Kenyon's hoopsters from behind in the final moments of play. Woodbury is a Phi Kappa Sigma pledge.

Who's Who Among Our Alumni

Mary Ellen Chase is one of our most cherished and most famous alumnae. She received her degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1922. Today she is a widely read essayist, and head of the department of English at Smith College.

Mary Ellen Chase is a native of Blue Hill, Maine. Her father was Judge Edward Everett Chase, a state-wide figure, and a loyal Maine booster. It was because of Judge Chase's enthusiasm that Mary was sent to her state University. She and her sister arrived on campus in the fall of 1905, and with exactly 5 other girls comprised the Freshman co-eds.

Her college wardrobe would interest our 1933 co-eds, especially her own description of her gymnasium outfit. (Bloomers were just "coming in.") These bloomers were full and decorous, and Mother was reassured that if we stood perfectly still the bloomers resembled a full and reasonably long skirt. My sister and I took care not to suggest the improbability of standing still long in a gymnasium!

Mary Ellen Chase in her "Goodly Heritage" describes the simple college life. The girls were serious and studious, for them it was very quiet around the only girls' dormitory, Mt. Vernon Hall. She was an excellent scholar in her major subjects, Greek, and history, and also in English. Instructors were few, for she says that her Greek professor used to come from his fields and agricultural barns to extol the "immortal hexameters

CY PERKINS '31 WILL PITCH WITH BRAVES AT CLOSE OF SCHOOL

Was One of Best Pitchers To Ever Twirl for Maine;
Won 6 of 8 in Series

Alfred Perkins, mathematics instructor at the University of Maine and one of the cleverest pitchers to ever don a Pale Blue uniform, has accepted an offer of the Boston Braves for a try-out as soon as school closes.

Perkins signed an agreement with Dick Rudolph, veteran Braves scout, a short time after his graduation in 1931. Since then, he has played semi-pro baseball during the summer months. Last year he pitched for the Bucksport Seaborders, semi-pro champions of the state.

During his last year as a student at the University, Perkins pitched in eight state series games, winning six and losing two. His hurling assets are cleverness on the mound, a deceptive knuckle ball, and plenty of speed. Besides his pitching ability, Perkins is a dependable hitter, batting for .328 in the 1931 season.

Perkins graduated in 1931 with a degree of Bachelor of Science in Mathematics. Since that time he has acted as an instructor in the math department, working for his M.S., which he expects to receive this June. Perkins was a dean's list man for four years. His home is in Brooksville, and he is a member of Phi Eta Kappa fraternity as well as of the Senior Skull Society.

YOUNG, WILHELM TO REPRESENT W.S.G.A.

New England Conference
Will Be Held at Bates
Next Week

Shirley Young '34 and Elizabeth Wilhelm '35 will represent the Women's Student Government of the University of Maine at the New England Conference of Women's Student Government at Bates, March 9, 10, and 11.

On the opening day of the conference, March 9, there will be a reception tea and the presentation of a Shakespearean play, A Winter's Tale. The second day, for the most part, will be spent in discussions of problems concerning student government. At the formal banquet in the evening, short three minute speeches will be given by one delegate from each institution. They will include co-education, traditions, freshmen, masculine opinion, administration, president past and present, community opinion, guilty, and the disadvantages of being on the board. Miss Young will speak on the last subject, the disadvantages of being on the board. On the last day of the conference group pictures will be taken and a final discussion meeting will be held.

6 Maine Co-eds Go To N.H. Play Day

Six Maine girls, two seniors, Marian Dickson and Merrita Dunn, one junior, Dorothy Davis, two sophomores, Annie MacLellan and Phyllis Johnson, and one freshman, Marie Archer, attended the Play Day of the Women's Athletic Association at New Hampshire State College at Durham over the week-end.

The girls left Friday noon by bus, picked up the Colby and Bates delegations on the way, and arrived in Durham at 10:30 P.M. Friday night. While there the girls stayed at the chapter houses of their respective sororities, Chi Omega and Alpha Omicron Pi.

They spent a busy day Saturday from 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Volley ball, ping-pong, and basketball were the sports in which they participated, while a picnic at noon and an informal banquet in the evening completed the program. Saturday evening they witnessed a fast basketball game between the Varsity and Lowell Textile College.

SUGGESTS IN LETTER THAT RESCUES BE REPORTED

Dean Cloke was the recipient of a letter from Mr. E. P. Noyes, Director of Safety of the Central Maine Power Company, Augusta, Maine, who recently gave the students of the University demonstrations of the prone pressure method of resuscitation from drowning and electric shock. Mr. Noyes suggested that it would be very desirable indeed to encourage students and alumni to report successful resuscitation cases to him for use as reference.

An icy spot in the road near the Experiment Station caused an automobile driven by Linwood Bowen '32, instructor in the College of Agriculture, to crash head-on into a telephone pole recently. The radiator was wrecked, and the fenders, bumpers, and headlamps damaged.

Remember Our Guests

Remembering some of the occurrences of last year's interscholastic basketball tournament, a word of caution is in order concerning conduct at the games, which will begin next Thursday. It will be remembered by those who attended the tournament last year that there was considerable "booing" at the players and officials. Though students of the University were not entirely to blame for this undignified outburst, it is nevertheless true that they did take part in it.

In the interest of interscholastic sport in Maine this tournament is an important item, for it provides an opportunity for the best teams to meet each other, try their skill, and decide the champions. The tournament is also an aid to the University, since it brings here many high school students, who are considering where they will get their advanced education. That booing at the tournament gives these students a bad impression is quite obvious. It is not in a spirit of urging students to show the University at its best side or to show an artificial side of the University that we write, for there is very little if any "booing" shown throughout the year during other athletic contests. Our purpose is to remind students that "booing" hurts the University, and should be discouraged.

Outsiders, aside from high school students, attend the tournament, and a large part of their impression of the University is formed by what they observe then. The University, since it is a state institution, depends quite heavily upon what the citizens of the state think of it, for its success.

We hope that students attending the games next week will not only refrain from "booing" themselves, but will also discourage it in others, because if a recurrence of what happened last year takes place, the tournament will be discontinued.

When Senator Thomas J. Walsh died this morning the nation suffered a great loss. His ability and his courageous insistence of integrity will be missed in the difficult period ahead.

FROSH GIRLS DEFEATED 26-22 AFTER STRUGGLE

The Freshman girls defeated the Sophomores in a fast game of basketball, played Saturday morning. At the beginning of the last quarter the score was 22-12 in favor of the Frosh. The Sophomores rallied but to no avail. At the final whistle the Freshmen still held the lead, the score being 26-22.

Archer was high scorer for the Freshmen and Stone for the Sophomores.

As A Maine Grad Sees Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Reid Sidelinger may think that he's pretty good, but he's got a long ways to go to catch up with the bewhiskered gentlemen of the U. S. Senate. Take J. Ham Lewis as an example. His hair is red and bushy. (Personally I think a henna rinse had something to do with the color) and his beard is beautifully luxuriant. It, too, seems to bear evidence of having once been subject to dyestuffs. But with the passage of time the red has worn off and the natural white has begun to make its presence noticeable. So the result is a baby pink beard hiding beneath a shaggy mane of vivid scarlet. Set this off with gold rimmed spectacles, a dark suit, and a fawn-colored vest, tan spats, and black shoes and you have a picture of the Junior Senator from Illinois.

As most of you know, the Vice-President of the United States, as President of the Senate, sits behind a raised desk in the center of the north side of the Senate Chamber. Directly below and in front of him are four other men, reading clerks and parliamentary clerks. Below them, at long tables, sit an ever-changing group of elderly men. These men are the reporters, who take down every word said on the floor of the Senate. As soon as their fifteen minute trick is thru, they take their notes to be transcribed and sent to the Government Printing Office, for the Congressional Record must be on every desk before the Senate convenes the following day.

Recently the business of the Senate was stopped and the rules of the Senate were suspended while one of these reporters, an old, stoop-shouldered, bald-headed man was hailed before the assembled gentlemen. He was the Chief Reporter and was celebrating his eighty-eighth birthday. And, as Senator Vandenberg added, was rounding out his sixty-fifth year of service without having missed one day's session. When I think of what he must have listened to, I marvel at his patience and power of endurance.

This week a curious custom was being carried out. From the little room off the executive offices in the White House where the cabinet meets, large mahogany chairs were being moved and new chairs, identical in appearance, were set in. It has become the privilege of an outgoing cabinet member to take with him the chair in which he sat as a member of the cabinet, provided only that he purchase another of identical design to replace it. So to "Woodley," the home of Secretary Stimson, went the high-backed mahogany chair with "State" carved on the top and a new chair, also of mahogany with a leather seat and back with "State" carved on the top, was put in its place for Senator Cordell Hull, the new Secretary of State.

In just two days Franklin D. Roosevelt will be inaugurated as President of these United States. As I write, elaborate grandstands are being erected all along the line of march of the mammoth parade that will feature the celebration. And the thousands who will be here for the great event are already beginning to arrive. Hotels will be jammed, restaurants will be packed to capacity plus and the streets will be thronged with the hilarious mob.

Yours truly, having been a life-long Democrat since the last election, will be in charge of seating in one of the stands. If I can get home to my trusty Royal in time Saturday evening, I'll try and furnish a panoramic impression of the whole doings. But methinks that busses, trolleys, and even taxis will be doing so good a business that it will be as much as a man's life is worth to get anywhere.

Another old practice will pass this week. It has long been a custom that, as the Senate must finish its business and permanently adjourn at noon of March 4, it sits in continuous session the night of the 3rd and, as noon approaches with business unfinished, a ladder is brought in and an employee turns back the hands of the clock for an hour or so at a time so that noon does not arrive until the Senate's business is more nearly finished. Those of you who remember the long delay in the appearance of the President for inauguration four years ago will realize the effect that this has on proceedings in general. But, as this is the last lame duck session of the Congress, no more will we witness the frenzied passing of bills and the frantic turning back of the hands of the clock. For this, if nothing more, this inauguration will be unique.

If the opportunity presents, I'll tell you more about that also next week.

Dwight B. Demeritt '19, associate professor of forestry at Iowa State College, is co-author of the book "Elements of Forest Mensuration," which has already been adopted as a text by 18 of the 23 forestry schools in the United States. The text has been so designed that it is useful both for class and field instruction. There are 29 chapters, including 20 illustrations and 400 pages.

BETA PI THETA TO GIVE HUMOROUS FRENCH PLAY

Beta Pi Theta, the honorary French society, is rehearsing a humorous play, On Parle Anglais Ici, as a spring activity to be given about April 1 to which all French students are invited.

The scene is laid in Paris where the heroine has fled. Complications arise when her mother, who cannot speak a word of French, starts a search for her.

The hero, Julien, is played by Charlotte Lachance; the part of the heroine, Betty, by Tillie Bell with Polly Siegel playing that of the mother, Mrs. Hogson. Jeanne Morneault takes the part of the landlady; Hazel Feero, the maid; Frances Morrison, the interpreter; and the policeman is played by Lionel Desjardins.

professor of English.

Like the famous Mark Twain she likes to write in bed at night. "It is then," she said, "that I can be quiet to get my thoughts together, especially when doing book reviews. But my stories and essays I usually write on free mornings on a footstool in the corner of my library. I had a stool made of just the right height, and I use a bread-board on my lap and always write with pencil." I never dictate. I write very slowly indeed, but I never rewrite, for once I have written a sentence it is as good as one as I can think out.

And through these past six years she has continued her double career, as a writer and a professor and has gained note and admiration in both professions.

Suggestions have been made in political circles that a six-year term would enable the president to carry out his policies. I've known of times when it would have been better to have the president, not the policies, carried out.

Our politicians and statesmen will soon know how to really save the country. Spring graduation speeches are in preparation.

The Senior girls' basketball administered defeat to the Juniors Saturday morning. The score was 36-15. Dixie Dickson piled up 28 points for the Seniors and Young was high scorer for the Juniors.

The MAINE SNOOPUS

CRIES OF DESPAIR were heard issuing forth from behind the Kappa Sigma house Sunday night when one of our fair co-eds (we're getting pretty sick of saying "fair co-eds," will somebody please suggest a new term?) as we were saying when one of our fair co-eds received some very discourteous treatment in the form of several pails of water suddenly dropped from above. It seems that this sweet young thing (how's that?) had been in a car belonging to Octavus Roy Gavin. The boys within the house cooed wise, and waited until ten-thirty with water. Ten-thirty came and went. Ten-forty-five came, the co-ed went. So did the water.... Well, well, well, so Helen Williams is completely Bowdoinized. Yes, the affectionate little Tri-Delt is flashing a Sigma Nu pin from Bowdoin. Seems rather nervy.... Middlebury, Middlebury, why must you be so charming? The way you steal our big he men is simply most alarming.... What is the meaning of this new word we've heard so much lately, namely "Wellzie"?.... It seems that Mercena Larabee was going to have a tooth removed and Stiney (pronounced Steeeeeniece) Merrill was to go along and hold her hand, but couldn't so Lorry did. Well, what of it? Who cares about that anyway?... And another somewhat peculiar story comes to our mind. There is a sophomore on our campus who decided to go to Germany to college next year, so waddya suppose he did. He made several arrangements. He wrote to steamship lines about rates, etc., etc. He wrote to the German college. (Remember this has come to sweet little Snoop through hearsay and the lad says he's not responsible). Just about that time he discovered that he couldn't speak German, and couldn't go to college over there next year anyway.... Puleeze lend your liddul ears, and go to Music Nigot tomorrow night. We promise you it will be worth your while.... And furthermore, puleeze remember that on Monday and Tuesday nights of next week, the final games of the intramural basketball tournament will be played off in the Armory gym at seven o'clock all for a thin dime, burn a hole in your pocket.... What in the name of all has happened to Ev Gleason's nose?... And we nominate for this week's roll of honor BARBARA SANBORN, who played the part of little "Dumbell" in the prize winning Vodvil Nite presentation of "Little Nell." She absolutely walked away with the individual acting honors of the evening, not only with the expression on her face when she looked around, but also by the movements of her head throughout the entire time she was on the stage. Each time a beat of music was struck she moved her head. Her costume was also good.... We nominate for oblivion, people who steal photographs of coming motion pictures from the announcement board in the front hall of Stevens Hall.... Love is an ocean of emotion entirely surrounded by expense.

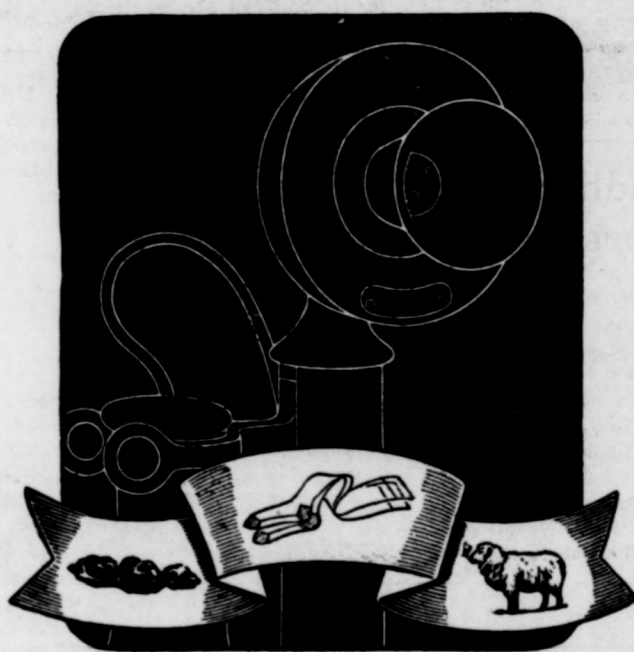

S. A. E. AND A. T. O. HAVE ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Several fraternities recently elected house officers for the coming year. They are:

Sigma Alpha Epsilon: president, Roderrick McLean; vice-president, C. Alvin Jagels; secretary, Irving Harvey; treasurer, Francis Morong.

Alpha Tau Omega: president, Vincent Ashton; vice-president, Stanley Prout; secretary, Donald Ring; treasurer, Romeo Pascarelli.

Professor Dugald C. Jackson, head of the Department of Electrical Engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, an internationally known engineer and educator, has invited Dean Cloke to be the visiting professor to conduct the honors examinations for the electrical engineering honors group of students at the Institute this coming May. The examining board is composed of two members from the staff of the Institute, two from industry, and one from some American engineering school.

Coal... silk stockings... meat —and the telephone

Keenly aware of the problems of business, large and small, Bell System commercial men are constantly devising special telephone plans to custom-fit service to the user's needs.

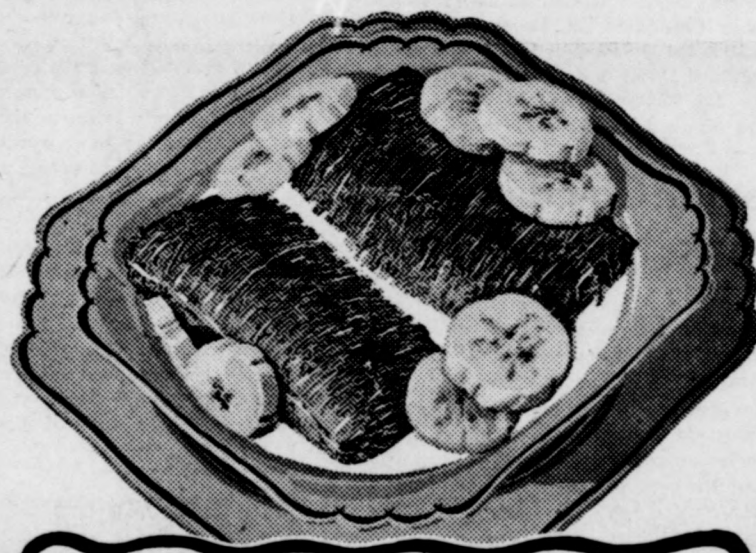

For example, a plan they worked out for a coal distributor helped him to contact 50% more dealers. A manufacturer, using a telephone selling plan, sold 700 dozen pairs of hosiery through one Long Distance call. A great meat packer handles complex sales and distribution problems efficiently with the aid of planned Long Distance and private wire services.

Systematic telephone plans are helping many users to build business—cut costs—handle collections—unify nationwide organizations—increase profits. And Bell System men are seeking still other ways to make the telephone more useful.

PHI MU DELTA SCENE OF DEPRESSION BALL

Phi Mu Delta fraternity was the scene Saturday evening of a Depression ball, when the guests were attired in old clothes and prosperity seemed as far off as summer vacation.

The committee in charge, Alton Alley, Kenneth Cleaves, and Edward Haggett, had planned a fine dance program and the confetti waltz was especially enjoyed by all. Music was furnished by Larry Miller and his orchestra.

Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. William Keyon, Prof. and Mrs. Stanley Wallace, and Mrs. Ada King.

BETA THETA PI INFORMAL HAS RHYTHM BOYS BAND

Beta Theta Pi entertained with an informal dance last Saturday evening with about fifty-five couples present. Refreshments of cream puffs, chocolate sauce, and coffee were served during intermission. The music was furnished by Lew Kyer and his Rhythm Boys. Major and Mrs. Eberle chaperoned the affair, and the committee in charge consisted of Jack Leddy, Arden Mercier, and Robert Russ.

Pi Beta Phi held a pledge service, Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. Harry Watson. Those who were pledged were Helen Walker, Dorothy Frye, Doris Lawrence, Flora Stone, Bernice Webber, Clarice Grant, Pauline Harmon, Betty Jordan, Margaret Litz, and Ada Woodman. After the service the fraternity was entertained by the patronesses, Mrs. James Stevens, Mrs. Harry Watson, and Mrs. Paul Bray. Mrs. Arthur Stevens gave several readings, while Mrs. Bray rendered a piano solo. After the entertainment refreshments were served.

Kappa Phi Kappa, educational fraternity, will give a stag dance in Alumni Friday, March 10, on the night of the basketball tournament semi-finals. It has been announced that Smith Ames and his band will be the music providers.

But speaking about girls working hard, those two Sigma Nu prize wrestlers must have found some sore spots the next day after their smashing (!) fight. And, girls, it's all for art. What a life! Our own little editor, Ed DeCourcy, took up his familiar post as announcer. And please somebody tell us who found "Bill Cunningham"? Make-up honors go to Emmy Beers, the phantom.

Anyway, all you listeners (much easier to be readers, isn't it? you can skip what you don't like), they won first prize for the boys, as you may have gathered.

Alpha Omicron Pi won honorable mention for the girls, aided and abetted by Charlotte Lachance. We thought you knew your alphabet by this time, Charlotte. It may be Greek to you, but what's the difference?

The S.A.E.'s came in second in the boys' competition. They presented "The Rejuvenation of Sam McGee," and weren't those "dogs" cute?

Nine acts were presented: Maples, Alpha Omicron Pi, Chi Omega, and Tri Delta represented the girls, and the boys shone forth with Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma (that's right, "Sigma" in your sleep), and Phi Eta Kappa.

This annual event was followed by a stag dance in the gym and the prizes were announced after the first dance.

ILLUSION:

Look at this remarkable lady... with three lovely and perfect heads... all attached to a normal body. She appears to sit on the stage, with the lower part of her body concealed by flowers. She can wink, smile, and nod. She can talk, laugh, and sing—all at the same time. Thousands of people have seen this feat of magic and pronounced it a wonderful sight!

EXPLANATION:

Audiences used to pay an extra fee to go behind the scenes to see how this trick was worked. They discovered that the three-headed woman was merely a reflection in a mirror. The glass showed the heads of three girls but the body of only one. The other two were cleverly hidden so that only their heads showed in the mirror.

It's fun to be fooled — ...it's more fun to KNOW

This "three-headed woman" trick goes way back to the early days of magic.

Also old is the suggestion that protection for your throat and freedom from coughing can be achieved through some magic trick.

THE EXPLANATION: The easiest cigarette on your throat is the cigarette that is made from the choicest, ripest tobaccos.

Cheap, raw tobaccos are, as you would naturally expect, harsh to the throat. Ripe, costly tobaccos are mild, mellow—gentle. The question is whether a cigarette is made from cheap tobacco or the more expensive grades.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

American men and women have smoked more billions of Camels than any other brand because of the appeal of more expensive tobaccos and matchless blending.

Won't you stack up your own experience with a cigarette made from milder, costlier tobaccos...against magic claims about "cigarettes and your throat"?

Try fresh Camels—in the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack that seals the freshness and coolness, the mildness and flavor of Camels...inside.

FRESHMEN END SEASON WITH 13 WINS, 2 LOSSES

Woodbury Scores Total Of 175 Points and Johnstone 70

The 1933 basketball team took its final bow last Friday night when it was forced to accept its second defeat of the season, 32-18, at the hands of Aroostook Central Institute at Mars Hill.

The game was the last of five played in Aroostook county, and marked the end of the most successful freshman basketball season since the undefeated team of 1929-30. The frosh team, unbeaten on its home floor in ten straight games, piled up a total of 443 points to its opponents' 323. Of the 443 points, 175 were scored by Harold Woodbury, recently elected honorary hoop captain by his teammates. The second highest scorer on the squad was Ken Johnstone with a total of 70, although he was out of the line-up for three games.

The team inaugurated its season auspiciously with two easy wins over Calais and Coburn, but were forced to extend themselves to their utmost in the week before final exams to defeat E.M.C.S. and Kents Hill. The toll of finals resulted in the loss of Flagg, first string guard.

With exams over and what might be termed the pre-season thaw-out process out of the way, Coach Kenyon and his charges settled down to the stiffest part of their schedule.

The first contest after exams resulted in a walk-away for Maine over a weak Waterville team, and several nights later the frosh forged one more link in their chain of victories when they overcame Rumford in one of the fastest games played on the home court.

Two easy wins over Ricker and Higgins followed. In their ninth and tenth games, the freshman came close to defeat, but each time they were pulled thru by Woodbury, in spectacular last quarter rallies, as John Bapst and M.C.I. went down to defeat.

With their home record unblemished, but hitting on only three cylinders, the Pale Blue basketball team swung into its final week of competition in Aroostook. With Ken Johnstone, star center, practically shelved for the season due to illness, and Milt Breslaw, right guard, on the sick list with an injured ankle, Coach Kenyon tried in vain to piece together a team which would look like the outfit which was undefeated at home. Small courts and low ceilings further bothered the frosh squad, and the result was the loss of two games to Houlton and A.C.I., to leave the yearlings with the fine record of thirteen wins and two defeats.

The Intramural Basketball Committee has ruled all games played by the Independents as forfeited since a freshman student was a member of the team. According to the Intramural basketball rules, every freshman is assigned to some dormitory team and is ineligible to play for any other court team.

With the Intramural Basketball Tournament drawing to a close, there is still one team undefeated in each of the three leagues and from all indications this trio of quintets appears quite certain of coping the bunting in their respective leagues. Phi Eta Kappa is in a class by itself in league A and has already chalked up six victories to its credit with a game with Theta Chi to be played.

The Phi Eta Kappa outfit is made up of five fast court players who have all had a great deal of experience and were all members of the freshman basketball teams. Led by Milt MacBride, outstanding forward on last year's frosh team, who plays a center position, the remaining hoopsters on the Phi Eta team, who incidentally are the defending Intramural Basketball champions, are "Red" Osgood, Al MacMichael, Win Hoyt, and Horace Crandall. Each one of these players are dead shots with the leather pellet and dangerous every second of play.

In league B, the Tau Epsilon Phi team is at the head of the list. Playing for the League B leaders are Mun Romansky and Hershey Perlmutter, guards, Julius Pike, center, and Sam Cope and your scribe, forwards. Romansky, Perlmutter, and Pike were all regulars on the undefeated 1933 freshman hoop team. The only team to defeat Tau Epsilon Phi thus far was the Independent quintet, but as the Independents have been playing under protest all season since they have a freshman jumping center for them, the game between the two teams did not figure in the league standing.

The outfit in league C which is leading the pack is the Dorm B quintet. This

HAGAN GETTING BOXERS READY FOR TOURNAMENT

Coach "Red" Hagan of the boxing squad is rapidly rounding his charges into shape for the coming boxing tournament which will take place March 4. There are many promising newcomers this year and the tournament will have plenty of action and skill shown.

The classifications and matches for the coming tournament are as follows:

Under 130 lbs.: Charles Crockett '36, Stonington, vs. Wesley Judkins '34, Waterville; William Curran '35, Milo, vs. Leo Viner '36, Bangor.

Over 160 lbs.: Gordon Heath '35, Malden, vs. Samuel Bachrach '33, Maynard, Mass.; Fred Hall '35, Rockland, vs. Harry Wood '36, Bellows Falls, Vt.; Gil Richardson '33, Island Falls, by.

The first of a series of educational and foreign motion pictures brought to the Strand Theater at Orono by request of numerous students and faculty members was shown yesterday as "Patemkin," a Russian picture. More movies of the same type are planned under the direction of a committee of faculty members and students, of which Professor Richard G. Wood of the History department is head.

TOURNAMENT TEAMS HAVE BEEN CHOSEN

After a long session last night the teams which will participate in the University of Maine basketball tournament have been selected as follows: Prep Schools: Hebron vs. Bridgton at 4:30 Friday; Coburn vs. Bucksport at 3:30 Friday, the winners play at 2 o'clock Saturday.

High Schools: Winslow vs. Calais at 2:30 Thursday; Old Town vs. Aroostook C. I. at 7:30 Thursday; the winner at 7:30 Friday.

Waterville vs. Stearns of Millinocket at 7:30 Thursday; Monson vs. John Bapst at 8:30 Thursday, the winners at 8:30 Friday. The finals of the high school games will be played at 3:00 Saturday afternoon.

The boxing tournament begins at 1 o'clock Saturday, and the Maine-Bates track meet is at 7:30 Saturday.

Hebron Rated Strong For Frosh Saturday

With only a few days left before their encounter with Hebron academy, Saturday afternoon at the Armory, Coach Jenkins' Freshman track outfit is putting on the finishing touches of preparation. A stronger Hebron team is expected to arrive in Orono Saturday and provide a closer contest than was staged last year at this annual event when Maine ran away with the visiting tracksters.

Coach Jenkins is depending on Huff in the dash, O'Connor in the 600 yd. run, and Prince in the mile grind, to support the Maine frosh in the track events. In the field contests Jenkins is counting on Collette and Thompson in the weights, Perkins and Ireland in the high jump, and Ireland in the broad jump.

"Chesterfields Satisfy"

WHEN smokers keep buying the same cigarette day after day... it's a pretty good sign that they're getting what they want... mildness, better taste—a smoke that's always the same.

So we're going right on making Chesterfields just as we always have... selecting choice, ripe tobaccos... ageing them... blending and cross-blending them... making them into cigarettes in the most scientific ways that are known.

As long as we do these things we know that smokers will continue to say, "They Satisfy". For that's what people are saying about Chesterfields.

If you smoke, why not find out about them? A package or two will tell you the whole story.
