SOPHOMORE EAGLES DISSOLVE TO FAVOR BIG SISTER PROJECT

New Organization To Include Sophomores and Juniors Under A. M. W.

Credit is due the present members of the Sophomore Eagle society for seeing an opportunity for improvement and taking advantage of it, even though it meant dissolving their organization.

Though they have done their best to succeed in their purpose of creating a friendly relationship between the members of the two lower classes, conditions have been such that an organization of this character was unable to succeed.

A new organization to replace the Eagles, the name for which has not as yet been divulged, was begun last night when members of the sophomore and freshman classes, picked on a basis of character and activity, were selected to carry on the work of the Eagles. In this organization, which is something of a sub-division of the All Maine Women, each All Maine Woman will have one sophomore and one junior to work under her. Their work will consist of aiding freshmen in becoming oriented and meeting the problems of college life.

The Sophomore Eagles announced the dissolution of this society at a meeting of junior, sophomore, and freshman women held in Coburn Hall Friday, April 28.

President Ruth Harding explained that, because there is not enough difference between the ages of the sophomores and freshmen, the Eagles have felt that they have caused an antagonistic feeling between the two classes. Also, they have

Who's Who Among Our Alumni

Charles Brigham Hosmer, a graduate of the Law College of the University of Maine in 1911, and formerly prominent in Maine Law circles as a brilliant Lewiston attorney and private secretary to Representative Wallace H. White, has been serving as American consul at Naples, Italy, since July, 1931.

Naturally, during his two years' residence at the Italian city, Mr. Hosmer has become well acquainted with the place, both from a historical and commercial standpoint, since it is a consular requirement to furnish not only business information, but also to aid visiting students and travelers in making the most out of their sojourn at the city.

The former Maine law student describes Naples as "a delightful place to live, and an exceedingly active and interesting consular post. There is a never ending supply of things to do and places to see, both natural and historical, and many thousands of American travelers

Movie Film Will Be Used in Child Psychology Course

Is Feature of Presentation Method of Course by Dr. Dickinson in 1933

One of the features of the work to be offered during the 1933 summer session at the University, is a course in child psychology which Dr. Dickinson is presenting for those students interested in the general subject of psychology as well as for those persons who are teaching or plan to go into the teaching profession.

In addition to the usual textual and laboratory material usually used in such work, Dr. Dickinson will make use of some 25,000 feet of film which he himself has taken of several children from the time of birth until all their muscular responses and reactions have been developed. This large amount of moving demonstration material makes the work more interesting and clarifies the subject matter as nothing else would.

The moving picture part of the course in child psychology has been built up by Dr. Dickinson through several years and is very interesting. This work in psychology will fit in well with the excellent program being prepared by the school of education for summer session students.

PRESIDENT ANNOUNCES SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS AT HONOR DAY CHAPEL

Strand Will Give 'Private Lives' For Ellsworth Fund

To increase a fund being raised to assist the residents of the stricken city of Ellsworth, destroyed by fire on Sunday night, a special performance of "Private Lives" starring Robert Montgomery and Norma Shearer will be shown in the Strand Theatre in Orono on Sunday night of this week at eight o'clock. There will be only one show.

Theatres throughout the state of Maine are cooperating in this project and are having Sunday shows by special permission from the Executive Offices in Augusta.

'AS YOU DESIRE ME' IS MASQUE SUCCESS

Ernestine Merrill Portrays Stellar Role in Her Last Drama

The Maine Masque brought its 26th season to a close last Thursday evening when Pirandello's "As You Desire Me" was presented in the university chapel before the largest audience of the year.

The manner in which this outstanding Italian drama was produced reflects much credit upon the directors, Professor Mark Bailey and Herschel Bricker, and the well-balanced cast. Ernestine Merrill, playing her last Masque role, was excellent as the Strange Lady, a part which demands professional ability and perfect poise for an acceptable portrayal. Ellston Ingalls, as Carl Salter, the writer, handled the character capably, although there was a slight tendency for him to overplay his part.

Ruth Harding, in the role of Mop, well interpreted her character, as did Pauline Harmon, as Aunt Lena, although the latter's assumed voice made her occasionally unintelligible in all parts of the auditorium. John Willey gave the best character performance of the evening, in the role of Uncle Salesco. Boffi was played excellently by Harold Barrett. The remainder of the cast, Edward Little, Lora Brown, Bessie Gray, Alfred Sweeney, Barbara Sawyer, William Butler, and Eleanor Hill gave good accounts of themselves.

MORELAND SPEAKS ON 'THE BEAUTY OF LIVING'

Urges Appreciation of Beauty in Address at Annual Junior Week Chapel

"The Beauty of Living" was James Moreland's subject in his speech at the Junior Week Assembly last Friday. He was introduced by Philip Parsons, the class president, who spoke briefly on the achievements of the Class of 1934, in both scholarship and in athletics. He also paid tribute to Elmer Martikainen and Clifford O'Donnell, deceased members of the class.

Mr. Moreland, in beginning, expressed his interest in the Junior Class, "the group with which he and his hat had entered the University and through which he had learned to love it."

He said, in discussing his topic, The Beauty of Living, that most people are too interested in materialistic values, that some will go to the World Fair in Chicago this summer, not to see the advancement in arts but in machines. He would like to see a better appreciation of the things around us. Maine, he said, has more opportunity for appreciation of beauty than any other state in the Union.

He told of a man who said he was going to get out and earn as much money as he could and then stop. He felt that it would have been fortunate if the man had died when he was a child. He spoke of the Chinese who show their appreciation of beauty by the porch which they build on the quadrangle houses and where they may view the sun or stars as they pass through it.

In closing, he said that there is at least one worthy feature in every individual, and we should seek to find those features. He expressed his belief that beauty is universal and has a universal yearning; and over all, students especially should seek for beauty.

IT TOOK COWARD ONLY TEN DAYS TO WRITE "CAVALCADE"

Although "Cavalcade" covers a period of 33 years so packed with action that it requires 21 scenes in the stage play and 220 sequences in the motion picture version which comes to the Opera House on Mon., Tues., Wed., Thurs., May 15, 16, 17, 18, it took Noel Coward only 10 days to write. This in spite of the fact that there are 40 principals in the cast, all with speaking lines.

Coward explains that this is in no way unusual for him, for he has the outline of his project clearly in mind before he starts work on any play.

Why Not Bananas?

A University with a student body of nearly sixteen hundred should be able to support a mascot. Maine's mascot is a bear named Bananas, but for the past year one has not existed. The Student Senate of two years ago found great difficulty in raising funds for the support of the bear, which after all had to eat in order to keep alive, and since student support was not forthcoming the practice of keeping a bear was discontinued.

It will be well for students, during the coming summer, while getting a tan on a beach, while cutting hay, or while sleeping late mornings, to let their minds wander to this subject in the hope of finding some plan, by which a mascot could be fed by nearly sixteen hundred students.

felt restricted by lack of authority. Because of the realization that the hoped for results cannot be accomplished through a society composed of sophomores alone, the Eagles dissolved in favor of an organization composed of members of the three upper classes.

Dean Bean described what the nature and function of the organization will be. The All Maine Women will be chosen as previously, and to work with them there will be an equal number of juniors and of sophomores. This relatively large group of women will work together on the big sister plan and attempt to come in contact with the freshman women and help them become adjusted to college life.

The new organization, larger in number, composed of members of the three upper classes, and with sufficient authority, will, it is believed, accomplish things which hitherto have been impossible.

At the annual sophomore-freshman banquet held in Balentine Hall last night the following eight representatives were chosen:

From the present sophomore class: Margaret Avery, Ella Rowe, Louise Rosie, Annie MacClellan, Jean Walker, Agnes Crowley, Miriam Linscott, Lucinda Ripley.

From the freshman class the following eight girls: Marie Archer, Anne Eliasson, Rena Allen, Alice Campbell, Elizabeth Shiro, Elizabeth Philbrook, Louise Steeves, Margaret Harriman.

Following his announcements President Boardman introduced the speaker, Dr. Everett Dean Martin, well-known educator from New York. Dr. Martin's address on "What Is an Educated Person?" presented many interesting points to the student body. Giving many enlightening references to educators of the past age such as Socrates and Aristotle, Dr. Martin said that true education consisted in "knowing what you mean by what you say." He also stressed the fact that tone must be able to distinguish between an "idea" of one's own and "prejudice," between an "inconsequential dream and a well founded thought." He closed his address by urging one and all to realize the purpose and significance of a true liberal education.

The MAINE SNOOPUS

NOW THAT peace conferences are just the thing, some of our language enthusiasts almost re-enacted the World War on Tuesday evening. It was this way. Der Deutsche Verein, the Dempsey brothers, were going on a picnic. The French Club was rehearsing, had been rehearsing, or was to be rehearsing, a play. The members of the play cast were in front of the Book Store, The Der Deutschers went by in a car, and asked where the Frogs were going. So the Heinies and the Frogs got together and went for a ride....Ed Little seemed to be enjoying himself at the Junior Prom....Ken Foster spent most of his time looking for his girl....Herbie Lewis and Swen Hallgren, Maine's professional ticket takers, were on the job again....The little pretzels took the prize....We should like to ask Roy Gavin if he has the slightest idea what became of the box of candy that the chaperons had at their booth....After gazing at some of the clothes at the prom we agree that it would have been doggone difficult to pick a queen....Lew Stearns proved himself a gentleman by offering an uncontracted dance....We consider dance programs contracts....There were plenty of imports there on both sides....and there were several exports on the outside....John Sealey was present with his one and only....Cease this idle chatter, little one, and get on with the more serious side of life....Gerry Getchell takes the prize for his re-enactment of "As You Desire Me" in the library with the statue of Venus in his arms. What price the Maine Masque?...Two of our more well known students had a little picnic on the Ledges Saturday afternoon. Their names have appeared here before, so we'll spare them the trouble of printing them again. Soon after they had left and had been seen walking down College Avenue, a fire alarm brought not only Orono's pump truck, but also the hook and ladder to the scene to extinguish a grass fire....One of the Chi O's seems to have hinted that there was something wrong with the punch at the banquet the other night.... Asked who told her, she said "Oh, a little birdie"....Asked what kind of a birdie, she said "A swallow"....Um-mm-mmm-mmm, we thought tso.... No wonder Bob Berg forgot his Spurt Squeals in the Dampus....The mystery woman in our sports editor's life appeared on the campus, and Bob forsook not only the Dampus but his seventeen chains of papers, for Bertha.... And now that they have removed the shacks around Stevens Hall they are beginning to dig up the lawn. Could it be that they are constructing an entrance for a wine cellar?...Nope, wrong again, Watson, wrong again.... Good news for everybody, finals, unlike prosperity, are just around the corner, and we can't turn the other way....Lots and lots of Mainiacs could be seen (or at least they were there) at Old Orchard Saturday listening to the sweetest music this side of heaven, and for all we know the other side too....The sweetest wine makes the sharpest vinegar, take heed, boys, lips however rosy must be fed.

DARREL BROWN HEADS MAINE OUTING CLUB

At a recent meeting of the Maine Outing Club the following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Darrell Brown; vice-president, Dana Sidelinger; secretary, Winifred Cushing; treasurer, Roger Cameron.

The Outing Club has been very active during the last few weeks. Two representatives, Winifred Cushing and Roger Cameron, attended a conference of outing clubs at New Haven, Connecticut, over the week-end of April 28. They brought back many interesting plans to the club, which they presented at the banquet held at the Penobscot Hotel in Bangor last Wednesday. Plans for an over-night hike are well underway.

A meeting of non-sorority women was held Tuesday noon at Coburn Hall for the purpose of electing representatives for student government. Clara Owen and Margaret Strout were those elected.

Vocal cords made of coal!

Typical of Western Electric care and precision in manufacturing Bell Telephone apparatus, is the making of the transmitter button which transforms spoken words into electrical impulses.

This transmitter button—the telephone's vocal cords—contains coal. Only a fine grade of selected anthracite, specially treated, is suited for this delicate work. First the coal is ground into fine granular form—next it is carefully sifted and washed. Then, after being roasted in special ovens, it is put into the transmitter button. Approximately 50,000 tiny grains must go into each button—too few or too many would impair transmission.

Such infinite care with "little things" is one reason why Bell System apparatus serves so faithfully.

MAINE'S CHANCES EVEN IN STATE TRACK MEET

Bowdoin, Supported by McLaughlin, Looms As Big Threat

An old rivalry will soon be renewed when the four Maine colleges clash in the thirty-eighth annual Maine Intercollegiate Track and Field Meet to be held at Colby tomorrow and Saturday. According to all reports, the fight for the championship will be closely contested by Maine and Bowdoin with Bates third and Colby fourth.

Ray McLaughlin is by far the most outstanding contender in the meet. Being the leading hurdler in the state, he is expected to be a sure winner in both the high and low hurdles. On the par with McLaughlin is Phil Good, Bowdoin freshman, and Charlie Allen, also of Bowdoin. Maine will feel heavily the loss of Maurice Goddard, who is definitely out of the meet because of a lame hip. Goddard placed third in this meet last year.

The Bowdoin ace is also the leading man in both century and the 220 yard dash, but Mullaney and Shea of Maine, Jenkins of Colby, and Jensen of Bates have all turned in good times in the former event. In the 220, Arn Adams of Bates, Moulton of Maine, and Jenkins of Colby will furnish McLaughlin with stiff competition.

One of the most interesting races to watch will be the 440, which will feature Arn Adams, Bates star. Adams was a member of the Olympic relay team and holds the state quarter mile record. Competing with him in this event will be Moulton of Maine and Williams of Colby, both capable quarter milers.

Russ Shaw, state champion half miler, will again compete in his favorite event along with Bill Cole and Ken Black, and Johnny Lary of Bates, all of whom are on par with Shaw.

The one mile run will be an interesting race with Russ Jellison and Ken Black competing for first place honors. Jellison won this event in the state meet last year, but was beaten by Black in the Maine-Bates dual meet. Other tracksters who will compete in this event will be Don Corbett, Saunders of Bates, and Bevin of Colby.

Harry Booth, veteran cross country runner, will be Maine's leading entry in the two-mile run, competing against such men as Jellison and Winston of Bates. Bob Wishart and Bob Clifford will also run in this event.

The illness of Howard Niblock leaves Alton Alley by far the most outstanding man in the shot put, with Larsen of Bowdoin his nearest competitor. Alley has thrown the shot over 45 feet and may set a new record. However, Don FAVOR, and Kramer of Bates should show up well in this event.

Alley is also the leading man in the discus throw, but Don FAVOR and Kramer and Clarke of Bates will furnish him stiff competition.

Maine seems to be favored in the hammer throw with Don FAVOR leading the Black Bear aggregation aided by Hayden Rogers and Clayt Totman.

In the javelin throw, Stinchfield of Colby will be the leading contender. Stinchfield won the state meet last year to beat Cal Fickett, former Maine football and weight man. However, Clarke of Bates and Coggin and FAVOR of Maine should push him to his limit.

Johnny Adams will be Bowdoin's leading entry in both the broad jump and the high jump. Adams won both these events at the University Club meet last winter. Competing with him in the broad jump will be his two teammates, McLaughlin and Briggs, and Keller of Bates, all of whom have jumped over twenty-two feet. In the high jump are also entered Freeman Webb of Maine and Bob Kramer of Bates.

Freeman Webb will have little or no competition in the pole vault. Webb has broken the state record for the past two years and is expected to do so again this year having jumped 12 feet 9 inches in the University Club meet to set a new record. His nearest competitor will be Phil Havey who has vaulted over twelve feet.

NOTICE

Major examinations in the mechanics of composition for English majors in the Junior Class will be held on Saturday morning, May 13, at eight o'clock in room 265 Stevens Hall.

SPORTS SPIELS

By BOB BERG

From all indications this year's State Track Meet at Waterville Saturday will be one of the greatest and closest in history. Bowdoin is the favorite to win the state crown for the second consecutive year with Maine counted on to give the Polar Bears a hard fight for honors with the slight possibility of overcoming Bowdoin. Bates is only strong in a few of the running events while Colby is woefully weak.

Maine will be represented by a well balanced track outfit while Bowdoin will be banking its hopes on outstanding individual stars. In an ordinary track meet a balanced outfit is essential for victory but in a State Meet involving four teams, the team with several sure first place winners has the best chance of garnering the victory.

The biggest thorn in Maine's side will be Captain McLaughlin of Bowdoin who is favored to collect the grand total of 26 points for his alma mater. McLaughlin is one of the few iron men in track today and in last year's State Meet he won four first places as he turned in one

The Maine varsity baseball nine climbed into first place in the State Series standings last Saturday afternoon when the Bricemen took a 4-3 decision from Colby at Waterville.

The outcome of the games with Bowdoin today and Bates tomorrow, both away, will give Maine baseball fans an excellent chance of determining the possibilities of Maine's taking the State Series this year.

Election of officers for the Men's Cabinet of the M.C.A. for the coming year will be held on the second floor of the Library tomorrow afternoon. The nominees are: for president, Paul Langlois and Henry Conklin; for vice-president, the losing presidential candidate; for secretary, Francis Morong and Alfred Gordon; and for treasurer, Gordon Heath.

"As long as We're Settling things

SUPPOSE YOU
TELL ME WHY

GRANGER"

"WELL, it's like this. Back in the old days, when men wore high hats and frock coats, they had plenty of time to think things out, and they had sense, too. They used to sit down on a log and take the time to whittle their tobacco from a plug, to be sure of having a cool smoke.

"In those days, a man named Wellman, right here in Quincy, Ill., made about the best tobacco you could get. He knew how to keep the flavor fine and mellow.

"Well, sir, the people who make this Granger Rough Cut acquired Mr. Wellman's method, and they must have known how the old boys used to whittle their tobacco to make it smoke cool. Yes, sir, this Granger is the real stuff. The same mellowness and fine flavor that Wellman used to hand out to his friends. And it's whittled into big shaggy flakes all ready for the pipe. 'Rough Cut' they call it—'cut rough to smoke cool' is the best way I can describe it.

"Regardless of price, Granger is about the best pipe tobacco I ever smoked. That's why I smoke it, and that's why they call it America's Pipe Tobacco, sir."

Now we wanted to sell Granger for 10¢. It was just a question of how to do it for the price. So we pack Granger in a sensible foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke the package. We give smokers this good

GRANGER tobacco in a common-sense pouch for 10¢.

GRANGER has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. And there is this much about it—we have yet to know of a man who started to smoke it, who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.
