THEATRE CLASS TO PUT ON FIRST PLAY IN LITTLE THEATRE

Bailey, Merrill To Direct
Tragedy Offering
On Jan. 18

The Theatre class will present as its first play, "Children of the Moon," a tragedy in three acts by Martin Flavin, in the Little Theatre on Thursday evening, January 18. The theme of the play is insanity. The action deals wholly with the problems that arise in a family when the children learn of their inheritance.

The Theatre class, which is an outgrowth of the former One-Act Play and Longer Play courses, has seen many radical changes in its requirements. Judgment concerning the success of this reorganized course can be passed only by those who attend the play. Those who see the play will have a double duty to perform. They will not only make up an audience but a judge and jury as well.

There are five actors in the cast who have already appeared in a Masque presentation this season. The most notable are John Willey who gave such an excellent characterization of the Baron in "Death Takes a Holiday," and Dorothy Sawyer who portrayed Cora Simon in "Counsellor-at-Law." Arlene Merrill '34 is directing the play with the assistance of Professor Mark Bailey.

The Little Theatre has been furnished with permanent seats which make for greater comfort and therefore, a more complete attention to the play. The cast, in order of appearance, is as follows: Thomas, Arne Menton '35; Walter, Russell Walton '35; Madame Atherton, Bettina Sullivan '36; Jane Atherton, Margaret Sewall '37; Doctor Wetherell, J. Otto Day, '36; Major Bannister, Stewart Mosher '35; Laura Atherton, Dorothy Sawyer '35. Tickets will be on sale at the University Bookstore and at Nichol's Drug Store in Orono.

DR. E. D. MERRILL RECENTLY HONORED

Prominent Alumnus Elected
Head, Botanical Soc.
Of America

Dr. Elmer Drew Merrill, graduate of the University, and speaker at the last Alumni Homecoming in November, was elected president of the Botanical Society of America at its annual meeting in Boston last month.

Dr. Merrill is Director of the New York Botanical Garden, the largest of its kind in the country and one of the largest in the world. In addition to the new honor just conferred upon him, this distinguished alumnus has been the recipient of many other prominent offices in scientific societies as well as being elected to membership in the leading academic societies in America and in Europe.

He has served as vice-president of the International Botanical Congress and is the only living alumnus to have the distinction of being elected to the National Academy of the Sciences. More recently, Dr. Merrill was also elected as a member of the Council of the New York Academy of Science.

Laurence Adler To Give Piano Recital Jan. 19

It is announced that the distinguished pianist, Laurence Adler, will be presented on this campus in a recital, Friday afternoon, January 19, at 4.15 o'clock. The recital will occur as an event in the general lecture series. Mr. Adler holds degrees from Dartmouth and Harvard and is well known not only as pianist but as composer and lecturer. His recital will take place in the lecture and recital room of the Department of Music, Stevens Hall, North.

As Mr. Adler is appearing at all four of the Maine colleges he is charging but a nominal fee for his services, and the small admission of thirty-five cents will be charged to defray this cost. Tickets may be obtained at the University Store, the Maine Christian Association, and from Prof. Sprague, 15 Stevens, North. Tickets will be sold to the seating capacity of the room. As this capacity is limited, those desiring to hear Mr. Adler should secure their tickets in advance of the event.

A daughter, Eleanor, was born to Dr. and Mrs. George H. Small on Saturday, December 30, 1933, at Bangor, Maine.

University Presidents

The University of Maine has had seven presidents since its inception as Maine State College in 1868. The first president, Merritt C. Fernald, served two separate terms of office. The presidents and the dates of their respective administrations are as follows:

Merritt C. Fernald	1868-71
Charles F. Allen	1871-79
Merritt C. Fernald	1879-93
Abram W. Harris	1893-01
George E. Fellows	1902-10
Robert J. Aley	1910-21
Clarence C. Little	1922-25
Harold S. Boardman	1925-34

FIRST FOREIGN FILM TODAY AND FRIDAY

'Maedchen in Uniform' To Be At Strand. Acclaimed As 1933's Best Picture

Maedchen in Uniform, the best motion picture of the year, in the opinion of the film editors of The New York Times, Herald Tribune, Boston Herald, and many others of the country's leading newspapers, is to be shown at the Strand Theatre, Orono, Thursday and Friday, January 11, 12.

The theme, which is exquisitely handled, concerns the intense love for one of her teachers of a shy, sensitive, motherless pupil in a German school for officer's daughters. Manuela von Meinhardis is brought by her aunt to a girls' school at Potsdam. Her first sight of the forbidding building convinces her that she will never be happy there. She cannot accustom herself to the strict discipline of the institution. She resents being compelled to fit herself into the mold demanded by the striped uniforms, the hair tied back, and the praying and working.

However, through the aid of Fraulein von Bernberg, a beautiful and gentle teacher (played by Dorothea Wieck), she receives the lead in a play the pupils are staging. She is such a success that Fraulein von Bernberg is moved to congratulate her with warm words. At the feast which the girls have after their successful play Manuela drinks too much of an intoxicating punch, rushes to the balcony, and cries out, "My beloved Fraulein von Bernberg. How I love her!" But her emotion is her undoing, for the harsh and strict martinet, the headmistress overhears her. Manuela is put into solitary confinement. She is not to talk with lovely teacher.

While Fraulein von Bernberg is defending her before the faculty, Manuela is slowly climbing the steep staircase. At the very top, she turns, ready to leap. Then the students cry out "Manuela!..."

Lachance Chosen Hon. Lt. Colonel

Charlotte Lachance, a member of the junior class, was elected Honorary Lieutenant Colonel of the local R.O.T.C. unit at the annual military ball held December 8 in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Since her matriculation at Maine, Miss Lachance has been prominent in many outside activities. She is a member of the honorary French society, Beta Pi Theta, and she belongs to the Cercle Francaise. She is also Pan-Hellenic delegate for Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

Chief among Miss Lachance's activities is her membership in the Maine Masque. Since she has been connected with the Masque, she has appeared in three productions: "Ladies of the Jury," "Uncle Vanya," and "Death Takes a Holiday." It was in the last play, for her portrayal of Grazia, that she achieved her greatest success.

OWEN LATTIMORE SPEAKS ON MANCHURIAN PROBLEM

Owen Lattimore, world traveller and writer, was the speaker at the first assembly of 1934, Wednesday, January 3, at Memorial Gymnasium, on the subject "Manchuria—Cradle of Conflict." Mr. Lattimore gave a summary of past relations of China, Manchuria, and Japan, presenting the factions as straining over Manchurian soil. He touched on the significance of the Great Wall of China in the nation's history and affairs. The placing of young and progressive leaders in power indicates an interesting, if probably hectic future for Manchuria.

DR. BOARDMAN'S RESIGNATION IS ACCEPTED AT JANUARY MEETING OF TRUSTEE BOARD

HAS SERVED UNIVERSITY 40 YEARS

DR. HAROLD SHERBURNE BOARDMAN '95

UNIVERSITY OFFICIALS EXPRESS REGRET OF PRESIDENT BOARDMAN'S RESIGNATION

Officials of the University of Maine have expressed their sentiments on the resignation of President Harold S. Boardman. The statements they have made, which appear below, show the high regard in which he is held by his administrative associates, and the appreciation they hold of his many achievements while serving his University.

C. E. Crossland's Statement

With the resignation of Dr. Harold S. Boardman '95 as president of the University, alumni and the Alumni Association lose a real friend. He is the first alumnus to serve his Alma Mater as president.

His long service with the University has made for him a host of friends. His attainments in the field of education, and especially engineering, are widely known.

Dr. Boardman has shown a marked interest in the activities of the Alumni Association and a fine willingness to cooperate. Perhaps more than any president of our University, he has given much of his valuable time in visiting or has made it possible for other faculty members to visit local associations as a result of which these organizations have been made stronger and more active.

Our association and alumni at large appreciate his cooperation. It is unfortunate that impaired health makes necessary his retirement. That Dr. Boardman will continue to have a great interest in the University and in the Alumni Association is certain. May he quickly regain his health and thoroughly enjoy his years of retirement.

Charles E. Crossland
Executive Secretary
General Alumni Association

Ted Curtis's Statement

President Boardman has always shown a very loyal interest in athletic affairs. He has given freely of his time and has cooperated with the Athletic Board and myself in helping to shape and carry out the athletic policies of the University. Much credit should be given to President Boardman for the friendly relationships which exist between our University and other institutions.

The Athletic Department regrets to hear that our official relationship soon will cease with President Boardman, but we hope he will enjoy our future athletic programs with us.

T. S. Curtis

Registrar Gannett's Statement

I have known President Boardman for many years, as a colleague on the faculty and as a neighbor, fisherman, and friend and it was with sincere regret that I learned some weeks ago of his contemplated resignation.

His loyalty to the University and his long and unprecedented terms of service from the position of tutor to that of head of the institution will serve as a monument to his devotion and an inspiration to those who follow him. President Boardman has been an able administrator and a congenial superior officer for those who have been privileged to work under him.

The cordial hospitality of President and Mrs. Boardman will long be remembered by hundreds of students and faculty members who have had the privilege of crossing their threshold during the past nine years.

James A. Gannett

Dean Cloke's Statement

As one compares the development of the University of Maine under its several administrators one can easily discern that during President Boardman's administration more marked advance in certain fields has been made than in any equal previous period.

During this eight-year period the average scholarship of the University rose from 1950 to nearly 2.3, a greater rise than in any other equal period of the University's history.

Successful efforts were also made to encourage not only student-faculty relationships but also the relationships among the separate groups themselves.

The results of the survey of higher education in Maine were far-reaching in their effects, resulting indirectly in the passage of the mill tax by the Legislature, in a more satisfactory solution of our health problems, in the first substantial salary raises that had occurred in a great many years, and in a provision for the retirement of teachers.

Ill Health Cause of Termination Of 40 Years' Service to Maine

Record of His Nine Years as Maine's
President Shows Achievements.
Was Dean For 16 Years

The resignation of Dr. Harold S. Boardman as President of the University of Maine, submitted to the Board of Trustees at their December meeting, was accepted by the Board at their meeting last Thursday. Occasioned by poor health on the part of the President, the resignation becomes effective at the close of the present academic year in June.

A committee of the Board of Trustees is now investigating the matter of securing a man to fill the position, which after June of this year will be vacant.

President Boardman announced last week that he has no definite plans for the future, but that he hopes to devote a year to private and family affairs. At the end of that time, he said he would have decided what he would do.

Dr. Boardman has been President of this University for the past nine years, the first year of which he served as Acting-President. When his resignation becomes effective in June he will end a forty-two year period of connection with the University of Maine.

With the depression at its height in the fall of 1932, President Boardman was appointed chairman of a committee of nine members, appointed by the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, to study the effect of the depression on land grant institutions in the United States. The committee presented its report in November, 1932, showing that during the depression, up until that time, in twenty-eight of the forty-two land grant colleges the result was a general salary cut and several colleges had been forced to reduce the number of members on their faculties, while Maine at that time had had no salary reduction, and a ten per cent increase in the faculty. This progress was credited largely to the conservative, careful, and business-like policy of President Boardman during the depression and in the years directly preceding it.

During his term as president, Dr. Boardman has had to appoint a man to every major executive position in the University, with the exception of the Dean of the University.

A planned campus expansion policy has resulted in the erection of several new buildings on the campus, during President Boardman's administration. The most outstanding among these buildings are: Rogers Hall, Merrill Hall, Colvin Hall, the new wings on Stevens Hall, and the completion of the Memorial Gymnasium Armory.

President Boardman was born in Bangor on March 31, 1874, and entered the University of Maine, then Maine State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, as a freshman in 1891, graduating with the degree of Bachelor of Civil Engineering in 1895. He continued his study as a graduate student in engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1895-96. He was awarded an advanced degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Maine in 1898. Dr. Boardman's career with the faculty of the University of Maine began in 1896 when he served as a tutor in mechanical drawing, which position he held until 1899.

In that year he went with the Union Bridge Company of Athens, Penn., as a draftsman, and the following year he did engineering work with the American Bridge Company of Philadelphia.

In 1901 he was appointed instructor in Civil Engineering at the University of Maine, in 1903 he was appointed Associate Professor and head of the department, and in 1904 he was appointed to a full professorship. In 1910 he was appointed Dean of the College of Technology, a position which he held for sixteen years, and gave up in 1926, when he was appointed president of the University following the resignation of Dr. Clarence Cook Little.

In addition to his work with the University, Dr. Boardman has been in active and consulting engineering practice for many years. He was in charge of important water storage investigations in Maine in 1903, and headed the hydrographic field operations of the United States Geological Survey in connection with the Maine Survey Commission and the Maine Water

TRYOUTS SOON FOR ORATORY CONTEST

Bricker Will Coach Maine
Contestants in 1934
State Meet

Tryouts for the local oratorical contest will be held in the Little Theatre, Thursday afternoon, February 15. The winner will be sent to Bates on February 26, where the state contest will be held this year. In turn, the state champion will submit his manuscript to the Executive Secretary of the Intercollegiate Peace Association who will name the winner of the national competition.

Herschel L. Bricker will coach the local contestants. Mr. Bricker, who has been state chairman for the past five years, is also a member of the Advisory Council for the Intercollegiate Peace Association.

All state and national awards are donated by the Misses Mary and Helen Seabury, who select some ten or twelve orations which they regard as of high merit. These are then submitted through the Executive Secretary to the judges who select the winner. As there is no speaking contest in awarding the national prizes, they are judged primarily upon thought, composition, and the probable effectiveness of the oration as a plea for international peace.

Last year the prizes were: local, $20 plus travelling expenses; state, $50 and $30 for first and second places. National prizes amounting to $100 are given. State awards are set by the Intercollegiate Peace Association.

Capt. Stevens Receives $1000 F. L. Burr Prize

Captain Albert W. Stevens of the United States Army Air Corps, a graduate of the University of Maine in the class of 1907, has been awarded the $1,000 Franklin L. Burr prize by the National Geographic Society for his accomplishments in the technical field of aerial photography.

During an eclipse of the sun on August 31, 1932, Stevens flew to an altitude of 26,000 feet over Fryeburg, Maine, and obtained the first aerial photographs showing the moon's shadow on the earth.

Stevens became prominent in aviation work in 1917, ten years after his graduation. His exploits have won him the coveted Mackay Trophy. He made a record parachute jump, established an altitude flight record in 1928, invented a camera to penetrate fog, and participated in an extended air expedition over Brazil for the purpose of map making. He also achieved distinguished service in the Aerial Photography Division of the A. E. F. in France during the World War.

Maine Will Miss Him

"To develop clear thinking, to follow the Golden Rule, to be 'square,' not to 'worry,' and to make the most of one's opportunities," is the philosophy of life of a man who in June will sever his official relationship with the University of Maine, and who, when that relationship is severed, will be greatly missed by the entire University. That man is Harold Sherburne Boardman '95.

There is, however, one philosophical viewpoint which his actions show was his, though his words do not mention it. That point is to live a life of service, and that he has done, and done thoroughly. He has served his Alma Mater for thirty-eight years, not to mention services he performed during his four years as a student at Maine.

He served his University during one of the most trying times in her history, the famous depression of 1929-1933, and results show that he served her well. He has done more than any other President of the University toward beautifying the campus. His careful guidance of the University has brought it through the depression with a minimum of suffering. His selection of members of the faculty during his nine year term as head of the University has been excellent.

When President Boardman took the helm the Student Senate had been defunct for some time. Realizing its value as a connecting link between the students and administration, he reorganized it with successful and gratifying results.

Students at Maine would do well to adopt and follow the President's philosophy of life as he has done. To develop their minds to attain the ability for clear thinking, to do unto others as they would that others should do unto them, to be just and honest in all their dealings, not to "worry," and to make the most of their opportunities, would be an excellent philosophy for Maine students, and all students to follow.

The Campus wishes to take this opportunity to express to President Boardman its thanks for the assistance and advice he has given it from time to time, for his readiness to help it at any time, and for his cooperative attitude toward it at all times.

President Boardman's position as President of the University of Maine may be filled by the appointment of another man, but his place in the life of the University cannot be filled by appointment. It will be filled only by one who devotes years in sincere and serious effort, as he has, toward helping the University to achieve its purpose.

He may rest assured that he has done his job and done it well.

University Officials Express Regret of President Boardman's Resignation

The principal problems of personnel also received added encouragement and stimulation, including the establishment of an M.C.A. for both men and women. Many members of the faculty have taken advantage of the opportunity presented them for graduate study, both here at the University and at other institutions, and have obtained advanced degrees, thus enhancing the prestige of the University.

This period has also seen the accomplishment of many valuable and distinctive research projects in various departments of the University.

The management of the freshman dormitories was a distinct improvement over the old regime.

Athletics have been placed on a more satisfactory basis, and substantial encouragement has been given to all worthwhile extra-curricular activities.

The cooperation of the students has been obtained in all University affairs.

The graduates of the University of Maine in these crucial times are holding their own with the best from many institutions. This is evidenced not only by the fact that our graduates continue to hold their positions but also by the fact that there has been a demand for the graduates year after year as great as, if not in excess of that experienced by most institutions.

The increase in physical plant has, of course, been a distinct factor in the development of the University. As I have read the history of the University many times and have talked with many alumni I feel that no successful challenge can be made to the statement that the University has prospered unusually under an exceptionally gifted administrator.

Paul Cloke

Dean Lutes' Statement

The resignation of President Boardman is a matter of great regret to me personally. I have been connected with the University throughout practically the entire period of his presidency, and I have found him to be a loyal friend, a square-shooter, eminently just in all his professional relations with the faculty, and an excellent administrator under whom to work. That the University has progressed under his leadership is obvious, but the full measure of the progress made can be appreciated only by looking back over the past eight years and recounting the achievements that have been made. The record speaks for itself, and is President Boardman's best monument.

That he may have many more years of good health and that we may be privileged to enjoy his continued personal friendship and counsel is the heartfelt wish of all of us.

Olin S. Lutes

Dean Deering's Statement

Few men have contributed more in service to this institution than has President Boardman, first, as an instructor, then as Dean, then as President. He has left the impression of his instruction on hundreds of students and his policies permeated the entire University. He has always been in sympathy and has shown real interest in the problems and the needs of the College of Agriculture and the Agricultural Extension Service. Those of us in the College of Agriculture look back on our years of association with him with a strong personal feeling of pleasure and satisfaction and look ahead to his continued friendship, cooperation, and wise counsel.

Arthur L. Deering

Dean Corbett's Statement

President Boardman's resignation, after his having served the University so long and so faithfully, comes as a real surprise and disappointment to us who have been more intimately associated with him in the administrative affairs of the University.

The work of the Office of Dean of Men has always enjoyed the full support of President Boardman, and I feel that anything that we have accomplished has been due largely to his splendid cooperation.

His retirement will be a distinct loss to the University.

L. S. Corbett

Dean Hart's Statement

The resignation of President Boardman is deeply regretted, I am sure, by every member of the University faculty and especially by those who have been associated with him during all his years as student, instructor, professor, dean, and president.

His retirement will be a distinct loss to the University.

CORRESPONDENCE

(The correspondence columns of The Campus are open to the public on pertinent subjects, and letters are welcomed. All letters should be signed with the author's real name, but a pen name will be used in publication of the letter if desired. The ideas stated in these columns are not necessarily those of The Campus and should not be so considered. The editor reserves the right to withhold any letter or a part of any letter.)

Editor, The Campus,
Dear Sir:

A SOCIAL SYMPHONY IN FOUR MOVEMENTS

"Exhibitionism is another deeply ingrained and infantile craving of all races, made up in equal doses of sex and ego. The males of many species parade around the females at mating time, trying to arouse their sexuality and at the same time probably frightening away other males."

"War offers many excellent excuses for a display of exhibitionism."

"The warrior is clothed in a uniform which once presented a dazzling array of colors and in certain cases was enhanced by precious metals, and which, drab as it has become today, for reasons of safety, is sufficient to place those wearing it on a higher plane than the civilian."

It's the same the 'ole world over.

"[They [the big corporations]] see us, under the Defense Act of 1920, pathetically trying to keep alive the factitious war enthusiasm by Citizens' Camps and the like, where we annually assemble young men, give them plenty of baseball and swimming, and softly insert a little squad drill. A group of such youngsters is a fallow field for propaganda, and the boards of directors know it. For instance, here in my trash basket is the latest monthly bulletin from my Corps Area headquarters. An article by a Major Phillips describes the enthusiasm of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, the General Motors Company and the New York Life Insurance Company over the C.M.T.C. .... I dislike to see my profession made a cat's-paw in the endless rows of capital and labor, the big rascals and the little rascals."

It's the poor wot tykes the blyme.

"But in fact it will be seen that Vickers-Armstrong is itself an international ring. It controls works in at least ten countries. If a war broke over Europe tomorrow, these works would be supplying both sides with armaments. Its products would be used by Britishers, Italians, Frenchmen, Poles, Rumanians, and Dutchmen to blow each other to bits."

Mr. Shearer sued three armaments manufacturers for $255,655, balance due him "for his services in preventing any effective disarmament resulting from the Naval Conference in Geneva in 1927." He admitted that he had already received $51,230.

One of the companies admitted paying Mr. Shearer $25,000 to act at the Conference in the role of "observer."

It's the rich wot gets the gypsy.

"The actual effect of some of these arsenical smokes [gases] is to dissolve the lung tissues, so that the victim, at last, literally drowns in his own blood."

"Stranger! Tell the people of Spoon River two things:

First that we lie here, obeying their words;

And next that had we known what was back of their words
We should not be lying here!"

"It is my firm conviction that the great newspaper proprietors of the world could stop the possibility of war in a few months if they could ever be persuaded to see the light."

Ain't it all a bleedin' shyme!

Signed,
G. Arouet Iconoclastus, who drinks a toast to every neatly trained little organism that, having been inoculated dent.

We highly appreciate his work during these successive developments of his career and feel sure that the present high standing and reputation of the University are in a great measure due to his outstanding ability and his untiring devotion to the welfare of the institution.

I am glad to add my personal appreciation of Dr. and Mrs. Boardman as friends and fellow citizens.

J. N. Hart, Dean

Dean Wilson's Statement

I have only had the privilege of working in direct contact with President Boardman a few months but in that time I have come to appreciate his deep interest in the University and his directness of manner. His resignation will mean a loss to us all.

"Wanted: real banking reform," by John T. Flynn.

The MAINE SNOOPUS

IT HAS BEEN some time since this space has been filled, as a matter of fact it has been some time since this space has existed, so Happy New Year and all that sort of thing.... Somebody said that the Theta Chi boys had a sudden epidemic of marriagitis, but they will neither admit nor deny it, and nobody seems to know just who the afflicted persons are, so perhaps we'd better skip it.... We've finally got the straight dope on that Stevens Vaughan story, or The Mysterious Adventures of Little Howie in North Hall, Stevey has hung his badge.... For whom does little Sammy Reese buy two boxes of chocolates at a time in an Orono drug store?... Sammy's three gold-fish, Alphy, Taw, and Omegee, are very dear to little Sammy, and he washes them every morning.... Dame Rumor has let it be known that Major Eberle has a liking for Coca-Cola.... And Bruce Moyer's pin, after much uncertainty has finally been hung.... Either Ed Jordan or Bee Cummings is singing a torch song, but nobody knows which it is or whether it is both.... And a special despatch to this department informs us that Gil the Grinder Robertshaw, the man who made Maine famous on the gridiron and in the squared circle, less than two years ago, is now teaching Sunday School.... And then there is the story about Oke O'Connell and his hurried trip to Mars Hill while the rest of us were enjoying a vacation away from the campus.... There seems to be some mystery about Max Dowd, and a cigar, but Max claims that somebody gave it to him.... Mr. Amos Tasche of Upperlip, Ohio, has returned after a several weeks' visit with Ellston Ingalls, Maine's Fredric March.... Mr. Tasche's brother was visiting for a while with Bill Manning, but he has also returned, via the sink route.... A mystery arose on the Maine infested Maine Central train from Boston to Bangor on New Year's Day, when Romeo Pascarelli was reported lost.... It has also come to our attention that Toppy Topoloski's pin is no longer in his own possession.... Much was the amusement of all gathered together at the Pirate's Party when Adams and Weston, those inspirational, unusual, extraordinary, and sensationally comical lads mowed down the enemy from their plane.... And Gerry Slosberg, our manager of circulation, has gone goofy for a goil who is a student at Boston University or B.U.... And so remember that it is better to have loft and loft than not to have loft at all.

A University of Maine debating team, composed of Arnold Kaplan and A. Hamilton Boothby, both members of the class of '35, will meet Bates College in Bangor over station WLBZ Monday, January 16 from 9:15 to 10 P.M.

Kaplan and Boothby will uphold the affirmative of the proposition, Resolved that the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control and operation.

On Saturday evening from 8:30 to 9 P.M. over station WCSH in Portland Karl Hendrickson and George Clark, both sophomores, will debate the negative side of the question against Bates.

PIRATE DANCE BY W.A.A. FRIDAY PROVES SUCCESS

Great was the success of the Pirate Party which was given last Saturday under the auspices of the Women's Athletic Association of which Miss Shirley Young is president. It was spoken of by many as the biggest and best stag dance that has taken place this year.

The hall was gayly decorated with banners, skulls and crossbones, and oil lamps. A real pirate ship aroused much enthusiasm as it was driven around the campus Friday afternoon. Clever vaudeville acts, and acrobatic stunts took place at intermission.

The prize for the best costume went to Tom MacGuire who was dressed as a typical villain.

MANY COUPLES DANCE AT CRASHLESS STAG DANCE

"No one can crash this dance except over our dead bodies," said "The Silent Men," and, since no dead bodies were seen strewn around Alumni Hall, one might say that the stag dance last Friday night was unique in its lack of gate-crashers. However, a large crowd, undaunted by having to pay the price, enjoyed the music of Larry's Bears.

The ten stag coeds who arrived first got in free, and naturally those girls who were accustomed to arrive late at stag dances in order to make an entrance, came early. The floor was rather slippery (one fair damsel fell into the obliging arms of her gallant escort), but no one seemed to mind.

Incidentally, this was the first stag dance after the Christmas vacation.

LARRY MILLER PLAYS AT DELTA ZETA'S INFORMAL

Delta Zeta sorority entertained thirty couples at their annual winter informal, Saturday evening, at Dorothy Memorial Hall in Bangor.

Larry Miller's Bears furnished the music. The chaperons were Dean and Mrs. Otis S. Lutes, Dr. Ruth Crosby and Mr. Herschel L. Bricker.

Priscilla Robert was chairman of the committee in charge.

FIVE FREE ADMISSIONS AT TOMORROW'S DANCE

At the stag dance which will be held at Alumni Hall, Friday, January 12, the holders of the five lucky numbers will have their admission fees returned. An added feature is advertised as "the award of a cracking good prize to the best catcher present." Larry Miller's bears will furnish the music.

"I'm a haughty saucy pirate And I'm looking for my fee! Sailing down the coast of the high Barbaree!"

sang the crew of the gay pirateer that ploughed our campus last Friday. Rigged with black sails, flags, and fair pirates the Orono life boat hoisted anchor by Winslow Hall and sailed away o'er the campus.

"Hail! my merrie men," cried out Captain Young, "Let's off to Hannibal Hamlin to see our jolly loot." So they sailed away for the Freshman port, and their mate laid the anchor. With pale, pale flags flying and a soft breeze blowing they traded their wares for gold.

By way of enlightening University of Maine students in regard to the innovations in the monetary system of the United States now being staged by the present administration at Washington, lectures were given this week by Professor Chadbourne and Mr. Kirshen of the Department of Economics concerning the gold standard and the managed currency policy.

Considerable interest has been shown by economics students in the lectures, and on Saturday the two speakers will meet in an informal debate, Professor Chadbourne upholding the gold standard, and Mr. Kirshen taking sides with a managed currency program. Students will be free to ask any questions which they wish concerning the question.

Besides the usual lead sheath, the tiny copper wires in the cable are guarded by seven layers of paper, jute and steel tape—all saturated or covered with asphalt compound.

In pioneering and producing improved apparatus, Western Electric contributes to the year 'round reliability of your Bell Telephone.

MAINE SEVENTH OF DOZEN IN ANNUAL LAKE PLACID MEET

Inexperienced Team Gives Real Opposition to Meet's Winners

By Burton E. Mullen

A pistol cracks and a row of tense, grim-faced men, poised on the tips of glistening skates, dart forward on the smooth sparkling ice—A winding column of snowshoe racers, sprinting across drifted fields, their breaths steaming in the frigid air—A crouched figure darts with ever increasing speed down a steep incline, soars into the air from a high take-off, and with his body a study in muscular coordination, lands on a hard-packed slope at a speed of nearly one hundred miles an hour—Another Lake Placid Winter Sports Meet is in progress.

Hampered by lack of snow throughout its pre-season training period, and with a squad of men only one of whom had ever engaged in intercollegiate competition, Maine's snowbird team scored one point to take seventh place in the annual Lake Placid classic.

Maine's sole point was tallied in the two mile snowshoe race, in which Alton Prince, acting captain and the team's only veteran, retarded by wet and heavy snow, scored fourth. He was closely followed by Gilbert Cox, a freshman.

Eight hundred and fifty guests of the Lake Placid club watched a strong Dartmouth team capture the honors in one of the finest meets ever staged at the famous winter sports mecca, in which 12 intercollegiate teams, boasting several Olympic contenders, were entered.

In view of the poor weather conditions, and the inexperience and unfamiliarity of the majority of the Maine team members with intercollegiate competition, Coach Ted Curtis expressed himself as being very well satisfied with Maine's performance.

"Every man did his very best in the meet, and I was particularly pleased with the showing of Frank Doe, a newcomer to the squad," said the coach.

The six team members who made the trip with Ted Curtis and Bruce Ashworth, assistant coach, were Samuel Faver, Carl Hendrickson, Frank Doe, Lewis Hardison, Alton Prince, and Gilbert Cox.

A summary of the team standings follows: Dartmouth, 31; St. Patricks, 22; New Hampshire, 19; Ottawa, 14; McGill, 6; Fordham, 3; Maine, 1; Bowdoin, 0; Cornell, 0; Toronto, 0; Williams, 0; Yale, 0.

CO-ED SHARPSHOOTERS START PRACTICE MONDAY

Girls rifle practice started Monday of this week under the direction of Captain Wear. More interest seems to be shown this year because of the large number of girls attending.

There will be practice for the rifle team every Monday, Tuesday, and Friday afternoon from 1:30 until 4:30.

The new officers of the season are: president Shirley Young; manager, Doris Newman; secretary-treasurer, Betty Jordan.

Students at the University of Maine, returning from the Christmas recess on the date 1-2-34, had a privilege which will not occur again for 100 years.

FROSH BASKETBALL FIVE DEFEATS BREWER, 46-12

The University of Maine freshman hoop quintet inaugurated its 1934 season last night in Memorial Gymnasium with an overwhelming victory over Brewer High School, 46-12.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt from the opening whistle, as the visiting team failed to sink a basket until well into the third quarter.

MacBRIDE, GILBERT TAKE ALPHA ZETA INITIATION

M.C.A. SENDS DEPUTATION TO CHURCH IN HOULTON

A peppy team of four Maine students, led by Mr. Fielder, journeyed to Houlton to conduct services at the Methodist Church under the auspices of the M.C.A. Saturday, December 9. In the evening they carried on an interesting young people's social.

The subject of the Sunday morning service was "Christianity and Social Responsibilities." Those taking part in the service were Mildred Haney, Anora Peavey, Ted Wood, and Paul Langlois.

A number of other deputations will take place during the coming year. Any one who is interested please see Mr. Fielder.

The Class of 1934, at a meeting held prior to the Christmas vacation, voted to adopt the insurance plan for obtaining a class gift to present to the University at the twenty-fifth reunion of the class. The plan adopted, provides that each member makes a small payment now, and the policy becomes a paid up policy, which will give over $1000 in twenty-five years.

As a Christmas present to the Class of 1937 the Senior Skulls announced on Thursday, December 14, that Freshman Rules would be removed the following day. The announcement was received with much rejoicing by the members of the freshman class.

THE TOBACCO DOES NOT SPILL OUT

Good tobaccos... real good tobaccos... that's the reason for Lucky Strike's fine, smooth quality. We use only the center leaves of the finest Turkish and domestic tobacco plants. Not the top leaves—because those are underdeveloped. Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. We use only the center leaves—because these are the mildest leaves—fully ripe for perfect smoking. Only these choice tobaccos are used to make Luckies—so round, so firm, so fully packed—and no loose ends to spill out. That's why Luckies are always mild and smooth. That's why always "Luckies please". And don't forget—"It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.
