4 UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ARE SLIGHTLY INJURED IN SEVERE AUTO CRASH

3 Taken to Hospital; Buker Has Knee- cap Fracture

STUDENT CARS CRASH Mullaney, Star Trackman, Escapes Bad Injury In Wreck

Four University of Maine students received minor injuries in a severe automobile crash near the Red Bridge on the Bangor-Orono road early Tuesday afternoon. The students injured were Rodrick E. Mullaney '35, George Buker '35, Robert Dearth '35, and Harry Saunders '35.

According to observers, the accident occurred when a car, driven by Albert Hagerty, a junior at the University, in which Mullaney was riding, swung out of line to avoid hitting a car which had stopped suddenly. A machine driven by Dearth, and containing Buker and Saunders crashed into the first car which had stopped in the middle of the road. Both cars were nearly demolished by the impact.

Three of the students, Buker, Mullaney, and Dearth, were taken to the Eastern Maine General Hospital where they were treated for their injuries. Saunders received a severe cut on his face, but was attended by an Orono physician.

Buker was the most severely injured of the four students, receiving a badly fractured knee-cap. He will be confined to the hospital for at least two weeks. Dearth and Mullaney were allowed to leave the hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dearth will be confined to his bed at the Phi Mu Delta house for some time, with a leg injury. Mullaney received minor bruises and abrasions, but is able to attend classes.

The accident was investigated by Bangor police.

WORK STARTED ON NEW MECHANIC LABORATORY

Construction Work To Be Done By University Labor; Estimated
Cost Is $35,000

Construction was started this week on a new mechanical engineering laboratory which will be located near Crosby Laboratory on the road to the Armory. The new building will replace Lord Hall, the present technology machine shop.

At a cost of approximately $35,000, the building will be constructed by University workmen under the supervision of J. A. Ross, Superintendent of Buildings. The new structure will be only one story high and will be in the form of a gigantic letter E. The main portion of the building will have a frontage of 150 feet and a width of 30 feet on the rear of which will be added three 70 by 30 foot wings.

A concrete foundation will be laid immediately and the steel framework above it. The building itself will be brick, and Supt. Ross expects to complete the work by the middle of June.

The University is also planning to renovate several of the older buildings during the coming months. At present the smith shop in the rear of Lord Hall is being remodeled into a class room. Some time next month work on the second story of Fernald Hall will begin and it will be entirely renovated. After the close of school in June, Wingate Hall will also be remodeled.

Other senior Campus board editors whose terms of office ended Saturday were Fern Allen, associate editor, Roger Helfer, business manager, and Stanwood Searles, advertising manager.

The new editorial staff which has now taken over publication of the paper consists of Burton Mullen, editor-in-chief; Cynthia Wasgatt '35, associate editor; Elston Ingalls, '35, managing editor; James Day, '36, men's news editor; Elizabeth Philbrook, '36, women's news editor; Roger Levenson, '36, sports editor; Anna E. The business staff now consists of Philip Snow '36, business manager; James Haggitt '36, advertising manager; George Clarke '36, circulation manager.

The expiration of DeCourcy's term of office marked the conclusion of four years of outstanding journalistic endeavor on his part while at the University of Maine.

After holding the positions of news editor and managing editor of the Campus, he was elected to the editorship in his sophomore year, the second student at the University to have ever received this honor. He has held the editorship to this time, and under him it has advanced tremendously in make-up, content, and editorial policy.

DeCourcy was the inaugurator of the Freshman, and has worked constantly to help it become a permanent institution. He served as co-editor of the 1934 Prism, and is now editor of the Maine Review. He is the first student to have ever held the positions of editor of both the Campus and Prism simultaneously, and also the first student to have ever held the editorship of every student publication on the campus at some time during his college career.

Besides his journalistic activities, DeCourcy has been a member of the Student Senate, the M.C.A. cabinet, the Contributors' Club, and other organizations. He is prominent in the affairs of the senior class, is a Senior Skull, and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Mullen, the newly elected editor, has served as news editor of the Campus for the past year. He was sports editor of the Freshman, and editor of the Freshman Bible.

The Big Sister Council is sponsoring the last stag dance of the year, Friday evening, April 20, in Alumni Hall. Larry Miller's orchestra will play for the affair.

JOURNALISTIC MEETING PLANS ARE COMPLETED BY KAPPA GAMMA PHI

Jimmy Searches Vainly For Pilfered Chapeau

A weary figure of a man, nay, a mere shadow of the man I knew, wandered aimlessly—as if the spring sun had smitten his intellectual brow—hither and yon about our budding campus. He was searching, this man, for he plodded sadly about, staring minutely into the coveted nooks and crannies, hoping against hope that some hiding place would regurgitate that which he sought. "My hat," he muttered in a low, inane voice. "Twas a little thing but mine own. My hat!" But he was doomed to lonely existence without it, for the freshmen had hidden it beyond his ceaseless search. And so Jimmy roams. No longer is the hat worn in the "accepted Moreland manner." It is now a trophy and a memory.

PRISMS TO BE RELEASED ON JUNIOR CLASS DAY

The book is planned with a colorful pictorial background of campus scenes as the theme. This idea is carried throughout the book in the classification of material. Pictures of nearly everyone in the University will appear in the book, both student and faculty members. The sports section will contain many more pictures of the college stars than in previous years, and the entire issue will be done in two-color printing. It will appear on Junior Class Day, May 4.

We Begim

The incoming Maine Campus staff pledges itself to strive courageously and wholeheartedly toward one goal, a better University of Maine.

Futility

Another period of interclass strife has visited the campus of the University of Maine, and in the wake of the annual upheaval is left the usual amount of ludicrous hair cuts, mud and egg splattered buildings, accidents, bills for damages, and hard feelings between members of the lower classes.

It is difficult to determine the causes of annual interclass fighting. They seem to lie in tradition and the—"Well, they did it last year, why shouldn't we?" attitude of members of both the freshman and sophomore classes. Verbal encouragement by misdirected members of the upper classes has always played a considerable part in bringing about the conflicts.

The Senior Skulls can hardly be commended for their action last year in setting aside a fixed date for a freshman-sophomore fight. For the following reasons, the Skulls should do all in their power to put an end to interclass hostilities.

In the first place, the fighting this year, especially that part of it in which the lower class women played a part, brought an inordinately large amount of most unfavorable publicity upon the University as a whole. A Boston tabloid seized upon an unfortunate incident in the affair and published an extremely exaggerated report of the women's activities to satisfy its gullible readers.

No less important than the above is the regrettably large number of absences caused by the fighting. During the two and one-half day period nearly all the sophomore men, and likewise a large number of freshmen, cut all their classes. Many upperclass students, too, remained away from classrooms to watch the activities. The practice sessions of various athletic teams suffered equally.

A third cause for abolishing this futile pastime is the annual damage to property. University dormitories and fraternity houses have been splattered with mud and eggs. Trolley cars have suffered equally, and much to the annoyance of their patrons. Citizens and business men of Bangor have been likewise disturbed.

The last reason, and one which is in itself sufficient, is the large number of accidents which occur annually at this time. Speeding automobiles laden with reckless students, carelessly brandished scissors,—what invitations to grim tragedy whose shadow shrouds the campus at this time. Must we wait to see a classmate blinded, permanently deformed, or even, perhaps, hurled to his death from a rapidly moving car?

The Student Senate and the Senior Skulls should exert their utmost efforts towards the termination of interclass fighting. If they have not the power to do this, it should be done by the Administration.

A feature of the conference will be the judging of the publication entered by each high or preparatory school. Suitable prizes will be awarded to first place winners in both newspaper and yearbook fields. The judges have not as yet been announced.

The members of the Psychology of Advertising class, under the direction of Professor Dickinson, were shown through the University Print Shop Wednesday morning by Mr. Libby. The inspection was part of the class work and served to acquaint the students with the printing department.

NOTED '22 ALUMNUS DIED LAST TUESDAY IN HUB HOSPITAL

Henry W. Fifield Was Outstanding as Student

INSURANCE SPECIALIST Was Serving 3 Year Term On Alumni Council Of U. of M.

Henry W. Fifield, Jr., 35, a graduate of the University of Maine, died Tuesday in a Boston hospital. Mr. Fifield, who resided at 37 Bayview Avenue, South Portland, was associate general agent in Maine for the State Mutual Life Insurance Company of Worcester, Mass. He had undergone an operation in Boston last October. Last Monday he suffered a relapse in his home in Portland and was rushed back immediately to the hospital.

Born at Vinalhaven, March 17, 1899, Fifield attended the schools there, and, in the course of events, entered the University of Maine in 1918. Four years later he was graduated as one of the outstanding students of his class, receiving the Washington Alumni prize awarded to the senior who had done the most work for his college during his four year course. In addition to his participation in class athletics and other activities, he was president of the Sophomore Class, manager of the track team, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., and a member of the Track Club, the Junior Masks, the Prism Board, the Maine Masque, the University Musical Club, and a sergeant in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. He was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

In 1927 Mr. Fifield was appointed district manager of the State Mutual Life Insurance Company at Rockland. Two years later he was transferred to Bangor, and, in 1932, he was sent to Portland as associate general manager for Maine, handling Maine business jointly with Harry L. Sanborn.

During the World War, Mr. Fifield attended the Officers' Training Camp at Camp Lee, Va., but before he completed his course, the Armistice was signed, and he was discharged without receiving a commission. He was active in the work of the American Legion and in 1932 was commander of the Woodcock-Cassie-Combs Post at Vinalhaven.

In 1933, Mr. Fifield, as a representative of the College of Arts and Sciences, was elected for a three year term to the Alumni Council of the University of Maine. He was also a member of the Masonic bodies at Vinalhaven and an honorary member of the South Portland Kiwanis Club.

Surviving him are his widow, who was Miss Charlotte L. Osgood, of Orono; his mother, Mrs. Carrie Fifield; and a sister, Mrs. Doris Shields, of Vinalhaven.

SUMMER in NEW YORK

TO the student of cultural subjects who wishes to make up deficiencies or shorten his college work, the advantages of summer study in New York are immediately clear. The museums are at hand—the libraries, theatres, public buildings. And, within a stone's throw, are the famous resorts of Long Island, Connecticut and the New Jersey shore. To all these, the Washington Square College of New York University affords the student easy access.

Bow your heads ye saints and sinners,
Clasp your hands in reverent awe.
No more shall your names be sullied,
Winchell's word's no longer law.

Bend your knees and kneel a moment,
Offer prayers, prepare a feast.
Eat and drink, obey your impulse.
No longer will the Snoopus peek.

The bier is closed, the coffin buried,
Six feet under lies your foe.
The earth is trod, the grave unmarked,
Hell and fire wait below.

The yellow press is dead, my brethren,
For tabloids we no longer yen.
The Snoopus died a week come Sunday,
Don't weep, don't wail—just say AMEN!

CAMPUS WILL OFFER BEST STORY PRIZES FOR ITS REPORTERS

Aim Is Improvement In Literary Quality Of Campus

TWO AWARDS OF $5.00

English Dept. Professors And Campus Editor Are Judges

At the annual meeting of the Maine Campus board held last Saturday afternoon, it was voted by the editorial board to offer a prize of five dollars cash, or its equivalent, to the writer of the best news story which appears in the Campus during the coming year.

Separate prizes will be awarded to male and female reporters, and it is expected that they will be given out at the annual banquet in 1935. It was voted to have as judges of the stories, the head of the English Department, the instructor in journalism, and the editor of the Campus.

The purpose of the prizes is to stimulate more interest in writing among students, to enlarge the editorial staff of the Campus, and to improve the quality of stories appearing in the publication. The judges in the contest will base their decisions on the manner in which the story is written, and the ingenuity and work of the reporter in obtaining the material for the story. Members of the editorial staff are not eligible for the awards.

Nearly 600 persons attended the annual Sophomore Hop held in the Memorial Gymnasium Friday evening, April thirteenth, from eight-thirty until two o'clock. The guests of the class of 1936 included members of the two upper classes.

Bangor was again invaded by the fresh-man class last Friday night, but this time on a friendly mission. Three trolley cars, loaded with members of the class of 1937, carried the enthusiastic revelers to the Bangor City Auditorium to attend the annual freshman banquet.

The hall, attractively decorated with orange streamers, provided an excellent background for many bald heads ex-hibited by those unfortunate members of the class who were unable to escape sop-homore clippers. Those few who had successfully managed to preserve lux-uriant heads of hair were so enviously regarded by their classmates that they were in constant fear of losing them.

An excellent dinner of roast turkey, peas, ice cream and cake was served by an efficient staff of waitresses. About eight tables were set up in the hall, facing the speakers' table. Lou Kyer and his Rhythm Boys provided entertainment during the evening.

James Moreland, in spite of a bad cold and the poor acoustics of the hall, kept the freshmen in a constant uproar with his witty advice and introductions of the speakers for the evening. Dean Cor-bett, Coach Jenkins, Major Eberle and Physical Director Wallace added greatly to the general merriment with their speeches. Les Hutchings and "Ding Dong" Bell gave a few impromptu re-marks.

The committee consisted of Phyllis Dimitre, chairwoman, Carol Stevens, Phyl-lis Phillips, Gordon Coffin and James Dow. Those present as guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Chester, Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. James Moreland, Major and Mrs. Eberle, Dean and Mrs. Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley, Prof. and Mrs. Stanley Wal-lace, Miss Fern Allen, and Mr. Philip Parsons.

DEAN WILSON SPEAKER AT Y. W. C. A. MEETING

Miss Edith Wilson, dean of women, was the guest speaker at the general meet-ing of the Y. W. C. A. in Balentine Hall, Wednesday at 4.15 P. M. Mildred Haney, president of the organization, introduced Miss Wilson and the members of the cabi-net. As chairmen of committees, the cabinet members reported on the work accomplished during the year as follows: social committee, Lucinda Ripley; com-mittee on deputations, Jean Walker, social service committee, Jeannette Mac-Kenzie; religion committee, Elizabeth Gifford; committee on vocations, Dor-othy Romero. Elizabeth Ashby gave a summary of Freshman "Y" activities. Announcement was made of the Maine Christian Association retreat to Camp Jordan next week-end, open to both men and women. The meeting closed with the singing of "Follow The Glean."

YOUNG AND JORDAN TIE FOR RIFLE CLUB HONORS

The high scorers of the Women's Rifle Club were announced at a meeting in Balentine Hall on Friday, April 13. Eliza-beth Jordan and Shirley Young tied for first place. In former years a prize was awarded for the greatest improvement in scores, but this year it was decided to discontinue the practice. Score for first place was 492 out of a possible 500.

MRS. SAWYER HOSTESS AT SORORITY PARTY

Mrs. Marion Sawyer, the patroness of Alpha Omicron Pi, gave the active mem-bers and pledges a tea Sunday afternoon, April 15, at the Penobscot Valley Coun-try Club.

Mrs. Harold Boardman and Mrs. Albert K. Garner, poured.

Those assisting were: Miss Ernestine Merrill, Miss Helen Osgood, and Miss Sally Palmer.

Mrs. Mary Martin and Mrs. Hugh Wear were among the guests.

The gravest menace to peace in this country is the publisher of sensational newspapers, said Willis J. Abbott, jour-nalist and historian and for many years editor of the Christian Science Monitor, who delivered the Paul Block lecture at Yale. The other menaces to peace, Mr. Abbott declared, lay in the control of newspapers by munitions firms and poli-ticians having ambitious national schemes to advance.

New Ball Diamond Is One of Largest In New England

New Field Soon to be Ready; No Ground Rules Necessary

The University of Maine can now pride itself on having one of the largest base-ball fields in New England. At the time of writing the new field is rapidly drying out in readiness for the spring christen-ing in a few weeks. However, it was stated by authorities that the new play-ing ground will not be used until it is thoroughly dry and not until it has been extensively rolled and the new grass mowed.

The new field which is 650 feet to deep center field is so large that no ground rules will be necessary. And—incidentally it will be a very poor place to miss a ball as the one at error will have plenty of ground to cover in order to recover the fleeing ball.

There will be plenty of room for the spectators as it is planned to have bleachers put up along the home and third base line capable of accommodating 1,500.

Another feature of the field is the tur-tle back infield as incorporated by the big leagues. This arrangement will eli-minate the pitchers mound most often used on the smaller fields.

Adjoining the varsity field is the fresh-man ground the use of which is question-able this season. However if these new fields are used it will no doubt give am-ple opportunity for improvements to be made to the football field. In the past there has been insufficient time during the summer months to put this field in first class shape.

Lake Carnegie, hitherto used by crews and rowboats alone, this spring will be the scene of a series of dinghy races under the auspices of the Princeton University Yacht Club.

The dinghies, designed for use in shal-low water will be able to complete the three mile course without difficulty despite the fact that the lake rarely exceeds a depth of six feet in any place.

Twelve dinghies have already been or-dered and the yacht club expects ad-ditional orders totaling the same number during the course of the spring.

FROSH AND SOPH GIRLS IN INTERCLASS MELEE

Various Female Weapons
Used by Amazons in Battle

By Jane Sullivan

Traditions of five years ago were revived last Thursday night when the sophomore and freshman girls decided to lend a hand in the annual controversy. Mercuriochrome, powder, rouge, and lipstick played an important part in the warfare, but the only injuries received were those to the girls' pride.

It all started when the sophomore women tried to make up for the alleged lack of courage of the masculine half of their class by hiding the evening clothes of the freshman girls in the Maples' attic and dismantling their rooms. When their job was done, they repaired to the Cabin to appease the pangs of hunger brought on by lack of supper. The freshmen, returning from supper in the dormitory and finding their domiciles completely upset, held a council of war and descended in full battle array upon the unsuspecting sophomores.

Excitement reigned supreme; timid girls who always had to be helped in and out of cars and up and down stairs when attending parties, suddenly reversed their ideas and adopted Amazonian tactics. A hair-pulling, powder-throwing, typically feminine battle now took place in the pouring rain outside the cabin. The shrieks of the avenging and avenged girls could be heard all over campus and attracted the attention of all those in the vicinity.

The sophomores, finding themselves outnumbered, fled to the dorm and were joined there by several of their classmates who had remained in their rooms. Another battle was begun at this point, but was soon terminated when the girls' strength deserted them. A truce was declared, thereby ending the hostilities. More than one freshman girl went to sleep that night in a disordered room, for most of them were too tired to put their belongings away. The next day, the evening dresses were recovered from their hiding place and found to be none the worse for their disappearance.

It has been five years since the girls of the two lower classes have entered into the controversy, for at that time it was decided by the college that "female" conflicts should not be permitted.

Samuel Levinson Is Awarded French Decoration

Samuel O. Levinson, noted Chicago attorney, and father of Professor Ronald B. Levinson of the Department of Philosophy at the University, has been recently awarded the decoration of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor by the French government.

The award, presented to Mr. Levinson in Washington by Ambassador Laboulaye, was granted in recognition of his "outstanding work toward the outlawry of war which preceded and laid the groundwork for the Briand-Kellogg pact of Paris outlawing war, and also for his other general contributions to world peace."

Levinson is a member of the Chicago law firm of Levinson, Becker, Glenn, and Schwartz, specializing in reorganization of industrial and railroad corporations. He is a graduate of Yale, and has received degrees from several other universities. He has a summer home at Kennebunk Beach, Maine.

FARM BUREAU VOTES SCHOLARSHIP FUND FOR STUDENTS HERE

The Maine State Farm Bureau Federation voted at its annual meeting to establish a $3,000 scholarship fund at the University of Maine. In addition to this, the Federation contributed an initial gift of $100. One or more scholarships will be awarded annually to upperclassmen in the College of Agriculture, from the income derived from the fund.

The purpose of the Federation, which consists of 14 County Farm Bureaus, is to aid, co-ordinate, and assist the several county units in their work. It has always been in close cooperation with the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture.

The minimum goal that has been set is $3,000. The proposition is that this sum shall be raised by gifts of the county organizations and by voluntary gifts of the many farm bureau members.

Carl Johnson, spent the week-end at his home in Portland.

Teacher Demand and Supply Study To be Made by Finance Commission

Columbia University Prof.
Heads Investigation in Maine

Teacher demand and supply in the State of Maine will receive special attention by the Maine Public School Finance Commission, it was announced at the offices of the Commission in the State House, Augusta, today.

In this connection the appropriate place and function of the state's program of teacher training will be studied by Professor Floyd B. O'Rear, specialist in higher education, Teachers College, Columbia University, and assistant to Professor Paul R. Mort, director of the technical staff of the Finance Commission.

Professor O'Rear is already familiar with educational conditions in the state. He participated in the recently completed study of institutions of higher education in Maine, exclusive of those devoted to teacher training. He took part also in the internal survey of the University of Maine just completed.

In addition to his work in Maine, Professor O'Rear has conducted surveys of higher education in Massachusetts, Florida, Missouri, and Chicago. He was a member of the staff of specialists which studied the offerings of the colleges of the United Lutheran Church in the United States and Canada.

In a statement issued through the Commission today, Professor O'Rear said, "I expect to seek in Maine the answers to four questions: How many teachers does Maine need. From what sources may the supply of teachers for Maine be derived? What institutional provisions are required to meet the state's demand for teachers? How may Maine best supply those provisions?"

Professor O'Rear will be in Maine during the week of April 23, and will spend time at the following schools: Eastern State Normal School at Castine, Western State Normal School at Gorham, Aroostook State Normal School at Presque Isle, Madawaska Training School at Fort Kent, Washington State Normal School at Machias, and Farmington Normal School at Farmington.

INSURANCE PLAN TRIED HERE IS TO BE ADOPTED

One Company Pioneering in Field, Gives 20% Rate
Reduction for Merit

An automobile insurance plan devised by Professor John H. Magee of the Department of Economics and Sociology, and under his supervision tried out in the University community, has been adopted by one of the largest stock liability insurance companies.

A few years ago stock insurance companies undertook to grant a discount for good driving record without discrimination as to class or occupation of the assured. The plan was considered a failure and abandoned.

Prof. Magee's contention is that drivers can be grouped just as is now done with personal accident insurance. Selected groups can be offered merit credit for good driving experience. The plan was put into effect here at the University two years ago. Progressive reductions were given for good driving experience. The company making the experiment sent one notice only to the members of the faculty, and, those who cared to, entered the plan. It is interesting to note that not a single assured in the faculty has been in an accident, and that every one in the group now enjoys a 20% saving on his automobile liability premium.

The company is one of the strongest stock companies. It is in no sense a mutual granting a dividend, and subjecting the policy holder to the liability of an extra assessment. The discount is one earned by the policy holder himself.

The company plan this year to extend the plan throughout the country, and national advertising is being prepared to bring its possibilities to the attention of those groups to whom it is to be offered.

COLUMBIA SENIORS HOPE FOR LESS

With the casting of about 200 ballots, Columbia men expressed their answers to "How much do you expect to earn in salary five years after commencement?" "Has your college education been worth while?" "Who is the most dignified student on the campus?" "Who is the most popular?" "What is your favorite novel?" "Who is your favorite actress?"—and sundry other questions of importance to college men. The average anticipated earning for the group was $3,600, which is $272 less than was expected by the composite predecessor in last year's poll. Cliff Montgomery, football star, was deemed the most popular, and "Point Counter Point" won the highest number of votes for the most popular novel. Two hundred thought their college education had been worth while, and two answered in the negative. Katharine Hepburn won first place as the favored screen actress.

SCARCITY OF GIRLS AT OWL STAG DANCE

Evidently afraid of having the girls' fight continued, the usual amount of feminine pulchritude missed hearing Dana Sidelinger and Sam Favor sing their duet at the Sophomore Owl Stag dance held in Alumni Hall gymnasium last Saturday evening.

Many shorn heads appeared on the dance floor as the overwhelming number of boys searched for a girl with whom to dance to the strains of Larry Miller's Bears.

The hall was decorated with pine trees and hands were stamped with the college emblem.

Mrs. Pickney Estis Glanzberg, Alpha Omicron Pi national Panhellenic delegate, will visit the University of Maine Gamma chapter of that sorority on the weekend of April 29 and 30. Mrs. Glanzberg is a very prominent New York lawyer. Among the functions of the sorority to be offered for her entertainment, will be a tea at the Penobscot Valley Country Club Saturday afternoon, April 29th.

ALUMNI MEETINGS AT SEPARATED POINTS SHOW BIG ATTENDANCE

President Boardman Speaks Before Gatherings at Worcester and Providence

University alumni have been holding enthusiastic meetings in widely separated points during the past two weeks. Ten local associations located in New England, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D. C., have had, or are to have, speakers from the campus.

President Boardman '95 was the chief speaker and honored guest at Worcester and Providence, April 10 and 11. Dean A. L. Deering '12, who is also president of the General Alumni Association, was chief speaker at the Western Massachusetts Alumni meeting in Springfield last night and is to address Western Maine and York County Associations at a joint meeting in Portland tomorrow night, April 20.

Alumni Secretary Crossland '17 attended and spoke also at the above meetings. In addition, he visited groups in Manchester, N. H., Schenectady, N. Y., Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburgh, and Washington, D. C. The attendance at Manchester, with over 40 present, was the largest the Southern New Hampshire Alumni Association ever had. Generally the attendance at all these dinner meetings has shown marked increase over last year.

ONE YEAR AGO

Gleaned from the files of the Maine Campus of April 20, 1937

The rushing system at Maine will undergo a radical change next year if the plan approved by the Interfraternity Council at a meeting held in Rogers Hall Tuesday night is accepted by the Board of Administration. The new plan is the result of two years' discussion and research on the part of the Interfraternity Council to find a method of rushing satisfactory to all houses and to the University officials which would be less expensive than the present one.

The Fourth Annual State Oratorical Contest, held in Alumni Hall on Monday, April 7, at 8 p.m. and sponsored by the Intercollegiate Peace Association, was won by Frank S. Murray of Bates, who spoke on the subject, "There Is No Peace." Summer P. Mills, of Colby, was awarded second place, while Maine's representative, Kenneth C. Foster, was judged third.

Carl P. Dennett, director of a large number of corporations and president of the General Capital Company of Boston, will be the Commencement speaker at the University of Maine this year, according to an announcement made Saturday by President Harold S. Boardman.

Frances Homer, distinguished dramatic actress, will make two appearances at the University next Monday, April 24, in a series of original sketches. At assembly at 9:30, she will portray a number of famous Americans, and in the evening at 8, under the auspices of the women's Athletic Association, she will enact "Ladies of Destiny."

John B. Quinn, Alpha Tau Omega, was elected president of the Student Senate for the coming year at a meeting held in Rogers Hall Tuesday night. Alpheus C. Bedraggled and bedridden Old Man Prosperity felt the first urges of spring last Friday afternoon and tottered out of his secluded corner into the University barber shop in company with nearly two score first and second year men. There, sadly tattered, torn, and tufted locks were shorn close to skulls, as a direct aftermath to one of the fiercest interclass struggles ever staged on the hunting grounds of the Black Bear.

These humble quatrains are composed
To tell a sprightly tale
Of how a witty junior nosed
A senior with a frail.

The tale, ye hearties, goes like this:
It seems two lads were nuts
About a certain little miss
Whose name, we'll say, was Lutz.

The junior's Christian name was Tom;
The senior's name was Bert.
They both considered for the prom
The same blond, blue-eyed skirt.

Now Bert had honors, letters; he
Was quite the well-known lad.
While two-bucks-ten and faith-in-me
Were all that Tommy had.

When blond Miss Lutz declined to go
With Bert, he wondered why.
That Tommy should get all the show
Was quite a blackened eye.

He learned the night the prom was thrown
Why he had lost the date.
For Tom had made the timely loan
Of someone's Ford V-8!
