Alpha Gamma Rho Again Leads Fraternal Groups In Scholastic Rank, 2.77

Pi Beta Phi Is First In List of Sororities With 2.611

UNIV. AVERAGE 2.322
Ranks Issued Are Figured On Basis of Spring Semester's Work

For the second successive year Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and Pi Beta Phi sorority lead the other social fraternal organizations on the campus scholastically, according to figures released by the registrar's office this week. Alpha Gamma Rho finished the last school year with an average of 2.77, while their 1934 mark was 2.67. Pi Beta Phi averaged 2.611, while averaging 2.67 in 1934.

Nei Mathetai again leads the organizations with a rank of 3.48. In 1934 that organization's mark was 3.38.

Following is a list of organizations with their rank. Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi are not included in the list.

President Hauck Is Invited To Attend Ohio Inauguration

Athens, O., Oct.—Announcement of November 15 as the date for the inauguration of Dr. Herman Gerlach James as the twelfth president of Ohio University has been made by the Board of Trustees and the faculty of the University in invitations sent out from here today.

Included among the college executives invited to the Ohio University campus is President Arthur A. Hauck of the University of Maine.

The inauguration committee, headed by Dr. Edwin Watts Chubb, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, has prepared an elaborate program for the day. Approximately 500 invitations have been extended to presidents of colleges throughout the nation; the constitutional officers of the State of Ohio; and presidents of learned educational societies.

Harry Woodburn Chase, Chancellor of New York University, will deliver the principal address of the inaugural occasion, while the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Victor Kozar, will conclude the program with an evening concert.

More than two-thirds of the physicians in the Health Department of New York City recently enrolled for intensive post-graduate courses given by the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University.

Alumni Give "Pine Tree M"

Service Award Made Every Year by Alum. Assn.

One of the events of much interest at the fifth annual Alumni Homecoming luncheon on November 9 will be the presentation of the Alumni Service Emblem. This token, known as the "Pine Tree M," is awarded annually to an alumnus in recognition of distinctive services rendered to the General Alumni Association and the University, and its award has become a feature of the yearly Homecoming program. Five awards have been made in the past.

In appearance the emblem is an attractive shield 12 in. by 16 in. in size bearing a bronze pine tree in relief and a large "M" and inscribed with the winner's name. The recipient will be chosen from a selected list of candidates by vote of a committee appointed by George S. Williams '05, of Augusta, president of the General Alumni Association. The name of the winner is held in strict secrecy until the moment of presentation at the noon luncheon in the Alumni Memorial Gymnasium before the last home football game.

The first award of the emblem was made in 1930 to Harry E. Sutton '09, of Boston. The other recipients have been Hosea B. Buck '93, of Bangor, in 1931; C. Parker Crowell '98, of Bangor, in 1932; Edward E. Chase '13, of Portland, in 1933; and Allen W. Stephens '99, of New York City, in 1934.

Freshman Is Not Paralysis Victim

J. I. Cheney Still Critically Ill; Quarantine Lifted Sunday

Word was received Sunday, October 13, from Augusta that J. I. Cheney, freshman Arts and Science student from Monmouth, is not suffering from infantile paralysis as was previously supposed. The quarantine which had been placed on all students having contact with Cheney was immediately lifted.

On October 9, after several days of slight illness, Cheney was taken to the Eastern Maine General Hospital for observation. A hurried examination revealed several symptoms of infantile paralysis. Dr. Jackson, local health officer, and Dr. Mitchell, representing the State Board of Health, advised immediate quarantine of all students having been in close contact with Cheney since October 6. The University acted on their suggestion.

On the noon of October 9, after Cheney's case had first been diagnosed as infantile paralysis, President Hauck addressed the freshmen in Cheney's dormitory, asking them not to become alarmed, and assuring them that all precautionary measures were being taken.

Both students and faculty were greatly relieved on learning that Cheney was not suffering from infantile paralysis. Cheney's condition is still critical.

Maine Alumni Teachers Assn. To Hold Meeting in Bangor

The University of Maine Alumni Teachers Association will hold a meeting in Bangor on October 24. Linwood J. Kelley '21, of Lewiston, president of the group, announced today. This meeting will be attended by alumni, teachers, and faculty of the University as a part of the State Teachers Convention.

The committee in charge of the arrangements are David Barker '31, a member of the faculty of Bangor High School, chairman; Gladys Gould '22, of the teaching staff of Brewer High School; and Charles Page '33, principal of the Abraham Lincoln School of Bangor. Officers of the association in addition to Mr. Kelley are K. Jean Keirstead '31, Old Town, treasurer, and C. E. Crossland '17, Orono, secretary.

The Science Society of China was founded 21 years ago by Chinese undergraduates at Cornell University.

Nei Mathetai Prof. Adams Initiates Eight Gives Talk to Into Society Chem. Group

Impressive Service Held At Balentine Hall Sun.

Nei Mathetai, honorary scholastic society, held its initiation last Sunday night at Balentine Hall. Eight girls became members of the organization at that time. The ceremony took place on the third floor of Balentine Hall, with Faith Folger '37 in charge, assisted by Alice Campbell '36 and Marie Archer '36. After an impressive candlelight service the girls were welcomed into the society by Miss Folger.

Refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served. The new members are: Althea Millett, Cora Sharon, Verna Robinson, Miriam Hilton, Frances Smith, Evelyn Adriance, Ida Mae Hart, and Edith Thomas. Ellen Hodgkins is a pledge but was unable to be present on that evening.

Nei Mathetai is the highest scholastic honor that can be attained by a freshman. It consists of the ten highest ranking girls in the freshman class. The pledges are announced at the Eagle banquet in the spring of each year. Although the organization has been comparatively inactive during the past few years, it is planning an intensive schedule for this year. The group will undoubtedly play a prominent part in the furtherance of scholarship in the University.

The officers for the ensuing year are: Althea Millett, president; Miriam Hilton, vice-president; Frances Smith, secretary; Ida Mae Hart, treasurer; co-chairmen of the social committee, Verna Robinson, Cora Sharon; general committee, Alice Campbell, Faith Folger, and Edith Thomas.

Upperclass members of Nei Mathetai who are still registered at the University of Maine are: seniors, Alice Campbell, Marie Archer, Virginia Wilson, Faith Holden, Mildred Sawyer, Ann Eliasson, and Beth Giddings; juniors, Alice Stewart, Marjorie MacKinnon, Bernice Hopkins, Faith Folger, Helen Titcomb, and Flora Lutz.

Big Crowd Goes To Second Rally

Strong evidence that the student body was the twelfth member of the football team was shown last Friday night at the rally for the New Hampshire game. It was the best attended rally of the year to date and served in no small quantity to goading the team on to their 13-2 triumph over the Wildcats from Durham on the following day.

The rally got underway at 6:45 with the band playing for the entrance of the football team. Cheers were then in order led by the revamped squad of cheerleaders which was made up of five boys nattily dressed in white flannels and blue "Maine" jerseys and three girls, all members of the freshman class, outfitted in blue skirts, white sweaters and black bandanas. The audience seemed to like the new arrangement as evidenced by their whole hearted cheering. A few new cheers were tried, among which was the color cheer, "Come on Blue, come on White, etc."

Dr. H. W. Stopher, director of music at Louisiana State University, has made arrangements with the famed Mozartium, Austrian National Conservatory in Salzburg, whereby two students from each school will exchange for a year's study.

Chem. Society President Speaks on Trends In Chemistry

At the meeting of the Maine section of the American Chemical Society held Saturday night in Aubert Hall, Prof. Adams, the national president, was the featured speaker. About 50, including both members of the faculty and student body, enjoyed his talk.

Before commencing the regular address, he gave a general report on the condition of the Society, in which the possibility of instituting a new journal for the Society was considered. In his main address, Prof. Adams spoke on the subject of "Recent Trends in Applied Organic Chemistry."

Among the subjects which he treated with are found such matters of popular concern as vitamins, the chemical constitution and synthesis of the sex hormones, glyptal resins, and insecticides. He treated well with the subject of glyptal resins, a newly used organic compound, from which Prof. Adams says automobile lacquer can be made which will outlast the life of the car.

Another subject of broad interest is a more recent discovery which will introduce organic compounds into the manufacture of insecticide.

By the use of sulphur and nitrogen in a compound, an insecticide can be made which is fully, if not more effective, than the insecticides made of metallic compounds, and will eliminate the danger of lead and arsenic which have not completely disappeared since spraying.

Radio Programs For Week Given

With a talk to be delivered tonight by Prof. H. E. Barrows, head of the Department of Electrical Engineering, on "Better Light—Better Sight," and the regular Friday evening Maine Campus broadcast, the first week of the current school year's University broadcasts over WLBZ and WRDO will be completed. The next week's broadcasts will begin Sunday at 2:00 p.m. with a fifteen minute program of music by the University Trio, consisting of John Delong, Evelyn Adriance, and Marion Hatch, and a fifteen minute talk by Dr. Kenneth Miles, of the German department, on "A Summer in Hitlerland."

The program on Monday, October 21, will consist of a talk on "Electrical Refrigeration," by Prof. J. M. Dorsey, of the Dairy Husbandry department. Tuesday, "Heating and Air Conditioning" will be discussed. Wednesday, "The Italian-Ethiopian Crisis" will be the title of an address by Mr. McReynolds. Thursday Dr. J. A. Chmura, Associate Biologist of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station, will explain "How, When and How to Use Lime on Acid Soils."

Contributor's Club To Hold Stag Dance Friday Eve

The first meeting of the year for Contributor's Club was held in the M.C.A. building last Sunday evening. Plans were made for the stag dance on Friday evening, and policies for the year were discussed. Those present included: Donald Stewart, Ruth Goodwin, Elizabeth Gifford, Celia Cohen, Roger Levenson, Rose Snider, Oliver Eldridge and Margaret Asnip.

Black Bears Shake Six Year Old Jinx; Down N. H. 13-2

Bates Seats on Reserve Now

It is important that the students read carefully and obey the following regulations governing the exchange of tickets for the Bates-Maine game at Lewiston next week.

Tickets may be obtained at the Treasurer's office in Alumni Hall until noon Friday, October 25. Each student should bring his blanket tax book which will be stamped on the proper coupon. This, plus 55 cents, will entitle each student to a reserved seat ticket. Each student MUST take his stamped blanket tax UNTORN, with the ticket he purchased, to Lewiston and present them to the ticket taker at the Central Street gate behind the gymnasium at Garcelon Field. A representative of the Maine Athletic Association will be present to identify Maine students. Students are requested to be at the gate as near 1:30 p.m. the day of the game as possible.

Sections T U V W X and Y have been reserved for Maine students, Section C for alumni.

If a student does not obtain his ticket at the Treasurer's office here, he CANNOT get a ticket for the reduced rate elsewhere. He will be assessed the regular $1.50.

Fare Set at $1.50 For Bates Train

Special to Leave Webster Station 9:00 A.M. on Day of Bates-Maine Game

A Maine special train, the first in many a year, will leave Webster station at the foot of North Main Street, Orono, at 9 o'clock sharp Saturday, November 2, for Lewiston and the Bates-Maine game. The price will be $1.50 per person round trip, which amounts to a little more than one half a cent per mile which should cause many a student to discard his automobile and travel on the Special. A moratorium on classes has been declared by the University for this day.

The Athletic Association and the Senior Skulls are sponsoring the train, and if this first one is the success it promises to be, another will be engaged to take students to Waterville for the Maine-Colby game at $1.00 for the round trip.

The Skulls have announced that they will outfit the baggage car in such a way that refreshments and light lunches may be served. The cheerleaders and band will be on the train to keep the pep rolling until the train reaches Lewiston somewhere in the neighborhood of 12 o'clock noon.

The exact time of the train's departure from Lewiston after the game has not been definitely settled. However, the exact time will be announced later, and students will be able to be back in Orono by 10 o'clock.

Tickets for this train are on sale by all Senior Skulls and the athletic office in the Memorial Gymnasium.

And along with the students and band will come Bananas, Black Bear mascot, who will go to Lewiston with the "gang."

Dean Mullenburg Is First Freshman Forum Speaker

Dean James Mullenburg of the College of Arts and Sciences will be the speaker at the first of a series of Sunday evening Freshman forums, to be held in Hannibal Hamlin dormitory, October 20.

Sponsored by the Maine Christian Association, the forums give entering students an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the forces of the University and the society without. A question and discussion period follows the main speech. Later in the year, according to Chester Smith, M.C.A. president, President Arthur A. Hauck will address the group.

Wildcats Get Safety When Elliott Kicks From Out of Bounds

By Ray Gailey

Campus Sports Editor

It took a lighter and less experienced University of Maine football eleven than has been fielded in recent years to break the six year jinx which has pursued New Hampshire-Maine contests, as the 1935 edition of the Bricemen cracked down with a vengeance to turn back the visiting Wildcats 13-2 last Saturday on Alumni Field.

Although the New Hampshire team was reputedly much stronger than Maine last Saturday, at the end of the first period the game seemed destined to be similar to that of two years ago when the two eleven fought scoreless to the last minute. Neither team could seem to get going during the first canto, the ball changing hands frequently and wavering around the mid-field stripe.

Midway through the second period things began to happen. After the Wildcats drive had petered out on Maine's 37 yard line, Joslin's boot to the right hand corner of the Maine goal-line was downed by Rogeon, who had dashed through the entire Maine field, on the two-foot mark. In attempting to kick out of danger, Roddy Elliott stepped back out of the end zone automatically scoring a safety and giving the Wildcats their only score of the game.

This must have angered the Bears, for after getting the ball they started a drive that was irresistible and they had steam-rolled to New Hampshire's 12 yard line when the end of the half stopped their onrush.

Maine came back still raring to go when the second half started and after a round of kicks, Elliott covered a loose ball on the Wildcats' 42 yard line. Nine plays later Clyde Higgins slanted through right tackle, reversed his field, and raced 18 yards for Maine's first score. Elliott place-kicked the extra point.

Roddy Elliott made up for his Santa Claus act of the second period by punting the ball off on New Hampshire's three yard line. Nathanson sped through the Maine line for 12 yards on the next play but the ball was brought back to the one-and-one-half yard line as a penalty for holding. Joslin was forced to kick from behind his own goal-line. Elliott scooped in the punt and smashed through the entire Wildcat line for Maine's second counter. His try for the extra point bounced off the cross bar.

New Hampshire then dug in and made a serious threat to score. On five plays they advanced the ball from their own 22 yard line to Maine's 29. But here the Bear buckled down and gave but a yard before they took the ball on downs. Getting the ball again a few minutes later the Wildcats took to the air in an attempt to repeat their last minute aerial touchdown of two years ago but their final pass was intercepted.

School of Education Offers Series of Saturday Courses

Dean O. S. Lutes of the School of Education announces a plan of Saturday morning courses which have been prepared for the convenience of school teachers who wish to enroll for credit toward advanced degrees, or who merely wish to study in one of the following fields: English, History, Psychology, and Education. Since the courses are held at the University, the enrollment is necessarily limited to those living within commuting distance of the University.

The first classes were held last Saturday, and attracted teachers from as far away as Brooklyn, Maine, a distance of 64 miles. Registration will close next Saturday, October 19, and considering the number that have already enrolled, Dean Lutes anticipated a satisfactorily large enrollment.

In addition to these classes at the University, two extension courses are being held by the School of Education. These courses which are held at Rockland and Dover-Foxcroft, are conducted under the direction of instructors from the University. The classes meet once a week.

Dance Bands

Out of state dance bands. Long a point of discussion with students and administrative officials alike, the situation will take a definite step one way or the other next week with the Student Senate and Women's Student Government meeting jointly to consider the problem, and more important, the Administrative Committee will also meet to consider whether the 10 year old ruling should be rescinded or not.

The ruling itself should be done away with, for its original purpose has been served. Under the present system of arrangements for formal, students make plans with someone who represent at least the University Social Committee. Here, it seems, is enough of a check to keep the student body protected from excessive prices and other evils.

It is extremely unlikely that out of state musicians will be brought here for every formal. With the quality of Maine bands being what they are, it is only logical that the students should seek better quality from without. The University makes it a point to patronize Maine institutions where quality, price and service are satisfactory. But when they are not, outsiders enter the picture. At present everything from football opposition to assembly speakers is imported. There is no reason why the same should not hold true in the case of dance orchestras.

The Campus realizes that there are many pitfalls and problems connected with the hiring of outside orchestras. However, these problems can be dealt with as they arise, especially when plans are made way in advance of a scheduled social event. We repeat that with the student committees a representative of the University might be especially appointed to see that the committees stay within reason, and to see that they are protected from exploitation in any way, for example: the sending a substitute orchestra for the one contracted.

The Barnard Bulletin gives the following suggestions on how to act like a senior:

1. Remain cynically disinterested and a trifle bored in the face of all enthusiasm.
2. Wear your dress shirt at least six times before having it laundered. This will avoid the starchy, uncomfortable look which underclassmen always possess.
3. Never be seen in public with more than two textbooks. Besides being distinctly the wrong thing it has a demoralizing effect on men in the lower classes.
4. Stop wearing white shoes at least before the end of January.
5. Treat juniors with disdain, sophomores with condescension, and freshmen with a boredom which will probably be mixed with envy.

In The Library

Last winter, at the local theatre, we were treated to a film version of The Little Minister. We who saw the picture need no further introduction to Sir James M. Barrie; we know him well, for that picture interpreted him as we have never seen an author interpreted on the screen. The great whimsicality, the wonderfully drawn characters, the almost unworldly, idyllic treatment of the plot, are all Barrie, and they were all on the screen.

But this is a book report, and with Mr. Barrie it is difficult to remain within the covers. His is an exotic, fanciful style which occasionally wanders beyond the probable, and always partakes of a beauty and a sweetness just out of reach of fact, but dear to the heart of the idealist and the dreamer.

This we shall stress: Barrie's books will not be read; they must be lived or they are a flat failure. If you can't see the lovely gypsy girl dancing up the shadow-flecked path in the woods; if you cannot hear her hum a lively tune to herself as she comes; if you don't fall completely in love with her when she does come; don't read The Little Minister, or, for that matter, don't read any of Barrie's books.

We won't give any resumé of the book here. It is enough to say that it is a very beautiful, very idyllic romance; it is not sloppy; it is not silly; it is only very beautiful. We enjoyed it as we have enjoyed no other book before or since. We hope you will like it, too.

Sir James M. Barrie has long been one of England's best playwrights, second only, perhaps, to George Bernard Shaw. A few of his books are: Echoes of the War, Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire, A Kiss for Cinderella, The Admirable Crichton, as well as many shorter plays.

Y.W.C.A. Sponsors Supper, Hike for Transfer Students

Tuesday at 5 p.m. the Y.W.C.A. sponsored a supper-hike to the Ledges for transfers and members of the Freshman Y. Miss Ring, the Y adviser, saw to it that everyone was well supplied with hot dogs, cider, doughnuts, and coffee. She was assisted by Ann Eliasson, Ruth Goodwin, Josephine Profta, and Edith Hill. After the eats there was a sing and an informal discussion led by Ann Eliasson. The group returned at 6:30.

Swift, Turner Attend Convention

Dr. Swift of the Agronomy Department and Extension Engineer Turner attended a meeting of the Northeastern Associated Agriculture Engineers at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., October 7, 8, 9.

Extension Engineer Turner gave a paper on the "Preparation of Potato Spray." Besides attending the meetings, the two men visited the recent flood-damaged area around Truemanburg, New York. They also witnessed a dedication of a memorial in Geneva, New York, to John Johnston, who in 1835 laid the first tile drain in the United States.

Seniors at the Newark College of Engineering have voted in favor of allowing women to enter their classes.

Dr. Freeman Declines Offer For National Fellowship

Dr. Monroe E. Freeman, assistant professor of Biological and Agricultural Chemistry in the College of Agriculture, was recently nominated for a national research fellowship by Dr. E. C. Stakman, a plant pathologist of national repute. The nomination came about through the interest of Dr. Stakman and Dr. Ross A. Gortner on the results of Dr. Freeman's preliminary experiment conducted on potato mosaic during the winter of 1933-34. A brief item concerning this preliminary work and established priority has recently been accepted by "Science" and published in the August 2 issue.

Although the fellowship provided a modest stipend, yet it would be necessary to secure a year's leave of absence with a corresponding reduction in income. Consequently, Dr. Freeman will continue in his present position.

"SO THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW"

By Joe College

There have been several reverberations from last week's column, so we're going to plod on. The aim of this column, unlike that of the rest of the Maine Campus, is to please, not to please. You may picture Joe College as a sort of invisible figure, drifting into the Book Store, leaning an invisible elbow on the counter, and taking it all in.

To business! We have a couple of romances to report to you this week—one already advertised, and one which we fear they're trying to hold out on us. The known one involves the exchange of a Phi Eta Kappa pin between Mervale Sylvester and Flora Stone. BUT we've noted a certain sudden round-shouldered attitude on the part of Carol Stevens, due, we believe, to the acquisition of a new piece of jewelry, and yet the Kappa Sigma's haven't yet seen any signs of free cigars. After this publicity, Gus will have to come across, and this may not be romance, but we see that although Suzanne is registered for three courses in the Department of English, she's really majoring in Little-hale.

Why doesn't our friend Candy Lynch give the co-eds a break? Why doesn't someone warn Dr. Lewend about wearing a red tie to lectures? Why doesn't someone tell Ray Gailley that the place to sleep is home? Not on his desk in the office.

For Mr. Ripley's Believe It or Not: there was a man married this summer in Boston whose name was actually Tom Collins.

The triangle is far more than an abstract geometrical figure, says Dr. Jackman, and we agree. We point to the triangle formed by Swank Osgood, Georgia Fuller, and Deke Robertson. Nothing geometrical about that.

Then there's always the Sturgis-Hinman affair. Does that or does that not involve a pin? and to continue last week's news just like a serial, if Home-stead's car didn't set afire and burn right up, also we'd like an explanation of those many fishing trips Mr. Balentine and a certain young lady who is not a co-ed go on. No one ever sees any fish, which would be the usual and expected thing.

We Nominate for Oblivion: first and foremost, The Georgians; secondly, people who pan the University and save all their enthusiasm and loyalty for their two-by-four fraternities.

We Nominate for the Worthily Done list: those three freshmen girls who got out front at the rally and at the game and showed them how to boost the team. Mortuiri te salutamus.

Arnold Furnishes A Breathing Spell For Maine Gridmen

Whole Varsity Squad May See Action In Saturday's Tilt

By Morris Rubin
Campus Sports Reporter

After smashing their way to a decisive and stirring victory over the New Hampshire Wildcats last Saturday, the Maine eleven will ease up this week in a breather game with Arnold College, of New Haven, Conn. The visitors are expected to offer no serious opposition to a Maine team which now seems definitely on its way to another series title.

The probability is that Coach Brice will use the greater part of his squad in this encounter, taking no chances on injuries to any of his potential series starters.

This game should give the Bear fans another chance to watch Maine's newest sophomore sensation, Rod Elliott, in action. In the New Hampshire game, Elliott just about stole the show as he convincingly demonstrated what the words "triple threat back" mean. Not only was Elliott a kingpin on the offensive, but he also played a superior brand of defensive ball as he broke up several lateral passes that looked like sure ground gainers and also tackled like a demon.

Bob Littlehale can also be depended upon to produce plenty of first downs with his line plunging. When he's in top shape, Rob doesn't merely bend them, he breaks through them. He also is playing a brand of defensive football which is much superior to that which he played two seasons ago.

Ted Harding, the third sophomore to make the starting grade, shows up well at end as he handles the interference nicely and turns the plays in toward the center. Ernie Riedman will also see considerable action after his splendid showing in the New Hampshire game.

The Arnold squad is very much lighter than the Maine team, but it has several experienced performers and the whole team is fast. A rather curious fact about this team is that the backfield average is three pounds heavier than the line. This factor, together with the influence of their new coach, Joe Bagdanski, former All-American end at Colgate, will undoubtedly tend toward their using a wide open game. They will probably make extensive use of laterals and forwards rather than line bucks and their offense should be interesting to watch.

This game will supply the Maine team with the opportunity to taper off before settling differences with their first series rival, Bates.

Touch Football Is Now Under Way

Phi Eta, Phi Kappa Sig, Dorm B
And Theta Chi Win
In First Round

Five teams, Phi Eta Kappa, Phi Kappa Sigma, Kappa Sigma, Dorm B, and Theta Chi emerged victorious after the week's touch football elimination battles.

Playing under a set of rules laid down by the Intramural Athletic Association, the teams were made up of eleven men, but differing from the regular game, only guards and the center are ineligible to receive passes. Twenty yards must be gained instead of ten for a first down.

Phi Kappa Sigma snowed Alpha Tau Omega under by 30-0 to win the right to play Phi Eta Kappa, victorious 24-0 over Alpha Gamma Rho in the southern league. In the northern league, Kappa Sigma, defending champs, beat Dorm B 12-6, Dorm B beat Sigma Nu 12-0 and Theta Chi beat Delta Tau Delta 18-6. League playoffs will take place on Saturday.

Ricker Classical Defeats Frosh

The Pale Blue frosh went down to their second consecutive defeat in a game played here at Orono Saturday when an invading Ricker team snatched a last minute victory out of the fire by a score of 13-12. Apparently beaten, the visitors proved the truth of the old axiom "A team isn't beaten until the last whistle blows" when, with but five minutes to play, they marched 80 yards to their second touchdown and victory.

Outstanding for Maine was the offensive work of Mallett and the all around work of Szanawaiski.

Cooper Heads Freshman; Paper To Be Published Soon

At the second meeting of the year, the freshman class took a definite step toward the permanent organization of their class paper by electing officers for the ensuing year. The staff is as follows: editor-in-chief, Irwin Cooper; associate editor, Barbara Corbett; women's news editor, Mary Boler; men's news editor, Robert Cail; women's sports, Polly Drummond; men's sports, Ralph Higgins; humor editors, Stanley Titcomb, Jeanette Sanborn; circulation manager, Jean Sanborn; business managers, Foster Higgins, Stanley Titcomb; typists, Charlotte Curry, Helen Philbrick, Marjory Kierstead.

Don Kelly, last year's editor, presided over the meeting, which lasted for an hour. At the meeting other aspirants were given assignments for the first issue, which will be published this week.

This is the seventh year of the paper's existence as the official voice of the freshman class.

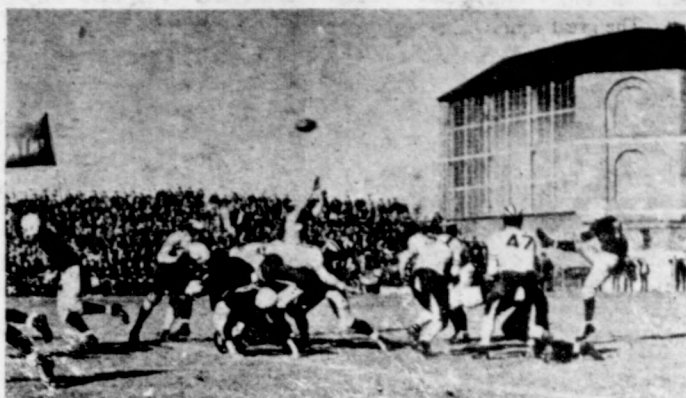

Ralph Viola, sophomore, who broke his leg in football practice two weeks ago, returned Monday morning to the University Infirmary from the Eastern Maine General Hospital. Viola is recovering satisfactorily from his injury, and welcomes all his friends who drop in for a chat.

FOOTBALL

BY RAY GAILEY

The writer, who is a sucker for premonitions in any form, shape, and manner, is beginning to worry. Twice already this season, jinxes of many years standing have been knocked on the noggin by the blue-jerseyed Bears. That's great; but what does it all mean? Has the Bear finally shook the jinx for good or will it return to work evil later?

In the past few years the breaks have always gone against Maine in the early season games and the gridmen had to be satisfied with moral victories, the scores usually favoring their opponents, although Maine more often out-rushed and out-played them. When the state series pennant was in question, the jinx vanished. Perhaps, in many cases the breaks were seemingly against them but they did not allow their intrastate rivals to capitalize on them, and have rolled forward to collect four state titles in as many years. The writer is beginning to be haunted with disturbing questions—is the jinx going to make a delayed appearance, and if it does, what effect will it have on the pennant race?

This Saturday for the first time in the histories of the two schools, Arnold and Maine will meet on the gridiron. Arnold has been an opponent of Bates over a period of years and has distinguished itself as a fighting, clean-playing team. It is a physical education college located in New Haven, Conn., and one of our well-known faculty members, no other than Mr. P. T. Wallace, is an alumnus of that institution. Arnold lost to Bates in their series opener and then were defeated by Norwich. Last week they did not play and consequently will meet Maine in the best physical condition. Their backfield outweighs Maine's, but their line is slightly lighter than that of the Bears. But the average weight of the team finds that Maine outweighs the supposedly much lighter Arnold by but one pound per man.

Blue Shows Strength In Near Perfect Score Run

By Harold Webb
Campus Reporter

The University of Maine Varsity cross country team opened its season with a 17-37 win over the runners from the University of New Hampshire Saturday afternoon. Coach Jenkins' pupils showed amazing strength as they came within 3 points of a perfect score.

Bill Hunnewell and Norm Waddington finished hand in hand to tie for first. The time was 24:52. Webster of New Hampshire crossed the line next to give the Durhamites their only score within the first six. It was this man that prevented Maine from chalking up a perfect score against their rivals. Morton, Clifford, and Cain, all of Maine, finished after Webster in the order named to complete the scoring for Maine.

Running true to form, Bill Hunnewell led from the start and was never threatened throughout the race. The time is not indicative of the ease by which the Maine speedster won. Hunnewell entered the oval two hundred yards ahead of his teammate, Waddington, and waited for him before breaking the tape.

The keenest competition of the race was offered by Norm Waddington of Maine and Webster of New Hampshire. These two fought for second place through the middle of the race, the position changing hands a number of times. On the long pull home, however, the Maine runner, who, incidentally was running his first varsity race, drew steadily away from the blond veteran from Durham, to finish in a tie with his teammate, Hunnewell.

Balance is what wins cross country meets and balance the varsity certainly had. Aside from Hunnewell, every man was wearing varsity colors for the first time, yet the last man to score for Maine was in sixth position. By this brilliant victory over a highly rated team, the caliber of the Pale Blue squad has been established. Just how they compare with the teams of the other colleges in the state will be determined at the next meet, the State Championship run at Lewiston October 26.

Philip Snow Wins Medal

According to word received by the Military Department here this week, Philip B. Snow was the winner of a medal for expert riflman at the National Matches held at Camp Perry, Ohio, in August. Samuel Swasey, formerly of the class of 1936, won a medal for rifle sharpshooter in the same meet.

WHILE BURNS ROAMS

By Robert Burns

LET THERE BE MUSIC

One of these sundowns, the University's Committee on Social Affairs is going to get together over a pot of Java and crumpets enough to go around twice, and while the collective breath of the known world will probably not be in absolute abeyance during the interim of this impressive convocation, nevertheless we do think that, from a strictly collegiate point of view, the case pending before the bar is by way of being momentous, to say the least. The case in mind is the existent (and annoyingly persistent) University ruling concerning the non-engagement of out-of-state orchestras. This mediaeval bit of legislation has always handed us a large guffaw because most of the bands we've heard on the settlement have sounded for all the world like Kentucky Hill-Billies, and the Hills of Kentucky, as you may know, are not only out-of-state, but they're plumb out of bounds!

While we take no issue here with those "G" men—the Georgians, it has occurred to us that "the boys" are about ready to be pensioned off. After four years of varsity playing (never missing a major scuffle) the Georgians have certainly earned their block "M's," and should be declared ineligible with all possible dispatch. It has always seemed to us one of life's little ironies when on thumbing through the Maine catalogue, we find the Georgians not listed under "General Information."

Odd, but whenever the University chooses speakers for its assemblies, it doesn't invite the Assistant-Principal of the Normal School at South Rumford, nor has it ever presented the Chairman of the Presque Isle Kiwanis; instead we listen to men from Boston and New York (and even the North Pole!) and the farther from Orono the speaker hails, the greater, it seems, is the turnout to hear him. If we can select our speakers from all over the East, why not our musicians? What about the freedom of the Cs!

Over there on Alumni Field you have a bunch of Maine men burning out their respective fuses every P.M. in an effort to put the University "on the map," while over here you have another bunch of Maine men who would do away with that map altogether and design one of their own making—one more in conformity, shall we say, with the modern policies of the University—a map that would extend all the way south to Biddford, and as far west as the eye can see—through dark glasses. Try as we will, we cannot get that to add up to four! Every time we walk past Alumni Hall, we feel an urge to shimmy up the drain-pipe and with a wet paint brush describe a neat capital B up there before the business-like words ADMINISTRATION BUILDING. Of course, that wouldn't B so good with the powers that B! In fact, we wouldn't even want it to get around.

Sometimes, though, when we begin thinking things over, we do get feeling all out of the picture, and right there it usually is that there comes drifting back to mind a fairy tale we read a long time ago. It is one of those grim fairy stories about an indifferent, unambitious sort of chap named Van Winkle who wandered off into the mountains and there fell sound asleep. You know the yarn—how Rip slept serenely on through the years, and meanwhile his old neighbors grew to maturity and assumed positions of importance and renown in the district. After a while, people forgot that a Rip Van Winkle ever existed, and it was probably just as well they did, because whenever his name was mentioned, his children could only hang their heads in shame. We're a trifle hazy as to just how long Rip Van Winkle was asleep up there in the woods (twenty years maybe) but there is one part of the story we always like to remember (which was our reason for having told it), and it is just this—one day, Rip did wake up!

...but, after all is said and done, it's the cigarette itself that counts

...the question is, does it suit you?

Now, when it comes to a cigarette that will suit you... you want to think whether it's mild, you want to think about the taste

That Chesterfields are milder and taste better is no accident...

The farmer who grows the tobacco, the warehouseman who sells it at auction to the highest bidder, every man who knows about leaf tobacco will tell you that it takes mild, ripe tobaccos to make a good cigarette.

In making Chesterfields we use mild ripe home-grown and Turkish tobaccos.

Outstanding
.. for mildness
.. for better taste
