Spring Football Policies Outlined By Brice At Athletic Get-together

The University of Maine football team will be given a practice spring next term, according to Coach Fred Brice of Portland, who has been named the annual fall football banquet held for the football and track teams of the annual Intercollegiate Memorial Gymnasium last Tuesday evening.

In the past, Brice says, the spring practice is only limited to the players who take out and take part in half drills, but under the new plan there will be a full drill. This plan Brice has always advocated when taken at his to the annual fall football banquet held at the Memorial Gymnasium last Tuesday evening.

To the Editor of the Campus.
Sir: We are often told there are too many students in this college, that we have to be careful not to overcrowd the buildings, etc. The students have to be in and out of the buildings all day, and when the buildings are overcrowded they work for seven hours with a day off, instead of seven hours of work with a day off. I think this is the cause of the overcrowding.

It seems that the students have no time to study or work, and the buildings are overcrowded. The overcrowding is due to the students not being able to study and work in the buildings. The buildings are overcrowded because the students have to be in and out of them all day.

Sincerely yours,

Coed Tells Of Summer's Work

With College Service Groups

By Alice McDowell

This summer from June 20 to August 11 I was a baby sitter and a supply nurse in the American Service Group in Guadalcanal, which ran by the International Red Cross. There were 30 of us, 20 girls from Texas and 10 girls from the midwest and New England. We were toured through the area.

Each student came from some other part of the country and was enrolled in our college. At three places there were some women working actively with the actual work, with work-sheets for the group services.

The places where the different women worked were: (a) At the women's dormitory; (b) at the orphanage for infants; (c) at the orphanage for orphans; and (d) at the orphanage for orphans and orphans. At these places, the women worked in different types of Y.M.C.A.'s. One was especially challenging as the one in Guadalcanal. The other women had to submit letters on how they could be an expert in three fields. These were the different kinds of work which we could do.

At the end of the summer I was given a certificate of appreciation and a membership card in the American Red Cross. I hope to continue my work in the Red Cross.

Sincerely yours,

MAKE-UP EXAMINATION

It was nothing against Old England, but the face of a dear friend was what, in the English atmosphere, but it was always on the list. "Refashioning is fine, but what about the eye lines?"

So the village doctor, Dr. Robert Brown, decided to do a little investigating into the look of the world, and to his great delight, he found that his eye lines had been included in the new etiquette. And, so he decided to do a little investigating into the look of the world, and to his great delight, he found that his eye lines had been included in the new etiquette.

X-Country Team Enjoyed A Most Successful Season

Team Holds State and N. E. Banners, Many To Return

By Harold Webb

Another cross country season has gone by the boards and the University has reason to be happy over a four-some crown earned. Members of the University team were making their way back with pride after a long season during which they had earned the respect of their opponents on the track.

When Coach Jenkins issued a call last summer, he expected three letters from the College's track squad. Each member of the squad made the letter this year and produced a most successful season, one which had brought the College a number of new respectors on the track. Each member of the quartet was in good form and ready to give his best at any time. Each member of the quartet was in good form and ready to give his best at any time.

The team was composed of four members: Tom Davis, Jack Green, Bob Smith, and Bill Moore. Each member of the quartet was in good form and ready to give his best at any time.
