The University of Maine

The University of Maine, located in Orono, is the largest campus in the statewide university system. There is plenty of elbow room on its 1,200 acres, where the student is offered the diversity and challenge of a large university in the invigorating atmosphere of a small college. The campus at Orono is in a classic New England setting, located ten miles north of Bangor, Maine’s third largest city. The region is conveniently located close to ski slopes, outdoor recreation areas, and the beautiful Maine coastline.

The University offers an outstanding faculty with a variety of exciting and challenging course opportunities. Baccalaureate degree programs are offered through seven colleges: Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering, Forest Resources, Life Sciences and Agriculture, and the University College. The campus houses the expansive Raymond Folger Library and a number of respected research facilities to give the student an excellent learning environment.

Students from 37 states and 36 countries studied at the University last year, and more than 20 percent of the total enrollment of 12,800 is admitted from outside the state of Maine.

There are seven scholastic honor societies, four non-scholastic honor societies, 22 departmental honor societies, 56 associations, clubs, and organizations, and six religious groups. Nineteen fraternities and 10 sororities have chapters in Orono. In short, a variety of opportunities exists for students, both academically and socially, outside of the classroom. Also, the Maine Center for the Arts, hosting concerts, comedy, theater, recitals, and other popular entertainment, is located on campus and features nationally and world renowned entertainers.

Maine offers its students, community and the state an outstanding athletic tradition. Black Bear teams have excelled in a number of sports reaching regional and national prominence.

Maine's athletic department has hired a full-time academic coordinator responsible for closely monitoring the progress of each of the 600 varsity student-athletes at the University. The individual sport coaches also monitor and advise their student-athletes, frequently holding meetings to specifically discuss academic situations. Study halls and special tutorial sessions are used daily as a way to enhance the learning process. This support and close scrutiny has been a major reason why the overall grade-point average of student-athletes at Maine has been higher than that of the general student body. The goal of the University and the athletic department is to see each individual reach his or her academic potential.

The Recreation and Intramural Department offers organized competition in a number of events throughout the year, from basketball and softball to team tennis, flag football, and soccer, to name a few. There are also open facilities available to the student for pickup games. Maine’s 20 Division I athletic teams host more than 100 intercollegiate events on campus each year. The University offers the student a wide spectrum of possibilities to enhance the overall college experience.
proven his effectiveness as an administrator creating effective change on the Orono campus.

Dr. Lick came to Maine after serving eight years as President of Georgia Southern College in Statesboro, Ga. During his tenure at Georgia Southern, he was a guiding force in moving the school’s athletic programs into Division I and for the Georgia Southern football team’s back-to-back Division I-AA national championships.

A graduate of Michigan State University, where he obtained his baccalaureate and master’s degrees in mathematics, Dr. Lick earned his doctorate at the University of California in Riverside.

Prior to taking the presidency of Georgia Southern, he was Dean of the School of Sciences and Health Professions at Old Dominion University, Vice President for Academic Affairs at Russell Sage College and Chairman of the math department at Drexel University.

At Maine, Lick has seen applications for admission rise 15 percent in 1988 alone. During that same time, the standards for admissions have risen as well. Dr. Lick was responsible for the hiring of athletic director Dr. Kevin White, and athletic programs have grown toward national prominence during their tenure.

Dr. Lick is married and he and his wife, Marilyn, have three children.

DR. DALE LICK
President

Dr. Dale W. Lick, 51, was named the 15th president of the University of Maine Sept. 1, 1986. He begins his fourth year of leadership at Orono this fall.

In making the announcement of Lick’s appointment in 1986, Francis Brown, Chairperson of the Presidential Search Committee, described Dr. Lick as “an outstanding educator, an experienced academic leader, and an effective administrator and spokesman for higher education.

“He has the academic vision, personal skills and depth of experience to lead Maine into a new era of achievement as the State’s leading research university,” said Brown. Lick has
Dr. Kevin White, 38, is in his third year as Director of Athletics at the University of Maine. Regarded as an innovative and progressive administrator, White has very quickly made an impact on the athletic department’s staff, scholarship funds, academic services, facilities, fund-raising, marketing, corporate sponsorship efforts and broadcast properties.

Athletic and recreation facilities have been a major focus lately at the University of Maine and White has worked with university officials to facilitate the $1.2 million Memorial Gym Renovation and Addition project. Other major projects include renovation of the Memorial Gym Lobby by the Varsity M Club, the new Mahaney Diamond baseball clubhouse, and a new all-weather running track. White played a major role in the negotiations with the City of Bangor to procure the Bangor Auditorium as the new home of Black Bear basketball.

A primary consideration for White has been having a top quality personnel. Over the past several years, Maine has seen the recruitment and hiring of several coaches and administrators from among the nation’s top major universities. University of Maine broadcast properties have also seen growth under White’s guidance. State-wide Black Bear radio and television networks have been formed for the first time with multi-year agreements involving Maine Broadcasting Systems of Portland and WABI of Bangor.

Prior to his appointment at Maine, White was with Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa. At Loras he served in several capacities, including Athletic Director and Assistant to the President for Institutional Marketing, Promotions and Special Events, and Vice President. His most recent assignment at Loras was Vice President for College Development, where he oversaw a successful $15 million capital campaign and an annual fund drive in excess of $1 million. Additionally, White is the founder and served as the Executive Director of the National Catholic Basketball Tournament in Dubuque. The NCBT annually invites 32 Catholic colleges from around the country to play 40 games over a four-day period, culminating in a live national cable telecast of the finals. White is presently a member of the NCBT advisory board.

Prior to his tenure at Loras, he was the assistant to the athletic director and head track coach at Southeast Missouri State University and the head track coach at Central Michigan University. A highly successful college coach, White guided 22 NCAA Division I and II All-Americans and two national champions.

With a varied background, he has served as director of numerous special events, including the State of Michigan Special Olympics, NCAA Division II National Cross Country Championships, and the Coors Sememotion Relays at Southeast Missouri. He also served as sprint, hurdle and relay analyst for Saudi Arabia and as an executive fitness consultant for Aramco International of Saudi Arabia in 1978.

A graduate of St. Joseph’s College, in Rensselaer, IN, White earned his master’s degree in athletic administration from Central Michigan University. He received his doctorate in Education from Southern Illinois in 1983. His post-doctoral work includes attendance at Harvard University’s Institute for Educational Management in 1985. Recently he has been named to the NCAA Executive Council Nominating Committee. He is married, and he and his wife, Jane, have four children.
Second-year head coach Trish Roberts returns all five starters from a team that posted a 19-8 overall record, and cruised to the regular-season Seaboard Conference title. Roberts continued the winning tradition of one of the most successful women's basketball programs in the East. Over the past five years, the Black Bears have compiled a 106-37 record.

After finishing the regular season with a 13-1 conference record, Maine dropped a 60-47 contest to Northeastern in the Seaboard Conference Tournament. It was the fourth time in the past five years that the Black Bears have fallen to the Huskies in post-season play.

With eight players returning, six of whom appeared in the starting line up in the 1988-89 season, and a promising recruiting class, Roberts' sights are on the elusive post-season championship, and an NCAA tournament bid.

Frontcourt

Leading the way for the Black Bears again this season is Kodak District I All-American center Rachel Bouchard. Last season as a sophomore, Bouchard averaged 21.9 points and 14 rebounds per game which ranked her amongst the top in the nation in both categories. She had a career-high 46 points in a 70-64 loss to Virginia Commonwealth (12/10/88). She grabbed a career-high 27 rebounds in a 60-54 loss to Northeastern (1/18/89). As a freshman, she was the Seaboard Conference Rookie of the Year, and was named a Freshmen All-American. A dominant inside player, Bouchard will once again be counted on to carry the burden of scoring.

Sophomore Tracey Frennette was just one of four freshmen who made an immediate impact last season. Frennette averaged 8.3 points and 5.5 rebounds a game in 1988-89. She started all 27 games for the Black Bears. An off-season conditioning program should make her a stronger inside player this season.

Junior Kathy Karlsson received the team's Most Improved Player award last season after earning a starting spot mid-way through the year. Karlsson averaged 5.4 points and 3.6 rebounds per game.

Sophomore Jessica Carpenter (4.1 PPG, 2.1 RPG), and senior tri-captain Beth Sullivan are others who will see playing time up front. Add to the frontcourt Maine's all-time leading high school scorer Stephanie Carter (East Millinocket), 6-1 freshman Stacey Alley (Howland, ME), and 5-10 freshman Heather Briggs (Biddeford, ME) and it appears Maine's frontcourt should be a team strength.

Backcourt

Senior Cathy Iaconeta leads Trish Roberts' fast-paced game. Last season Iaconeta averaged 9.3 points and nearly four assists a game. Once again she will be looked to as a floor leader.

Sophomore Carrie Goodhue was the Seaboard Conference Rookie of the Year last season, averaging 8.4 points per game filling a starting role throughout the season.

Sophomore Julie Bradstreet contributed 6.9 points per game, and serves as a versatile back-up at both guard positions. Freshman Jen Pinette (Calais, ME) provides depth to the backcourt.

In hopes of obtaining an NCAA tournament bid, the Black Bears will play one of the most challenging schedules in the program's history. In addition to the North Atlantic Conference competition, Maine will open the season hosting the Downeast Classic which includes Wake Forest, Siena, and Murray State. Maine will face some strong competition in the Providence Tournament. In addition to the host team, North Carolina State and Wagner will be in the tournament field. The early season schedule also includes Southeastern Louisiana, New Orleans, Rutgers, Delaware State, Harvard, and a trip to the Stetson Tournament.

With a season at Maine behind her, Roberts is hoping the Black Bears' experience, depth and talent will lead the team to its first NCAA Tournament bid. With a frontcourt led by All-American Rachel Bouchard, a backcourt solidified by tri-captain Cathy Iaconeta and last season's Rookie of the Year Carrie Goodhue, and a strong supporting cast, Maine appears ready to challenge for that elusive post-season championship, and a possible NCAA tournament bid.
The Facilities

The University of Maine and the City of Bangor signed a four-year agreement in June, 1988, that will allow the University's men's and women's basketball teams to play the majority of its home games at the 5,654-seat Bangor Auditorium. The relocation from the campus site, Memorial Gymnasium, represents a major institutional commitment to competitive NCAA Division I basketball with the refurbished facility a key for attracting outstanding and nationally recognized opponents.

The Auditorium has been refurbished to include the establishment of a Black Bear Gift Shop in the lobby area while other renovations have been completed to the men's and women's locker rooms, and offices for coaches have been established. Extensive redecorating of the building to provide a University of Maine atmosphere has also been accomplished as the result of a fund-raising campaign by city officials. The court has also been refurbished.

The Auditorium business office now serves as a ticket outlet for Black Bear basketball events.

The Auditorium is located on Main Street in Bangor, approximately one mile from the center of the city. Hotel and motel accommodations are located just across the street from the facility while access to Interstate 95 is a major plus in the use of the building for basketball.

The Bangor Auditorium was constructed in 1955, and in 1979 a Civic Center was added to the structure. The Auditorium has nine rest rooms with facilities for both men and women located on each floor and has three pay phones located adjacent to the main lobby.

The University's commitment to the women's basketball program has allowed for a new locker room in Memorial Gym where the Black Bears on-campus practice facilities are located.

In the off-season the Black Bears spend time in the newly renovated weight room which includes nautilus, universal and free weights, stairmasters, lifecycles and rowing machines.
TRISH ROBERTS
Head Coach

Trish Roberts, 34, enters her second year as the head coach of the University of Maine women's basketball team. Roberts is the third head coach of that program since its inception as an intercollegiate athletic sport in 1975.

In her first year as head coach, Roberts posted an impressive 19-8 overall record while winning the Sea Board Conference regular season title, for the first time, with a remarkable 13-1 record. Trish came to Maine with the credentials that have made her an outstanding role model for the Maine team. An All-American basketball player, an Olympian, and a former professional player, Trish has also gained valuable coaching experience as an assistant in the big time of women’s basketball.

Roberts came to the University of Maine after serving two years as an assistant coach at the University of North Carolina, 1986-88, University of Illinois, 1984-85, and Central Michigan University, 1982-84.

A graduate of Monroe, Georgia Area High School, Roberts played basketball at North Georgia College, and at Emporia, Kansas State College before entering the University of Tennessee. She has taken graduate courses towards a Master's Degree in Athletic Administration at Central Michigan.

Roberts is a member of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA), the Black Coaches Association (BCA), and a member of the USA Basketball Women's Game Committee.

Coach Roberts was most recently named Assistant Coach of the United States Olympic Festival West Team for this summer's games to be held in Minneapolis.

Her philosophy on playing basketball is the up-tempo game using the full court press, changing defenses and fast break offense. “I prefer the up-tempo style of play, but I will adjust to my personnel,” she says. Roberts also stresses academics. “The student-athletes who represent the program are just that, a student first and athlete second,” she says. The fact that her team boasts the highest GPA of all Maine athletic teams proves that they are the Dean’s List Dream Team and Roberts would like to continue that tradition.

The North Atlantic Conference

After enduring numerous transformations in its first decade, the North Atlantic Conference enters its eleventh year with a strong foundation established and a bright look toward the future.

Although the NAC in its present form is only ten years old, it can be argued that the league is one of the oldest in the country. Virtually all conference members have been competing against one another in many sports since the turn of the century.

Originally formed in 1979 with a ten-school alignment, the NAC has presently trimmed down to seven schools. The Conference traces its roots to the 1974 formation of the New England Conference comprised of Boston College, Boston University, Connecticut, Holy Cross, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Northeastern, Providence, Rhode Island, And Vermont. Eventually, new conferences were formed and Boston College, Connecticut, Holy Cross, Massachusetts, Providence and Rhode Island departed from the lineup.

In 1979 the remaining teams added Canisius, Colgate and Niagara to their ranks. The NAC expanded in 1984 with the addition of Siena and Hartford, but following the 1988-89 season, Canisius, Niagara and Siena re-aligned with the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference, leaving the NAC with seven teams.

The NAC was primarily established as a basketball league, which received an automatic bid to the NCAA Division I tournament, but the 1987-88 season marked a turning point for the league when the member institutions decided to establish a formal conference office and sponsor additional championships.

The league’s Athletic Directors established policies designed to raise the level of quality in men’s basketball and several other sports with the goal of achieving additional automatic bids.

Stuart Haskell was named the league’s first Commissioner on January 1, 1988.

The NAC currently sponsors 14 championships in men’s and women’s athletics. Men’s teams compete in baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, soccer and tennis. The league sponsors women’s championships in basketball, cross country, field hockey, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, and tennis. In addition to building strong athletic programs, the member institutions are also committed to establishing and maintaining the highest standards of academic excellence. The conference selects an all-academic honor roll in each of the five round-robin sports, to recognize athletes that have excelled in the classroom, as well as on the field.
