1939 Prism, Recently Released, Features Informal Pictures and Larger Women's Sport Division

Semi-Feature Place Given Seniors

MANY SKETCHES

Weatherbee Gives Copies to Board At Banquet

An enlarged women's athletic division and a section devoted to dormitory life are the outstanding innovations in the 1939 Prism, released recently.

Increased space has been given informal pictures which are placed through the class sections as well as in groups at the end of the book.

Unprecedented attention has been paid to women's athletics. Where three pages covered the material before, eight have been set aside for that purpose this year. Besides hockey and basketball these pages cover fencing, archery, and modern dancing, as well as women's activities such as the Play Day Pageant and the Penny Carnival.

The dormitory section includes mention of off-campus men and women as well as the university cabins. Each dormitory is represented by a group picture and a write-up.

Bound in Blue and Silver

The book is bound in blue and silver padded leather. A gold "M" and a gold "1939" add a contrasting color. In the interior of the book blue sketches of campus scenes furnish a new decorative feature. Free-hand lettering, printed in blue, has been used for the section headings and for fraternity and sorority pages.

The Junior pictures have been handled individually, with each picture standing free instead of being part of a block. The blue and white motif in the sketches has been repeated in this section.

The Seniors hold a semi-featured position in the yearbook, and for the first time senior activities are given along with the pictures and names.

Names of the sophomore and freshman class members are listed and instead of a two-page class picture, small sections of that picture have been placed throughout the list.

The fraternity and sorority write-ups feature a picture of the members and a blue print of the organization shield. The fraternity section includes

Seniors Find Jobs Scarce

Nationwide Decrease Of Fifty Percent Seen in Survey

Employment demand for University students parallels the 50% decrease over last year that is prevalent in other institutions all over the country, according to figures received from a survey of 75 colleges and universities.

Definite offers of employment are few and slow to materialize, although the University has been visited by a fair number of employers for student interviews. Salary levels have held to the same figure as last year. Employers whom the Placement Director met on a recent business trip feel, in general, that there will be a demand for graduates later in the year.

Seniors who have already secured positions are: Lincoln Fish, with Montgomery-Ward; James DeCoster, with Scott Paper Company in Chester, Penna.; Lucy Cobb, 4-H club leader in Penobscot County; Mary Wright, home demonstration agent for Androscoggin County; Madeline Davis, with Peck and Company in Lewiston; Virginia Hall, tentatively with the Erwin-Wasey Advertising Company in New York City.

Lawrence Denning is located with W. T. Grant Company in New York; Ernest Adams and Arthur Smith are placed with S. T. Warren Company in Westbrook; George Hill, with the Eastman Kodak Company in Rochester.

Marriage Course Is Popular

Several weeks ago the Campus lauded the inauguration of a course designed to supply instruction in the problems of marriage and pre-marriage life. It was our conclusion that this type of instruction should be encouraged and broadened as has been the tendency in many of America's leading colleges and universities. Today we have learned that in reply to this suggestion fifty students have registered for "Marriage and the Family" for next semester. Several others have expressed a desire to enroll in the course, but a lack of an adequate number of instructors has precluded further enlargement of its membership.

It is gratifying to observe the immediate and surprising response given to the new course, but it does seem that a course of such popularity should be made available to all those who desire to pursue it. Under the present arrangement the course is only offered one semester in alternate years. It seems that a course with as large an appeal as this course might justly merit more frequent presentation and an adequate number of instructors.

The Lieutenant Reviews

Virginia Maguire, honorary Lieutenant-Colonel of the University of Maine R.O.T.C. Corps, reviewing the cadets at drill last Saturday.

By Louise Rice

Mary Ellen Chase's new book, Dawn in Lyonesse, pleased me more than any of her other books. In this slight book she tells of Ellen Pascoe, a waitress, who reads the legend of Tristram and Isolde that is connected with the Castle Hotel in which she works, makes it a part of her own life and living, and who, when sorrow comes to her through the unfaithfulness and death of her lover, is able to readjust herself and forgive, because of the broader view of life the legend had given her.

The story is beautifully told, and the legend is skillfully woven in. Best of all, to me, were the descriptions—vivid, natural pictures that occurred frequently throughout the book. They give one the feeling of being in Lyonesse, in Tintagel, near King Mark's Castle.

"...the sun was so bright and hot that it paled the blue of the sky, sharpened the black cliffs and headlands, and swept with light the line of white surf that was forever breaking upon the ledges and shingle beaches at their feet."

Departure from Custom

Miss Chase has also broken from the romantic past that she has glorified in her last few novels. Here she treats the present, even though she does weave it to the thread of the past through the legend. It is a departure that is welcomed by some who wish that she would treat present-day Maine, not as the inescapable result of a glorious past, but as worthy of consideration (or condemnation) in its own right.

We may do well to praise Dawn in Lyonesse for its beauty, its simplicity, and its superb workmanship. We might question whether or not it would be possible for a solid, middle-aged woman like Ellen to be awakened so completely and swept away so overwhelmingly by a legend. Would she become so sensitive, so intensely aware of nature and its beauty because of this? Perhaps. Perhaps not. But whether or not we agree that this might be possible, the merit of the book as a whole is in no way impaired by the probability of Ellen's awakening; for after all, it would be possible for an individualized Ellen, where it would not be possible for a generalized Ellen.

Last NYA Payroll Is Wednesday, June 8

KUBLA CANTS

By Lewis Nightingale

This starts out as though it were going to be poetry, a la Sandburg, but don't let it fool you. It's dedicated to Bacchus, ruler of the morning after.

Nameless the bouquets that arise from out those liquid depths, Nameless the delights, Hidden in the fiery sparkle of crystal, Half betrayed by the aroma, The soul of Bacchus, Immortal spirit of fantasy, Lives on.

In souls of others, In a brotherhood of cheer, In a fellowship of moods, He lives.

So raise the cup to Bacchus, Drink his liquid soul, Drink to the gift of the rowdy god, Drink for any reason whatsoever, But drink.

And I promise never to write anything like that again. Amen.

Just happened to wonder what became of the bottle opener that was being passed around Stevens last week.

I don't like to keep bringing up old questions, but about that one, "Will you love me in December as you do in May?" in case you haven't already told her "Yes"—tongue in your cheek or not—do so at once. The weather man is behind you 100% with December weather in the "Merry, merry month." Now that I've reread that, it sounds rather dopey to me, too.

I put off writing a verse about house parties last week for the simple reason that I thought I'd do it this week. I still haven't got an idea, but I'll try to knock one off as I go along.

Mary had a little beau Who went to school at Maine. House parties came, and Mary went....

And you'd better finish that before it finishes me. I had a line about RAIN, and although it rained, it also smelled. Besides, all lyrics (That's me) leave off the last line nowadays, and sell the verse to some contest or other. Personally, I think I'm going dippy. The response tomorrow morning will assure me that the 'ayes' have it. I'm getting too much co-operation around here. Lay off.

A poet is a man who is unlucky both at love and at cards.

I used to be a poet. I erat-was—you said it. The stuff I wrote was good enough, But no one ever read it.

This one will probably never get by the censors. They kill a lot of my good stuff, but I'll take a chance it passes.

When she's good She's very good. But when she's bad She's better.

And that's no paradox. It just so happens that someone is quite likely to beat me to a peak for putting that in. Well, as long as he doesn't knock the peak off....

By the way, is a censor one who smells? Is that right? Well, well, well.

Ruth Grinnell Wins Prize

Ruth Grinnell has won the Griffin Prize of $10 annually awarded to the freshman writing the best English composition in a competition held in April, it was announced today by Prof. Milton Ellis, head of the English department. Honorable mention was given to Elizabeth Trott.

The old and new members of the M.C.A. enjoyed a retreat at Green Lake last Sunday. There were forty-six people present, including Mr. Fred Loring, Miss Addie Weed, Rev. Herman Berlew, Rev. E. T. Buehrer, and Mr. James Gannett, who offered their cars for transportation.

After a brief worship service, men's and women's discussion groups were held. The report of the recommendations committee of the Advisory Board of the M.C.A. was read, in part, and discussed. In view of the small attendance at the Vesper Services and the preference expressed by the students for the morning hour, further study is being made of the possibility of having a Sunday morning church service on the campus, beginning next fall.

Contributors' Club Has Annual Outing

The Contributors' Club held its annual outing aboard Captain Ellery Tuck's two-masted schooner, the Ellen Booth, Sunday. Starting from Buck's Harbor on Cape Rosier, over thirty members and guests spent the day sailing on Penobscot Bay, going as far as Islesboro.

Steamed clams, served on board, furnished the main attraction at dinner. A few hardy souls enjoyed a swim when the boat was at anchor, while the rest amused themselves with games, singing, piano playing, and taking candid camera shots.

Some of the party remained on the schooner during the evening and listened to Captain and Mrs. Tuck, both accomplished performers, play the violin.

Fogg Chosen President At Spanish Club Election

Lucille Fogg, James Fitzpatrick, and Gertrude Tondreau were elected president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer respectively of the Spanish Club at the annual picnic and election of officers Tuesday evening, held at Piney Knoll. This was the last meeting of the club for this year.

The program committee has received suggestions for improving the interest in the meetings in the coming year. Some of the suggestions were to present a series of Spanish plays, to have talks by authorities on Spanish speaking countries, and to hold dancing after the business meeting and social hour.

Present at the picnic were: Miss Frances Arnold, Spanish Instructor, Nathaniel Doten, Buel Godwin, Reid Russell, Robert Hussey, Robert Harris, Edward Bonacorso, Lucille Fogg, Carl Blom, Richard Sheedy, Stewart Grimmer, Ada Saltzman, Ruth Pike, Blanche Conlon, Gertrude Tondreau, Priscilla Tondreau, Marjorie Moulton, William Brann, Betty Hopkins, Linwood Day, Donald Moore, Timothy Curtin, and assorted black flies and mosquitoes.

STRANGE INTERLUDES

Another Beta house party gone down in history—wonder why it is that the Balentine gals still seem to be the favorites? ... "Cooch" Cooper thinks Don Adams is pull-out nice... Ditto for freshman Betty Gammons and Ed Marsh—Too bad these new romances pop up so late in the spring... Edna Louise is finally wearing that Phi Kappa Sig pin of John's—Congratulations! ... We wonder whom Nat Hooper FINALLY went to house parties with? Lou came back up for a visit but evidently not to see Russ—must be that his time is taken up at the Maples... By the looks of things it's nip and tuck between Dean and Littlefield as far as Doak is concerned—Don't rush her boys, she's not that big—yet... Where Oh Where did Phi Gam store their twenty-three imports? ... So Ruth Trickey made a person to person phone call to New York—We wonder if that had anything to do with the ring she has been wearing around her neck lately? ... We understand that Alice Ann and George Grant had a very pleasant and extended hike not long ago—Much to the disapproval of Maynard Files... Ronnie Barnes, potato king of Aroostook, recently mortgaged his life and big Packard away, when he hung his pin on his home town sweetheart... Another pin hanging—Ken Burr must be betting plenty heavy on his girl at Wheaton this time—As Cupid has taken his pin along the bumpy road of what we'd say was 'puppy love'... Too bad that these class room excursions are all over—Also a shame that Fern had to have such a car full when she drove over to Bowdoin to see Ralphie... These freshman girls are doing alright getting the pins—Dorcas Jewell has Frank Russ's Lambda Chi... Ginney Eddy and Rusty Williams are seen twosomeing it—now that she has recovered from the measles... Tommy Verrill has definitely succumbed to Bangor's influence... From the looks of things, students from here will certainly cover the glove this summer—Mac McClelland has her managers arranging dates now for her to lecture on her European trip... Everybody have FUN this summer....

The Polar Bears finally stopped the Maine winning streak at five games, after the team had made a good comeback and seemed to have left behind that loose type of playing that had cost it most of its games this season.

Bud White limited our team to three scattered hits. It is not a secret that the Maine team is weak offensively. Only once this year, in the regular schedule, has the Maine team been able to score more than five runs. It has been blanked twice and several times it has scored only three runs.

The Maine pitching staff has been the sole reason for the team's high standing in the New England Conference. Nevertheless, it must be expected that when a team hasn't the power to blast away every now and then, the strain on the pitchers is going to be too great and they'll lose a game every once in a while.

It isn't every day that you can win games with as few hits as the Maine team got last Saturday in that first game against Connecticut. Our congratulations to Deke Adams for coming through in his first appearance in the Maine lineup.

Bill Kenyon certainly called his shot that time, but even that wasn't enough to silence the grandstand managers.

That Rhode Island game Saturday ought to be a peach. Maine already has been beaten by the Rams, who also have taken the measure of the Strong Holy Cross team which holds a decision over the Boston Red Sox. The Connecticut State team that Maine took in a doubleheader here last Saturday, however, has beaten the Rhode Island Staters. Some of the boys on the Connecticut team were telling us that one day this Rhode Island team looks like it could win a championship in almost any league and the next day they could be beaten by any run of the mill ball club. Rhode Island with its colorful coach, Frank Keane, is always interesting to watch.

By the way, our prey is quite a baseball fan. He was right out on the baseline on that decision of the umpire on Gerrish's slide into third base last Saturday.

2nd installment of the Foul Ball Episode—All of you baseball enthusiasts who cheer every time a foul ball breaks a window in the field house, nearly paid dearly for your fun last Saturday afternoon. It seems that the prey was out to the game and when he saw how much pleasure the student body got out of having windows broken by foul balls, he threatened to have the tuition raised. When the latter struck out, however, he thought it over and decided that the strikeout was probably worth a broken window so we're all safe for the time being.

Some of you may be wondering what happened to Johnny Gowell in the 220 yard low hurdles at Providence last Friday. It seems that Johnny hit one of the hurdles early in the race and broke his stride. Consequently he was going over with the wrong foot all the rest of the way, and when he hit the last hurdle, he was definitely out of the running.

Newspaper accounts said that Don Smith who broke the Brown track mile record for the mile was forced to break the record. That is not quite true, however; Don won the race by a comfortable margin of about twenty yards. Incidentally he came within but 1/4 of a second of breaking the Meet record for the event. We said last week that we thought he could get down to 4:20, but I must admit that we underestimated his ability.

We have it from what ought to be a reliable source that four men are to be sent to the Nationals at Randall's Field in New York next week. From what we were able to find out those men are to be Gowell, Hurwitz, Smith, and Hunnewell.

Interest centers around what Gowell and Smith will be able to do against National Competition. Some of Smith's team-mates think that he ought to be able to do about 4:16 in such fast company.

Connecticut State comes here next fall to play football, and from all reports they'll probably have a very strong team.

Congratulations to that undaunted freshman track team that just closed its season. Just to show the world that his 202 ft. throw in the 12 pound hammer was no accident, Bob Bennett continues to get off throws around the 200 foot marker.

Maine Is Seventh In Golf Matches

Willie Turnesa, youngest member of that famous golfing family, won the New England Intercollegiate title for the third consecutive time. Holy Cross won the team matches with Dartmouth a close second and Bowdoin third; the Maine team placed seventh in the race.

Handicapped Friday by a strong wind and rain and playing on a strange course, the Maine golfers missed qualifying for the Championship Division by two strokes. Nine of the eighteen hole Oakley C. C. lay-out were blind holes with very tricky greens. However, when playing Saturday in the New England Consolation Division, the Pale Blue swimmers played well. Hank Piorkowski tied for third honors with an 81, Stuart Bryant placed sixth with an 84, and Mersereau and Burney placed within the first ten.

Chemical Reviews, Vol. 13, is missing from the Technology seminar.

Frosh Take Over Hebron Nine, 5-2

"Lefty" Holmes made his second appearance on the mound for the freshmen last Tuesday and pitched the yearlings to a 5-2 victory over Hebron.

Hebron got off to a fast start in the first inning when Harry Card, their elongated first baseman, tripled and was driven in by Blasnach's single.

The frosh came back in the second and got to Mee, on the mound for Hebron, for two runs. Singles by Holmes and Anderson plus a base on balls to Arbor and a sacrifice by Jim Talbot were the factors in the freshman rally.

The freshman tallied again in the fourth inning on singles by Arbor and Meserve and an error by Bessome, the Higgins shortstop.

Maine scored once more in the seventh when Harnish singled and stole second to be driven in by Whitten's single.

Bears Win 4th In N. E. Meet

The Bear trackmen captured fourth place in the finals of the fifty-second N.E.I.C.A.A. meet at Providence R. I., last Saturday.

The Rhode Island Rams retained their title of New England champions by amassing a total of 29 1/2 points, while Boston College and Holy Cross tied for second with 23 points. Maine earned 22 1/2 points for fourth, and Brown was fifth with 22 points. The closeness of these last four teams made the battle for second one of the highlights of the meet.

Three new meet records were established. Ed Singens of the Rams vaulted 12 feet 10 1/2 inches for one of the new marks, while his brother Antonio of Brown broad jumped 24 feet 6 inches, for the second new mark. Shorty Folwarsky of the Rams established a new record for the hammer throw of 173 feet 11 inches, displacing the old mark of 171 feet 1 inch held by Rip Black of Maine.

Maine Scorers

The scorers for Maine were Johnny Gowell who ran the high hurdles in 15 1/2 seconds for first place, Don Smith who won the mile in 4 min. 19 sec., breaking the track record, and who later came back to win fourth place in the two mile behind Bill Hunnewell who was third. Sid Hurwitz annexed second in the 220 yard dash, Stan Johnson third in the hammer throw, and Hal Dyer third in the discus.

Other outstanding performances in the meet were by big Bill Ekhardt of the Rams who lost his shoe at the half way mark, but persevered to win the two mile grind; Larry Scanlon of Holy Cross who completed his third consecutive year of doubling in the dashes by taking both of them; Dick Gill of Boston College who doubled for firsts in the quarter and the half, winning the latter over Quinn of New Hampshire, the defending champion; big Don Smith who ran away from the field in the mile run.

Smith, Hurwitz, Gowell, and Hunnewell are in training this week preparatory to the Nationals at New York. Smith's chances are believed to be good, while Hurwitz, Hunnewell, and Gowell should finish in the money. Smith, the Eastern Express, is believed to have a good chance at one of the upper places in the National mile.

Maine Defeats Bates Nine 5-4

Jumping to second place in the state series, the University of Maine baseball team romped to a 5-4 victory over the Bates Bobcats Monday afternoon. Maine landed on Austin Briggs, Bates southpaw, in the last two innings which were climaxed by Lord's double in the ninth, scoring Bill Webber for the winning run of the game.

Art Chick, who relieved Shea in the third inning, received credit for the victory.

The Bates team started out strong, scoring all its runs in the first inning. Shea walked Thompson, who was advanced to third by Bellevue's single. Bergeron hit to Shea who threw out Thompson at the plate. A single by Johnson scored Bergeron and Bellevue who had advanced to second and third respectively on Shea's throw to catch Thompson. Johnson went to third on the throw in. Tardiff walked and stole second. A single to center

Wins Game in Last Inning

Norris "Deke" Adams, whose hit in the last half of the last inning in the first game between Connecticut and Maine, won the game for Maine.

Bowdoin Pastimers Beat Maine, 5-0

Bud White shut out the University of Maine baseball team 5-0 in a crucial State Series game last Tuesday at Brunswick. Making his third appearance against the Black Bears this year, White limited them to three scattered hits, and not one Maine player got by third base.

Reidman, on the mound for Maine, pitched good ball until the seventh inning when the Bowdoin team bunched five hits and an error by Tapley to score four runs.

Howard doubled to right, and Dale hit a ball to Tapley at shortstop that the Maine man could not handle, and Dale was safe at first on the error, while Howard went to second. Both men advanced on a steal. Reidman balked, and Howard automatically scored, while Dale went to third. Corey tripled, scoring Dale. Hill singled, scoring Corey. White struck out, but Davidson doubled to score Hill from first base. Davidson was out trying to make third base on the rap.

Maine entered the game within a half game of the Bowdoin team which is leading the State Series. The victory Tuesday virtually assured Bowdoin that it would win the State Title.

Hebron Tennis Team Overcomes Freshmen

The University of Maine freshmen were defeated by Hebron Saturday, May 21, by the score of 5-4, in a match which was not decided until the last point was played.

The final doubles match determined the outcome between these two teams as the score was tied up four to four, Maine having won one of the doubles matches to tie up the score.

by Hutchinson scored Johnson and Tardiff to conclude the Bates scoring.

Maine scored a run in the first, but didn't tally again until the eighth. Adams who had been advanced to second by a wild throw scored on a hard single by "Doc" Gerrish. Gerrish was driven home by Day's single.

With one man out in the last half of the ninth inning, Briggs passed Joe Hamlin to first who proceeded to steal second. Bill Webber drove Joe home with a long single into right field. Lord's double drove home Bill Webber who crossed the plate with the winning run of the game.

Bears Take Two Games From Connecticut Sat; Lead N. E. Conference

Adams' Pinch Hit In Last Inning Wins Game

The University of Maine baseball team moved into first place in the New England Conference fight last Saturday by defeating the invading Connecticut State team in both ends of a doubleheader, 1-0 and 5-2.

The first game featured a pitching duel between Reidman of the Maine team and Connell, Connecticut's ace hurler. Maine's Black Bears failed to make a hit off Connell until the last inning in which Craig opened with a double to left field. Webber sacrificed him along to third and Lord, the next batter, walked. Coach Kenyon sent Elroy Day up to bat for Chute, and Connell under orders from the Connecticut bench purposely walked Day and filled the bases.

Gerrish was slated to come up but Kenyon sent Norris "Deke" Adams, a sophomore, who had not appeared in the lineup all this season, to the plate as a pinch hitter. Adams proved to be just what the Maine team needed as he singled over second base, bringing in Craig, to win the ball game.

Browne Pitches
Paul Browne, a right hander, went to the mound for Maine in the second game while Bill Holcombe, a southpaw, was the Connecticut choice.

There was no damage in this game until the fourth inning when the Maine team combined a walk with two hits and a sacrifice to score two runs and take the lead.

Tennis Squad Captures Third Place in State

Although having been beaten by all three of the other Maine colleges, the University of Maine net team managed to capture third place in the State Meet held at Lewiston Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

The meet is held in the form of a tournament, each match won counting

Tapley, the first man up in the inning, was walked and then stole second. Joe Hamlin sacrificed him along to third. Phil Craig then dropped a push hit behind second base, which went for two bases, his second double of the afternoon, and Tapley scored on the hit. Webber struck out, but Dwight Lord singled to center to bring in Craig for Maine's second run.

In the fifth Maine again scored two runs to clinch the ball game when Gerrish drew a walk.

There was a bad mixup on the next play. Dykes, attempting to sacrifice, was hit by Loeffleur, the Connecticut third baseman's throw, and took the turn to second base. Dykes started down for second where Gerrish was standing and when Dykes tried to return to first base, he was trapped, whereupon Gerrish started for third. Pringle saw him going and whipped the ball to Loeffleur, and the umpire called Gerrish out at third while Dykes went to second. Browne, the Maine pitcher, then contributed to his own cause by singling by Loeffleur at third and Dykes scored while Browne went to third on the throw in. Tapley fled to Peterson in left field. Hamlin, the next Maine batter, popped up to Pupillo, the Connecticut shortstop, over by third base, but Pupillo dropped the ball and Browne scored from second base while Hamlin, who tore down to second on the play and attempted to make third, was touched out on a run down play.

Maine added one more in the seventh on a double by Lord and a single by Deke Adams.

When both the singles and doubles tournaments had reached the semi-final round, only players from Bates and Bowdoin were left and the total scores up to those matches were: Bates, 14; Bowdoin, 12; Maine, 4; and Colby, 3. Maine was thus assured of third place, no Colby men left undefeated.
